Holy Compromise, Holy Joy

Mark 2:1-5 (3) "And they came, bringing to Him a paralytic, carried by four men."

The word "compromise" is a red flag among people of principle. But in the real world of human relationships, compromise is perhaps the most overlooked source of genuine joy.

The fact is (1) bringing people to Jesus is just about always a cooperative effort. In fact, doing anything for Jesus means cooperating with His people. And (2) cooperative effort just about always involves holy compromise. But the strange and wonderful truth that follows is (3) holy compromise just about always brings about holy fellowship and joy.

No minister of integrity would ever suggest that we compromise with any form of sin. But by the same token any minister of integrity would have to say in all honesty that more pain and damage has been done than one can imagine by people who not only refuse to compromise on issues of principle, but refuse to bend or adapt or compromise in lesser matters of opinion, custom, or even personal taste.

Here in Mark's gospel is a newspaper report about some people who tore the tiles off a flat roof and lowered a paralyzed man down into the interior of the house where Jesus was. [Bringing people to Jesus is just about always a cooperative effort.] It goes without saying that here was a cooperative effort that required some compromise. Unless these four men were all the same build and same height and same strength the simple fact of carrying a heavy, inert object requires bending and stretching. But in my mind's eye I have gone into considerable more detail. If some of the personalities of the Wollaston church had been present the line-up might have looked like this [and any resemblance to Wollastonians living or dead is purely conjectural]!

FIRST THERE WAS AMOS.

Amos was a rather old, seasoned believer. He had been brought up in the scriptures from a lad. He had waited for years in faith that Messiah was coming. Early on in Jesus' ministry he had been convinced that Jesus was the fulfillment of all the OT prophecies.

Amos is MATURE! Secretly in his heart of hearts he is a little impatient and even irked by immaturity. He detests taped accompaniments! He is not the least impulsive and not too outwardly emotional. But Amos is the salt of the earth, and he loves Jesus and follows Him with all his heart.

THEN THERE IS BARTHOLOMEW.

Bartholomew is a young believer, full of energy. He is not a rebel, really— but he really has this feeling that anyone over 30 is "over the hill." Bartholomew is full of JOY!

And Bartholomew is full of LIFE! He has never had a sick day in his life, and frankly he isn't too patient with people who have aches and pains. He doesn't understand people who don't like LOUD hosannas—preferably with at least 100 watts of amplification behind them. Bart will be at all the Christian rock concerts within 50 miles radius!

THE THIRD MEMBER OF THE CAST IS CRISPUS.

Crispus is an intellectual, and a dedicated social activist. He has heard Christ's call to minister to the poor. He has put his life on the line. He has sold all that he possesses, and is personally involved in inner-city ministry. And quite frankly, Crispus questions other Christians who don't do the same as he has done.

AND THE LAST OF THE FOUR IS DEMAS

Demas is a died-in-the-wool conservative. Demas wears a Jesus-First pin. He is a real "Mary" type who simply wants to sit at Jesus' feet. He only has a job because he has to eat, but he wants to keep unspotted from the world— so he doesn't use dice with board games, and he doesn't think the church teens ought to go roller skating.

But he really belongs to Jesus and loves Him with all of his heart.

Four people about as different in temperament as you can imagine. Four people who agree on just about one thing and only one thing— at least at the beginning of this little drama. They knew in their hearts that Jesus IS the answer to the needs of the world. No matter that they saw those needs very differently. They didn't even stop to consider that the needs of the world might be different from the way they understood them. But they agreed (without knowing it) that Jesus is what this sinful world needs!

These people had a great deal more that was NOT in common, at least on the surface. They would have disagreed violently on political candidates. They would have almost come to blows over whether or not one could fall from grace, or just 'from fellowship with God.' Any kind of abstract or theoretical question probably would have started WW I 1900 years early!

Christians are like that! They disagree in theory— they love to argue minor points of doctrine in various kinds of abstract argument And there (probably) is a place for that, but . . .but what saved them was the fact that these four men faced a very specific problem. They had a mutual friend SILAS, who was dear to them all. Perhaps he was related to one, and a friend of a friend of another— but at any rate each of these four, Amos, Bartholomew, Crispus, and Demas had said to himself many times: "If I could just get Silas over to Jesus I know that Jesus could touch him and meet his need!"

I'm not sure how they got together. Since I'm telling the story I can imagine it was one of those strange coincidences that God can arrange whenever He wants to. And in my imagination there was a mutual disappointment when the four met.

Amos thought: "A lot of good hallelujahs will do now! We need someone who KNOWS someone, and some money to hire an ambulance."

And Crispus is thinking: "That Demas guy will want to have a prayer meeting for this guy— and what he REALLY needs is a new pallet and we need to arrange hot meals for him until we can find a way to get him to the meetings."

But one of them— I don't know which one— says out loud: "If only we could get Silas to Jesus I believe HE could heal him!" And the rest agree. They realize that together they can do what they can't do alone. And they demonstrate that (1) BRINGING PEOPLE TO JESUS IS JUST ABOUT ALWAYS A COOPERATIVE EFFORT!

What a sight they are! It is not an easy or a dignified task. And as they get nearer they see that their task isn't only hard—it is apparently impossible. They simply cannot get through the crowd. There are too many people! You can't find Christ in a big crowd! You can't really worship! You can't really get near to Jesus, can you?

But by now someone comes up with another suggestion. "We've come this far! Too far to be defeated! We won't take 'No' for an answer! Let's go up on the roof! Let's take off a few tiles and drop Silas right down on the front row!"

AND THEY DID! And the Word says "Jesus saw THEIR faith!" And Jesus forgave Silas his sins. And then Jesus healed him, and sent him walking out in the sight of everyone.

How, do you suppose, did Amos and Bartholomew and Crispus and Demas "debrief" after the service was over? What was the "afterglow" like that day?

I see them as they put the tiles back and they talk. "Well, I'll have to admit that I could never have done it alone! And no two of us could have done it, either!" "Yes, I'll have to admit that we make a pretty good team!"

I see it as the beginning of genuine Christian fellowship— cross-generational, cross-cultural, even cross-intellectual, if there is such a thing. They were still persuaded that Jesus was the answer to the needs of their world. And they still saw those needs from their own perspectives. But they also began to see that there were other, honest, Christian perspectives beside their own.

That is the way Christian faith in obedient action tends to work. It brings people together who seem to have little in common, and makes them love and deeply appreciate one another.

[Illustration: It happened during the 'Jesus revival' in New York—Brother Mac (Walter MacPherson) hugging the rock musicians— big, black Isaiah McKinnon and little Charlie Rizzo— one of the 'proofs' to my own heart that this was a genuine moving of the Holy Spirit.]

THERE ARE SOME ISSUES THAT DEMAND SOLID, UNIFIED CHRISTIAN PERSPECTIVE.

Our compromise can never be with sin, with the breaking of any of the clear commandments of God. But as amazing as it may seem there are many serious issues, important issues, where good and sincere Christians can and will disagree. Issues that would divide and kill fellowship if we would let them. There are "outside issues" about which Christians feel strongly:

"What about sanctions in South Africa?" "What about Reagan's policies in backing freedom fighters?" "Should we pull out of public schools and teach our own children at home?"

Just mentioning these may be foolish, but I am trying to show that in so many ways we can agree to disagree— and still agree to love each other, and to love God, and to do our best to bring people to Jesus.

And particularly these days in Wollaston there is the challenge of bringing people to Jesus—of developing and continuing ministry to families with both father and mother at home, to a college population where the students are here for a portion of four years and have a hard time feeling "plugged in." And particularly these days there are "inside issues," those matters of policy, of building, of financing, and above all, of ministry and serving Christ here in Wollaston.

Some church experts tell us that the growing kind of church is the homogenous-unit type of church. And this church is about as heterogeneous as a church can get! But in more ways than dear Reuben may have meant in his wonderful little book, WE REALLY DO NEED EACH OTHER!

We have an opportunity right here in the Wollaston church to meet and know people who love the Lord and yet are very unlike ourselves. We will be stimulated, if not offended, by many different ways of looking at the task God has set before us. We will be seeing the curse of sin as the problem— but we will be seeing it in many more than just FOUR ways!

But if we agree that Jesus is LORD; and if we agree that Jesus is what this world needs— then like these four men who brought the paralytic to Jesus WE WILL FIND WAYS OF GETTING AT THE TASK GOD HAS FOR US!

And the best part, perhaps, is that as we learn to work together we'll discover the holy JOY that comes from finding how BIG and how BROAD and how WIDE God's holy family can be!

We are in for some dramatic surprises! We'll find that TOGETHER WE CAN BRING PEOPLE TO JESUS! And when Jesus sees OUR FAITH we'll find that holy compromise brings holy JOY!

Call His Name Jesus

(Intro:)

Next to your concept of Almighty God, the most important thought you will ever think regarding your salvation is: "What is SIN?"!

"Sin" is the modern "embarrassment word." To speak of "sin" is to admit that one is far, far behind the times. It is like speaking of the earth as the center of the solar system, or of a flat earth.

It seems long ago that "sex" was an embarrassment. We referred to "legs" as "limbs" and we pretended that the stork brought babies. But it is not an embarrassment any more. We see things discussed on so-called "talk shows" that we would have been ashamed to have anyone know we knew about in other times.

But as it says in Jeremiah, in many regards "we have forgotten how to blush!" It has become almost fashionable to talk about things that should be very private. Now we are pretty un-shockable about matters of sex.

Then "death" became the unmentionable. And we're still a bit uncomfortable thinking about this mysterious gate through which we pass one at a time and disappear from present company to a realm we cannot see. But people will talk, sometimes very authoritatively, about death. But sin?

THERE IS NO SIN! Sin is no where to be found in our modern society! Everything that is bad is sickness and maladjustment and poor environment and hereditary weakness. We have 'no-fault' insurance— and we want 'no-fault' morality— choosing without facing the consequences of choice. Jesus gets lip-service, and He is adored and admired because he went about everywhere teaching and doing good and healing. Which he did! But I declare to you this morning that Jesus did not come to earth JUST because we were weak, or sick, or maladjusted. Jesus came to earth because we are sinners, and we need a savior!

[Text:]

Matthew 1:21 "Thou shalt call His name JESUS for he shall save his people from their SINS"

I. THERE IS SUCH A THING AS SIN

A. As we have already said, "sin" is an embarrassment in modern speech. It is conspicuous by its absence in modern thought. It is 'much better' instead if we can blame illness, if there is no sin- for sickness is not our fault. But there is a vast difference between sin and sickness.

B. One large reason SIN is absent from mention is that GOD has been 'dismissed' from the consciousness of those who control the media. It doesn't mean that SIN is not real and present. It certainly does not mean that GOD 'IS DEAD,' regardless of who says so. It does mean that if we relax and relent in our personal quest after truth— and if we let others interpret God's Word to us, or take God's Word away from us by default, then we should not be surprised to wake up and find we have lost our way, morally, and have no idea where to turn for salvation— or even any idea that there is salvation!

C. If there were no sin, then Jesus was sadly mistaken in his mission. For He said in Matthew, Mark, and Luke's gospels: "I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance!" There is no logical ground for accepting Jesus as teacher and healer, and not as Savior from sin. For (as C.S. Lewis has so eloquently said:) either Jesus said he came to save sinners and was mistaken, which makes Him a lunatic; OR, Jesus said He came to save sinners, and knew He was lying all the time, which makes Him a charlatan; OR, Jesus said exactly the truth, and was and IS the Son of God, who came to die for our sins! I believe the last, and worship Him as God and Lord!

D. If there were no sin, then God the Father was unjustifiably cruel in permitting His only begotten Son to suffer and die on the cross for the sins of the world. We can be certain that there was no other way, or the love of a heavenly Father would have found it.

[Yes— there IS such a thing as SIN! But what IS sin?]

II. SIN IS SEPARATION FROM GOD, GOOD, LIFE

A. Popular "ideas" about "sin:" Everybody has an idea of what "sin" might be ("if there were such a thing.") At least everyone has an idea of what is EVIL. It is what other people are doing— ("Hitler was evil . . . axe-murderers are not nice people . . .")

B. "Pictures of sin:" (Often we can SEE what we can't quite put into words—) Romans, One, describes sin in graphic terms:

- Sin is UNCLEANNES (as read in Romans 1)
- Sin is VILE AFFECTIONS (twisted love, curved IN suicidally) And we don't have any problem with that. For we usually see sin as somebody else doing something really bad.
- Sin is certainly Hitler, and the evil he brought on the world. . .
- Sin is Adam and Eve saying: "God said it . . . but maybe He doesn't really mean it!"
- Sin is DAVID... staying home when kings were warring— lusting and killing to cover his failure— and repenting and being forgiven!
- Sin is Judas, selling His Lord for money and then realizing in despair that he is wrong.
- Sin is Demas, forsaking Paul and the church because he loves the present world too much.

But we have a hard time bringing "sin" closer home, to see: Sin is when WE know God's will, His Word— and say "I'll do it after a while, when I get ready..." sin is turning away from light, choosing darkness, and thinking: "I can find my way back any time I choose, but for NOW I'll go my own way!"

C. The Bible has words which we translate in English as "sin:" In the OT the common word is:

- khawtaw = offense; to miss— bear blame; loss; Willful transgression of known law of God.

Some of the NT words are:

- hamartia = to miss the mark (and so not share the prize); to err, to trespass;
- paRAbasis = violation: breaking, transgression;
- para baino= to go contrary to or violate a command;
- paraptoma = a side-slip, (lapse or deviation) i.e. unintentional error , or wilful deviation transgression; fall, fault, offense, sin, trespass (As in Matthew 5: Forgive us our PARAPTOMA); "SIN" is going against what God has revealed as right and good; the "world" hates the word, because to accept the concept of SIN assumes that there is a God, and that He has spoken, and that what He has said is important to the way we live.

D. Sin defined: But Romans, One, also begins to DEFINE SIN:

Sin is a REPROBATE MIND (degenerate/perverved) Sin is GOING AGAINST GOD, AND GOOD, AND LIFE ITSELF! Sin is CHOOSING NOT TO OBEY GOD:

Romans 1:32 "...and, although they know the ordinance of God, that those who practice such things are worthy of death, they not only do the same, but also give hearty approval to those who practice them"

Sin is SPIRITUAL SUICIDE: God told Adam and Eve: "If you disobey, you will surely die!"

We think," But they DIDN'T die!" But die they DID! Paradise was LOST! God's IMAGE was marred! Fellowship interrupted!

III. JESUS SAVES FROM SIN AND SAVES TO LIFE

A. The name "Jesus" is the same as Joshua, in the Old Testament. We think of Moses as the one who led the people out of Egyptian bondage, but there were two leaders. Moses led them OUT, and Joshua led them IN! It took the work of BOTH of those men to signify what JESUS does for us: Jesus is OUR JOSHUA ! He wants to lead us out of bondage, if that is where we are— the bondage of sin; and He wants to lead us INTO FREEDOM!

B. JESUS IS OUR FRIEND. HE WILL TEACH US. HE WILL SAVE US.

He did not come to CONDEMN a sinful world; but that it might be CONVICTED. He did not come to send us to hell, but to lift us to heaven.

What did Jesus SAY about sin? and what do the scriptures say about Him on the subject of sin?

1. Jesus Himself was without sin! John 8:46 "Which of you convinceth me of SIN?"
2. Jesus identified with US in our sinfulness:
 - a. He was baptized!
 - b. Isaiah said: "He bore our sorrows!"
 - c. 2 Corin. 5:21 (God) made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin, that we might become the righteousness of God IN HIM!"
3. Thus Jesus had the power to FORGIVE sin: (Mark 2:7) "Who can forgive sins but God alone?" (also in Luke 5:21) (Mt 9:6) The Son of man hath power on earth to forgive SINS" (John 1:29) "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the SIN of the world."

What did Jesus DO about sin? The CROSS speaks of the seriousness of sin. Jesus DIED for our sins! Romans 6:10 "..in that he died, he died unto sin once . . ." and in so doing HE PAID THE PENALTY FOR ALL OUR SINS! ROMANS 6:23 THE WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH"

C. Jesus conquered the sin problem by his death on the cross of Calvary. But we must appropriate his victory by identifying with HIM in His death. (Psalm 31:5 "Into thy hand I commit my spirit; Thou hast ransomed me, O Lord, God of truth.") His words can be OUR words.

This is what Paul meant when he said, in Galatians 2:20, "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live!" In truth we can say: "Let me die with Christ to sin, in order that I may rise with Christ to newness of life.

Conclusion:

I said at the very beginning today that 'Next to your concept of God, what you think about sin may be the most important factor in your salvation.

Call His Name Jesus

The reason is: If you ever miss heaven and eternity with God and good and light and life IT WILL BE SIN THAT KEEPS YOU OUT!

(And you have sinned! ALL have sinned! (Rom 3:23)) And if you simply give in, capitulate, and agree with the fools who say there is no sin; or, if you have such a trivial regard for sin that you think it is nothing serious, the fact that you have underestimated sin will not change the fact one iota.

The Bible says: "(Numbers 32:23) Be sure your sins will find you out!" and "(Ezekiel 18:20) The soul that sinneth shall surely die." and "(Romans 6:23) The wages of sin is death!" That is God's Word on the matter.

Or, perhaps through preaching on the Law, without the benefit of grace and the gospel, you have such a heavy and oppressive view of sin— you think that your sins are so great that they can never be forgiven, even though Christ died for you, then you may be so discouraged you never reach out for the salvation that is there for you all along.

But if you look to Jesus, and listen to what He says— Jesus our Joshua, who brings us INTO the Promised Land; Jesus who died for us, and who bids us DIE WITH HIM TO SIN, then salvation is within the grasp of your God-given faith!

Romans 6:22

"Therefore being made free from sin, and become servants to God, you have your fruit unto holiness, and the end, eternal life."

Jesus is the Measure of Man

September 13 1987

Psalm 8 "What is man?"

Jesus Is The Measure Of Man

Intro: The two great questions (so far) are very much related

I. OUR CONCEPT OF GOD WILL INEVITABLY SHAPE OUR CONCEPT OF (MAN) OURSELVES

A. When I consider the heavens, the product of mere chance and the collision of atoms, the moon and the stars, which simply came into being without any force beyond mere chance, WHAT IS MAN? IF 'GOD IS NOTHING', THEN: MAN IS NOTHING!

It may seem like a careless statement but: This is the reason why our society is so deeply in trouble! The 'springs of education' have been polluted, and the 'ocean' is being defiled!

Our children, our youth may not be sophisticated philosophers. But they are not fools— and when we have persisted in teaching in our public schools for the past 50 years or so that the Bible is a myth, and that God did not create the heavens and the earth they begin to get the message: "We have come from nothing . . . and we are going TO nothing! THIS is all there is! WHAT IS MAN? MAN IS NOTHING!"

[It is a frightening thing to "look into the abyss" of nothingness! Youth worker Steve Garber speaks about people: "Going first class on the Titanic..." People work hard and play hard and keep busy and never turn off the music because they are afraid to look into the EMPTINESS FROM WHERE THEY CAME—AND EVEN WORSE, THE EMPTINESS TO WHICH THEY ARE GOING!

This past week in a shocking demonstration of total disrespect for life, in an apparently drug-related or perhaps even 'meaningless act of violence', four pre-teen youths on bikes stabbed a Hispanic man of 30 to death. We are in terrible trouble when our children lose the last vestige of respect for God, for life, for all authority.

But we can expect more and more of this horror when the fear and love of God has been replaced by cynicism and greed and emptiness.

Suicide is a leading cause of death among youth, and many deaths blamed on other things related to this despair of life's emptiness!

Man is NOTHING where there is no God . . . coming from NOWHERE, and headed for NOWHERE.]

B. When I consider the heavens, the product of a God Who started things long ago, but is either limited in His power— things are out of control- or else He is limited in His compassion— for He doesn't really seem to care, WHAT IS MAN?

WHEN 'GOD' IS 'WHAT WE SAY 'IT' IS, THEN MAN CANNOT KNOW WHO HE IS:

And we get answers like: "Man is god . . ." "EVERYTHING is god..." "Life is sacred . . . all life equally sacred! . . . " "Animal rights." Some of these seemingly great statements and causes actually spring from primitive pantheism or evil spiritism, or faulty concepts of God that serve to degrade humankind!

II. BELIEVING THE SCRIPTURES OPENS THE WAY TO KNOWLEDGE OF MAN

A. When I consider the heavens, the work of Thy fingers, the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained, WHAT IS MAN?

MAN IS GOD'S CROWNING CREATION! MAN IS SOMETHING WONDERFUL!

An entirely different atmosphere ABOUT THE WAY the Psalmist even asks the question! Reverence, yes! But also the asking of one person to Another Person! This is FAITH speaking! The Psalmist is not merely seeking to find out all by himself— but is asking a God who cares! A God Who reveals Himself to faith!

B. The Genesis account says that we are made in the image of God.

What does that mean?

A theological explanation goes like this:

(1) The "image of God" has two aspects. The natural image, or personality; and the moral image, or holiness.

*PERSONS, with the power to reason and to feel and above all else, perhaps, to choose

* But also HOLY! Made for fellowship with God, they had no shame— they walked and talked with God.

(2) This image has been "marred." In the Fall (Genesis 3) we have the account of how subtle sin is; attacking the integrity of God and His Word. Shame and nakedness follow. Man is exposed to his own separation from God.

C. And yet the Bible would tell us: GOD'S IMAGE STILL REMAINS!

"Thou has made him (MAN) a little lower than the angels.

In the place of vice-regent over Creation.

Marred— the moral image lost— yet person, with intellect and emotion and volition; with immortality! (NOT the same as Eternal Life!); with the capacity and desire to fellowship with God!

III. IN JESUS CHRIST WE SEE WHAT WE MAY BE. HE IS GOD'S COMPLETE ANSWER TO THE QUESTION: "WHAT IS MAN?"

A. In His kenosis, His emptying out, His humiliation in leaving heaven's throne and taking on our human flesh, Jesus showed us what we are to be!

He not only taught the Beatitudes: He embodied them! Poor in spirit, a man of sorrows, meek and lowly, pure in heart— and yet above all else, blessed, and conscious of pleasing the Father.

WHAT IS MAN?

*JESUS IDENTIFIES WITH US AND SHOWED US WE CAN LIVE HERE ON EARTH IN FELLOWSHIP WITH THE FATHER BY THE SPIRIT!

Jesus is the Measure of Man

B. But that is not the only answer we have to the question: WHAT IS MAN?!! For in His exaltation, His glorification, Jesus shows us God's purpose for you and for me!

Paul sees this as finished and done: (Ephesians 2:5,6 "(God) made us alive together with Christ (by grace you have been saved) and raised us up with Him, and seated us with Him in the heavenly places, in Christ Jesus.")

John puts it in the future: (I John 3:2) Beloved NOW are we the sons of God, and it does not yet appear what we shall be, But we know that when He shall appear we shall be like HIM, for we shall see Him as He is!"

WHAT IS MAN?

JESUS LIFTS US TO (AT LEAST IN SOME GREAT MEASURE) IDENTIFY WITH HIM ..
.AND INVITES US TO SIT WITH HIM IN POWER AND GLORY!

Conclusion:

What is MAN? Who are YOU? Who am I?

If you will let Jesus show you . . .then 10,000 years from now you reign with JESUS over this very real Creation!

EPHESIANS: Knowing JESUS Better...A PRAYER FOR FULLNESS

Purpose: (3:14-21) 19b "...that you may be filled to the measure of all the fullness of God." Paul's letter to the Ephesians is a manual on the healthiness of life in God as it is intended to be lived. Here we may read about how God's great POWER can be released in those who believe; we are introduced to mysteries of GRACE and wonders of KINDNESS and joys of LIFE. But the highest privilege is FULLNESS! The greatest imperative in the book is 5:18 Be filled with the Spirit! And in the prayer here (3:14-21) is the heart of Paul's concern for the Ephesians, and certainly God's will for you and me: FULLNESS! But what KIND of fullness?

I. THE QUESTION IS NOT 'SHALL WE BE FILLED?,' BUT 'WITH WHAT SHALL WE BE FILLED?'

- A. Each of us is a vessel that is full for there is no such thing as spiritual vacuum. People are full of the stuff of life; people are full of their own importance; they are full of worry; they are full of hot air. In our culture it is the norm to be filled with the importance of self. We are so near to our culture that we are often blind to the pervasive, insidious, all-encompassing fullness of SELF WORSHIP as the 'accepted way' to live. There is occupation with what "I" want! There is obsession with being true to "ME!" To suggest otherwise is equal to LUNACY and TREASON combined.

IT SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE, A CONTRADICTION, THAT ONLY WHEN I AM FILLED WITH GOD MY REAL 'BEST SELF'— MY 'FULFILLED SELF' CAN BE FORMED!

But this is what Jesus was talking about when He said: (Mk 8:35) "For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for My sake and the gospel's, the same shall find it."

B. There are places where our fullness shows. We need to be looking at:

Reservoirs of consciousness: The things that "fill up our day." Not that we have consciously said: "This important!" Or even that we ENJOY it . . . but this is what we DO!

Wellsprings of attitude: The way we usually ARE to other people. The 'habits of the heart' (with apology to Bellah.) We let ourselves take on a "usual" way of looking at things: "Here comes the Dreamer!" said Joseph's brothers. "Here comes A PAIN!" "Here comes LOVE!"

Fountains of the spirit: The way we really ARE BEFORE GOD! Blessed are the pure in heart! Blessed are the seekers after God! Open, obedient, growing faith and love that is reflected in love for the Word, love for the place of prayer, love for the Church.

C. Our "fullness" is not usually a conscious choice:

1. We catch the ways of society more than we deliberately choose; it isn't that we need to look for the devil under every rock...the spirit of 'creeping secularism' is much more subtle than that— WE JUST NEED TO FORGET WHO WE ARE, AND WHOSE WE ARE FOR A SHORT WHILE!
2. Being filled is not necessarily seen as moral questions, or as "serious"— but things that 'take up space' in our souls.
3. (If we can speak as though spiritual things were 'spatial') Many thoughts/attitudes/mind-sets "take up room" that might be used for better things. [If your box is filled with $20 bills, you couldn't get in $100 bills even if they were offered!]

- D. Fullness does not say anything about CAPACITY. Remember, even a small vessel can GROW, and eventually take on surprising proportions.

II. THE IDEA OF BEING FILLED WITH GOD

- A. "Filled with all the fullness of God" ALL THAT GOD HAS TO OFFER - certainly doesn't mean that we have all of God that there is— the Universe does not "contain" God, but rather is sustained by His Word- but it DOES MEAN 'FILLED WITH GOD!'
- B. This is not a phrase to be lightly dismissed: "Oh, yes— what is meant here is 'the experience of entire sanctification!'" Which may be true— but in OUR context we may be saying: "This is stuff we Nazarenes 'own.' We are on familiar territory. Two trips to an altar and 'we have God's fullness!" Sometimes I think our church has got all the theological issues solved so neatly, and 'understands' all the 'hows' and even the 'whys' that people don't see how our "neat theology" relates to them where they are.

But there is REAL TRUTH in this message of holiness, a reality to being filled with the Spirit of God that, while it defies complete description, is crucial to our success as Christians.

EITHER WE WILL SEEK TO BE FILLED WITH GOD, AND BELONG WHOLLY TO HIM, OR WE WILL FAIL! And we will:

1. fall into outward sin
2. fall into sin of pride— thinking WE are the KEY—have a "holiness" that is a mass of rules and regulations
3. fall into sin of 'false humility' (antinomianism) and say: everyone has to sin every day anyway...

THIS IS NOT MERE THEORY (this prayer of Paul for you and me) AND ONCE AGAIN:

III. THE KEY TO FULLNESS IS KNOWING JESUS CHRIST

(v20-21) GOD IS ABLE TO MAKE THIS REALITY

This is what all the rest of Ephesians is about. But for right now we look at a practical application:)

- A. Fullness means the indwelling Christ (v 17): Jesus, welcome, at home, in you/me just NOW! By having heard Him knock, and by having deliberately invited Him in to STAY
- B. And Fulness means the empowering Christ (v 18): Enabling us to GRASP GOD'S LOVE:milk//meat/ /development/ /identity//responsibility
- C. The all-surpassing Christ (v 19): a crisis/on-going process of surrender; a grasping of the LOVE that enables us to "present our bodies a living sacrifice (Rom 12:1,2)Conclusion:
 - 1. You do not have the choice: "Shall I be full— or shall I not?"
 - 2. The question is: WILL YOU BE FILLED WITH JESUS CHRIST?
 - 3. Will you invite Him in? Make HIM your STRENGTH? Acknowledge your HELPLESSNESS before Him; and let HIM BE YOUR STRENGTH!

Make Him your ALL IN ALL? Trust Him with your secret ambitions . . .your dreams . . .your hopes?

Imparting of Life; Means to God's Purpose in THE VESSEL FORMED.

Introduction: God wants us filled, but first we have to be formed.

Two weeks ago we began this study of Ephesians with the text (3:19) "That you may be filled up to all the fullness of God." This is the PURPOSE of this entire epistle!

[We said that everyone is already FULL of something (even if it is just hot air), but that if we are to be filled with GOD it will be a deliberate choice on our part.]

Being filled with God is the ONLY way to go! Without the fullness there will be failure. With the fullness we will be FULLY ALIVE!

But before we can be FILLED with God, we need to be FORMED in spiritual life. Before we can learn to walk we have to be born. Before we can dedicate our LIFE to Jesus we must have a LIFE to dedicate!

I. SALVATION AS A WAY OF LIFE

Look with me, if you will, at salvation as a complete way of life. Some people think of being saved mostly in terms of a fire escape. I'm glad IT IS THAT! But I'm also glad it is much, much more.

[I certainly don't want to miss God's best for all eternity! to be 'shut out' from fellowship forever!]

But if salvation is ANYTHING at all, IT IS LIFE!

Eph.2:5 "(God has) made us alive together with Christ..." The "Theology" of the New Birth is exciting:

[Do you know what the Bible tells us takes place when we come to Jesus for 'salvation?']

1. Regeneration: (v 5 Even when we were dead.. He has made us alive together with Christ) The reality of a new kind and quality of life. If there is not new life there is not salvation. This life is evidenced by appetite; and by growth; and by continued development.
2. Justification: (Eph 2:13 Brought near by the blood of Christ) also [Romans 5:1 Therefore being JUSTIFIED...] The satisfaction of sin's guilt. The breaking of sin's power. The freedom to choose right.
3. Adoption: (Ephesians 2:18.19 So then you are no longer strangers and aliens, but you are fellow citizens with the saints, and are of God's HOUSEHOLD.) also [Romans 8:16 The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are Tchildren of God.) HOW near are we to God? We are FAMILY! We have spoken of "adoption", but "Citizenship" ALSO applies. There must be a sense of COMMUNITY or salvation is not complete as God intended. NO LONE RANGERS! Family! Access to the refrigerator!
4. Sanctification: Being made HOLY! Christ.likeness begun! Begun the instant we belong to Jesus in surrender; continues to crisis of entire sanctification; continues in growth, Christlikeness to glorification, when we receive a spiritual body; continues to all eternity in God's Presence.

II. THE LOWEST LEVEL OF SALVATION Is PEACE WITH GOD!

All these wonderful things happen when we come to Jesus - [even though none of us fully realizes how wealthy we are in becoming God's children] - but usually THE FIRST OF what we understand is just ONE THING: WE ARE AT PEACE WITH GOD!

The wonder of peace; it is what we crave even when we don't realize it. {It is a luxury that cannot be bought with money. It is a pure and quiet conscience, with the knowledge of sins forgiven. It is the basis for real happiness and contentment. It is the foundation of the Christian life.}

Jesus is the Prince of Peace! That is what the angels sang when He was born! (2:14) And Jesus HIMSELF is our peace! THE ENTRY LEVEL OF SALVATION...is PEACE with GOD; being in harmony with Him, accepting HIS Word as true; seeking to live by HIS judgments, by FAITH - even though we can only SEE what we can see.

Being justified by faith we have peace with God: our life in Christ starts with peace.. peace with God

["I didn't even know I was at war with God!" "Rebellion is more like it...or anarchy!" Rebels can't dictate terms. Rebels can't make deals. Rebels can only surrender. But JESUS HIMSELF is our peace!]

[How so??]

III. THE DOOR OF ALL SALVATION IS JESUS

"I AM the Door!" At every level of spiritual LIFE, Jesus is the DOOR!

1. His death on the cross gives us access: (2:16 Jews and Gentiles alike! have access to the Father!) But that access is first of all access for salvation. . then filling!
2. Access by His Spirit - Convicting, convincing - speaking to you about sin!
3. Access in the "now!" When God speaks about salvation, His time is always in the present! The "Door" is not something which you can search for and find all on your own. In God's Providence it may well be here tomorrow when you seek it...but there is no guarantee, and presumption is a deadly enemy of eternal life!
4. Access in the context of the Church! [We are "being built together..."]

Conclusion: COME ALIVE TO THE POSSIBILITIES OF LIFE!

Do you know the high privilege of peace with God? Are you at peace with Jesus? I'm not sure what all is involved by NOT having peace with God. But there is an interesting figure here, when we combine the truth expressed about 'existence before we find Christ and are saved:'

1. We are DEAD in trespasses and sins, but also
2. We are WALKING AROUND doing like the world tells us; doing what 'the prince of the power of the air' has dictated TO the world at large!
3. So.. until we are born to new life in Jesus we are WALKING DEAD! Zombies!
4. But we are invited to COME UP to Christ's THRONE; and to SIT DOWN with Him! in PEACE!

Jesus Himself is the DOOR to Peace with God, and to LIFE and to Life "MORE ABUNDANT!" ... Come (1) confessing your sin(s)! And come (2) believing Christ's MERCY! (Romans 10:9,10. !)and that Door to LIFE is ajar for YOU this evening! You can be filled with all the fullness of God! That is God's best and perfect will for you!

Ephesians 3:4,10

Do you enjoy mystery? What is it about mystery that intrigues and perplexes? Conundrum, enigma, puzzle, riddle, secret . . . all these are elements of the phenomenon we call "mystery." [The BUTLER did it!]

But when "mystery" is applied to everyday life— to our paycheck, or to our marriage, or to the contents of the dinner on our plate— we are not quite so enamored with "mystery." It is 10 p.m.- and 'we want to know where our children are!

This certainly is true of our standing with God. The Bible makes it plain that we can know God, and can be sure that we are right with Him. It is important that we know we are saved, based on fact and not on myth or hand-me-down folklore. And yet having said that, here in Ephesians Paul speaks of the mystery of faith. The mystery is an open secret. It is the fact that God wants to live with men, both Jew and Gentile. God does not want us to doubt that fact.

But there will always be elements of the faith that go beyond what we can understand. Faith itself will always be mysterious. (So is electricity— but we still use it!) And we must live by FAITH as long as we are in this world of time and sense.

There are always temptations to elevate what we do know and understand, and make it more than it is, so we won't have to deal with 'mystery' any more— won't have to 'walk by faith.' And ...It is the profound sense of holy mystery, the mystery that enables us to know and not know at the same time, which keeps us honest before God and fellow man.

I. WE ARE SAVED BY FAITH AND WE MUST CONTINUE TO LIVE BY FAITH

There is a "funny thing" about salvation, it is a paradox:

1. Any child can "understand" it— we have all sinned; Jesus died on the cross to save us, and if we confess He will forgive and save us— and if we don't, we will go to hell. But also
2. there is a profound mystery involved— WHY should God care?

And there are many profound mysteries! IF He cares so much about people, what about those who never heard? What about seemingly unanswered prayer? Why is there suffering?

We are called to total obedience, to total commitment to God in Christ, before we know all the reasons why, but not before we know enough to be assured and satisfied that God is good, and that God is holy, and that God knows us and loves us.

- A. God's will in salvation involves THE CHURCH (and centers in the Cross (v 11))
- B. God's will in salvation HAS UNIVERSAL IMPLICATIONS (which we cannot fully understand). But unless we are careful, even in our desire to be more spiritual, and be better Christians— we can seek to sidestep the radical cost of walking with Jesus by faith!

This has been my day to be narrowly doctrinal! But:

The BESETTING SIN OF THE FUNDAMENTAL MIND-SET IS THAT IT WANTS TO ELIMINATE THE 'MYSTERY' AND "KNOW" ALL THE ANSWERS IN THE BIBLE

Fundamentalism leans just a bit too hard on human understanding of Bible content, and takes almost a 'cause and effect' line on prayer and holy things, even when God's perfect will is veiled.

The BESETTING SIN OF THE CHARISMATIC MIND-SET IS THAT IT WANTS TO ELIMINATE THE 'MYSTERY' AND "FEEL" ALL THE ANSWERS IN EXPERIENCE:

Charismatics seem to weigh heavily on the importance of experience, giving it what seems to be almost equal importance with Scripture.

But there is an elusive, Golden Mean of balance in living of doctrine, experience, and practice. But it is not an easy middle ground.

II. WE CAN BE FAITHFUL WHEN WE CANNOT FULLY UNDERSTAND!

The truth is: it is much easier to analyze other people's mistakes and shortcomings than it is to face the same situation with integrity.

1. We are called to a radical commitment to the authority of God's Word: The BIBLE is truth! No doubt about it! But the Bible does not save us!
2. The Bible shows us JESUS! HE saves us! and we are called to: life-changing involvement in experiential truth, while being subject to the Word. To be saved means JOY! No doubt about it! There is reality in being saved. But the JOY does not save us! The JOY results from being near Jesus. JESUS saves us!;
3. AND SO OUR PRIMARY CONCERN IS: having a LIVING connection with Jesus Christ, knowing Him, walking with Him, and abiding in Him. The Book of Job is an important book; it tells us that we can know God when we cannot understand Him. And it tells us that what we do is important to Him. And it tells us that faithfulness is precious to Him!

Conclusion:

God loves YOU!

Some day you may DO something wonderful for Him! But we need to see that right here! right NOW YOU ARE IMPORTANT TO HIM! And you can give Him something! You can give Him your love! faithfulness! OBEDIENCE!

Mystery

We preach salvation and prayer and walking with God as though they were means to an end; as, if we will do these things then (1) we will be useful, or (2) we will live happily ever after. But what we need to grasp is the fact that there is ULTIMATE REALITY IN (simply) BEING BEFORE THE LORD!

Don't mistake: It is good and necessary that we witness and win; that we be USED of God; that we DEVELOP and STUDY and GROW and do all that we can understand of God's will, for the best reasons that we can know. . . We are not excused from witnessing and working and serving and growing and doing— all the things that we can understand of God's will. But when the way is hard— and we can't see anything being accomplished, and it seems we are at a dead end, remember ...there is more to this business than we can see! There is holy MYSTERY involved. It is NOT a cop-out to say that we don't have to understand all about our faith to be part of it. But we DO have confidence in the ONE we trust!

He is GOOD! He is GOD! And if we love Jesus, and are wholeheartedly involved in seeking His face... then we don't have to achieve or accomplish to be loved of Him... TODAY we are precious in God's sight! And if we will walk before God today, whatever the circumstance, then we please Him, and we fellowship Him, and somehow we shall fulfil our purpose. We are ALIVE in Him!

"The Eleventh Commandment"

Ephesians 4:12-13; 15-16;17-32

Just this week I took relatives to Plymouth. It isn't the Rock that fascinates me there. It is the memorial at the top of the little hill there, overlooking the harbor. I never get over the powerful sense of community that brought those people to these hostile shores.

I imagine also that many pioneers had the same sense of community as they trekked across the country in wagons, looking for a land of promise in the "Western reserve"— or further. In the past many communities have been welded together by common enemies, common visions of peace or purity. They appeal to us in some vague way— but seem somehow highly impractical...

Compare/contrast: Pilgrims/pioneers// "People's Church (Jim Jones)" . . . all had a "vision" a dream of Utopia . . . a place to go— modern day Hutterites very much a viable community.

But if we will look, such a challenge to community is found in the doctrine of the CHURCH, and here is one outline for us to look at and pray about: We are all familiar with "The Ten Commandments" that God gave to Moses on Mt. Sinai, the laws that are the basis and hope for morality in our world today. And it is commonly accepted that "The Eleventh Commandment" is the commandment which Jesus gave that we should love God and man. Nobody is against "love." But do we make the connection between the commandment: "Love one another!" and the concept and idea of living in fellowship with the Church of Jesus Christ?

It is easy to talk about love, and to abstract about what love is, and even relatively easy to set up communes where everyone involved is supposed to operate out of pure love. It is another thing to carry out Christ's love into the nitty-gritty of peeling potatoes and carrying the weak and bringing home the bacon. Most "communes"—even Christian efforts— miserably fail.

And it is just as hard to deliberately be a part of a congregation made up of imperfect people who are sincerely trying to carry out God's will and be a part of Christ's Body, the CHURCH!

Between the idea and the carrying out there all too often seems to come frustration and failure. What is stopping us here from establishing a community of pure love and harmony in keeping with "The Eleventh Commandment?"

Should we strive to do that? I believe we already ARE striving to do just that! But look with me at some practical aspects of God's grace manifested in the church: look with me realistically at the idea of UNITY: as a fact, a reality, but also as a goal — never being daunted because the IDEAL is not seen in the way we think it OUGHT to be seen. Is that realistic? How can we do such an idealistic thing in the pragmatic present?

I. WE NEED A COMMON DESTINATION- A GOAL BEFORE US CONSTANTLY

And the first part of the chapter gives us this ideal: (vv12,13 "...so that the body of Christ may be built up until we all reach unity in the faith, and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the FULL MEASURE OF PERFECTION FOUND IN CHRIST." (cf 3:19 "filled with all the fullness of God.")

1. We need to join our personal goals with those of Christ for His entire Body!
2. When we pray "Thy kingdom come!" we are affirming the community of faith! And we are saying: Keep this GOAL before us!

II. WE NEED A SIMPLE PLAN TO CARRY US FORWARD TOWARD THIS GOAL

And in verse 16 is the Divine Plan spelled out: Each member, each part, is to be connected with the Living Head: "...from HIM (Christ the Head) the whole body being fitted and held together by that which every joint supplies according to the proper working of each individual part causes the growth of the body for the building up of itself in love.

1. The Separatists (Pilgrims) had to entrust themselves to God by way of men they trusted: Pastor Robinson, Elder Brewster, for spiritual leadership; Miles Standish for secular government; the master of the Mayflower for transportation.
2. We need to entrust ourselves to God, and seek more than a "nominal" or "intellectual" faith in Jesus Christ. He is the living Head— and every member of His body can be led by Christ. True, Christ will probably lead through people. But there must be the vital, living connection.

III. WE CAN BE AWARE OF A MIGHTY POWER THAT ENABLES US TO CARRY OUT THE BEAUTIFUL PLAN

Beautiful plans and schemes are plentiful: plans that work are few and far between.

1. The church is to be built on integrity; and on genuine caring:

(17) Walk no longer as the Gentiles walk, in the futility of their mind being darkened in their understanding excluded from the LIFE OF GOD because of the ignorance that is in them because of the hardness of their heart having become callous given over to sensuality for the practice of every kind of impurity with greediness. BUT YOU DID NOT LEARN CHRIST IN THIS WAY! YOU have been taught that you lay aside the old self which is being corrupted in accordance with the lusts of deceit and that you be renewed in the spirit of your mind and put on the new self which in the likeness of God has been created in righteousness and holiness of the truth therefore laying aside falsehood speak truth each one of you with his neighbor for we are members of one another.

2. And the church is built on INTER-DEPENDENCE:

(v 25) "Therefore each of you must put off falsehood and speak truthfully to his neighbor, for we are all members of one body.

This is the identical thought Paul expresses in Romans 12:5

"So in Christ we who are many form one body, and each member belongs to all the others."

IV. WE HAVE A GREAT TEACHER AND GUIDE IN THIS GREAT ADVENTURE (VV 29-30)

(And the 11th commandment here has another serious commandment, a 'negative' side to the positive "Love one another!" and that is :DO NOT GRIEVE THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD!)

The Holy Spirit is NOT "looking for reasons to leave;" but also, He never forces Himself on those who do not want HIM!

Evidently this is a list of the things that can grieve the Spirit: bitterness, wrath, anger, clamor, slander, malice...

And definitely, here is what PLEASES God: (verse 32) KINDNESS! COMPASSION! A SENSE OF COMMUNITY!

Conclusion:

1. It may not strike you as attractive to join a community of faith. You may not see the need, like Pilgrims did, or pioneers.
2. But in reality their physical existence very closely parallels our own. WE ARE ALL ON A VOYAGE TO A NEW WORLD. We are in hostile territory, in alien culture. We MAY be able to survive on our own, but it is highly doubtful. We need the church of Jesus Christ. My own immediate family did not come through the wars unscathed— and I shudder to think of the awesome task of rearing godly children today in our almost wholly secular society!

Children's ministry is NOT (just) Marilyn Stark's task! And while it IS the family's primary responsibility, it isn't just the "parents' task," either! It must be one of this church's priorities!

LET'S GET OUR WHOLE COMMUNITY TO HEAVEN! LET'S REACH AFTER THAT FULL MEASURE OF PERFECTION FOUND IN CHRIST!

3. WE HAVE A SUPPORT SYSTEM, AND A SUPPORT GROUP. WE NEED TO FIND EACH OTHER; WE NEED TO HELP EACH OTHER. We need to love each other— and as Reuben Welch said so eloquently and so simply: We really do NEED each other!
4. WE CALL THIS SUPPORT SYSTEM AND SUPPORT GROUP: THE CHURCH! We need to dedicate the rest of our lives to Christ's church: to
 - a. obedience and submissiveness to HIM; as well as to
 - b. finding and using our gifts to the full;
 - c. we will have opportunity both for personal growth AND for sacrifice.

But church is not an option. And church is not just for our benefit- it is the Bride of Christ, and His Body.

Ephesians 3:19

Read 4:32-5:18. Emphasize 5:8 (You are LIGHT who once were darkness)..and 5:18 (KEY VERSE: Be filled with the Spirit!) Finding God's fullness as an on-going reality; carrying forward God's purpose for us, of being filled with GOD!)

I. LIVING AS GOD'S BELOVED CHILDREN MEANS:

A. Being FAMILY to God. The very idea of "family" as a good thing has been under attack:

1. The sacred concept of 'family'

The idea of belonging to one another for better or for worse; the idea that with God as Father, the community of faith IS family; generally seeking the good of other family members. (Sibling rivalry/friction may be a fact even within the church; but the idea of family is scriptural.)

2. The sacred institution of the individual family

This is dealt with later in the epistle; it is basic to the formation of character. In the reality of our society today many have to 'make do' without the ideal of parents (or parent!) who have no higher priority than children; it may be passe', but that does not make the ideal invalid., but the concept of commitment and loyalty and togetherness is vital.

ILLUS: Senator Paul Tsongas made a statement with his resignation a few years ago.. he had to choose between making policy for a nation.. or making an impact on his own family and children. Evidently Senator Tsongas chose to go with what would last! For our children will outlive and outlast this great Republic!

A family is NOT to be just an aggregation of individuals held together by mutual selfishness, meeting in the kitchen as they scramble off to work. They MAY have to do a lot of that but a family is made up of people who CHERISH each other!

3. The fact of FAMILY in the CHURCH

God is Sovereign; He is also "Abba." We must learn to make this more and more our own truth; to appropriate it!

[We are "family" with God, and God's family must be sexually pure.]

B. Being SEXUALLY PURE

1. God's Word speaks forthrightly about many of the issues that are argued back and forth in our society. We need to know what it says, and how we as Christians stand on such issues as abortion; as on homosexuality; and as on how we shall face the impending epidemic of AIDS. (In five years every one of us will be personally acquainted with a family that has a victim.)

2. God's WORD is not a clinical manual on medicine or human fertility; but it ought to be the foundation of the kind of sex education that leads us *from animal sex to human sexuality. ***
3. Sexual purity is the standard for the church for all professing Christians. NO believer can afford to rationalize, to lower the standards. The Bible has a clear standard: all sexual intercourse outside of the marriage covenant is sin. Homosexual intercourse [if there are children of the young age present, call intercourse "intimacy"] is sin, but so, also, is all heterosexual sexual intercourse that is not sanctioned and blessed by God in covenant blessing.
4. God expects purity
 - a. not only in the actual acts and physical relationships; but
 - b. in the intent and thought life. Sin begins with intent; with the cultivation of thoughts of evil. (There IS a distinction between "thoughts of evil" and "evil thoughts." There CAN be a resisting of temptation; of the enemy's attempt to twist HUMAN desire into EVIL desire.)

Summary of "Being sexually pure": Sexual impurity is wrong because it breaks God's holy laws; but it is also wrong in that it violates the sanctity of the family; and it treats PEOPLE as objects of selfishness. I would love to change the more`s of our culture but that is not going to happen overnight.

Sexual impurity will NOT be unpunished. Indeed, it carries the seeds of destruction, disappointment, and even despair in itself. But tonight we are speaking to God's family!

The emphasis for THIS sermon is: LET THE CHURCH BE PURE! THEN THE CHURCH CAN HAVE POWER!

We all love it when we cry out against the sinfulness "out there!" "The world" is going to hell.. and we need to cry out against it.. *but the fact is, WE NEED TO MAKE CERTAIN OUR HEARTS ARE PURE, OUR MINDS ARE GOD'S TEMPLES! AND THEN GOD MAY BE ABLE TO USE US TO CHANGE THE NEEDY, SINFUL WORLD!*

[Living as children of light, in God's family, also means:]

- C. NOT being GREEDY (Greed is the power.behind.the.throne in most sin; even (especially) in the sexual sins we have discussed; "power brokers" of the obscenity market).

We like to hear about the dastardly, flagrant sins of the world but we don't like to hear that we are in grave danger because the same fires of selfishness burn within US! If we LIVE TO GRASP! THEN THE SEEDS OF HELL ARE WITHIN US!

But we may be FREE from impurity and covetousness, which is idolatry! HOW?

II. ALL THIS THROUGH 5:18. FULLNESS. THE REALITY OF BEING FILLED!

1. (V 14: Be awake to what is really going on!)
2. BE an OPPORTUNIST! (v 15: Walk with your eyes open!) When He knows He can trust you, God will put you in places.. thrust you into opportunities where
 - a. you will know His prompting;
 - b. you will NEED His Presence and power;
 - c. you will find "BREAK.THROUGH FULFILLMENT!"
3. But ALL THIS BECAUSE OF "5:18!" We CAN be filled with the Spirit! We can STAY filled with the Spirit!

Exhortation:

GET sanctified! If you are a believer, (Romans 12:1,2:) Present YOUR body to God! Give HIM your LIFE! Be filled with the cleansing, empowering baptism of the Holy Spirit!

Get SAVED if you need to, in ORDER to get sanctified! STAY FILLED! STAY BEING FILLED!

What is Your Name?

October 11. 1987 am

Genesis 32:26_28 Then he said, "Let me go, for the dawn is breaking." But he said, "I will not let you go unless you bless me." So he said to him, "What is your name?" And he said, "Jacob." And he said, "Your name shall no longer be Jacob, but Israel; for you have striven with God and with men, and have prevailed."

"WHAT IS SALVATION?"

This is the third time we have used the same question, "What is Salvation?" We have looked at

1. God's Sovereignty and Our Free Will: [God Loves Us and Provides Salvation for Us by Grace;] and at the...
2. Atonement, ["Christ Died for Us."] Today we look at
3. Sanctification. "[Christ changes us, and makes us like Himself].

There are not "two salvations." Both the crisis of justification and the crisis of entire sanctification are elements of one great salvation. But Wesleyans have historically emphasized the need for a crisis of entire consecration on the part of believers after they have been saved, a crisis which on God's part results in cleansing and empowering and infilling with the Holy Spirit. This cleansing and empowering we call "entire sanctification."

What IS "entire sanctification?"

I. A THEOLOGICAL LOOK AT ENTIRE SANCTIFICATION

"Sanctification" refers the whole of what God does to us and in us to make us like Jesus. GOD WANTS TO CHANGE US INTO HIS LIKENESS; FROM WHAT WE ARE, IN OURSELVES, WITHOUT HIM— TO WHAT WE CAN BE BY HIS INDWELLING PRESENCE, FROM INADEQUACY AND SELFISHNESS TO CHRIST-LIKENESS AND SERVICE.

What is Your Name?

This life-changing, character-changing grace of God begins the moment we surrender our lives to God, and continues throughout all our lives as we walk with Him by faith; indeed, I believe it continues throughout all eternity! It is a process!

But at a very important point in this walk with God, every believer is challenged to a full and complete consecration, in love, to God, forever. In return God promises 'a renewing of the mind, an infilling, cleansing fullness of His Holy Spirit.' This crisis we call "entire sanctification." It is an all-important crisis within the process of sanctification.

Our Wesleyan definitions of "sanctification" are almost always definitions of "entire sanctification:" (such as)

Dr. E. F. Walker: "Sanctification, in the proper sense, is a work of grace, instantaneously wrought in the person of a believer, subsequent to regeneration, administered by Jesus Christ, through the baptism with the Holy Ghost purifying him from all sin, and perfecting him in divine love."

John Wesley (quoted in Wiley & Culbertson): "Sanctification in the proper sense is an instantaneous deliverance from all sin, and includes an instantaneous power then given always to cleave — to God."

Dr. John W. Goodwin: "Sanctification is a divine work of grace, purifying the believer's heart from indwelling sin. It is subsequent to regeneration, is secured in the atoning blood of Christ, is effected by the baptism with the Holy Ghost, is conditioned on full consecration to God, is received by faith, and includes instantaneous power for service."

Here is a statement of our accepted theology (Wiley) that may make it a little easier to see how different needs are met by justification and sanctification, and help us to distinguish "entire sanctification" from "justification":

1. Justification in a broad sense has reference to the whole work of Christ wrought for us; Sanctification, the whole work wrought in us by the Holy Spirit.
2. Justification is a judicial act in the mind of God; Sanctification, a spiritual change wrought in the hearts of men.

3. Justification is a relative change, that is, a change in relation from condemnation to favor; Sanctification, an inward change from sin to holiness.
4. Justification secures for us remission of actual sins; Sanctification in its complete sense, cleanses the heart from original sin or inherited depravity.
5. Justification removes the guilt of sin, Sanctification destroys its power.
6. Justification makes possible adoption into the family of God; Sanctification restores the image of God.
7. Justification gives a title to heaven; Sanctification a fitness for heaven.
8. Justification logically precedes sanctification, which in its initial stage, is concomitant with it.
9. Justification is an instantaneous and completed act, and therefore does not take place in stages, or by degrees; Sanctification is marked by progressiveness in that partial or initial sanctification occurs at the time of Justification, and entire sanctification occurs subsequent to Justification . Both initial and entire sanctification, however, are instantaneous acts wrought in the hearts of men by the Holy Spirit.

II. THE NEED FOR A SECOND CRISIS

We probably need to emphasize and re-emphasize over and over that "sanctification" is both process and crisis; that the process begins when we are justified. We need to say over and over that it continues throughout life. "God isn't done with us yet...." He is never done with us!

But also we need to underscore that there comes a crisis of full surrender when the 'sovereignty question' is settled in a decisive way!

WHY do we need to underscore this second crisis? Because it is our Nazarene tradition? If THAT is the only reason— then let's have courage and dump it!

WHY underscore this second crisis? Because if we don't we will have no reason for separate identity from other evangelicals? If THAT is our reason we had better wake up! Other evangelicals are emphasizing "holiness of heart and life!"

What is Your Name?

THE REASON (then, that) WE NEED TO EMPHASIZE THE SECOND CRISIS IS THAT THIS IS THE SCRIPTURAL WAY PEOPLE ENTER INTO THE EXPERIENCE OF GOD'S FULLNESS! WE CANNOT AFFORD TO MISS THE SCRIPTURAL TRUTH AND LIFE-CHANGING POWER, THE REALITY OF THIS EXPERIENCE WE CALL "ENTIRE SANCTIFICATION!"

We almost always COME to God for justification for selfish reasons: to escape judgment and penalty for our sins; to receive eternal life; to GET something from God. We are saved as we are "running away from our sins."

But this matter of "entire sanctification" is a matter of STAYING WITH GOD FOR BETTER REASONS! It is a matter of GIVING something to God as best we can! It is a matter of offering Him our love for time and for eternity! It is letting God have us to make us over like Jesus! We are "sanctified wholly" as we are "running toward God with our hunger for more of HIM!"

[Transition: But it is easier to see "second blessing holiness" demonstrated than it is to hear it described and "analyzed" by experts who often confuse rather than clarify:]

III. THE LIFE-CHANGING POWER

There are several powerful scriptural testimonies to the character-changing grace of God's sanctifying power in the lives of believers. One of the very best 'pictures' of the crisis of entire sanctification is found in the story of the patriarch Jacob. [Found in Genesis 32] I happen to believe that the story 'fits' our Wesleyan theology very well, but whatever your theology, the end result was exactly what Jacob needed, and what you and I desperately need.

The end result was a change in the very nature of Jacob. To understand the story of Jacob becoming Israel, we need to understand the deep significance of NAMES here in the Old Testament.

"Jacob" means "heel grasper." He came out of his mother's womb grasping his twin brother's heel. And he kept right on "grasping" from that time on. And in his "grasping" Jacob was a lot like some people I know— a lot like YOU and a lot like ME! And the name was fitting. Jacob was all for Jacob. He was a cheat. He tricked his brother out of his birthright and out of his blessing. You know the story, and if you don't you should read it soon.

On the way from home to Padan-Aram, escaping from his brother and his 'sins,' he had the experience in a dream of a ladder from heaven to earth— at a place he called "Beth-El," the house of God. He was changed— he was different. But he was still Jacob. Note: God met Jacob when he was RUNNING AWAY from his sins.

But perhaps 14 years later, returning home, Jacob met with God in this way:

1. Jacob was now a very wealthy man. But he was anticipating meeting his twin brother, Esau; and fearing the meeting very much.
2. The crisis came when Jacob was finally all alone, even though he had become for all purposes a rich man. I am not sure of all the significance of separation as Jacob sent over his herds and flocks and family until he was alone by the Brook Jabbok. But I do know that now this crisis separated him for a time from all his ACQUISITION.
3. But in the confrontation with God that took place there that night, the life-changing point is reached when God asks Jacob: WHAT IS YOUR NAME?

"Who ARE you, really?" And Jacob has to own up to the fact that he is a GRASPER! He is a person who lives to ACQUIRE!

Now it isn't hard to be a GRASPER! Believe me! Things have a way of grasping us! But the one BIG thing Paul tells us about Jesus is this: JESUS WAS NOT A GRASPER! (Philippians 2:5-6) And if we are to be like Jesus, somehow WE have to "let go of things" so they will lose their hold on us. HOW?

Well— perhaps it starts with answering the question: "What is your name?"

4. Jacob answers God truthfully: "My name is JACOB!" And God says: "Not any more it isn't! From NOW on your name is: ISRAEL! You are God's man!"

What is Your Name?

5. Jacob also asks God: "What is YOUR name!"

It is sort of audacious, and there is no answer immediately. God is not answerable to any creature, and is beyond what we can grasp.

But the "name of God" does come to Jacob-Israel. In Genesis 35 it comes: "I AM God Almighty— El Shaddai!— the Nourisher!"

IV. WHAT IS SANCTIFICATION?

Conclusion: Perhaps one answer is: SANCTIFICATION IS GETTING YOUR NAME CHANGED! What is YOUR name this morning?

And what direction are you running?

Are you running AWAY from the results of your sins? If you are— God is waiting to meet you, and forgive you, and save you, and bless you.

But perhaps you are running TOWARD God, with the consciousness that your sins are forgiven— and that you are rich in blessings— but also with the deep awareness that your name is "Jacob!" God can and will 'change your name' from "Jacob" to "Israel" by this second crisis of entire sanctification!

Ephesians 5:21 Submit to one another out of reverence for Christ.

THE WINNING PRINCIPLE OF SUBMISSION

Introduction/Disclaimers:

Cultural Realities that we have no way of knowing, but we can infer a wholly different situation regarding women's status, as well as accepting absolute authority in government, and roles and classes into which people were born. No idea of "equality" of all men. Contextual setting of this passage regarding husband-wife: submission is not merely the task of women and children.

In any cooperative enterprise proper lines of responsibility & authority need to be understood and accepted. Respect for authority is one of the sadly lacking features in our American culture that may well finally bring it down. But this is a double-edged truth: real authority must be merited-/earned. One of the rare pleasures in life is learning the joy of losing one's self in a worthy cooperative effort. It is one of the great lessons of music; of playing in a group or band or symphony. It is "rare" because most of us are interested in being "star performers." We want to be appreciated at all costs.

Allan Bloom says: "Everyone loves himself most, but everyone wants others to love him more than they love themselves." But there is a cost in entering into relationships of love and commitment. The taking of "Vows" is always sacred, whether they be wedding vows— "forsaking all others..keeping ONLY TO YOU" or whether they be salvation vows: "Jesus is LORD! forever!"

They bind us to a common submission and set of responsibilities each to the other. Any successful relationship of two free people will have to some extent be an exercise in submission to the common good. One cannot be a Christian without facing up to the Lordship of Jesus, and that means submission.

SUBMISSION TO JESUS CHRIST AS LORD

A Christian is one who is willing to submit to the Lordship of Jesus Christ.

SUBMISSION TO THE BIBLE AS THE AUTHORITY FOR LIFE

An evangelical Christian is one who is willing to submit to the Lordship of Jesus Christ as revealed in the Holy Scriptures. If we are not willing to change our lives to conform to the revealed will of God, then we are not Christians. If this passage of scripture, or any other passage of scripture, makes it clear to me that I must change the way I live, and I choose not to do so, then I am not a Christian, whatever I may say.

SUBMISSION TO THE CORPORATE LIFE OF THE CHURCH

The common way of looking at the church is as a convenience, placed here by God to facilitate our individual and personal growth. Jesus said the church is His BODY. It is Christ's creation, His building. But in the body of Christ our submission is A SUBMISSION THAT CAN NEVER BE ABNEGATION OF RESPONSIBILITY.

SUBMISSION AS HEALTH WITHIN THE HOME

Unless two people deliberately determine that they will subjugate their selfish ways to make a relationship work, their marriage is doomed from the very start.

What do you expect me to say here? I can go either of two ways: the simplistic, literal way (like Bill Gothard) that denies equality. Or I can ignore the fact that Paul says the husband is to be the head of the home entirely. But what Paul is speaking about is the mighty power of MEEKNESS to release LOVE!

1. WIVES (no simplistic stuff here) Within the context of the culture to which Paul wrote this was revolutionary. Women were not to be considered at the same level as men. But the Christian faith has done great things to promote the equality of all people. There are no second-class people in God's family.

But what about "Be submissive— the husband is the head?" First— it says "Be submissive to your own husband." As opposed, perhaps, to somebody else's husband. This may be a call to loyalty.

- a. No one is "GOD" to anyone else, and is not supposed to be, ever! No one's word must be considered as final authority (except in infants that cannot yet know God's mind.)
- b. No one is "inferior by birth" to anyone else; that is, simply because one is born poor, or female, or a different color than the majority of a local church, does that in any way make him or her one whit less valuable (or MORE valuable) than the dominant majority of the church.

Illustration: Of the woman with the demanding husband who made her miserable with his lists, and then mercifully he died. She remarried and found a husband who loved her and cherished her— and one day she woke up to the fact that she was doing the "lists" her first husband had given her— but doing them joyfully. (I do not say the wife is the "servant." I say that we are all to "serve in love" in the home.)

2. HUSBANDS

Twice as much here about how the men were to cherish their wives. In light of what I saw with my own eyes in the Middle East this was truly revolutionary.

3. PARENT-CHILD RELATIONS

Here deal with potential/future parents—asking them not to repeat the imprinting that they believe may have been harmful to them; "Lord, Help me to be as near the "ideal parent" as I can be!" Does the parent live to serve the child? Does the child exist to satisfy and fulfill the parent? NO! But the home exists to glorify God! And where parents seek God's glory—instead of selfish fulfillment, God will help us to submit and respect each other...and make room for real growth. Perhaps the time for thinking about what sort of parents you ought to be is long before you have your first child. Take notes! Don't let your home overly influence you! Seek to submit to God and to one another to the glory of Christ!

4. EMPLOYEES-EMPLOYERS

(I don't know where that leaves the Quincy school teachers!)

Back to 5:21 (text) - and the ideal is JESUS!

[Conclusion: It may well be that I have only "muddied the waters" in much of this discussion—about the particulars of husband and wife relationships. If you will submit to the authority of the Word and seek God's mind I have confidence He will guide you. But let me close on a note that is much more certain and positive: (Mark Twain said: "It isn't the parts of the Bible I can't understand that give me trouble— it is the part I CAN understand and don't want to obey!")

Much of this word on "submission" is in the context of Christ and the CHURCH.

1. Marriage is one of the sacred symbols of the fidelity we are to have to GOD. No human marriage is ever perfect. God as HUSBAND TO THE CHURCH; and as our Master We don't like to think of being 'slaves' even to God! But we had better think about what a real SOVEREIGN is!

2. We are to be totally SUBSERVIENT TO GOD. He IS always right!
3. But He is also ALWAYS DESIRING OUR BEST! He DOES provide! He will be faithful!
And WE must be faithful, too!

The Armor of God

October 25, 1987

Ephesians 6:10-24

Introduction:

We are coming to the final words of Ephesians this evening, but not the end of this series. Lord willing, there will be two more messages before our revival with Dr. Greathouse begins.

After the subject matter of the last two Sunday evenings, I should be happy for this familiar territory that is always good for spiritual application.

But that is just the problem. We often "retreat into spirituality" here. We describe the ancient soldier's armor, and think we have understood what this passage is all about. These words are much, much more than a stroll through a museum, looking at antique armor. This is a very practical message. It speaks to life as it is lived in 1987, and not just as it was in 87 A.D., when perhaps it was written. It is concerned with human struggle, and not just "spiritual matters."

I. CASUALTIES OF SPIRITUAL WARFARE

1. I see an all-out young Christian; full of fire and enthusiasm— sets his church on fire part FIRE and part enthusiasm of youth-being-converted-to-a-cause. Then there is FLAMEOUT. Perhaps disillusionment with older Christians; perhaps getting caught up in so-called intellectual questions. For all practical purposes no good to God or the kingdom of God.
2. I recall a solid, sincere Christian at a Christian college; never a wild party-er; good testimony; becomes a well-paid specialist in a high-paying profession; becomes rich in this world's goods, and totally LOST to the kingdom of God.
3. I recall more than one or two solid, talented pastors; gifted, charismatic (in the "old" sense of the word.) Become successful— become lustful, or greedy, or both— and they FALL, and they take an untold toll when they fall. It is hard to compare casualties like this with much more graphic casualties of physical warfare. It is easy to assume that I am being parochial, and exaggerating; to assume that I am a Nazarene pastor who is jealous for the Nazarene ministry— and there well may be an element of that! But I am desperately concerned and troubled that the Christians I serve, the sphere of influence where my voice is heard realize the seriousness, the all-out nature of this spiritual warfare: AND THAT WE REALIZE THE ETERNAL CONSEQUENCES OF WINNING OR LOSING THIS WARFARE!

II. POINTS OF ATTACK IN SPIRITUAL WARFARE

The passage is usually approached with a detailed description of the ancient armor. Even now it makes me think of VBS, and sincere ladies, and little paper armor sets stuck on easels.

But Paul was describing real dangers. He was talking about GUT SHOTS, and HEART SHOTS, and FOOT SHOTS in this spiritual warfare. Each piece of armor is connected with some aspect of integrity of obedience, and the admonition is: "You need it ALL!"

LOINS GIRT WITH TRUTH

I think of people who never go beyond living a role: living as they think others expect them to live; living as though appearances were more important than reality.

[It isn't that appearances are NOT important. But what a person is on the inside is ALL-IMPORTANT!]

What really counts is a LIVING, GROWING RELATIONSHIP WITH JESUS CHRIST!
[(6:14) Integrity over our "loins." The "vitals" which the Jews called "splanchna."
Where our GUTS come in— "stomach" for a fight.]

And so one day the pressure is on, and the enemy strikes, and deep in the "innards" is the sinking feeling: "I NEVER REALLY HONESTLY FACED WHO I AM, AND WHO CHRIST WANTED ME TO BE!"

BREASTPLATE OF RIGHTEOUSNESS

I think, also, of people who never want to make an all-out break with sin. They try to avoid the gross and obvious sins— but they excuse the so-called "little sins;" or they compromise on principles. If anything takes the HEART out of holy living it is trying to live over sin; to rationalize fudging on all-out commitment. We are DEAD if we are not right with God and walking in all the light we have. We are gravely mistaken if we think otherwise.

And so when the battle is joined it doesn't take long for an enemy dart to strike through the heart. It doesn't make sense to join God's kingdom in wartime, and not protect your heart.

FEET SHOD WITH PREPARATION

We make a joke of people who shoot themselves in the foot. It is the shorthand way of talking about "clumsy." But a soldier who is shot in the foot is helpless in the long run. He or she can only go where others may carry; and we aren't going to make the long haul unless we are prepared.

Taking care of your feet isn't very glamorous but it is one of the big things in a foot soldier's training. And it is one of the big things in this warfare to the death!

THE SHIELD OF FAITH

No one is perfect. We don't win battles because we are so strong or so invulnerable— but because we follow Jesus and OBEY. But there will be weaknesses in our preparation; there will be areas of emotional stress, or bitter disappointment, or failure of friends, or any other of a thousand things to all but overwhelm.

THERE IS SUCH A THING AS A "WEAKNESS SHOT"

— where the enemy, who knows your weakness, too— shoots at you where you are the most vulnerable. With the rest of the armor, faith makes us able to quench

ALL the fiery darts. Faith doesn't work right when used alone. Faith is a "completer" of body armor. When we have truth and righteousness and preparation and salvation as best we know, our human weakness is protected by this shield of faith.

THE HELMET OF SALVATION

There will be questions that we cannot answer. Jesus is NOT anti-question! But being FINITE, we will come up against facts and concepts that shake us. I'm thankful for the way Jesus handled Thomas. There is no substitute for being a personal student of Professor Jesus! Being in His Presence, knowing HIS assurance, helps us through the mind-boggling questions of life.

And, as we shall see in a moment: PRAYER IS WHAT MAKES IT ALL GO!

III. THE BATTLE JOINED

- A. A Wartime Mind-Set: We can never simply live as if it were not so! It is difficult to explain what it was like during WWII when the future of civilization as we knew it hung in the balance. I'm sure there were vast distortions, but I truly believed that the Nazis and the Japanese warlords threatened all that was sacred and safe. I was also convinced that winning the war would take God's help PLUS all we could do. "Loose lips sink ships!" "Buy War Bonds"

Paul is reminding the Ephesians that there is a Titanic struggle going on in the Universe between good and evil.

- B. The Great Sweep of the Battle-Field:

That struggle for some reason centers in the battle for the personality of men and women.

It isn't that we are intrinsically so valuable; for some reason God has made His people the showcase for three watching worlds. But as far as you and I are concerned, this warfare has eternal consequences. We have everything to gain, heaven, and eternal growth and fulfillment, and divine fellowship; and we have everything to lose, with eternal darkness and separation and memory— an eternity without God and hope that we call hell.'

That struggle is also for some reason limited to this period of mortal life here in time and space. It may seem strange to you, but I do NOT think it is necessary to be "experts on the opposition." There are those who sensationalize, and make a great deal of satanic power, and the powers of darkness. Suffice it to say that the enemy is wise beyond human wisdom dark world New Age (awareness, basically) (mysteries again) But there are some important things we should remember about the enemy in this war to the finish:

- he is not as wise as he would have us think
 - he is already defeated
 - and God is always working "both sides of the street" when you are doing His will; Moses was afraid because he was weak— and then he realized God was with him; what he may NOT have realized was that God was working in Pharaoh's life just as much; and when the Bible says God hardened Pharaoh's heart it doesn't mean God didn't love Pharaoh, it simply meant that NOBODY resists God with impunity—and God is either USING you right now— OR HE IS HARDENING YOUR HEART!
- C. Your place, and mine, in this spiritual warfare: It is easy to get our eyes on to the "dramatic" and look for exorcisms and spectacular miracles. But real life usually is trench warfare; the battle is won by letting Jesus keep us sweet when the pressure is on, and by loving when it is easier to be spiteful and mean. It is better to be simple in faith and obedient, than to be very wise in the ways of the enemy without the power of God.⁴

(6:13) The idea is to fight the good fight and to be faithful!

There are TWO VITAL ITEMS that we have not yet talked about in this warfare.

THE SWORD OF THE SPIRIT

(6:17) The Spirit sword - The "cutting edge" is being used of the Spirit. It is not that we are so wise, and know how to wield the sword, although God has a hard time bringing OUT for use what we have never allowed Him to PUT IN. But if we live with the Word, and if we say "Use me, Lord!" the marvelous thing about it is— He will!

And the other item, the absolutely most indispensable item is

PRAYER IN THE SPIRIT!

(6:18) Prayer is what makes it all go.

Every army travels on its stomach. When an army starves it cannot fight any longer. When communications are broken off with headquarters it is easily surrounded and destroyed. Prayer is where we maintain contact; receive orders; are kept strong; it is absolutely vital.

Conclusion:

We're in this warfare "for the duration!" As long as it takes!

We can get occupied with the "dramatic aspects" of opposition— the "conspiracy" revelations; but remember, actually we are more in danger of being swallowed alive by simple, old-fashioned selfishness, greed, insensitivity, and prayerless-ness.

If PAUL needed the prayers of the people— this great giant of a Christian— then we all need the prayers of one another!

The mentality of a bomber pilot flying missions: I do as I'm told— I take my place; I don't have to survive— I have to be faithful!

Ephesians 1:15-23

[Introduction]

As we near the end of this series in Ephesians we look at another prayer of Paul. We began with a goal (3:19)- that we might be filled up to all the fullness of God. We are nearing the close with an over-view (1:15-23)- a look at the almost incredible resources that are ours if we want to do God's will.

These resources are unlocked from three words that represent great grace: these words are 'HOPE' and 'GLORY' and 'POWER'.

I. First, HOPE:

- A. Hope is NOT a weak word. IT IS HOPE THAT MAKES LIFE WORTH THE LIVING! ("I hope so..." means much LESS than Bible terms express) Hope is FAITH looking into the future. (In many respects HOPE is almost indistinguishable from FAITH, except that HOPE is confident in what God is YET GOING TO DO!) Hope is confidence that LIFE IN THE WILL OF GOD IS GOING SOMEWHERE!

- B. Hope can/must be translated into the way we LIVE. If we live our lives in a day-by-day rat-race, an endless cycle of schedule without God/prayer/submission/HOPE— then how we live agrees with the atheistic humanism and materialism we "intellectually despise."

It is possible to DISAGREE with the enemies of God with our HEADS, while our LIVES AGREE BY DEFAULT! If we live at the same cadence, for the same goals, by the same rules, THEN WE ARE NOT LIVING BY HOPE!

And it is LIVING BY HOPE THAT MAKES THE DIFFERENCE!

- C. HOPE acknowledges that there IS a war going on! That is the whole idea! We wouldn't NEED hope if there were no battles! The battle is for real! The stakes are eternal! Our sons, daughters, neighbors— our very lives are in conflict with evil!

This does not mean we never rest— never smell the roses— but we must live with eternity in view— and with a strong HOPE that God's way is the ONLY winning way!

- D. Hope says: LIFE/TIME IS NOT AN ENDLESS SPIRAL!

Creation speaks of order, not chaos, chance. History will prove to be HIS-story! God has the last word! The God we serve INTERVENES IN HUMAN HISTORY! He came (in JESUS, specific! place!.) He is COMING AGAIN! (Just as literal! Soon!) He COMES into personal, individual lives!

GOD WANTS YOU TO BE CERTAIN THAT YOUR LIFE IS GOING SOMEWHERE!

II. Second, GLORY

- A. Our HOPE is tied to another concept: HOPE "goes with" GLORY! And Paul was deeply concerned that the Ephesians see how very wealthy they were as children of God.
- B. John 1:12 "(by receiving Jesus we become children of God)" We tend to "not hear" the GLORY of being God's children: "O well, we are adopted children. Only JESUS is God's Son!" But to be ADOPTED by God and being JOINT HEIRS WITH JESUS is sheer glory!

In R.T. Kendall's latest book (Once Saved, Always Saved) he tells of attending an adoption procedure in a court in Florida. I'd like to read a brief account verbatim:

"A few years ago my wife and I witnessed the adoption of a child in a Fort Lauderdale, Florida, courtroom. We listened to the judge as he spoke to the adopting parents in gravest tones.

"'Before I sign my name to this document,' he warned them, 'I need to know you realize what you are about to do.' In a room of sobering silence in which you could hear a pin drop, that judge looked each parent straight in the eye and said, 'If I sign my name to this document, it means that this child is yours, legally yours, as though he were your natural son. There is no guarantee how he will turn out. He may disappoint you. He may turn to drugs as a teenager. He may develop a serious illness and you will be responsible to care for him. If I sign my name to this document, that means this child is yours from this day forward. He is protected by the laws of this state. You cannot turn him back once I sign my name to this document. Do you understand this?'

Those parents did not hesitate to answer. 'We understand,' they responded. 'Then it is your will that you become the parents of this child?' the judge asked. 'It is,' they replied. The judge signed the order.

In what I thought was a rather unusual gesture, he got off his seat and walked round to the two parents and congratulated them. Every eye was filled with tears. The judge then revealed that he too had been an adopted child." (p 114 ibid,)

- C. We say: "Thine is the kingdom and the power and the GLORY!" And rightly so! But God SHARES that GLORY as He brings us into His family! We are precious to HIM! And that is glory!

Too often we have been living, NOT as adopted children, but as FOSTER children— afraid God is going to "send us back to the orphanage" instead of taking full advantage of being FAMILY WITH JESUS!

III. Finally, THE POWER!

Paul wants us to see that God's will for us is not just a beautiful, ivory-tower theory— a wonderful, glorious PLAN— but that there is adequate POWER to do ALL that God leads us to do!

- A. We focus on the CROSS, and God's LOVE. That is good. But, [with the New Testament church as our example], we ALSO need to focus on the EMPTY TOMB, and God's POWER! That certainty is what gave the disciples mighty authority and power!
- B. We can re-discover God's mighty POWER toward us:
 - 1. It is resurrection power (1:19b-20; 2:5 "even when we were dead—(Christ)— made us alive together with Christ") We not only will live again after we die physically; but we live with a new quality of life here and now!
 - 2. It is also authoritative power (1:20; 2:6 WE are seated with Christ (positionally) in the heavenly places) Our prayers carry HIS AUTHORITY as we abide in HIM and HIS WORDS abide in US! As we said when we were speaking about "HOPE," there IS a war going on! But as Christians we have the POWER necessary to be "more than conquerors through HIM that loves us!"

In his controversial (but wonderful) new book, Desiring God, John Piper likens prayer to a walkie-talkie set tuned to the frequency of headquarters, for the purpose of reinforcement in battle. Nothing will be spared to support us as we carry out God's will. But too often we use the walkie-talkies to ask headquarters to send a servant around with cold drinks, or something for our comfort or convenience. But properly used, we have all Christ's power of authority!

[Conclusion:]

- 3. IT IS LIVING POWER! God's power is in the fact that God has given the Church JESUS CHRIST, HIMSELF, AS OUR LIVING HEAD! (1:22

God put all things under (Christ's) feet, AND GAVE HIM AS HEAD OVER ALL THINGS IN THE CHURCH, WHICH IS HIS BODY! " God's mighty POWER for Christians is centered in the FACT that we have a living, loving, all-powerful Leader!

And (1) we can seek, find, know HIS MIND! (2) What He says, GOES! His command is also His enabling! (3) But, too, what He says is never "an option!" IF WE WOULD KNOW THE POWER OF HIS MIGHT, THEN WE MUST SEEK TO BE OBEDIENT TO HIS REVEALED WILL AND COMMAND!

So there we have it: HOPE! GLORY! POWER! Beautiful words! Great "ideals!" But God has the reality they represent available without limit for every one of us, and for this church!

AMEN!

Ephesians 5:18

In his practical closing, Paul comes back to the theme that has been his prayer throughout this entire letter: to be the kind of Christian God wants you to be, you must BE FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT!

It is not just a parting thought . . . a wonderful "luxury" option. It is absolutely vital! Why?

I. IT WILL SUSTAIN YOU IN UNCERTAIN TIMES (So That You Can KNOW!)

Christians don't have all the answers . . . there is mystery involved at every level, in every discipline. But Christians can know hope and riches of glory and power!

Ephesians 1:15-19 Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints, Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers; That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him: The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, And what [is] the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe,

It is possible to be so "sold out" to God that the heuristic quality of faith will drive you closer, and not farther away from a personal relationship with Him. As we grow in maturity, and as we grow older and (hopefully) wiser, we realize that we know less and less of the great truths of life. We can either take an obscurantist position, and say: "The earth is flat!", or, we can go with the "obvious" or the current fad belief, and say "The old is out-dated, only the new is true!", OR, we can say: "We may not know all the answers— but we BELONG to the One who does!"

This is one great reason why we need to be filled with the Spirit. It doesn't give us the answers; it does make us aware of the certainty of HOPE, the RICHES OF GOD'S GLORY, and the POWER THAT TRANSFORMS LIVES!

But there is another great reason:

II. IT WILL MAKE CHRIST AT HOME IN YOU, AND YOU IN CHRIST

3:14-21 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, BEING ROOTED AND GROUNDED IN LOVE, May be able to comprehend with all saints what [is] the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fulness of God. Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, Unto him [be] glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

Psalm 90: 1 begins: "Lord, THOU hast been our dwellingplace . . ." "90" is a Psalm of Moses! Did you ever think what sort of "home" Moses had?

I love to travel and see new things. But I love to be "at home." I have a strong need for "home!" A strong sense of PLACE. But more and more the Christian realizes that "home" is NOT a place— it is a PERSON! ABIDE IN ME! Make JESUS AT HOME IN US!

Unless and until we are 'at home' with Jesus here and now we will not be likely to KNOW HIM when He returns, or to BE AT HOME WITH HIM throughout eternity. But we have the privilege of . .

Making HIM at home in OUR heart learning the privileges of development, intimacy, responsibility, growing reality ..the PERMANENCE of Christ RESIDENT!

We need "eternal security!" We find that security in LIVING WITH JESUS, AT HOME IN HIM! But there is at least one other reason:

III. IT WILL MULTIPLY YOUR EFFECTIVENESS

EPH 5:15-21 See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, Redeeming the time, because the days are evil. Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord [is]. And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit; Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord; Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ; Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God.

Whatever we have . . . Even if we seek to use it 100% for God . . . Is only 100% of what we have. But when we bring it to Jesus and let him use it . . . then He can work His will and do as He pleases! HE can feed 5,000 . . . it is HIS business!

HOW may we be filled, and thus begin to make a difference?

1. We ARE full now . . . there are no spiritual vacuums. So God can only fill what is available to Him!
2. The "death" of entire consecration: (we have said some extravagant things here. But there is a truth we dare not dodge!) We cannot be filled with GOD unless and until we are empty of self: the cross, the dying, the renunciation of the right to self: In viewing the paradox, the mystery of Christian faith we are guilty of seeing the side we want to see. We say "Self is not dead!" And that is true. But still— self must die!

3. The CRISIS of entire sanctification: When we know that we have surrendered for time and eternity— completes the CRISIS of RECEIVING SALVATION . . . but it is not all there is to the sanctified life!
4. The (on-going) PROVING of the Spirit-filled life: carrying forward, learning the discipline:

CONCLUSION (heroes:)

But the world is waiting for people who will be filled . . . and go on being filled . . . and let God simply LIVE IN AND THROUGH THEM!

Less than two miles from where Rev. John Paton now lives (he was here three weeks ago)- in Blantyre, Scotland, is a little park. At one end of the park is a building that looks to me like several cement bookshelves stuck together, with semi-enclosed stairways going up the front. Between the floors of those stairways are toilets— the urban equivalent of the old outhouse - one toilet to a floor of several two-room apartments. In one of those two-room apartments lived a weaver and his wife and several children. One of these children was gifted. Perhaps more than one . . . but David disciplined his gifts, and became a medical doctor.

Wonderful!?! Yes, indeed! He had hauled himself by his bootstraps out of abject poverty into social prominence and financial security! He had reduced the total of the poor, and added to the total of the taxpayers! But THAT was not where David stopped! He gave that degree, and his learning, and his social prominence to God. And God said: Take your gifts far, far away! David is buried today in the main aisle of Westminster Abbey, in London. All but his heart, that is! THAT is under a baobab tree in Africa! And all the world has heard of the love of David Livingstone!

The God Who Reigns

Nov 22, 1987 (pm)

We have come to the end of another 'church calendar year.' Next Sunday we begin all over again, with the introspection and call to hope of Advent, as we watch for the Coming of the King.

There is wisdom in following the church year, and while not being in slavish conformity to it, letting it keep before us the broad richness of the heritage we know within the Church of Jesus Christ. There is inspiration in the way the church year is put together. Cynics can say that Christians of earlier ages simply adapted the pagan customs. I say that it is more than genius in

1. Beginning the church year in the gathering gloom of the year's midnight hour with Advent— a looking for the light; then ...
2. Celebrating the Incarnation, Christmas, the first great day of the church year, when the light begins to grow and glow and penetrate the darkness of the winter solstice.
3. We usually downplay the Epiphany, or revelation of the Light; but then in the late winter and very early springtime ...
4. We look toward Christ's Passion, and search our hearts and remember His forty-day's fasting (Lent;) and then ...
5. Recall with worship and wonder His death on the Cross, and His Resurrection, with Easter, the second great day of the church year. Then as the warmth of summer approaches we think about the Coming of the Holy Spirit and the Promise of God's Presence until we celebrate ...
6. Pentecost, the third great day of the church year. This is quickly followed by ...
7. Trinity Sunday, and we finish the year celebrating God's provision for our adequacy in Him. The church year keeps before us the whole spectrum of the great truth of salvation.

And the church year (Lutheran) ends on the note: JESUS CHRIST IS KING!

(ANGLICAN= HAGGAI 2:1-9; Malachi 3,4)

THE DOCTRINE OF THE SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD puts a vital perspective on "faith." To believe that God is in charge, and that all things ultimately can happen only as He wills or permits IS NOT A POPULAR DOCTRINE IN MANY CIRCLES, BECAUSE

1. IT DOES NOT LEND ITSELF TO "USING" GOD— of manipulating God into sideline issues, for it makes it clear that this Universe is run on God's terms, for God's glory, according to God's will. And, too, it is not popular because
2. IT MAKES NO PROVISION FOR "FAVORITES" IN GOD'S SIGHT; or for earning or meriting eternal life; FOR ALL IS OF GOD AND HIS GRACE.

Three Psalms (93, 97, 99) begin with the phrase: "The LORD reigns!" (And all three end with the thought of how God's people should also be holy, for this Sovereign God is a HOLY God and he demands a HOLY people.)

I. THE LORD REIGNS!

WHAT DOES THIS DECLARE?

- A. A statement of PRESENT FACT! Not "One day He SHALL reign!" but even NOW He is in charge!
- B. A statement of PERSONAL INVOLVEMENT; The LORD, HIMSELF is in charge, and not some intermediary; not some power, force, unfeeling laws.
- C. To believe otherwise is to live in some pre-Copernican age, spiritually. Thank God this Universe (1) does NOT revolve around mankind; and (2) is NOT here by chance or by chaos, even though we do not understand MOST of what we see.

[Transition: What then do we know about this God who reigns?]

II. (93:1) HE IS CLOTHED WITH MAJESTY!

He is glorious in creation!

- A. How can we speak of the transcendent majesty of Almighty God? I pity those who cannot trace His handiwork in the heavens/ in the beauty of the sea/ in the mountains

- B. The Psalmist pictures God as "serene, unperturbed (v 4) by the voice of many waters..."
God is NOT a figurehead ruler, and THE THINGS THAT THREATEN OUR VERY SANITY ARE NOT OUT OF HIS CONTROL!
- C. (v 5) "Thy testimonies are very sure!" We may depend on this majestic King's Word!

III. (97:1) LET THE EARTH REJOICE!

God is long-suffering in mercy!

- A. The Majestic One is also very much involved in the lives of a people he calls his own! The Psalmist senses a "belonging!" (v 10 "HIS saints!") This is not to contradict the majesty and even the mystery of a great God— (vv 2-4) but God is both transcendent AND immanent.
- B. This great God "preserves the soul" of His saints (v 10)
 - 1. Our rejoicing is that GOD OVERCOMES EVIL. (true, there are no simple solutions— but God's people are on the 'winning side!')
 - 2. WE ARE CALLED TO A CLEAR SEPARATION FROM EVIL: (v 10 "ye that love the Lord, hate evil!")
 - 3. THE LORD HIMSELF IS THE "TOUCH-STONE" OF OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS (v 12 Rejoice IN THE LORD! —and not merely in the fact that "we" are "right" or we are "God's people")

IV. (99:1) LET THE PEOPLE TREMBLE!

God is faithful in JUSTICE!

- A. We catch a glimpse here of God seated between the cherubim. HE IS MAJESTIC—LOVING— BUT LITERALLY STAGGERING THE EARTH IN HIS HOLINESS! He is
"executing judgment in Jacob" The God who is faithful in CREATION, and faithful in MERCY, is also HOLY! He is faithful in JUDGMENT! We cannot understand the origin of evil in a Universe created by a good God. But a holy God can not and will not leave any injustice or unanswered questions about evil when He comes to settle all accounts.

The God Who Reigns

- B. We are judged even NOW by our response to God's LOVE! We are invited to identify with Him in a factual, real way. We are welcomed to be His children, in His family, sharing his divine love and nature!
- C. Anything less than a total belonging to Him should make us tremble in the Presence of this God! And when He is revealed, like John, we will be awestruck! But if we are HIS, like John we will know His re-assurance!

WHAT HAS BEEN MY PURPOSE IN LIFTING OUT THIS PHRASE, "THE LORD REIGNS!" ? Just the fact that this is CHRIST THE KING Sunday? No— (actually I was drawn to this text before I recalled that this WAS the church calendar theme!) PERHAPS TO REMIND MYSELF OF THE HOLY AWE AND FEAR THAT SHOULD MAKE ME WANT TO "BE RIGHT" WITH THIS ONE who will one day make all things "right." Maybe I hoped to challenge YOU to make sure that YOU are "right" with God, too.

BUT PERHAPS I HOPE THAT YOUR RESPONSE AND MINE, TOO, WILL BE A DESIRE TO DO A BETTER JOB OF THE GREAT (ON-GOING) PRIVILEGE OF WORSHIP!

We do not have to wait until we die and go out into eternity to have part in the glory and wonder of worship! By faith just NOW we can confess that JESUS IS WORTHY! (Revelation 5:6-10.) One day every knee shall bow. We may be sure of that! But just NOW our lives as well as our tongues can praise Him!

Jan 3, 1988 John 15:1-17

What sort of year was [2007] for you? For some it was a good year. For others it was little short of devastating. How do you view the oncoming days and months of a new year? However we look at it, it is coming! The question is, how shall we meet [2008]?

At the milestone points of life, the promises of God can give us a reference point, to help us see where we've been, and where we are, and where we're going. They can help to hold us steady in the winds of success or adversity.

Perhaps you have your favorite promises. Promises like: Proverbs 3:5,6; and I like Galatians 6:7,8 ("...be not weary in well doing...") Instead of just a "promise," I would have us consider a whole "passage" as a reference point today. This whole passage is worthy of life-trust: (John 15:1-17.) A highlight is verse 7 "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you."

The truth here, of shared life with Jesus, is a frame of reference for a lifetime, for a New Year—[especially the fact that we are chosen of God! The initiative for LIFE is with HIM!

I. I HAVE CHOSEN YOU (v 16)

- A. GOD HIMSELF HAS CALLED US! We come to know God because He makes Himself available to us. We did not simply set out and "find God." God found us!

God called Adam in the cool of the day; He calls to every person who truly will listen. Sometimes we say in our arrogance: "I found God.." And so we did; but in reality God was seeking us all, each one.

OUR 'FINDING GOD' IS ALWAYS A RESPONSE TO HIM, TO HIS LOVE.

As Jesus spoke to the disciples that night, each of them may well have thought back to when he first met Jesus. For each of the disciples was "called." Do YOU remember when you first responded to Jesus? For before WE could RESPOND...we had to be "CALLED!" Jesus said, "You have not chosen Me, but I have chosen YOU!"

GOD HAS CALLED, IS CALLING EACH ONE OF US!

- B. But to be CALLED is not exactly the same as being CHOSEN! Jesus also spoke these words: (Matthew 22:14) "MANY are called, but FEW are CHOSEN!" It is not enough that God loves you, and that Jesus comes where you are and calls for you to follow!

THAT does not make you one of the "chosen," not quite, yet! [The Rich Young Ruler came running to Jesus. Jesus LOVED him (Mark 10!) and invited the rich young ruler to "Come, follow Me!" As far as Jesus was concerned, He wanted the rich young ruler to be "chosen." But there was lacking that element of obedience! He was unable to part with his "things."

The CHOSEN are those who hear and heed and follow and keep on following! To be among God's CHOSEN, there must be a willingness to follow Jesus! A choosing to OBEY Him! (John 7:17) "If any man is willing to do His will, he shall know..." It is NOT 'salvation by works.' But we ARE chosen, when we are willing to leave all, and follow after Jesus!

II. I AM THE SOURCE OF LIFE (v 1, 5)

- A. Shared LIFE with Jesus.

Here is the figure of the Vine and the branches...one we need to return to again and again. WHY? Because the Vine and the branches share ONE LIFE! We do not receive LIFE and then proceed to go away and do with it as WE will. But forever we are to be in close connection with Jesus Christ.

- B. Perfect freedom comes from being 'ONE WITH JESUS!'
- C. THE PARADOX: Jesus is saying: "YOU ARE TIED TO ME and YOU ARE TOTALLY FREE"! This is the "heart" of the message, right here:

1. ABIDE IN ME! REMAIN IN ME! KEEP THE CONNECTION TIGHT! Seems like "conditional love." Seems very much like it is not very adventurous! The life of a grape-vine branch! Indeed! If we do not learn to ABIDE...if we do not WAIT ON THE LORD...if we do not learn the secret of this obedient "passivity," we shall never learn the FULL SCOPE OF LIFE IN CHRIST!
2. ASK WHATEVER YOU WILL IN MY NAME, I WILL DO IT! The other half of the truth of the paradox: A sense of complete liberty! Freedom to be what you were intended to be! Keep ON sharing life in Me! "Be being filled with the Spirit!" (Ephesians 5:18.) This intended to be an on-going, never-ending relationship.

III. I HAVE CHOSEN YOU...TO BEAR FRUIT (v16)

BE ASSURED! Jesus is interested in YOUR full potential! Fruit! Fruit that will last! Last—how long??

[What are the results of a lifetime of work without the eternal dimension? There is more, or less, satisfaction in all work, depending on various factors of usefulness, beauty, demand, and the like, BUT all such work will decay. Even the pyramids will cease to be!...]...but the promise is: THE CHOSEN WILL BEAR FRUIT IN THEIR LIVES THAT WILL REMAIN...LAST...ABIDE!

[Illus: What has been achieved in "things" vs. "people"—the building of Akron First Church vs. the helping of a family to get back together—which lasts longer?]

Fruit that is UNIQUE to you! What YOU were made for is fulfilled!

IV. THE FINAL WORD: LOVE EACH OTHER!

- A. I love YOU—that's why I have chosen you! Be sure of that!
- B. You love ME! Good! That's the way it must be!
- C. But more and more—SEEK TO BREAK DOWN THE WALLS OF INDIFFERENCE AND...LOVE ONE ANOTHER! [This NOT irrelevant to the rest of the message! We cannot be all WE should be individually apart from loving one another!]

1. the 'kiss of peace' and the like is one thing, but at best it is superficial. Is it possible to really have a desire to be of help to one another ?
2. perhaps it would be better to extend a hand of help— seek to do it as a regular thing
3. My prayer is that each sincere heart might find a prayer fellowship; seek "accountability."

[Conclusion:]

We have looked at the passage as a frame of reference for the New Year. It is worthy of being "a lifetime passage!" It says: HERE IS THE RELATIONSHIP ON WHICH WE BUILD OUR LIVES!

Another way to look at it is 'Lining up our lives by the "THREE GREATS" of Jesus' teachings:

1. We're familiar with THE GREAT COMMISSION . . .and that is the "fulfillment" here: bearing MUCH fruit (Matthew 28/ Mark 16:15 Go ye...) John 20:21 AS THE FATHER HATH SENT ME, SO SEND I YOU!

But the Great Commission cannot be realized unless and until the Church is heeding...
2. THE GREAT COMMANDMENT: in this passage here: (v 12,13 This is my commandment, that ye love one another!) John 13:42 A NEW COMMANDMENT GIVE I UNTO YOU, THAT YE LOVE ONE ANOTHER AS I HAVE LOVED YOU.

And yet in a very real way, both THE GREAT COMMISSION, and THE GREAT COMMANDMENT are dependant on another "great!" For Jesus has give to you and to me...
3. THE GREAT PROMISE! The promise of the Holy Spirit! John 7:37: IF ANY MAN THIRST LET HIM COME TO ME AND DRINK. HE THAT BELIEVETH ON ME, AS THE SCRIPTURE SAITH, OUT OF HIS INMOST BEING SHALL FLOW RIVERS OF LIVING WATER. (BUT THIS SPAKE HE OF THE SPIRIT, WHICH THEY THAT BELIEVE ON HIM SHOULD RECEIVE!) (16:7 IF I GO AWAY, I WILL SEND HIM UNTO YOU!) There we have them . . . the great PROMISE! . . . the great COMMANDMENT! . . . the great COMMISSION! Our assignment for 1988!

Faith Does Not Just Settle

January 17, 1988

Genesis 15:1-6

Introduction: This chapter breaks in right in the middle of things. Abraham has made an excellent start. He has had some very good times, and some not so very good times. But now, in the middle of things, Abraham's faith comes to a crisis. He must either go forward or else he must settle back, perhaps forever.

This is how life really is. This is how real faith works. We hear God's call. We set out to follow. We have real victory. We leave behind old ways. We find that the guilt and bondage of sin are gone. But we also find that we aren't "saints" overnight. There are things that come up which we could never have imagined. We find that we don't arrive in heaven by non-stop express. And the "promise" that challenged us at first hasn't seemed to take the shape that we thought it should. Other people seem to have the answers down pat. But somehow we aren't sure we even know all the questions yet.

When we were first saved we somehow believed that God wanted us to be special to HIM; to fulfill some noble and holy mission or purpose. Somehow we thought God wanted us to be "great." But we realize that there aren't many truly "great" people around. WE certainly don't feel "great."

And so we are tempted to "just settle." We're tempted to say, "Oh well, all right—this isn't exactly how I had envisioned it . . . but I'm far better off than I was before." And it is true we are. And this is how it was for Abraham on "just another desert night."

I. ABRAHAM MEETS GOD ON 'JUST ANOTHER NIGHT'

He is a very wealthy, but also a barren Abraham. God has called and blessed Abraham. Obeying God has been personally profitable to Abraham in many ways. But the one thing God promised him, that he would have a son and heir,—and become the father of many nations, and be a blessing to the whole world—this has definitely not happened.

God's call is (1) to courage; and (2) to Himself: "Don't be afraid, Abraham!"

"Lord, I didn't know I was afraid! Things are going pretty well . . ." Abraham sounds like a person who may not have 'arrived,' but he also talks like a man who is pretty sure he isn't going any further. "My servant, Eliezer of Damascus, he is a good man . . . He can carry on when I die."

But God's word cuts through all this: DON'T JUST SETTLE, ABRAHAM!

God wanted Abraham (1) to have courage to admit that he hadn't arrived yet! [It takes courage to look hard at ourselves, and realize that we still have serious growing to do; that we still have to keep moving to catch up to what God wants for us.]

And most of all, God wanted Abraham to (2) trust HIM; to believe God had NOT forgotten Him—that God still loved him and was special to him, and would do with him as He had said.

II. ABRAHAM WAS LIKE WHAT WE ARE TEMPTED TO BE

We are fascinated by what God can do for us and with us. We are captivated by where God may lead us . . . we are excited by spiritual gifts . . . we are turned on by spiritual growth. And all this is good and right and proper. These are God's good promises to us. But God was challenging Abraham—and He will challenge each of us—to come to the radical purpose of faith—of seeking God for Himself.

We get so excited asking: "What has God DONE for you?" that sometimes we forget to ask: "Who IS God to you?"!!

God was challenging Abraham to center his faith in relationship, and not in experience, or experiences, or blessings, or anything else. There is a not-so-subtle difference in God's word as it comes this time to Abraham:

At the beginning God had said, "I will make, bless . . ." Now God begins by saying, "I AM!" He was saying, "In this matter of faith never settle for anything less than a personal walk with ME!" [Abraham had made a great beginning. He had walked out into the unknown with God.]

But God was saying: Don't let your faith settle for a good beginning! Thank God for the altar! Thank God for altar experiences. Thank God for good starts! But getting saved is not the end—it is just the beginning!

Don't let your faith settle for success! Abraham had had some great successes! His success just about filled all the available landscape. Abraham was a genuine V.I.P. But God was telling Abraham: this isn't all there is! Reputation, even a well-deserved good reputation, isn't what faith seeks! Each success that faith brings is not its own final goal. Success and failure, as other people may measure our lives looking on, may have a lot less to do with faith than most of us would care to believe.

Don't let your faith settle for God's gifts! Abraham's own suggestion to God had to do with his servant. Abraham had a special servant, Eliezer of Damascus. But God wouldn't hear of letting a servant take the place of His promise. And we all have these special servants. Obedient faith finds and develops and employs many valuable servants along the pathway of discovery.

"Gifts of the Spirit" or God-given talents and strengths of character that God blesses and uses become real sources of blessing and satisfaction. Gifts of the mind prod us to inquire; gifts of the personality enable significant achievement; gifts of aesthetics bring the joy of creativity; gifts of physical ability—all these are wonderful servants.

But ever so often we see someone who ends up with a "servant" on center stage of their life. Instead of serving, people worship their own God-given ability. But servants must never become the primary focus of faith. Faith must never settle for success, or experience, or achievement.

III. THE 'TURNING POINT' IS GOD HIMSELF

This is a strange chapter. It doesn't "fit" neatly into our idea of how things ought to be. It isn't where Abraham got "saved" or even where he got "sanctified." It isn't very dramatic. But it is a turning point. Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness. It is hard to understand the "thing" that brought Abraham to this new level of faith, this faith that would not settle for anything less than God Himself.

It certainly wasn't the FACTS. Sarah was still barren. These people were too old to have children naturally. And that was a fact!

It wasn't some new emotional persuasion or twist. God did ask Abraham to step out under the starry sky. "Your descendants will be like these stars for number!"

It had to be a kindling love for God HIMSELF! Abraham said: "God, I'll believe anything You say! I simply accept Your word on it!" There was a deep commitment of LOYALTY to God, at any cost!

[Illustration: What a beautiful thing is personal loyalty! It is beautiful in friends. It is beautiful in church-members. It is divine in God's children! (Dick Bos??)]

IV. A FAITH THAT 'DOESN'T SETTLE' LEADS TO COVENANT!

From that day on Abraham took God Himself as the object of his highest aspiration. Abraham was righteous before God because he dared to take Him at His word, and not just 'settle' for the good things along the way.

And God wants to COVENANT with us all! With each one of us!

We all start out this walk of faith thinking about what God does! We want His peace and His joy and His gifts! And rightly so, for God wants us to have them all.

But God wants us to take Him at His word and never settle short of seeing His BEST promise fulfilled in each one of us! He has a noble purpose for YOU!

[When we were first saved we somehow believed that God wanted us to be special to HIM; to fulfill some noble and holy mission or purpose. Somehow we thought God wanted us to be "great." But we realize that there aren't many truly "great" people around. WE certainly don't feel "great."]

But God loves you as much as He loved Abraham! I'm not sure what "greatness" consists of, but . . . God wants YOU to become His FRIEND, and He wants YOU to be like HIM, like His SON, Jesus Christ! What we DO is important! What we accomplish in life really matters! But nothing compares with KNOWING GOD, and with SIMPLY WALKING WITH HIM!

So—God won't let us off with a good start—or with any amount of "success"—or even with the dedication of our gifts and our talents to Him. He comes to us—in the middle of things—in the middle of January—and says: "DON'T BE AFRAID! I still want to make YOU great!"

*My goal is God Himself, not joy or peace, Nor even blessing, but Himself, my Lord.
'Tis His to lead me there, not mine but His, At any cost, dear Lord, by any road. One thing I know, I cannot say Him nay. One thing I do, I press toward my Lord; My God, my glory here from day to day, And in the glory there, My great Reward. -Author

Light on Christs Coming Again

2 Thessalonians 2:15-17

January 17, 1988 (PM)

Introduction:

When you mention the "Second Coming," or talk about the history of our planet coming to an end by the direct intervention of God's divine power, you classify yourself with the oddballs and strange people. [Only scientists and philosophers talk seriously about doomsday; the rest of us don't want to hear about it.]

The one tenet of Christian faith that is certain to be ridiculed by non-believers—a tenet that is very sorely neglected by most Christians—is the clear teaching that Jesus Christ is coming back to earth in the same manner that He went away. But Christ's return is as sure and certain as the fact that He came the first time. [The wonder of Christ's FIRST coming—God invading earth—"goes right by" most Christians, let alone the unbelievers.]

One reason 2 Thessalonians was written was to straighten believers out on this matter of Christ's return. Paul was telling them: "when it comes, you'll know it! But you had better be prepared!"

If we are to preach the whole counsel of God's Word we need to deal with what it says about Christ's coming to earth again. So many wild things have been said about Christ's Second Coming that many ministers may be like I am: hesitant to be classed as any kind of prophecy specialist."

I. WHAT IS GOD'S WORD ON "END TIMES?"

A. There are several popularly preached scenarios:

1. Some center around the timing of Christ's coming in regard to the time of "tribulation." (pre-trib/ post-trib/ mid-trib theories) [Try to tell Christians just NOW who are suffering for Jesus—in Gulag . . . in Mozambique . . . or who suffered in other times in history for their witness—that "tribulation" is something we "don't have to worry about!"]

2. A few have used the seven churches of Revelation as "church stages"—but almost always these end up by saying, "We are in the Laodocian age..." We have been stuck there for centuries!
3. Many have elaborate scriptural charts and proofs worked out: And no doubt there are charts that are 99% accurate. But still . . . there are

B. SCRIPTURAL CERTAINTIES:

1. Jesus will return in a personal, physical way (Acts 1:11: "As you have seen Him go into heaven.")
2. His coming will be surprising (Matthew 24:44: "In such an hour as you think NOT the Son of man cometh.")
3. His coming will not be private or a secret: In Mark 14:62 the high priest asked Jesus point blank: "Are You the Son of the Blessed?" And Jesus said, plainly: "I AM; and you will the Son of God coming in clouds of great glory!"
4. So in summary, what we can say about the Second Coming with the most certainty is that it is imminent—it has both qualities of certainty and uncertainty

C. It is to be a time of vindication/retribution/judgment.

- VINDICATION: That is DOES pay to serve Jesus! That God IS both GOOD and LOVING and ALL-POWERFUL!
- RETRIBUTION: One of the things we don't understand about some of the Psalms are the "imprecation prayers" or "cursing" of God's enemies. We don't fully understand that, and certainly we should never appropriate that cursing for personal or selfish reasons.

But clearly, this will take place when Jesus returns again (2 Thes 1:8,9: "retribution to those who do not know God and to those who do not obey the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ"—"These will pay the penalty of ETERNAL DESTRUCTION, away from the presence of the Lord and the glory of His power.")

- JUDGMENT: Matthew 25:3— "All the nations will be gathered before Him, and He will separate them one from another . . .

D. It has not taken place as yet:

II. HOW MAY WE BE READY FOR CHRIST'S COMING?

- A. We can never "get ready" as He comes; we have to be ready. And this cannot be at some artificially high level of emotional tension. It has to be something we can live day in and day out.
- B. Should we study prophecy and become "experts" in this field? We should study, and should increase our expectancy and desire; but I doubt if we shall ever be true "experts" in the matter.
- C. But we may be certain we will not be the subject of Christ's vengeance or retribution if we care for two matters:

- 1. WE MUST BE CERTAIN THAT WE KNOW GOD. (1:8) What does it mean 'to know God'? Certainly NO ONE knows Him in any comprehensive way. And knowing God is not a matter of 'searching Him out' by superior intelligence or privileged gifts and status. Knowing God must come in response to revelation: knowing God is always the result of a deliberate, submissive response to God's approach to our innermost self.

James says: "Draw near to God and He will draw near to you . . . "

Paul says: "I have counted all things as loss that I may know Jesus . . . "

Simply put: KNOWING GOD MEANS BEING SAVED! LETTING JESUS COME INTO YOUR HEART! RESPONDING TO HIS REQUEST TO 'COME IN!' (Revelation 3:20)

- 2. WE MUST BE CERTAIN THAT WE ARE OBEYING THE GOSPEL OF JESUS CHRIST. (also 1:8) Perhaps these are two sides of the same coin—knowing God and obeying the Gospel.

But if we know God, we will be evidencing life, and living for Him. We will be concerned about THE GREAT COMMISSION! We will try to live THE GREAT COMMANDMENT!

We will experience THE GREAT PROMISE!

Conclusion:

Revelation 22:10-21 And he (the angel) said to me, "Do not seal up the words of the prophecy of this book, for the time is near. "Let the one who does wrong, still do wrong; and let the one who is filthy, still be filthy; and let the one who is righteous, still practice righteousness; and let the one who is holy, still keep himself holy."

"Behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to render to every man according to what he has done. "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."

Blessed are those who wash their robes, that they may have the right to the tree of life, and may enter by the gates into the city. Outside are the dogs and the sorcerers and the immoral persons and the murderers and the idolaters, and everyone who loves and practices lying.

"I, Jesus, have sent My angel to testify to you these things for the churches. I am the root and offspring of David, the bright morning star."

And the Spirit and the bride say, "Come." And let the one who hears say, "Come." And let the one who is thirsty come; let the one who wishes take the water of life without cost. He who testifies to these things says, "Yes, I am coming quickly."

Amen. COME, LORD JESUS!

The grace of the Lord Jesus be with all the saints. Amen.

Putting People Together Again

Acts 4:23-31

Text (v 31) And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together; and they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God with boldness.

*Humpty-Dumpty sat on a wall,
Humpty-Dumpty had a great fall;
All the king's horses
And all the king's men
Couldn't put Humpty together again!*

. . . and those old nursery rhymes usually have a grain of truth. There are some things that, once broken, can never be put together again. And yet here was a man (described in Chapter 3), apparently broken, that Jesus made 'whole' in response to the disciples' faith.

I. THE DISCIPLES HAD BEGUN TO RESPOND TO THE GREAT COMMISSION

(and to "look on the great harvest fields!")

A. (vv9,10) THE DISCIPLES WERE AGENTS OF WHOLENESS:

They found that Jesus had met their needs; and now Jesus IN THEM was able to reach out with help to others in need. So they were agents of HEALING. Their testimony was: The power in the name of Jesus has made this man WHOLE. Here they meant 'physically' whole. But like Jesus, they were interested in the whole person.

B. THEY LOOKED/SAW LIKE JESUS!

Jesus "looked with compassion"...and now Peter was doing it!

THEY CARED/LOVED LIKE JESUS! They had not understood how Jesus could love everybody. They had watched Him during the years of His ministry, caring for the Jews, the Samaritans, men and women, children and cripples, rich and poor. They had never really understood that overwhelming love. But now they were demonstrating it.

C. AND PEOPLE WERE BEING "MADE WHOLE!"

II. THE RESULT WAS: GROWTH IN THE MIDST OF OPPOSITION

A. THERE WAS OPPOSITION!

It is hard to understand, but this witness was not universally well received. It DIVIDED those who observed. One might think that people who went around loving and caring and helping would be thought the greatest thing there could be. But somehow many people were threatened.

B. Here were Christians, human and flawed, BUT THEY WERE PEOPLE THAT JESUS USED. What was their secret?

1. For one thing, THEY WERE FULL OF JOY! They weren't people with a "cause" or some kind of "movement" with fanatics: they were people of "the Way"—followers of Messiah, who had conquered death.
2. For another, they didn't tolerate any Master but Jesus! THEIRS WAS A "LOVING INTOLERANCE" They loved people, and yet they did not share their allegiance. There was only one way to be made whole, through JESUS!—no other name!
3. Still another—THESE PEOPLE WERE ORIGINALS!—genuine, artless, intense—what they were: but it was evident that they had been with Jesus! Whenever we hear of any kind of 'breakthrough' we copy everything about the situation or circumstance. We need to see that God wants us to be what we are—and stay close to Him—- and then He will use us!

4. THEY WERE A PRAYING PEOPLE

Perhaps most important: they KNEW Jesus! They stayed close to Him by prayer—separate and together, and so THEIR MESSAGE WAS CERTAINTY!—they were NOT following a "guide book". (They DID know their Bibles!) They LOVED because Jesus LOVED IN THEM! They weren't testifying a "rote" sales speech.

- a. They were afraid;
- b. They were at times unsure;
- c. but they knew Jesus lived in their hearts!

Do you wonder what kind of prayer and praying they did?

III. A PRAYER THAT KEPT THE CHURCH 'ON TARGET!'

A. THEIR PRAYER (Chapter 4:23-31)

1. IT WAS A "TOGETHER" PRAYER!.

(23) " When they were released they went to their own companions and reported; and when they had heard this THEY lifted their voices with one accord":) The disciples hurried back to the fellowship; they told their concerns; then together they prayed:

2. IT WAS A PRAYER OF PRAISE!

(24—28) "Lord, YOU are Creator! Lord, YOU are in charge!) They took the time to focus on just WHO God IS! Hebrews 11:6!!

3. IT WAS A PRAYER FOR ASSURANCE!

(27-29) And now, Lord, take note of their threats!") They knew that God knew! But THEY wanted to KNOW God knew!

4. IT WAS A PRAYER FOR BOLDNESS, FOR COURAGE, FOR STRENGTH! IT WAS A PRAYER FOR THE HOLY SPIRIT!

It is significant that the disciples did not pray for the problems to be removed. They asked for courage to do whatever God wanted them to do.

5. IT WAS A PRAYER THAT WAS ANSWERED!

- a. They spoke with boldness!
- b. Great power attended their witness to JESUS!
- c. Great GRACE (love) was on them all: they GAVE, they SHARED, they MET EACH OTHER'S LACK
- d. It brought REVIVAL, but NOT perfection (Ananias & Saphira)

B. OUR PRAYER!

This is a prayer that we ALL can pray! And remember, John 15:8 comes after 15:7 !! If we can learn to pray in His will, Jesus will see that our prayers are answered!

Conclusion:

What would happen if WE would pray a prayer similar to that prayer, and keep on praying? How LONG would we have to pray? Would we be willing to let GOD show us how?

I'd like to close my message with a story. This is NOT a story that I hope we will copy—at least in the method or plan or details. But I pray that we will capture some of the "essence" of the power of praying together:

The conversion of anyone is a miracle of grace. But I'd like to tell you about a miracle that is so fresh and so wonderful it is almost unbelievable. But I need to start at the beginning, to get as much of the story as I can:

Rev. Marian (Skip) Barber, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Columbiana, Ohio, was facing some challenges in the life and spirit of his church. And perhaps more importantly Rev. Barber felt personally challenged in his own prayer life. Several church leaders had moved away almost simultaneously; devotions that seemed "mechanical" even though faithfully maintained failed to rout temptations to feel sorry for himself.

So in October 1985 Rev. Barber began a personal 5:30 a.m. prayer time just to seek to draw closer to God. This he continued with increasing satisfaction and joy. In February, 1986, five months later, Rev. Barber made a low-key public challenge for his congregation to join him in this 5:30 prayer meeting.

Several members responded, and almost without interruption the daily morning prayer time has continued to the present. One of the men who responded is a friend of ours, Jim Couchenour, who himself had had an early morning prayer vigil for TWO YEARS prior to this 5:30 group (that is still meeting.)

There have been other contributing factors to the Columbiana story. But something wonderful has been taking place there. There has been growth in every measurable dimension. The number one benefit, as far as Rev. Barber is personally concerned is (in his own words:), "I have a relaxed sense of being involved in prayer with my people, of not having to prove anything to anyone!"

Before-after sketches can be manipulated, but "before" the Columbiana church was a strong church that had fallen on hard times economically, had lost leadership, had harbored temptation to bitterness. "After" there is, in Rev. Barber's words, "an attractiveness to the church..." No organized visitation, as such, is going on, but people from widely varied backgrounds are coming to find God meeting their needs. Attendance at services has increased 50%, and is still growing. Rev. Barber says, "It is like I imagine it was in the early days of our denomination."

One evening Jim Couchenour, a man who has befriended many new Christians, was concerned about one man who had had a drinking problem. He went looking for him in the town's only bar. He wasn't there, but our friend had some conversation with the bar's owner, Mrs. Watson. That was more than six months ago.

Nellie Watson, 65, owns a bar in Columbiana, Ohio. But the bar is closed forever, at least as a place for the sale of alcoholic beverages. Nellie Watson became a Christian last Sunday evening, January 24, 1988, when she confessed the Lord Jesus Christ as her Savior and her Lord. What is more, last Wednesday evening, January 27th, after prayer meeting, two or three Christians went to Nellie's daughter, Nancy's home. Nancy had prayed that very day for God to give her help in getting saved. The little group found her ready and waiting to give her heart to the Lord, too.

Putting People Together Again

But HOW it happened is fascinating: Jim made friendly contact. He paid the man's debts. He offered to provide music for a Saturday night: and brought his church "combo" to play Christian music. He talked with many people about the Lord; and started meeting at the bar after church on Sunday evening. when it was closed for business—except "kingdom business!"

A couple of weeks ago the church board met for an "extra" session—no minutes, no "business" just to hear about the "adventures" of one of their members in the bar; they "owned" the project! They were willing to follow the Lord in reaching out to the people God had called them to reach!

And there are a lot of happy people in Columbiana this week!! Nellie Watson was genuinely and soundly converted! She is a Christian! And Jim said she is a "Nazarene already!"

JESUS SAID, "THE HARVEST IS GREAT! THE LABORERS ARE FEW! BUT BEFORE YOU GO, PRAY! PRAY THE LORD OF HARVEST, THAT HE WILL SEND FORTH LABORERS INTO THE HARVEST!"

How long has it been since you prayed that God would send laborers into the harvest? Will you join me in a closing prayer that God, the Lord of the harvest will send laborers into His fields?

The Fruits of Worship

January 31, 1988 AM

"The harvest is plentiful..." Matthew 9:35-38

Every Christian hears this challenge! As soon as we have been saved we want to help save others. Every Christian wants to respond to these words of our Lord. But the question is: How do we begin?

I. WE BEGIN WITH JESUS:

JESUS, OUR MODEL:

(35) "Jesus went about . . . Teaching, preaching, healing..." look at HIM!: [our Lord] who (1) went about meeting real people at the point of their needs; compassionate, caring, doing; and (2) did these things because of who he was, and because he spent much time alone in prayer and because he lived in constant fellowship with the Father.

Jesus SAW: (looked on the multitudes...) Jesus CARED: (He was MOVED with compassion...) Jesus WENT: He did what He was given to do.

And, in the face of this, what were His instructions to His disciples, and to us?

II. LISTEN TO JESUS:

Jesus said: "PRAY!" He didn't simply say: "GO!"—although that did come soon after. FIRST Jesus said: "PRAY!"

Prayer that is God-centered.

It is easy to be PROBLEM-centered, or SOLUTION-centered— which are just subtle ways of being SELF-centered. Even in serving the Lord WE want to exercise CONTROL!: "Pray ye the Lord of harvest . . ."

- a. Pray for the vision of Jesus.

We can see the same things in different ways. But Jesus LOOKED. And Jesus LOVED! He looked with COMPASSION!

- b. Pray for the submission of Jesus.

Just as we SEE things in different ways, we have different ideas of what the "solutions" will be. So we say to the Lord of harvest: YOU direct! We are to PRAY that HE will send laborers into the harvest fields!

- c. Pray for the "Mind of Jesus!"

Pray with a willingness to be involved, or NOT to be involved in a particular way— but pray IN AVAILABILITY! God will show YOU some open door!

III. OUT OF PRAYER WILL COME THE MIGHTY FRUIT!:

THE PRAYER JESUS WANTS US TO PRAY WILL BE ANSWERED IN US!

1. We will become ENABLERS! (Faith Promise-type giving!) WE CAN HAVE A PART IN THE OVERALL STRATEGY; we can take part in the BIG PICTURE; we are a necessary part; our GIVING reflects our corporate VISION of the lost! And these STRATEGIES do take hold! Teamwork all across a great network enable "us" to do far beyond what we would be able to do apart from this loyalty and faithfulness in giving: Seminary/ Faith Promise/ Alabaster/ Missionary Specials!

2. We will become PARTNERS! (Joining hands with others in our local fellowship we will do together what we cannot do by ourselves.)

WE CAN ALSO BE A PART OF LOCAL TACTICS; WE CAN BE TEAM MEMBERS—we can "own" and take part in the LOCAL picture! We may not—we WILL NOT—agree with everything that is officially done. But what makes CHRIST'S WORK go is the loyalty of those who pitch in and take part even when it isn't their "pet idea!" If we PRAY we will become PARTNERS!

3. We will also become REAPERS, on an individual, personal level: Beyond great PLANS and even more important than local PROGRAMS, in and of themselves, is the LOVE OF CHRIST IN THE INDIVIDUAL CHRISTIAN'S HEART THAT MAKES HIM/HER

GENUINELY CARE FOR PEOPLE!

The "heart" or "spirit" of a denomination or a local church cannot rise above the level of the heart and spirit of its individual members! We cannot do Christ's work together unless we have Christ's Spirit within. But we CAN, we MAY!!

Conclusion:

How does this work, in practical terms? It begins in very simple, even subtle ways: it makes us SEE and CARE! And THAT makes all the difference!

Illus: Park Street Church in the 1950's.

Illus: When the 1982 Billy Graham campaign was on in Boston we had a leader's rally right here in Wollaston. I recall it was near-blizzard conditions— and I felt fortunate, if it had been good weather we would not have had overflow facilities to carry the sound to the basement. Cliff Barrows and Beverly Shea were here on this platform. Before the service I had the privilege of getting a bit acquainted. They were most gracious—I recall Beverly Shea speaking with Professor Babcock at some length about a mutual friend; and there were other pleasantries. But the thing that stands out in my mind was the genuine Christ-like concern of Cliff Barrows for his unsaved neighbors. That "talent" we see on TV—leading the great massed choirs—ALSO cares about one family that lives near his home, and is praying and seeking for ways to witness and to win them to the Lord. And it was BIG on his heart!

We begin and we continue and we end just where Jesus said: "PRAY YE!"

[We must be first of all pray-ers!] And God will give us His eyes, and His heart of love, and His spirit to go into the great harvest.

The Vitality of Holy Living

Ephesians 5:18

February 21, 1988

In the PM we kick off "Lent" with COMMUNION: observe and honor the PASSION, LOVE, CARING, SACRIFICE of Jesus— not just what He SAID but what He TAUGHT!

"Lent" is thought of as a time of self-denial and fasting. It is thought of as a "sad" time, of contemplating with sadness the sorrow and pain of Jesus. ["Fat Tuesday" one last spree before the sorrows of Lent.] Perhaps a better way to observe "Lent" would be ANTICIPATION.

The "self-denial" can be a positive thing— a deliberate laying aside of the temporal in seeking the eternal. "BE NOT DRUNK WITH WINE WHEREIN IS EXCESS..." The point is not BE NOT, but rather BE FILLED!

And we CAN, we MAY, we MUST be filled!

"WHY BE FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT?"

I. SO THAT WE CAN KNOW... (1:17,18)

The attractiveness of CERTITUDE; of knowing where we stand with God, and where we came from, and where we are going.

Ephesians 1:15 Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints, 16 Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers; 17 That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him: 18 The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, 19 And what [is] the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, Know JESUS, Himself, and ...

Know what is the HOPE, GLORY, POWER OF OUR CALLING - KNOW THAT WE ARE TRULY SAVED!

II. SO THAT WE CAN BE AT HOME WITH JESUS... (3:14-21)

Unless and until we are 'at home' with Jesus here and now we will not be likely to KNOW HIM when He returns, or to BE AT HOME WITH HIM throughout eternity.

3:14 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, 15 Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, 16 That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; 17 THAT CHRIST MAY DWELL IN YOUR HEARTS BY FAITH; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love, 18 May be able to comprehend with all saints what [is] the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; 19 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God. 20 Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, 21 Unto him [be] glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

Making HIM at home in OUR heart; learning the privileges of development, intimacy, responsibility, growing reality ..the PERMANENCE of Christ RESIDENT!

III. To Establish GUIDELINES FOR A COUNTER-CULTURE (5:15-21)

[tie to election year; mention the so-called barrier between "church & state"]

WE ARE NOT TO ABANDON THE CULTURE. Society is to stand under the JUDGMENT of Jesus; and it cannot do this because of legislation; we cannot impose God's will on unbelievers; But we may have an impact on our world today if indeed we are filled with the Spirit!

"When He, the Spirit of truth is come, He will convict the world of sin, of righteousness, of judgment!" John 16:13

EPH 5:15 See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, 16 Redeeming the time, because the days are evil. 17 Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord [is]. 18 And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit; 19 Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord; 20 Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ; 21 Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God.

Vital Signs

Ephesians 1:15-2:10

March 3, 1988

Eastern Nazarene College Chapel

1 John 5:13 I write these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God so that you may know that you have eternal life.

Did I ever tell you the old story about the rural gentleman whose wife died? It was in the days when the neighbors helped each other, so they built a pine coffin, and when they were helping him carry her out the door for the last time, one of them slipped. He dropped his end of the coffin, and the "corpse" fell out with a bump, and sat up and revived. She lived ten more years, and then she died again, and the neighbors came again to help. As they started out the door the old gentleman said: "Careful, men, careful!"

I'm sure that is just a story— I hope it doesn't have a basis in fact somewhere. About a person who was alive and yet seemed at the time to be dead.

In contrast, we were in Epcot Center a few short weeks ago, and we went into the American pavilion there and saw "Mark Twain" and "Ben Franklin" genially hosting a (very secular) panorama of our American history and heritage. They had all the appearance of living— mannerisms, color, speech— but everyone there (except perhaps the little children) knew that if you looked under what seemed to be skin there would be a mass of machinery— very complex machinery, to be sure. But no life whatsoever!

In one case what seemed to be death was really just a very poor-but-recoverable kind of life. In the other, here was something which had all the appearance of life, but was nothing but inanimate, cold machinery.

What IS life? All life has element of mystery in it. Our human physical life seems simple to understand until we begin to look at it closely. When does it begin? When does it have viability? When does it have status as a human being?

And what is spiritual life? What is it to be alive to God? What does it mean to be saved?

"Life" cannot always be determined by what we see. Some things appear more dead than death— and are alive; other things appear alive when they are not living at all.

Not Everyone Is Alive, Spiritually!

Ephesians 2:1, 3 Dead in trespasses and sins;

Colossians 2:13 "Dead in trespasses and uncircumcision of heart" "hamartia" (sin)—missing the mark . . . but spiritually DEAD means not merely missing the mark—but not even shooting at the mark! In fact— the aim and purpose of life is not even considering God! Not asking HIM about goals...that is the essence of spiritual death!

How so— in spiritual reality?

Rev 3:1 Jesus told John to write to Sardis: Thou hast a name that thou art living, and thou art dead!

"Smoking flax" is nurtured by Messiah! He does not come to destroy life, but to bring life!

But Then, What Is SPIRITUAL Life?

Easy to understand-until we begin to look closely at it! Probably we would agree as Christians that 'a Christian is one who is ALIVE in Jesus Christ.' (I say "probably" because there may be NO statement on which all, professing Christians would agree!) But if we agree that a Christian is one who has life in Christ, then we all too often part ways as we define and re-define what it means to be a "real" Christian, or a "true" Christian.

Some things very practically define "life."

One of these is SPIRITUAL BREATHING. All physical life that we know about needs oxygen. All spiritual life demands exchange of life with God in prayer: adoration, confession, submission, petition— vine-branch, air-breath, sheep-shepherd— a dependency relationship that is on-going. We cannot be Christian and day after day go our own way with not thought for God.

One of these is SPIRITUAL APPETITE. All life must be nourished. Hibernating animals don't eat— but they can't hibernate forever.

One of these is SPIRITUAL LIKENESS. Like begets like. It doesn't always look a LOT like what it is becoming— but there will be hints, suggestions, that the Source of LIFE is being reproduced. God is holy, God is lovingkindness, God is pure, God is offended with injustice, God is above pettiness and meanness. And if we are deriving our life from Him, then somehow that likeness will have to break into the pattern of our spirits from time to time.

I John 3:14 We KNOW that we have passed from death to life, because we love our brothers.

And perhaps there are more..many more.

How May I Know That I Am Alive In Christ?

How may I be certain that I am not deceived?

Sincerity is not a guarantee of valid faith. Many people have died sincerely thinking that what they were taking was medicine when it was poison. One thing I believe for sure: One does not find life in Jesus in any casual, part-time application. It may seem "ho-hum" or even "Mickey Mouse" because you've heard it all your life...and because preachers have begged you to come forward and 'give your heart to Jesus.' But just going forward to find emotional release and satisfy the rest of the kids at teen camp does not mean you really have given your life to Jesus!

New life in Christ is simple to come by— and it is FREE— but it is never EASY or CASUAL or CHEAP! There are at least three witnesses to spiritual life, and we would do well to know them:

- There is THE WITNESS OF GOD'S WORD.

In God's Word we have the diagnosis for spiritual death, the invitation to eternal life, and the formula for confessing, finding forgiveness, and the promise of eternal life. But life in Christ is more than just mentally accepting and believing the true Word of God! That word must be received with saving faith!

- There is THE WITNESS OF THE HUMAN SPIRIT!

I John 3:21 says: "Dear friends, if our hearts do not condemn us, we have confidence before God..." It is not a light thing to search one's heart in humility, and in prayer, and to say: "As far as I know my heart, to the depths, there is nothing I have withheld from God. I am sincerely obeying Him, I am trusting in Him with all my heart!" There comes an end to wrestling and squirming and rationalizing, and a clear witness that we mean business! This is where "taking by faith the promises of God" comes in. But there is a further witness:

- There is THE WITNESS OF GOD'S SPIRIT!

This is very difficult to describe, for we usually slip into descriptions of experience or of feeling and feelings are very much a part of Christian life and living. But the witness of the Spirit is NOT a feeling! It probably will produce profound feelings of joy or gratitude or relief or other things impossible to describe. But the witness itself is a persuasion. It is an inner certitude, a knowledge that you are saved!

And finally, too, THERE IS THE WITNESS OF LIFE AND LIVING!

Life Must Be Maintained, Nourished, Never Taken For Granted.

Wheat and tares grow up together— and it is never our business to root up tares. (You may be sure I am a tare. At least one person has let me know anonymously of course that I am dry and boring as a preacher.)

Only one thing is absolutely necessary: be sure that YOU are alive in Christ— and not just in appearance! Maintain and develop your vital signs!

Invitations of Jesus

March 6, 1988 and October 9, 1994

Matthew 25:34 Then the King will say to those on his right, "Come, you are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world."

Jesus went through His earthly ministry calling people to Himself. Some of His invitations were intensely personal. Some were plainly understood to be for the whosoever. All his invitations were a call to share His love and His life:

He called to Zaccheus (up a sycamore tree/ Luke 19:5)— and we know He sees US, and calls US into His fellowship. He called to Peter (walking on the sea/Matthew 14:29)— and we dare to step out by faith into the 'impossible' when He calls US. He called to Lazarus (John 11:43)— and we know that He will never leave us in the grave.

But look with me at some of the universal invitations of Jesus:

I. COME, FIND REST!

(Matthew 11:28-29) A CALL TO REST OF SOUL !

To the weary, and especially to those who are bowed under the load of selfishness and sin, Jesus calls: "Come, and I will give you rest!"

These may be the most beautiful words ever spoken in any language!

II. COME AND BE SATISFIED!

(John 7:37 If any man thirst, let him come to Me! also from Isaiah 55:1 "Ho, everyone that thirsteth; come ye to the waters, come ye and buy and eat; yea, come buy wine and milk without money and without price.") A CALL TO SATISFACTION

There is a God-ache in my soul! I believe there is one in yours, too. I believe that everyone, made in the image of God, no matter how marred that image may be, everyone has this God-ache. We stuff the ache with things, with activities. But only a dynamic on-going God-love can fill this big ache in us. It is a healthy ache— a hunger that tells us there is hope, for God has made us— and knows how to fill us.

That filling involves love and worship— it also involves being fruitful— carrying forward the work of Jesus Christ.

To me...this is the POSITIVE side of salvation; Jesus not only calls us to REST, but He calls us to WORK— not just busy work— but work that makes a difference, work that gives great satisfaction!

III. A CALL TO FOLLOW

(Matthew 16:24/Mark 8:34/Luke 9:23) If any man will come after me let him deny himself and take up his cross (Luke adds "daily") and follow Me!"

1. To follow means A YOKE/ A LEARNING/ seeking to be LIKE
2. To follow means A DEATH! That is what the CROSS is all about! Galatians 2:20 "I am crucified with Christ!" Learning to GIVE instead of taking all the time!
3. A call to childlikeness (Mt 19:14/Mk10:14/Lk 18:6 Suffer the little children and forbid them not to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.)
4. But remember: this "dying" is also "planting!" The seed falls into the ground and brings forth FRUIT! We are called to share in the JOY of Jesus!

John 15— abiding in HIM we bear much fruit!

IV. A CALL TO RULE!

Matthew 25:34 Then the King will say to those on his right, "Come, you are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world."

But here there will be a Great Separation.

Conclusion:

One of the most beautiful scenes in all the Bible takes place in Galilee . . . along the shores of a lake early in the morning as the mists are rising. The disciples' faith is being restored after the devastation of the Crucifixion. Jesus has come to restore Peter— and as the disciples come to land they see, not an ethereal spirit, but a very real glorified Savior who has prepared a meal over glowing coals on the shore.

He calls to them (John 21:12): "COME, AND DINE!"

Let's sing "Jesus Calls Us"

The Lord Jesus Christ, Decent and Exaltation

March 19, 1988

Philippians 2:5 Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God; but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a Name which is above every name; that at the Name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

Introduction: It was a tremendous reversal from the Triumphal Entry on a sunny Sunday to the gloom of the Via Dolorosa and the supernatural darkness that hung over the crucifixion that following Friday. Christians often make commentary on the great change, the fickleness of the people, the indignity and shame heaped on our Lord, that week.

But Jesus began His journey of condescension to the cross long before the crowds waved palms and cried "Hosanna!" And the descent that our Lord Jesus made into the abyss of night and evil to redeem us was far more than that stark week's contrast of the cheers of the crowds to the loneliness of the dark-stained cross. That pouring out of His love and life and glory began before time, in the love of God. It did not stop at the demands of shame and death for our redemption. And even today, it reaches to wherever there is sin and death and pain.

And even today, before Easter, and before Good Friday, we need to remember that just as there is a descending and a humiliation and an outpouring, there is also an exaltation. There is a name which is above every Name, and before the Name of Jesus every knee will bow, and every tongue will confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

I. THIS DESCENT BEGAN IN THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE GODHEAD

Christ was not the highest of created beings, and the flowering of all that is finest and best in mankind. He is Eternal God. He was not created to bring us salvation: He created US to bring us into His life!

The Creation of Adam and Eve, and of all humankind, of you and me, and then God's identification with us, sinful though we be, is an expression of ineffable love. Bethlehem was the expression of a love which we will never understand.

It has been preached at times as though Christ came to earth because of a desire by God to fill a need. If this were true, then Creation— Bethlehem— the Incarnation— would indicate a God who acts from a sense of need. But God eternally needs nothing!

And yet in His love God did want to share His life with you and with me. Out of the Fullness that is God there came this act of Creation and Love and Giving. God's goodness and His love are the best reasons we can grasp at the "why" of salvation. And God stooped to breath His image and likeness into clay.

[From that fullness, the completeness of the Godhead,]

II. JESUS DESCENDED TO WHERE WE ARE AND HAS IDENTIFIED WITH US

He came fully experiencing our finite humanity. He was somehow limited in understanding, for the Bible tells us that Jesus grew in stature as well as in wisdom. He knew weakness, for we read how Jesus was wearied, and hungry, and faint. He knew temptation, in all points even as we are tempted.

At this level of complete humanness Jesus fully identified with us:

1. By being fully Jewish. We don't think of Jesus as a Jew first, we think of Him as the new Adam, leading us into a humanity that is perfected. But while Jesus was on earth, He was subject to the laws and customs of His human ancestry. He was circumcised the eighth day. He was subject to His parents, even when they did not understand him in the Temple when He was twelve years old. He was faithful in His growing years to the synagogue and public worship.

2. By being baptized by John, who was baptizing people for the remission of sins. II Corinthians 5:21 says "God made (Jesus) to be sin for us, even though He knew no sin, so that we might become the righteousness of God in Him." And this identification with sinners, this bearing of the weight of sin, was manifested in His public baptism.
3. By His manifest compassion for us after His anointing with the Spirit. Jesus cared for us! For little children. For the rich young ruler. For the multitudes. For Jerusalem. For you! Just about the only people Jesus did not have patience with were the people who were so holy in themselves that they didn't need a Savior.
4. As He taught with precept and story, but always with great Authority! He was the Liberator from the mind-games and the institutional rigor mortis of the self-righteous dead. He taught people how to give of themselves and be audaciously happy! "Blessed are the poor in spirit!" he said.
5. And Jesus fully identified with us: (finally) By becoming our Paschal Lamb!

*He took my sins and my sorrows,
He made them His very own;
He bore the burden to Calvary
And suffered and died alone!*

[But where is Jesus just NOW?]

III. THE ASCENSION OF JESUS ENDED IN THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE GODHEAD

Jesus came all the way to where we are; then He returned to the glory that was His before the worlds began:

[John 17:4,5 "Jesus: "I glorified Thee (God the Father) on the earth, having accomplished the work which Thou hast given Me to do.

"And now, glorify Thou Me with the glory which I had with Thee before the world was."]

But now there is one difference: HE CAME DOWN IN ORDER TO BRING US UP!

The Lord Jesus Christ, Decent and Exaltation

[Ephesians 2:6 (God) hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus ."

Jesus who has been seated with the Father [Ephesians 1:20 "(God) wrought in Christ, when He raised Him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places."], brings US into that fellowship with Himself!

JESUS INVITES US, NOW, TO IDENTIFY WITH HIM: But how?

1. WE MUST BE CALLED! And then it takes a leap of faith to follow! Faith calls to faith.

How might we have recognized Jesus as Messiah then? How do we recognize Him now? [Is Jesus calling YOU? "Follow Me!"]

2. WE MUST RESPOND TO GRACE BY FAITH! It is a humbling thing to be died for! "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up." (John 3:14)

WE SIMPLY LOOK TO JESUS IN FAITH! [Numbers 21: the story of the fiery serpents in the wilderness; and the serpent of brass]

- a. This "look of faith" is a look of helplessness! (As in AA!)
- b. But it is also a look of HOPE!
- c. And it IS the look of LIFE! When we respond, and identify with Jesus in His humiliation, and begin to understand that He has died for us, we begin to find that we are already bound to Him for all eternity in His glorious exaltation.

ALREADY, HERE AND NOW, BEFORE WE DIE AND GO TO HEAVEN, THE POWER AND THE GUILT OF SIN ARE BROKEN WHEN WE IDENTIFY WITH JESUS.

Paul put it this way (Galatians 2:20) "I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me! And the life I now live in this body, I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me, and gave Himself for me!"

CONCLUSION:

1. THIS WILL BE a glorious Creation when Jesus Christ renews this Universe and we see new heavens and a new earth that is totally in harmony with the holiness and the glory of God. We will be a part of that new Kingdom of Love and Light.

2. BUT RIGHT HERE AND NOW the Kingdom of God breaks in on us because of Christ's descent to where we are in order to bring us up to where He is.
3. HOW ARE WE TO RESPOND to the descent and the exaltation of our Lord, when we begin to see that Jesus came down from heaven's glory because he loved us, and that He has taken His seat at the right hand of the Throne of Glory that He might bring us there with Him? There is only one way:

"Streams of mercy, never ceasing Call for songs of loudest praise!"

- a. We can praise Jesus with the love of our hearts. We can praise Jesus with the words of our lips, both to each other, and
- b. We can (sometimes) praise Jesus by letting Him descend in us and through us to where there is sin and need, and, introducing Him there, watching Him bring His exaltation and victory where there has been defeat.

(Final summary :) THIS GLORY IS A FUTURE REALITY! "It doth not yet appear what we shall be! " and "I will come again, and receive you unto Myself!"

BUT IT IS ALSO FINISHED FACT, AND PRESENT SPIRITUAL REALITY: (Colossians 3:1-4)"If you then have been raised up with Christ, keep seeking the things above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God. Set your mind on the things above, not on the things that are on earth. For you have died, and your life is hidden with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, is revealed, then you also will be revealed with Him in glory."

Lifted up was He to die "It is finished!" was His cry. Now in heav'n exalted high: Hallelujah! What a Savior!

Palm Sunday Sermon 1988

March 27, 1988

Luke 19:29-48

Revelation 19:11-21; 22:10-13

Introduction: The Passover was an exciting and happy time for the people of Jesus' day. The High Holy days had moments of great solemnity and sheer awe as the priests made sacrifice to God for the atonement of sin. But if there were moments of awe, there were hours and days of sheer fellowship and travel and fun.

The worshipers came to Jerusalem from wherever they were if it was at all possible. They walked. As they walked they talked. And as they came near, they sang. They sang the 'songs of ascent'. Psalm 122 is one of them. It begins: "I was glad when they said unto me, 'Let us go into the house of the Lord!'

Abraham walked up the hill of Zion (Genesis 22) with Isaac his son to give him to the Lord. David (2 Samuel 24) climbed that hill, and bought a threshing floor and built an altar to the Lord to stay the plague in Israel. Solomon had built his glorious Temple there, and it was, and is, a holy place to many.

Pilgrims somehow felt at one with all who had gone before them as they came to worship. It is an indescribable feeling to join the generations coming to the Holy City to meet with God.

This may have seemed like just another festive Passover season to the crowds that were gathering in the Holy City that first Palm Sunday. But this was different from all others, before or since. Jesus knew that this was THE PASSOVER of all the ages that was to take place. He was fully aware that all the prophecies of all the scriptures would focus on a cross in just five short days. And this is the context of all the joy and cheering that spontaneously broke out and marked Our Lord's Triumphant Entry into Jerusalem. And what seems strange is, that Jesus permitted it all to happen!

I. WHAT DID JESUS ACTUALLY DO THAT PALM SUNDAY?

- A. Jesus accepted the imperfect, incomplete praise of His disciples.

When the Pharisees complained He told them: "If the people are silent today, the rocks themselves will cry out!" God was passing by on His way to triumph! He is our champion! We should praise Him— imperfectly until we learn better. He is worthy of our praise!

- B. Jesus stopped the procession and wept over the city (verse 41.)

From where he stopped the scene before Him was sheer beauty. Shining white buildings, and the gleaming golden beauty of Herod's Temple. But Jesus saw it with a different vision. He was weeping, not because He was going to suffer and die— He was weeping NOT for Himself— but for the lost.

Many times I have marveled at the sheer beauty of the cities. Boston is breathtakingly beautiful as you drive over the Mystic River from the north, and see the lights— or across Quincy Bay as you see the skyline. What an exciting city! But how do you suppose Jesus sees it? Can we ever see BOTH the beauty AND the darkness and the need? Do you suppose Jesus weeps over Boston?

- C. Jesus also reaffirmed His authority by casting out those who were making merchandise of the Temple (verses 45-48.)

Maybe we would see and apply this scripture by visualizing Jesus coming into our church building here and upsetting things that are not according to His will. But the Temple was NOT like a local house of worship. The Temple was the place of Shekinah, of the Presence, where the sacrifice was made. The best analogy of the Temple that Jesus cleansed that day is the holy of holies in your heart and mind! And, in the collective holy of holies that is the Church of Jesus Christ!

We must have God's glory, His Presence— when we come together— whatever the cost!

II. ANY PALM SUNDAY MESSAGE IS AN UNFINISHED MESSAGE

- A. JESUS IS STILL ENCOURAGING OUR PRAISE, even though it is still incomplete and partial.

We THINK we have a handle on the truth— and we DO have the advantage of two thousand years' worth of perspective. By now Tony Campolo's sermon "It's Friday— but Sunday's coming!" is famous..and rightly so! But even knowing now what we know, and being invited to be a part of Christ's ministry, we are reminded that the story is unfinished! And at the same time,

- B. JESUS IS STILL WEeping OVER THE LOST! It is not wrong to say that Christians must praise and be joyful— and at the same time we must enter into our Lord's compassion, and share in His suffering. The battle is not yet over!
- C. JESUS WANTS TO CLEANSE YOUR HOLY PLACE, and He wants to cleanse mine! It is important that the temple of our hearts, the place where God's glory can dwell, be cleansed. And when pure hearts come together in worship, THERE is the Church! THEN God's kingdom is carried forward!

III. AND ONE DAY THIS PALM SUNDAY MESSAGE WILL BE COMPLETED

One day the whole world will see THE MAJESTY OF JESUS! The Palm Sunday's Triumphal March was followed in five short days by another kind of procession, still led by our King. He was led forth to die!

But it is important to remember that Jesus was NO martyr! In Luke 24 we read that even as He was going to Calvary Jesus said to the people that were crying out and weeping: "Don't weep for Me! Weep for yourselves! Weep for Jerusalem! Weep for those upon whom judgment shall fall!" For Jesus was and is the Lamb of God. The Lamb before Whom the powerful of this earth will flee to the rocks and mountains because of His wrath! The same!

(Revelation 6:16 Cry to the mountains, 'Fall on us! And hide us from the wrath of the Lamb!')

The Majesty of Our King

But there is yet to be still another processional! The story is not finished on Palm Sunday, nor Good Friday— nor even Easter— nor even Pentecost! This same Jesus, who entered Jerusalem on a gentle donkey to the shouts of children waving palm branches is coming again in a different sort of majesty!

Hear the words from the closing chapters of the Bible:

(Rev. 19:11-16;22:10-13) And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and He that sat upon him was called. Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war. His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on His head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew but he himself. And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God.

And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean. And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.

And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS AND LORD OF LORDS. And (the angel) saith unto me, Seal not the sayings of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand. He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

And behold I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be. I AM Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

As we walk with Jesus this Holy Week, as we take Communion with Him Thursday evening, and as we remember Calvary— in it all Jesus is King! And even beyond Easter and Pentecost— remember-one day all this Universe will know and acknowledge the majesty of our KING!

Let us pray:

One day every knee shall bow! Today help OUR tongues to confess that Jesus Christ is LORD, to the glory of God the Father! Let our hearts share in His compassion! May our lives carry forth His mission!

Amen!

VEILED MAJESTY

Intro: Passover . . . moments of solemnity and sheer awe . . . hours and days of fun and sheer fellowship. People WALKED great distances to be there . . . TALKED together. SANG the "songs of ascents"

[Ps 122 "I was glad when they said unto me let us go to the house of the Lord"]

Abraham walked up [Zion] with Isaac. . . David bought Aurauna's threshing floor there and made an altar ... Solomon built his magnificent Temple there: IT IS AN INDESCRIBABLE FEELING TO JOIN THE GENERATIONS COMING TO THE HOLY CITY TO MEET WITH GOD.

This Passover was different from all others before or since! ALL the prophecies of ALL the scriptures would focus on a CROSS just five days hence.

THIS IS THE CONTEXT OF THAT TRIUMPHAL ENTRY:

I. THE VEILED MAJESTY OF PALM SUNDAY

(What did Jesus DO ?)

A. He accepted (imperfect) praise!

(1) They anticipated victory they THOUGHT they understood (19:11)

(2) They rejoiced in the miracles they had seen (19:37)

(3) They could not grasp the great SACRIFICE; the tremendous STRUGGLE; the VICTORY JUST AHEAD!

B. (19:41) The king showed great compassion; He wept!

Because He would be rejected and suffer? NO! Because THEY rejected Him, and THEY would suffer and die! (The sheer beauty of Boston - - what do we see? What does Jesus see?)

C. (19:45) The KING must be JUST!

Here is just a hint of what the CONQUERING KING will do to this universe when our probation TIME is ended! "Temple" does not mean church building (to me;) it means Shekinah-- your heart-- our worship together!

II. THIS IS AN UNFINISHED, INCOMPLETE MESSAGE TODAY.

ANY PALM SUNDAY MESSAGE IS AN UNFINISHED MESSAGE--

A. JESUS IS STILL ENCOURAGING OUR PRAISE, even though it is still incomplete and partial.

We THINK we have a handle on the truth-- and we DO have the advantage of two thousand years' worth of perspective.

Faith that Works

Unconditional Love, Conditional Covenant

April 10, 1988 PM

Romans 6:22-23 Therefore being made free from sin, and become servants to God, you have your fruit unto holiness, and the end, everlasting life. For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

INTRODUCTION:

The evangelical Christian world often seems to me in danger of setting the Lord Jesus Christ and St. Paul on opposite sides of the most important issue in all the world: our salvation.

JESUS SEEMS TO SAY WHAT WE DO HAS EVERYTHING TO DO WITH OUR SALVATION. Jesus says, in His Sermon on the Mount (Matthew 7:21): "Not everyone who says to Me 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the kingdom of heaven; but he who does the will of My Father who is in heaven." And this is not to any more than mention the sobering picture Jesus draws, in Matthew 25, of the division that will take place on Judgment Day, when the criterion is: "Inasmuch as ye have/have not done it unto one of the least of these . . ."

PAUL SEEMS TO SAY WHAT WE DO HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH WHETHER OR NOT WE ARE SAVED Paul says: "He saved us, not on the basis of the deeds which we have done in righteousness, but according to His mercy, by the washing of regeneration and renewing by the Holy Spirit, whom He poured out upon us richly through Jesus Christ our Savior, that being justified by His grace we might be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life. (Titus 3:5-7)"

And also, the very favorite verse on this side of the question: "For by grace you have been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not as a result of works, that no one should boast. (Ephesians 2:8,9)" Although in all fairness, Paul does go on, in the very next verse: "For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand that we should walk in them. (Ephesians 2:8)

I. SALVATION BY GRACE IS WHERE UNCONDITIONAL LOVE AND CONDITIONAL COVENANT MEET:

- A. Salvation is by faith; but in the matter of unconditional love, forgiveness, and grace we must be careful not to mistake PRESUMPTION for FAITH.

A popular song of many years ago proclaimed: "Though it makes Him sad to see the way we live, "He'll always say: 'I forgive!'" Presumption is believing, or professing to believe without any purpose to change, or any personal commitment to Christ as Lord.

- B. "Repentance" is a condition of saving faith; it is a turning away from, and a godly sorrow for SIN. Not merely having been caught. Perhaps there is where it starts. But a turning away from, and a turning to— away from sin to God.

We are not saved by works of righteousness; but we are not saved unless and until we receive the gift of salvation; and we receive by repentance— turning— which brings us to faith.

- C. Faith is simply turning to Jesus Christ, owning Him as Lord, receiving His forgiveness, and following Him.

Liberals and secular humanists ridicule conservative Christians on this very point: salvation by faith in Christ, WITHOUT WORKS! It is a humbling thing to be died for! John Wesley found this out 250 years ago. He wrote in his Journal in November 1739:

"I have seen . . . more than ever how intolerable the doctrine of faith is to the mind of man; and how peculiarly intolerable to religious men. One may say the most unchristian things, even down to Deism; the most (enthusiastic) things, so they proceed but upon mental raptures, lights, and unctions; the most severe things, even the whole rigor of ascetic mortification; and all this will be forgiven. But if you speak of faith in such a manner as makes Christ a Savior to the utmost, a most universal help and refuge;— in such a manner as takes away glorying, but adds happiness to wretched man;— as discovers a greater pollution in the best of us than we could before acknowledge, but brings a greater deliverance from it than we could before expect: if any one offers to talk at this rate, HE SHALL BE HEARD WITH THE SAME ABHORRENCE AS IF HE WAS GOING TO ROB MANKIND OF THEIR SALVATION!"

All religious and upright and moral people have their treasure of SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS! Salvation by faith and faith alone strikes at the heart of this wealth. It tells us that rich and poor alike, we are all beggars in need of the gift of salvation! AND THIS IS A GIFT WE CANNOT EARN OR MERIT IN ORDER TO RECEIVE . . . AND WE CANNOT EARN OR MERIT IT IN ORDER TO KEEP!

- D. But salvation by faith, not works, does not exclude CONDITIONS in entering into the covenant of grace:

In the matter of conditional covenant, Jesus makes it plain: (Matthew 16:24 and Luke 9:23) "If any man will come after Me, let him (1) deny himself, and (2) take up his cross (daily); and (3) follow Me."

We mistake unconditional love for unconditional covenant and read this: "If any man will come after Me let him say that he believes in my substitutionary death on the cross, and do as he pleases, and I'll always be there to say "It's O.K.!!!"

- E. There is all the difference in the world in accepting the terms of a covenant and earning salvation by works. The Bible nowhere says that we can be righteous or accepted in God's eyes by our own works; it does say that salvation is a gift which must be received.
- F. If you want to earn your way to holiness and heaven, then be prepared to accept your wages in full. There is none righteous, no not one. If you want eternal Life, then be prepared to meet the conditions of covenant with Jesus: go the route of obedience and faith.

II. GOD LOVES EVERY ONE OF US... HE LOVES ALL HUMANKIND EVERYWHERE. AND HE INVITES US TO ENTER FREELY INTO COVENANT WITH HIM

- A. There is no difference in what Jesus says and what Paul emphasizes— they are two sides of the same salvation. If you want to be saved— it will have to be by grace, through faith. But if your faith is genuine, it will mean more than saying, "I see!" intellectually, like a lesson that is grasped— and it will be a living encounter with the Risen Savior.

Jesus says in Matthew 16:24 "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." In Mark 8:34 again:

"Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me." And still again, in Luke 9:23, "If any man will come after me let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me."

- B. TO DENY OUR 'SELF' MEANS a fundamental rejection of "self" as Judge: from now on I don't decide what is, what is not right— I deny myself as god, and accept what Jesus says. HE is my God, my Lord.

[THAT ISN'T WORKS! BUT IT WORKS!]

- C. TO TAKE UP THE CROSS (AN INSTRUMENT OF DEATH) MEANS a death to those things that hinder, THAT STAND BETWEEN US AND CHRIST!— simply giving them to God.

...and Luke says this means a daily! dying: not just a memorable, emotional scene at an altar sometime "back then" — but right NOW— I am still a follower of the Lord Jesus!

- D. TO FOLLOW JESUS! What does that mean? A fellowship of LIFE with the Lord, as He leads us and uses us as He will!

[Closing exhortation:]

We live in something of an intellectual community here; and I often preach as though I were arguing an apologetic; but the truth of the matter is that most of our problems with Jesus are NOT intellectual! They have to do with 'WHO SHALL BE LORD!' and 'DYING TO SELF-WILL!'

The Road Beyond Emmaus

April 10 1988 AM

Revelation 21

Hebrews 10:19-20

"...Boldness to enter into the holiest By a NEW and LIVING Way ... that is to say, (Christ's BODY!)"

INTRODUCTION:

Easter isn't OVER! The HOLIDAY may be— but the real Easter begins with the resurrection! And even Christ's disciples had to learn a New and Living Way to God! What does it mean— this Resurrection Life?

What does it mean that Jesus is alive?

Walking with Jesus on the way to the Promised Land— starts on the Emmaus Road, and ends in Heaven. We know that much.

But in the here and now— WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO TRAVEL "THE NEW AND LIVING WAY"? [Are there any 'models' of walking with God by faith?

ABRAHAM IS A PERENNIAL MODEL: He accepted the challenge of God to leave and old, comfortable way, and walk with God.

THE PILGRIMS ARE ANOTHER MODEL for us: people who risked everything because they wanted God.] People do not leave and risk and dare unless they have some idea of where they are going.

WHERE IS GOD ASKING US TO GO WITH HIM? Do we dare set out on an adventure of faith? Or, what sort of an adventure is it that we already have begun? One clear picture (to me, at least) is found in Revelation 21:

I. (21:1-7) GREAT FUTURE

[We are walking with God into the HOPE of a beautiful future.]

(This chapter opens with) A vision of a beautiful river of crystal clear water of life; a city of beauty with stately mansions for us all. (To my mind this is) A little like the visions settlers must have had as they left the crowded cities of Europe and came to America; and as they left the cities of the East and went looking for the Utopia in the frontier, where there was an unlimited amount of space available.

Being a Christian today must be a little like joining a wagon caravan setting out with visions of California; watered valleys for the inhabiting; a better place where life will be happy ever after.

And this is NOT just for the here-after! The fellowship with God begins the moment we set out! He, Himself, has promised to be our Guide! And the fellowship within this caravan of life is different from all the rest of the world!

II. (21:8) GREAT WARNING

[We are walking with God away from DEFILEMENT, and from wrath and judgment on sin.]

The list of the wicked who cannot take part in this journey is here; and it is headed by fearful and unbelieving. There is place for honest doubt. But there is no place for weasel-obedience. Our faith has got to make a difference in the way we live.

God gives to all people everywhere unconditional love. But that does not mean that all people everywhere, regardless of the way they live, will be saved simply because they mouth the formula, and believe with their minds.

III. (21:22,23) GREAT LIGHT

[We are walking with God in the Pathway of Light of His revelation!]

1. When we get to heaven there will be great light— the light from God's Presence— no sun/ no temple/ a new way of living, walking, worship. Rev. 21:23 says: The LAMB is the light of heaven!
2. And so, even HERE and NOW— the New and Living WAY is the way of the Living Light. [I John 1:7,9.] Where will that Light take us?

Where will we walk with the Lamb?

IV. (21:27) GREAT SEPARATION

[Fellowship with LIGHT inevitably means separation from DARKNESS!]

I think I'd like to believe in universalism; but what this great word teaches is far from universalism. The separation is already among us; we must decide how serious we are about following after Jesus! It is time to be serious about who we are. It is time to consider well the cost of being Christian. The time is drawing to a close when we can congratulate ourselves that we are Christian because we don't steal and we don't smoke or drink, and because we attend church fairly regularly. I wonder if we have the fortitude to put our lives on the line for what we really believe?

LET ME TAKE A NEW DIRECTION THIS MORNING— AND YOU KNOW THAT I TAKE PREACHING VERY SERIOUSLY: There are many respects in which we can liken ourselves in the American community of faith to the church in early Nazi Germany. We may well have to separate in our thinking the idea of a beloved nation and an intruding government that does not represent the ideals for which the Old and New Testaments stand.

I am not calling for a conservative knee-jerk reaction. But by the same token, I am not succumbing to a political solution from the left, either. It is all right to be Christian and be conservative; it is all right to be Christian and be liberal, politically. BUT IT IS NOT ALL RIGHT TO BE CHRISTIAN AND LET OTHER PEOPLE INTERPRET WHAT IS AND WHAT IS NOT GOD'S WILL FOR US. It is NOT Christian to let the government eviscerate the Bible, and tell the CHURCH what is and what is NOT moral. Too long the church has been silent on moral issues.

IMMEDIATELY MANY WILL THINK ABOUT PLACES IN THE WORLD WHERE INJUSTICE SEEMS FLAGRANT: I cannot with good conscience speak about the issues in South Africa or Northern Ireland. I simply do not have the facts, and I do not understand all the issues. BUT FOR US CHRISTIANS HERE—TO FOCUS ON THOSE ISSUES CAN BE A SMOKE SCREEN FOR WHAT IS HAPPENING RIGHT HERE IN OUR DAY-BY-DAY EXISTENCE: AND I do have facts and issues here in the United States of America.

(1) Recently a federal appeals court, in Washington, D.C., ruled that a Catholic University (Georgetown University) was bound to financially support a group on its campus that was and is diametrically opposed to the clear teaching of that church group. The statement in CT was that the court understood that this opposed church teaching, but that factor was outweighed by the court's consideration for gay rights.

I quote now from Richard Neuhaus in his landmark book, The Naked Public Square: "In recent decades, "pluralism" has become something of a buzzword. It is variously employed. Often it is used to argue that no normative ethic, even of the vaguest and most tentative sort, can be "imposed" in our public life.

In practice this means that public policy decisions reflect a surrender of the normal to the abnormal, of the dominant to the deviant. Indeed it is of more than passing interest that terms such as abnormal or deviant have been largely exorcised from polite vocabulary among the elites in American life." 146

Bear with me just a bit more in this quoting: "Movements today that employ the anti-discrimination provisions won in the racial struggle see themselves as a continuation of that struggle. But the convergence between law and the democratic ethos is lacking. In fact, as often as not, the effort is to use the law in order to confront and overturn the base of moral consensus. This is notably evident in some of the more radical movements aimed at erasing all sexual distinctions, creating an androgynous society, and liberating children from their "captivity" to the "oppressive structure" that is the family."

This week I have had conversation with Father Neale Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church in North Quincy, (who is in Rome just now) pledging to him that [AS FAR AS I AM CONCERNED, AND SO MUCH AS I HAVE ANY INFLUENCE AS PASTOR] we will stand with him in whatever we can do to oppose this intrusion of federal government into exclusive church domain and prerogative.

Then, too, (2) Just very recently our Congress passed, and then overrode the President's veto on a bill that will potentially emasculate all church discrimination against social evil, no matter how scripturally grounded if in fact any government subsidy has been received by any participating member. The position of the church is (1) NOT to enter into partisan politics, and NEVER to endorse a party or candidate. But by the same token, (2) the church is not merely free to express itself on moral issues, IT IS DUTY-BOUND TO LOYALLY AND LOVINGLY CALL ITS SERVANT GOVERNMENT INTO ACCOUNTABILITY TO THE GOD IT ACKNOWLEDGES IN ITS CONSTITUTION AND IN THE WILL OF THE VAST MAJORITY OF ITS CITIZENS!

I want to quote again from an historian, this time a Calvinist from Michigan, George Marsden, in Fundamentalism & American Culture. He says,

"We live in the midst of contests between great and mysterious spiritual forces, which we understand only imperfectly and whose true dimensions we only occasionally glimpse. Yet, frail as we are, we do play a role in this history, on the side either of the powers of light or of the powers of darkness. It is crucially important then, that, by God's grace, we keep our wits about us and discern the vast difference between the real forces for good and the powers of darkness disguised as angels of light."

Conclusion:

Are you sure that I have gotten way off the track this morning?

Isn't it a lot easier just to wait until the issues are a lot clearer?

Wouldn't it be a lot neater and easier if being a Christian meant that we could stay neatly compartmentalized in the "spiritual" side of our lives? Wouldn't it be simpler if we only had to tithe and attend church on Sunday morning and evening and, for a few of the pious, Wednesday nights, too??

BUT FOLLOWING JESUS DEMANDS THAT WE PUT OUR LIVES ON THE LINE. THERE IS A VERY REAL HEAVEN TO GAIN, AND A VERY REAL HELL TO SHUN. BUT IN THE GAINING AND THE SHUNNING, THERE IS ALSO A VERY REAL WORLD IN WHICH WE MUST CHOOSE SIDES.

Joel prophesied it, and Peter affirmed it on the Day of Pentecost:

The Road Beyond Emmaus

In the last days God's Spirit will be poured out on the CHURCH! And young and old, men and maidens, shall prophecy!

JEREMIAH AND HOSEA AND AMOS AND JOHN THE BAPTIST ARE DEAD. AND GUESS WHO HAS BEEN CALLED TO WALK WITH GOD, AND TO TELL THE WORLD ABOUT THE PROMISE AND THE WARNING, THE LIGHT AND THE SEPARATION? WE HAVE!

Let us pray:

O God and Father of our Risen Savior, Let us walk with Him! Help us not to run ahead— and help us not to lag behind. Show us the HOPE of Your great promises; and help is WALK IN THE LIGHT of the Lamb. In Jesus' Name we ask.

Set the Word Free

The Best Kept Secret in the World Is the Power of Word of the Lord Jesus Christ

Acts 19:20 And so the word of the Lord was growing mightily and prevailing.

April 17, 1988

Introduction: The description of the early church's foundation-work in Ephesus here in the 19th of Acts, in the beginning and then in the end of the chapter, sounds almost as though two different places are being described. In the first half of the chapter the simple progress of the work of Paul and the growth of the church are described, in the establishing of the strong center for Christ at Ephesus; how Paul preached in the synagogue there for three months until it was no longer possible, then how he moved to the school of Tyrannus for two years.

The narrative tells of how some were healed, and some tried to copy Paul, of how many gave up false religion and occult practices. There is even a record of how 50,000 pieces of silver's worth of magic-arts books were voluntarily destroyed—at today's prices worth more than $1,000,000.00— which is an indication of the power and scope of the revival.

And then the story climaxes with the statement: "The word of God was growing mightily and prevailing." But then the last half of the chapter describes the same place: but now with disturbance, riot, danger...uproar. There was organized opposition, and the task seemed most difficult. Paul ended up leaving for Macedonia. Which was the true picture? The answer, of course, was both!...and so it is in our own time.

When we read the success stories of Acts, or when we hear or read of revival taking place in other parts of the world it is very easy to either focus on one extreme of the facts or the other, and forget the dynamic that makes it all go.

It is easy to see a plan or a method and think that we, too, must do exactly as "they" have done, OR, we are tempted to get our eyes on the formidable opposition, and think we need to take immediate action and seek to destroy it in our own wisdom and power.

But the story of the "seven sons of Sceva" is frightening and to the point here. These self-styled prophets tried to do God's work with a hand-me-down formula; they wanted to copy the methods without knowing either the true source of power or what it cost to see that power released in their lives. And they were put to shame. We need to focus on the true Source of the dynamic as we read the Book of Acts, or hear true accounts of revival stories going on just now.

The text says it: THE POWER WAS THE PREVAILING, MIGHTY POWER OF THE WORD OF GOD!

It was what was prevailing! The disciples gave themselves to the Word— to God through the Word— and the kingdom was established!

[Transition:]

Oh, make no mistake . . .

I. THERE WILL ALWAYS BE STRONG OPPOSITION TO THE WORD!

The doom cryers— they have their place .. what they say is true...evil men shall wax worse and worse ... We do need militancy against the evils of our age ... "Because iniquity shall abound the love of many shall wax cold."

But THE GREATEST DANGERS THAT FACE THE CHURCH ARE NOT THE TERRIBLE AND PERNICIOUS SINS THAT RAGE WITHOUT. NO, THE CHURCH IS IN DANGER BECAUSE OF THE SOFT, COMPROMISING, EASE-LOVING, CULTURE-ACCOMMODATING ATTITUDE WITHIN!

The church

1. needs to be aware of the evils of our age. We cannot retreat into some modern version of monasticism. And we need to
2. cry out against the evils of our times. And yet in our role as prophets, our primary task is to proclaim the word of God!

So-called religious leaders have abdicated their faithfulness to the Word of God. In The Naked Public Square Richard Neuhaus, far from an ardent evangelical, quotes verbatim from the minutes of a "mainline" church assembly (the 150th of this denomination)— the assembly joined in confession of sins:

"We confess our guilt as one of the wealthiest countries in the world...(not having kept faith with the generations gone before)..."the dead who lived before us whose dreams we betrayed, the dreams of 1789 and of 1917."

And Neuhaus reminds his readers that those so called "dreams" were the French Revolution of 1789 and the Bolshevik takeover in 1917 in Soviet Russia.

To me, it is no wonder that some of the mainline churches are losing members by the hundreds and thousands. The good people want to hear what God has to say, and not Voltaire or Marx or Lenin. No wonder Jesus said, "When I come will I find faith on the earth?"!!

II. BUT WHERE GOD'S WORD IS GIVEN FULL RIGHT OF WAY, IT IS PREVAILING!

Our task is to release God's Word! Where God's Word has been faithfully proclaimed in the power of the Holy Spirit, and where God's people have waited before Him in prayer, without exception there has been quickening!

There is quickening in our own land! It is probably the best-kept secret in America—but in spite of excesses on the part of some leaders, and in spite of the many things that are wrong, there are still millions of people in our land that are turning to God!

There seems to be a conspiracy of silence on the part of the liberal media regarding the good things that happen to Christ's church.

Such things as "Congress '88 (and '87 and '86, etc.) get little or no press coverage even though thousands of people flood downtown Boston in the name of evangelical Christian faith.

Such things as the 1982 Billy Graham campaign, that was consistently shut out of Fenway Park and Shea Stadium, and that overflowed Nickerson Field in a driving rainstorm were not even mentioned.

In April some 500,000 or more evangelical Christians will march on Washington for a prayer meeting for God's mercy and revival on our nation— and you can count on it— it won't get 3 minutes worth of news on local stations, and nothing at all on CBS or NBC. And yet the strength is there; lives are being changed.

It isn't the power of the media, or the suggestion of TV, or the TV evangelists that make God's church go forward! They are a symptom, and not a cause! No— what we are seeing is the power of God! The mighty power of His Word, released in thousands of faithful pulpits and pews and churches.

And what we are seeing to some extent here in America is not keeping pace with the tremendous spiritual awakening in many areas of the "third world." Dr. Gailey, when he was here in January, told us of how Africa is turning to God in almost unbelievable numbers.

[So what are we to believe? What are we to think and to see? Is there great opposition? Is the Word going forward? What are we to do? Are we in trouble . . . or . . . are we perhaps standing on the brink of revival? Which is true? The answer is— both!]

III. WE HAVE THE SOLEMN AND AWESOME RESPONSIBILITY OF INVESTING OUR LIVES AND MAKING A DIFFERENCE!

1. If we will let the Word of God be released IN OUR PERSONAL LIVES, WE WILL SEE PERSONAL REVIVAL. We cannot continue to get our orders "second hand" and our spiritual food from snatches on the radio and TV and the latest pop-theologian. There is a price to pay, of prayer and reading God's Word, and waiting before the Lord. But the Word of God is alive! And it will give our personal lives power!
2. And AS A CHURCH, WE MUST SEE THAT THE WORD OF GOD IS RELEASED! WE NEED TO INVEST OUR MONEY AND OUR TIME AND OUR ENERGIES WAYS TO BRING OUR FRIENDS AND GOD'S WORD TOGETHER. And 'so the word of the Lord will grow mightily and prevail!'

Conclusion:

I would like to close my message this morning with a story.

It is a true story, and I assure you that no one asked or in any way slightly hinted that I should tell it to you. But I just felt I needed to:

John Nielson died alone in a little house trailer in Delaware, just across the toll bridge from Pennsville, New Jersey. He was an old man, and he lived alone. He died in his bed, where he had retired to read. On his bed were three or four reference books, and on his chest were his glasses and his Greek New Testament. You might say John Nielson died "mining gold in the Word of God."

And John Nielson died a wealthy man. How can I tell you how wealthy? The reason John Nielson died so wealthy was that (1) he had made very wise investments. And (2) he had made investments that went before him into eternity, and followed after him after he had gone into eternity.

Mr. Nielson invested in his family. He put his family ahead of worldly ambition, or even ambition within the visible kingdom of God. At the age of 29 he was elected superintendent of the Washington-Philadelphia district of the Church of the Nazarene, and being a DS at that age would seem to indicate that he "had it made" as far as the church was concerned. But he stepped down and took a home mission charge so that he would not have to be away from his family so much while they were growing up.

Mr. Nielson did not shirk his duty, wherever it led. He was a loyal husband even when he had to literally carry his wife into the churches with him on preaching assignments the last several years. She had been paralyzed with a stroke, and was unable even to speak. But Mr. Nielson was committed.

Mr. Nielson did not withhold his money. He tithed and gave regularly beyond his 10%, but also he participated in pledging and special needs when it meant postponing what others might term "necessities." You see, he was a wise man, and he was making eternal investments.

So, when John Nielson died, he died in a little house trailer, and had just a little money left over— enough to bury him and pay all his debts and not much more. He came to the end of this part of life having pretty much spent and expended all the resources and gifts and talents with which God had trusted him. He also left two daughters and three sons, and grandchildren and now great-grandchildren— and somehow he had handed down to them the idea that they had something to give to God and to God's kingdom, and that they could make a difference in this world through faithfulness to God's Word.

One quote Alice Kauffman makes in her book about Mr. Nielson is interesting to me: In a letter John Nielson wrote, "I am an egoist, not an egotist!" I take this to mean that in a thoroughly Christian, sanctified way he was saying: "I do count! I can make a difference! God does use me!"

I want to be humble and Christ-like. But I want to be rich and wealthy like Mr. Nielson, too! I want to live a life that counts. I want to come to the end of my life and have invested wisely! I don't want too much left over!

What is the best-kept secret in the world? What is life FOR? What am I saving myself for? These are questions I ask myself! And I ask God today: "How may I invest in YOUR kingdom?"

I have some practical suggestions:

1. Re-think your values. Re-order your life if necessary! What does it profit a man or a woman if we make $100,000 a year and lose our children for all eternity?
2. Open your life to the Spirit, and to the Word. There is no short-cut to spirituality! No one else can do your praying and your Bible reading for you!
3. Determine to live for God by loving people— and start with the people that are nearest you! Be ye kind! is one of the most important verses in all the Bible!
4. Put your resources at God's disposal.

Please join with me in prayer!

The Power Commandments

May 1, 1988

Introduction: We live in a sick and broken world today. And our world is broken on its failure to recognize and respect and observe TEN simple COMMANDMENTS which God gave to the human race through the Jewish people more than 3,000 years ago. But we can hardly expect society to respect and seek the wisdom of the Ten Commandments when the people of God do not hold them as vitally important as they really are:

I. THE COMMANDMENTS REFLECT GOD'S WILL FOR SOCIETY

Why should we, who are not saved by keeping the law, and who cannot keep it perfectly, be so concerned about the Ten Commandments? They have never been repealed, but what real relevance do they have for us here today?

1. True, they cannot save us. But in Romans 7 we read that they are
 - a. holy (verse 12), and
 - b. spiritual (verse 14), and
 - c. good (verse 16).
2. Jesus (in the Sermon on the Mount) tells us that He did not come to destroy the Law and the prophets, but to fulfil them.
3. We are not saved by the commandments, but Paul makes it plain that those who are saved make themselves subject to God's laws (Romans 8:6,7:)

"For the mind set on the flesh is death, but the mind set on the Spirit is life and peace, because the mind set on the flesh is hostile toward God, FOR IT DOES NOT SUBJECT ITSELF TO THE LAW OF GOD, FOR IT IS NOT EVEN ABLE TO DO SO; and those who are in the flesh cannot please God."

We are not saved by God's holy Laws, but they are the basis on which we build our lives. They are the bones, the skeleton framework, on which society can be framed in justice.

II. A QUICK REVIEW OF THE TEN COMMANDMENTS...

...and why they offer mankind's hope:

When people do refer to the Ten Commandments as a basis for life and living, they usually are thinking specifically of the 'Second Table,' the second half of the laws God gave that guide us in dealing with each other:

- V. Honor family ties
- VI. Don't hold human life lightly
- VII. Don't hold lightly the power to create life
- VIII. Hold property rights as very important
- IX. Be truthful, especially about your neighbor's reputation
- X. Don't be greedy, even in the privacy of your heart, let alone actually doing these evil things.

If in fact we would begin observing these laws universally this would be Millennium, heaven's rule on earth. But this is the SECOND HALF of the Ten Commandments! Why, do you suppose, did God put those other FOUR first?

The reason is: The only way that there is any hope of the 'Second Table' WORKING is in connection with the 'First.'

But, you see, man, in all his 'wisdom,' "knows" better than God! Man has 'divorced ethics from morality.' He thinks he can be his own savior— and in his self worship and arrogance he writes off as archaic the laws which 'don't make sense.' And of course they don't make sense when we have turned all the values of life around and upside down. So God would have us to know that these first commandments are the power that can make the second, "ethical" commandments work.

Do you remember that 'First table?:'

- I. God Himself must be absolutely FIRST!
- II. No idol, no manufactured deity is ever to be worshiped, or even condoned.

- III. The very name of God, and every thought of Him, must be revered. God's name should always be honored. IV. The Sabbath Day, God's gift to mankind, is to be observed by rest and worship; not seeking our own will and pleasure.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO OVER-ESTIMATE THE IMPORTANCE OF THESE FOUR COMMANDMENTS. We have felt free to "edit" them, and explain why they are or are not relevant. But if we are the people of God then we must not only give lip service to the commandments; they are to be written on our hearts!

(Jeremiah 31:33: "I will put My law within them, and on their heart I will write it; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people.")

(Hebrews 10:15,16 And the Holy Spirit bears also bears witness to us; for after saying, This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, says the Lord, I will put My laws upon their heart, and upon their mind I will write them, He then says, "And their sins and their lawless deeds I will remember no more.")

III. A CLOSER LOOK AT COMMANDMENTS I. AND II.

Look with me at just the first two commandments today:

I. THOU SHALT HAVE NO OTHER GODS BEFORE ME.

Relating to the First Commandment: God does not share His glory with any other being. We must worship the true and the living God, who has revealed Himself in the Bible; but even more, has revealed Himself in Jesus. We can know God, and be sure of certain things about Him. But to be sure is not the same thing as taking a relationship for granted.

HOW MAY WE BE SURE WE ARE WORSHIPING THE TRUE GOD?

1. Jesus is our God-given revelation, our 'key' to knowing God. We must know the real Jesus; we must know Him for ourselves; we must make Him Lord of our lives, and of our days.

The Jesus we come to know will never contradict in any way the revelation of scriptures (see John 5:39.)

2. God is infinitely tender. "Lovingkindness" is one of the great words of description concerning this God with whom we have to do.
3. But never forget: GOD IS HOLY And WE are NOT! Any "holiness" which we have is God's holiness, it is derived from Him;

Salvation is not so much an intellectual, cold, calculating thing— saying: "This is so!"— as it is a real thing, a continual breaking through into the reality of God.

1. Our greatest danger is not rejecting the God of the Bible. It is putting Him in a box and making Him perform. It is the easy familiarity and comfortable approach to old truth. It is being so confident of our stated formula that we no longer tremble at the approach of omnipotence. We have "tamed" God.
2. The only cure for this is living contact with God! Spelling it out in plain language: We need to make time, take time, to be with God every day of our lives. It won't always feel exciting.
3. I am not talking about far-out mystical experiences, or esoteric raptures now—they may have their place. I don't know much about that. But I am talking about contact with Almighty God.

Unless we regularly break through into the consciousness of God's Presence we will find ourselves saying words to 'pictures of God,' the memories and recollections we have of Him in our distant or recent past. And God is NOT "was" or "will be." Where we live, where we are— GOD IS! He is the I AM THAT I AM!

II. THOU SHALT NOT MAKE UNTO THEE ANY GRAVEN IMAGES; THOU SHALT NOT BOW DOWN TO THEM AND WORSHIP THEM.

What about this Second Commandment? I can recall thinking when I was just a child that this commandment was totally unnecessary. For I "knew" that idols are silly; no one that I knew worshiped idols. I "knew" I would never have any problem with this commandment. And yet there are people, many people, in this world today that do have graven images and idols which they worship.

But that probably is not a great worry or temptation to you and me. What we need to see is that anything which is so dear that it begins to take the edge off our desire to obey the Father, and please Him, is to us an IDOL, whether it is comfort, or sports, or gadgets, or possessions, or position, or the church itself!

ANYTHING that makes us think WE "know" without humble and open dependance on the Spirit, and obedience to the Bible is hubris and is idolatry! That very same "agape" love that can center one's life and love and interests outside of one's self can and often is directed toward that which is NOT God. John warns us

"Love (agape') not the world neither the things that are in the world; if any (person) love (agape') the world, the love of the Father is not in him." (I John 2:15.)

So it is possible to take the kind of love that we are to give to God, and that God can give us for himself and others— this 'agape' love,' and give it to lesser things, to idols.

The prayer behind the words of the old altar song is so important to our soul health:

*Lord Jesus, I long to be perfectly whole
I want Thee forever to live in my soul;
Break down every idol, Cast out every foe!
NOW wash me, and I shall be Whiter than snow!*

Conclusion:

1. Most of us pass through various attitudes toward God's Holy Laws, especially those of us who grow up within the preaching of the Bible.
2. We have a period when we live in and love authoritarianism. Whether or not we realize it, WE THINK THAT BY KEEPING GOD'S LAWS WE CAN BE SAVED. We may not think we do, and may not say we do- but we like the security of being told what is right and wrong. We like to hear that we are on the right side, and we know what is right and wrong because someone we respect tells us so. BUT WE FIND THAT THERE IS NO REAL LIFE IN TRYING TO BE SAVED BY KEEPING THE LAW.

3. But then we begin to think as adults; we reject untested truth. We don't like to be told: "Do so because I say so!" Especially we don't like people telling us things like that— our parents, our teachers, human authority figures. But this carries over even to the heavenly Father, too! And in one way or another we demand AUTONOMY! We decide we'll be our own boss! BUT WE FIND THAT THERE IS NO REAL PEACE AND JOY IN BEING 'FREE FROM KEEPING THE LAW' OF GOD.
4. But when we come to ourselves, and when we come to know the love of Jesus in salvation, we choose freely to come under the authority of God. Not now simply authoritarian dictatorship, but accepting the loving authority of our heavenly Father. WHEN WE ARE BORN FROM ABOVE WE DISCOVER THE TRUTH: " BLESSED (HAPPY!) IS THE MAN (WOMAN) THAT WALKETH NOT IN THE COUNSEL OF THE UNGODLY . . . BUT IN (GOD'S) LAW DOTH HE MEDITATE DAY AND NIGHT . Life AND peace AND joy are not detached from the love of God's Laws!
5. To the person struggling in authoritarian blindness it seems that God has simply tried His best to make up some rules to keep us from having a good time.
6. But the wonderful thing we discover when we voluntarily place ourselves under God's LAWS, we see that they are an expression of His lovingkindness to us! The beautiful thing is: God's commandments are not harsh and arbitrary! Rather, they are designed to help to meet every need and longing in our God-created being!
7. If YOU are having trouble finding the power to live like a Christian— the secret is in the FIRST TABLE!

Matthew 6:33 If we will seek first the kingdom of God, and HIS righteousness, then all these things will be added.
8. And when GOD'S PEOPLE begin to keep God's LAWS in the power of His Spirit, I believe there is hope for a moving of the Holy Spirit in revival on our nation and on our world!

II Chronicles 7:14 If MY people, which are called by MY name will humble themselves and pray, and seek MY face, and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.

#28 [WS] Lead On, O King Eternal

Our Big Brother

May 7, 1988

(Originally Titled: Where There is No Omen)

Ephesians 4:25-32

Introduction:

Hayford Street Gang story - -"Down Kalamazoo Street were six big bullies! How could I face them?" ... What does that have to do with the rest of the what I have to say this morning? There is a connection. Look at what this verse from the Bible is telling us:

I. THE HARMONY OF THE CHURCH WORKING TOGETHER IN IN THE LORD

(Ephesians 4:25-32)

Here is a practical list of "DO" items and "DON'T DO" items that we would do well to think on and incorporate into our lives.

1. Speaking the truth/ putting away falsehood
2. Being angry without sinning— never holding a grudge; being persons of integrity before the Lord
3. Learning to work hard and well, and NOT stealing
4. Speaking words that build and bless, and NOT words that smell to high heaven.."rotten" words (verse 29)
5. But the practical admonition that I would look at in some depth this evening is found in verse 27: don't give the devil an opportunity. What do you suppose this means?

II. NOT GIVING THE ENEMY ANY ADVANTAGE!

Or, more simply— not getting all beat up by the enemy of our souls! And there is an enemy!

- A. The immediate context of the phrase is: If I am angry with my brother or sister, and have a wrong spirit toward him, then I am giving opportunity for the devil to get a wedge in, to make the most of a misunderstanding. I believe this is correct exegesis.
- B. But the broader context of the idea: don't give the devil any handhold, any advantage goes beyond just anger with a brother or sister.
 - 1. 1. There are OBVIOUS evils to avoid: And these evils go far beyond any list of "rules" which we could make and publish! Some people think all we need is such a list— and make it include everything.
 - 2. 2. The trouble is there are NOT-SO-OBVIOUS evils to avoid, too!: GOOD things can get in the way of our walk with God! Anything can become an idol if we let it!
- C. And there are PARTICULAR areas where we need to be very careful. ONE OF THESE AREAS IS IN THE WHOLE MATTER OF SEX AND SEXUAL ATTRACTION.
 - 1. The 'boy-girl' thing was created by God. It is not of itself an evil.
 - 2. But our world is OBSESSED with sex.
 - 3. Several lies need to be addressed:
 - a. Lie #1 "IT IS ALL RIGHT TO HAVE SEXUAL RELATIONS IF YOU HAVE LOVE." But remember, this is a lie! All sex outside the marriage relationship IS STILL CLEARLY A SIN!
 - b. Lie #2 "SEXUAL DESIRES MUST BE GRATIFIED OR THE PERSONALITY WILL BE WARPED." I won't expand on that just now except to say it is a lie; and God has grace to make every Christian conqueror!
 - c. Lie #3 "SOFT-CORE PORNO DOESN'T HURT ANYONE." Porno is a multi-BILLION dollar industry in our country; it has its lobbies.
 - d. Lie #4 "EVERYONE IS DOING IT!" Everyone is NOT caught in this trap! And those who are can be set free! You don't have to take a beating from Satan on this score.

4. Sex can become an avenue by which the enemy can OPPRESS and eventually DESTROY our lives if we do not find a way of escape. Some of you may be caught in an unclean obsession with sex or porno. You can be set free!

D. ANOTHER AREA OF CONCERN IS ROCK MUSIC.

Yes, I believe there is such a thing as Christian rock music. I have very little to do with it, both because of personal taste, and because of unpleasant associations with the other kinds of rock music. At its best, secular rock music has wasted the ambitions of hundreds and thousands of mediocre talents who dreamed of making millions and finding fame. At its worst it has fueled the evil personified by a Charles Manson.

LISTEN TO THE WORDS! REFUSE TO SING OR AGREE WITH WORDS THAT GLORIFY GOD'S ENEMIES! Secular rock music has glorified anarchy and the spirit of rebellion to break down family ties.

E. ANOTHER SUPER-HIGHWAY INTO DEEP TROUBLE WITH THE ENEMY IS THE AVENUE OF DRUGS AND ALCOHOL

I know that if you are living and breathing, especially in our public schools today, you are potentially in contact with the drug culture. The enemy has a lot invested in this home-wrecking, mind^adestroying, hell-spawned avenue to damnation. Our church's and denominations (good and healthy) standards aside, the statistics show that (even if alcohol were not morally wrong, and even if) 90% of those that drink can drink in moderation and not be harmed, the 10% which cannot drink at all without addiction consumes 50% of the booze and beer. Do you understand that? 90% drinks 50%. And the other, poor, wretched, addicted 10% drinks the other 50%! That is the kind of product that sponsors A GREAT PORTION OF OUR NATION'S PROFESSIONAL SPORTS! 'THIS BUD IS NOT FOR YOU!'

F. STILL ANOTHER AREA OF DEEP CONCERN IS ANYTHING THAT HAS TO DO WITH SO-CALLED 'EASTERN RELIGIONS.'

Whether poly-theistic, or pan-theistic— these evil systems promise guidance or enlightenment or peace or some sort of control. Stay away from them!

STAY AWAY FROM HOROSCOPES. They are an insult to God! He has promised to lead you. He doesn't share His guidance with the stars.

STAY AWAY FROM OIJA BOARDS!

STAY AWAY FROM ANY KIND OF MARTIAL ARTS PROGRAM THAT PERFORMS ANY KIND OF RITUAL!

And BE VERY CAREFUL OF SO-CALLED "IMAGING!" Imagination is one of the crown jewels in God's gift of intelligence, and it enables us to take wings. But gifts of God must always be subjects and not masters or they become dangerous. And perhaps an unsublimated imagination is as dangerous as any loose cannon there is. The evil imagination can become the avenue for bondage.

Our prayer, our determination, our cry to God must be: No master but JESUS! No LORD but Jesus! JESUS IS LORD!

III. THESE EVILS ARE POWERFUL, BUT THEY ARE NOT ALL-POWERFUL!

[WHERE EVIL CANNOT 'STICK' THE TEFLON CHRISTIAN!]

A. The best way to find victory over sin is never to get into it in the first place:

1. Stay out of the garbage piles of the spirit. Have you ever been to a land-fill? One of the smelliest places on earth! You don't play on the garbage dumps! So don't go there for mental and spiritual recreation!
2. Be an active enemy of dirt of all kinds. If you knew there was a mosquito moving into New England that carried the AIDS virus what would you do about preventing getting bitten? But the bite of some of these evils is worse than AIDS! Don't you know that soul pollution is by far the worst of all?
3. THE BEST DEFENSE IS SIMPLY BEING IN THE PRESENCE OF GOD. Not being "experts" on the occult, or "powerful" in our own right— but simply being close to God.

In Numbers 22-24 is a fascinating story. The king of Moab was into the occult in a big way. He went a long way to hire a prophet that knew something about Israel's God, the Aramean, Balaam. HE WANTED BALAAM TO CURSE THE PEOPLE OF GOD. But instead Balaam blessed the Israelites three times, evidently as they were totally unaware of what was going on in the hills above them. And Balak was frustrated and angry. That whole scene is a message or two in and of itself. And this is what the puzzled, mixed-up Balaam had to say about God's people (Numbers 23:21,23): "The Lord his God is with him, and the shout of a king is among them . . . for there is no omen against Jacob, nor is there any divination against Israel ..."

- B. BUT WHATEVER YOUR SITUATION IS, JESUS, YOUR BIG BROTHER WILL WALK WITH YOU— OR RATHER, HE WILL LET YOU WALK WITH HIM!

Yes, the best way to avoid getting "beaten up" is to stay away from these avenues of defeat. But even if you have been beaten up— and even now are all black and blue— you can be free!

(Text:) Don't give the devil any 'handhold." James 4:7,8 SUBMIT yourselves therefore to God RESIST the devil and he will flee from you DRAW NEAR TO GOD, and He will draw near to YOU!

If the great concern of our life is to please God— to live in a way that does NOT grieve the Holy Spirit— then we will not be in bondage to the beggarly elements of this immoral age. When I looked down the street and saw those "big bullies" from the Hayford Street gang waiting for me— I got up next to the big kid from the sixth grade— and walked right by them while they parted like the Red Sea! Whatever wants to WRECK YOUR LIFE ... and is too big for you to handle— there is a Big Brother who is willing to walk with you, and make and keep you free from the wiles of the enemy! His name is

JESUS! He died to set you free! His blood can make you free! If you want to be free, you can be! TONIGHT!

#136 Power in the Blood

That In All Things God May Be Glorified

Sober living for Final Days

I Peter 4:7-11

The end of all things is at hand; therefore, be of sound judgment and sober spirit for the purpose of prayer. Above all, keep fervent in your love for one another, because love covers a multitude of sins. Be hospitable to one another without complaint. As each one has received a special gift, employ it in serving one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. Whoever speaks, let him speak, as it were, the utterances of God; whoever serves, let him do so as by the strength which God supplies; so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belongs the glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

It may not seem too important what or how we think about Christ's return. After all, Christian faith is for the here and now (isn't it?), and not just an escape hatch before the world dissolves and the elements melt in fervent heat (which, as Peter tells us, is going to happen. (2 Peter 3:10-12.)

It may not seem too important— and yet the last words of Jesus, and the words the angels spoke on Olivet to those who watched Jesus disappear into the heavens, convinced the early church that the time until Jesus returned was fairly short. At least this is the way it appears to many scholars. It is safe to say that the early church lived in the anticipation of Christ's Return. His NEAR return.

How, then, should we view these words:

"This same Jesus— will so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go!"??

Is it possible to OVER-emphasize eschatology? Can we be too fascinated by contemplating "end times?"

Is there a healthy way of living in anticipation?

I. THE DANGERS OF END-TIME LIVING

1. IMMINENCE: One danger can be that will not fully engage in the concerns of this present age. We must fully accept the responsibility of maturity in community, but on God's terms, not our own or society's.

Earlier generations (during depression, or during wartime insecurity,) did a good job of persuading the rank and file that Jesus would come, and that His coming would be a good thing. But for one person at least, this emphasis was strong enough to discourage thorough preparation even for the ministry!

2. ISOLATION : The impact of the "ME-generation" is being felt in the secular society. "Cocoon-ing" is a buzz-word.

This can even creep into the church until we forget the true importance of community. And if we add to this total involvement with "ME" the peculiarity that adheres to a belief that God interrupts history— has done it once, and is going to do it again— we have a built-in rationality for withdrawing from a society that needs to hear what we believe.

3. 3. IMBALANCE :

- a. to say that is SOME is good, then MORE is better
- b. to say that if a person is right in one area, then his word is scripture in every area (and so be diverted from simplicity of the gospel)
- c. to major on secondary issues (no matter how vital and true)

4. IGNORANCE : to despise history; to think that the profusion and proliferation of technology has added dimensions to the quality of life beyond virtues of integrity before God.
5. INTEMPERANCE: much like "imbalance" except this has to do with playing games with reality (Peter says: "Be sober!") The "alcoholic personality" is not limited to drinking.

We try to escape the realities of life with a pill or "drug" for every occasion. Sometimes the drug is "humor." We joke when the heat is on. We joke when our inner self comes near to being exposed.

Often the "pill" is cynicism. We never expose our innermost feelings. Only the "in" speakers have access to our respect— even if sometimes God might wish to speak to us through a child or a student or a disadvantaged person.

But these are all negative effects of trying to use a truth of scripture rather than simply let the scripture shape our lives and thinking. We simply do NOT know when Jesus is returning. We know that it is considered naive to believe that He is coming soon- but His word to His church was "Watch ye therefore, for ye not neither the day nor the hour when the Son of man shall appear." (Matthew 25:13)

And there is a God-given GLORY available to those who live in the anticipation of Christ's Return, the return we pray for every time we say the Lord's Prayer:

II. THE GLORY OF END-TIME LIVING

1. IMMINENCE : [The very same idea that puts off responsibility when viewed one way is that which keeps us digging when we realize we shall be called to account.]

Keeping short accounts. Paid up. Prayed up. And yet at the same time, fully engaged.

[Mary Hale is 93. She is going to die one of these days. She has been in the hospital several times in recent weeks, at the point of death, unable to get her breath, and Lorraine Crayton (her niece) has fully expected her to go.

But she bounces back. And "between times" she is ALIVE! She loves. She receives love. She does something meaningful. She is ready. When she dies WE will experience loss— but SHE will simply step on up!]

2. COMMUNITY : God's answer to ISOLATION.

The text says: (9) "Be hospitable to one another without complaint." Hospitality is a hallmark of a healthy church.

That In All Things God May Be Glorified

I know we think of hospitality as inviting one another over to our houses (like my son, Mark). And that is a commendable part of hospitality.

Henri Nouwen uses the term "hospitality" in a little different way which I believe is very applicable: making space within our hearts for other people. It is the willingness to actually bring people into our hearts, and care about them and their concerns.

Most of us have places in our homes where company would be "out of bounds." Brian and I laughed about those places, saying: "Don't go in the tool shed, there's a BEAR in there!" Places that are cluttered, or filled with things we cannot share.

But our inner lives can be ALL "BEAR-dens" where no one is allowed. And we must seek to live in COMMUNITY as we anticipate the Return of our Lord.

Being a part of the Church is NOT an option; it is the NORM. We denigrate the church to our own peril.

Being increasingly involved in community is the right and privilege of every believer. We need each other. We must live to enhance each other.

Not knowing when Jesus will come makes it all the more imperative that we have His Spirit, His mind. For THE MIND OF CHRIST, His Spirit within is the answer to ignorance, imbalance, intemperance.

We may be certain that the Second Coming will be at least as great a surprise as the First Advent was. There is only ONE way in which we can be prepared— one way we will be certain not to be deceived. We must know Jesus so well here and now that we will know Him when He returns!

Conclusion:

Is Jesus coming soon?

Sometimes I get to thinking that His return, AND SOON, is the only hope we have for any hope of fair and equitable society.

But He has waited now almost 2,000 years.

Some people were persuaded that last year was the year.

Some people are pretty certain that certain historical things need to unfold yet.

I don't know what "soon" is. When I was 20 I thought Jesus would come before I was ordained. Then I got busy preaching and working and raising sons. It wasn't very long ago that I began- and more than 30 years have gone by!

I have less time now to live than I have lived! I have less time to serve than I have served! I shall see Jesus soon, one way or another!

But Jesus IS going to return! We have that promise.

You have gifts. Use them to serve. Let God supply the strength. Seek to glorify God in all you do. And if Jesus doesn't come in your lifetime, it will be still a very, very short time until you are in His Presence.

#78(EH) When He Shall Come

[IF Jesus WERE to come soon— very soon— would you be comfortable in His Presence? You can do something about that NOW. Do you want to pray about it?]

He Ascended into Heaven

May 15, 1988

John 15:26-16:14

Introduction:

THIS IS "PRAYER MEETING SUNDAY"!

(Next Sunday is Pentecost- we make a lot of Christmas/Easter- less of Pentecost)

- The disciples were waiting for the "Promise."
- Three days into a ten-day prayer meeting.
- This Prayer Meeting was initiated by THE ASCENSION:

I. WHY DID JESUS EVER GO AWAY? WHY DIDN'T HE SIMPLY STAY?

A. The earthly work, passion & death, resurrection of Jesus are sacred and precious to us:

1. WE'RE GLAD JESUS CAME! Took our flesh! Identified with you and me.
2. WE'RE GRATEFUL JESUS DIED! In some mysterious yet real way "he took our sins and our sorrows . . . bore the burden to Calvary"
3. WE'RE GLAD JESUS ROSE AGAIN! The resurrection is the DYNAMO that powers the church!

But how many times do we say: I'M GLAD JESUS ASCENDED INTO HEAVEN?

B. WE CAN BE GLAD JESUS ASCENDED INTO HEAVEN!

1. BECAUSE THE SENDING OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IS TIED DIRECTLY TO THE FACT THAT JESUS IS AT THE RIGHT HAND OF THE FATHER.

John 16:7: "But I tell you the truth, it is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the HELPER shall not come to you; but if I do go, I WILL SEND HIM TO YOU."

The Father gives the Spirit to those who ask in response to the PROMISE and the PRESENCE of the Son!

2. BECAUSE I AM REPRESENTED AT THE THRONE, AND PRAYED FOR WITH GENUINE SYMPATHY.

Hebrews 4:15 "For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all points tempted as we are, yet without sin."

I know that this planet is just a speck in space, and I am an insignificant atom lost in eternity— except that Jesus is at the center of all things, wherever that may be; and Jesus knows ME, and HE prays for ME! And HE is not lost in eternity— and so neither am I!

3. BECAUSE I WILL BE WELCOME IN HEAVEN AS LONG AS JESUS IS THERE.

John 14:3 "I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am there you may be also."

And also, as He prayed to the Father, Jesus said: John 17:24 "I will, Father, that they also whom Thou hast given me be with me, WHERE I AM!"

I am sometimes ill at ease in new places, especially when the company is made up of people who seem to know a great deal more than I do. But I may be sure that Jesus will make me 'at home' in heaven.

4. BECAUSE JESUS HAS PREPARED A PLACE FOR ME IN HEAVEN!

John 14:1,2 "In my Father's house are many mansions! I go to prepare a place for YOU, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself, that WHERE I am, THERE you may be also."

The idea of PLACE has always been a strong appeal to me. I need ROOM. I need PLACE! And because Jesus is ascended into heaven, I shall have my PLACE, prepared by Him!

5. BECAUSE JESUS IS LORD AND KING, AND JESUS IS GOOD.

Matthew 28:18 "All authority is given unto Me in heaven and on earth."

The final Word must come from Jesus. Things SEEM out of hand. But I know and trust Jesus— and HE is Lord! Isn't that enough reason to say: "I am glad that Jesus has ascended into heaven?"

II. THE DISCIPLES TOOK JESUS LITERALLY AT HIS WORD

A. They went back to Jerusalem and started an open-ended prayer meeting. (It was TEN DAYS, but they didn't know that at the time.) They didn't know what to expect. They began in EXPECTATION and OBEDIENCE.

B. THE PROMISE CAME, AN EXPERIENCE IN EXACT ACCORD WITH JESUS' WORDS:

Their ACTIONS expressed a PRACTICAL THEOLOGY OF HOPE!

1. The FACT of a living Church, the Body of Christ!
2. The certain knowledge that JESUS IS IN SESSION!
3. The 'theology of hope's central feature was: JESUS IS COMING BACK AGAIN! "The church's TIME is limited!"

So— where does THAT come to bear on the way WE Christians are supposed to live in May of 1988?

III. IT IS OUR PRIVILEGE TO ACTIVATE THESE SAME PROMISES!

A. The promises respond to EXPECTANCY (which is another word for living FAITH!)

Jesus said (Luke 24) "I send the Promise of the Father on YOU!" Peter (Acts 2:39) said: "The Promise is to you- and to those afar off ... EVEN AS MANY AS THE LORD SHALL CALL!"

B. AND OUR EXPECTANCY, OUR FAITH, IS ACTIVATED BY OBEDIENCE!

WE may expect the PROMISE, the PRESENCE, the POWER, the JOY- when we are ready to obey the directions Jesus gave WHEN HE ASCENDED:

1. WE are to TARRY until WE are filled. There is no set time limit now. But it is NOT just a matter of cut-and-dried incantation, formula. It is two persons (Person & person) coming to know and trust each other!
2. In tarrying we are to CONSECRATE. We need to die to SELFISHNESS, and come alive to Christ's Body, THE CHURCH!
3. If we tarry. we shall receive! The Spirit will give assurance! And THEN we are to continue in faith.

Conclusion:

What would happen if we observed "Prayer Meeting Sunday" faithfully? made it a part of OUR calendar as faithfully as we do our Christmas shopping? What would happen if we prepared for Pentecost the way we prepare for Christmas and the Easter Parade?

Is the fullness of the Holy Spirit- the Promise of Jesus-the Gift of the Father- a first priority in YOUR life this morning?

Prayer:

Let Your Promise Come to US in a new and vital way as we seek to obey YOU from our hearts. AMEN

#272 Breathe on Me

Aldersgate The Dawning of Revival

May 22, 1988 - Today is Pentecost Sunday - the 250th Anniversary of Wesley's Aldersgate-Street "heart warming" experience.

Romans 1:16,17 "For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith; as it is written: *'But the righteous man shall live by faith.'" (*Habakkuk 2:4)

Introduction:

There is nothing quite so predictable and at the same time unique as the rising of the sun. It came up at exactly 5:17 a.m. here in Boston today, although no one in Boston saw it because it is cloudy and raining. No one doubts it came up— for it is daylight. And not very many people cared about the exact time, although technically at 5:16 it had not yet risen, and at 5:18 the sunrise was history.

The rising of the sun was preceded by light, growing almost imperceptibly from total darkness to full gray daylight. The exact beginning of the light just before sunrise is almost impossible to trace with the naked eye, and varies with the atmosphere, and, in fact, with the latitude. In equatorial latitudes dawn and dusk are brief and darkness and light occur with surprising suddenness. In polar regions twilight lingers.

Sunrise, for the people called Methodists, and many others, including the holiness groups, dawned when one man of God discovered for himself that we could be saved and we could know it! John Wesley's heart was strangely warmed at 8:45 p.m., Wednesday, May 24, 1738. Let me tell you about the dawning of that sunrise, as I understand it, and of the clouds or fog that obscured some of the light in the dawning of that sunrise.

The story of Wesley's search for assurance is fascinating, and quite well documented:

He was born into a poor clergyman's home, and from an early age had the conviction that God had his hand on his life.

Cutting the story short, in 1725 he was ordained a priest in the Church of England. The Aldersgate experience marked a high point in his experience after 13 years of disciplined living in the priesthood:

There are some mis-perceptions about his up-bringing: He did have a godly mother— but with no teaching of assurance, for Susannah Wesley herself only came to know assurance September 3, 1739, more than a year after Aldersgate!

Certainly in his seeking after God and God's will Wesley held nothing back. He was in earnest— and if works would bring salvation and assurance, Wesley would have been saved over and over again.

But there came to the Wesley brothers the slow persuasion that salvation is by faith alone. They slowly began to know the relinquishing of the 'wealth' of acquired righteousness. On Whitsunday, May 21, 1738, Charles Wesley believed and was assured of his salvation. The following Wednesday John Wesley followed his younger brother. [Look with me at this experience of the assurance of salvation:]

I. THE EXPERIENCE OF SALVATION

GOD HONORS THE HUNGER AND THIRST FOR HIM THAT HE PLACES WITHIN US, BUT THERE IS A PLACE, ALSO, FOR US TO ATTEND TO THAT HUNGER

1. THE INNER PERSUASION: there was an instant of sun-rise (SON-rise!) Here are Wesley's own words:

5/24/1738 "In the evening I went very unwillingly to a society in Aldersgate-Street, where one was reading Luther's preface to the Epistle to the Romans. About a quarter before nine, while he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation: And an assurance was given me, that he had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

2. But this new assurance was NOT a simple, cloud-free sunrise; and it was NOT unchallenged, emotionally. I have read many, many accounts of Wesley's conversion. I do not recall any that go on with what immediately follows in his Journal. Here is the very next paragraph, on that same meeting in Aldersgate:

5/24/'38 "I began to pray with all my might for those who had in a more especial manner despitely used me and persecuted me. I then testified openly to all there, what I now first felt in my heart. But it was not long before the enemy suggested, 'This cannot be faith; for where is thy joy?' Then I was taught, that peace and victory over sin are essential to faith in the Captain of our salvation: But that, as to the transports of joy that usually attend the beginning of it, especially in those who have mourned deeply, God sometimes giveth, sometimes withholdeth them, according to the counsels of his own will."

[Then, later that same day, after he had gone to his own home, he wrote:]

"After my return home, I was much buffeted with temptations; but cried out, and they fled away. They returned again and again. I as often lifted up my eyes, and He 'sent me help from his holy place.'

Then, the next day after the 'sunrise' come these words:

Thursday 5/25/1738 ".. the enemy injected a fear, 'If thou dost believe, why is there not a more sensible change?' I answered (yet not I,) 'That I know not. But this I know, I have 'now peace with God.' And I sin not today, and Jesus my Master has forbid me to take thought for the morrow. " 'But is not any sort of fear,' continued the tempter, 'a proof that thou dost not believe?' I desired my Master to answer for me; and opened his Book upon those words of St. Paul, 'Without were fightings, within were fears.' Then, inferred I, well may fears be within me; but I must go on and tread them under my feet.

And the next day:

Friday 5/26/1738 "My soul continued in peace, but yet in heaviness because of manifold temptations.

Sunday 5/28/1738 "I waked in peace, but not in joy."

Monday 5/29/1738 "I was often tempted to doubt."

Why am I telling you this, to discredit Wesley? Far, far from it! Wesley's usefulness to God and the kingdom are beyond question. But I am bringing this to your attention so that you can see that the greatest exponent of 'know-so salvation' came to his own assurance by way of doubts and struggles and extreme honesty, as well as by dint of single-minded desire to live for God and with God!

3. Wesley thus had both sympathy and advice for others; as well as the insistence that none be satisfied short of the witness of the Spirit;

Monday November 19, 1739 "I earnestly exhorted those who had believed, to beware of two opposite extremes, -the one, the thinking while they were in light and joy, that the work was ended, when it was just begun; the other, the thinking when they were in heaviness, that it was not begun, because they found it was not ended."

II. THE PRACTICE OF GODLY LIVING

GOD USES THE LIFE THAT HE INHABITS, BUT HE IS MORE CONCERNED WITH FAITHFULNESS THAN HE IS WITH THE 'BELLS AND WHISTLES' OF OUR EMOTIONS

1. God honors those who hunger and thirst after righteousness. John Wesley was a seeker!
2. Wesley was led as he obeyed . . . not by human programming, nor by deliberate design; although this did not keep Wesley from being as methodical and as well-disciplined as he knew how to be: a round-robin circuit of all Britain, year after year.
3. God begins to use JW in preaching out in the streets and fields, and a revival begins while preaching in a prison:

Thursday 4/26/1739 "While I was preaching at Newgate (a prison in Bristol), on these words, 'He that believeth hath everlasting life.' I was insensibly led, without any previous design, to declare strongly and explicitly, that God willeth 'all men to be' thus 'saved;' and to pray that, 'if this were not the truth of God, he would not suffer the blind to go out of the way; but if it were, he would bear witness to his word.' Immediately one, and another, and another sunk to the earth: They dropped on every side as thunderstruck. (A spiritual awakening was on at Newgate that reformed the prison!)

Sunday 5/13/1739 My ordinary employment, in public, was now as follows: Preaching an average of 22 times per week!

[Transition: But where does this Wesley study have to do with our world on this Pentecost Sunday in 1988 in 'post-Christian America?']

III. GOD IS NOT FRUSTRATED...

...WITH THE EVILS OF OUR AGE, BUT CAN IT BE THAT HE IS FRUSTRATED WITH THE LEVEL OF HUNGER AND THIRST AFTER HIM ON THE PART OF HIS PEOPLE?

1. Wesley's England was at least as barbarous as our own country today! There was rigid class discrimination; there was wide-spread brutality; there were debtors' prisons and capital punishment for minor offenses.
2. When he died Wesley had not conquered all ills— but God in John Wesley had made a difference!
3. AND WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE! Jesus: Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled! Where, really, is our hunger? We, too, can make a difference in our world. We cannot all be John Wesley. But we can be saved and know it!

This way of living the Spirit-filled life— cannot be by dint of merit; we do not simply come to the place where we 'deserve' to be filled.

But it does not come to the casual seeker, either.

Conclusion: Has the Sun of righteousness risen in your life, to take the central place in everything you are and do? If we were as concerned to let Jesus Christ dominate us as Wesley was, do you think we could come to the assurance that our lives are truly His? Do you believe we could make a difference?

Malachi 4:1,2

"For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.

But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth, and grow up as calves of the stall."

Let's keep looking with FAITH for the rising of the Sun!

#190 - A Charge to Keep I Have

I Believe in the Life Everlasting

Trinity Sunday

John 3:1-15, 16

Nicodemus was the kind of man on which you can build institutions. He was an expert in control. He was a wise man, with the confidence of his peers. He understood political power, and he was used to taking charge and making decisions. In every way that could be measured, Nicodemus had his life 'together.'

But Nicodemus had some questions deep down in his heart, questions that would not go away. He had questions that he hardly knew how to put into words. This spiritual hunger was one area where Nicodemus was not in control. And finally he came to Jesus; he came with a strange mixture of confidence and fear, of certainty and deep uncertainty. Nicodemus planned to be in control of the situation— even in his seeking. He came to Jesus saying, "Rabbi, We know . . . "

Which is not necessarily the best way to approach a teacher, even though in this case Nicodemus was evidently intending to impress Jesus with his good intentions. The way to come to a teacher is to say, "We don't know. Teach us!" Still, Nicodemus showed a measure of confidence in Jesus.

But Nicodemus also came by night, and it is highly probable that the darkness covered Nicodemus' fear of being openly associated with the controversial Nazarene. Nicodemus was sure that he had the situation pretty well in hand.

But he never got his well-planned introduction finished. Jesus cut straight to the heart of the matter. Nicodemus wanted answers. But what he needed first was LIFE.

LIFE is God's specialty. Listen to the words of this reading:

[John 3:1-15, 16]

Now there was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a member of the Jewish ruling council. He came to Jesus at night and said, "Rabbi, we know you are a teacher who has come from God. For no one could perform the miraculous signs you are doing if God were not with him." In reply Jesus declared, "I tell you the truth, unless a man is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

"But," said Nicodemus, "how can a man be born when he is old?"

Surely he cannot enter a second time into his mother's womb to be born!"

Jesus answered, "I tell you the truth, unless a man is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. Flesh gives birth to flesh, but the Spirit gives birth to spirit. You should not be surprised at my saying, 'You must be born again.'

The wind blows wherever it pleases. You may hear its sound, but you cannot tell where it comes from, or where it is going. So it is with everyone born of the Spirit."

"How can this be?" Nicodemus asked.

"You are a teacher of Israel," said Jesus, "and do you not understand these things? I tell you the truth, we speak of what we know, and we testify to what we have seen, but still you people do not accept our testimony. I have spoken to you of earthly things and you do not believe; how then will you believe if I speak of heavenly things? No one has ever gone into heaven except the one who came from heaven—the Son of Man. Just as Moses lifted up the snake in the desert, so the Son of Man must be lifted up, that everyone who believes in him may have eternal life.

Life is God's specialty. And life is always on God's terms.

I. JESUS SPOKE TO NICODEMUS OF MYSTERIES

"The wind blows..."

- A. Ours is a faith of mysteries; but not of incredulity. As R.C. Sproul says, "FAITH IS MORE THAN REASON; IT IS NOT LESS THAN REASON!"

There is a great difference between magic and miracle; a great difference between myth and revealed truth. Jesus spoke of mysteries, and yet, Jesus did not come to "answer" all mysteries:

- B. We have the temptation to believe our faith consists of what we know, and what we can explain to each other [— which we do, in official and non-official ways.]
- C. Jesus told Nicodemus: There are some things that you simply cannot understand! "The wind blows— you know it is blowing— you can see what it is doing- but you cannot tell how it starts or where it is going!"
- D. But, Jesus went on, If there are things that you cannot understand, STILL YOU CAN KNOW SPIRITUAL REALITY— AND YOU CAN HAVE ETERNAL LIFE AND KNOW IT!
- E. (And so) Nicodemus asked the questions we all would ask; he speaks for us all: HOW CAN A MAN BE BORN WHEN HE IS OLD? HOW CAN THESE THINGS BE?

II. JESUS SPOKE OF KNOWING HIM, OF FAITH IN JESUS' WORD

- A. A. Jesus said: Believe what I tell you! "If I tell you of earthly things and ye believe not how shall ye believe if I tell you of heavenly things?"
 - 1. DARE TO KNOW ME, AND BELIEVE ME! You can trust what I say even though you cannot fully understand it!
 - 2. JESUS SPOKE OF GOD'S LOVE THAT GIVES: Here is the greatest text in all the Bible! Given to a man looking for "answers!"

[The Golden Text of the Bible:] "For God so loved the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have everlasting life." It is here that JESUS SPEAKS OF GOD AS A GOOD, LOVING FATHER.
 - 3. JESUS SPOKE TO NICODEMUS OF FAITH AS THE WAY TO LIFE ETERNAL:
 - Faith and not "knowing all the answers!"
 - Faith and not earning our way by good works, like the good Pharisee that Nicodemus was.

- Faith that has to leave the control to God, and let HIM be Savior!

Later Paul refined this idea of personal faith, and put it into almost 'creedal language:' "If you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus, and if you believe in your heart that God has raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved!" Romans 10:9,10]

- B. Nicodemus found that his need to control, and getting Word from God are not compatible. Jesus spoke to him about the fact that answers come to faith and to obedience. But Nicodemus listened! He heard what Jesus was saying. His conversion may not have been like the text-book we write would say it should be. But this man became a follower of Jesus. He gave over control to God in Christ.

[Conclusion:]

III. JESUS WILL SPEAK TO US, TOO!

- A. [On this Trinity Sunday,] like Nicodemus we have questions deep within us that we can hardly put into words.
1. They may be ETERNAL, WORLD-CLASS QUESTIONS such as:
 - What is the Trinity?
 - How can God DIE for ME?
 - Why is the BIBLE God's Holy Word?
 2. THEY MAY BE VERY PERSONAL QUESTIONS, LIKE:
 - After I have prepared for this, how come God has sent me that?
 - Why does a good person suffer with cancer and a drug pusher and pimp enjoys good health and drives a Mercedes?
 3. THE UNCERTAINTIES OF LIFE FAR OUTWEIGH THOSE THINGS WE FEEL ARE SAFELY UNDER CONTROL.

And so we come to the Master with our mixed up feelings of confidence and hesitation, we know Jesus is God and He is good—but we wouldn't think of stepping out to a public altar, for after all, we have our reputations to consider.

So like Nicodemus we begin our earnest prayers saying: "Lord, We realize this.. and we know that..." How often we use those words in prayer. It must be comforting to Jesus when He sees how much we know!

"Lord, this is exactly what You need to do for me!"

We do need to listen to what we say when we are praying!

- B. The place to begin, in our search for answers, is in this question of control: that hunger, that question deep within that will not go away, IS REALLY OUR HEART'S CRY AFTER THE REALITY OF GOD!

And if we will simply come to Jesus, on His terms, He will speak to about LIFE just as He did to Nicodemus!

Prayer: Lord, Have control of our lives . . . and don't let us settle for anything less than real LIFE in You. Amen.

Hereby We Know

June 5, 1988

I John 3:13-24

HEREBY WE KNOW..."

Introduction: If all goes as planned, on Wednesday, June 8, 1988, just before 9:00 p.m., Helen and I will board British Airways Flight #214 and sit back confidently expecting to arrive in London at 8 a.m. that next Thursday morning, after the shortest night you can imagine. It is amazing what we don't know, and will never know about Flight #214, if we are privileged to go. We won't know until we see the aircraft whether it is to be a 747 or an L-1011. We won't ever know anything about the pilot except his name, which we will forget. We won't know how the cockpit controls work, or what radar and vectors and ground controllers will be doing while we are airborne.

What we do know is (1) when the flight is leaving and from where; (2) where it is heading for; and (3) we will know that we have our tickets— and (4) finally— we'll make sure we actually get on board.

The rest is a matter of faith.

It is quite a bit like that on the most important journey that we shall ever take; or, more correctly— the journey into life and eternity that we are all making right now!

There are a lot of things we DON'T know, and can never understand. But on such an important journey there are SOME things of which we must be very SURE! The Bible tells us that we can have eternal life; and what is more, the Bible tells us that we can KNOW we are alive, spiritually!

I John is a little book that is big on this matter of knowing about eternal matters. John wants us to be sure about the important things that have to do with life and death and eternity.

Would you like to know HOW you can find CERTAINTY in these vital matters?

I. CERTAINTY COMES BY WAY OF GOD'S REVELATION,

[and not by other sources of knowledge.]

(2:3) And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments.")

"KNOWING," in matters of eternal life, is always connected to the Word of God.

- A. We can NOT look to non-Christian sources for advice on facing life and death. And as a matter of fact, there will always be some form of conflict with the 'wisdom of the world.' (verse 3:13 " Don't be surprised if the world hates you!") One would think that when a person comes to Christ everyone would rejoice. In actual fact there is always some kind of conflict! It is almost a 'witness' in itself! It is NOT by the approval and acceptance of the world that we are affirmed in our faith.

[In Marks' gospel there is the story of the man who had a whole region terrorized— and Jesus came along and cast a legion of devils out of him, and it ruined a herd of pigs; and when the people came out of the town and saw this man who had been naked and raving mad and fearsome sitting quietly, clothed and in his right mind and listening to Jesus teach, they said to Jesus: please leave us! What a reaction!]

- B. This does not mean that everything that is not revealed in the Bible is untruth; it does not mean that Christians should only study and believe sacred facts and figures. Many things pertaining to life and living are true whether the 'believer' in them is Christian, Jew, Mohammedan or pagan.

- C. But ETERNAL LIFE COMES FROM ONLY ONE SOURCE. That Source is GOD.

And God has revealed His LIFE in His Son, Jesus Christ, the Living Word, through His gift of revelation to us that we call the Bible, the Written Word. As we read the Holy Spirit helps us understand and believe. And as we are persuaded, and as we agree in will, and in spirit, and in beginning the necessary steps, we have the assurance that we have passed from death to life— we are on our way to heaven!

So, CERTAINTY BEGINS WITH THE BIBLE. God said it! I accept it! I believe it! I choose to go with God! That settles it! I KNOW because of God's WORD! [But that is only ONE witness, and there are more!]

II. CERTAINTY OF SPIRITUAL LIFE IS REINFORCED BY OUR OWN KINDLING LOVE.

We become aware that something real, and personal, is happening within our own being! (3:14 We know that we have passed from death to life because we love the brethren.) The LIFE which we receive in Jesus Christ is NOT received in a vacuum. It is not received in isolation.

It is always received in a relationship; a relationship to God as Father, and a relationship to all God's children as FAMILY.

The Roman Catholics have a saying: 'He who has God for his Father has the Church for his mother.' And the only thing about that saying is—it is pretty much TRUE! The LIFE we receive will manifest itself by hunger and thirst, spiritually. But also it will immediately manifest itself by a sense of family! We are BORN into God's family, the church! One of the strong proofs of spiritual life is this fact that the Church of Jesus Christ increasingly becomes our family! How do you describe being part of a "family?" What does it mean? ?

In a good family there will be a strong sense of BELONGING. That belonging is one of the strongest ties known to man! In every family there are shared values. There is an almost 'mystical' BELIEVING.

"This is what our family values! This is our family creed! This is what we believe!"

And in a good, strong family there are challenges to GREATNESS or SIGNIFICANCE of some kind that is important to that family. There is a family "BECOMING!" This is what our family counts as important! This is what OUR family achieves!

"Goals" and "achievements" seem to run in families. Somehow, this is where goals are fulfilled- great and noble goals- or unspoken and unworthy goals of pleasure, laziness, or worse. And here John tells us that a critical (if not the critical) sign of spiritual life is this family bonding. We care for each other!

III. CERTAINTY, FINALLY, IS A MATTER OF DIRECT WITNESS

3:24 And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us.

4:13 Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of His Spirit. There is a gentle persuasion that comes directly from God.

- A. I hesitate to preach "experience" as a "norm" because people get "set up" for a certain blessing or kind of "feeling." And this is usually sincerely misrepresented (as Wesley's "heart warming experience" at Aldersgate is preached without the many, many journal entries afterward that tell about his doubts and questions and his fighting through to assurance by using the Word and by prayer.)
- B. But all the same, there is this direct witness of the Holy Spirit!

It completes the assurance, and there is no substitute for it! And it is a witness that is promised to us all. I am not sure that we should "seek" this witness— but I am sure that we should not be satisfied until and unless we have the assurance of the Holy Spirit Himself!

Conclusion: (Summary)

I don't know where you are planning to go this summer— and perhaps that isn't all that important. But what about that other journey?

Isn't it a wonderful thing that we can know what we need to know about where we are in eternal matters?

There are a lot of things we will never really know or understand: HOW salvation works! WHY Jesus should come and love us and die for us!

But we can know what is really necessary! God has given us witnesses that we are passed from death to life.

We have the threefold witness God makes available, of revelation, of belonging, of consciousness of His Presence. Or, put another way:

1. THE WITNESS OF THE WRITTEN WORD.

I can read and understand. I can agree with the Word, and believe that God is faithful and just, as I 'follow directions.'

2. THE WITNESS OF MY OWN SPIRIT.

I have responded in faith! I come to the place where I know there is nothing 'held back.' There is literally no more which I can do. I find rest in that place. It is 'believing ground.'

3. THE DIRECT WITNESS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT. IT IS, FINALLY, A PERSON TO PERSON ASSURANCE!

(3:24 "And hereby we know that he abideth in us, by the Spirit which he hath given us.")

Every Christian is entitled to this certainty! It is remarkable what we don't know, and don't NEED to know - and how our entire life IS lived in partial understanding. But the most important things— the things which have to do with real LIFE and death and eternity— need not be left to chance. LET US PRAY: Thank You for certainty and assurance! Amen

449 I Know Whom I Have Believed

Finding the Real Me

June 19, 1988

... that ye bear much fruit ... " John 15:1-8

Introduction:

These are words to live by. We would do well to make them "life verses." God cares about each of us: He desires our very best! Christ's commands are also His promises.

I. GOD HAS A 'MAXIMUM FULFILLMENT' FOR EACH OF HIS CHILDREN

- A. We often hear "God has a plan for your life." Just the right address. Just the right position in just the right firm. Just the right spouse. It sounds almost mechanical. And the way we interpret it, it can be very "me centered!"

Can we believe that God DOES have a plan just for YOU?

- B. Certainly God DOES know you and care about you, and DOES desire the very best for you. (Text:) EVERY branch is to bear fruit OR be taken away! and every branch is to be subject to pruning so that it may bring forth MORE fruit. I believe the answer is "Yes." There is absolutely NOTHING which can frustrate God's purpose for your life, if indeed you will agree with the Father's will.

- C. But it may be significant to see the difference between a great "destiny" for yourself, and a great "calling" to follow Jesus! We cannot make ourselves the focus of greatness!

"We're number 1!!" There can only be ONE "Number 1!"

II. DISCOVERING GOD'S DESIGN FOR YOUR LIFE

- A. The problem is to dare to really go after God's best! Most of us cannot think about ambition except in terms of what we think WE want. How may we be consumed with seeking after God's best, and not be utterly selfish about it?

- B. The key word is "CONTROL!" Who shall have control? WHAT we do is important! But what is "driving" us?

WHY WE DO WHAT WE DO IS ALL IMPORTANT! It is all-important that Jesus Christ be the focus of our living, and of our ambition. "I am the Vine!" "Without ME you can (really) do nothing!" As long as we retain the last word of control— as long as our desires are for OUR success, then we frustrate the BEST!

It is paradoxical, but the most self-fulfilling thing we can do is renounce control in favor of God's BEST! And then all heaven's resources are available to see that God's "maximum fulfillment" for your life is actualized!

- C. The pathway to God's "best" is deceptively simple:

1. "ABIDE" ... 15:5(b) "Without Me you can do nothing" This is to be a permanent relationship. Forever we are to be "at home" in Jesus; and He in us. We are not the source of vitality; not our great ideas and energies— HIS!
2. "TREASURE" 15:7 "If ye abide in Me AND MY WORDS ABIDE IN YOU ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done." Psalm 119:11 Thy word have I hid in my heart, that I might not sin against Thee.

The best treasure, in the best hiding place, for the best reason!

We cannot expect personal fulfillment apart from coming under the good authority of God's Word.

3. "ASK" 15:7 - the 'other half' of the above verse; we can then use the Word in our praying. There is no power in prayer like praying in the Spirit using God's own promises! It becomes as natural as breath and breathing.
4. "PRAISE" 15:8 "Herein is the Father glorified!" We must not forget, and become enamored with our success in prayer; it is NOT "our" success— and thanksgiving keeps us pure and joyful!

5. "BEAR! DO! ACCOMPLISH! 15:8 "That ye bear much fruit!"

"MUCH Fruit!" It is the inescapable by-product of abiding, treasuring, asking, and seeking to lift up the Name of God!

Conclusion:

These are words to live by! LET AMBITION BE UNSHACKLED! Pray BIG!
Think BIG! Only do it in order!

Perhaps the problem with our ambition is not that it is too big— but that it is too small! In his devotional classic Robert Benson quotes
Letters to Scattered Pilgrims, by Elizabeth O'Conner:

"If we are each obedient to our visions the cities would have green spaces, birds in their trees, and architecture to quicken the awareness of the divine life throbbing in the whole of the world. And the towns? the towns would have galleries to hold the works of their artists; theaters for the performing arts would spring up in their squares; scientists and poets would confer with each other; students would gather for debate and reflection, children would want to continue in life, and church congregations everywhere would be struggling 'to make serious use of the wings the creator had given.' Everyone would know what it meant to be the servant of the Most High."

1. I believe GOD'S VISION works on the most practical levels:

Tithing... Making God a partner... in our janitor business... in our fishing... golfing... in our money matters— nothing is too small or too large to share with God.

2. But GOD'S VISION is deeper than that, deeper than just a temporary benefit for a single individual. When we seek to abide, and to treasure, and to ask so that we may praise we will find that we are becoming giants in the faith! BUT BEST OF ALL- WE WILL BE A PART OF THE BEAUTY OF OUR GOD!

Finding the Real Me

3. Why do we do what we do? AT WORK? in the church? So much of what we do is for our own convenience, and is limited to what is obviously profitable.

DO WE DARE GO AFTER GOD'S BEST?

#63(EH) Jesus, Thy Boundless Love to Me

The Basic Elements of Faith

What is a Christian?

June 19, 1988 PM

2 Corinthians 5:16-17

Intro: There are hundreds of religions in our world today; many of them followed after by people who are undoubtedly as sincere as we Christians.

What distinguishes Christian faith from other ways? Simply to say, "It is so because it is so" may satisfy some people. But it doesn't satisfy me. What is the living difference? How do we know that we serve the same God that answered the prayer of Elijah by fire?

Here in 2 Corinthians 5 are some aspects of the Christian faith which I believe are unique to Christianity. Each of these aspects of our faith is introduced by the word "therefore" in the New American Standard Version (in the King James Version the last "therefore" is a "now then."):

I. SAVING FAITH BEGINS WITH A CONFIDENCE THAT IS BASED ON THE RESURRECTION

(verse 6) "Therefore WE ARE ALWAYS CONFIDENT, knowing that while we are at home in the body we are absent from the Lord."

Verses 4:14 ("knowing that He who raised the Lord Jesus will raise us also with Jesus...") and 5:1 ("For we know that if the earthly tent which is our house is torn down, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.") are the antecedents of this first 'therefore.'

Christ's resurrection was absolutely the thing that drove the early church. There was a literal confidence that

(1) Jesus rose bodily from the dead; and that (2) Jesus' followers would have eternal life with Him.

Every time another man or woman of faith dies there is a testimony to this confidence. We sorrow; but not as those who do not have this confidence.

II. THIS CONFIDENCE GROWS INTO CONVICTION THAT BEGETS CONVICTION

(11) "Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men

... Verse 5:10 ("We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.") is the antecedent to this 'therefore.'

Our faith is not an arrogant know-it-all attitude on every subject; such a bellicose attitude will turn genuine seekers off.

But we come to the certainty that (2) we shall stand before Christ. His laws are understandable, and they have never been repealed. We shall give an account to Him, of how we have responded to His laws.

And if we really believe that, we shall have a conviction that makes our sharing of the gospel persuasive.

True evangelicals are growing in every way because they really believe that they are accountable to God.

III. CONVICTION LEADS TO CONVERSION THAT REJECTS THE COUNTERFEIT

(17) "Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creation!" 5:14 ("For the love of Christ constrains us, having concluded this, that one died for all, therefore all died;") is the antecedent. The love of God controls us. Christ died for US!

The standard for conversion, the norm, is (v 17) a new creation. God indwelling human personality by a supernatural work, a miracle of grace (justification/ regeneration/ adoption).

The temptation is to judge strictly by what we see; we want "success" by the accepted standards of the day and culture. Paul tells us: we don't know anyone spiritually this way; even if we knew Jesus Christ (only) in the flesh it "wouldn't count."

We have the privilege of knowing Jesus Christ in just as personal and as intimate a way as the disciples did on the road to Emmaus!

IV. OUR FAITH BRINGS US A COMMISSION THAT BRINGS DIGNITY AND WORTH

(20)"Now then WE ARE AMBASSADORS FOR CHRIST" Verse 18 ("Now all these things are from God, who reconciled us to Himself through Christ, and gave us the ministry of reconciliation ...") is the antecedent: God has given us all these things; He has called us to be ambassadors!"

Our worth is established by His love for us; before we do anything we are precious in His sight. He loves us. We are ambassadors! Important! But, remember, we are called to be servants; to be like our Master in spirit.

Conclusion:

- A. These, then, are the vital elements, or parts of our faith: God grants us confidence, and conviction; as we respond there comes conversion and commission.
- B. Faith is COMPLEX! Faith has a way of growing and developing and changing for the better as we walk along. It never gets easier, and never gets monotonous, if we keep up the daily walk with Jesus.

[But look at faith with me in another way as we come to the close of another Lord's Day:]

- C. FAITH IS VERY SIMPLE!

It is either saying "YES" or saying "NO" to Jesus!

Where are you just now with Jesus?

Where are you in your actions? [Anything that you are doing a source of irritation? ... of condemnation? ... of excessive rationalization?

Where are you in your attitudes? Are you forgiven? Are you forgiving?

- D. Salvation is not a matter of a coherent, cohesive "plan;" (it may well be that) ... but salvation first of all is a One-on-one relationship of love and trust with Jesus Christ! It is hearing HIM say: "Leave your way, and come, follow Me!"

How the New testament Church Grew

June 26, 1988 PM

Acts 4:33 "And with great power the apostles were giving witness to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and abundant grace was upon them all."

Intro:

This, of course, was prepared mainly for 'my own people' to let them know what I am thinking about this summer (1988) regarding church growth.

1. We plan to launch a fairly aggressive PR campaign in cable TV, local radio, newspapers— to let people in the area know what kind of fellowship is here.
2. What kind of fellowship IS here? If you could say something regarding your church to all the people in your area, what would that one thing be?
3. I'm convinced that this is the best church I know anything about. It has faults. But I don't want to magnify them. I want to talk to people about the love and the support and the HEALING OF SPIRIT that goes on here.
4. A church is like a home: the real success or failure of a family is connected with the everyday spirit of the home— taking time to love and to express love.
5. The greatest gift a man can give his children is to love his wife! THE GREATEST 'SELLING JOB' WE CAN DO FOR OUR CHILDREN REGARDING THE CHURCH IS TO EXPRESS OUR LOVE FOR THE CHURCH!
6. Be a committee of one to pray about SEEKING and SAVING the lost! You don't even have to wait until the fall!

[But now to the message at hand:]

"Acts" is a textbook on church growth. The conventional thing is to say: "We want a church like the early church!" I'm not sure we would want to face the same ratio of impossibilities.

But one thing is for certain, the growth of the early church was co-existent with great problems and trouble. There was almost universal opposition from authority both religious and civil. There was disagreement and strife and even failure within the ranks of the believers. And yet our text says that they had great grace and they had great power! This particular incident came after there was a great stir that began with the healing of the lame man (Acts 3) and there are some very significant statements which lead up to our text:

I. (v 12) THE DISCIPLES WERE LOVINGLY INTOLERANT

- A. "Intolerance" is not the same as "schism." How can we speak of the virtues of "intolerance?" Aren't we supposed to see all Christians as brothers; and aren't we supposed to have a genuinely ecumenical spirit when we follow Jesus?

Certainly we need more understanding— more reaching out to all Christians everywhere. The church of Jesus Christ is bigger than we may understand or appreciate. We need to get along with other Christians who may have faults. God knows that we may have a fault or two, as well!

- B. "Intolerance" is aimed only at central issues; and the first issue of all is: WHO IS JESUS CHRIST? and— WHO IS JESUS CHRIST TO YOU? We cannot simply co-exist peacefully with those who deny the deity and Lordship of Jesus Christ- and expect great grace and power!

- C. Jesus will not surrender His authority— nor will He share the loyalty of His servants.

[I watched a feature story on the revival of miracle plays in the streets of York, England; the man playing Jesus was an Indian national, and a Buddhist, who affirmed on camera again the theme that Jesus was good— he is one way to God among many. But Jesus was NOT "good, and one way among many to God." Jesus is HOLY, Jesus is God, and the ONLY way to God, or else Jesus is a liar and fraud.]

- D. We must raise the level of our alertness/awareness to doctrinal truth. We must be lovingly TOLERANT of disagreement WITHIN the family of faith. Some may insist on speaking in tongues: we can lovingly disagree; some may insist "once-in-grace-always-in-grace" and we can argue within the family; some may even pray to Mary, and we scripturally disagree. We don't have to agree on all points— but we can pray for each other, But there can be NO compromise in the matter of authority and Lordship: THERE IS NO OTHER NAME! NO OTHER WAY!

II. (v 20) THEY WERE OBEDIENTLY INSISTENT

- A. They not only believed (intellectually), but they were determined to be obedient. Acting on what they believed to be God's truth. The experience, the reality was there. In "new" churches like our own the tendency is:

Generation ONE: fervency and reality; Generation TWO: maintenance and tolerance; Generation THREE: convenience and simply "fitting Jesus in" wherever we are not called on to sacrifice.

At whatever cost, we must press into the reality of knowing God in Christ!

- B. What was God's will for these men (Peter and John)? Long before they had met Jesus personally. They had heard Him say to them:

1. "Follow ME ... and I will make you ..."

And they had begun to follow; they had found a new way of life: living by God's LOVE. They had seen Jesus live and die and were convinced that He had conquered sin and death and hell. They were determined to FOLLOW JESUS AT ANY COST!

They had also heard Jesus say, before He ascended to heaven:

2. "Tarry ye .. until you are clothed with power ... to witness to Me"

And they had experienced the birth of the church in it glorious fellowship and worship.

- C. These disciples had been true to their own personal experience.

1. We cannot "share" what we don't have. A faith that doesn't pay its honest debts ... that doesn't get along with its neighbors ... that can't keep a civil tongue in its head ... is hardly advertisement for Jesus and His LIFE.
2. But if Jesus is meeting your needs - and if you are a growing Christian - then you need to SHARE Him — and there are people that NEED what you have found!

III. (v 23) THESE CHRISTIANS KNEW THE VALUE OF SHARING PRAYER REQUESTS

When threatened (they were human! they were frightened! so) they hurried back to the CHURCH and TOGETHER they prayed through to new reality, and new infilling and power.

IV. (v 32) THEY WERE UNITEDLY UNSELFISH

- A. Their exact METHOD is not what we should copy; but we need to re-discover their SPIRIT.
- B. How may we be UNSELFISH in any practical sense?:
 - 1. God does not demand the UNreasonable. But each of us HAS that which is valuable to contribute; and it is the greatest pleasure to GIVE!
 - 2. HOSPITALITY; KINDNESS TO EACH OTHER is a grace. In the HOME— (as we have already said!) — THE GREATEST GIFT WE CAN GIVE OUR CHILDREN IS TO LOVE EACH OTHER. We WILL disagree — but we can be Christians in working out and talking out our disagreements.

What has this to do with REVIVAL and the CHURCH? It is so obvious— we cannot see it: In the CHURCH — the greatest tool for power and witness is to love each other!

Our own children are lost to the church at an amazing rate, and one wonders if it is not because we have aired our criticisms more than our love! I am not complaining now about personal problems, but there is a general truth here: people who find fault and criticize wake up to realize they have cut their children's faith out from under them! What is GOOD about our fellowship?

This "love-one-another" power carries through in evangelism, too. People may come to God because they want different things; but they STAY with the church because they find LOVE AND UNDERSTANDING AND A PLACE TO BELONG!

If I really believe that our church (with all its faults) is the best church I know anything about, how do I express that to those I meet? As I try to bring people to Jesus, do I tell them how I see Jesus in YOUR faces? Do I tell them how when I have faced difficult times Jesus has sustained me because of YOUR love? What do you think might happen if we were able to communicate what we really believe about Jesus Christ and His church— and OUR church in particular?

Conclusion:

(In Wollaston)

We don't have the contagious enthusiasm of a risky, brand-new situation. (And you are like that, too!) There is something exciting about a storefront. There is a thrill in having just a few and seeing that few grow.

But we do have the thrilling reality of a middle-sized church that is pushing forward in several vital areas, and that wants to mind God in being a force for revival and renewal in this unique place! (You have what this world desperately needs!) If we will love one another and mind God, then Jesus will build His church!

#311 I Love Thy CHURCH, O God!

Enrichment through Release

August 14, 1988 AM

Philippians 4:10-13,18-19; 2:3-11

We spoke last week about the peace of God. But perhaps even more attractive than peace is that quality of life we call "fulfillment." In this wonderful book, Paul tells us about how he has found this quality of living.

I. THE VIBRANT QUALITY OF LIFE IN CHRIST

1. There is more to life than mere existence. Beyond "peace" is spiritual 'vitality,' that which makes life 'sparkle.' Call it 'fulfilled living,' or 'life with purpose,' vitality is a "plus" way of living.

Granted there is no real life that does not have battles and loneliness and even temptation to boredom. And yet there is a way of living that can only be termed "spiritually vital."
2. Much of our energy is devoted to discovering of what that "plus kind of living" really consists. Advertising tells us "Go for the GUSTO!" "YOU deserve a break!" And as John Piper has said in his book, Desiring God, the thing that is wrong in seeking fulfillment and pleasure is not that we want it— but that WE SETTLE FOR LESSER PLEASURES AND SATISFACTIONS THAN WE ARE MADE TO ENJOY! We are never satisfied with less than GOD!
3. As our world "expands" our idea of what constitutes real "living" also expands, and we discard old goals and dreams for bigger ones: - one time a bottle of orange "pop" would satisfy me - then I dreamed of scoring a winning home run in front of my best girl - then came dreams of a cottage and picket fence ... and there is nothing wrong with any of these! - now my generation wants security and professional respect and community recognition — and, once again- there is nothing wrong with these ...
4. But Paul claims to have found something infinitely more satisfying! He claims to have found "success" and "fulfillment."

- a. He does not hesitate to use himself as an example (3:17 Be followers of me! DO as I do! and 4:9 The things you have learned and seen in me, DO!)
- b. His testimony is: "I am content wherever I am!" (4:11) and CONFIDENCE: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me!" (4:13)
- c. And he says: This is for YOU, too! (4:19:) "My God shall supply ALL YOUR NEEDS!"
- d. All this while Paul is in prison!

Is he deluded? Or is he really fulfilled, self-confident, really spiritually vital and alive?

Well, Paul accomplished more, perhaps, than any other human being except his Master. And as to memorials—there are churches all over the world dedicated to him- how about St. Paul's in London?

II. PAUL'S PRESCRIPTION FOR SPIRITUAL VITALITY: FOCUSED LIVING

1. The world's motto for vital and powerful living is simple: "Take life by the throat! Go for it!" And there is more than a pinch of wisdom in that idea, for nothing in life is ever won without effort and enthusiasm. But all too often this "seizing of life" is interpreted purely selfishly. And this is where Christians have to be prepared to radically part company with the world and its wisdom.
2. The formula Paul has for us is deceptively SIMPLE. But "simple" does not mean either "cheap" or "easy." There is NO cost involved, for it is a free gift of God's grace; and yet it costs us everything we have!

So what is Paul's prescription for real "success"? PAUL FOCUSES HIS LIFE ON A SINGLE, ATTAINABLE GOAL: (3:13 "But ONE thing I do: I press on toward the goal!")

- a. All other goals must become secondary! Paul doesn't say everything else is wrong— that we should not be striving for excellence in business, education, arts, science. But he does say that every other purpose in life must submit to the master purpose!

This is where "Enrichment" through "Release" makes sense: We can release "keeping up" as a life goal— we don't have to do like others ... and we can release "personal rights" as Jesus did, for the privilege of giving! We can even release our reputation (as important as that is!) when it conflicts with character (what people think as opposed to what God KNOWS!)

- b. Success is knowing what we are made for, knowing our purpose, and doing it! Success can never (finally) be measured in money! Success can never (finally) be measured purely in Numbers or Statistics.
- c. THIS MASTER GOAL is knowing Jesus and walking in fellowship with Him. Too simple? Simplistic? More about this later in this series, but for now these questions:
- d. HOW DO WE MAKE THIS GOAL SUPREME?
 - DELIBERATELY! We deliberately choose a Master Goal. We cannot simply "let life happen." We seek God, His Presence, His Guidance, His purpose. This is an unfolding, wonderful thing!
 - CONSISTENTLY! We constantly re-affirm this in our prayers and in our waking moments: "Lord, I want YOUR will, regardless of how I feel, or what I think I want or need ... !"
 - LEARNING & GROWING! We learn to look to Jesus (Hebrews 12:1-3) the AUTHOR and the FINISHER of our faith! [WHICH BRINGS US TO THE HEART OF THIS MESSAGE:]
 - Text: "LET THIS MIND BE IN YOU WHICH WAS ALSO IN CHRIST JESUS!" What was/is the 'mind of Jesus?'
Perhaps this is not possible to discuss in a few minutes at the end of a sermon; properly it is a life-study. But let me TRY to summarize:

i. JESUS DID NOT GRASP, HE SOUGHT TO GIVE

What was His by right He did not cling to; this is not to say He did not love life, or that He "enjoyed" pain ("O My Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me!"); but still He loved the Father more than He loved the good things He could SEE; His faith told Him that fulfillment was along the lines of SURRENDER TO GOD'S GOOD WILL.

ii. JESUS DID NOT SHRINK FROM THE SERVANT-ROLE

iii. JESUS WAS OBEDIENT TO THE FATHER'S REVEALED WILL

CONCLUSION:

In practical terms, how can we move toward this spiritual vitality?

1. KNOW THAT FULFILLMENT IS POSSIBLE!

BUT YOU MUST MAKE A DELIBERATE DECISION! YOU can be spiritually VITAL. It is not just for a few chosen ones! You don't have to become a monk, or go out of this real world— in fact our Master has commanded us to stay in this world of computers and rocket weapons and be salt and light! But YOU have to be selective! You have to RELEASE secondary goals: (1) disciplines and (2) great things and (3) power or glory for myself.

2. KNOW THAT THIS IS A HIGH CALLING! RE-INFORCE YOUR SELF-WORTH IN JESUS CHRIST!

To be deeply spiritual does NOT mean to accept second-class status; we are to have Christ's mind! We are NOT to be obscurantists! We are NOT to ignore facts! But Jesus is the Lord of TRUTH! He is not second class! And our source of self-worth is in God! And our source of vitality is in Him!

Look again at Paul's statements of confidence: "I can do all things ..." and "My God will supply all your needs ..." PAUL ENCOURAGES US, HIS LOVED ONES!* Give your loved ones permission to win! Tell them they are precious!

A recent PBS documentary about children who failed revealed the fact that they were verbally abused by their parents! "I hate you! I wish I'd never had you! You'll never accomplish anything!"

"YOU can do anything you want!" versus "You'll never amount to anything!"

VERBALIZE SELF-WORTH to yourself and to others. But even with yourself: don't "put down God's child!" NEVER say "What a dummy!" It may be all right to say: "That wasn't very smart!" Or, "A stupid thing to do!" But don't talk to yourself.

3. EVERY OBEDIENT CHRISTIAN IS A FULFILLED CHRISTIAN

- a. The only way to contentment and to confidence and to fulfillment is the mind of Christ! A fulfilled person is a rich person, whatever other people may think.
- b. "Success" has a dimension that can only be understood by God, too. James the brother of John was killed with the sword. Paul reached the ends of the earth. Which was more successful? God knows.
- c. Jesus was the most successful person who ever lived. "It is finished!" Jesus made a way to get sinful man and holy God together— a way for us all to reach the un-reachable. Jesus was a builder of bridges.

Paul exalts in Christ's success; he sees Jesus highly exalted! Paul grasps the spirit of success: it is yielding to the Father's will!

Epilogue: The world's success is found in GRASPING. The success that enriches life is found in YIELDING. And so Paul says, "If you want to know spiritual vitality! If you want to know what made me the world-shaker I am: "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus ..."

Power Through Focus

August 21 1988 AM

Philippians 3:7-11 "I want to know Christ and the power of his resurrection ... 3:13 "Brothers, I do not consider myself yet to have taken hold of it. But one thing I do: Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is ahead, I press on toward the goal to win the prize for which God has called me heavenward in Christ."

Paul's goal was not centered in power. But you have to believe that power was attractive to Paul. And Paul was conscious of the need of power. And in Paul's central purpose, aim, goal in life, power was there!

And Paul would say to us that God can and will see to it that the greatest power in the universe is available to us. Real power! Power for doing the greatest task possible to humankind!

I. POWER TO CHANGE THE LIFE OF THE BELIEVER/SEEKER

"... if by any means I might attain unto the resurrection from the dead!" Paul wanted to share the full quality of eternal life with Jesus Christ!

- A. Paul experienced this power: When he was struck down on the Damascus Road, Paul reported that Jesus said to him: (Acts 26:18 "I am sending you to open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light; that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in Me.") And we may be certain: Paul's mission was also Paul's testimony.
- B. There still is no better summary of how God's power begins to work in the life of faith than this Paul spoke to Agrippa that day. God's power does this:
 - 1. This power is the only force that can open blinded eyes to the reality of sin, to the deadliness of sin, to the realities of heaven, and hell, and eternity. Without this power such things are foolishness.

2. This power is the only force on earth that brings spiritual LIGHT. It enables us not only to see, spiritually, but it gives us spiritual direction. [Like Christian in Pilgrim's Progress, seeing, following, finding the "Light."]
 3. As we walk in this light, the power is the only force that can assure us of being RELEASED from Satan's power! It breaks the slave-holder's grip. It sets the prisoner of sin free!
 4. And this power not only lets us walk away from the power of sin— it makes us righteous in God's sight! It is the ONLY genuine way to be absolutely free from the GUILT OF SINS!
 5. And, finally: this power brings us into a 'FAMILY RELATIONSHIP' with God! We receive inheritance among the holy ones! We have the privilege of belong to God's great family!
- C. There is no other power that can take selfish, enslaved sinners, and make them loving, kind, Christ-like followers of Jesus. THAT is real power! [But that is not ALL that there is to this power Paul wanted to know. Christians do not simply live for themselves!]

II. THIS IS POWER TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN THIS PRESENT WORLD

- A. Paul had always been interested in power. He had been an activist before he became a Christian. He, Paul, was going to set the world straight!
- B. And after Paul was convinced, convicted, converted— he still was interested in changing his world! But now Paul was willing to do it on God's terms.

[Our teens came back from D.C. two weeks ago saying: "Let's go M.A.D.!" Go and Make A Difference! And they CAN! But it takes real POWER to M.A.D.!!]

- C. And make no mistake— spiritual power is REAL POWER! It is greater than the obvious things like bulldozers and rocket boosters and number crunchers ... powerful as they really are!

Spiritual power lies in the spirit that lies behind the WORDS, or behind the ACTIONS, or even just behind the PRESENCE !

Not all spiritual power and force are for good: For example WORDS can cut both ways!

A selfish or evil spirit can give words power to warp a life for years!

[How careful we need to be with the WORDS we say in the four walls of our homes! What tremendous influence WORDS have on those we love!]

- D. The SPIRITUAL POWER of which Paul was speaking comes when the Holy Spirit INHABITS His Church! When the WORDS we speak, and the DEEDS we do, and even the SPIRIT we manifest are consciously lived out in the light of a single focus, or purpose: TO KNOW JESUS CHRIST!

III. POWER ALWAYS RESULTS FROM DISCIPLINE (Focus)

- A. This is true even in secular concepts. The present generation of "movers and shakers" ... the YUPPIES ... focuses directly on power itself! It sees the future as being influenced by giant corporations. It is willing to set aside all other values for financial independence and for the chance to set policy in a major corporation. Family loyalties/ corporate loyalties/ children/ marriage/ — all must give way to ambition: GIVE ME POWER!
- B. But the Christian approach to power is radically different! Instead of focusing directly on POWER— it focuses on loving and knowing God! We may not always be conscious of the raw power released in and through our lives, because power comes as a by-product of seeking and knowing and loving and OBEYING Jesus Christ!

[Too often, however, Christian's "focus" is much less intense, much more "casual" than the selfish, driving ambition of people seeking worldly power! But Paul says: THIS ONE THING I DO!]

Conclusion:

And what a difference it makes where the focus lies!

What a contrast in spiritual powers!

[A young man from a refined family, brilliant— named ALBERT (Speer)— had opportunity to be the architect for his nation ... to design great buildings. The glory and sheer power of it grasped him— he became Minister of Armaments, brilliantly controlled millions of slaves, prolonged WW II two years, perhaps — and in the solitude of Spandau prison acknowledged that POWER WITHOUT REGARD TO MORAL AND SPIRITUAL VALUES IS TOTALLY CORRUPTING! We remember Albert Speer, if at all, with revulsion and waste!]

(Several other young men have had similar opportunities. No doubt some have died unnoticed except for God. But Joseph and Daniel both kept God ahead of selfish ambition— and both are remembered with great joy.)

But in that same generation with Albert there was another young man— also from a good family. His name was DIETRICH (Bonhoffer.) He, too, had opportunity to play ball with the Nazi regime and corrupt his church. he chose, rather to (ultimately) die for Jesus Christ! And we recall Dietrich Bonhoffer with admiration. To this day he influences young men and women!

Paul said: I must know Christ! And I will have His POWER! And YOU may have this power, too— when you can say with Paul: THIS ONE THING I DO!

Joy in Knowing Jesus

August 28 1988 AM

Introduction:

Philippians is a book full of JOY. It speaks of peace and of quality of life, and of power and adequacy. But it doesn't stop short of JOY.

What IS joy?

Joy is hard to describe. It isn't necessarily "fun," and yet it is deeply satisfying; it isn't against good fun. It can happen on good days, but it also can go on deep down inside on not so good days, as well! It is something that bubbles up from within that says: It is good to be alive! It is something LIKE having a "good time" going on on the inside of our very being.

[Do you know what a really good time is? It is something you can enjoy in anticipation, and then as you experience it, and then every time you remember it, as well!]

WHAT IS JOY?

JOY IS THE GROWING ASSURANCE THAT YOU ARE ALIVE, AND BEING AND DOING WHAT YOU WERE CREATED TO BE AND DO. This JOY is the privilege of every son and daughter of God, through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ.

What does Paul tell us about JOY?

I. CHRIST'S JOY IS FOR REAL PEOPLE IN REAL SITUATIONS

(Remember, Paul was writing this to a minority group in a pagan city. And he was writing it while he himself was a prisoner of the Romans.)

It is not incidental that Paul seems to be refereeing a disagreement right in The middle of this passage about "quality life!" Euodia and Syntyche are having a problem seeing eye-to-eye!

1. I used to think this was an interruption of the flow of this passage about peace and joy. You can't talk about peace and joy when there is a squabble going on! Or can you?
 - a. These are real Christians!
 - b. They are having a real quarrel! At least serious enough to immortalize them with Paul's admonitions!
 - c. They are not being kicked out of the church ... but they are being urged to agree, not only so there will be peace, but so that they can have personal peace and real joy!
2. EVERY Christian can experience the peace of God. We can KNOW the joy of the Lord if we will!
 - a. JOY, as well as PEACE and POWER are the by-products of the single goal of knowing Jesus Christ!
 - b. We have to begin NOW, right in the middle of LIFE as it is... and not wait until things are more "ideal."

II. CHRIST'S JOY STANDS THE WORLD ON ITS HEAD!

(It is different from what you might expect!)

1. IT IS TO BE A GENTLE JOY!

"Let your GENTLENESS be evident to all." Meekness, humility, teachableness are at the very top of the list in Christ's kingdom. The world admires raw power. It doesn't understand meekness, which is power under control. But don't be deceived: the greatest power IS under control! Jesus said, "The MEEK shall inherit the earth!"

2. IT IS ALSO TO BE A PRESENT JOY!

The English word "present" has at least TWO meanings that apply in this passage; meanings that can help us to understand and grasp God's JOY.

- a. present means here and now. We are to expect God's JOY here and now ... not just when the storm blows over, and when it is easier to manage.

- b. present means give, or gift. And we are to GIVE the situation, the circumstances, the DAY to God.

3. IT IS ALSO A LOVING JOY!

Get this through your head. God is GOD! And God is GOOD! He does understand. His "silence" is not absence; and he cares for you more than you know. Personally! Tenderly! Lovingkindness is God's very nature!

The NATURAL way of thinking about loving God is: "If I KNEW Him better, I could love Him more!" or, To KNOW Him is to LOVE Him!" But as we walk with God we find: THE MORE WE LOVE HIM, THE BETTER WE KNOW HIM! Or, TO LOVE HIM IS TO KNOW HIM! And this is where real JOY begins!

So never stop loving Him! Job said: "I don't understand! But I do trust Him!" LOVE GOD BACK! There is JOY in that kind of attitude!

4. PERHAPS THE KEY IS this, that OUR JOY IN CHRIST MUST BE AN INTENTIONAL JOY!

We must choose to go the way of rejoicing!

Within the framework of love and obedience to God, we can look at the prison cell, and the hard facts of discipline, and the unanswerable questions, OR, we can do as Paul tells us here: "Whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable— if anything is excellent or praiseworthy— think about such things."

And he dares to go on and say: "Whatever you have learned or received or heard from me, or seen in me— put it into practice. And the God of peace will be with you!"

Conclusion:

How many really joyful people do you know? You can be among God's JOYFUL PEOPLE... but not necessarily by a trip to an altar. And not in an instant or in a day or a week, perhaps. Old habits aren't changed that easily.

But how about if we try these four simple things for the month of September:

Joy in Knowing Jesus

1. Cultivate the spirit of gentleness. (I'll be speaking about that, Lord willing, next Sunday morning.) MEEKNESS is not WEAKNESS!
2. Determine to have present joy. (In spite of the circumstance, I'll give it to Jesus, NOW!)
3. Reflect God's love. Send it back to Him! Let Him know that He is your Father and you're glad of it! Seek to be a loving child!
4. Claim Philippians 4:8,9: Be a positive pray-er!

Remember the Christian's definition of JOY?: JOY IS THE GROWING ASSURANCE THAT YOU ARE ALIVE, AND BEING AND DOING WHAT YOU WERE CREATED TO BE AND DO. Every one of us can have this JOY that Jesus gives!

You can be what Jesus Christ wants you to be! You can fulfill the highest and noblest purpose God has for your life!

Even if at the moment you are experiencing difficulties! Even if you are having disagreement! (Remember Euodia and Syntyche??) We can choose to go God's way ... and then we can choose to be filled with Christ's JOY!

Prayer: Help us not to stop short of Your promise of JOY! Amen.

Intro: Here are some statements about JOY ... (Here are definitions from 'The Amplified New Testament:

- "Blessed"=happy, to be envied, and spiritually prosperous [that is, with life-joy and satisfaction in God's favor and salvation, regardless of their outward conditions;)
- ("Blessed"="and enviably happy [with a happiness produced by experience of God's favor and especially conditioned by the revelation of His matchless grace;")
- ("Blessed"=happy, blithesome, joyous and spiritually prosperous, etc.)
- ("Blessed and fortunate and happy and spiritually prosperous [that is, in that state in which the born- again child of God enjoys His favor and salvation]") ...that on the surface seem to contrast with the "facts."

We come to understand (1) that we are dealing with paradox; and (2) Jesus would have us to trust Him as to what is and is not lasting reality. The pathway to Life Eternal may be PLAIN, so that no one need be lost— but it is also SPIRITUALLY DISCERNED.

It is a Way of trust! FAITH means that we must follow our Shepherd, and trust His wisdom. Everyone seems to be a self-appointed "expert" in this matter of spiritual truth.

R.C. Sproul tells of a theologian and an astronomer in dialogue; the astronomer says to the theologian: "We don't need all this study, these big words— faith and salvation are simply "Do unto others ..."

And the theologian came back: "I think I see what you mean about technical terms and study: I don't understand 'expanding universe' and 'novae' and 'black holes' and the like. Such words are unnecessary; astronomy is simply, "Twinkle, twinkle, Little star ..."

Salvation is truth both SIMPLE and PROFOUND! And (3) JESUS DECLARES THAT OUR "HAPPY" ... OUR "NORMAL" ATTITUDE IS TO BE ONE OF TOTAL DEPENDENCY ON GOD.

I. THE PERCEPTION OF FALLEN MANKIND IS: I AM THE CENTER

- A. We are BORN into the CENTER of our own little universe. Little children, as wonderful as they are, have a very small world that slowly expands— but always has "EGO" at the center!
- B. To be BORN AGAIN is to enter into the REAL WORLD, where God is at the CENTER. We come to believe spiritual reality by the ministry of the Holy Spirit— but we still see things, humanly, from our own eyes, from within our own personalities.

And so, unless we deliberately accept God's WORD, and stay close to Him, we are tempted to slip back into self-centered ways of living; (1) making selfish goals of prosperity OUR goals; (2) making self-centered judgments of who is or is not important on the basis of OUR benefits.
- C. This is what had happened to the Church at Laodocia: they had failed to remember the Beatitudes, and so they had failed to find real "blessedness." (Revelation 3:17-19 Because you say, "I am rich, and have become wealthy, and have need of nothing," and you do not know that you are wretched and miserable and poor and blind and naked, I advise you to buy from Me gold refined by fire, that you may become rich, and white garments that you may clothe yourself, and that the shame of your nakedness may not be revealed; and eye salve to anoint your eyes, that you may see. Those whom I love, I reprove and discipline; be zealous, therefore, and repent.)

II. THE REALITY IS: WE ARE COMPLETE ONLY IN VICE-REGENCY TO GOD

- A. Man does enjoy unique privilege. (Psalm 8!) "When I consider the heavens ... the work of Thy fingers; the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained, WHAT IS MAN? Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels!" Man carries THE VERY IMAGE OF GOD!
- B. The temptation is: You shall be as gods! And yet somehow being God's highest free moral creation does not seem to satisfy man ... he is tempted to be his own god!
- C. Real JOY ("Blessed ...") COMES FROM LIVING IN GRACE JOY IS BEING WHAT WE ARE INTENDED BY GOD TO BE, AND DOING WHAT WE ARE CREATED TO BE DOING!

III. FAITH IS DELIBERATELY ACCEPTING/OBEYING TRUTH FROM ONE WHO KNOWS

- A. Salvation is NOT simply what we do or do not know... or even what we do or do not do. Those things are important. But all too often they keep the spotlight on "SELF."
- B. Salvation is deciding 'WHO shall be God!' and 'Whom shall I believe?!' Who is going to be "at the center of my Universe?"
- C. This may/will require going against "how we feel" at times. How many times pilots or mariners are required to believe what the instruments say instead of how they feel! I have been completely turned around in a white-out fog and ended up at the wrong side of the harbor. Pilots have realized they were literally upside down. Why? Because facts sometimes contradict senses. This is a weak illustration of spiritual reality and faith, perhaps. But it is a valid truth all the same.

CONCLUSION:

Are YOU "blessed?" How happy are you? Perhaps we all need to look at our spirits! We need to ask: Am I 'poor in spirit?'

The Spirit of the Kingdom

"Poor in spirit..." does not refer, primarily, to how you happen to "feel" today. But it does have everything to do with your dependency on God's grace:

1. "Forget" about salvation as a matter of correct doctrine, or believing the "right/-correct/Nazarene way!"
2. And (please don't deliberately misunderstand me!) "Forget" about salvation as a matter of doing this and not doing that;
3. The real question is: AM I A TOTALLY GOD-DEPENDANT PERSON? Is my life totally wrapped up in His life, His will, His grace— until I am everything I am because of HIM, and nothing I am or have is worth anything apart from Him?

If you want JOY, real JOY, wonderful JOY ... then be dependant!

Prayer: Lord, We do believe You! We refuse to believe this world with its "wisdom!" We are NOT the center of the Universe! YOU are! AMEN!

INTRODUCTION

This may well be the most difficult period in all human history to live a genuinely Christian commitment. Now as never before the world needs to see the Church of Jesus Christ in purity and in power!

When Paul Rees was here in this church ten years ago he said, among other things, "We need the vigor of a Christian community with all the earmarks of a counter-culture."

Would you think with me a few minutes about that statement of need?

I. THE NEED FOR A VIGOROUS COMMUNITY OF FAITH, WITH ALL THE EARMARKS OF A COUNTER-CULTURE

Why is this so important? And why is it so difficult to achieve?

- A. Why a community of faith, anyway? Why not simply each one do his or her own thing?

The plan of Jesus is to change the world through His Church. The entire New Testament is written to the Church- for the Church- the Church is Christ's creation, his love! The Church is Christ's ONLY plan to evangelize and reach the world with His redeeming love.

[Ours is an age of individualism. The church exists to serve US! We choose a church by how well it helps OUR needs. But Jesus sees the Church as His BODY— as an extension of Himself— to do HIS work of redemption.]

- B. WHY IS THIS DIFFICULT NOW? We aren't being persecuted for righteousness sake— not really!

A community of vital faith would seem to be more difficult to achieve under open, obvious persecution. But do you think that is really how it would be? [Frederick Faber wrote: "Our fathers, chained in prisons dark, were still in heart and conscience free. How sweet would be their children's fate if they, like them, could die for Thee!" What could he possibly mean?] Under obvious tyranny issues SEEM more simple. Harder, yet simpler.

It is more difficult now to be 'all-out' for Jesus because the issues, the values, are often "fuzzy" ... harder to see clearly!

- C. WE LIKE TO FOCUS ON A FEW ISSUES THAT WE SELECT — and that WE see as "clear-cut" and we focus on THEM: (1) Abortion (2) Hunger (3) Disarmament (4) Or, for some "King James Version" or "Our Brand"

But then WE are still the focus— OUR activity— OUR control! We like to hear the sins WE hate preached against— but we don't like to have our comfortable way of life disturbed!

- D. JESUS CALLS US TO ALL-OUT LIVING, not simply on a few difficult or easy issues, which WE select, BUT IN THE SPIRIT OF THE BEATITUDES, AND IN THE FELLOWSHIP OF HIS CHURCH and cutting ACROSS culture— not simply "for" it or "against" it. AND THAT IS DIFFICULT!

II. AND SO HEROES ARE NEEDED!

[IF WE ARE TO SEE CHRIST'S CHURCH BECOME THE VIGOROUS COMMUNITY OF FAITH, WITH ALL THE EARMARKS OF A COUNTER-CULTURE!!]

Transition: "BUT HOLD ON— If it is such a difficult business to really be a Christian, how come the church is full this morning?" AREN'T WE ALL CHRISTIAN HERE?

A. IT TAKES COURAGE TO LIVE THE BEATITUDES!

Jesus knew that if people began to live the way He was preaching that they would run into trouble. That is why He said: "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven."

And then went on to add: "Blessed are YOU when men SHALL revile YOU!" Not just in centuries gone by! Every person who sets out to follow Jesus is going to be swimming ACROSS the current!

B. HEROES OF THE FAITH ARE PEOPLE JUST LIKE YOU AND ME THAT SIMPLY SAY: "I AM GOING TO OBEY JESUS, NO MATTER WHAT!" Heroes are:

1. Pete and Jim
2. Tom (Nees) and Tom (Wilson)
3. [THIS WEEK!] Brenda simply and as a matter of course turning down a high-paying job because it is an abortion clinic.
4. Esther
5. Cecil, patient and Christ-like before a class of immature teenagers; influencing them to believe that Christ can really change a life.
6. YOU! Living for Christ in school— at work— faithful— Jesus says: You are BLESSED!"

III. HOW CAN I RESPOND TO THE NEED FOR HEROES?

A. To begin with: DEFINE "FAITH" AS O B E D I E N C E! Get away from the idea that faith and salvation are a matter of KNOWING CORRECT FACTS ... OR EVEN DOING 'GOOD THINGS!'

B. CHRIST'S HEROES KNOW WHAT JESUS SAID; THEY SEEK TO LIVE BY HIS SPIRIT

In order to be a hero in the kingdom of heaven one must deliberately reject the wisdom of this world. And the wisdom of this world, of this age is particularly pervasive. We are persuaded that we are the wisest, smartest generation of all human history; NO ONE, including JESUS CHRIST, can tell US how to live!

But following Jesus— being "heroes for HIM" requires the humility to take orders from the meek and lowly Nazarene— and requires the humility to be a part of His glorious-and-imperfect CHURCH!

C. AND BEING A HERO FOR JESUS CHRIST MEANS ACCEPTING HIS VALUES! [

Can you believe Jesus said: "It is BLESSED to be reviled for Christ's sake!" ??]

What are the commonly accepted values of this world, this age?

(From Fortune magazine: I quote- " ... they tell themselves that this is an increasingly crowded, competitive world. ...they feel a deep urgency about getting what they feel are their shares of power and its rewards. They tell themselves that in their urgency they cannot afford relationships that "drag" on their progress. Marriage is possible if it does not hamper career. Children, for most of them, must wait until both members have claimed lucrative posts. For many of them the decision to remain childless feels final." (MORE QUOTES AT END...)

In contrast, Jesus says: PUT ME, PUT MY CHURCH, MY KINGDOM FIRST!
(6:33!)

CONCLUSION:

[Transitional sentence:] "I said at the beginning: This may just be the most difficult time in all of human history to be a Christian." Can you see how this might be true?

A. IT WASN'T AS SIMPLE AS WE MIGHT THINK WHEN THE ISSUES WERE BOLD and clear-cut under despotic, totalitarian rule:

Swiss doctor-writer Paul Tournier wrote, in his book "To Resist or Surrender?"

"Shortly after (WWII) I was asking him (Bishop Wurm) about that tragic era ... he told me how hard it had been, at the beginning of Hitler's reign, to know what attitude the church should take.

"... Should the church step in line, in spite of the movement's obvious flaws, in the hope of influencing the new regime and of directing it toward a true national renewal? Or must the church fight the regime, thus losing all contact with the masses? ..." And then come some very significant words: "There comes into every conflict a terrible, vicious circle: He who does not stand up in time is carried forward into ceaseless compromise right on into final capitulation."

What Dr. Tournier is telling us is that unless we take a stand against evil as soon as we recognize it we soon find EXCUSES to do as we please, even if it means cooperating with the NAZIs!

B. B. BUT WHY IS IT SO DIFFICULT TODAY? But what about OUR times? What are the prevailing value systems of our times? Who tells us what is really important? Show biz videos? The craving of greed for more prosperity? The blind worship of sports? The fat god of comfort? Self-development at any cost?

Certainly NOT: "Poor in spirit!" Certainly NOT: "Mourning for our sins!"

Certainly NOT: "Meek, gentle!"

Who has the courage to cast his or her lot with the lowly Nazarene? "We need the vigor of a Christian community with all the ear-marks of a counter-culture."

Are there Christians who will follow Jesus in a radical manner— not in a cult-like, blind, unbalanced way— but in total obedience??

I AM ASKING YOU TO BE A HERO! Will you tell Jesus in your heart of hearts today that if He will give you grace, you will follow Him— in His SPIRIT— and live for Him no matter what the cost?

There is an apocryphal story of how Alexander the Great called a truce and gave the chief of a warrior tribe an opportunity to surrender, to become slaves and vassals without a battle.

"Why should we surrender?" the proud chieftain asked. "We have hundreds more brave warriors than you!"

Alexander simply pointed at one of the soldiers in the ranks nearby. "Thrust your sword into your heart for Alexander!" he ordered.

Without hesitation the soldier drew his sword, opened his breastplate, and plunged the sword into his heart, and fell down at his commander's feet. The warrior chief surrendered.

This seems like a remote story— from a far-off culture. The Lord Jesus would never call on us to die merely for display, I'm sure. But what happens when the boss asks you to LIE? Do you put your job on the line? What happens when everyone in the class CHEATS? Do you die to false honors and follow Jesus?

What kind of a Christian Community— what sort of powerful church— could Jesus Christ build— right here in Wollaston— if He had that kind of total loyalty? What could Jesus Christ do with a people who determine to be His followers, even in this pluralistic, humanistic, anything-goes, comfort-seeking society? WOULDN'T IT BE EXCITING TO FIND OUT?

Where shall we go? I believe that we have a right to go back to the Bible for our anchorage. University of Washington, president of University Christian Fellowship; in 1951 he received his master's degree, the master's thesis in philosophy: Melville's The Confidence Man. He announced to his friends that God was calling him to Ecuador: "I think a 'call' to the mission field is no different from any other means of guidance; a call is nothing more or less than obedience to the will of God, as God presses it home to the soul by whatever means He chooses." In 1951 as he prepared to sail from the States: "Remember the last few verses of I Corinthians 3: 'For all things are yours ... and ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's.' Throughout all our personality we are God's, and since God has made our whole selves, there is great joy in realizing who is our Creator. This realization is to permeate every area and level of life. In appreciation of beauty, mountains, music, poetry, knowledge, people, science- even the tang of an apple— God is there, to reflect the joy of His presence in the believer who will recognize His purpose in all things."

Saturate me with the oil of the Spirit that I may be a flame. But flame is transient, often short-lived. Canst thou bear this, my soul, short life? In me there dwells the Spirit of the Great Short-Lived, whose zeal for God's house consumed Him. 'Make me Thy fuel, Flame of God.'"

Jim and Pete went in 1951 to work among the QUICHUAS— where they labored almost 5 years. Jim and Pete went on to join Ed McCully and Roger Youdarian and Nate Saint in one of the most dramatic and widely publicized Christian ventures in history: they were martyred in January, 1956, reaching the dreaded Auca Indians in interior Ecuador.

James Fowler, in his important book, Stages of Faith, tells us that the present generation of ambitious young people believe that NO ONE can tell them HOW TO SUCCEED! They KNOW! These ambitious young people "... tell themselves that most of the men and women presently at the top are probably less imaginative and less competent than they are (or will be.) They do not believe, therefore, that they have too much to learn on the way up. The major obstacles to their rising that they see are the inertia and self-protecting power of the incumbents. ...they must be in striking distance of a chief executive's post by the time they are thirty-five."

Addendum 4

In 1980 Fortune magazine interviewed 80 25-year-old "yuppies" about their hopes and plans (as quoted in Fowler's Stages of Faith:) "The values that seemed central had to do with the achievement of success. Success meant for them the eventual achievement of financial independence and, on the way to that, achieving top-rank leadership in one or more of the major institutions of our corporate society. .. Far more than government, they believe, today's and tomorrow's corporate giants are the entities that will determine our global future. " ... they tell themselves that this is an increasingly crowded, competitive world. ...they feel a deep urgency about getting what they feel are their shares of power and its rewards. They tell themselves that in their urgency they cannot afford relationships that "drag" on their progress. Marriage is possible if it does not hamper career. Children, for most of them, must wait until both members have claimed lucrative posts. For many of them the decision to remain childless feels final. " ... At the risk of sounding judgmental (their testimony) might be capsulized as "the human vocation is to take care of number one; those number one's who have the most talent, drive and luck will— and should— inherit the earth." [And then Fowler goes on to tell how talented and mostly decent young talents were sucked into the Nazi dream and realized that selfish ambition is finally self-destructive.]

Matthew 5:17-20;43-48

Do not think that I came to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I did not come to abolish, but to fulfill. For truly I say to you, until heaven and earth pass away, not the smallest letter or stroke shall pass away from the Law, until all is accomplished.

Whoever then annuls one of the least of these commandments, and so teaches others, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever keeps and teaches them, he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

For I say unto you, that unless your righteousness surpasses that of the scribes and Pharisees, you shall not enter the kingdom of heaven.

(43) You have heard that it was said, You shall love your neighbor, and hate your enemy. But I say to you, love your enemies, and pray for those who persecute you in order that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven; for He causes His sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous.

For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax-gatherers the same? And if you greet your brothers only, what do you do more than others? Do not even the Gentiles the same?

Therefore you are to be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

Introduction:

The Sermon on the Mount is a keynote speech for the kingdom of God. It sets forth the principles on which Jesus Christ has founded His church.

1. The spirit of Christ's kingdom is set forth in the Beatitudes: poor in spirit, godly sorrow for sins, purity of heart, gentle— in short the spirit of Christlikeness.
2. The heroes of Christ's kingdom are those willing to be persecuted for righteousness' sake. Following in Christ's example, with His spirit, will bring conflict with the values of this world.
3. But Christ's kingdom is more than a spirit, and more than heroic followers. Christ's kingdom is a kingdom of clear and definite LAW. There is no authentic kingdom without some kind of law. Without law there is anarchy.

(transition) And in the opening paragraphs of this great Sermon Jesus shows how His kingdom relates to Law. He shows how His kingdom (I.) is the old testament law fulfilled; and how in His kingdom (II.) the spirit of the law surpasses even the keeping of the letter of the law; and how, in His kingdom (III.) the heart of the LAW is revealed as perfect love.

I. THE OLD TESTAMENT LAW FULFILLED

(Verse 17 Do not think that I came to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I did not come to abolish, but to fulfill.")

- A. Jesus did not come to bring anarchy, which is what freedom from the Ten Commandments would mean. Jesus came to set us free to be able to KEEP this Law-code, which is good and holy. (see Romans 7:12)

The Ten Commandments have never been erased. Do you know them? Do you keep them?

- I. No other gods before Jehovah God
- II. No idols/ no worshiping of man-made things
- III. Reverence for the Name of God (and His Person)
- IV. A day of special significance before God

- V. Honor father and mother
- VI. Respect LIFE/ do no murder
- VII. Respect intimacy/ no sexual infidelity
- VIII. Respect property/ do not steal
- IX. Respect truth/ do not bear false witness
- X. Respect integrity/ do not break the commandments in the privacy of your heart!

B. Jesus did reveal His authority over the Old Testament Law by boldly stating: "This is what you have come to understand ... But I declare to you ..." And then Jesus proceeded to show that the law could be "kept" in a legalistic way that did not satisfy the demands of His kingdom. Jesus wanted the love of the LAW implanted within His people's hearts!

And later, Jesus summarized the O.T. Law, the Ten Commandments, by saying:[in Matthew 22 and Luke 10] "Thou shalt love the Lord with all your being..and your neighbor as yourself." THIS IS THE FULFILLMENT OF ALL THE LAW AND THE PROPHETS.

C. But Jesus lifted this "law of love" to an even higher plane when He gave His life for us, and He calls us to that same self-giving love with His "New Commandment" [John 13:34 A new commandment I give you, that ye love one another as I have loved you, that ye also love one another!"] The "Golden Rule" is an Old Testament rule; Jesus said: "Love as I have loved you!"

[Transition: Not only was the Law fulfilled— the letter of the law was to be surpassed in this kingdom Christ was founding:]

II. THE LETTER OF THE LAW SURPASSED BY THE SPIRIT

(Verse 20 For I say unto you that unless your righteousness surpasses that of the scribes and Pharisees, you shall not enter the kingdom of heaven.)

A. WE DARE NOT TAKE THE LAW LIGHTLY! Jesus said: "Whoever annuls (ignores, breaks) one of the least of these commandments, and so teaches others, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven."

What Jesus was saying is: WE LIGHTLY INTERPRET THE LAWS OF THE KINGDOM TO OUR OWN GRAVE PERIL! An attitude of glib interpretation is a dangerous position. "Oh, this is what that commandment means! Surely the Sabbath is strictly an Old Testament concept! "Why should I worry about the covetousness of my heart? "I really don't bow down and worship my color T.V.— I just spend 20 hours a week respectfully bowing down before it!"

- B. JESUS COMMENDED THE SERIOUS STUDY AND OBSERVANCE OF THE LAWS OF THE KINGDOM. Jesus also said: "Whoever keeps these commandments and teaches them will be BIG in the kingdom of heaven. I see this as an attitude of serious attention to the written Word of God. A willingness to live by the revealed will of God.
- C. THESE LAWS ARE MORE THAN JUST RULES AND REGULATIONS.[It may be well and good to look for loop-holes and every legitimate deduction when filling out your income tax. That is what the government expects. But this is NOT the spirit with which we approach the holy LAWS of the kingdom of God. We are to DELIGHT in them! We are to LOVE TO KEEP THEM! They represent God's love and concern for us!] Jesus said: Keeping the law has to be more and better than just the scrupulous outward observance! You have to surpass the scribes and the Pharisees!

What sort of law-keepers were they?

They were very good at keeping the letter! But THEY WERE (1) SELF-CENTERED; they kept the law in order to save their hides, not because they loved the Lawgiver. And THEY WERE (2) SELF- RIGHTEOUS. Blind to the fact that they were breaking the first commandment and the last, they revelled in the fact that they knew the ins and outs of Jewish law and could get around the letter of the law with impunity. Being (3) SELF-SATISFIED, THEY COULD NEVER KNOW THE SATISFACTION OF REALLY PLEASING GOD. There was very little warm love in their religious faith. [... and so ...]

III. THE HEART OF THE LAW REVEALED AS PERFECT LOVE

(Verses 44 and 48 But I say to you, love your enemies, and pray for those who persecute you ... THEREFORE YOU ARE TO BE PERFECT, AS YOUR HEAVENLY FATHER IS PERFECT.)

- A. Jesus spent a good part of the Sermon on the Mount showing where the "letter" of the law, in and of itself, would not suffice in His holy kingdom. "You have heard ... but I say!"
- B. He made it clear that the heart of the good and holy law was to make us like God. Jesus wanted us to see that God LOVES us. He wants to make us like Himself so He can have fellowship with us "(v 45)in order that you may be children of your Father who is in heaven; for He causes His sun to rise on the evil and the good..."
- C. So He closes the first part of His Sermon with the startling statement, actually a command: BE PERFECT! WHAT CAN THIS MEAN?

Certainly not 'perfect' in the sense of never being wrong, never making mistakes, never needing forgiveness. But 'perfect' here means complete, or mature, or having come to the adult stage of development. Conclusion:

Jesus came to fulfill the Old Testament. He is Lord and Master of the revealed Word of God.

If we will plunge into the written word of God... beginning now, where we are, spiritually; and if we will take the Law and the Prophets seriously, realizing they are intended to show us how to seek and to find in them the spirit of Jesus Himself, the Bible will be like a good schoolmaster, bringing us to the knowledge of the deeper truths of the spirit of Christ's kingdom, and into the personal knowledge of the King Himself!

#311 I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord

Loving God

September 18, 1988 PM

1 John 4:7-21

Introduction:

With all the labels we place on each other, it is increasingly difficult to identify what a "true" Christian is supposed to be. There are liberal Christians and conservative; fundamentalists and born-again Christians. There are all shades of all kinds of labels.

How do we describe what we mean by an experience with God that brings freedom from guilt and sin, and that fits us to walk with Jesus, in His fellowship, with His people, and get to heaven?

Perhaps some of our terms might be more descriptions than labels. If we told about our walk with God, instead of just subscribing to a particular school of thought, or theological party, we might be more effective.

- Consider the question (1) 'Do you KNOW the Lord?' Being a Christian is, in some measure, coming to know Jesus Christ as a real Person!
- Or, Consider a pertinent follow-up question (2) 'Do you LOVE the Lord?' Being a Christian means to LOVE God as He is revealed in His Son.
- Or, How would you reply if someone asked you (3) 'Are you SERIOUS in your walk with God?' Not sour, not long-faced— but is your walk with God the most important thing in your life?"

I would focus on just ONE of these descriptive inquiries into the personal areas of our Christian faith: To be a Christian is to LOVE God! WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO "LOVE GOD?" [One answer might be the book Chuck Colson has written. It is a practical answer! It is the life of holiness!]

I. WE CANNOT LOVE WHAT WE DO NOT KNOW...

- Can we love God when we don't know ANYTHING about Him at all?
- What CAN we know about God?
- How can we love such a BIG BEING?

... BUT GOD INCREASINGLY REVEALS HIMSELF: [This passage tells us some clear truth about God:] A STATEMENT ABOUT GOD

A. GOD IS TRANSCENDENT

"No one has seen God at any time ... (v 12)" God must be Self-revealed.

B. GOD IS SELF-REVEALING!

"God is love...(v 16)" — pure love; NOT human-centered and patronizing and indulgent, spoiling all it touches; but caring and protecting; finding the very best for all

C. GOD DEMANDS THAT HIS CHILDREN LIVE IN LOVE

1. We come to know God by loving Him! To LOVE Him is to KNOW Him. ... to step out on His promises that seem too good to be true ... and step by step come to see that He is GOOD!
2. We cannot be God's favorites! God demands that we love ALL His children! If we don't love, we aren't His children.

II. WE CANNOT ALWAYS CONTROL THE WAY WE FEEL ABOUT PEOPLE...

- Can we love God and NOT love God's people? (No— we've seen that!)
- What do we know about the relationship between loving God and loving each other?
- How can we love the un-loving? (One dour Scot scolded the secretary of the church for mentioning that this week was his wife's and his 50th wedding anniversary!) ...BUT GOD'S LOVE IS DEEPER THAN EMOTION: [and this passage gives us:] A STATEMENT ABOUT GOD'S PEOPLE

A. A. THE NORM FOR GOD'S PEOPLE (11) the norm for God's people is to love one another.

- B. B. GOD'S PEOPLE FIND SUPERNATURAL HELP! (18) fear is excluded by love.
- C. C. GOD'S PEOPLE DO NOT HATE/BEAR GRUDGES (20) hatred is incompatible with Christian love.

III. GOD NEVER COMMANDS WHAT HE DOES NOT ALSO ENABLE!...

- Does this need to love everyone 'doom' us all? Is love the same as "being IN love with?"
- Where does all this "LOVE" originate? [With GOD of course!]
- How can we be "serious" Christians, coming to "know the Lord" and truly "loving Him?" ... IF WE LEARN TO LOVE GOD, WE WILL REFLECT HIS LOVE TO OTHERS!

[Yes this is a command, but:] A COMMAND, BUT WITH PROMISE

- A. LOVE! for with God it is possible! This doesn't mean you have to agree with or like all the cultural/ sociological aspects.
- B. WE DON'T 'STRIVE TO LOVE' BUT WE OPEN UP TO LOVE ... LET GOD LOVE THROUGH US MAKE GOD "AT HOME" IN MY HEART— SEE HOW HE LOVES ME—AND HE WILL MAKE HIS LOVE REAL ...
- C. Mother Teresa was asked how she can love the very un-lovely people with which she works. (She spends hours in private prayer!) She said: "I have said a (dynamic) YES to Jesus!" And love becomes her very LIFE!

This is grace! Grace to forgive... and grace to receive forgiveness!

Conclusion:

How do you label yourself, as a Christian? Why should anyone take your faith seriously?

- Can you say: "I know the Lord!"?
- Can you honestly say: "I love the Lord!"?
- Are you serious about the matter of your walk with God?
- Are you showing that love by loving those around you?

One of the most beautiful scenes in the Bible is in John 21, where Jesus took Peter aside, and restored him to full fellowship. It is almost too private to look in on; and yet the Holy Spirit has had John write it for our edification.

Jesus takes Peter aside and asks him: DO YOU LOVE ME? Not, 'Do you believe Me?' or "Will you obey Me?" or "Are you sorry you let Me down?"

Just "DO YOU LOVE ME? DO YOU LOVE ME MORE THAN ANYTHING OR ANYONE ELSE?"

Can you say with Peter: "Lord, You know all things! I DO LOVE YOU!" ??

September 25, 1988 - Matthew 6:1-15

Introduction:

We have called the Sermon on the Mount the constitution of the Church of Jesus Christ, the 'foundation statement' for the kingdom of God.

1. The Beatitudes state the revolutionary, loving spirit of the kingdom.
2. The heroes of the kingdom are the men and women who dare to live in that spirit, across cultural pressures. ["blessed are ye when men shall revile you for My sake!"].
3. And the kingdom of heaven is a kingdom of holy law. ["I have come to fulfil, not destroy, the law"]

Spirit, heroes, a constitutional law; all these are vital parts of the beachhead of the kingdom of heaven which Jesus has established on planet Earth.

But there is more. For Jesus makes it plain that those who are part of His kingdom have deeds to do, tasks to perform, exploits to accomplish.

In the opening paragraphs of this sixth chapter Jesus makes some clear assumptions:

I. THE EXPECTATIONS OF OUR MASTER

A. A. Every follower of Jesus has expectations to meet:

1. Jesus expects that His kingdom will be a giving kingdom; so he expresses that assumption to His disciples (verse 3): "When you GIVE..." The kingdom of God is an out-flowing of love. [A GIVING KINGDOM [outward]]
2. Jesus came to establish a living kingdom; He came to bring the LIFE of God Himself, and bring it in abundance to and all that is symbolized in the vertical relationship, the give and take of spiritual breath, is comprehended in the expectation (verse 6): "When you PRAY..." The kingdom of God rises no higher than its Source in prayer. [A KINGDOM OF ABUNDANT LIFE [vertical heaven- connection]]
3. And Jesus desires that His kingdom shall be a resourceful kingdom. There are 'means of grace' available for us. God desires to meet every inward longing of the human heart, and He has designed 'means of grace' that correspond to our deepest needs. [A KINGDOM OF FULFILLMENT [seeking of personal power— inward!]]
4. But Jesus intends that the means of grace remain just that: means, and not ends in and of themselves. This is at least a part of what Jesus was saying as he made the assumption (verse 17): "When you FAST..." For the kingdom of God has means of inward renewal and growth and strength.

B. [summary] So there you have it: There are some things we simply are going to do because we are part of Christ's kingdom:

1. we GIVE— the outward thrust of life
2. we PRAY— the vertical dimension, the breath of LIFE
3. we FAST— (seeking personal power, growth) the inward focus of spiritual growth ...
4. and perhaps we could add a fourth assumption to this chapter that includes the other three. In verse 20 Jesus says: "Lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven!" And He adds: "Where your treasure is, there your heart will be also!"

- C. All three of these basic movements of the soul are involved in the tasks of the Church of Jesus Christ, to which we all are called as Christians.

The (1) giving out, and the (2) dependency on God in fervent prayer, and the (3) receiving of energy and inspiration all are involved in the 1. WORSHIP, and in the 2. EDUCATION, and in the 3. EVANGELISM; in the 4. FELLOWSHIP and in the 5. SERVICE MINISTRY of the church at every level of its existence.

We GIVE, and we PRAY, and we LEARN TO DEPEND ON THE SPIRIT MORE AND MORE in whatever facet of the church's work we are gifted and called upon to labor.

II. THE PERFECT COMPREHENSION OF GOD THE FATHER

"Your heavenly Father, who seeth in secret ..." repeated three times (4,6,18); and (verse 8): "Your Father knows what you need before you ask Him." and (verse 32): "... your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things."

- A. God KNOWS
- B. God CARES
- C. God RESPONDS (more on this truth in IV.)

III. CHRIST'S PATIENT EDUCATION

- A. Learning how to implement His expectations. Jesus knew that even spiritual things must be taught and learned. So this was a lesson which (no doubt) He repeated over and over again— and taught by His example:

"When you GIVE— do it like this. When you FAST— make it effective!" And His BIG lesson, at least here, is about PRAYER: "When you PRAY- here is how!:"

- B. The "Pattern for Prayer"

Worship - Surrender - Trust - Specifics - Praise !

- C. Perseverance in this great School!

IV. THE SATISFACTION

A. Labor in the kingdom of God does not go unseen nor unrewarded! It pays to serve Jesus!

Labor for Jesus is NOT 'slave-labor!' God responds to the sincere cry of the heart!

Hebrews 11:6 "God is a Rewarder of them that diligently seek Him."

B. But HOW does it pay?

1. It pays in FELLOWSHIP WITH JESUS. (Go! ... and Lo, I AM with YOU always!)

2. It pays in ACCOMPLISHMENT and ADEQUACY (Galatians 6:7:"Be not weary in well-doing, for in due season ye shall reap if ye faint not!")

[But these are NOT the heart of the emphasis here. Jesus says: "The Father will reward you OPENLY!!"]

3. It pays to serve Jesus in a way that will be rewarded OPENLY! It will be MANIFEST!

Conclusion

Every time we pray the Lord's Prayer we are asking Jesus to return in His glory and set up His kingdom when every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that He is Lord to the glory of God the Father.

But there is this sobering thought about the coming again of Jesus. It is then that we shall come face to face with His expectations for us! It is then that we shall give an account of our stewardship. Our GIVING and why we gave! Our praying and even our 'spiritual reaching'— our holy things— our 'fasting' and our seeking to find the holy way.

#48 (EH) Go Forth and Tell! O Church of God, Awake!

The Dynamic of Fullness

Ephesians 5:18 Be (being) filled with the Spirit ...

[The summary of Ephesian practical admonition:] It is not just a parting thought . . . a wonderful "luxury" option. It is absolutely vital! Why? (And I'm NOT taking these in order of their appearing in Ephesians, but perhaps in their order of importance to me ..?)

I. THE PROMISE OF GOD'S FULLNESS

WHAT IT IS SUPPOSED TO DO FOR US

- A. GOD'S FULLNESS WILL MAKE/KEEP CHRIST AT HOME IN YOU, AND YOU IN CHRIST !

Ephesians 3:14-21 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, 15 Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, 16 That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man; 17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, BEING ROOTED AND GROUNDED IN LOVE, 18 May be able to comprehend with all saints what [is] the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; 19 And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God. 20 Now unto him that is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us, 21 Unto him [be] glory in the church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen.

At HOME! What a wonderful word "home!" Psalm 90: 1 begins: "Lord, THOU hast been our dwelling place in all generations." Now Psalm 90 is a psalm of Moses! Did you ever think what sort of "home" Moses had?

I love to travel and see new things. But I love to be "at home." I have a strong need for "home!" A strong sense of PLACE. But more and more the Christian realizes that "home" is NOT a place— it is a PERSON! ABIDE IN ME! Make JESUS AT HOME IN US!

Unless and until we are 'at home' with Jesus here and now we will not be likely to KNOW HIM when He returns, or to BE AT HOME WITH HIM throughout eternity. But we have the privilege of . .

Making HIM at home in OUR heart learning the privileges of development, intimacy, responsibility, growing reality ..the PERMANENCE of Christ RESIDENT!

We need "eternal security!" We find that security in LIVING WITH JESUS, AT HOME IN HIM! That is what this passage is about.

But there is another great reason:

B. GOD'S FULLNESS WILL SUSTAIN YOU IN UNCERTAIN TIMES

(So that you can KNOW!)

Ephesians 1:15 Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints, 16 Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers; 17 That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation in the knowledge of him: 18 The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, 19 And what [is] the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, "

CHRISTIANS DON'T HAVE ALL THE ANSWERS . . . there is mystery involved at every level, in every discipline. But Christians can know hope and riches of glory and power! And it is possible to be so "sold out" to God that the heuristic quality of faith will drive you closer, and not farther away from a personal relationship with Him. As we grow in maturity, and as we grow older and (hopefully) wiser, we realize that we know less and less of the great truths of life.

We can either take an obscurantist position, and say: "The earth is flat!", or, we can go with the "obvious" or the current fad belief, and say "The old is out-dated, only the new is true!", OR, WE CAN SAY: "WE MAY NOT KNOW ALL THE ANSWERS— BUT WE BELONG TO THE ONE WHO DOES!"

This is one great reason why we need to be filled with the Spirit. It doesn't give us automatic "answers"; it does make us aware of the certainty of HOPE, the RICHES OF GOD'S GLORY, and the POWER THAT TRANSFORMS LIVES!

But there is at least one other reason:

C. GOD'S FULLNESS WILL MULTIPLY YOUR EFFECTIVENESS IN SERVING JESUS CHRIST

Ephesians 5:15 See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, 16 Redeeming the time, because the days are evil. 17 Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord [is]. 18 And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit; 19 Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord; 20 Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ; 21 Submitting yourselves one to another in the fear of God.

Whatever we have . . . Even if we seek to use it 100% for God . . . Is only 100% of what we have. But when we bring it to Jesus and let him use it . . . then He can work His will and do as He pleases! HE can feed 5,000 . . . it is HIS business!

II. THE PATHWAY TO FULLNESS

HOW MAY WE BE FILLED THE HOLY SPIRIT, AND THUS BE THE KIND OF POWER IN THIS WORLD THAT GOD WANTS US TO BE?

The Dynamic of Fullness

- A. We ARE full now . . . there are no spiritual vacuums. So God can only fill what is available to Him!
- B. But whatever we may be full of, besides or apart from God, we cannot be filled with GOD unless and until we are empty of self: and there is a cross, a dying, a renunciation of the right to self that can properly be called a "death to self." What can we say about the "death" of entire consecration?

(Holiness people may have said some extravagant things here. But still there is a truth we dare not dodge!) In viewing the paradox, the mystery of Christian faith we are guilty of seeing the side we want to see. We say "Self is not dead!" And that is true. But still— self must die! We must renounce the sovereignty of self forever!

- C. [Which brings us to :] The CRISIS of entire sanctification: When we know that we have surrendered for time and eternity— and God accepts our sacrifice and comes in with His fullness, this completes the CRISIS of RECEIVING SALVATION . . . but it is not all there is to the sanctified life! HOLINESS IS AN EXPERIENCE!
- D. [For there is a LIFE TO BE LIVED!] And the on-going life in the Spirit must be lived in the same kind of faith/dependency that brought the crisis of cleansing!

The LIFE OF LIVING IN THE ADEQUACY OF THE SPIRIT! The process of the Spirit-filled life: carrying forward, learning the discipline: this is where the victory lies!

Conclusion: (The need for heroes:)

The world is waiting for people who will be filled . . . and go on being filled . . . and let God simply LIVE IN AND THROUGH THEM!

[One of the great Christians of modern day times was Methodist missionary to India, Dr. E. Stanley Jones.

As a lad in his teens (17) he was converted under the rugged ministry of Evangelist Robert J. Bateman (who went down on the Titanic.)

Stanley went on to seek and claim the experience of entire sanctification. He began to read Hanna Smith's book The Christ's Secret of a Happy Life, and on page 42 the Holy Spirit said: "Now!" Stanley obeyed, and was assured of the fullness.

He testifies that it saved him from the extremes of emotionalism and of rationalism. Stanley was "all out" for God— with no holds barred.

He professed to being called to preach— but forgot his outline in his first sermon and left the pulpit, dumbfounded. But before he got to his seat, he felt he should give his testimony; and a young man came forward and was converted [— and later entered the ministry.]

But Stanley wanted to be "being filled" with the Spirit! He told of how as a student at Asbury, in a dorm-room prayer meeting, the Holy Spirit moved in in a way that Stanley had never known before— and never knew quite the same way again.

He was "spirit (Spirit) intoxicated!" for three or four days. After a day or so the emotion almost totally wore off; but there was a sense of God's Presence that swept the entire community.

Every student in that Christian college professed to a right relationship with the Lord, along with scores of people from the community.

And for Stanley, that filling became the touchstone for a life of living in the fullness— depending on the fullness— again and again breaking into the fullness of the Presence of the Lord.

He declares he did not live on "mountaintops" or speak in tongues— did not know extremes of emotions. He simply lived in the fullness of the Presence.

He was elected a Bishop of his church— the highest honor that could be offered— and graciously declined so that he could continue a missionary in the poorest country of the world that he knew.

He touched thousands of lives.

He spoke here in 1949— and I still remember his text!

The Dynamic of Fullness

He was controversial. He was wrong many times. He said himself that there were times when he went on his own judgment and failed.

Stanley Jones learned to live in the dynamic of being filled with the Spirit. He knew his crisis of being sanctified. He had his mountaintop experience(s) of full assurance. And then he simply lived in the expectancy and the dependency and the obedience of the Spirit-filled, Spirit-dominated, Spirit-saturated life! When you looked at E. Stanley Jones you saw an ordinary man. When Stanley Jones spoke and acted, somehow Jesus was exalted!

THE WAY GOD INTENDS THAT WE LIVE IS IN THE EXPERIENCE OF THE FULLNESS.

THE WAY WE KNOW, AND CONTINUE TO EXPERIENCE GOD'S FULLNESS IS THE LIFE OF CRISIS, AND CRISES . . . PLUS WE NEVER GROW BEYOND THE LIFE OF DAY BY DAY OBEDIENCE.

Do you know the fullness of the Holy Spirit just now? Have you made a complete surrender of your will to God? Are you continuing to walk in dependency on Him?

Matthew 6:33 "Seek ye first the kingdom of God ... "

(Service of Holy Communion)

Intro:

One of the difficult things for Protestants is grasping the great importance of the sacraments of the church. Of all the means of grace, the sacraments of baptism and communion are possibly understood the least. [Our fierce American/Protestant independence makes us want to reject anything that looks like "formalism" or sanctimonious hocus-pocus. But in a blanket rejection of the "mysterious side" of our faith we throw away literally hundreds of years to which we are heirs as much as any Christians anywhere!]

Our text this morning as we prepare to share together in the sacrament of Holy Communion is of the most powerful promises in Jesus' teachings. It is the text from the Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 6:33 "Seek ye first the kingdom of God..." There is a strong correlation with this text and coming with God's people to share the sacraments Jesus has commanded for the church.

Look at the text:

I. SEEK FIRST THE KINGDOM OF GOD

- A. A challenge to take God's word against all other voices, including the word of our pagan world.

The text comes to grips with the basic conflict that we see as: Christian faith and "flesh."

[It answers the question, 'When push comes to shove, and you must decide "Shall I compromise on my moral principles just a little bit and eat, even if I know what I am doing is immoral? or, Shall I obey what I know Jesus wants me to do even when it will cost me cold hard cash?" WHO WILL I PUT FIRST? ME ... OR HIM?]

1. One view: flesh is "evil" and must be mortified. Nothing that is enjoyable can be holy. Black clothes; etc.
2. Another view: flesh 'does not connect' with faith; so what we do does not matter so long as we have "standing" with God (antinomianism)
3. The clear scriptural word is: Somehow the flesh must become the vehicle of expression of the spirit.

We hear quoted: "...they that are 'in the flesh' cannot please God" But also we read, "I beseech you ... present your bodies a living sacrifice" and that is "flesh!"

...and Paul writes of Christians: (Rom 8:) "Ye are not in the flesh but in the Spirit if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you!"

- B. MAKING THE FLESH SERVE THE SPIRIT: this is the whole of practical Christianity. It isn't that we don't need material things.

1. God knows what we need! We do need clothes, food, etc. So it becomes a matter of trust! Not presumption. Not foolish laziness: "I'll pray all the time and God will supply the rent money and I won't have to work!" but rather: "in the choices of life I will deliberately seek to do what God will have me do, regardless of what the cost may be!"

2. If we will seek God's grace, He will provide for us BOTH to live IN Him and FOR Him, AND to make our way in this physical world.

[Transition to "Sacrament" and connection with text:]

But that is where 'means of grace' come in, and particularly the sacraments:

II. THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SACRAMENTS AS MEANS OF GRACE

As I speak about the importance of sacraments as 'means of grace' let me raise some very simple questions:

- A. What is grace? Grace is unmerited favor of God; grace is that which bestows God's great LOVE on us; grace is God's attitude of forgiveness toward the sinner; grace is a quickening and strengthening of life within the soul.
- B. And means of grace are just that: the ways and means, the vehicles or channels by which God bestows His LOVE on our hearts. And what are the 'means of grace?' My list may not be complete, but I submit seven:
 1. Word of God; and with this I include the faithful the preaching of the Word, as well as reading in order to obey God's will.
 2. Prayer is probably the primary means of grace; and prayer combines with power with the use of the Word.
 3. The Fellowship of God's people is a significant and powerful means of grace. God never intends for us to make our way to heaven independent of other individuals, or of other families, or even other groups of believers. God intends that we bear one another's burdens.
 4. Corporate worship, in the large groups or celebrations, in the smaller groups united around a lesson or a ministry (congregations,) as well as in the accountability groups of prayer and sharing (cells,) is a means of grace.
 5. Personal worship may be the same as #2, prayer; but it involves the carrying forward of life in the spirit of 'the living sacrifice.'
 6. Wiley lists the Sabbath as a means of grace! It was introduced at the time of man's creation, and belongs to mankind generally and perpetually. Personally, I am convinced that there is great spiritual power waiting to be released in the lives of the people who can tap the resources of the Lord's Day by observing it joyfully, not in bondage, but in rest and worship and refreshing.

7. But the last 'means of grace' I would mention are the sacraments of the church that were instituted by Jesus.

C. What are 'sacraments?'

We use the term 'sacrament' to signify an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given to us, ordained by Christ Himself as a means of receiving that grace, and as a pledge or assurance of Christ's promise. From the earliest times, the sacraments have been understood by the church to be religious rites that carry the most solemn obligation of loyalty to Jesus Christ and His Church.

1. The RC church teaches seven (7) sacraments: baptism, the Lord's supper (or "mass"), confirmation, ordination, extreme unction (or 'last rites'), penance (or 'confession'), and marriage.
2. All Protestant churches recognize but two: baptism and the Lord's Supper.

Sacraments are pledges of loyalty to Jesus Christ; they are testimonies that mark Christians as separate, different from those who do not believe.

- D. It is vitally important that we reach out for God's grace in every way we can. [Perhaps we do not take seriously the parables of Jesus when He warned us that it is mortally dangerous to have talents and not use them!] We are responsible not only for what we are, but for what we might be by God's free gifts of grace!

Along this line John Wesley once said: (in 1736) "I think the rock on which I had the nearest made shipwreck of the faith was the writings of the Mystics; under which term I comprehend all, and only those, who slight any of the means of grace." GFH, p541

In other words, Wesley said that even people who seem to be so very, very spiritual nearly led him astray when they picked out which means of grace they would adopt, and which they would avoid. Wesley was saying 'I want to be faithful to God through Christ's church!'

- E. And if you wonder what John Wesley thought the 'true church' consisted of, here is a quote from H. Ray Dunning: "There were two major means that Mr. Wesley seemed to identify as constitutive of the church: the pure Word of God preached, and the sacraments duly administered. This puts him squarely in the Reformation tradition." GFH p542

III. COMMUNION IS A SYMBOL OF THE FLESH SERVING THE SPIRIT

- A. The salvation Jesus has provided is NOT (simply) a "spiritual salvation!" It is a TOTAL salvation. It will not be complete until we have a glorified BODY.

Jesus died on a very real cross. Jesus literally put His BODY on the altar for our salvation. And thus He became our very LIFE!

- B. Jesus expects us to glorify Him IN OUR BODIES! That is, not just "spiritually" but in the expression of His love in day- by-day living!

He wants us to give very real water and food and clothing to real people in His name! He wants us to flesh out His Presence by the way we live!

- C. That is why He wants us to use real bread and wine at His table, in His sacrament! Coming to the table of the Lord in faith is coming to that meeting place of spirit and body: it is acknowledging that Jesus really did DIE for us; it is saying that we will live in Him and by Him.

(Text) May this communion be a means of grace to us all: May we reaffirm the reality of the Christ-faith And may we pledge OUR FLESH TO SERVE HIS SPIRIT!

Intro:

We come to the close of this brief series in which we have defined the Sermon on the Mount as the constitution of the kingdom of God, the Church of Jesus Christ.

We have looked at the Beatitudes as the spirit of the kingdom; we have seen that the heroes of the kingdom are those who live in that spirit, regardless of the cost. We have regarded the holy law of the kingdom, that it is written on the hearts of the king's loving servants; and we have examined the priorities and promises of the kingdom: and we believe that if we seek the kingdom of God first, God Himself knows what we need and will provide it.

Last week we looked at the entrance requirements for the kingdom; and we know that Jesus Himself says, "The gate is small, and the way is narrow that leads to life."

But there is one important truth that the Sermon on the Mount conveys that cannot fully be measured by its words. For these words were spoken by the King of the kingdom Himself!

The impact of these words reflect the powerful Personality of the One who humbly sat down on a hillside and taught His disciples. Here was the lowly Nazarene, the carpenter's son, the servant. But somehow the light of divinity shone through that day in the authority, and the regal bearing of the Son of God as He spoke of His kingdom come to earth.

And so the people were amazed not only at what Jesus had said, but what they could sense of His power and authority— they were deeply moved by the KING of the kingdom!

I. JESUS IS THE KING OF THE KINGDOM!

THESE WORDS (THE SERMON ON THE MOUNT) ARE VALID ONLY IN THE VALIDITY OF THE ONE WHO SPOKE THEM.

- A. He proved it by His AUTHORITY: "Ye have heard it said, but I say unto you...!"

Christ's kingdom, the POWER to make it work, and the GLORY which sets it apart from all other pretenders to universal authority, springs from the authority and command of Christ's own Person. "All power is given unto Me in heaven and on earth!"

- B. He proves it by His CHARACTER: The Beatitudes are a profile of the character of the King of the righteous kingdom.

Every kingdom must have a sovereign. And in an absolute monarchy, the character of the realm takes on the character of the ruler.

Jesus Christ embodies the spirit and truth of the Sermon on the Mount. If we want to see what heaven will be like; if we have the faith to see 'the kingdoms of this world become the kingdoms of our Lord' here on earth, and wonder what that will be like: here is the key, the clue: IT WILL BE LIKE JESUS!

II. JESUS WAS KING AS HE WALKED THE EARTH IN THE DAYS OF HIS HUMILIATION

Even then His glory shone through, and could not be denied:

I (we) cannot fully imagine what the humanity-deity of Jesus involved in His own consciousness, or how He appeared to His disciples. But from the very beginning of the incarnation, this glory shone through on significant occasions.

- at Bethlehem, in a stable, the glory of the Lord shone round about; kings bowed low, and offered up gifts.
- here on the Mount the multitudes were dumbfounded
- as Jesus walked on the water
- in the miraculous draught of fishes [Peter: "Depart from me!"]
- the mysterious transfiguration on Mt Tabor

III. JESUS IS KING JUST NOW

...IN THE AGE OF THE CHURCH MILITANT

- A. This glory, coming from the REGAL AUTHORITY OF JESUS CHRIST, fell on the Church at Pentecost:
 - tongues of fire (the symbol— each saw on the other's heads!)
- B. JESUS was the central theme of GLORY that inaugural day of the Church; He was the theme of Peter's sermon when 3,000 believed and identified with the Church
- C. This same GLORY is available to the Church, if we are in contact with the living King, for we are in the Pentecost Age. The Spirit is available to those who want Him more than anything else.

God is not capricious. Jesus said: "All authority is given to Me: Tarry YE in the city of Jerusalem until ye be endued with POWER from on high!"

IV. JESUS IS THE ETERNAL KING!

WE HAVE JUST A GLIMPSE INTO THE REGAL GLORY THAT SHALL YET BE REVEALED:

The Bible gives us a glimpse into the glory of Jesus Christ yet to be revealed.

1. We may speak lightly or casually about the Second Coming, but if we were suddenly to be ushered into the Presence of the Risen Savior we would experience something very close to excruciating pain along with the joy; for we would see an almost unbearable glory! - and certainly it would be unspeakable! it would be something beyond our casual or 'take-it-for-granted' egalitarian attitudes.

Worship the King of the Righteous Kingdom

2. In Revelation 1:8-17 we get just a hint at what we are in for when we see Jesus.

Here is John, the beloved, the one who knew Jesus best, humanly speaking. "The disciple Jesus loved!" When he glimpses the risen, glorified King he wrote: "I fell at His feet as a dead man!"

CONCLUSION:

What may we do about this Savior who spoke with authority?

1. We may worship Him!

How seriously do we take our public worship? Do we think first NOT as to what it does for US, but how together we honor the KING?

We cannot truly have the kingdom, and leave out the KING from the absolute center of our lives.

This is my quarrel with "Marches for Peace" and "Walks for Hunger"— and all the other GOOD things that are scheduled in conflict with the traditional times of worship, almost as if by design the WORSHIP is superseded by "something more important for the moment," —as if our week-by-week worship is not the most important corporate act that we, the church, can offer to the King!

2. We may swear to Him our allegiance forever! Psalm 2 says: "Kiss the Son!"

Jesus came by the lakeside where Peter and Andrew were washing their nets and said: "Follow Me!" It cost them their reputations, their routine, their comfort— and their very lives. But they saw in Jesus the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords, and they followed Him, and they see Him in His glory!

Has Jesus come by the place where YOU labor? Will YOU follow Him, and own Him as YOUR King forever? He will be absolute Ruler of all this Universe! You can depend on it! Can He be Ruler of YOUR life this day?

New Way to Walk

October 9, 1988 PM

Ephesians 4:17-5:2

INTRODUCTION

Look again with me at one of the Golden Chapters. There is no short cut to spiritual power, but also there is no limit to how high and deep and strong we can grow in God's love! (As Paul exulted in Ephesians 3:20- He is able to do exceeding abundantly beyond all that we ask or think!)

I. We Can LISTEN TO THE HOLY SPIRIT (verse 17-19)

("... to comprehend with all saints [the dimensions of] God's love!")

There is a contrast on every point in the two "walks:"

A. The Gentiles are insensitive to God's leading because:

1. A WRONG POINT OF VIEW (v 17)

"the futility" [vanity] of their mind is a self-centered, UN-faith point of view. They are incapable of really trusting Romans 8:28!

2. A LIMITATION OF UNDERSTANDING (v 18)

"their understanding is darkened" (II Timothy 3:7 "Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.") In spiritual ignorance about what LIFE is all about because "the fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom!"

3. A DAMAGED CAPACITY TO GIVE/RECEIVE LOVE (v 18)

"hardness (or blindness) of heart" ... An inability to really LOVE because the world usually mistakes "love" for a good feeling (instead of giving, and living for the one who is loved); until there must be an ever-increasing thrill (v19) "become callous, given over to every kind of impurity with greediness")

B. But (in contrast Paul says) YOU have not so learned Christ!

1. Instead of vanity (or a selfish POINT OF VIEW) we are (2:6) "SEATED WITH CHRIST IN THE HEAVENLIES!"

Now of course this doesn't mean we are literally carried up to heaven, from whence we look down on all the troubles of the world.

2. Instead of spiritual ignorance we have received (1:17-19) THE TEACHER HIMSELF! The Holy Spirit will guide us into truth!
3. Instead of LUST and SELFISHNESS we receive (3:19) THE LOVE OF CHRIST! The capacity for real love!

II. We Can LIVE DAILY IN THE HOLY SPIRIT (verse 22-29)

(...and let "faith" filter down into everyday life!)

The contrast carries forward:

A. The walk of the "Gentiles" is represented by the "old self" (v 22) "which is being corrupted with the lusts of deceit"

B. But Christians have a renewing available (v 23:)

1. (25) Honest in our dealings with fellow-Christians: MORE than merely not lying; this means praying for one another; it means leaving sham and pretending. It means the risk of friendship.
2. (26) Can this mean HEALING HURT FEELINGS?? We must let the Holy Spirit cleanse us daily from the hurts and cuts and bruises of the spirit before they fester into sores and cancer!
3. (28) OPEN OUR EYES TO THE DOCTRINE OF VOCATION
By "vocation" I mean bringing the Holy Spirit into my everyday living! IS MY LIFE-WORK SANCTIFIED?

- a. (v 28) This included doing an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. "Let him labor!"
- b. But this is deeper than just honesty in work; it means that we do whatever we do AS CHRISTIANS! We are to bring glory to God by the way we go about our work!

I've spoken before about the hazard of a TGIF ("Thank God It's Friday") mentality ... when we live only for the time we have to use 'selfishly.' Certainly we enjoy rest and vacation time and renewal. But we need to say TGIM, too! And we need to be alive during working hours—listening for the Spirit's leading. It is less than LIFE when we put any segment of our time merely "on hold."

- c. A Christian who has this doctrine of vocation will be a benediction to her/his family! Regardless of what kind of work he does, there will be respect. [The dignity of a man who knows what he is doing and takes great pride in his work. Multiplied when that person is a Spirit-filled Christian!]

Henri Amiel said: "The religion of a child depends on what mother and father are, and not on what they say. The inner and unconscious ideal which guides their life is precisely what touches the child; their words, their remonstrance, their punishments, their bursts of feeling even, are for him merely thunder and comedy; what they worship, this is it which his instinct divines and reflects." We need to live daily in the Spirit.

III. We Can LOVE BY THE INDWELLING SPIRIT (verse 30 - 5:2)

- A. Love is NOT (primarily) something we FEEL. First of all, it is what we center our lives around— what we really LIVE for!
- B. (v 31) The SPRINGS of love must be KEPT clear. We dare not let any of these things ("bitterness, wrath, anger, clamor, slander ... all malice— ill will) find a home in our thinking; we dare not let them stay awhile until they begin to fester.

The feelings of frustration must never be denied. But neither can we tolerate them! How do we deal with them? We confess them! We bring them to the blood! Simply we need to bring them to Jesus, to the Holy Spirit, to the blood!

CONCLUSION:

Love like this is the most powerful thing in all the Universe!

At the beginning I said: "There is no short cut to spiritual power, but also there is no limit to how high and deep and strong we can grow in God's love!"

If we will deliberately walk in love— which is the same as walking in the Spirit— God is able to (Ephesians 3:20) DO EXCEEDING ABUNDANTLY BEYOND ALL THAT WE ASK OR THINK!

When we walk like this, we walk in fellowship with Jesus by His Spirit. (We PLEASE, not GRIEVE the Holy Spirit!)

When we walk like this, we walk in fellowship with one another (We embody Christ's spirit, the spirit of kindness.)

When we walk like this, we overcome in the evil day (6:13)

When we walk like this, NOTHING CAN KEEP US FROM GOD'S VERY BEST!

The Church and Its Pastor

The Church and Its Pastor

MORNING STAR BAPTIST CHURCH

Annual Pastor's Anniversary Banquet

October 15, 1988

Hebrews 11:6

Ephesians 4:32-5:2

Pastor and Mrs. John Borders, members of your families, Reverend Clergy, Honored Guests, and Brothers and Sisters in the Lord Jesus Christ:

Greetings! It is a privilege and an honor to be invited to speak to you on this seventh anniversary celebration of your relationship as pastor and people.

I am not an 'after dinner speaker,' and your committee and pastor know that already. Now I understand that after dinner speakers are supposed to be entertaining and even funny. Usually the time when I am funny is when I am seriously trying NOT to be!

For I am a college pastor, and everyone knows that college pastors are dignified! So please believe that I am dignified! And yet I must confess that I have gotten my biggest laughs sometimes when I say one thing to several hundred college students, and they hear something quite different! That is embarrassing. I don't know what I said that was funny.

I feel then like the young missionary that one of our 'adopted sons' told us about—he is a Mexican citizen—the missionary was learning the Spanish language, and had come to preach his first sermon 'on his own,' so to speak.

He decided the Lord wanted him to preach about the ninety and nine sheep and the one gone astray. But the word for "sheep" and the word for "bee" are similar sounding in Spanish: "abea" and "ovea"; and you know our young friend got them mixed up.

So the poor Mexicans had to sit there and try not to laugh out loud in the young preacher's face while he told them about the Good Farmer who had ONE HUNDRED BEES; and when he went to count them he saw that there were only ninety and nine BEES in the fold, and one BEE was missing. And so on. And so forth!

I've never had a problem quite like that, to my knowledge. But I did have a problem with BEES once; or I should say, with ONE bee. I'd do well to forget about it ... but ...

So you see I'm dignified but it takes a little effort!

But I haven't really come to talk about ME this evening. And I haven't really come to give an after-dinner speech.

I want to talk to you about what is to me one of the most wonderful relationships in all the world— a relationship that is dear to my own heart: this relationship of a church with its pastor.

I. THE CHURCH AND ITS TASK

- A. A church is not quite like any other organization in the world. A true church, that is. We have a mission before God that calls us to holiness, and calls us to serve the present age our calling to fulfill. This encompasses FIVE TASKS.

I don't have any "notes" about these tasks, and I don't need any. YOU might divide the tasks differently— I have dear friends that word them differently. But I believe that the church must WORSHIP, and EVANGELIZE; the church must EDUCATE, and it must SERVE THE COMMUNITY; and last but not least, it is a holy function of the church to enjoy Christian FELLOWSHIP!

- B. But these five tasks can be laid aside or sidetracked. They can be sacrificed on the altar of "GOOD THINGS" which keep them from fulfilling the CENTRAL PURPOSE AND WILL OF GOD. We can neglect one or more as we over-emphasize others. But usually the temptation is to try to do God's work in the power and wisdom of the world alone. It is wonderful to let the wisdom we have SERVE God. It is too bad when we think we know more than God, or think that God needs "correction" from science!

- C. The church often becomes enamored with other paradigms, other "models" if you will—of human endeavor or achievement.

From the world of the MIND: PSYCHOLOGY AND PERSONAL WORTH AND PERSONALITY 'ADJUSTMENT.'

From the world of ENTERTAINMENT: ARTISTIC CREATION AND ENTERTAINMENT AS AN END IN ITSELF— we can fall into the trap of trying to compete with TV in our services!

From the world of big business: CORPORATE MODELS OF BIG BUSINESS/ BUILDINGS/

[I certainly am not saying any of these is evil of itself; I AM saying they are not stopping places for the church.]

The church is understandably influenced and even to some extent shaped by culture and by other human factors. Every church is in some sense unique. [I know problems in my situation which would seem foreign to you in yours; and I am certain that you have burdens and challenges that I would know nothing about.]

Yet the true church is a living, breathing part of the Body of Jesus Christ. We have much more in common than we have that separates us. And you need, and I need—the whole Body of Christ needs to stay in vital touch with the Lord of the CHURCH! We are called to be IN THE WORLD, BUT NOT OF THE WORLD!

II. CHURCH AND PASTOR WORKING TOGETHER AS ONE

- A. The Lord has His Ways of keeping His church pure. And one of the key elements in this process of keeping us from lesser goals is a gifted pastor who seeks to be like Jesus Christ, supported by a church full of Christians who love him.

No pastor in his right mind would ever claim to be the reincarnation of Jesus, and I would not embarrass either Pastor Borders, or myself or any other clergy here by holding us up as having achieved the full standard of what I am sharing with you. But still, the MODEL is Jesus Himself!

- B. In this "Jesus model" for pastoring are the three great titles of our Lord. Jesus was PROPHET, PRIEST, AND KING.

Bear with me, now— I am not suggesting that we set up the clergy as KINGS with little kingdoms in any way shape or form.

But the prophet is to call for justice, to proclaim the coming of the Lord, to make us uncomfortable until we are willing to line up with the will of God.

And the priest is to mediate between God and Man— and somehow to show us God's LOVE.

The KING is a little different; but a king calls the people to community— and a pastor-servant serves under the King to bring us into a community, a unity, a loving body of believers! AS OUR CHURCHES GROW WE NEED THIS KIND OF COMMUNITY-BUILDING! AND WE ALL SUFFER 'GROWING PAINS' AS WE BREAK THROUGH THE BARRIERS ONE BY ONE AND SEE OUR NEED FOR CHRIST-LIKE ORGANIZATION GROW!

- C. This is where the pastor-congregational relationship comes full into play. [I believe that often a church can make or break the man of God! My own testimony!] The pastor can lead the church into new areas of victory by gifts and graces, AS THE CHURCH MAKES THEIR PASTOR STRONG BY DEMANDING IN PRAYER THAT HE BE PROPHET, AND PRIEST, AND SHEPHERD. [I didn't say "king" there, but we must become a community of faith and love!]

CONCLUSION: A PRACTICAL VISION

HOW MAY WE PRAY FOR EACH OTHER? [How can I do much more than suggest in a brief sermon like this?] I assure you that the answer is prayer!!

1. Pray for a constant renewal of FAITH! We must pray as constant SEEKERS; and pray the prayer of FAITH. (Hebrews 11:6)

PRAY THAT YOUR PASTOR WILL PREACH WITH PROPHETIC AUTHORITY ... and then pray for grace to believe with your feet! ((Psychology is fine-in its place, and it is great to be able to understand ourselves. But before we are "well balanced" and have "great self-images" we need to make sure we are right with God!))

2. We must pray for the SPIRIT OF LOVE; perhaps this is the most important part! (Ephesians 4:32-5:2)

PRAY THAT YOUR PASTOR WILL LEAD YOU IN WORSHIP UNTIL YOU SEE JESUS as you come together! {I'm sure that he does— and that you do! But nothing is more important than worship!} ((Entertainment is great!! I enjoy it as much as YOU do! But our churches are not just places to put on pageants, or hear great "sermons" or great "singers." We have to see Jesus!))

3. And finally, together we must pray for a constant renewal of HOPE! You have a wonderful name! MORNING STAR!

And I see an unlimited glory in your future as you dig into God's great resources!! PRAY THAT GOD WILL HELP YOU SHARE A VISION OF "MUCH FRUIT!!"

My verse for you, for "HOPE" is John 15:8, for it tells me that God Himself wants you to FILL THE FUTURE WITH HIS GLORY!

((The great corporate models of the business world are well and good as servants; no doubt many of you men and women are well-schooled in business techniques and management by objectives, or whatever. [I am NOT!] And I hope and pray that as you continue to grow your organization and your cash flow and all those aspects will keep pace. But God has a vision for Morning Star Baptist Church that exceeds all business models; God has a success for your church that together as pastor and people you can make an eternal difference in Boston, Massachusetts, and in the world-wide Church of Jesus Christ!))

Philippians 1:1-11

I. THE CHURCH IS FAMILY

"GRACE TO YOU AND PEACE FROM GOD OUR FATHER AND THE LORD JESUS CHRIST"
(vv 1-2)

Paul's letter to the Christians at Philippi is full of love and a sense of "family." But the idea of community in faith, of 'family,' is more than coincidental. It is central not only to Paul's letters, but to the entire New Testament.

There are some systems of religion where the worship center or place of public gathering is about as cordial and family-like as the "friendly supermarket." [Maybe there are even Christian churches that SEEM like that!] People are civil, but what they do is no one else's business. This is not the way vital Christians worship.

Paul says that God is our FATHER. [The same emphasis Jesus taught in the Pattern Prayer.] When we come to Jesus for Life, we are adopted into the family, and are related one to another in Him. The people we worship with regularly become dear to us. But more, there is a blood relationship with every other born-again believer!

II. THE FAMILY PRAYS FOR ITSELF

"I THANK MY GOD IN ALL MY REMEMBRANCE OF YOU" (vv 3-5)

We Christians may be 'family,' but even in families love is never 'automatic!' We need to learn this lesson: God intends that we pray for each other! Paul wrote to remind the Philippians: "I am praying for you!" And he asked the Ephesians: "Please pray for me!" (Ephesians 6:19)

And when this 'sense of belonging' and 'family' before God is focused in prayer for others, it enhances the God-given love for our fellow-believers that is already there.

If you want a sense of "belonging," begin to pray for the body! And pray like Paul said he prayed: (I thank God for you every time I think of you!/ not criticism; I recall with joy the way we have shared in the Gospel; I have genuine affection— warm feelings in my insides!)

Prayer enhances love. I question whether or not it is possible to consistently pray for someone and hate him or her at the same time.

III. THE FAMILY PRAYS POINTED PRAYERS

"AND THIS I PRAY ... " (9-11)

HOW do we pray for each other? What IS intercession? Is it enough to mention the name and say, "Bless him!" "Bless her!" What do we mean by "bless?" Perhaps when we pray for a lot of people our mind simply passes over the names, we think of the people with kindness— but there are times that the Spirit draws and leads us to pray for certain specific people, with specific needs.

Paul's specific prayer for the Philippian Christians was for:

1. Increasing LOVE.

We dare not take love for granted at any level. We need to tell our husbands and wives— often. We need to stop and tell our little children, too. And when they aren't quite so cute and so manageable, we need to tell them, too! Especially so!

[I had a dear, Christian father. And yet this past week as Helen and I were talking I recalled an incident when my father was extra harsh with me when I was about sixteen. It really hurt! He never knew— and will never know now. He didn't mean anything bad. But I remember 42 years later!]

But this is true in the family of God, as well. We need to thank God for each other! Sure we have faults. And we know each other's weaknesses.

(Paul prayed also that his church family might have...)

2. ...Discernment to choose the best; and not just settle for what seemed to be good at the time.

The reason for this was that Paul always had in his mind that he would give an account for his life to God. And so in light of judgment, Paul prayed that his friends would have discernment to choose the best!

(Finally, at least 'finally' in this prayer, Paul prayed for his church family's...)

3. ...Fruitfulness! He wanted them to know the pure delight and joy of pleasing God, and bringing forth MUCH fruit!

"Fruit" is mentioned in at least two aspects in the New Testament in reference to believers: One aspect is the fruit of the Spirit, and has to do with the quality of the inner life and spirit, as well as the love with which we fill out our relations with God and fellow humans.

Paul wanted his family to be quality people: with the fruit of the Spirit manifest in their lives.

But the other aspect of "fruit" has to do with the multiplication of the Christ-life through bringing others to know the Lord.

IV. A CALL TO 'FAMILY PRAYER'

(Ephesians 6: 18,19 ... BE ON THE ALERT WITH ALL PERSEVERANCE AND PETITION FOR ALL THE SAINTS, ... AND PRAY ON MY BEHALF ...)

[Actually I move back a chapter to get the actual challenge from Paul in this final word, a call to prayer. (Paul has been writing about the 'whole armor of God,' and he closes by saying " ... pray at all times in the Spirit, and with this in view, be on the alert with all perseverance and petition for all the saints," ... which is clear enough, but then Paul adds, in the same sentence, "and pray on my behalf!" The great apostle needed, and asked for, and even begged for prayer!)]

Maybe we do already pray for each other a great deal! But with a special revival emphasis coming up in just three weeks from next Tuesday, I wonder if for those three weeks you might accept a word of concern from your pastor?

A challenge to care for one another in prayer;

1. A specific time frame: the next three weeks, particularly.
2. In a specific way:
 - a. Perhaps for a person you love very much; and that you believe loves the Lord, but could use some strong prayer support. For a short period of time, take this person as a project. Good health; good work; good praying.

Perhaps your husband, your wife, your room-mate, your brother or sister. Someone you love but don't usually think of as needing extra time in prayer.
 - b. Then also perhaps, for a definite spiritual need. Maybe an old burden ... a fresh look; a time of special intercession.
 - c. For yourself: for an opportunity to talk about Jesus. Not necessarily related directly to the first two prayer concerns. But just an opportunity— and the sensitivity to know when it comes!
3. Some "extra" prayer times. Mark Blachley will be calling the student body of the college to at least some means of extra prayer.

And I have asked that the church make the next three Wednesdays a time for special prayer of open-ness before the Lord with revival in mind.

The church will be open the next three weeks from 12 noon to 1 o'clock Wednesday. No scheduled service; just prayer around the front: altar and front seats.

It may just be the kindest gift that one person can give another— this gift of intercessory prayer! And I believe that God will honor our prayers. I believe He will bless Dr. McCumber and use him in a powerful way to meet our hearts. I believe He will equip us to carry forward Christ's work as we have never done before.

EH #63 Jesus, Thy Boundless Love to Me

The Formation of Faith

November 6, 1988

Titus 3:3-11

Introduction:

The most wonderful and rewarding assignment I can imagine is preaching to the Church. The main calling of the pastor-teacher is to "feed My sheep," as Jesus said to Peter. This is a task that I love. I want to be a growing Christian myself, and I want us to grow together in every aspect of God's grace.

But there may be a danger in a teaching ministry of assuming; assuming that everyone understands the basic, elementary, even introductory truth. It is good from time to time to say some of the things we all assume.

We need to understand that it is possible to grow IN grace, but it is NOT possible to grow INTO grace. (Illuminate?) In other words, we need to say from time to time:

I. "PEOPLE STILL NEED TO BE SAVED!"

(Text, verse 5) "(God) saved us through the washing of rebirth..." And also verses like John 3:3: "(Jesus: 'Unless one is BORN AGAIN he cannot SEE the kingdom of God' and 'Unless one is born of WATER and of the SPIRIT he cannot ENTER into the kingdom of God.' and 'You must be BORN AGAIN!'")

- A. This is CONTRARY TO the "wisdom" of our sophisticated society! You need to understand that you will be considered a fool by many so-called cultured people to talk about being born again, or being saved. It goes against the 'I'M OK/YOU'RE OK' truism of humanism.

For by the simple sense of the word "saved," if some are saved, then others are not saved.

At the very time when third-world countries are discovering God's saving grace through Jesus Christ, modern "Christian" denominations are questioning the need for sending the gospel to other cultures. [Why interfere with their native customs and religions? Their idols or superstitions are equally true with Christian faith ...] "We" question the need for being saved because we have lost the clear understanding of what it means NOT to be saved... to be LOST!

[Zimbabwe report of Richard Menees, in Banket, Zimbabwe; a surging hunger after vital Christian faith.]

B. (BUT) ...it IS the clear language of the Bible.

In the text Paul reminds Titus of what "we were" before we were saved: it is a realistic look at the fact that people NEED TO BE SAVED! He could have made a much longer list, but Paul says three things about the unsaved:

1. To be unsaved is FOOLISHNESS. This kind of foolishness has little to do with intelligence, or grasp of facts and figures. Rather it has to do with understanding values.

This foolishness acts as if there is no God; it is disobedient to the One who loves us, and seeks our best. This foolishness is deceived, and spends energy and time and life and love in pursuit of satisfaction that never quite comes.

2. To be unsaved is LONELINESS. Paul speaks of spending life in malice and in envy. Apart from God's family and God's love, there is comparing our lot with others, and somehow we are always getting the short end of the bargain; we end up filled with hate: "hating one another."

3. To be unsaved is HELPLESSNESS. Paul briefly mentions here "being ENSLAVED TO VARIOUS LUSTS AND PLEASURES." The illusion of freedom apart from God's grace is just that: ILLUSION. The sinner may think he or she can quit and walk away from sin, and its guilt and its enslaving power.

But he or she cannot simply "quit sinning" and be a child of God.

PEOPLE NEED TO BE SAVED BECAUSE THEY ARE CAPTIVES OF SIN

[It may be elementary, but we need to say it: "People still need to be saved!" But we also need to say:]

II. "PEOPLE CANNOT SAVE THEMSELVES!"

- A. This is a bitter pill for us to swallow. PRIDE is such a peculiar thing! It seems as though the one who has the least to be proud about is the one who needs pride the most! And when it comes to admit that we are captives to sin and need a SAVIOR, we ALL seem to have trouble.

We want to say with the Rich Young Ruler: "Good Master Jesus, what can we DO in order to have eternal life?"

- B. We are helpless until God's grace draws near!
1. (Titus 2:11) "The GRACE OF GOD brings salvation!" How basic that is! God's Riches At Christ's Expense!
 2. Clearly nothing we have done/can do (verse 5) can bring us deliverance.
 3. This grace draws near (BECOMES VISIBLE) in the kindness and love of God (verse 4.)

[What basic and elementary things can we say about what being saved IS? Look again at the text:]

III. BEING SAVED MEANS WASHING AND RENEWING AND JUSTIFICATION AND ADOPTION

In short, it means being "set free."

- A. The EXODUS STORY is THE paradigm for salvation.

Here was a great body of people held captive in a land that despised them and made slaves of them.

They were in a captivity that wasn't really their own fault; they had been born into it. [Later on God's people were sent into captivity and bondage as judgment for deliberate sins. But here God's people were not yet formed into a nation; they lay in miserable captivity, waiting to be set free and established as a chosen people, loved by their God.]

In their captivity they had heard about a great God who had made promises to their forefathers. But for all purposes they were dead in captivity until a miracle happened, and they were WASHED in the waters of the Red Sea of deliverance. And then they were RENEWED (or called into being as a people) at the Mountain of the Giving of God's LAWS.

A SACRIFICE OF ATONEMENT was inaugurated that looked forward to a coming PERFECT SACRIFICE. They were justified by sacrifice. And best of all, THEY BECAME GOD'S CHOSEN PEOPLE!

Here is washing and renewing and justification and adoption!

B. The CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST is the New Testament "Israel"

(I Peter 2:9-10) Speaking to the church: "But YOU are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for God's own possession, that you may proclaim the excellencies of Him who called you out of darkness into His marvelous light; for once you were not a people, but now you are the people of God; you had not received mercy, but now YOU HAVE RECEIVED MERCY!"

The church is made up of those who have been WASHED and RENEWED and JUSTIFIED and MADE HEIRS.

[Perhaps the last simple statement I ought to make from time to time is:]

IV. "PEOPLE STILL CAN BE SAVED!"

- A. It is true that we are saved into the community of faith. We become a part of the Body of Christ. But we are saved one by one as we respond to the "kindness of God our Savior" and when "His love for (us) appears!"

Illus: (!)

- B. We are born under prevenient grace, but "with our backs to God." Until we respond to God's love by an act of choosing, by a deliberate act of repentance and faith, we are NOT saved!

But when we DO respond we are WASHED, and we are JUSTIFIED, [{Romans 5:1}] and we are RENEWED (REGENERATED)[{II Corinthians 5:17}] and we are ADOPTED (MADE HEIRS ACCORDING TO THE HOPE OF ETERNAL LIFE.) [{Romans 8:15}] We are SAVED!!! We are brought into face-to-face fellowship with God.

(Conclusion:) I am going to continue to emphasize growing in grace. As God leads, I believe that will continue to be the center of my ministry. But please, let's never get too far away from the foundations of our faith! Don't try to GROW INTO grace! You can be saved, and you can KNOW it! Let us pray:

Lord God, You know if there is anyone here who has never made a clear-cut decision to belong to You, and let You wash them, and let you forgive all their sins, and bring them into your family!

If someone like that is here- help their faith just NOW! AMEN!

The Gift of Sabbath

November 13, 1988

Exodus 20:8-11 - Isaiah 58: 13-14

Introduction:

Just a few days ago, along with Helen, and Jim and Ruth Cameron, I experienced something very beautiful; something which as a Gentile I never expected to have the privilege to do. We were guests in a devout Jewish home on a Friday evening, and were invited into their family circle as they welcomed the Sabbath . . .

To preach on Sabbath observance is to potentially antagonize everyone; for many will think Sabbath observance went out with the Old Testament laws, while others will be certain that anything that is said is not enough.

But it is my abiding conviction that a proper observance of the Sabbath may well be a key to genuine spiritual awakening and revival, as well as being a deciding factor in salvaging family relationships, in establishing the experience of personal salvation. How you keep or desecrate the Lord's Day will have a profound effect on every other area of your life.

I. THE SABBATH IS A UNIVERSAL AND PERPETUAL PRINCIPLE

[It was incorporated into the very Creation of the world ...]

- A. It is first mentioned in Genesis 2:2.3 (where:) "God blessed the seventh day and set it apart ..."
- B. It was included in the Ten Commandments; it is a part of the Moral Code. As such it has two sides: [A "FROM" and a "TO"]
 - 1. It is to be a cessation from labor
 - 2. It is a time for honoring, recognizing God as the Source of Life (LIFE!)

II. THE PRINCIPLE OF SABBATH REST HAS DEGENERATED [ALL TOO OFTEN] INTO CONTROVERSY

[It seems that humankind has always had trouble with this Commandment; the arguments descend from "principle" to "rules" to "squabbling over petty details."]

- A. Which DAY, really, ought we to observe? ['God's SEVENTH was man's FIRST (first full day)', etc., but is this the real issue?]
- B. HOW SHALL WE OBSERVE THE LORD'S DAY?
 - 1. In times past the Jews multiplied rules; they became very legalistic ('sabbath-days journey,' etc.) [Yet they have preserved something of the rest, beauty, family stability]
 - 2. Many Christians have become harsh, legalistic, arbitrary in this matter: we, too have multiplied rules and have served OUR OWN INTERESTS in the process
 - 3. But a reaction to LEGALISM has caused many people to dismiss all idea of the keeping of a Sabbath. And with losing the Sabbath, we HAVE LOST A KEY TO SPIRITUAL HEALTH!

III. NEEDED: A REBIRTH OF OBEDIENCE TO (ALL) TEN COMMANDMENTS

AND, ESPECIALLY, A LOOK AT THE FOURTH COMMANDMENT AS A KEY TO REVIVAL

- A. Principles of Sabbath observance which apply in 1988:
 - 1. A cessation FROM normal labor: permitting time for spiritual things. If we habitually disregard this 6/1 ratio we sin against God, against our bodies, and against our relationships.
 - 2. Taking time FOR "spiritual things:" The Sabbath should make time for:
 - a. quality corporate worship
 - b. study of God's Word, and meditation thereon
 - c. God-blessed fellowship with loved ones (family, Family)
- B. Application of these principles in the light of scripture:
 - 1. This is NOT simply "Old Testament truth." The Sabbath principle is universal and perpetual. Matthew 12:8: "Jesus is Lord of the Sabbath."

2. We must seek to do God's pleasure on God's day (as the earnest of doing God's pleasure on all other six, too.)
3. "Call the Sabbath a delight!" A time when we can get better acquainted with God!

Conclusion:

- A. The Sabbath Day or Lord's Day must be a day that is blessed and set apart. There is no question, this is God's will for humankind.
- B. As we deliberately set out to honor God and keep His spiritual (and physical) laws, we shall find great soul health. We shall be "delighted in the Lord." [I am sure this is as much in God's delight in our intent as it is in the intrinsic benefits of rest and meditation.]
- C. I have a particular vision for this coming week that we call "revival;" [We don't value that word 'revival' as some of our brothers and sisters do. To them it is an awesome moving of God in a community in a way which most of us have never seen. Be that as it may;] my vision comes from Psalm 51:

May God grant us:

1. The creation of a clean heart
2. The renewal of a steadfast spirit
3. The Presence of God in our everyday living
4. The tangible JOY that must characterize genuine Christian living
5. May God sustain the purpose of our spirits to serve Him, for then:
6. We will teach transgressors; and sinners will be converted!

As a church we talk about gearing up to reach our world, our community, global and local. We are trying to get programs and materials and wise actions in place that will serve to reach those who don't yet know Jesus as Savior.

BUT REVIVAL BEGINS WITH GOD'S PEOPLE, WITH GOD'S WORK OF CREATION AND RENEWAL DEEP IN THEIR HEARTS. WHEN OUR LIVES HONOR GOD, HE WILL TRUST US WITH PRECIOUS HARVEST!

D. May I suggest a personal pledge of each of us to God:

I PLEDGE TO KEEP THE LORD'S DAY AS HOLY UNTO HIM. I WILL SEEK GOD'S WILL ON HOW I SHALL HONOR HIM ON HIS DAY. AS THE HOLY SPIRIT GUIDES ME, I WILL KEEP A CHRISTIAN SABBATH BY AVOIDING UNNECESSARY LABOR, AND BY DEVOTING TIME TO REST AND TO FELLOWSHIP WITH GOD, AND WITH HIS PEOPLE. XXX

Addendum: Having nothing directly to do with the morning message:

There may be some people here that are directly concerned with how to be sure that they are saved. I talked with two people this week who loved the Lord but only recently have come to the assurance that they have been forgiven all their sins, and born again of the Spirit, and brought into a personal relationship with God.

If that is where you are this morning I want to see you come into that assurance of salvation. You can be saved right now! And you can find assurance that God has saved you.

Will you pray with me 'The Sinner's Prayer'? [Will everyone help in this by praying along— in remembrance of the time when you came to the Lord, and as a re-affirmation of your trust in God's grace?]:

*'O God, Have mercy on me a sinner,
And save me for Jesus' sake.
O Jesus, I invite you to come into my life,
And I will make you LORD as well as Savior.
Thank You for dying on the cross for me;
Thank You for loving me;
Thank You for saving me. Amen.'*

If you believe God has saved you for Jesus' sake this morning, I want to pray with you and talk with you and give you some encouragement.

EH #78 When He Shall Come

Go in Debt this Christmas

The Word is Anticipation

ADVENT I - November 27, 1988

Romans 13:8-14 "Owe nothing to anyone except to love one another ... salvation is nearer to us than when we believed"

Introduction:

Up in the small bedroom of the parsonage, on the dresser is a pile of beautifully wrapped, odd-shaped packages. When the grandchildren come they always somehow make their way to that room. And the ones that can read look for names. The ones who can't read think that all the packages are probably for them.

Helen has been preparing for family Christmas. Nothing wrong with that. There has been some foresight involved. And not a little expense. I'm thankful for Helen!

[Transition: But what does that have to do with this text at hand? How is this an "Advent Text?" It is an Advent Text, and a beautiful one! The key word is "anticipation!" (and not "debt.") There are several 'Advent Facts' we need to face in this passage:]

I. IT IS NIGHT NOW, BUT DAY IS CERTAINLY COMING (11, 12)

- A. One of the recurring figures describing 'spiritual reality' is this concept of day/night, light/darkness. Do we need to be reminded that until Jesus comes, we are people of LIGHT, but we are living in a world of darkness: [v 12 "The night is almost gone" (but it is still night!)]
- B. In case you haven't noticed, the world in which we live is sick. The war for men's hearts has never been more keen. DARKNESS!

Where? Everywhere! On every front! No truth stands unchallenged! Drugs are just one example of the pandemic proportions of some of our major social problems.

In Florida (principally in the Miami area) in 1987 calendar year, 2,000 babies were born already addicted to cocaine. That is horrible. But I heard a government drug officer say that if the current figures for 1988 hold through the end of the year, that figure will be 10,000 babies born in south Florida already addicted to cocaine. (From seminar held at Georgetown University on the drug problem, November 1988.)

C. The text states: There will be a dawning!

II. CHRISTIANS ARE TO BE PEOPLE OF LIGHT, ANTICIPATING THE DAWN (11, 12)

- A. A. It IS an act of faith to believe this; it is something like Simeon and Anna.
- B. B. Anticipating the dawn means living by faith. It is believing that we can make a difference. God's people do not need to live in darkness! They can have God's light now! But what does this mean to you/me?
 - 'Can I save my marriage?
 - 'Can we save our families?
 - 'Can we reach into the darkness?

Faith says: We can! WITH LOVE WE CAN!

[But if we think of love as a 'warm fuzzy'- it may do some good- but that isn't what the world needs. And it isn't what our families need, either. How may we truly be 'people of light?']

III. HOW TO BE AGENTS OF THE DAWNING: "IN DEBT, IN TIME, IN CHRIST!"

(8 "owe nothing except love"; 11 "it is already the hour"; 12,14 "put on the armor of light; put on the Lord Jesus Christ.")

- A. IN DEBT "Owe no one anything ... except to love!"
 - 1. Acknowledging a debt of love. Paul began this letter to the Romans with a theme of obligation: (1:14) am debtor to the Greeks and the barbarians, both to the wise and to the foolish; thus, as much as in me is, I am eager to preach the gospel to you also who are in Rome!"

Our church (Nazarene) was begun with a vision of debt: ("I am debtor to every man, to give the gospel in the same measure as I have received it." -Bresee)

We are in debt for God's great grace, a debt we can never really repay. But we need to start paying; paying on the installment plan; and doing it in the "now."

2. To help us catch this idea of 'debt', here is a quote from Bertha Munro, originally published in the Herald of Holiness, with the title "I.O.U.":
 - "I owe you respect for your personality. You too are that climax of God's creation, made in His likeness. I owe you a right to your opinion. You may differ with me without fear that I shall raise a barrier between us if we do not see eye to eye. We can disagree and still be friends.
 - "I owe you belief in your integrity. Since I do, I shall put the best possible construction on your actions. I shall trust your words and deeds, even those I am unable to understand.
 - "I owe you honest treatment; I shall not steal people's good opinion of you. I shall voice the sort of comment on you and your actions that I should wish made on me.
 - "I owe you a "taking off place." Though I value your friendship, I shall not enslave your spirit nor bind you so closely to me that you will lose the wealth of other friendships, or even fail to develop your own best potentialities.
 - "I owe you thoughtful consideration. I will not steal your time when you are evidently busy, just because I have free time to "kill."

- "I owe you honest wages if I chance to be employer, honest work if I chance to be employed, honest measure and just weight in any case.
- "I owe you special help in time of special need: my hand, my ear, my voice. I owe you patience with what seems to me your stupidity or slowness. I owe you the identification of Golden Rule imagination. I owe you "love unfeigned."
- "I owe it to you not to push you down in order to lift myself. Rather, I owe it to you to see you forge ahead of me without any reaction of envy or jealousy- even to give you a push.
- "I owe you a good example, a Christian testimony. I owe you the gospel of Christ to the limit I possess it. I owe it to you to prove its power to the full, that God may challenge and encourage you by the sight of what He has done for someone else.
- "All this I owe you, and much more. I owe it to you not to fall behind with my payments. I shall always owe the abounding love that will meet those unforeseen and unexpected demands of the emergency and will save me from "Thou shalt" and "I must."

"Owe no man any thing, but to love."

B. IN TIME (11) "It is already the hour for you to awaken!"

1. It is the nature of Christians to think in terms of a great sacrifice; an heroic gift of self— off somewhere in the safety of tomorrow.

But as wonderful as that will be, we need to begin now, with the small, kind giving of ourselves in little packages of Christ-likeness. We cannot despise the importance of a smile when we don't feel like smiling. Of a deliberate word of encouragement. Of a helping hand when it isn't to be expected.

2. The key is DON'T WAIT BEGIN TODAY! It is human to put off important things to a deadline. But to delay here can be fatal. Just about every Christian has a horror story, if they only knew it! [of someone who they felt they should tell about Christ's love— who died before they obeyed their inner urging] But the biggest horror stories are those of unspoken love among family members and friends.

C. IN CHRIST " ... put on the armor of light; put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh in regard to its lusts."

1. "In Christ" means that Jesus Himself is interested in the things that matter. He will be involved in helping us pay our debt of love!
2. "In Christ" means a surrender to His will; a conscious seeking after Christ-likeness.

[How can we be realistic about this? Just what does "In debt, in time, in Christ" come out to practically?:]

3. WE MUST GO IN DEBT FOR OUR MOST PRECIOUS RELATIONSHIPS.

- a. If we want to save a marriage we must be willing to go in debt for it! (Not in money— but in SELF-GIVING!)
- b. If we want to "bring up a child in the way he/she should go" it doesn't come easily or cheaply!:
- c. The best gift any father can give his children; any mother can give her children— is a consistent, supportive, sincere love of their mother-/father. Our relationships will survive ONLY as we acknowledge this debt, and begin paying on it!

4. WE MUST PAY A DEBT OF LOVE TO OUR COMMUNITY.

- a. This is much, much more than "program" and "check-lists." (These can/will be useful at some point.) But do we even like people? Can we come to see them as Jesus sees them? Do we want them to be part of our lives?
- b. It seems something of a contradiction when we earnestly seek out better and more efficient ways to welcome new people into our church and fellowship, when at the same time there are people already in our fellowship, already converted, that in their own minds are invisible; they feel shut out, isolated, not really a part.

I am not laying blame or finding fault— simply stating the way some people perceive our church (from within!)

- c. Part of the "debt of love" is to ask God for a heart to like people; for a willingness to reach out to others who may not have the same interests we have.

- D. WHAT GOOD CAN IT DO? Perhaps results aren't our direct responsibility. A debt is a debt.

But all the same it will make a difference! THE ONLY HOPE FOR OUR SICK SOCIETY IS A DRAMATIC CHANGE OF CHARACTER! And this change must start somewhere! Let it begin with anticipation of the dawning! Let it begin within YOUR HEART!! "Owe no man anything except love ..."

Conclusion:

People will be spending money, time, great effort to be "ready" for family Christmas. Within limits, that is good.

But in case you have forgotten, IT ISN'T SANTA THAT CHRISTMAS IS ALL ABOUT! And I'm afraid that not too many people will be concerned about getting ready for the dawning of the great Day!

THE ONE WE ARE WATCHING FOR IS THE KING OF KINGS! The morning we await is an eternal day! And (v 12) "The night is almost gone, and the day is at hand.") Our dream-world is passing away.

Are YOU going into debt to be ready ? [Text: Owe nothing to anyone except to love one another; for he who loves ... has fulfilled the law.]

Prayer: O Lord, Help us to awaken and put on the armor of light! Live through us and help us to truly be children of the dawning light. Amen.

Advent Means Hope

December 4, 1988 ADVENT II

Romans 15:4-13 "For whatever was written in earlier times was written for our instruction, that through perseverance and the encouragement of the Scriptures we might have hope. . . ."

Introduction:

ADVENT IS ALL ABOUT "HOPE." Hope is faith's eye peering into the unknown future. Faith is confidence that what God has promised He will carry through. Hope is living in the reality of that faith. Hope is what makes life worth the living. The absence of hope is the essence of hell.

I. OUR GOD IS A GOD OF HOPE

(Verse 13 "Now may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that you may abound in hope by the power of the Holy Spirit.")

ADVENT SPEAKS TO US HERE, NOW, TODAY. It was not just those who lived in the darkness before Jesus came who needed to "look forward into salvation." We, too, very much live or die by "hope."

We say that we "are saved," and in a measure we know a present walk with God through Jesus Christ. We know that we have "been saved" through the sacrifice that Jesus made for us on Calvary, and our faith is rooted in the past. But we are not yet saved as one day we shall be.

Paul writes (in Romans 8:20-25): "The anxious longing of creation waits eagerly for the revealing of the sons of God. ... For we know that the whole creation groans and suffers the pains of childbirth until now. And not only this, but we ourselves, having the first fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting eagerly for our adoption as sons, the redemption of our body. For IN HOPE we have been saved, but hope that is seen is not hope; for why does one hope for what he sees? But if we hope for what we do not see, with perseverance we wait eagerly for it."

And John also write about hope. He says (in I John 3:2): "Beloved now are we the children of God, and it has not appeared as yet what we shall be. We know that, when He appears we shall be like Him, because we shall see Him just as He is."

We very much live, or we die, by our HOPE. But how may we be filled with hope? The answer is here:

II. THE WORD OF GOD IS THE SOURCE OF OUR HOPE

There is no abiding source of hope apart from God's own self-revelation.

- A. That self-revelation is complete in the Son of God, Jesus Christ. He is the Word of God. (John 1:1-5; Hebrews 1:1,2) The INCARNATION - God with us, God revealing Himself to us, God identifying with us- this is the heart of Christmas truth.
- B. The Written Word of God as we have it today is an incarnational miracle that reflects God's love in the Living Word, Jesus Christ; and results in the miracle of The Indwelling Word, where God Himself resides in and with His Church, and in the individual believers' hearts, Jesus carrying on His life and ministry through His Body on Earth.
- C. The VALIDITY of the Bible is NOT the question. There is a time and place to bring together arguments for the validity of the Bible. But this is not the time or place, so far as I am concerned. We spend a great deal of time and energy going over old arguments to prove the validity of the Bible, when what we need to do is to begin to obey what we clearly can know and understand of the Bible.

[Billy Graham tells of "the" turning point in his long and beautiful and fruitful ministry in the Word. In effect he said: 'I am not going over these things I cannot understand over and over. I believe this is God's Word, by faith. I will make it the authority of my life and ministry.' "The Bible says..." has become Billy Graham's hallmark. And God has honored his ministry perhaps more than any other living man.]

D. The AUTHORITY of the Bible for YOU/ME IS the question! It is the one authority that can make us abound in hope, and joy and peace in believing!

1. To make the Bible our authority involves perseverance. It is NOT 'an instant' thing. (The NIV calls it endurance.) It must be our way of life. Not a passing, six-week emphasis. Not a self-improvement scheme to bring us to 'success.' But somehow we must come to the Word with the passion of the Jew who binds his phylacteries on his forehead and wrist every day, who kisses the word when he enters a room, who meditates day and night in the Word.

[I cannot quote the rabbi verbatim, but an ancient Jewish maxim has it that blasphemy is when two Jews come together and DO NOT talk about Torah! "In His law he meditates day and night! Whatsoever he doeth shall prosper!" (Psalm 1) Perseverence!]

Is that the kind of perseverance you know?

2. To make the Bible our authority involves "(a united effort to) glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ." (v 6)

III. THE WORD OF GOD OPENS TO THE SEEKER AFTER GOD

[The skeptic says "What IS truth?" and does not find it. The hungry heart says "Where is GOD?"]

- A. We have the awesome privilege of an open Bible. We cannot honor and obey what we do not know. And ignorance of the Word of God is not excuseable for us. There is a time and a place to wrestle with the great question: 'What will God do with the millions who have never heard the Gospel?' But that is NOT a valid question for you and for me! There may well be some excuse for people to whom the Bible is a total unknown.

But there is no excuse for our ignorance of the Written Word. Our ignorance is tremendously expensive, for it costs the kingdom of God many lost man-hours and man-years of labor. And our ignorance is potentially damning to us, if God holds us responsible for what we might have known.

B. B. We must study the Bible to know and be known of God.

1. Steve McCormick repeatedly asked the question in a chapel talk this week:
"When Jesus comes again, will I know Him?" And the question is also there:
"Will Jesus profess to know me?" The saddest words some men and women will ever hear will be from Jesus: "Depart from me, you workers of evil, I never knew you!"
2. Knowing 'the facts' is not enough. Intellectual curiosity is not enough. Even knowing the truth is inconsequential unless there is a willingness to submit to the authority of that truth. When the Magi came to the palace in Jerusalem, and asked Herod's wise men about where the Messiah would be born, they came up with the absolutely correct answer: the scriptures say- Bethlehem! But that did not convert them, or give them personal hope.

C. Scriptures are the breath of life, or the sentence of death, depending on how we diligently receive them.

Scriptures do not bring eternal life unless and until they testify of God and until we are willing to come to Jesus that we may have life. (John 5:39-40:
"You search the scriptures because you think that in them you have eternal life; and it is these that bear witness of Me; and you are unwilling to come to Me, THAT YOU MAY HAVE LIFE.")

Scriptures do bring us clear testimony to God's good will when we bring submission, simple obedience, loving trust to what we hear God saying to us: (John 7:17) "If any man is willing to do His will, he shall know of the teaching, whether it is of God, or whether I speak from Myself."

D. The living Word of God still has power to transform lives. [Walter Lahner died this past year. I shall never forget the power of the Word, first to transform this man; Then to nurture him, and powerfully develop him into a man of God, and a testimony to a whole countryside.]

CONCLUSION:

The Messiah did not arrive as a surprise to the faithful who had lived by every Word of God; who had trusted in scriptures. And even the Magi, with their limited revelation had a measure of HOPE. They had hearts to worship the true God, and their HOPE was vindicated.

And our HOPE can be steadfast and certain, too. But our HOPE must be founded on the sure Word of God!

Will you make the Bible YOUR handbook for life?

I am not asking now that you promise to "try" the Bible for a few weeks or months. I am not asking you to take a special graduate course. I am suggesting that unless you make God's written Word the standard for your life and living you will be like the chaff which the wind drives away! Only the one who meditates in God's law day and night can send down roots into HOPE!

The Bible is a best seller. It has never been more popular than it is now. But I am afraid that the Bible is also more and more a book that people are satisfied to know second hand.

But for those who open to the Word— the scriptures are written "that through perseverance and the encouragement of the Word we may have HOPE!" Life IS worth the living . . . to those who live by the Word of God.

But I would rather take my chances as one of the head-hunters of Papua New Guinea who has never heard of the Gospel, than to stand before God having had the wonderful privilege of an open Bible all my life, an open Bible which I had treated with disdain and contempt, considering it easy to master, considering it under my judgment, rather than the proper way: standing under its quick and powerful division of my innermost self.

PRAYER: Fill us with HOPE, O God of hope! Fill us with Yourself! Make Your Word to dwell in us richly! Amen.

A Promise of Immanuel

December 7, 1988 [also December 20, 1987]

Philippians 4:1-9 - Isaiah 41:9-10

Introduction:

We have been speaking this Advent about HOPE! And this passage in Philippians is 'an Immanuel passage!' It begins with the anticipation (3:20) "our citizenship is in heaven, from which we eagerly await for a Savior," and it ends with the statement, "THE GOD OF PEACE WILL BE WITH YOU!" Maybe that is why it is often read the Sunday just before Christmas.

[[This passage is also a favorite reading for general devotions. Christians young and old think "they" have discovered it new, all by themselves! It is one of the first "favorite passages" I discovered. My first, hesitating sermon as a teenager after I was given a Local Preacher's License was on the text: "Be careful for nothing!"]]

And at the beginning of this rich chapter is a short paragraph most of us simply hurry through and ignore. After all, what is a personal note, with names that are strange to our ears, doing here in such a wonderful cluster of promises?

Isn't it strange that right in the middle of a "divine passage" comes a plea for personal unity and harmony? Here is a very personal note along with names— a specific message to actual people! But can it be that the entire passage makes a cohesive whole, and that even this first paragraph "fits" perfectly? I believe it does! For [[part of the HOPE OF CHRISTMAS is . . .

I. A PLEA FOR AGREEMENT IN THE LORD

If we are waiting for Messiah, and our confidence is that He will come— then it is evident that we need to be at peace with God's people. And Paul mentions three specific members of the congregation at Philippi- (probably four, for 'yoke-fellow' was the common name 'Syzygus')- he says, "Eudia and Syntyche, please agree with one another in the Lord! And Syzygus, you and Clement and the rest—help them! Bring them together in love!"

Why, do you suppose, this very down-to-earth, specific problem is mentioned in Holy Writ right alongside such a sublime hymn to love and joy and peace? Some reasons are :

1. Real life is that way! Good people can begin to get 'out of sorts.' The good people in Philippi NEEDED the admonition. We deal in absolute truth, and try to live by high principles, according to ideals and holy patterns. And yet real life is never quite exactly 'by the textbook.' And our sermons that seek to touch the stars have to deal with life right down here on earth where we live it!
2. Love is always a CHOICE. Even for born-again, sanctified Christians! We cannot simply depend on how we "feel," and so Paul could say: "Stop! CHOOSE to love one another! CHOOSE to agree in the Lord!" Christian love always depends on some kind of PREMISE of INTEGRITY. Christian love depends on people of good will, who themselves stop and think how others who disagree MAY just be God's good people, too. And so, real LOVE is somehow a willingness to "ascribe" that same level of pure motivation to those who differ from us in the Lord.
3. Note: THE CALL IS FOR AGREEMENT IN THE LORD! Not for perfect understanding or perfect unity in approach or all driving the same kind of cars . . . Or even voting the same ticket! But it IS a call for KINDNESS! Richard Foster, in the December issue of Christianity Today, says: "Any gospel that so focuses upon a future heaven that it leaves people firmly rooted in harshness, bitterness and despair is a half-gospel."

Do you agree with me that this first paragraph in Philippians 4 belongs there?

[[But ANOTHER facet of CHRISTMAS HOPE is . . .]]

II. A CALL FOR JOY IN THE LORD

- A. But having 'gotten the attention' of the congregation at Philippi, Paul gets back to his wonderful theme of Christmas JOY! And he really winds up with a "masterpiece" of a passage! It is one of the very richest passages of promise in the Bible. He begins with a call for JOY; he climaxes with the assurance, THE GOD OF PEACE WILL BE WITH YOU!

But he starts by saying: REJOICE! It is a deadly thing to say: "Be funny!" It is almost as bad to say, "Enjoy!" Happiness, enjoying— comedy— are things that sort of "happen." But here Paul says: "Rejoice! And do it ON PURPOSE! It is the way that you are supposed to live— and it is NOT out of your reach! Live on the BOUNTY of God's great grace! Live in the sunlight of His LOVE!

The things that Paul has been writing about— are not just cold, intellectual matters. Knowing Jesus — having the mind that Jesus had — coming to fellowship in the Church— these are the basis for real JOY! Paul says 'Don't stop short of the reality! THAT is real JOY!' DON'T SETTLE FOR 'JUICELESS SALVATION!'

It isn't enough to live an outwardly holy life. We can't stop with just "being 'good'!" ("I've given up everything for Jesus! Poor me!") We have to keep on to the place where the joy of Jesus breaks into our everyday life and living!

Paul was writing this letter of love and joy from a Roman prison! And he was saying things like: "MY GOD WILL SUPPLY ALL YOUR NEEDS!" and "I CAN DO ALL THINGS THROUGH CHRIST WHO STRENGTHENS ME!" From a prison cell!

- B. Paul sees "JOY" as a deliberate CHOICE. WE ARE TO CHOOSE TO LIVE ALL OF LIFE IN CHRIST'S JOY!

[[Similar to Earl Lee's discovery of 'the cycle of victorious living' in Psalm 37]]

Christians are not to be anxious, careful, paralyzed by worry, but INSTEAD, (v6) "IN EVERYTHING BY PRAYER AND SUPPLICATION WITH THANKSGIVING LET YOUR REQUESTS BE MADE KNOWN UNTO GOD, AND THE PEACE OF GOD WILL KEEP YOUR HEARTS AND MINDS IN CHRIST JESUS."

[[But there is more. Paul is issuing a challenge to nobility and Christlikeness! STILL ANOTHER SIDE OF 'HOPE' IS GROWING! NOT JUST 'SITTING STILL' AND PASSIVELY WAITING!]]

III. A CHALLENGE TO GROW IN THE LORD

(Challenge to Nobility!)

We have to get used to living in a Palace! We are too easily settled into pursuing goals— goals that are too small for the souls of God's children! God wants us to have a soul that is too big to be at home with the TOYS of MERE materialism or mere EARTHLY power.

The Christian faith is not merely interested in partial victories and in making us "good." It wants us to be Christ- like! We are called to be sons and daughters of the KING! And so we need to be enrolled in the 'finishing school' of God's nobility so that we will be at least a bit 'at home' when we enter into His Presence. We are to BE HOLY so that we may have fellowship with God the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit right here and now as we walk along.

WE ARE TO LIVE BEYOND OUR OWN, LIMITED VISION!

God does not fellowship (in any depth) with people who are pinched and small and little in their love. God wants us to be "large of soul." He wants to walk with people who let Him develop our thinking.

IV. A PROMISE THAT AS WE WAIT GOD WILL 'BE THERE' FOR US!

- A. Here is where the Christmas part comes into this prison epistle! IMMANUEL! "The God of peace will be with you!" Not just when you die—but AS you AGREE IN THE LORD, and AS you REJOICE IN HIS SALVATION, and AS you STRETCH AND GROW IN HIS GRACE, HIS NOBILITY, if you please— you will find that HE IS WITH YOU!

[Which brings us also to our passage from Isaiah: (Here is the 'Advent theme: Advent is anticipation of God's promised Messiah, and Advent is preparing our hearts to make Him room. It isn't really Christmas yet! And it never IS Christmas if we don't make proper preparation!)]

B. Isaiah underscores TWO wonderful Christmas-time truths for us: (1) the immediacy of Immanuel; and (2) the hope that will not disappoint.

1. The truth of Immanuel: Jesus really DID come! In the flesh! And He really IS coming again! He is literally going to come and change this world completely. But right NOW— even as we wait for Him— JESUS IS HERE!

Isaiah's message to his generation was: Messiah will come! Count on it! But "Fear thou not, for I AM with you!"

2. The hope that will not disappoint! At Christmas time we NEED a hope like that!

One reason— perhaps THE reason that Christmas is sad and trying to so many is — UNREASONABLE EXPECTATIONS! Remembering traditions that never were as bright as we recall them— and hoping that somehow . . .

But Isaiah says: Even while you're WAITING, you'll be strengthened! (40:29-31 "He gives strength to the weary. And to him who lacks might he increases power. Though youths grow weary and tired, and vigorous young men stumble badly, Yet those who wait for the LORD will gain new strength; they will mount up with wings like eagles, they will run and not get tired, they will walk and not become weary.")

And . . . EVEN WHILE YOU'RE WAITING FOR HIM, HE IS WITH YOU!!

Stewards of the Mysteries

December 11, 1988 - ADVENT II

I Corinthians 4:1-5 Let a man regard us in this manner, as servants of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God. In this case, moreover, it is required of stewards that one be found trustworthy.

Introduction:

Christmas is a magic time. A time when so many hopes and expectations and little family traditions come together. But sometimes the very most profound mysteries lie hidden just beneath the surface of the things we think are quite insignificant.

When you think of long-ago Christmases, do you think of your little brother coming down the church aisle with your old bathrobe and a tinfoil crown? — the lights are turned down and the choir is singing: "We three kings of Ori-and-tar.." And at my church Chuckie Whitney's big sister that bossed all us little kids around always got to be Mary and wear a BLUE shawl— she looked so holy and we all knew she was a real biddy! ... And I was terrified that I'd forget my lines ... and yet through it all the idea came through of the wonder of A STAR, and of A LONG, LONG JOURNEY, and of AN ASSURANCE THAT THIS REALLY WAS THE CHRIST- CHILD IN THIS MOST UNLIKELY PLACE.

It is good and healthy and proper to have these mixed memories. But we do remember that the central wonder of Christmas is not the beauty of lights reflecting on new-fallen snow, or a brand new train puffing around the tree- as genuinely splendid as those memories are. We haven't gotten mixed up! We know that the real heart of Christmas lies much, much deeper than that.

For the wonder of Christmas is the gift of Life. It is Christmas that makes Calvary and the Resurrection and the Ascension and Pentecost and the Parousia all possible.

Our text speaks of really deep truths. Advent deals with mystery— and when we have to do with God, or more properly, when God begins to have to do with us, where is always mystery.

I. THE JOY AND WONDER OF THE MYSTERIES OF GOD

Somehow we love mystery. We are fascinated by what we cannot fully comprehend. That is, we love mystery until we begin to talk about the Bible and to wrestle with the "how to's" of salvation. Then we say foolish things like, "How can I be expected to believe what I cannot understand?" But we need to see that there are some things that we can KNOW that we will NEVER understand!

A. By His very nature, God is beyond our comprehension. Finite creatures can never encompass God's infinity. So Infinity must stoop to speak to us where we are. What is exactly what God has done! And as God reveals Himself, we behold many mysteries:

B. The mystery of Creation. This is a GENERAL REVELATION. It does not of itself reveal God's love or salvation. But the in Psalm 19 we read: "The heavens declare the glory of God..."

Creation is full of wonder; and we may say with conviction: "This my Father's world!" And yet in the battle between so-called "creationists" and "evolutionists" we might do well to acknowledge THE MYSTERY WHICH IS OUR GOD'S HANDIWORK. But that is not what I am concerned about this morning.

C. The mystery of REVELATION. [God speaking to you and me.] God has always had a way of communication to human beings. And it is through this MYSTERY, of God speaking to man- first by prophets, and by visions, and, as the writer of Hebrews says, in sundry manners and diverse ways, finally gave us the complete Word in His Son, the living Word, and in the written word, which reveals the Son.

REVELATION, The Bible, speaks of the (1) MYSTERY OF THE INCARNATION. In Ephesians 3:4 Paul speaks of THE MYSTERY OF CHRIST. Kenosis- Philippians 2:5-11. John 3:16. These passages roll off our tongues so easily; they declare wonders which we can not grasp either now or throughout eternity!

The mystery of Christ, of God coming down to be one with us, identifying with us (John 3:16) is no narrow love, confined to the Jews, or to the Christians. It is a universal, world-wide love of God. Look carefully: this is part of the mystery; as Paul says (Ephesians 3:4) "...through the gospel the Gentiles are heirs together with Israel, members together of one body, and sharers together in the promise in Christ Jesus."

REVELATION, the Bible, reveals THE MYSTERY OF SALVATION. God's perfect, impeccable, unblemished holiness meets with His sympathy, and forgiveness and mercy and kindness and love precisely at the Cross of Calvary.

But all these mysteries combine in the mystery that can never be explained: GOD LOVES ME!

II. OUR RELATION TO THE MYSTERIES OF GOD

"Let a man regard us as servants of Christ, and stewards of the mysteries of God."

A. The wonder of Christmas, the mysteries of God and salvation DO exist for our benefit and enjoyment. BUT THEY ARE NOT FOR OUR BENEFIT ALONE. In fact, the text tells us that we exist to see that these mysteries become available to all people. We are to be: "Servants of God, and stewards of the mysteries."

B. It is easy to "get used to the idea" that GOD LOVES ME! And pretty soon we get to thinking that He OUGHT to love me, I'm sooo nice! We have heard it all so many times before. We have gotten used to it. And we have come in our heart of hearts to think that God SHOULD love us! After all, aren't WE the "good guys?" WE are SO wonderful!

It is easy to take what amounts to a patronizing attitude toward Christmas— WE GIVE A PERFUNCTORY 'BAH HUMBUG' ABOUT HOW 'THE WORLD' DOESN'T KNOW ABOUT THE TRUE MEANING OF CHRISTMAS. WE DO, OF COURSE! [We all but invented it!]

This presumption— this self-centered attitude was one of the principal mistakes which the Jews of Jesus' time had made. Called to be God's servants and stewards of His love, they instead began to think of themselves as simply the prime recipients. They thought they deserved God's best for themselves. All others were "the adversaries!"

- C. It is hard to sort this out, especially when we have been brought up, as it were, 'on the inside of great truth.' God's people ARE highly favored. We are a privileged people. God intends that we should enjoy Him, and that we should revel in our worship, in His Presence.

But we are also to remember that we do not have the monopoly on God's love. We are to remember that God loves everyone as much as He loves us; that Jesus died for ALL people.

- D. And we are debtors to the extent that we enjoy God. We are called on as best we can to SHARE this wonder of the mysteries of God. This is our relation to the mysteries of God and salvation. We are to experience the life that comes from KNOWING God; and then we are to be stewards of that LIFE: and 'let our light so shine before men and women that they may see our changed lives, and glorify our Father which is in heaven.'

[The final thought here today comes even closer home: Not only do we have a steward relationship to the MYSTERIES of grace—]

III. WE ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR OUR RELATIONSHIP TO THE MYSTERIES OF GOD

"It this case, moreover, it is REQUIRED of stewards that one be found trustworthy."

- A. One great mystery of the faith has to do with Christ's coming again. ADVENT means that in wonder we proclaim that he came, and he comes. But a central truth of ADVENT IS THIS: Jesus, the LORD, is coming again.

And this verse tells us what the Lord Jesus Christ will do when He comes again. He will call us to account for our stewardship. For the word in our text is "REQUIRED!" "It is required of stewards that one be found faithful." Not,

"It is suggested..." or "It is hoped that stewards will be ..." no, the word is REQUIRED!

Stewardship of "talents," yes; but more profoundly, stewards of these mysteries of LIFE.

- B. The wonder of Christmas for which we are accountable is NOT the sparkling memories of a lights on the new fallen snow— precious as those memories may be. But we must share (EPHESIANS 6:19) the mystery of the gospel. We need to experience how it penetrates, and transforms and brings light and life. We are stewards of (I TIMOTHY 3:9) the mystery of the faith. Paul wrote to Timothy— and to you and me— that we are to handle, experience, transmit the "deep truths" of the faith with a clear conscience.
- C. All these mysteries are not simply so that we can have some kind of esoteric knowledge, and conduct our secret society meetings, and somehow feel smug about how brilliant we are. But all these mysteries of the faith, of the revealed knowledge of the transcendent God combine in the one mystery that can never be explained: GOD LOVES ME! GOD LOVES YOU!

Conclusion:

I know this isn't the usual way of handling Christmas truth. Our Advents deal with the safe and comfortable concepts of a Babe lying in a manger, where He is sweet and harmless and invokes warm and tender feelings.

But the mystery of Bethlehem unfolds and grows.

Our text makes it plain that we are to be stewards of these mysteries; we are not to be judges or policemen, saying who is, and who is not admissible to grace.

1. Faithfulness in stewardship of the mysteries begins with an attitude! ASK GOD FOR A NEW SENSE OF AWE!
2. Remember, WE ARE STEWARDS! We do not either fully understand nor "own" these mysteries. But, O, how we BELIEVE THEM!" These truths brings God's very LIFE down where we are! And God intends that we share them the very best we can!

Stewards of the Mysteries

3. So, let us begin! Tell someone you love this week the most wonderful mystery there is!
Tell him, tell her that God loves them!

It ought to be encouraging to remember that we are not called to explain the mysteries. Rather, we PROCLAIM them in humility. And remember, especially during advent- the central mystery is IMMANUEL.

Prayer:

Thank You for Your LOVE! Help us to share it as best we know how. Amen.

EH #22 Verses 1,2,5 O, the Deep, Deep, Love of Jesus

Joy and Peace Before Dawning

December 18, 1988

Philippians 4:4-8

Introduction:

Christmas is a magic time. But for grown-up children who read newspapers, and watch television, we sometimes are tempted to wonder: IS THERE ANY SUBSTANCE TO THIS TALK OF CHRISTMAS JOY? and Christmas PEACE?

When we think of all the pain and sorrow in our world it almost seems selfish to "rejoice always," and live with a "peace that passes comprehension."

HOW DO WE DARE TALK SERIOUSLY ABOUT "CHRISTMAS WONDER"? What does the Prince of Peace, and the Kingdom of JOY, have to say about such headlines and news items that we face daily?

Headlines like:

- Earthquake in Armenia, 56,000 killed; 500,000 homeless! ...to say nothing of a headline that isn't written:
- 350,000 die in America this year from LUNG CANCER! Could be prevented, but cigarette companies need your money! Or, in every paper in the land, we read:
- Epidemic of violence! Parents batter children ... children batter aged parents ... "5 bodies found along I-95"

TO ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS:

1. YES, THERE IS SUBSTANCE TO CHRISTMAS JOY! It is genuine and it is real and it is a legacy left us by Jesus Himself!
2. WE DARE TO SPEAK OF JOY AND PEACE IN THE FACE OF SORROW AND PAIN, BECAUSE JOY AND PEACE ARE PRECISELY WHAT THIS WORLD DESPERATELY NEEDS. It is not a question of whether or not we ought to have joy in our desperate times. We must have joy, and we must learn to share it! We must have peace ourselves, and we must learn to tell people that there is a voice of assurance in the darkness of our world's night!

I. GOD INTENDS THAT WE SHALL HAVE A GENUINE PEACE

"Let not your hearts be troubled ... "

A. Genuine peace? Are there other kinds?

Peace of ignorance - simplify all the issues! Spiritualize the problems! Don't face up to the complexity of real life.

Peace of apathy - don't look at others less fortunate! Don't worry about great needs! Give a donation! Ease the conscience!

Peace of fear - don't rock the boat; always being terrorized! Helpless! The only kind of "peace" that many know.

Peace of surrender - "Why even try?"

Peace of taking the popular way. "Go where it is popular ... take up the causes pushed by the media. Be a humanist! Accept humanist values. [Greatest good is to 'feel good about ME!']

All these ways to "peace" will reduce the tensions of life and living. But somehow they seem empty, small, insufficient before the kind of peace God has promised us, such concepts as: "the peace of God that shall guard your heart and mind" and "the God of peace shall be with you!"

B. There IS a peace for the real here-and-now that passes understanding. For here and now, genuine peace IN the struggle— peace IN the disagreement— peace IN the disappointment ... not the kind of heavenly peace that we shall one day know, perhaps ... but a sense of being 'at home in God's will' and a sense of really being LOVED!

C. We should have this PEACE AS A WORTHY GOAL: Peace between members of the family [Euodia & Syntyche]

1. when I am troubled, strive to make peace;
2. when I perceive trouble, strive to truly help bring peace.

[We will always have differences; potential strife. But by God's help we can be a loving community, a healing place.]

D. This PEACE has practical application for the Christian:

1. Peace to RULE the heart (Colossians 3:15) "And let the peace of God rule in your hearts ..."; and
2. (Here) Peace to GUARD the heart (Philippians 4:7) "The peace of God ... will stand guard over your hearts!"

II. THE PROMISES OF PEACE

A. One of the GIFTS that Jesus gave us is PEACE: "Peace I leave with you; My peace I give you— let not your heart be troubled ..." But we "open" this GIFT by way of claiming God's straightforward promises. LOOK AT SOME OF THE PROMISES OF PEACE:

1. Psalm 119:165 GREAT PEACE HAVE THEY WHICH LOVE THY LAW; AND NOTHING SHALL OFFEND THEM (Cause them to stumble and fall.) Peace COMES to us through the revealed Word/will of God: begin with the Bible!
2. Romans 5:1 THEREFORE BEING JUSTIFIED BY FAITH WE HAVE PEACE WITH GOD ... Peace BEGINS for us when we settle the SIN QUESTION! We cannot dodge the need for justification.
3. Romans 8:6 NOW TO BE CARNALLY MINDED IS DEATH; BUT TO BE SPIRITUALLY MINDED IS LIFE AND PEACE. Peace GROWS AND DEVELOPS WITHIN US as we "walk in the Spirit": as we obey the leading of God in the new-found life we share with God Himself!
4. Isaiah 26:3 THOU WILT KEEP HIM IN PERFECT PEACE, WHOSE MIND IS STAYED ON THEE, BECAUSE HE TRUSTETH IN THEE. Finally, we catch on to the 'open secret:' that Peace COMES FROM BEING NEAR TO THE GOD OF PEACE!

- B. B. But this is not automatic; nor is it a part-time assignment. It is the deliberate choice of commitment; it must be followed by a life-time of walking with God, committing our way to Him. Still, it is our promise here!

III. PEACE IS A PERSON

PEACE IS MORE THAN LEARNING LESSONS, PEACE IS A PERSON, PEACE IS JESUS CHRIST OF BETHLEHEM AND CALVARY AND NEW JERUSALEM!

A. THAT IS WHAT MAKES THIS A "CHRISTMAS/ADVENT MESSAGE!" All that we have, all of good and life and light— COME WITH HIM!

"To KNOW God!" This is the heart of Christian faith!

That last promise ("Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed ON THEE") is a KEY! God has many lessons and many blessings for His children. But all these blessings— the hope and the wonder and the mystery and the peace and the joy of Christmas— and perhaps particularly peace— are centered IN THE PERSON OF THE CHRIST OF CHRISTMAS. When we know Him, potentially we know them all. [This is the heart of ALL Christian truth!] So—

HOW DO WE MOTIVATE PEOPLE TO EVANGELISM?

We major in guilt, in "Shoulds" and "oughts", OR, WE HELP THEM FALL IN LOVE WITH JESUS CHRIST!

HOW DO WE ENCOURAGE PEOPLE TO SUPPORT MISSIONS AND OUTREACH?

We multiply programs, and form new committees, OR, WE HELP THEM FALL IN LOVE WITH JESUS CHRIST!

HOW DO WE GROW A CHURCH?

We teach our people to apply all kinds of business techniques and promotion, OR, WE HELP THEM FALL IN LOVE WITH JESUS CHRIST!

B. And what is true in the life of the CHURCH is also true in the life of the individual: HOW DO I FIND PEACE WITHIN? I can follow this guru or that; I can exhaust the literature of pop psychology, OR, I CAN COME TO KNOW AND LOVE THE PRINCE OF PEACE!

WHEN WE ARE NEAR THE GOD OF PEACE, THEN WE WILL KNOW THE PEACE OF GOD!

Conclusion:

But what about all these tasks we need to address? What about being "stewards of the mysteries" of Christmas? Isn't that a tremendous responsibility? ...A generation ago in a great time of turmoil a man of peace wrote these words:

"Much of our acceptance of multitudes of obligations is due to our inability to say No. We calculated that the task had to be done, and we saw no one ready to undertake it. We calculated the need, and then calculated our time, and decided maybe we could squeeze it in somewhere. But the decision was a heady decision, not made within the sanctuary of the soul. When we say Yes or No to calls for service on the basis of heady decisions, we have to give reasons, to ourselves and to others. But when we say Yes or No to calls, on the basis of inner guidance and whispered promptings of encouragement from the Center of our life, or on the basis of a lack of any inward "rising" of the Life to encourage us in the call, we have no reason to give, except one— the will of God as we discern it. Then we have begun to live in guidance. And I find He never guides us into an intolerable scramble of panting feverishness. The Cosmic Patience becomes, in part, our patience, for after all God is at work in the world. It is not we alone who are at work in the world, frantically finishing a work to be offered to God.

"Life from the Center is a life of unhurried peace and power. It is simple. It is serene. It is amazing. It is triumphant. It is radiant. It takes no time, but it occupies all our time. And it makes our life programs new and overcoming. We need not get frantic. He is at the helm. And when our little day is done we lie down quietly in peace, for all is well."

-from A Testament of Devotion, by Thomas Kelly

To know God's peace does not mean we can live in this world, with its disconcerting headlines, and feel nothing, and do nothing.

Joy and Peace Before Dawning

Certainly we shall know sorrow and pain: God Himself grieves over injustice. But we do not sorrow as those who have no hope! We cannot be defeated if indeed the Prince of Peace is with us!

And where the Prince of Peace leads us by His Spirit, we have the JOY of bringing the offer of genuine PEACE WITH GOD, and a growing sense of THE PEACE OF GOD as we introduce people to THE GOD OF PEACE, whose name is IMMANUEL, a God who dwells with His people.

CHRISTMAS PEACE IS REAL PEACE!

CHRISTMAS JOY IS REAL JOY!

REAL PEACE AND REAL JOY IN THIS VERY REAL WORLD!

Peace, perfect peace, in this dark world of sin? The blood of Jesus whispers peace within.

Peace, perfect peace, by thronging duties pressed? To do the will of Jesus, this is rest.

Peace, perfect peace, with sorrows surging round? On Jesus' bosom nought but peace is found.

Peace, perfect peace, with loved ones far away? In Jesus' keeping we are safe, and they.

Peace, perfect peace, our future all unknown? Jesus we know, and He is on the throne.

Peace, perfect peace, death shadowing us and ours? Jesus has vanquished death and all its powers.

It is enough: earth's struggles soon shall cease, And Jesus call us to heaven's perfect peace.

The Facts of Christmas

December 24, 1988

"Let now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which has come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. Luke 2:15

The Spirit of Christmas— the Meaning of Christmas— are dependent on The FACT of Christmas.

Introduction:

It is hard to imagine what the glory of angels in a night sky might be. But you can be certain it beat anything the shepherds had seen or were ever likely to see again. God has a way of filling up the sky with just a hint of His glory! [I recall one 4th of July at West Point, when after the (wonderful!) band concert some really impressive fireworks began. "Humans" were 'filling the sky with glory.'

[But as it happened, a small-to-middle-sized thunderstorm happened along just then, and there was a moderate display of lightning. Again and again the entire Hudson River far below the parade ground was lit as bright as noon day. And one particular bolt of lightning I shall never forget— I was terrorized and fascinated all at the same time: a line of liquid electricity made a circle all around that valley from one side of the mile- wide river to the other for a split-second that seemed to last and last! And somehow the sky rockets and sparklers seemed puny and downright anti-climactic after that display of heavenly power and glory!]

I cannot imagine what "And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying, 'Glory to God in the highest!'" might have looked and sounded like! But we may be sure that it was GLORIOUS! But then the glory was gone! And so, after the GLORY, came a trip to Bethlehem and a stable. Encounter with real people, real smells, real parental concerns, but also a real KING!

THIS IS NO BEAUTIFUL MYTH. I do not have a problem with those who speak of the "mythical" in scriptural history; there is a parable-like quality to the way God has dealt with people through the ages. [The Exodus, and the entire Old Testament record of God's dealings with the people of faith are both true history, AND an example of how God is faithful to His Word.]

But Bethlehem is a real place; a real Baby was born there on a particular night. The Son of God is Eternal, and never had a beginning. But Jesus Christ, God's incarnate Son, became a man in a new thing; in a way that had never been before. JESUS CHRIST'S BIRTH IS A FACT.

THIS IS NOT A TIMELESS TRUTH! Eternity has intersected time. But we cannot really grasp or understand timeless truth. We cannot know the Transcendent in any intimate kind of way— at least in our present, finite limitations. AND THIS IS PARTICULAR FACT.

CHRISTIAN FAITH DEALS WITH PARTICULAR FACTS. [Christmas comes at the winter solstice, and the return of light and warmth and the promise of spring are all beautiful thoughts that can be applied to the Christmas story. But Christmas is not a warm, fuzzy feeling.] The Eternal God has sent us a Man to deal with our sins, and with our lives as we live them. [I John 4:3 "Every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not from God."]

THE PARTICULARS OF OUR OWN HISTORY HAVE POWER TO MOVE US DEEPLY. [I am moved by Byers Green, Bishop Auckland, Barton, North Yorkshire ... Askrigg and Bainbridge, Yorkshire Dales ... because Metcalfes come from there.] And somehow we almost instinctively feel that Jesus Christ and His personal history are part of our own personal heritage. THAT IS WHY BETHLEHEM AND CALVARY AND OLIVET SPEAK SO POINTEDLY TO US!

THE PARTICULARS OF OUR FAITH CALL FOR A PARTICULAR RESPONSE IN OUR PERSONAL HISTORY. Just as Jesus came to A PARTICULAR place at a PARTICULAR time in human history, He comes to each of us IN FACT, in TIME, in SPACE, in our own personal history.

"Though Christ a thousand times in Bethlehem be born Yet not within MY heart- My heart is still forlorn."

"O Come to MY heart, Lord Jesus! There is room in MY heart for Thee!"

Conclusion:

Christian faith is tied to eternal, never-ending Truth. Our God is Almighty, and Everlasting. He is the great I AM . But Christian faith is factual faith! The meaning and the spirit and the wonder of Christmas all hang on the slender thread of a Mother's labor, and a Baby's low cry—

Christmas is NOT 'timeless truth'— it is PARTICULAR TRUTH FOR REAL, LIVE PEOPLE. And Christmas truth is not complete— it is NEVER complete— until it is received in a particular and personal way.

1. Just NOW if you have never welcomed Jesus into your heart- - just NOW, in a particular, specific prayer, you may invite Him in to be LORD and SAVIOR! [Revelation 3:20 - December 24, 1988, at 6:30 p.m., in the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene], you can receive Jesus Christ into YOUR personal history, to rule and guide and bless your life from now on for TIME as well as for eternity!
2. And just NOW we can ALL obey and share Christ in a particular way. Jesus has given us a way in which we can, in good faith, share in His fellowship and grace in a wonderful way. The Lord's Supper is open to all who own Jesus as Lord and Savior. I invite you to make it your means of grace this evening.

[Come as you are - come as you are led of God's Spirit. Come by yourself, with a friend, with your family together. Come as part of God's Family! Receive the elements; pray a brief prayer of thanksgiving for the FACTS OF CHRISTMAS and for the FACT that Jesus is with YOU, with US!; and then eat, drink, and rise, return to your seat for the candle lighting that shall follow immediately.]

God With Us

The Naming of Jesus

Christmas Day, December 25, 1988

Matthew 1:23 Behold the virgin shall be with child, and shall bear a Son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which translated means, "God with us."

The names of God as given in Scripture are representative of His greatness and of His workings toward us. We love the names of God:

- Jehovah-jireh- "the Lord will provide;"
- Jehovah-nissi- "the Lord my banner;"
- Jehovah-shalom- "the Lord my peace;"
- Jehovah- shammah-"the Lord is there;"
- Jehovah-tsidkenu- "the Lord our righteousness."

Reverently we say the name "El Shaddai "nourisher, comforter;" We bow before the name "Elohim," which means "power."

But we have come to love one name of God, because it unlocks to us all the others. And that is the name which Joseph gave to his beautiful wife's firstborn Son, the name of Jesus.

Jesus, John declared, was God's Word. The same Word that had spoken into existence everything that ever was.

Jesus declared Himself to be Bread to eat, and Light in which to walk. Jesus told us that He is the Door to all good things, and that He is the Good Shepherd to lead us, and to seek us when we go astray. He said that He is the Vine in which all life resides, and that we are branches that need to abide in Him for that life. He said that He is the Way, the Truth and the Life; and He said that even though we are appointed for death and the judgment, that He is the Resurrection and the Life, and that he that believes in Him, though he were dead, yet shall he live and never die.

One name or title that goes along with Jesus is the Christmas name Emmanuel, which means "God with us!"

[What IS this God like, whom Jesus comes to reveal?]

I. God Is SPIRIT

(John 4:24) To the one woman at the well of Sychar Jesus spoke this profound truth. In it He affirms the personality of God, and the common ground on which God and humankind meet. We, too, are spirit, made in God's likeness.

II. God As Spirit Is LIFE

(John 5:26) The Father hath life in Himself; so also hath He given to the Son to have life in Himself.

(John 14:6) I am the way, the truth, and the LIFE.

As Wiley says, "the fullness of truth, order, proportion, harmony and beauty" reside in this Life.

Life is that which relates to its surrounding reality. We are "dead" to whatever we cannot respond to. So people are spiritually "dead" unless and until they can respond to God, through His grace. Jesus came to make that response possible.

III. God As Spirit Is LIGHT

(I John 1:5) God is light, and in Him is no darkness at all.

(John 8:12) I am the light of the world: he who follows Me shall not walk in the darkness, but shall have the light of life.

Moral depravity is the absence of light, and finally results because people prefer not to come into the light. Satan blinds people's eyes:

(II Corinthians 4:4) "the god of this world blinds the eyes of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of God should shine unto them."

But if we will, we may respond to the Light which is God:

(I John 1:7,9) If we walk in the light . . . the blood of Jesus Christ God's Son cleanseth us from all sin.

IV. God As Spirit Is LOVE

(I John 4:8) God is love.

(John 3:16) God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Now THAT is our Christmas Gift for all time!

This, then, is something of what Jesus came to reveal: Jesus revealed God as Spirit, and as Spirit, Life and Light and Love.

Then Jesus revealed Himself as God- and then by His gift of the Holy Spirit, Jesus has made us to understand "Emmanuel!"

For it is the BEST part of the name Emmanuel, this dawning of the reality that in Jesus, the Babe of Bethlehem, God has actually come near, has come to where we are. Emmanuel means 'God with us!' I don't know any better Christmas message. It is what Christmas is all about!

WHO is with us? GOD is with us!

WHERE is God in Christ? God is WITH us!

With WHOM is God in Christ? God is with US!

Search Me O God

December 28, 1988

Prayer Meeting Devotional: Galatians 6:7-10

Focus: Psalm 139: "Search Me O God ..."

We do not have a 'Watch Night' as such— this is our last official meeting together in 1988. What sort of year has this been for you?

LOOK BACK IN GRATITUDE: Thank God for His blessings:

LOOK BACK IN 'WISDOM:' What do you see in your life that you might wish to change in the coming year?

LOOK WITHIN WITH GOD'S HELP, to find light and strength to walk closer to the Lord in whatever time we may have left to us: A FEW "YEAR END" QUOTES FROM BERTHA MUNRO's classic, Truth for Today: (Several days under the theme "Life At its Best")

1. What have you set out to do with your life? You have only one to spend. What is your slogan? "Getting by"? "As good as the rest"? "Can't do that and be sanctified"? Or are you reaching out for "the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ"? (Ephesians 4:13)
Let us all lift up our eyes, and stretch our souls, and look truth full in the face— truth and Jesus.
2. The best Christian life is spontaneous. Life in the Spirit. Have I made a good start? Have I received the Holy Spirit's cleansing baptism? A holy heart is not the end, but the beginning.
3. The best Christian life is practical. (Headings only here:) Develop spiritual poise. Develop a healthy self-reliance. Develop the giving attitude. 4. Walk in the Spirit. Hands, feet and voice all do heart errands— always. The Spirit's life will move the body— else paralysis.
4. Treatment of others. Perfect love for our neighbor exists in the sanctified heart potentially. It is developed by agitation under stress. It is made positive, active by life's demands and strains. I react to my neighbor's honors, to his faults, to his burdens; and as I react in love, my love is strengthened. I become more like Christ whose every contact brought forth from Him nothing but pure love.

My neighbor gets ahead of me in my special field— an opportunity for my love to be glad in his gladness, for my lips to say kind things to him and to others about him— sincerely. I could depreciate his achievement. But love will grow as I exercise it here.

My neighbor falls- an opportunity for love to help him up. How? By prayer for him- in secret, probably. Not by spreading the story, even to my close friends. Not by cherishing a superior feeling. For the failure of a brother Christian is an occasion for love to catch a fresh glimpse of the Cross and to remember that my sins nailed Christ there. Love will grow as it says, "There, but for the grace of God, go I."

5. The best Christian life is purposeful. Sow to the Spirit. Three questions and three imperatives, if we really wish to make progress.

- A. What are the priorities of your life? Be Spiritual.

It is easy to say, "God first." The test comes when two claims actually conflict, and we must choose between doing the thing that will give us material satisfaction and the thing that will give us soul development— between pleasing ourselves and pleasing Jesus. Have we decided our priorities, and do we maintain them?

- B. Are you investing or spending? Be positive. The law of growth is sowing, not scattering. We all spend our energies on something. This little poem is searching:

*I read in a Book
Of a Man called Christ
Who went about doing good.
To me it is very disconcerting
That I am so easily satisfied
With just going about.*-Unknown

- C. Do you have fainting spells? Be steady. "Be follower of them who through faith and patience inherit the promise." With all your best and God's best there will be stretches of apparent failure. Then remember the weapon, All Prayer; keep the contact with heaven clear and a heavenly current flowing. "If you pray, you will not faint. If you faint, you have not prayed."

In one of Schubert's symphonies the directions for the conductor read on one page, "As loud as possible." And a little farther on, "Still louder!" More than our best in the coming year by the grace of God!

*Stand up. Stand up for Jesus,
The strife will not be long;
This day the noise of battle,
The next the victor's song.*

THE SACRAMENT OF BAPTISM

Intro:

Perhaps one day we will have a baptismal service and NOT have the entire evening center on that sacrament. But for now it is well that we make it the center of our message:

One of the difficult things for Protestants is fixing in their minds the relative importance of the sacraments of the church. Of all the means of grace, they are possibly understood the least.

I. THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SACRAMENTS AS MEANS OF GRACE

I begin this brief message on baptism by asking some disarmingly simple questions:

A. WHAT IS GRACE? Grace is unmerited favor of God; grace is that which bestows God's great LOVE on us; grace is God's attitude of forgiveness toward the sinner; grace is a quickening and strengthening of life within the soul.

B. AND WHAT ARE "MEANS OF GRACE?" MEANS OF GRACE ARE just that: the ways and means, the vehicles or channels by which God bestows His LOVE on our hearts. And what are the 'means of grace?' My list may not be complete, but I submit seven:

1. WORD OF GOD; and with this I include the faithful the preaching of the Word, as well as reading in order to obey God's will.

2. PRAYER IS PROBABLY THE PRIMARY MEANS OF GRACE; and prayer combines with power with the use of the Word.

3. THE FELLOWSHIP OF GOD'S PEOPLE is a significant and powerful means of grace. God never intends for us to make our way to heaven independent of other individuals, or of other families, or even other groups of believers. God intends that we bear one another's burdens.

4. CORPORATE WORSHIP, in the large groups or celebrations, in the smaller groups united around a lesson or a ministry (congregations,) as well as in the accountability groups of prayer and sharing (cells,) is a means of grace.

5. PERSONAL WORSHIP may be the same as #2, prayer; but it involves the carrying forward of life in the spirit of 'the living sacrifice.'

6. Wiley lists THE SABBATH AS A MEANS OF GRACE! It was introduced at the time of man's creation, and belongs to mankind generally and perpetually. Personally, I am convinced that there is great spiritual power waiting to be released in the lives of the people who can tap the resources of the Lord's Day by observing it joyfully, not in bondage, but in rest and worship and refreshing.

7. But the last 'means of grace' I would mention are THE SACRAMENTS OF THE CHURCH THAT WERE INSTITUTED BY JESUS.

C. WHAT ARE 'SACRAMENTS?'

We use the term 'sacrament' to signify an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given to us, ordained by Christ Himself as a means of receiving that grace, and as a pledge or assurance of Christ's promise. From the earliest times, the sacraments have been understood by the church to be religious rites that carry the most solemn obligation of loyalty to Jesus Christ and His Church.

1. The RC church teaches seven (7) sacraments: baptism, the Lord's supper (or "mass",) confirmation, ordination, extreme unction (or 'last rites,) penance (or 'confession,') and marriage.

2. All Protestant churches recognize but two: baptism and the Lord's Supper.

SACRAMENTS ARE PLEDGES OF LOYALTY TO JESUS CHRIST; THEY ARE TESTIMONIES THAT MARK CHRISTIANS AS SEPARATE, DIFFERENT FROM THOSE WHO DO NOT BELIEVE.

D. It is vitally important that we reach out for God's grace in every way we can. [Perhaps we do not take seriously the parables of Jesus when He warned us that it is mortally dangerous to have talents and not use them!] We are responsible not only for what we are, but for what we might be by God's free gifts of grace!

Along this line John Wesley once said: (in 1736) "I think the rock on which I had the nearest made shipwreck of the faith was the writings of the Mystics; under which term I comprehend all, and only those, who slight any of the means of grace." GFH, p541

In other words, Wesley said that even people who seem to be so very, very spiritual nearly led him astray when they picked out which means of grace they would adopt, and which they would avoid. Wesley was saying 'I want to be faithful to God through Christ's church!'

E. And if you wonder what John Wesley thought the 'true church' consisted of, here is a quote from H. Ray Dunning: "There were two major means that Mr. Wesley seemed to identify as constitutive of the church: the pure Word of God preached, and the sacraments duly administered. This puts him squarely in the Reformation tradition." GFH p542]

II. THE IMPORTANCE OF BAPTISM AS A MEANS OF GRACE

A. Baptism is clearly one of the sacraments of the church.

It was instituted by the Lord Jesus, first by His example, and then by His unmistakable command (in the words of the text:)

Baptism means three things for the believer:

1. BAPTISM MEANS IDENTIFYING WITH JESUS in His baptism.

John the Baptist baptized many people in the Jordan. This was not clearly outlined in Old Testament law, but it could have some meaning of preparation for the coming of a new order, in that just before the giving of the Law on Sinai, God told Moses to sanctify the people, and He specifically said: "Have them wash their garments!"

But the baptism of Jesus was unique. Jesus was identifying with sinners, even though He knew no sin. In coming with the sinners, JESUS TOOK THE ROLE OF THE SUFFERING SERVANT; and in the descent of the Holy Spirit HE CLEARLY EXEMPLIFIED THE ROLE OF THE ANOINTED ONE, THE MESSIAH.

No one else was sinless that day, or any other day. But Jesus identified with everyone who has failed; he came to bear our sins and sorrows to the Tree.

No one else could ever hear the Father say: "This is my Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased!" and have the Holy Spirit descend without measure.

But if Jesus identified with us, with sinful humanity that day of His baptism; then we, as His spiritual sons and daughters identify with Him.

We are not called on to die as the sinless sacrifice; but BAPTISM IS THE WAY OF THE SUFFERING SERVANT; and we identify with Jesus in death to sin (He died for sin.)

We cannot know the fullness of the Holy Spirit as Jesus knew Him, but WE ARE CALLED TO ACCEPT THE ANOINTING OF GOD, indwelling us, and live in the new life and power of that life the Holy Spirit brings.

2. BAPTISM MEANS INCORPORATION INTO THE CHURCH. The washing of baptism by John indicated a preparation for a new age of the Spirit of God. But Jesus transformed John's baptism, and made it the sacramental portion of His Great Commission: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.

3. BAPTISM MEANS THE INITIAL RECEPTION OF THE HOLY SPIRIT. The Holy Spirit is the gift of the Son, and of the Father. He comes to make Jesus real to us. He is the Spirit of Jesus. He does not testify of Himself, but is the fulfillment of the promise: "Lo, I AM with you always, even to the end of the age."

The connection of baptism with the reception of the Holy Spirit seems clear in the New Testament. Sometimes the people received the Spirit as, or after they were baptized; sometimes it was a witness or a seal after they had already been saved.

Acts 2:38 (Peter says:) "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, AND YE SHALL RECEIVE THE GIFT OF THE HOLY GHOST." Here, clearly, the people to be baptized did not yet have the Holy Spirit.

But later, at Caesarea, Cornelius and his household received the Holy Spirit as Peter was preaching to them. And the question there was: "Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, WHICH HAVE RECEIVED THE HOLY GHOST AS WELL AS WE?"

Baptismal Service

In obedience to the command of Christ, we can expect that the sacrament of baptism will be a confirmation of the promise of God the Father and God the Son to bestow the Holy Spirit, personally, and powerfully, into each believer's heart!

The Sacrament

Dearly Beloved: Baptism is the sign and seal of the new covenant of grace, the significance of which is attested by the apostle Paul in his letter to the Romans as follows: (Romans 6:3-5)
"Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into His death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of His death, we shall be also in the likeness of His resurrection."

The earliest statement of Christian faith, into which you come now to be baptized, is the Apostles' Creed. Shall we all affirm our faith as we read it together:

Congregation Read (with the baptizands) the Apostles' Creed:
#513 in WS

Question #1 - Will you be baptized into this faith? (If so answer, "I WILL."

Response: I WILL.

Question #2 - Do you acknowledge Jesus Christ as your personal Savior, and do you realize that he saves you now?

Response: I DO.

Question #3 - Will you obey God's holy will and keep His commandments, walking in them all the days of your life?

Response: I WILL.

[Y o u r n a m e], I baptize YOU in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Principles for Success

January 1, 1989

Proverbs 3: 1 - 11

Introduction:

Three dynamic principles combine in one powerful statement of confidence in this passage from Proverbs. Here we have a formula for progress and for victory. If we will carefully GIVE ATTENTION, and then in faith SEEK TO OBEY our part— the commandment side of each equation, then God will most certainly carry out His part on the PROMISE SIDE. We may depend on HIM!

What are these principles? Perhaps we may see them best as we relate to what we will NEED in this New Year, and indeed, what we will need all the days of our lives:

I. WE NEED DEFINITE DIRECTION FROM GOD

Only a fool thinks that he can chart his course with certainty in any and every situation of life, let alone in spiritual matters for time and eternity.

But when we know what to do, then half the battle is won! [Even sanctified Christians know this struggle! They are willing to do God's will, but as they face decision time, HOW are we to know what God wants?]

How often people struggle on blindly in dead-end situations, impossible situations that will never change, when just a little change of direction here, or a shift of emphasis there would mean a totally different outlook.

So many people are frustrated by what seems like a futile round of toil and meaningless activity, of boredom and emptiness, when a new sense of motivation, a fresh perception of GUIDANCE would make all the difference in the world.

But that insight never seems to come! That new direction is never taken!

["Spotters" or assistant coaches sit high above the football field. They are connected with the men on field level; they see the opposition from a higher, overall view. And many a game has been won or lost because A HIGHER VIEW saw something that could never have been seen at ground level. An adjustment has been made.

[WOULDN'T IT BE WONDERFUL IF SOMEHOW WE COULD GET THAT 'HIGHER VIEW?'
-KNOW WHICH WAY TO GO?]

Hear God's promise: "I WILL DIRECT YOUR PATHS!"

But as with every promise in the Bible, there is a condition to be met. [This is not to say that God's promises "work" by "our works." But we do have a part to play in every promise that we claim.] AND HERE OUR PART IS TWO-FOLD:

1. TRUST (LOVE) WITH ALL YOUR HEART. This means that you are to throw away your "reserve clauses" and "escape schemes." You do not, you will not "hedge" against failure. Actually our love involves both AFFECTION and TRUST.

AFFECTION means literally telling God that we do love Him, and that we are seeking ways to love and serve Him better. Our prayers should not merely be done from duty, or so that we can 'get more things done,' but more and more they should be seeking COMMUNION: learning to know God and to develop a Father-child relationship with Him.

TRUST means coming to believe in God's INTEGRITY. Integrity means living in truth what we say with our words.

Illus: [Your earthly father says "Rake the leaves and then we'll go to the ball game together." Lack of trust says, "(1) I won't rake the leaves because I don't feel like it." or "(2) I'll rake the leaves because Dad will be angry with me if I don't!" — but then I'll run off because I don't really think dad will have time to go to the ball game or that he will want to when he comes home.]

[So, the first part of the COMMANDMENT SIDE is TRUST/LOVE, and the second part is:]

2. OBEDIENCE...(IN ALL THY WAYS!.) And this is where we really begin to feel the rub! For God's promises are never set up for "trial runs" or "part-time usage." The simple reason why many people do not prosper in their souls is because they acknowledge God in 99% or less of their ways. It is that last 1% that is critical. God simply can not and will not bless a hold- out.

God does not expect ABSOLUTE perfection from any of us. But He does want our love and loyalty. And He wants ALL OF US that there is!

[So, in summary of this first of three phases of this New Year's promise:]

We need direction.. and as we give to God our total love and trust... we can claim His promise. THEN GOD IS BOUND BY THE INTEGRITY OF HIS WORD TO DIRECT OUR PATHS!

[Transition: This whole message is contained in this first section. It doesn't get any better than having God direct our paths. But this passage goes on to highlight and illuminate and expand on this theme of victory. Here is another need:]

II. WE NEED VIGOR AND ENTHUSIASM WITH WHICH TO PURSUE LIFE'S GOALS

And believe me, this is much more easily talked about than demonstrated! What a wonderful, wonderful blessing is physical health! And health of mind is even more blessed and wonderful! And perhaps health of the inner person, the spirit and soul health is best of all.

It is my conviction that this passage touches to some extent all three kinds of health— body, mind, and soul/spirit. I know that even the body benefits from this second part of this great promise from God's Word:

HEAR GOD'S PROMISE: "THIS WILL BRING HEALTH TO YOUR BODY, AND NOURISHMENT TO YOUR BONES."

But once again, we have a brief- but-very-definite condition to fulfill in order to qualify for the promise. And once again, our part of the equation is in two parts:

1. DON'T BE A KNOW-IT-ALL. Don't be wise in your own eyes. How many of us have missed opportunities to grow because we have been talking when we should have been listening. And if this is true when we talk with people here on earth, how much more when Almighty God is concerned?

We need to be OPEN and on the ALERT to just how God wants to communicate with us. [ON TIP-TOE TO CATCH THE LEADING OF THE SPIRIT!] And yet the very people that need this the most will be the very last to think that this applies to them!

"Just the message for SAM!" they will say! But perhaps YOU are the one who needs a radical change of spirit? ? ?

How many hard places we suffer through... how many blame God for the difficult place to which He has brought us... when it could just be that some of the hard knocks are evidence of our unwillingness to learn, to be taught!

2. TURN AWAY ENTIRELY FROM ALL KNOWN EVIL! Declare WAR on sin! Have absolutely NO fraternization with the enemy! FLEE from temptation! AVOID the very appearance of evil— not because of what people will say or think— but because you want God's health. [A PRACTICAL APPLICATION: You are sitting comfortably before the TV when something comes on ... gets your interest ... which soon offends your spirit just the slightest. TURN IT OFF TO THE GLORY OF GOD! TURN IT OFF WITH A PRAYER:

"Father, I want You to fill my mind, and not this garbage! Amen."]

Ask God for a holy ANGER! Ask the Holy Spirit to show you your own shortcomings ... how prone we humans are to actually enjoy the exposure of great sins in others while at the same time we excuse the sins we consider "small" that we harbor in our own thought life!

Sins like: harsh judgment of others ... an unloving, critical spirit ... any kind of double-dealing— of lying by implication ... we must shun— turn away— reject anything like this, anything that is not of God's Spirit.

And why should we turn away from evil? (1) Because of other people's personal convictions? NO (2) because of legalistic standards? NO (3) Because of fear of what people might say? NO

We turn away from evil because IF WE TURN AWAY WE SHALL ENJOY GOOD HEALTH! So many people are not robust, healthy Christians because they have never been convinced of the need to HATE SIN as well as to LOVE THE LORD!

[Transition: GUIDANCE! HEALTH! Wonderful promises! But finally this passage of God's promises becomes very down-to-earth and practical indeed!

Our economic prosperity is built on the film of a soap- bubble. The future of New England and America and your future and mine are certainly very uncertain.

But in the midst of all this uncertainty, do I have the courage to tell you that GOD IS PROMISING PROSPERITY IN 1989??

Do I begin to sound like the "Name it and claim it" prophets?

Well- what is it that we really NEED?]

III. IN EVERY AREA OF OUR LIVES WE NEED ABUNDANCE, AND NOT JUST A STARVING, DYING EXISTENCE

I'm aware that for a little while this morning I am going to sound a little like a TV preacher. And I don't want to get the cart before the horse. This is never an enticement to become a Christian. Christ still says: "Take up your CROSS daily, and follow Me!"

BUT I ALSO HONESTLY BELIEVE THAT AS WE FOLLOW JESUS, GOD IS GOING TO SUPPLY EVERY GENUINE NEED— AND THAT, BROTHER, SISTER— THAT IS TRUE ABUNDANCE!

Once again, our side of the equation is two-fold:

1. FIRST: HONOR THE LORD WITH OUR SUBSTANCE! (This means our money, and our material benefits which we have received from our righteous labors.)

ALL our substance should honor the Lord! And this does not mean that God is not interested in the beautiful things, the flower gardens and the vacations and recreation that may be available. Jesus Himself endorsed vacations (even if He didn't get to practice them as much as He would have liked.)

But honoring the Lord with ALL of our substance does mean that God does not want us dividing our lives into one part which is God's, and sacred, and another part which is "ours" and secular, and has nothing to do with God.

[When ALL of life is submitted, THERE COMES A RADICAL CHANGE! It may not seem like a miracle; but when we honor God with ALL, then HE works wonders!:]

Illus: [A heckler asked a street preacher in Britain if he really believed that 'hogwash' about Jesus changing water into wine— and the street preacher said, "I don't know all about that; but in my house Jesus has changed beer into furniture!"]

2. SECOND: WE HONOR GOD WITH THE FIRST-FRUITS OF OUR INCOME. (Please, this part of my message is just for born-again Christians. i wouldn't think of asking non-believers to believe this part!*)

I am talking now about the principle of STOREHOUSE TITHING. If there were ever a time when i wanted to be faithful to the principle of storehouse tithing it would be in a time of adversity. For tithing makes me, on a very practical level, a partner with God.

I used to preach tithing in the hopes that it would help out the church in its finances. Which, by the way, it did.

BUT NOW I PREACH STOREHOUSE TITHING BECAUSE I GENUINELY WANT CHRISTIANS TO FIND ABUNDANCE! (One of the very first principles in business is not to steal from your partner!

(And any time I can get set up in partnership with the wealthiest person in all the world, who promises to meet all my needs if I trust him with all my assets. I am a fool if I don't take him at his word! And I am a fool if I don't play square with him— and walk in abundance!)

If you would be free in your faith as you face the uncertainties of the future, then stay PRAYED UP, and stay PAID UP! If you would claim God's partnership in your projects, in your areas of need, then tithe from a proper motivation.

Christian! I challenge you to be a storehouse tither!

Conclusion:

[Finally, then,] What has this passage said to us about DYNAMIC PRINCIPLES FOR SUCCESS IN THIS COMING YEAR ??

IT SAYS: GOD'S PROMISES EXACTLY MEET OUR NEED!

We need DIRECTION; and we may have God's GUIDANCE by LOVING and OBEYING Him.

We need VITALITY AND HEALTH; and we may claim God's promise as we are HUMBLE BEFORE HIM, and as we ESCHEW EVIL.

We need ABUNDANCE; and God has promised to honor us AS WE HONOR HIM WITH OUR POSSESSIONS AND PRACTICE STOREHOUSE TITHING.

We are NOT helpless pawns of Fate as we face this New Year, and all the years of life which God may permits us to know. God help us to avail ourselves of these tremendous promises in our text.

#64 Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah

The Sacrament of Baptism

January 1, 1989 (pm) Baptismal service; Adapted from October, 1988

Intro:

Perhaps one day we will have a baptismal service and NOT have the entire evening center on that sacrament. But for now it is well that we make it the center of our message:

One of the difficult things for Protestants is fixing in their minds the relative importance of the sacraments of the church. Of all the means of grace, they are possibly understood the least.

I. THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SACRAMENTS AS MEANS OF GRACE

I begin this brief message on baptism by asking some disarmingly simple questions:

- A. WHAT IS GRACE? Grace is unmerited favor of God; grace is that which bestows God's great LOVE on us; grace is God's attitude of forgiveness toward the sinner; grace is a quickening and strengthening of life within the soul.
- B. AND WHAT ARE "MEANS OF GRACE?" MEANS OF GRACE ARE just that: the ways and means, the vehicles or channels by which God bestows His LOVE on our hearts. And what are the 'means of grace?' My list may not be complete, but I submit seven:
 - 1. WORD OF GOD; and with this I include the faithful the preaching of the Word, as well as reading in order to obey God's will.
 - 2. PRAYER IS PROBABLY THE PRIMARY MEANS OF GRACE; and prayer combines with power with the use of the Word.
 - 3. THE FELLOWSHIP OF GOD'S PEOPLE is a significant and powerful means of grace. God never intends for us to make our way to heaven independent of other individuals, or of other families, or even other groups of believers. God intends that we bear one another's burdens.

4. CORPORATE WORSHIP, in the large groups or celebrations, in the smaller groups united around a lesson or a ministry (congregations,) as well as in the accountability groups of prayer and sharing (cells,) is a means of grace.
5. PERSONAL WORSHIP may be the same as #2, prayer; but it involves the carrying forward of life in the spirit of 'the living sacrifice.'
6. Wiley lists THE SABBATH AS A MEANS OF GRACE! It was introduced at the time of man's creation, and belongs to mankind generally and perpetually. Personally, I am convinced that there is great spiritual power waiting to be released in the lives of the people who can tap the resources of the Lord's Day by observing it joyfully, not in bondage, but in rest and worship and refreshing.
7. But the last 'means of grace' I would mention are THE SACRAMENTS OF THE CHURCH THAT WERE INSTITUTED BY JESUS.

C. C. WHAT ARE 'SACRAMENTS?'

We use the term 'sacrament' to signify an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given to us, ordained by Christ Himself as a means of receiving that grace, and as a pledge or assurance of Christ's promise. From the earliest times, the sacraments have been understood by the church to be religious rites that carry the most solemn obligation of loyalty to Jesus Christ and His Church.

1. The RC church teaches seven (7) sacraments: baptism, the Lord's supper (or "mass",) confirmation, ordination, extreme unction (or 'last rites,') penance (or 'confession,') and marriage.
2. All Protestant churches recognize but two: baptism and the Lord's Supper.

SACRAMENTS ARE PLEDGES OF LOYALTY TO JESUS CHRIST; THEY ARE TESTIMONIES THAT MARK CHRISTIANS AS SEPARATE, DIFFERENT FROM THOSE WHO DO NOT BELIEVE.

- D. It is vitally important that we reach out for God's grace in every way we can. [Perhaps we do not take seriously the parables of Jesus when He warned us that it is mortally dangerous to have talents and not use them!] We are responsible not only for what we are, but for what we might be by God's free gifts of grace!

Along this line John Wesley once said: (in 1736) "I think the rock on which I had the nearest made shipwreck of the faith was the writings of the Mystics; under which term I comprehend all, and only those, who slight any of the means of grace." GFH, p541

In other words, Wesley said that even people who seem to be so very, very spiritual nearly led him astray when they picked out which means of grace they would adopt, and which they would avoid. Wesley was saying 'I want to be faithful to God through Christ's church!'

- E. And if you wonder what John Wesley thought the 'true church' consisted of, here is a quote from H. Ray Dunning: "There were two major means that Mr. Wesley seemed to identify as constitutive of the church: the pure Word of God preached, and the sacraments duly administered. This puts him squarely in the Reformation tradition." GFH p542]

II. THE IMPORTANCE OF BAPTISM AS A MEANS OF GRACE

Baptism is clearly one of the sacraments of the church. It was instituted by the Lord Jesus, first by His example, and then by His unmistakable command (in the words of the text:)

Baptism means three things for the believer:

1. BAPTISM MEANS IDENTIFYING WITH JESUS in His baptism.

John the Baptist baptized many people in the Jordan. This was not clearly outlined in Old Testament law, but it could have some meaning of preparation for the coming of a new order, in that just before the giving of the Law on Sinai, God told Moses to sanctify the people, and He specifically said: "Have them wash their garments!"

But the baptism of Jesus was unique. Jesus was identifying with sinners, even though He knew no sin. In coming with the sinners, JESUS TOOK THE ROLE OF THE SUFFERING SERVANT; and in the descent of the Holy Spirit HE CLEARLY EXEMPLIFIED THE ROLE OF THE ANOINTED ONE, THE MESSIAH.

No one else was sinless that day, or any other day. But Jesus identified with everyone who has failed; he came to bear our sins and sorrows to the Tree.

No one else could ever hear the Father say: "This is my Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased!" and have the Holy Spirit descend without measure.

But if Jesus identified with us, with sinful humanity that day of His baptism; then we, as His spiritual sons and daughters identify with Him.

We are not called on to die as the sinless sacrifice; but BAPTISM IS THE WAY OF THE SUFFERING SERVANT; and we identify with Jesus in death to sin (He died for sin.)

We cannot know the fullness of the Holy Spirit as Jesus knew Him, but WE ARE CALLED TO ACCEPT THE ANOINTING OF GOD, indwelling us, and live in the new life and power of that life the Holy Spirit brings.

2. BAPTISM MEANS INCORPORATION INTO THE CHURCH. The washing of baptism by John indicated a preparation for a new age of the Spirit of God. But Jesus transformed John's baptism, and made it the sacramental portion of His Great Commission: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.
3. BAPTISM MEANS THE INITIAL RECEPTION OF THE HOLY SPIRIT. The Holy Spirit is the gift of the Son, and of the Father. He comes to make Jesus real to us. He is the Spirit of Jesus. He does not testify of Himself, but is the fulfillment of the promise: "Lo, I AM with you always, even to the end of the age."

The connection of baptism with the reception of the Holy Spirit seems clear in the New Testament. Sometimes the people received the Spirit as, or after they were baptized; sometimes it was a witness or a seal after they had already been saved.

Acts 2:38 (Peter says:) "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, AND YE SHALL RECEIVE THE GIFT OF THE HOLY GHOST." Here, clearly, the people to be baptized did not yet have the Holy Spirit.

But later, at Caesarea, Cornelius and his household received the Holy Spirit as Peter was preaching to them. And the question there was: "Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, WHICH HAVE RECEIVED THE HOLY GHOST AS WELL AS WE?"

In obedience to the command of Christ, we can expect that the sacrament of baptism will be a confirmation of the promise of God the Father and God the Son to bestow the Holy Spirit, personally, and powerfully, into each believer's heart!

The Sacrament

Dearly Beloved: Baptism is the sign and seal of the new covenant of grace, the significance of which is attested by the apostle Paul in his letter to the Romans as follows: (Romans 6:3-5) "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into His death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of His death, we shall be also in the likeness of His resurrection."

The earliest statement of Christian faith, into which you come now to be baptized, is the Apostles' Creed. Shall we all affirm our faith as we read it together:

Congregation Read (with the baptizands) the Apostles' Creed: #513 in WS

John 2:1-11

Introduction:

From now until just before Easter, with a number of interesting special services and guest speakers and a revival series interspersed along the way, I propose to preach a series of sermons about Jesus; specifically, "Seeing Jesus in His Miracles." I propose to take the miracles of Jesus as recorded in the Gospel of St. John, and look at them one by one as we ask ourselves the question: "What does this miracle reveal to me of the person and character and purpose of Jesus Christ my Lord?"

When Philip "discovered" Jesus, he wanted to tell his friend, Nathaniel. When Nathaniel found out Jesus had been living in Nazareth, he asked, "Can anything good come out of Nazareth?" And Philip's answer remains valid: "Come and see!" See for yourself! And that is what we want to do again: to see Jesus!

And to begin this morning: THE MIRACLE AT CANA.

I. JESUS DEFIES COMPARISON OR 'NEAT' CATEGORIZING

We have to meet and know Jesus for ourselves!

Probably every devout Jew had an idea what Messiah should be, and do. A Messiah should be a strong man to bring political deliverance; or else an ascetic like John the Baptist. He should be "this," or He should be "that!" But who would ever think that the Messiah would perform His first miracle at a common wedding in a little out-of-the-way hill village far away from the center of things?

We had better be careful in 'assuming' we know 'all about Jesus!'

We love to categorize people and institutions. It helps us to pigeonhole them in their "proper" place in our scheme of things; and to some extent it gives us power over them, at least in our own minds. This is an inner arrogance, this being so sure that we understand other very complex people.

And if it is sad that we do this quickly with each other, it is even more sad when we think we know all about the Lord Jesus even before we give Him a chance to be Himself, and say for Himself what He has to say.

JESUS IS NOT TO BE NEATLY BOXED, AND 'EXPLAINED' AND TAMED!

When we meet the living Jesus, we are meeting Almighty God Himself! We are dealing here with MYSTERY! - Jesus cannot be "owned" and "packaged;" He must own me!

Jesus is NOT capricious. He can be depended on to keep His word. But at the same time Jesus is never limited to our predictions. (Why would He do the thing with wine?)

SO, THIS IS HOW JESUS INAUGURATED HIS MIRACLES, HIS MASTERY OVER THIS UNIVERSE!

It is a "dawning." It gives a hint at what shall follow. It is not out of character with Christ, even though it is surprising to many that Jesus would begin here, in this way.

It was an unveiling. It brought a glimpse of His glory to His disciples; and they believed on Him.

II. JESUS SET THE EXAMPLE OF JOY - OURS IS AN AUDACIOUSLY JOYFUL WAY !

- A. The very nature of salvation is that it must deal with sin, and guilt, and the darker side of existence that robs us of real life. But our God does NOT delight in GUILT! Jesus came to destroy the works of sin! There is a time and a place to face up to sin. But a religion that is habitually long-faced, and always engrossed in ascetics is NOT the faith Jesus manifested here.
- B. The ascetic way seems harder. Somehow it seems more pious to keep on wearing the hair shirt. It denies pleasures; it boasts of what it gives up; it revels in sacrifice. Actually it is self-centered! It refuses to let go control! It has set, rigid rules; it determines who can or cannot "enter into the kingdom."
- C. Jesus' way is not asceticism, but holiness. Christ's way does not deny pleasures, it denies self! And that is different from denying pleasures! Yes, there is a cross. But there is also JOY at the goal; and there is wonderful FELLOWSHIP ALONG THE WAY— and there is laughter and there is love!

III. THE MIRACLE AT CANA REVEALED A PATTERN OF ABUNDANCE

[... But why did He have to make His first miracle about 'wine'? !!!]

Abundance? Why it was even OVER-ABUNDANCE!: 6 times 20 or 30 gallons ...120 or 180 gallons times 4 (quarts per gallon) = 480 or 720 quarts of wine. At $10.00 a quart there was $5,000- 8,000 worth of wine ... WHY?? Was it ...a gift to the couple? ..a message about the Holy Spirit ? ... was it a pre-cursor of the message that "faith is wealth?"

- A. We "spiritualize" these truths— and say they have NO application in material things . . . life is to be "hard here" but we persevere. To those who would be "Essenes" and retire from life and living and fast all the time Jesus spoke by His example: I do not deny the finer things of life. I can enjoy social times; I endorse marriage; there are times when the thing to do is simply have a good time!
- B. Or, we go to the other extreme, and "materialize" all the promises: we say, "God intends us to live in luxury!" "Health and wealth indicate great and pure faith!" To those who would go to the other extreme and use faith to serve self and procure material things, Jesus spoke clearly: Seek ye first the kingdom of God ... The Son of Man was a homeless person much of His life!!

- C. But Jesus "actualizes" His abundant life! "All things are YOURS!" And no one savors life [more], even here and now, like people who are in love with Jesus Christ!

John Wesley said: "Christ does not take away human society, but sanctifies it. Water might have quenched thirst; yet our Lord allows wine; especially at a festival solemnity."

His people LIVE even here, in the NOW! And His people have the assurance about the THEN, too!

IV. THE MIRACLE AT CANA BEGAN TO REVEAL THE AUTHOR OF LIFE

"Whatever He says to you, do it!" Advice from Mary that we may well heed: and as the disciples OBEYED they saw Christ's GLORY, and they BELIEVED!

- A. To obey Christ, and to reveal Him, is the ESSENCE of Christian faith: and we will not get to know what Jesus is like until we begin to trust and obey Him.
 - 1. Go, carry water, fill the pots there!
 - 2. Now, carry some to the governor of the feast! ... as the miracle unfolded, the disciples believed!
- B. To obey Christ, and to reveal Him, is the EVIDENCE of the Christian faith: and OTHERS will never know who Jesus is until we begin to obey Him in the little and big things of life!
 - 1. Christ will bless others through our obedience!
 - 2. But there is risk involved! We cannot "carry miracles" if we compromise in the obedience! ... the GLORY of Christ and His POWER and AUTHORITY was evident as the disciples obeyed!
- C. To obey Christ, and to reveal HIM, is the EVANGEL of the Christian faith: when we come to KNOW WHO JESUS IS, others will want to know Him, too!

[Jesus lived in a real world. The life of JOY and ABUNDANCE begins the moment HE, JESUS, comes into our lives. God's world— we don't deny the good things— we DENY

SELF! That is a lot more radical than denying self OF THINGS! But Jesus says: DENY SELF...AND ALL THINGS ARE YOURS, AND YE ARE CHRIST'S AND CHRIST IS GOD'S.]

Conclusion: WHAT DO WE SEE OF JESUS IN THIS MIRACLE AT CANA?

And how can what we see make an impact on our lives?

1. I SEE A TENDER, LOVING, JOYFUL SAVIOR.

Don't mistake: we need the discipline of fasting; we need the times of extra prayer, and waiting before the Lord. BUT, do we tend to have the self-centered ethic of asceticism?; if only we pray harder, or if we dig in, we can do anything we want! Do we begrudge a day in the mountains— or try to make an evangelistic message out of every sunset, rather than simply enjoy being with God and with His people? GOD WANTS WHOLE PEOPLE! The JOY of the Lord is our strength!

2. I SEE A SELF-GIVING SAVIOR, LIVING EVEN IN HIS "OFF MOMENTS," HIS TIMES OF JOY FOR OTHERS!

[Rather than being fanatical about fasting and abstaining from the pleasures of life, we are more likely to have the self-centered ethic of easy- believism. Many Christians would never say it, but they ACT AS IF God exists to make all our water into wine, so why should we work hard? Why bother about the cross? THIS isn't the Jesus you are seeing at Cana!]

Can we come to the place where we will simply OBEY Him? I want to obey Him every time I know that it is Jesus Who is speaking. I want to be attuned. "Go fill the pots with water!" Why? How can that help? What do You want me to do that for? Seemingly futile actions in obedience to direct command; as well as risking personal embarrassment if something miraculous doesn't happen.

3. I THINK MAYBE JESUS CHOSE TO BEGIN HIS MIRACLE-WORKING AUTHORITY AT A WEDDING BECAUSE HE WANTS US TO REMEMBER THAT IF WE FOLLOW HIM WE WILL ONE DAY END UP AT ANOTHER WEDDING FEAST!

Miracle at Cana

Do we dare to follow this Jesus away from the "expected" into the fullness of abundant life?

"Whatever HE says to you— DO IT!" The LAST will be better than the first! He will be our 'security!'

John 5:8 "Arise, take up your bed, and walk."

This is the third miracle that John records.

[Perhaps we ought not go past the second miracle without at least taking a brief glance: Jesus tells a man to go home, and he will find his son healed. It is a miracle of authority; and of faith that would believe even when it couldn't see.]

But here in John, Chapter 5, is the story of how Jesus healed a helpless man among throngs of lame, blind, and infirm at Bethesda, the House of Mercy, the Pool of Siloam.

I. A MAN WHO SIMPLY COULDN'T HANDLE LIFE

- A. He was a man with severely damaged HOPE. He had been 38 years among the disabled. Vaguely he kept feeling: "I'm made for something better than this!" He was always looking for a tomorrow that he never really expected would come. When hope is faint or damaged, it becomes just wishful thinking. This is the mentality that takes what little subsistence it has and buys a "Megabucks" ticket.
- B. This man was asked: WHAT DO YOU REALLY WANT? Jesus asked a key question: "Do you want to be made whole?"

We all want to be free from certain aspects of our situation; we want to believe we will never have to face the consequences of our sins. But we do not want to simply let them go; we do not want to be free of the twisted pleasures, the gratifications of our sins: the forbidden thoughts of lust — the secret thoughts of revenge — the bitter thoughts of ill-will — the petty thoughts of jealousy.

But this man thought it over. he thought, 'I don't know what difference it will make— and I don't have anyone to help me- - but, yes, I DO want to be well! And so this powerless man received:

C. The challenge of FAITH! STAND UP! YOUR WEAKNESS IS OVER!

Cruel words? If you or I said such a thing to a disabled person it WOULD be cruel! But Jesus is NEVER cruel!

The words of Jesus are always compassionate, at least to the lowly in heart. But the words of Jesus are also always challenging. When JESUS speaks then we know, somehow that this is not human persuasion. This is not a technique. We grasp the authority in the Speaker! This is God Himself!

But He is asking us to do what we alone cannot do! "Rise and walk!" "Go and sin no more!"

But Jesus' words are not just compassionate and challenging. JESUS' WORDS ARE ALSO ALWAYS ENABLING! If we know it is Jesus, then we can do whatever He says! This man, catching the spark of faith in Christ's authority, was made whole as he obeyed.

It seems as though there ought to be more to it than that! There ought to be spiritual fireworks! [Isn't there supposed to be a great crowd-reaction— and an appeal for "funds to keep this faith-ministry on the air!" ?? It is wonderful when we simply hear the voice of Jesus say: YOU ARE FREE RIGHT NOW! IF YOU WILL GET UP AND WALK AS I SAY!

English pastor Spurgeon used an illustration of a wealthy American woman who brought her "servant" aboard a British ship anchored off the port in which she lived. (Servant = slave!) The rich lady made the observation that if she sailed to Britain, and the servant went ashore on British soil, she would be "free." But the captain said, "She was a free woman the moment she walked on this deck!" And the black woman refused to go ashore with the woman that had been her mistress. She sailed to England a free woman! WHEN JESUS SPEAKS, WE ARE FREE!

- D. To be HELPLESS is not a liability when we are dealing with Jesus. It isn't just the OBVIOUSLY disabled who are helpless in the eternal things that matter!

We hate to relinquish the appearance of control, but the fact is we cannot save ourselves!

Certainly there are gifted, strong men and women. Certainly God can and does use great gifts to His glory. Thank God for the gifts He gives, of intelligence and personality, of creativity in arts and music, of keenness in perception and insight in science and business.

But the greatest of gifts are still helplessness before the Lord until they come under the love and power and authority of God Himself. And THEN they take on dimensions of eternity! They begin to really matter! And we helpless men and women begin to LIVE!

II. HERE IS A SAVIOR WHO SPECIALIZES IN MAKING PEOPLE WHOLE

And in keeping with the theme of this brief series: "What does this miracle reveal to us of Jesus?"

- A. Jesus always acts in union with God the Father. What we see in Jesus, we know about God; and what God does/will do in resurrection and judgment. He will do through Jesus Christ! ("Do not marvel at this (miracle of empowerment; verse 28) for an hour is coming in which all who are in the tombs shall hear His voice and shall come forth ..." This making one powerless man whole is no problem for the One who holds ALL OF LIFE AND CREATION in His creative Fiat!

- B. Jesus (and thus God Almighty) has great respect/regard for the human will.

God never comes into our lives over the resistance of our will. The greatest single hindrance to spiritual power in people's lives is the lack of genuine desire. People who profess to be Christian do not really want to be HOLY! If we desire to be like Jesus Christ then He will find a way to get to us, and speak a Word that will enable us! but if we just say the words we will remain helpless beside the Pool of Mercy.

DO YOU WANT TO BE MADE WHOLE? God has great regard for your will! You will never achieve spiritual greatness unless you desire it supremely, and unless you answer His question, "Will you be whole?"

- C. Jesus can and does use His authority to make people whole! Jesus is still speaking words of compassion. He is still speaking words that challenge. But His words are still enabling words, as well!

[But this miracle is set in a chapter that contrasts a powerless man who was made whole, and some supposedly very powerful men who refused the very Source of Life.]

III. A GIFTED, PRIVILEGED GROUP OF MEN WHO NEVER FOUND LIFE

At the beginning of the chapter is a man who COULDN'T— but at the close are men who WOULDN'T come to the Source of Life, even though HE was right before their very eyes!

- A. It would seem that such love and kindness ought to provoke an outpouring of joy and celebration. "Messiah is here!" Or, at least, "Someone is here who cares about people, and is helping the helpless!" But instead there was bitter opposition- - and it came along the line of CONTROL! The "power structure" of the religious society attacked Jesus at the point of His UNION WITH GOD THE FATHER!

To acknowledge His claims would mean for them a relinquishing of the CONTROL they THOUGHT they had over their own salvation BY WORKS, by keeping the "scriptures" THEY had interpreted.

B. SAVING FAITH IS IMPOSSIBLE WHEN OUR MEASURE OF FAITH IS ONLY HUMAN.

We compare ourselves with one another: "I am as good as..." Or, "What matters is that we are true to ourselves!"

What is more, we sit in judgment over the scripture: WE select which part or parts we shall obey!

C. It wasn't as though these people were shut away from the means of grace. They did have the true scriptures! (Jesus said [verse 39] "You (do) search the scriptures!" BUT IT WAS IN THE SCRIPTURES, IN THEIR SMUG CERTAINTY THAT THEY HAD A HANDLE ON TRUTH, THAT THEY THOUGHT THEY HAD ETERNAL LIFE.

But Jesus went on: "The scriptures point the way to ME!" Verses 39-40 "You search the scriptures, because you think that in them YOU have eternal life; and it is these that bear witness of Me; and you are unwilling to come to Me, that you may have life."

D. These people were damned because they were UNWILLING to come to Jesus! This is what HE said!

Conclusion:

We are catching the threads of continuity that run through this portrait of Jesus at work: threads of compassion, and of understanding.

But the thread I see is this constant of DIVINE AUTHORITY! It is the untameable and awesome power of God!

1. When Jesus speaks, it IS the voice of God! When GOD speaks, something within us responds! No one can presume to say, "When I preach you will hear God!" We trust and hope that by the Holy Spirit that often takes place. But no one can speak for Jesus, finally, except Jesus Himself, by the power of His Holy Spirit!
2. When we come seeking God (in prayer/worship/preaching worship/wherever) and that connection is made, THERE IS SOMETHING BEYOND INTELLECTUAL BELIEVISM!

The Healing at Bethesda

A genuine encounter with Jesus Christ will be more than just a parade to an altar to say some words! It is an encounter with compassion, and with a challenge to a new way! And it will also be an enabling Word!

The powerless man stood up, carried his bed, walked— in obedience to the Word of Jesus Christ!

The nobleman from Capernaum turned around, and went back toward home in obedience to the Word of Jesus Christ!

WHAT IS JESUS THE CHRIST SAYING TO YOU?

#12(EH) This is Thy Will, I Know (Introduce these two couplets:)

*This is Thy will, I know,
That I should holy be;
Should let my sins this moment go,
This moment turn to Thee.*

*O might I now embrace
Thy all-sufficient pow'r;
And never more to sin give place,
And never grieve Thee more!*

John 6:1-11 (verse 11) Jesus therefore took the loaves; and having given thanks, He distributed to those who were seated; likewise also of the fish as much as they wanted.

INTRODUCTION:

In this miracle, which is so important that it is recorded in all four gospels, there are enough different lessons to keep a scholar busy for a lifetime, I suppose. There is a basic truth about "little is much, when God is in it" that almost applies itself. A lad's lunch: five small loaves and two small fishes, given to Jesus, feed 5,000. But, Look again with me at...

I. THE MIRACLE ITSELF

(text verse) Set the scene; and then:

- A. (verse 6) Jesus knew ahead of time what He was going to do. GOD IS ALWAYS AN ACT-ER, AND NOT A RE-ACT-ER. Circumstances do not "sneak up" on God. In this situation it looked as though Jesus and His disciples were the embarrassed victims of their own success. Thousands had come to hear the wonderful words of life. But now the very mass of people was more than could be handled.

God permits the 'rain to fall on the just and the unjust.' And God respects the free moral choices of human beings in ways we cannot always understand. But God is NEVER surprised by life's twists and turns; and He is never "out of control."

- B. (verse 5) Jesus asked Philip to consider the problem. GOD INTER-ACTS WITH PEOPLE AND WITH THINGS AT HAND. And Philip took an inventory. Other evangelists record the "treasury as low: five loaves, two fish;" But it was good old ANDREW that saw the LAD who owned the "treasury"— the one person who had something of his own to eat.
- C. (verse 11) Jesus therefore took the loaves; and having given thanks, He distributed to those who were seated; likewise also of the fish as much as they wanted. JESUS TOOK WHAT THE DISCIPLES HAD— TOOK ALL OF IT, INADEQUACY AND ALL— AND WORKED A MIRACLE OF GRACE!
- D. (verse 26 "Truly, truly I say to you, you seek me, not because you saw signs, but because you ate of the loaves, and were filled. Do not work for the food which perishes, but for the food which endures to eternal life...") The miracle had some unforeseen re-actions. SOMETIMES GOD'S GIFTS, AND THE BENEFITS OF GOD'S LOVE CAN BE THE FOCUS OF AMBITION AND DESIRE, RATHER THAN THE LIFE IN CHRIST ITSELF.

II. SEEING THE PERSON AND WORK OF JESUS IN THE MIRACLE

This story is another documentary about how Jesus met with people, and gives us a clear example of the interwoven strands of the kingdom of God:

These three strands are LOVE, and SERVICE, and HOLINESS. Put into inter-human terms, they are loving fellowship, caring service, and faithful proclamation; (the Greek, or New Testament terms are koinonia, diakonia, and kerigma.) Jesus taught, and Jesus showed by his example that all three, LOVING, and SHARING, and PROCLAMATION, were vital, important to Him.

We're tempted to try to bring in the kingdom of God simply by telling people, "this is HOW to become a Christian!" And we prefer if a minister does the telling in a revival or church service. But look at how Jesus modeled the kingdom:

- A. THIS MIRACLE SHOWS US THAT JESUS LOVED PEOPLE. John simply records that Jesus looked up and saw the crowd coming. But Mark tells us (1) that Jesus had gone on a retreat, to get away; no doubt He was tired, perhaps even worn out. But Mark also says (probably with the eye-witness of Peter prompting him) that (2) when Jesus saw the multitude, He had compassion on them, because they were like a sheep without a shepherd.
- IT IS JUST ABOUT IMPOSSIBLE TO EVANGELIZE APART FROM LOVE.

The Gospel is GOOD NEWS; the evangel is the message of God's love. And somewhere along the way it has to be fleshed out.

(Illus: The story is told of a little boy on a bitter, snowy, windy day in Chicago, coming into Dwight L. Moody's Sunday School, stamping the snow off his feet, and looking almost frozen to death.

"Where do you live?" the boy was asked. When he told, the questioner said, "You walked past several good churches to get here this cold morning. Why didn't you go to one closer to your home?"

The little boy answered: "I guess its because they love a feller here!")

- B. THIS MIRACLE ALSO SHOWED US THAT JESUS SAW PEOPLE AS MORE THAN SOULS TO BE SAVED. JESUS UNDERSTOOD PEOPLE. He knew that they were not just lost souls, or damned sinners, but they were also hungry stomachs. He knew that they were teenagers wondering what people might think of them— or what they were thinking of themselves. He knew they were older folk wondering if the health would hold out as long as the savings. He knew they were middle-aged people carrying burdens for grown-up children as well as aged parents.

So, when He saw the multitude, He knew they were hungry. And He said, "Where are we going to get food for these people?"

Mark has it a little different, again. The disciples knew it was impossible, so they said: "Send them away before it gets too dark to see the road to the store!" But Jesus aid: "YOU feed them!"

This can have a literal application: we need to share our food. It also is a principle:

*IT IS JUST ABOUT IMPOSSIBLE TO EVANGELIZE "SPIRITUALLY."

At least this is true if we are defining "spiritual" to mean apart and separate from the all the rest of the person.

We might begin our witnessing with a genuine interest in the person we want to bring to Jesus. The need may not be bread, but there is a need. And we may not have what the person needs, any more than the disciples had bread for the 5,000. But we can care, and we can share what we DO have.

- C. BUT THIS MIRACLE ALSO REVEALED WHAT TO MANY SEEMED TO BE A 'NEW SIDE' OF JESUS. JESUS LEVELED WITH PEOPLE. He didn't sail under false colors. He knew when the people wanted simply to USE Him. And He said: "This is what I AM! I AM the Bread of heaven!"

This was a watershed miracle, and a watershed time.

*THERE IS NO EVANGELISM THAT BY-PASSES THE CROSS OF CHRIST!

Sooner or later, and the sooner the better as a rule, we have to come face-to-face with the eternal needs of the people we love. We have to be faithful in saying: "JESUS IS LOVING, JESUS IS CARING, BUT JESUS IS LORD! AND JESUS IS LIFE! AND ONLY JESUS IS LIFE!"

CONCLUSION:

1. From this miracle, ultimately, came a DIVISION (6:66). "Many went back, and walked with Him no more!"

If it had simply been "Loaves and fishes Day" every day there never would have been a problem. If we simply had Praise gatherings, and hand-clapping, toe-tapping times all the time there would be no problem.

But Jesus spoke of DEATH and of SHARING HIS DEATH AND HIS LIFE! And that has a repulsive side to it! It is a humbling thing to NEED a sacrifice! It is a humbling thing to be DIED FOR!

So— the GIFT-SEEKERS BEGAN TO LEAVE! The FREE-LOADERS, and the SCRIPTURE-EDITORS WENT AWAY FOR GOOD!

2. From this miracle came also came a reinforced DECISION (6:67-8) "Do you want to go, too?"

There is real pathos in this scene. Jesus looks at His closest friends, The Twelve, who have only recently been out working for Him. Are YOU looking for what I can DO, rather than for ME?

Peter speaks for us all: "Lord, to whom shall we go? YOU have the words of eternal life!"

3. JESUS CLAIMS HE IS THE ONLY WAY TO ETERNAL LIFE!
 - HAVE YOU MADE A DECISION ABOUT JESUS? Have YOU / ARE you a partaker in the blood and body of the Lord? Through GRACE, by FAITH, have you come to eternal life?
 - ARE YOU WILLING TO SHARE THIS MESSAGE? Will you be an evangel? To CARE? To SERVE? And then, as God gives you grace, to SHARE YOUR FAITH? If you follow the Lord Jesus for Himself, and not just for what He gives and does, I challenge you to take someone on your heart to care about, and to serve, and as the opportunity presents itself, to introduce them to Jesus Christ.

John 6:15-25

Introduction:

After the feeding of the five thousand, (remember that Jesus had gone to the remote region trying to get some "time away,") Jesus was still very weary, and needed some time alone. So he sent the disciples back to Capernaum in their boats and went alone up into the hills to pray. A series of things challenged the disciples:

I. A TIME OF CHALLENGE

[Scene: The Sea of Galilee lies 600 feet below Mediterranean Sea; channels of valleys cut toward the mountains of Lebanon in the north; Mt. Hermon. Winds whip down the valleys— treacherous storms blow up. One does just NOW!]

The certainty of change.

It was a quick transition for the disciples. From the excitement of a disaster (not having enough to eat with thousands hungry) that was turned into a triumph (the feeding of the 5,000); from the "starring role" of miracle-helper and from gathering in baskets of left-overs, the disciples had gone to rowing against the wind, in the dark, with water slopping into their boat.

The mystery of the adverse winds and waves.

Christians experience dark hours when they cannot see/know the Presence; we are NOT called to be fair-weather sailors. So— the gales stirred up the sea. Why? The scriptures don't say. Did Jesus "cause" the wind? Or did it begin with a storm far out over the Mediterranean Sea miles and miles away? Who knows? Does it help to know? GOD PERMITS SOME THINGS WE BLAME HIM FOR. Some things we can/never will understand this side of heaven.

The mystery of the timing of Jesus.

The disciples were on the sea at Jesus' direct command. They were NOT out of His will for them. But they certainly were without the comforting re-assurance of the presence of the Master. Sometimes JESUS SEEMS NOT IN ANY HURRY TO ALLAY FEARS:

Certainly He does see; He does care. But He does not always do what we might THINK He should do. (Martha said: "Lord, if You had been here my brother would not have died.")

Even God's people, on His assignment, for a time experience fear and danger and storms. But Jesus has NOT deserted His own; He knows. And He will never abandon His own!

II. A TIME OF REASSURANCE Jesus Came!

He came in an unexpected way. He just about always does! The very elements that threaten and terrify are the stepping stones, the pathway on which Jesus comes.

He makes Himself KNOWN. There are times when we must hold on in naked faith— there are times when we have no assurance. But in this case Jesus, Himself, assures them it is He: "It is I! Don't be afraid!"

The Presence of Jesus is assurance. They invited Him aboard! And immediately the boat was where they were headed (at His command in the first place!) Sometimes we must build an altar where we are— that the fire may fall where God intends it to do the task assigned!

Jesus bids us be like Him! (Matthew records the episode of Peter asking Jesus to let HIM walk on the sea, too: Peter on the sea... the significance... I'll come to that again, perhaps ???)

III. BUT WHAT DO WE SEE OF JESUS HERE?

(Our series is "Seeing JESUS in His miracles: AND THIS IS ANOTHER CANDID CAMERA SHOT OF JESUS AT WORK)

He still needed that time alone with God the Father— and he got it!

He was the Master of His disciples. They moved at His command. He gave direct commands to the disciples: they knew what the next step was. And He was obeyed.

He was AWESOME: A GLIMPSE OF HIS MAJESTY HERE— beyond the mere "trick" of walking on the water— the elements knew their Master. Something of the TERROR of the night comes through in the telling— first of the storm— then of the seeming apparition— but then of the AWESOME LORD! ("He is NOT "safe" but He is good" is what one character said of Aslan the Lion in the C.S Lewis series in the Chronicles of Narnia.)

He was in CONTROL! (That is beyond "command.")

He permitted Peter (and us) a hint/glimpse? of the FUN/JOY of mastery! There are deeper lessons than that, I'm certain, and yet I have the sense that it was no big deal to Jesus to walk on the water!

IV. APPLICATION(S):

Some people here just NOW may be in a "night-storm" of trouble- financial crisis— absent friends; perhaps facing the reality of DEATH: [we ALL will one day pass through the waters of death: we will see Him then ... "When thou passeth through the waters, I will be with thee..."]

There is STRONG ENCOURAGEMENT in this miracle! This glimpse of our great Lord, Who is not just strong in so-called "religious" matters, but is Master of the entire Universe, including, and maybe especially, the "material" Universe! ... THE LORD JESUS CHRIST'S Kingdom is a kingdom wider in its range and more profound in extent than we are capable of understanding.

I CAN SEE THREE LESSONS:

1. Jesus can "use" the surges, billows, waves, unrest. Christ's commands to us, as we carry them out, will be opposed. But He can overrule, He does see us; and our part is not to whine or complain.
2. Jesus comes to us where we toil. NO one cries out to Him in vain; He does not turn deaf ears. If we are following His commands, the wind may be against us. We may be afraid, but Jesus has never turned a deaf ear to the cry for help, for assurance, for succor. He may seem "late" by our measuring, but He comes all the same! And the worst of the trouble is gone when Jesus comes and shares it with us.
3. What we see Jesus do, we can ask to do, too!

The Christ-life- the way God expects us to LIVE as we walk with His Son, Jesus Christ, is in many ways as foreign to the way we "naturally" live as literally walking on water. (How many people have said, "I can't LIVE like that!") But when Jesus bids us, we like Peter, can begin to "walk on water." Not in a literal sense now, of course. And not perfectly, unhesitatingly. Like Peter we get our eyes on the waves and stumble and start to sink down. But by God's grace Christians can do some things even harder than walking on water! Sometimes we can be Christ-like through transforming love.

It is natural to be small and petty. It is natural to love friends and hate enemies. Perhaps the hardest thing of all is to find grace to forgive real injustice. The desire for vengeance is great, especially when we have been offended. Jesus enables us to forgive from the heart, as He forgave His enemies:

Don Ratzlaff in his book The Christian Leader, from Ernest Gordon's Miracle on the River Kwai: (and I quote)

The Scottish soldiers had been forced by their captors to labor on a jungle railroad, and they had degenerated to barbarous behavior, more and more acting like animals. But then something happened:

"A shovel was missing. The officer in charge became enraged. He demanded that the missing shovel be produced, or else. When nobody in the squadron budged, the officer got his gun and threatened to kill them all on the spot. .. It was obvious that the officer meant what he had said. Then, finally, one man stepped forward. The officer put away his gun, picked up a shovel, and beat the man to death. When it was over, the survivors picked up the bloody corpse and carried it with them to the second tool check. This time, no shovel was missing. Indeed, there had been a miscount at the first check point.

"The word spread like wildfire through the whole camp. An innocent man had been willing to die to save the others! ... The incident had a profound effect. . . the men began to treat each other like brothers.

"When the victorious Allies swept in, the survivors, human skeletons, line up in front of their captors . . . [and instead of attacking their captors] insisted: 'No more hatred. No more killing. Now what we need is forgiveness.'"

To forgive like that, to my mind, is as impossible as walking on water. And I know that concentration-camp stuff is extreme— but a lot of what Jesus expects us to do is just about as hard. To love our enemies. To love people, and use things, and not the other way around. All that stuff in the Sermon on the Mount about not even harboring anger or resentment in our hearts against those who spitefully use us.

Jesus did those things. But He is God. But He says to us: YOU CAN DO IT, TOO!

#58 I Lay My Sins on Jesus (all three verses) "I long to be like Jesus, Meek, loving, lowly, mild; I long to be like Jesus, the Father's holy Child."

John 9:35 Jesus found him and said: "Do you believe in the Son of Man?" 38 And he said: "Lord, I believe!"

Statement of purpose for this sermon: To show that the gifts of God's grace must be used to discern God Himself; to understand that better than having sight is to see Christ and worship Him.

I. QUESTIONS RAISED BY THE PRESENCE OF THE BLIND MAN

Was this caused by sin? Why is he here?

As old as the Book of Job and older— we tend to see life and especially to see our relationship with God as direct cause-and-effect; the good prosper, the bad suffer. But life is not as simple as all that. There is mystery in every "connection" with the eternal. Our challenge is to come to know and love God and to believe that He is GOOD.

Blindness as a curse. Shared curse of sin.

All evil derives from "The Fall." The significance of Genesis 3 can hardly be over-estimated. A particular person's blindness may not be the result of his sin— but all humanity groans under the curse that blinds us from the light of God's pure love.

II. THE MIRACLE

Clay made - blind man sent away unseeing: he had never seen Jesus face to face. But he went obediently, and came seeing. But still he had never seen the face of Jesus. He could not identify Him.

The simple story here is fascinating. Who could/would invent such a thing? Jesus spit on the ground and made a little mud and rubbed in on this blind man's eyes. He didn't need to do it— just a word would have sufficed. The blind man simply did as Jesus told him. We are so sophisticated we probably would have argued.

III. DECLARATION: I AM THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

One of the seven great "I AM" statements of Jesus found in John's Gospel- - each of the seven miracles cited illustrates and illuminates a facet of Jesus' divine glory and power.

The "Door" the "Good Shepherd" the "Way, Truth, Life," the "Bread of Heaven" the "Resurrection and Life" and the "True Vine" combine with the "Light of the world" to give us a glimpse of the radiant, many-splendor-ed glory that is our Lord.

IV. THE FUROR CAUSED

There is something wrong when a great problem is caused by HONESTY. The blind man speaks what he knows from experience: "The facts speak clearly: I was blind. I now see."

Jesus is a threat to comfortable religion-in-power. The authorities cannot deny a miracle— but are quick to try to get the formerly blind man to denounce Jesus. Remember— this blind man has never seen Jesus! He had to go away and wash in the Pool of Siloam while Jesus went on about his business. This miracle resonates with the elder brother character in Luke 15, and with the parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector— where grace extended to those outside the circle bring up resentment.

When pressed, in all honesty, the blind man confounded, infuriated the power structure. "What's your problem?" he seems to say to the authorities.

But there was more than just a division of opinions. There was a threat to the control of the power bloc. The need to analyze: "Give God the glory: "we KNOW this man is a sinner"

THEY CAST HIM OUT.

V. WHAT DO WE SEE OF JESUS IN THIS MIRACLE?

1. The "usual" compassion, yes.
2. Jesus, although a part of the religious community, established the fact that He is the Leader of the true Church; man cannot excommunicate the man or woman who is "included in" by Jesus.
3. Jesus is in the business of "including people IN!" Not in setting up ways to keep people OUT.

[Illus: Long ago and far away a young woman "protected the integrity" of a church I attended by slapping a cigarette out of the mouth of a man who lit up as he left a service. The message was clear— we don't do those filthy things! But it was no wonder if he never returned. We have to WANT people to be "IN."]

Jesus FOUND him and took him IN! Spiritual insight was added to physical vision: "WHO IS HE?" The reality of Jesus as a Person cannot be assumed; it cannot be accepted as fact just because someone says so. There must be a revelation, built on faith/obedience: "acting as if."

Jesus made the statement: "I AM HE!" "LORD, I BELIEVE!" ...AND HE WORSHIPED!

APPLICATIONS:

1. We cannot "force faith." We cannot see what we cannot see. But to each of us there comes a Word of faith; we cannot see until we obey.

2. Obscurantism. The facts are not allowed to confuse the issue at hand. We cannot ask people to believe what is patently untrue. But there is such a thing as obscurantist "Christianity."
3. The danger— of trying to understand— to "see" before we are healed!
4. Also the danger of stopping short of a commitment! Thomas was honest. This blind man was honest! But honest doubt, coupled with a willingness to be shown, and a willingness to obey when shown is not a hindrance to Jesus. Jesus revealed Himself to Thomas. Jesus said to this blind man: "I AM the Messiah!" And He will say to you, if you are willing to see: "I AM Almighty God!"
5. Jesus is the Light of the world.
6. This man actually was excommunicated because he would not "see things" the way he was told.
7. Preclude the arguments of the need for expression of sin.

In accommodation to changing times "seeker friendly" approaches could degenerate into excusing Christ's clear demands for self denial and taking up the cross. There is only ONE Savior, and Jesus says "I AM HE!"

The beginning of a moving of the Spirit in New Jersey 25 years ago— the Maranatha Church of the Nazarene's foundings from "hippie" roots— started when Jack White, a very "straight" even old-fashioned but humble, Spirit-filled man of God preached a weekend series in New Milford, New Jersey. His messages were anything but "hip." But they were loving, simple, personal testimony to Jack White's own conversion as a teenager in Indiana. "I don't understand all your music or language," Jack seemed to say. "But I know I needed a Friend and a Savior to forgive my sins." It was the same testimony of the blind man. "I don't know a lot about this Jesus. But I know I was blind and he made me see!"

8. Our culture is BLIND to the word "sin." It does not "compute." But even the fact that there are good reasons for keeping the Ten Commandments does not obscure the fact that it is SIN, not just poor judgment, to break them.

CONCLUSION

Warning!! Finding your spiritual sight will put you at odds with the way most of the world views life!

Jesus understood that VISION had gotten the formerly blind man into trouble. Just being honest about how he had received his sight got the formerly blind man kicked out of his "hope of heaven!"

But Jesus went looking for him. He found him; and brought him into fellowship with the Father. This fellowship is OUR privilege, through grace!

Warning! The religious power bloc said: ARE WE BLIND?

Jesus: If you admitted you were blind you might have hope. But no, you have eaten of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil— you "know" without God's help what is right and wrong— and so on you go in darkness that leads to outer, utter darkness!

John 11

Introduction: In this passage of scripture we have the crowning miracle of all the miracles that Jesus did before His passion. It is the climax of John's revelation of the mastery of Jesus. It brought about a crisis in His opposition that led directly to his arrest, trial, and crucifixion. From the point of view of Christ's enemies, desperate measures were needed against One who could demonstrate authority even over death.

But we are interested in what this miracle reveals to us of the character of Jesus:

Jesus is 'beyond Jordan' in a wilderness area, under pressure and threat from the religious leaders. He gets word that Lazarus is in trouble. It looks like He is afraid, because He remains in place two days longer. And He is warned (v 8) NOT to go back. Thomas (v 16) says: 'Let's go die with Him!' Jesus is on the way. But He is "late."

I. THE TIMING OF JESUS IN RESPONSE TO EXPRESSED APPEAL FOR HELP ...

Jesus' TIMING is usually far from what WE might think He ought to be doing:

Verse 6 "When therefore He heard that he was sick, He stayed then two days longer in the place where He was."

I cannot hope to explain why Jesus, when he heard that Lazarus was sick, stayed right where He was and apparently let Lazarus die. But I am convinced that Jesus had reasons we will not know until eternity why he tarried. Jesus has the "timing" of the whole world in his control. And Jesus does not toy with personalities; He does not treat people like laboratory animals.

As Jesus drew near, we know what He is going to do. In a few minutes Lazarus will be restored to his family. But still Jesus is deeply moved in His spirit (v 33). He weeps with those who are weeping.

II. THE OBVIOUS AND APPARENT EMPATHY OF JESUS FOR THOSE WHO MOURNED

Jesus shared in the grief of those who mourned. He knew that bereavement and sorrow are the keenest of pain; and He knew that His delay had added to the pain.

Verse 35 "Jesus wept."

1. WHY? WHY DID JESUS WEEP?

Was He simply weak, and couldn't stand to see tears? Personally, I believe that Jesus was strong like no other man or woman was ever strong. In the words of the songwriter: "He had no tears for His own grief, but sweat drops of blood for MINE!"

I believe Jesus wept because He cared! And I still think that God grieves, and cares. I DON'T KNOW WHY HE DOESN'T INTERVENE AT TIMES. HE HAS LIMITED HIMSELF. BUT I CHOOSE TO BELIEVE THAT HE IS GOD, AND THAT HE IS GOOD.

2. WHEN DID JESUS WEEP? at least two times:

Here. Over the sorrowing.

Over the city of Jerusalem. When He knew the city of Jerusalem was rejecting Him. Over the lost, the rejectors.

Jesus cares enough about others — about YOU and ME to have His heart broken. Have you ever had your heart broken because people you love were hurting themselves, or were going through deep water and you couldn't help them?

Have YOU ever broken the heart of Jesus?

But one other thought here:

3. WHY and WHEN do WE weep??

[It certainly isn't weak or wrong to weep occasionally.] But what do we weep about? "As the World Turns?" 'A dent in the new car?' Lost opportunities?

Or, do we care enough about others to listen, and to love, and to weep???

If Jesus wept, Jesus certainly also changed the expected course of the proceedings that day! Jesus was not weeping because He knew that death was the end! Jesus didn't see Lazarus illness and death the same as anyone else there that day:

III. THE PERSPECTIVE OF JESUS ON THE ILLNESS AND DEATH OF LAZARUS, AND THE MASTERY OF JESUS REVEALED

... This different perspective is apparent early on:

(11:4) "But when Jesus heard it (that Lazarus was sick) He said: 'This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of man may be glorified by it.'"

Jesus certainly did not view the situation in the same way as any one else could view it. He said: "This illness is not unto death." — and yet Lazarus did die. How can we understand what Jesus meant??

Jesus Raises Lazarus from the Dead

1. He could have been mistaken. (I discount that.)
2. He could have meant: "I know in advance that I will be in Bethany in four days and I will reverse the process of death and disintegration, and so the end will not what it seems now." It looks on the face of it that this is what Jesus meant. But I am convinced that Jesus had reasons we will not know until eternity why he tarried. Jesus has the "timing" of the whole world in his control. AND JESUS DOES NOT MANIPULATE US like laboratory animals.
3. What Jesus said is: "This illness of Lazarus, OR ANY OTHER ILLNESS OR SITUATION IN MORTAL LIFE, does not finally end in death."

DEATH IS NOT THE FINAL GOAL FOR WHICH WE ALL ARE HEADING. And Jesus could say that because He also could say what no one else ever can say: "I AM the Resurrection and the Life."

In the far reaching eons of eternity, when this wonderful Universe has gone through stage after stage of re-Creation the kernel of reality that is your PERSON, your SPIRIT, the real YOU will still be self-aware!

4. We grasp at the illusion of 'being in some semblance of control' of our lives. We don't like to think that there is so much about life and death that we cannot understand. Only Jesus can speak with authority about life, death, and eternity:

ILLUSTRATION: [In 1975 Henri J. M. Nouwen wrote (in his book Reaching Out),:

"Recently a student who had just finished his long studies for the ministry and was ready to start in his first church suddenly died after a fatal fall from his bike. Those who knew him well felt a strong, angry protest arising from their hearts. Why him, a very noble man who could have done so much for so many? Why now, just when his long, costly education could start bearing fruit? Why in this way, so unprepared and unheroic? There were no answers to all these reasonable questions. A strong angry protest seemed the only human response.

But such a protest is the continuation of our allusion that we know what life is all about, that we rule it and determine its values as well as its goals. We do not, and are challenged instead to convert our protest against the absurdities of the human existence into a prayer lifting us beyond the boundaries of our existence to him who holds our life in his hands and heart with boundless love and mercy. In our attempts to accept this challenge, we are wise to say to ourselves with the words of the Psalmist:

You men, why shut your hearts so long, loving delusions, chasing after lies? Know this, Yahweh works wonders for those he loves, Yahweh hears me when I call to him. (Psalm 4:2-3)]

Our perspective is necessarily limited. We cannot see anything redeeming about the death of a distinguished student in a biking accident. The loss of a Rev. Dale Parry is stunning, unmixed tragedy to us, and I do not even try to explain it away. I cannot see anything attractive about burying a young man of 26 who is fast "losing" a 10-year struggle with cancer.

But it is precisely when we cannot see or understand that we need to listen to Jesus. We need to hear Him say: "This sickness is not unto death!" And by faith we need to see that HE, and not WE, are the masters of life. He, not we, determines what are life's greatest values, and what are its eternal goals.

And by faith we understand that when we put our faith, our trust, our life in Christ's keeping, then nothing of this wonderful, mysterious, transient, tragic, joyful thing we call LIFE is meant to END in death.

Conclusion: And so in this miracle we see THE MASTERY OF JESUS TO BRING HOPE BEYOND HOPE

We still use these words of Jesus at just about every Christian graveside. "I am the Resurrection and the LIFE!"

At Lazarus's grave he proved His Mastery by calling the dead man forth— but to the same kind of good life he had known before, not to the glorified life that all the Church shall know when we see Him in HIS glory.

Jesus Raises Lazarus from the Dead

But Jesus is just the same today as He was in Bethany; He loves YOU as much as He loved Lazarus, as hard as that is to believe. He cares about YOUR deep hurts and needs.

Prayer: Be present in a healing, assuring way in our Communion this morning. Weep with us, O Lord, but also call forth the power of HOPE into our lives! YOU are the Life! You are the Resurrection of Hope! And You are HERE!

John 21:1-11

Introduction: [I believe that the Book of John was intended to end with the 20th chapter. But there was the personal matter of Simon Peter that John wanted to relate. It may be one of the most beautiful and personal stories in the Bible. It is also the occasion of Jesus' last miracle on earth: The Miraculous Draught of Fishes.]

PETER RETURNED TO FISHING.

There may be many reasons, many ways to "go fishing. " Not many of them are bad. Personally, I have found that going fishing is almost ALWAYS a GOOD thing. But here...

It could have been a bad thing; a return to an occupation once abandoned. It could have meant "It's over!" Anyway, this is where Jesus first came upon Peter, Andrew, James, and John.

I. JESUS REVEALED HIMSELF

... IN A UNIQUE WAY, BY TELLING SEASONED, EXPERIENCED FISHERPEOPLE HOW TO FISH.

Do it MY way! And as His advice was followed there was a demonstration of mastery. Luck? Well, anyway, in this act of mastery it was the beloved disciple, John who discerned "It is the Lord!"

Jesus knows more about your business than you do! In this age of electronics and computers and public relations the Galilean Carpenter is still Almighty God! And He is eternal in His understanding. (He even understands physics!)

[I think sometimes about the story of a prosperous London businessman who was asked by Queen Victoria to leave his business for a while and tend to some of her interests in India. It meant quite a sacrifice on his part.

But when he returned home several months or years later he found that his business had prospered far beyond his fondest hopes. For, as Her Majesty said, "You have been looking after MY business, and while you were, I have been looking after YOURS!"]

The fishermen are elated: 153 LARGE fish! Not 'about 150!' Not "counting them as they came there were almost 200 seekers ... "But exactly 153 large fish!

II. JESUS DEMONSTRATED HOSPITALITY

... the first 'Men's Prayer Breakfast' had fish on the menu! This wasn't a psychological ploy: "Feed 'em, and then give 'em the business!" Jesus isn't that kind of Person. But can you imagine Jesus fixing breakfast?

III. JESUS RENEWS THE CALL TO PETER

- HE NEVER GIVES UP ON US! BUT HE WILL NOT ACCEPT ANY RIVALS!

He had simply ONE question: Do you love Me? !!

1. Hold everything and everyone else "lightly." There are no rivals. There is no expiration date on either God's call or His love. I called you once. Will you follow Me?
2. Unspoken: 'Lord, You know as well as I know that that call has been invalidated! I bragged how I would never deny You. And I did!')

Do you LOVE Me, Peter? Let's get it straight! Love is what matters! Will you let ME by Lord and God?

3. But this call is at once a CORPORATE and an INDIVIDUAL thing! I am calling you to help Me build My church! I am giving you the keys to the kingdom.

But I am calling YOU in a way that is unique to YOU!

"What about John, Lord? You love HIM more than you love me!?!?"

"What is that to YOU? Follow ME!"

[This is essentially the way I "prepared" this message: Then this noon after church Bert VanEgmond loaned me a little book by Henri Nouwen, just out (1989), titled In the Name of Jesus. It is based, partly, on this 21st chapter of John.

Henri Nouwen, whom I quoted from this morning, has left Harvard and the glitter of academia and the speaking circuit to minister in a community called L'Arche in Toronto. It was John 21:18 that gave him the courage to go. His words seem to have a fresh "bite."

This little book was written to priests (and ministers) but let me share its outline:

- i. From Relevance to Prayer The Temptation: TO BE RELEVANT The Question: DO YOU LOVE ME? The discipline: Contemplative Prayer
- ii. From Popularity to Ministry The Temptation: To be Spectacular The Task: FEED MY SHEEP The Discipline: Confession and Forgiveness
- iii. From Leading to Being Led The Temptation: To be POWERFUL "Somebody Else Will Take You" The discipline: Theological Reflection (as opposed to the psychologies and sociologies which are necessary, but NOT at the heart of Christian ministry.)

[Bill Van Buren, a member of L'Arche, went with Henri Nouwen on the original presentation of this new book as a lecture, at the 15th anniversary for the Center for Human Development. They stayed at the Clarendon Hotel in the Crystal City, a very, very posh place as Henri described it. He stood with Father Nouwen on the platform, and chimed in from time to time. They did it together.]

IV. RE-AFFIRM OUR LOYALTY TO JESUS!

1. If we need help in our BUSINESS ... whether that business is studying— or electronics— or selling— Jesus knows and cares about the kind of work you do!
2. But beyond "busyness"— even the tasks of doing the work and will of God— Jesus cares about our love! HOW DO WE ANSWER THE ONE QUESTION JESUS ASKS US ALL?
Are we doing what we do because we love HIM?
3. Can we say: "What is that to ME? I will follow Jesus!"??

EH #22 O the Deep, Deep Love of Jesus

A Fellowship of Glad Hearts

February 26, 1989 AM

Psalm 105:3-4;43

"Let the heart of those who seek the Lord be glad. Seek the Lord and His strength; Seek His face continually." (verses 3,4)

Introduction:

When the word "seek" is coupled with God, and with His promises it is a magnificent word. Jesus said, "Seek and ye shall find!"

Never be ashamed to be known as a "seeker."

It is a humbling thing, sometimes, to admit to being a seeker. By definition a seeker does not have what he is seeking; he wants more. Possibly everybody is seeking for something. But the Bible says that those who are seriously seeking after more and more of God are more and more aware of a growing JOY! The old hymn says:

*I love to tell the story;
'Tis pleasant to repeat
What seems each time I tell it
More wonderfully sweet...
I love to tell the story,
For those who know it best
Seem hungering and thirsting
To hear it like the rest.*

Here is a text about seeking. About seeking after God. In this passage the word "seek" is used with three shades of emphasis. It says that we are to (1) seek the Lord; and we are to (2) seek the Lord's strength; and we are to (3) seek the Lord's face continually.

It is a beautiful focus for our thought.

I. WE MUST SEEK THE LORD.

A. It certainly is God's will that we seek Him!

The prophet Isaiah says: (55:6) "Seek ye the Lord while He may be found; call ye upon Him while He is near." And Hosea says (10:12) "It is time to seek the Lord, till He come and rain righteousness upon you." And Jesus said: (Matthew 6:33) "Seek the kingdom of God first, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you."

B. How does a person go about seeking God?

1. Actually, God seeks us first! God calls us by His Spirit, with what we call CONVICTION. The Holy Spirit says: "You need to know God! You need to change the direction of your life! You need LIFE!"
2. And we respond in OBEDIENCE, with REPENTANCE. Obedience is a foundation in all seeking after God. [Illustration: Saul (Paul) on the Road to Damascus; said (1) Who ARE You, Lord!; and then (2) What do You want me to do?] We CAN and we WILL find God if we will come with a willingness to OBEY!

C. What "seeking God" and "knowing God"— what "finding God" means: It means NEW LIFE IN CHRIST:

- justification ...
- regeneration...
- adoption...

[But as wonderful as it is to find GOD in salvation, that is not all the seeking we must do. The text says:]

II. SEEK THE LORD AND HIS STRENGTH!

A. Living the Christian WAY is NOT "automatic."

It takes all we are and all we have PLUS the love and grace of God. We cannot live the Christian life without God's strength.

B. And, too, we find out that God has not just saved us in order that we can "enjoy" LIFE. We are called to live with a purpose. And we are challenged to find and do God's will for our lives. God wants us to BEAR FRUIT!

C. How do Christians go about seeking the Lord and His strength? How do Christians go about finding God's will for them?

1. Once again, the initiative is God's! The Holy Spirit calls us to "Present our bodies, our whole beings, as living sacrifices to God, in order that we can find out what is God's good and acceptable and perfect will for our lives. (Romans 12:1,2)"

2. And we respond with OBEDIENCE, yes; but now we are coming to another word: CONSECRATION. The very HEART of spiritual worship is this act of presenting our bodies as living sacrifices to God.

There are studies of "gifts." There are what amount to spiritual aptitude tests. And these are fine. But the very heart of finding God's will and God's strength is CONSECRATION.

[But consecration is not quite ALL!]

D. OUR CONSECRATION MUST CULMINATE IN A COVENANT!

Our God is a covenant Maker.

God does NOT "make deals." [A deal means "I'll do this in exchange for that."]

Covenant is NOT "unilateral." It is not asking God to bless "my plans, and be with me" but rather it is letting God be God, and asking Him to let me do His will, whatever the cost! It is dedicating life to God's will: finding the purity of a single purpose. God's COVENANT with His people is: You be MY people, and I will be Your God! And we find God's strength when we SEEK IN THE CONTEXT OF COVENANT.

E. There is great beauty and strength in the knowledge of God's Spirit flowing through us to make us His Body, the Church.

[But the Scripture says: "Seek God's FACE!" What do you suppose that means? Can there be something beyond "experience?" Can there be something beyond sanctification?]

III. SEEK HIS FACE CONTINUALLY

- A. The whole purpose of salvation and the reason we are called to holiness is in order that we can come to KNOW God! There is nothing "beyond being saved." There is no other experience that goes beyond being filled with the Holy Spirit and finding God's strength. But being saved is not complete until we are comfortable in God's PRESENCE!
- B. How can we go about seeking God's FACE? [We do seek God for forgiveness of sins. We must seek Him for His strength and sanctifying grace. We will seek God's face when the crises come. But when will we learn that we are made for God, and that we desperately need God all the time?]
 - 1. Once again, the initiative is God's! If we listen, if we pay attention to His Word, we see how very much God is reaching out to us! "Fear thou not for I AM with thee ..." "Go— make disciples — AND LO, I AM WITH YOU!"
 - 2. And we respond WITH LOVE!

Oh, OBEDIENCE is still there: the foundation; and CONSECRATION /COVENANT is still valid. But we are still SEEKERS! SEEKERS AFTER GOD'S FACE!

We are not now seeking 'salvation.' Not now seeking 'a clean heart.' Not now simply seeking to be effective, or to bear more fruit. These are vital, and important; and we will, must should seek them. But what our hearts crave is LOVE. And God alone fills that craving.

C. GOD WANTS OUR LOVE!

Somehow we get the idea that God's greatest interest is destroying sin, and making us feel guilty so we will quit the sin business. And there is no question in my mind that God is sick of injustice and sin in this sin-sick world. But that is not the end God has in mind.

Or, as Christians we think God is primarily interested in what we can GIVE to Him, and what we can DO FOR HIM. And God has commanded us to go into this needy world and spend and be spent for Him. But God is not impressed with your great gifts or mine; your talents or mine. There is something even more important that God is concerned about.

Conclusion:

GOD WANTS OUR LOVE! He wants us to leave sin because we LOVE Him!

He wants us to spend and be spent because WE LOVE HIM! And we learn to love Him because HE FIRST LOVED US! God wants to fill the deepest need any of us can have: THE NEED TO KNOW THAT WE ARE DEEPLY LOVED!

The world is crying out for LOVE. We all want to BE loved; we want others to love US, but we want to love US, supremely, too.

Most of the sins of the world are twisted LOVE. It may not seem possible to look to God to fill this need for love; it may seem as though it would invalidate or take the place of other loves. Becoming a friend of God is a life-time project. It means a never-ending SEEKING!

But those who seek the FACE of the Lord find that along with the seeking comes a wellspring of JOY! And the seeking gets better, and goes deeper as we grow in the knowledge of God.

First we seek and find the reality of being saved from our sin. Then we begin to discover the purpose of God, and being saved from self-worship, and we begin to know the satisfaction of accomplishment in Him.

But then little by little we begin to discover the face of God. Remember, when the word "seek" is coupled with God, and with God's promises it is a magnificent word. Never be ashamed to be known as a "seeker."

It is one of the open secrets of faith: Those who SEEK TO live in God's Presence know JOY. And those who know God best are those most actively seeking after more of

A Fellowship of Glad Hearts

Him. "Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord.
Seek the Lord and his strength; seek his face for evermore." Amen

#38 O for a Closer Walk with Thee

Watching for the Son

February 26, 1989

Matthew 25:1-13

During this Lenten Season we are looking forward to revival, and we are looking forward to Good Friday and Easter; Lent is a "forward looking" sort of time.

But wouldn't it be a sad irony if in all our anticipation, we were surprised by the really Big Event as it comes in all its inconceivable power and glory and trauma? [How much, really, do we think about "Thy kingdom come!"]?

Jesus spoke of being ready for His Second Coming. True, He used some cultural settings that we may not fully understand. [I have heard a great deal about mid-eastern weddings, ancient and modern, and I am not convinced about all the ramifications and details of what goes on, and how that applies to us today.] But I am convinced that the heart of what Jesus said strikes to the heart of your spiritual need and mine. It is impossible to miss.

We must not only be in the company that is watching for the Bridegroom, we must not only be dressed and equipped like the company waiting for the bridegroom, we must have "oil in our lamps," whatever that means! And, too, we cannot GET READY once He comes, we have to BE READY!

The sufficient supply of OIL in the lamps of the wise virgins is generally accepted to be the Reality of the Presence of God the Holy Spirit. It is God's Presence, by the abiding Holy Spirit in the believer that gives light and life to the witness. [Oil = The Holy Spirit in present Reality!]

And so the question is: "How may we be sure to have oil when Jesus, the heavenly Bridegroom, breaks in on the scene?"

[There are plenty of people willing to "help" you and me at this point. I get confused and I get discouraged and I get "guilty feelings" when I listen to people telling me what I need to do in order to have all God wants me to have. One says: "Experience is everything!" Another says: "The way we worship or pray is everything!" Another says: "Correct agreement with correct interpretation is everything!"]

What does the Bible say? What does the Holy Spirit Himself say to me? To You? Are we listening?

All I know is I want to have OIL in my lamp! I want to be filled with the Holy Spirit!!!

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY ABOUT THE HOLY SPIRIT?

1. We RECEIVE THE HOLY SPIRIT in the miracle of the New Birth. In John chapter three, as Jesus is talking to Nicodemus, he says again and again that we must be born of the Spirit: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit: ye must be born again."

And in Romans 8:9 Paul says, "If any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of His."

So we receive the OIL of the Spirit, initially, in the miracle of new birth.

2. We ARE TO BE FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT in cleansing, empowering fullness, in a crisis of deliberate surrender, and in an on-going, day-by-day, even moment-by-moment carrying through of that surrender.

In Acts 2 we read of the initial Pentecost outpouring (Acts 2:4) and the disciples were all filled with the Holy Spirit. But other times we read that these same disciples were filled (Acts 4:31) "When they had prayed the place was shaken, and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit."

AND WE ARE TO BE BEING FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT IN AN ON-GOING BASIS It is the command of God (Ephesians 5:18): "Be not drunk with wine wherein is excess, but be (being) filled with the Holy Spirit!"

And this is a dynamic thing, this 'having sufficient oil.' It is not enough to say: "I was soundly saved! I know I was sanctified! I am (smugly) all set for the coming of the Lord!" For the Holy Spirit is a Person, a living Presence.

3. We are to SET THE SPIRIT FREE WITHIN US, AND NOT TO QUENCH HIM.

It is possible to "quench" the Spirit! Look at the context of that phrase, in I Thessalonians:

[I Thessalonians 5:15-23 See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men. Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you. QUENCH NOT THE SPIRIT. Despise not prophesyings. Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil. And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.]

Look at the imperatives Paul gives us to seek to be God's channels, instead of seeking to use God for our enrichment.

4. We are to PLEASE THE HOLY SPIRIT, AND NOT TO GRIEVE HIM. The Scripture also says it is possible to GRIEVE God's Spirit. Look at the context of that phrase in Ephesians 4:30 [READ IT:]

In this Golden Chapter, being loving and kind and gracious is contrasted with grieving the Spirit!

5. The HOLY SPIRIT IS MADE EVIDENT BY HIS FRUIT Galatians 5:22-23, and not by some "nominal" experience in the sometime past. The question is not: Am I orthodox? I should hope so! Not even 'Am I a tithing Nazarene? Wonderful if you are! But: AM I JUST NOW POSSESSED/FILLED/OWNED/USED OF/BY THE HOLY SPIRIT??

Conclusion:

The Holy Spirit is not a spirit of compulsion, of whim, of secretive directives. But He is found of those who SEEK Him; He is given to those who ASK for Him; He is God's Spirit of LOVE; He is Christ's Spirit of GRACE.

Are YOU "born of the Spirit?" Have you opened your life to the Spirit of Jesus, and have you confessed Him as Lord, and have you been baptized?

Have YOU set Him free in YOUR life?

Watching for the Son

Have YOU received Him in all His fullness?

Thomas Kelly, not a "holiness preacher," but a Quaker, put it this way:

"Meister Eckhart wrote: "There are plenty to follow our Lord half-way, but not the other half. They will give up possessions, friends and honors, but it touches them too closely to disown themselves." It is just this astonishing life which is willing to follow Him the other half, sincerely to disown itself, this life which intends complete obedience, without any reservations, that I would propose to you in all humility, in all boldness, in all seriousness. I mean this literally, utterly, completely, and I mean it for you and for me- commit your lives in unreserved obedience to Him.

If you don't understand the revolutionary explosiveness of this proposal you don't understand what I mean. Only now and then comes a man or a woman who, like John Woolman or Francis of Assisi, is willing to be utterly obedient, to go the other half, to follow God's faintest whisper. But when such a commitment comes in a human life, God breaks through, miracles are wrought, world-renewing divine forces are released, history changes. There is nothing more important now than to have the human race endowed with just such committed lives. . .

"We have plenty of Quakers to follow God the first half of the way. Many of us have become as mildly and as conventionally religious as were the church folk . . . against whose... mediocrity and passionlessness George Fox and his followers flung themselves with all the passion ... of a new discovery.. Religion as a dull habit is not that for which Christ lived and died." -A Testament of Devotion (52,53)

JESUS IS COMING AGAIN. That is His promise. More and more this world is groaning, waiting for its true Master to come and set things right. I want to be filled with His Spirit when He comes!

I don't know Christ's agenda. I do know that He said, Himself: "Watch! (verse 13 & Mark 13:33) You do not know when I am coming!" We can BE ready when Jesus returns!

#193 One Day

Sacrifices of Praise to the Lord God of Lovingkindness

March 5, 1989 AM

Psalm 107:4,10,17,23; 33 (Text: Say it with me:

"Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men.")

Introduction:

One song we sing, "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing," was no doubt written by a Calvinist, for we Wesleyans have, perhaps correctly, changed some words in its final verse:

The other version reads: "Prone to wander, Lord I feel it! Prone to leave the Lord I love. Here's my heart, O take and seal it; Seal it for Thy courts above."

... and our version is the noble prayer: "Let me know Thee in Thy fullness; Guide me by Thy mighty hand Till, transformed, in Thine own image In Thy Presence I shall stand."

It is good and necessary to have a walk with God that is settled and steadfast. And we may be delivered from the "proneness to wander." But in this all-too-real world there are forces that seek to rob us of the reality of spiritual victory and assurance, and of the certitude of our standing in Jesus Christ unless we continually SEEK God's face.

Unless we make it the heart of every day's activity to WALK with God, and to learn to PRAISE Him as a way of life, that "proneness to wander" will re-enter the reality of our living, regardless of our sound doctrine and correct theology!

This Psalm (107) is a lesson in the recurrence of wandering and being brought back; or, perhaps better, in despairing of faith and being found by God. And it has a valuable lesson for us (for me!) in getting away from that "prone to wander"-kind of outlook. It has four "strophes" of

(1) being/going away from God, and of (2) crying out to Him, and (3) finding His salvation and His assurance, and THEN (4) praising Him for His goodness:

[Say it with me: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men."]

I. (verse 4) WANDERING, LOSTNESS

"They wandered in the wilderness in a solitary way; they found no city to dwell in."

A. THEY WANDERED

There is a lostness that comes of never having made personal living contact with God through Jesus Christ. Perhaps this describes every person who has not yet found that God is our HOME; the man or woman that doesn't know God in any personal way.

B. THEY CRIED TO GOD

When this lostness becomes a cry, God has already heard. And God draws near to make them a part of the fellowship. Lost no more,

C. GOD HEARD, AND CAME: AND THEY PRAISED HIM!

They have a heart full of praise!

[Say it with me: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men."]

[If YOU have never found that God loves YOU, and wants YOU to be "at HOME" in Him, you can be sure that He is already listening for your cry! He is waiting to make you a part of His family, His fellowship! And then YOU will have a reason to praise!]

II. (verse 10) DARKNESS, THREAT, PRISONERS OF MISERY AS A DIRECT RESULT OF REBELLION

"Such as sit in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in affliction and iron; because they rebelled against the words of God .."

A. THEY FELL DOWN AND THERE WAS NONE TO HELP

There is a sense of lostness that comes because we are careless about spiritual things!

The pathway to glory is seldom smooth. There may well come periods of darkness, and some of these are the result of our own failure to trust in a heavy trial or temptation, or because we deliberately disobey God's will. Prisoners of misery!

B. THEY CRIED TO GOD

But when this helplessness becomes a cry, God has already heard. And God comes to bring light like the sun coming from behind a cloud. The darkness of their bondage is broken, and

C. GOD CAME TO THE RESCUE, AND THEY PRAISED HIM!

And their hearts again are lifted in praise!

[Say it with me: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men."]

[Have you been there? Are you there NOW?]

III. (verse 17) FOOLISHNESS, AFFLICTION, NEAR-DEATH EXPERIENCE

"Fools, because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted. Their soul abhorreth all manner of meat; and they draw near to the gates of death."

A. THEY CAME TO HORROR OF INIQUITY

This almost sounds like a back-slider to me! One who is sick all over because of falling into sin!

B. THEY CRIED TO THE LORD

But God, full of LOVE, and everlasting in MERCY is ready to hear the penitent cry!

"Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and he saveth them out of their distresses..."

C. GOD CAME, AND THEY PRAISED HIM:

"He sent his word and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions."

And their hearts again are lifted in praise!

[Say it with me: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men."]

IV. (verses 23 - 30) MISERY OF TEMPESTUOUS STORM, MELTED COURAGE EVEN FOR THE USUALLY BRAVE

"They that go down to the sea in ships..."

A. THEY GOT INTO A FRIGHTENING STORM!

This strophe is not so simply defined! Here is a person on a journey; a business venture, perhaps— at least a necessary venture of life. And there is a storm! It certainly can be applied literally, as when the disciples at Christ's command were caught in a threatening storm on Galilee, and Jesus came to them walking on the water.

But this also stands for many a storm of life for which there is no simple explanation.

These wayfarers are not called rebels, or foolish, or wanderers. They simply are doing business in great waters. In the course of the bruises and risks and adventures of life, The storms do come. They come to us all.

B. IN THE STORM THEY CRIED TO GOD!

In the storm, God hears our cry. When it seems as though the howl of the gale snatches away our prayers before we can even hear them ourselves, God hears!

C. GOD HEARS, GOD COMES AND DELIVERS, AND THEY PRAISE GOD:

And when peace reigns again,

Again they are brought to the place of lifting their hearts in praise!

[Say it with me: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men."]

V. (33 - 43) SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD

The Psalm closes with a statement of the SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD; and with the observation: (43) "Whoso is wise, and will observe these things, even they shall understand the LOVINGKINDNESS of the Lord."

A. WHAT CAN THIS PATTERN TELL US? HOW MAY WE BE "WISE?"

1. Do we need to wander away?; to fall?; can we stay near to the Lord?
[CERTAINLY WE WILL BE TESTED. BUT WE NEED NEVER LEAVE HIM, AND HE WILL NEVER LEAVE US.]
2. Do we need to wait until we are in trouble to cry out our dependency on God?
WE MUST BE SEEKERS AFTER GOD, AND WE MUST SEEK TO BE PRAISERS OF GOD FROM OUR HEARTS.

B. COME BACK TO THE BEGINNING OF THE PSALM:

"O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is GOOD; for His mercy endureth forever. Let the redeemed of the LORD say so, whom He hath redeemed from the hand of the enemy ... "

1. LET THEM SAY WHAT? Say "so?" That they are redeemed? Yes, but more specifically, Let them say the Lord is GOOD, and His MERCY, His LOVINGKINDNESS endureth forever! Let's be specialists in PRAISE!
2. Instead of being brought to praise after trials, which is proper, let God's people be specialists in praise at all times:
[34:1] I will bless the Lord at all times, His praise will continually be in my mouth!
3. Such praise helps us get the center of our lives back to God, and not simply to what God is doing for US! Praise the Lord for His GOODNESS! So much even of our worship revolves around how WE feel, and what WE are doing for God!

4. But it IS proper and right to thank the Lord for "His wonderful works to the children of men!" And we would be ungrateful if we did NOT praise God for what He is doing in and through US!

Conclusion:

The old song says "Prone to wander, Lord I feel it!" ... and perhaps rightly we have changed the words to "Let me know Thee in Thy fullness ..."

But remember, there are forces that will drive us away from freshness unless we continually SEEK, and unless we make it a part of our very daily rituals to PRAISE the Lord.

If we can just learn to praise at the outset, we can short-cut the length of the darkness. It doesn't mean we will never face the storms. But the sacrifice of praise keeps the center where it belongs.

Say it with me one last time: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for His GOODNESS, and for His wonderful works to the children of men."

#72 I Will Praise Him

Receiving the Good News

March 26, 1989 PM, Easter Sunday evening

II Corinthians 5:16-21 - I Corinthians 15:1-3,4-8

I. We Exist For The Sake Of The Gospel

. . . and the heart of the gospel is Jesus this is the heart of our faith: Jesus has conquered death and hell.

1. Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures
2. that he was buried (there was no mistake: Jesus was dead)
3. that He was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures
4. that he appeared to Peter and then to the Twelve. After that He appeared to more than five hundred of the brothers at the same time then he appeared to James ... then to all the apostles

That is the gospel! But it isn't quite enough for Paul!

5. Last of all he appeared to me also, as to one abnormally born — Paul said: "I had to receive this gospel for myself!

II. "What I Received ..."

This is something of what Paul is speaking about by "receiving" the gospel Paul cannot be content with simply human persuasion: Paul has to hear from God Himself. And so do WE!

The story of how Paul met Jesus is relevant to Easter Sunday evening. [My favorite story is the walk to Emmaus. The two people surprised by Jesus. But what I am saying this evening is; everybody can have an Emmaus Road experience. Paul had His— only it was a "Road to Damascus" experience!

Jesus did not appear to Paul out of the blue, un-introduced. I am not sure that He ever does come without some "human contact."

Paul met Jesus first through a man named Stephen.

Receiving the Good News

Paul's zeal. His nagging doubt about being "right" when he sees how Stephen died. But Paul is able to put all this behind him, and go on with his own way.

The encounter with the living, risen Savior changes Paul forever.

[It is wonderful if we truly believe but 'believing' is more than simply deciding that "now I will believe in Jesus, that he died for me and rose again!" Believing is a gift of God.

How we believe has mysterious elements.

- We cannot believe unless/until we receive the truth
- We receive from God, yes, but there are [?always?] human elements/human 'conductors'

'unconscious' factors: people 'living out' their faith deliberate factors: witness in the spirit to a decision

II Corinthians 5:17 "A new creature in Christ!"

Paul wrote later (II Corinthians 5:16-21) When you meet the risen Savior you will be a new creation! It will be beyond mere human persuasion! Not even having known Jesus in the flesh will suffice now!

You must have RECEIVED JESUS! What does this "RECEIVED" mean??? [Also found in I Corinthians 11:23-26 "Received ... Delivered"]

I have received:[received= (Grk.) paralambano/ to associate with/ to assume an office/ to take unto ones' self; a sacred trust; a permanent injunction; a challenge to perpetuate.]

III. But Paul Says: What I Received I Also Delivered!

I have delivered unto you: [delivered= (Grk.) paraDIDomi/ surrender/ yield up/ entrust/ transmit/ give over (as, an important prisoner, OR, as a doctrine carefully handed over we must be part of this 'receiving-delivering' chain. We must not be satisfied until we can say:

I have delivered this faith about life to ["you!"]

"Delivered ... Received"

Delivering the truth about life and death: This is not something Paul "made up." He wants us to see that it is the most precious thing he knows. Paul cannot "deliver" this truth alone. He needs help. Our faith must be REVEALED to us from God. but in the completion of receiving comes the acceptance of the fact: we are also to take some part in the task of delivering! "What I received I also delivered to you!"

The world needs the delivery of this truth: Jesus is alive. He is stronger than all earth's problems. He is bigger than YOUR problems and mine.

Can it be that the world doesn't get delivery because the church hasn't realized how rich it is when it is poor, and how poor it is when it tries to save the world with its own wisdom and strength and power?

We don't have to "arrive" to begin delivery. We don't have to be completely mature and finished. We just have to be pure vessels through which the Holy Spirit can pour Himself!

What a joy it is to 'make a delivery!' about this great conquering savior!

[Marion Janes (excuse me for talking in front of her!) sang last Friday in 1st Baptist, Braintree. On the way home she said: "I can't tell you how much better I feel after I sang than I did before!" She was delivering what she had received!]

Have you 'received' saving faith? By a deliberate acceptance of the challenge to lordship, to faith?

Will you seek to be a 'deliverer of the faith'? At least in some measure?

#52 Ye Servants of God

The Book The Lamb and the Song

March 26, 1989 AM

Revelation 5:9-14

"And they sang a new song, saying, 'Worthy art Thou to take the book, and to break its seals; for Thou was slain, and didst purchase for God with Thy blood men from every tribe and tongue and people and nation.

""And Thou hast made them to be a kingdom and priests to our God; and they will reign upon the earth.'

"And I looked, and I heard the voice of many angels around the throne and the living creatures and the elders; and the number of them was myriads of myriads, and thousands of thousands, saying with a loud voice,

""Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power and riches and wisdom and strength and might and honor and glory and blessing.'

"And every created thing which is in heaven and on the earth and under the earth and on the sea, and all things in them, I heard, saying,

""To Him who sits on the throne, and to the Lamb, be blessing and honor and glory and dominion forever and ever.'

"And the four living creatures kept saying, 'Amen.' And the elders fell down and worshiped."

Introduction

Easter, of all the days of the year, should be a time of praise to Jesus Christ for His mighty victory over sin and death for you and me. [Perhaps in a sense it is 'always Easter in heaven,' for praise to the Lamb that was slain is going on there even now.] The magnificent hymn that they sing is recorded here in our text by St. John. It is: "Worthy is the Lamb!"

[I am certain that heaven's melodies and harmonies will be beyond what we can imagine here. But until we get to heaven that final chorus of Handel's Messiah will do!]

From this hymn of praise comes the Easter message for us on this Resurrection Day. We do not have to wait until we get to heaven to join in giving praise to our Risen Lord!

In this passage John tells us of a mysterious book, and of a mighty Lamb, and of a magnificent song.

I. THE BOOK THAT WAS SEALED

[Much of Revelation is very difficult to understand and impossible to interpret to the satisfaction of others. and yet] In this waking vision John describes in Revelation, much of the imagery is only thinly veiled, and not too hard to understand.

Here AN UNOPENED BOOK CAUSES JOHN TO WEEP. There are things that we cannot understand; and things that cause us concern because we must remain in the dark about them.

God has a number of "books" that he keeps; some are open, some are closed, some are partially closed. God has an open Bible that tells us of His love and grace. God keeps records of all the deeds of personal human history. God writes the names of His redeemed in a Book of Life.

But there are SOME "BOOKS" THAT BRING US TO TEARS:

THE BOOK OF 'UNFAIR LIFE!': The sorrow of unresolved inequities. "Life just isn't fair!" When nothing which we can see or understand brings life back into balance. When we weep because that book of God's justice seems closed.

THE BOOK OF 'IMPENDING DOOM!': The sorrow of an unknown and often fearful future. It is frightening to contemplate the future, at least the future apart from an all-wise Guide. It is an act of faith to bring children into the world just now. It is not frightening only when we are sure of our Guide.

THE BOOK OF DESTINY: The sorrow of an uncertain salvation. An extension of fear of the future is dread of eternity without light and life. As long as we can keep the music playing, and the talk shows talking, we can drown out this existential fear. But at night, when we are alone, when the silence bears in we think of the unopened and unopenable book of God's knowledge of eternity and we are afraid.

[AND NO DOUBT THERE ARE MANY OTHER BOOKS!] "What is LIFE all about? WHY am I here? WHO am I? WHERE am I headed? The DREAD of nothingness!

John's sorrow is all mankind's sorrow. John weeps because no one is found to open the book. Apart from the Lamb and apart from the song there is sorrow. And even the Bible itself is a sealed book until we find the key in Jesus! Jesus unlocks the Book!

But that is getting ahead of the story! We need to know that John's story does not end with weeping.

II. THE LAMB THAT WAS SLAIN

- A. "Weep not!" An elder lifts John's vision. And the waking vision gives us a strange mixture of figures here: "Behold the LION!" Lion, Lamb, Root, Judah!

Slain in innocence, in meekness, and in patience, now Christ is seen as mighty and powerful. He strikes terror to the hearts of His enemies while at the same time He brings comfort to His people. (Because Jesus is the Lion of Judah, of David means that this is no "spiritual resurrection"; Christ is One with us!)

- B. One feature of the Lamb stands out above the others: It has been slain! At the very Throne, identified with God Himself, yet it bears the marks of having died! The heart of Easter truth is very, very near just at this point!
- C. The Lamb— identified with US, and yet having the seven eyes and seven horns of the sevenfold Spirit of God— is able to open the book that caused John to weep, the sealed book!

And when Jesus vindicates righteousness! when He opens the books! there will be rejoicing in heaven!

III. THE SONG THAT WAS SUNG

There was a song sung that day in the vision as the books were opened! Indeed, that song is being sung today! And it will always be sung!

- A. The song is BEGUN by the redeemed (verse 9.) The new song is a song of redemption. And while the angels are very quick to join in praise, they do not have part in the very first chorus, for the heart of Easter singing is about redemption.

The heart of Easter's song is NOT about the return of springtime, or the eternal conservation of life, or the beauty of flowers and bird song. The heart of Easter is the fact of bloody battle and stunning victory, of alienated mankind brought into fellowship with a holy God, and at the very foot of the throne of God becoming a great family that includes every tongue, people, and nation (verse 9.)
- B. The song praises the Lamb and is picked up by the heavenly choruses, because He alone is worthy to open the sealed book. Jesus Christ is our key to the mysteries of faith— death and eternity and salvation and redemption.
- C. The song is actually begun before the books are opened. We can begin to praise Jesus here and now; even before we know what is going to happen 'out there in the future,' we know Jesus! We know it will be all right if we are with Him!
- D. And we can begin now, joining in the myriads around the throne as we sing: "Crown Him . . . the Lamb upon the throne!"

Conclusion

But before we sing a hymn of praise to Jesus Christ, what SEALED BOOKS are causing YOU sorrow today?

IS THERE AGONY IN YOUR LIFE? Is the Bible a sealed book to you? Do you have deep concern about death and the future?

The word John heard is the word to us all:

"Weep NOT!" [Faith in God, and Christ's love is not an "instant fix" for all life's problems. But our Savior HAS DEFEATED SIN, DEATH, and HELL! With HIM we are on the winning side!]

The message of Easter is: The Lion of the tribe of Judah has prevailed!

Wrestling with God

Life-Changing Crises

April 16, 1989

Genesis 32:10 - (26-29) - 32

Introduction:

There are times in our lives when we feel we have to turn a corner or forever after settle for less than we might be. I think now and then of Stephen Crane's poem "The Wayfarer." When the 'Wayfarer' perceives that the ideal path, the noble path, the way of uncompromising truth is painful he says, "Doubtless there are other ways!"

Doubtless there are other ways than the way that seeks God first. But if we seek to go with God there will be these life- changing times when we face up to life at its elemental levels. It is a wonderful and yet risky time when we see that if we will, God will show us who we are and what we might be.

[This particular passage in Genesis pictures a struggle to put God absolutely at the center of life. It lends itself well to what we Nazarenes call the crisis of entire sanctification. I believe it is valid to help us see how we can enter into the Spirit-filled relationship with God.

[But it is more than just an illustration; more than a "how- to" for a "personal experience." It deals with change in character.]

It is my personal conviction that we are all called to nobility. I believe that we come to these "corners" from time to time when we decide whether or not to accept the challenge to go the first-class way, and do God's will without reservation, or whether we will simply die a little, and switch on the TV and settle back and wait for the pension (and the undertaker.)

I. JACOB'S CHALLENGE

He had left Canaan years before with the clothes on his back. Remember the night he spent at Beth-El? Surely you have heard of "Jacob's Ladder"? The covenant was begun then.

He had prospered, even if the prospering wasn't always all that pleasant to him. But little by little he had gained many, many things and had become something of a family man: Two wives, eleven sons.

But Jacob is restless. He is in alien territory. He knows it is God's will for him to be elsewhere. So finally he starts out. Even as he starts his motives are probably mixed. He is getting away from Laban. He needs to settle up with Esau. He wants to be in the Promised Land of Canaan. But at the heart of this: God said: return to the land of your birth (Genesis 31:13)

Does it bother you that you can't even know all the reasons you want to "turn a corner" in your life? It is helpful to know that you don't have to wait and purify your motives to your own satisfaction to begin the process of minding God. Perhaps the purifying comes as we proceed along the pathway of obedience.

- A. Jacob had humility before the Lord. I don't think you or I may necessarily have seen Jacob as humble. But he recognized that God had been good to him, and that he would have nothing unless God had been with him. That is better than false humility that says "I am nothing." That is different from "I am unworthy!"
- B. Jacob had honesty before the Lord. He said: "I am afraid!" It isn't necessarily the fearless who are brave! Fearless may mean foolish. Brave are those who are afraid as they approach the challenges of life and yet seek to face them with honesty.
- C. Jacob had a measure of faith. He reminds the Lord, "For Thou didst say!" I am here, this far, at this place, because I have been seeking to obey You! You got me into this as far as I am!

II. JACOB'S LIFE-CHANGING CRISIS

As the time to turn the corner came nearer Jacob faced a time of sifting. He began to think what was really important to him. His wealth was not insignificant. His position as a man of power and prestige was worth something. His eleven sons, his two wives, these represented his human hope for immortality, his progeny. In some ways these were more important than his own life.

The immediate threat was the unknown fall-out that would take place when he would finally meet his twin brother, Esau, face to face. he had shamefully wronged Esau, and Esau was an elemental, outdoors sort of man. There was danger written all over the possibilities.

But beyond this immediate danger was the challenge to swerve aside from the course God had called him to travel. God had said: Go to the Canaan!

Jacob sent his wealth, his herds and flocks, on ahead to meet the immediate challenge. It couldn't be avoided. he knew he had to meet Esau. But before he could meet Esau, Jacob had to meet God in a new way.

Jacob was left alone with his immediate, most important relationships. (22) He crossed Jabbok where the road crossed, at the ford. And then, somehow he went back across the stream— it isn't clear the sequence— but finally

- A. Jacob was left alone. Life change must deal with primary lines of control. Who am I when I don't have my toys? [Henri Nouwen in his new community (Daybreak) stripped of "Dr." and "Professor" is just "Henri" to the severely retarded. {By the way doesn't mean it is OUR business to strip one another of the common courtesies of "Mr." and "Sir" and "Madam"!}]
- B. Jacob made contact with God at this basic level. "I will not let go of You! It is not things I need! I want Your blessing!"
- C. Jacob had to say his name. "What is your name?" God asked. ["Name" always stands for "character."] What kind of person am I, really? It is not a superficial question. It is not an easy question. And I am not sure that a correct answer is as important as an open, non-est, submissive answer. "YOU know who I am, Lord! Show me who I am!" (Psalm 139) In Jacob's instance he had to say, "My name is Jacob! I am a deceiver! I am a heel-grasper!"

- D. Jacob heard God say a NEW name for him. "Your name is Israel!" You have prevailed with God! [In Revelation 2 the risen Savior promises the church in Pergamos that those who overcome will be given a white stone, and in that stone a name written that no one knows except the one who receives it. Mysterious language, perhaps. But God is interested in changing us from who we are to what He has in mind that we may become. And we can be certain that His name will be glorious!] "Jacob" just doesn't make it next to "Israel!" Would you rather be a heel-grasper or a Prince with God??

Conclusion:

Are you still simple enough, or brave enough, or noble enough to want to go for God's very best in your life? There are times in our lives when we feel we have to turn a corner or forever after settle for less than we might be. I mentioned a poem by Stephen Crane at the beginning of the sermon. I can almost quote it:

The Wayfarer A wayfarer, perceiving the pathway of truth Was astonished. It was thickly grown up with weeds. "Aha," he said. "I perceive that No one has passed this way in a long time. Then he saw that each blade Was a singular knife. "Well," he muttered, "Doubtless there are other ways!"

And there are other ways than the way that seeks God first. There are many other ways! But if we seek to go with God there will be these life-changing times when we face up to life at its elemental levels. It is a wonderful and yet risky time when we see that if we will, God will show us who we are and what we might be.

One of those life-changing times comes when God speaks to you about being wholly, entirely consecrated to God. It is what we Nazarenes call "entire sanctification." You may not agree doctrinally, totally. You may not understand all your own motivation. There are some many mixed things involved.

But the question is: will you turn the corner? Will you be changed for the better?

Who are you? What is your name? Are you satisfied the way you are before God and your loved ones?

Who is GOD to you? Will you meet Him, and hold Him to His promises, and not let go until He gives you the name HE has in mind for you?

Prayer: Lord, You must have loved Jacob very much. Help us to see, to believe that you love each one of us like that, too. Give to us the blessing that will change us, and make us to prevail with You. Amen.

The State of the Church

Annual Meeting, April 30, 1989

John 15:16 "You did not choose Me, but I chose you, and appointed you, that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain, that whatever you ask of the Father in My name, He may give to you." [NASB]

The "State of our Church" is a thing that only God knows in any complete and objective way. Even though I am pastor, my perspective is limited, and may well differ from yours.

But I would share with you where I believe we, as a congregation, are, and something of what we are doing. And I would also share with you some of the burden or desire that I have for this fellowship that means so very much to me and I trust to us all.

First, where do I see our church in spiritual development?

I. THE 'STATE OF THE CHURCH' AS "STAGES" OF DEVELOPMENT

- A. Stages of growth are perfectly normal. [Both people and churches go through stages of development.]

[Stages:] There is nothing as lovely as A BABY. There is nothing more winsome than A CHILD: [a little girl with a tea-set, as Brian Farmer portrayed with word-pictures last Sunday, or a little boy with a fishing pole.] And there is nothing more loving and loveable (even if sometimes they are exasperating!) than AN ADOLESCENT: a child one moment, and a philosopher the next. But all these are totally in character; and each in its place, wonderful beautiful. At each consecutive stage of development there is perfection and beauty.

[Growth, progression essential:] But what a sadness to see a grown man acting like a baby, pouting because he cannot have his toy. What a sad thing to know a beautiful and intelligent woman fighting teen-age battles, who can never quite escape the instability of adolescence. For the goal of life is full maturity and achievement of that which goes beyond amusement and selfishness and personal enhancement and development.

B. CHURCHES as well as individuals are called to maturity.

In Ephesians 4:14-15 Paul says: "... we are to be no more children, tossed here and there by every wind .. we are to grow up in all aspects into (Jesus Christ)."

Individuals/ denominations/ and all in between go through stages of development; all are good, even beautiful: but all 'go stale' unless those 'lower stages' are left behind for the best of all: accepting the challenges of maturity, and entering into God's work in partnership with Him!

WOLLASTON IS CALLED TO FULL MATURITY.

YOU may be a "baby" in Christ; YOU may be 50 years an earnest Christian—but you have not yet "arrived!" There is new territory to take for Christ! And by the same measure, Wollaston is NOT a baby church; not adolescent, either. But Wollaston HAS NOT "ARRIVED!" We must press on in holiness into full maturity.

[But another way to profile our church is by looking at what it is doing:]

II. THE 'STATE OF THE CHURCH' AS "MINISTRY" For...

A. Doing reflects being.

What we ARE is more important than what we do, but the two things cannot be separated. We DO what we really want to do! What we DO reflects what we believe is important.

B. Wollaston DOES more, sometimes, than it tells about.

That is good. It doesn't keep score. That is good. But records are helpful if they help keep us on course.

C. No church is called upon to do everything.

And we must not accept feelings of guilt because we do not attempt every worthwhile ministry project. Churches as well as people can get "God-complexes" and assume that the success or failure of everything God does depends on our involvement.

D. But we must be sensitive to do ALL that God asks.

I deeply appreciate all that has been done this year. I know of ministry by God's people through the church, or directly because of the challenge of the church, that I cannot share publicly.

1. One area of concern is ministry to college students: I am mindful of an Ad Hoc committee that convened eleven months ago. It said, specifically, we would like to see progress in these four areas: (and I quote their report:)
 - a. a comprehensive effort on the part of the church to develop an environment of ACCEPTANCE of college students,
 - b. a broad-based program of discipleship and leadership training,
 - c. opportunities for fellowship sponsored by the church, and
 - d. the need for effective adult and student leadership in order to provide consistency and a public face to the ministry."

All of these areas have been addressed, and I fully recognize that some of them remain to be covered, at least in the specific way the committee recommended. I bring them to your attention for two reasons: one, for your sincere and continued prayer, with a willingness to be part of the answer to your own prayers; and two, to share with you the kind of challenge and choice the leadership of your church faces in regards to setting the basic goals and values and guidelines and parameters for ministry, the very purpose of being for God's church here on this corner.

2. Other areas of concern and possible ministry include "Men's Fellowship," the availability of small group and/or accountability fellowship for all who desire it, as well as a ministry of resource and support for the people who do not now belong to any special age or interest congregations within our larger body.

3. But this is not a pessimistic, negative report! Any time we take inventory we tend to look more critically at the areas where we would like to do better. But in all fairness, this has been an excellent year.

We have dedicated, earnest, gifted people in leadership on our board, and on the church staff. We have received 20 (27 after this morning?) new members this year, and have several more immediately ready to join, and many others I trust will soon make their way into membership. We have baptized 36 in the new baptistry. We have had retreats, conventions, small prayer groups, larger fellowship groups, celebrations of worship in music, worship in praise and prayer, revival services with Dr. William McCumber and Dr. Jerry Lambert, and on and on in a list that is almost impossible to detail in a few words.

The obvious highlight of the year has been the completion of our new facilities for fellowship, administration, and education. Already we wonder how we ever got along without them.

That is the "state of the church as ministry," as I see it. But I also see the "state of the church" as a launching pad!

III. THE "STATE OF THE CHURCH" AS READINESS TO MOVE AHEAD

A. A year of spiritual growth

Even more exciting to me than the building of our new facilities this year has been the spiritual growth of our people. The church board has changed in character; not that it was "bad" before. But it has become more and more sensitive to God's leading, to spiritual need.

Such maturity can never be "completed" like a phase of a building program, and certainly we all have a long way to go and to grow. But the spiritual diet of our church includes meat as well as milk. While we are not the men and women we might one day wish to become, we are not the children we once were, either.

- B. We are seeking to be a healing place.

Maturity bears the load of community. Maturity cares. Maturity reaches out.

- C. We stand ready to do serious business for Jesus Christ

Not just discovering who we are, or finding our gifts, or settling our experience in God, or "being well adjusted," but realizing that Jesus Christ has chosen us, and appointed us that we might go and bring forth fruit and that our fruit might remain!

[Text:] The assurance and joy of bearing fruit comes from being CHOSEN! "YE HAVE NOT CHOSEN ME, BUT I HAVE CHOSEN YOU!" We did not simply set out to "do good." We have not taken on ourselves the task of reforming the world, or even reforming our little corner of the world.

And Christian maturity soon discovers that not only have we have been chosen, but that the Chooser will also enable us! "WHATEVER YOU ASK THE FATHER IN MY NAME, HE WILL GIVE YOU!"

IV. UNLOCKING GOD'S PROMISES

The final part of my annual meeting day sermon is in the form of a challenge, or a vision for this wonderful church:

- A. A CHALLENGE TO PRAYER

Prayer is not a separate task, but is central to the assignment.

In closing, the challenge of full maturity and the joy of bearing fruit is closely tied to God's promises to answer prayer. We tend to isolate prayer, and make it a very important entity all by itself. We talk of the power of prayer, and the secrets of prayer.

We have the idea that prayer gets us into the proper attitude, and shows us how to manage, and then we can manage on our own.

But God's great promises regarding prayer come in direct connection with His good and perfect will for our lives. And prayer is the heart of the work we do for God; we exist by prayer, we produce by prayer, we receive and give by prayer. Here the promise is: "I have chosen you to bear lasting fruit that whatever ye ask of the Father in My name He will give to you!"

B. A CHALLENGE TO FOCUS OUR PRAYING

Some challenges to your prayer life and mine:

1. If I could be certain that God would answer my prayer by doing exactly as I asked Him, what would I pray for?
2. Excluding family salvation AND immediately pressing church/family problems, what would you ask God to grant to you if you knew that He would?
3. What would you do if you had no financial limitations?
4. What would you attempt for God if you knew that you could not fail?
5. Are the last two "dreams" the same?

God is not limited in the matter of carrying forward His will! If our personal concerns are mixed in with our kingdom commitment in a way that dominates, we will have mixed signals in our inner prayer life. Sometimes that takes a lot of sorting out.

C. THE CHALLENGE OF TWO WORDS

And those two words are "sanctification" and "maturity." I would like to take the best part of the new church year, starting in September, to explore what it means to fully accept the challenge to sanctification. This means, to me, sorting out all the mixed signals, making sure that our lives are in harmony with God's perfect plan at whatever stage we personally find ourselves.

I want to ask ourselves two questions: What does it mean to be wholly God's? What does it mean to be "sanctified?" and What does it mean to come to full maturity?

FINALLY: The quality of your spiritual life and mine contribute to the quality of the spiritual life of our church. The state of our church will reflect that condition of each of our lives before God.

We will always have all the various stages of spiritual maturity represented in our fellowship; and that is good!

But before God, I believe that the state of our church reflects a readiness to move as a church into increasing maturity, with all its responsibilities and joys.

In the coming year I challenge each one of us, each individual, us to accept the increasing responsibilities of spiritual maturity. Deliberately we must covenant to remain one in spirit even as we develop widely differing individual gifts and even widely differing ministries.

We must rejoice in Christ's authority, and submit to the best interests of Christ's church, even as we dare to exercise leadership in areas where we "break trail."

These are the "good old days!" In the spirit of Christ, and in obedience to His commission, let us be His Body as He builds His church.

Exalt Him #48 Go Forth and Tell! O Church of God, Awake!

That in All Things God May Be Glorified

Sober Living for Final Days

May 7, 1989

1 Peter 4:7-11

The end of all things is at hand; therefore, be of sound judgment and sober spirit for the purpose of prayer.

Above all, keep fervent in your love for one another, because love covers a multitude of sins.

Be hospitable to one another without complaint.

As each one has received a special gift, employ it in serving one another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

Whoever speaks, let him speak, as it were, the utterances of God; whoever serves, let him do so as by the strength which God supplies; so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belongs the glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

It may not seem too important what or how we think about Christ's return. After all, Christian faith is for the here and now (isn't it?), and not just an escape hatch before the world dissolves and the elements melt in fervent heat (which, as Peter tells us, is going to happen. (2 Peter 3:10-12.)

It may not seem too important— and yet the last words of Jesus, and the words the angels spoke on Olivet to those who watched Jesus disappear into the heavens, convinced the early church that the time until Jesus returned was fairly short. At least this is the way it appears to many scholars. It is safe to say that the early church lived in the anticipation of Christ's Return. His NEAR return.

How, then, should we view these words:

"This same Jesus— will so come in like manner as ye have seen Him go!"??

Is it possible to OVER-emphasize eschatology? Can we be too fascinated by contemplating "end times?"

Is there a healthy way of living in anticipation?

I. THE DANGERS OF END-TIME LIVING

- A. IMMINENCE: One danger can be that will not fully engage in the concerns of this present age. We must fully accept the responsibility of maturity in community, but on God's terms, not our own or society's.

Earlier generations (during depression, or during wartime insecurity,) did a good job of persuading the rank and file that Jesus would come, and that His coming would be a good thing. But for one person at least, this emphasis was strong enough to discourage thorough preparation even for the ministry!

- B. ISOLATION : The impact of the "ME-generation" is being felt in the secular society. "Cocoon-ing" is a buzz-word.

This can even creep into the church until we forget the true importance of community. And if we add to this total involvement with "ME" the peculiarity that adheres to a belief that God interrupts history— has done it once, and is going to do it again— we have a built-in rationality for withdrawing from a society that needs to hear what we believe.

- C. IMBALANCE :

1. to say that is SOME is good, then MORE is better
2. to say that if a person is right in one area, then his word is scripture in every area (and so be diverted from simplicity of the gospel)
3. to major on secondary issues (no matter how vital and true)

- D. IGNORANCE : to despise history; to think that the profusion and proliferation of technology has added dimensions to the quality of life beyond virtues of integrity before God.

- E. INTEMPERANCE: much like "imbalance" except this has to do with playing games with reality (Peter says: "Be sober!") The "alcoholic personality" is not limited to drinking.

We try to escape the realities of life with a pill or "drug" for every occasion. Sometimes the drug is "humor." We joke when the heat is on. We joke when our inner self comes near to being exposed.

Often the "pill" is cynicism. We never expose our innermost feelings. Only the "in" speakers have access to our respect— even if sometimes God might wish to speak to us through a child or a student or a disadvantaged person.

But these are all negative effects of trying to use a truth of scripture rather than simply let the scripture shape our lives and thinking. We simply do NOT know when Jesus is returning. We know that it is considered naive to believe that He is coming soon- but His word to His church was "Watch ye therefore, for ye not neither the day nor the hour when the Son of man shall appear." (Matthew 25:13)

And there is a God-given GLORY available to those who live in the anticipation of Christ's Return, the return we pray for every time we say the Lord's Prayer:

II. THE GLORY OF END-TIME LIVING

- A. IMMINENCE : [The very same idea that puts off responsibility when viewed one way is that which keeps us digging when we realize we shall be called to account.]

Keeping short accounts. Paid up. Prayed up. And yet at the same time, fully engaged.

[Mary Hale is 93. She is going to die one of these days. She has been in the hospital several times in recent weeks, at the point of death, unable to get her breath, and Lorraine Crayton (her niece) has fully expected her to go.

But she bounces back. And "between times" she is ALIVE! She loves. She receives love. She does something meaningful. She is ready. When she dies WE will experience loss— but SHE will simply step on up!]

- B. COMMUNITY : God's answer to ISOLATION.

The text says: (9) "Be hospitable to one another without complaint." Hospitality is a hallmark of a healthy church.

That in All Things God May Be Glorified

I know we think of hospitality as inviting one another over to our houses [like my son, Mark.] And that is a commendable part of hospitality.

Henri Nouwen uses the term "hospitality" in a little different way which I believe is very applicable: making space within our hearts for other people. It is the willingness to actually bring people into our hearts, and care about them and their concerns.

Most of us have places in our homes where company would be "out of bounds." Brian and I laughed about those places, saying: "Don't go in the tool shed, there's a BEAR in there!" Places that are cluttered, or filled with things we cannot share.

But our inner lives can be ALL "BEAR-dens" where no one is allowed. And we must seek to live in COMMUNITY as we anticipate the Return of our Lord.

Being a part of the Church is NOT an option; it is the NORM. We denigrate the church to our own peril.

Being increasingly involved in community is the right and privilege of every believer. We need each other. We must live to enhance each other.

Not knowing when Jesus will come makes it all the more imperative that we have His Spirit, His mind. For THE MIND OF CHRIST, His Spirit within is the answer to ignorance, imbalance, intemperance.

We may be certain that the Second Coming will be at least as great a surprise as the First Advent was. There is only ONE way in which we can be prepared— one way we will be certain not to be deceived. We must know Jesus so well here and now that we will know Him when He returns!

Conclusion:

Is Jesus coming soon?

Sometimes I get to thinking that His return, AND SOON, is the only hope we have for any hope of fair and equitable society.

But He has waited now almost 2,000 years.

Some people were persuaded that last year was the year.

Some people are pretty certain that certain historical things need to unfold yet.

I don't know what "soon" is. When I was 20 I thought Jesus would come before I was ordained. Then I got busy preaching and working and raising sons. It wasn't very long ago that I began- and more than 30 years have gone by!

I have less time now to live than I have lived! I have less time to serve than I have served! I shall see Jesus soon, one way or another!

But Jesus IS going to return! We have that promise.

You have gifts. Use them to serve. Let God supply the strength. Seek to glorify God in all you do. And if Jesus doesn't come in your lifetime, it will be still a very, very short time until you are in His Presence.

#78(EH) When He Shall Come

[IF Jesus WERE to come soon— very soon— would you be comfortable in His Presence? You can do something about that NOW. Do you want to pray about it?]

The Promise: I Will Send You a Helper

May 7, 1989 AM

Luke 24:49 And behold, I am sending the promise of My Father upon you; but you are to stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high.

Introduction:

Next Sunday is one of the great days of the church: Pentecost. It commemorates the climax of the greatest promise God ever made to human beings: that He would come, in Person, and live with every man or woman who would receive Him.

We don't quite know what to make of Pentecost. We would like to control it. We would like to say "This, or that, is what happened, and what happens now."

Look with me at what Jesus said to His disciples just before He ascended to the Father.

(Lesson:) John 15:26 - 16:4a When the Helper comes, whom I will send you from the Father, that is the Spirit of truth, who proceeds from the Father, He will bear witness of Me, and you will bear witness also, because you have been with me from the beginning

These things I have spoken to you, that you may be kept from stumbling. They will make you outcasts from the synagogue, but an hour is coming for everyone who kills you to think he is offering service to God. And these things they will do, because they have not known the Father, or Me. But these things I have spoken to you, that when their hour comes, you may remember that I told you of them.

Jesus made it clear that we would face conflict, and that we would need His Spirit in those times.

Jesus also said, in the closing words of Luke's gospel (text:) "And behold, I am sending the promise of My Father upon you; but you are to stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high."

The Promise: I Will Send You a Helper

If only we might come to these words as though we had never heard them before! If we could come with fresh understanding, what might stand out to us?

I. THE PROMISE: YOU WILL HAVE THE HELPER

Nothing less than God's Presence in our everyday living will suffice to enable us to be truly Christian. "Christian" is not just another way among man; "Christian" is LIFE itself! It is intended to be vibrant, pulsing LIFE because we are vitally connected with the Source, the Author of LIFE. And that connection is the promised Spirit.

Those who heard the Promise for the first time could not grasp this new thing. It is hard to comprehend, even after all these centuries: that God Himself will make His home in the hearts of His people, and make them One in Himself. But this is the Promise.

And this was the central thing about Pentecost. There was incredible JOY as the disciples realized that Jesus WAS with them! He had said, "I am with you always!" And now He was!

II. THE PAUSE: A REASON TO WAIT

The Promise of the indwelling Presence was given with a strict command: Don't go out on the Great Commission until you are clothed with the Promise!

Why tarry? Jesus had finished His TEACHING. The facts were in, complete. The ATONEMENT had been made: Jesus had said: "It is finished!" A world was lost. Why not start out right now!! ??

Why not start out, indeed?:

- A. Because Jesus did not want the disciples to share THEIR lives, at least not the way they were just then. These were good and decent men, with sincere love for Jesus. But Jesus knew that they would make disciples just like themselves, and that would be disaster to any hopes of building a holy church.

- B. By the same argument, Jesus does not want us to make the church in OUR image. He does not want us to simply give other people our lives. He wants us to give them HIS life. And the only way we can give Jesus away is to have His Spirit filling us.
- C. Why wait? Because the Holy Spirit's empowering is absolutely necessary for doing the Holy Spirit's work. Kingdom work is never accomplished by human wisdom, human scheming.
- D. Why wait? Because "the mind of Christ" which is essential to "working out our salvation" (see Philippians 2:5-12) is only available to those who have received Christ's Promise, the Gift of the Holy Spirit.

III. THE PLENTY: THEY WERE (ALL) FILLED

What does 'being filled' mean?

- A. ARE WE SO CERTAIN THAT WE KNOW? We are so conditioned at this point that it will probably take an effort for you not to anticipate what you think I am going to say. You will be tempted simply to turn me off. We know the answers so very well— but do we have the questions clear?

So- to this question ("What does it mean to be filled?") there is a "holiness answer" and a "Pentecostal answer" and a "Reformed answer" and we are all so smug and so sure we are right and they are mistaken.

- B. But set answers aside, now: what does being filled with the Spirit mean?

1. An experience. [I don't deny it.] But lets come back to this. "Experience" as necessary and valid and crucial as it is, is not the end and all of what it means to be filled!
2. A mind-set. To be "filled" reflects a certain attitude of mind. [As: "He is certainly FULL of his subject!" Like a person who sells Nutri-Lite.] To be FILLED means to interpret all of life from a particular perspective.

A heart surgeon watches how people carry themselves, and says: "There goes an ailing circulatory system!" A shoe salesman once looked at my feet and told me where I bought my shoes and who (probably) had sold them to me! And a Christian does and says all that she or he does and says in the consciousness of Christ's life.

Is there any reason that someone might look at your life and say: "Everything that person does somehow he relates to Jesus Christ!"??

3. A passion. Being "filled" can mean even more than a mind-set. It can be a passion. [Like springtime lovers full of each other (sort of sickening when it is too public, isn't it?) True passion is not always flamboyant and public.

In fact some of the deepest and most moving manifestations of love I have ever known have little or no resemblance to the flowers of spring. So we had better not judge the depths of commitment by the public displays.

But if the commitment is there— and a person is "filled"— if the love is real and true, it will exclude purely selfish commitments, and it will exalt the one who is loved.

Is there any basis for any person to say of you or me: "He/she is full of the love of Jesus!"??

4. To be filled with the Spirit is to reveal a way of life that 'overcomes.' The Holy Spirit must begin to manifest His Presence by His increasing fruit: Love, Joy, Peace, Longsuffering, gentleness, Goodness, Faith, Meekness, Temperance.

A life that is constantly defeated, or that manifests chronic lack of joy, or constant criticism, or a jaded attitude toward the means of God's grace, or that makes every hard place a call for a vote: (Shall I go ahead and do God's will, or shall I quit??)— such a life is hardly a great advertisement for Jesus Christ.

To be filled with the Spirit means a life that is, at least on average, "overcoming."

Is there any basis for an objective and impartial observer to say about your life and mine: "She/he is an overcomer!"??

5. To be filled with the Spirit will mean special grace for special assignments. I know this is probably a basic definition of our Keswickian brothers and sisters. But it is a valid definition. We do not always have great manifest power and great endowment from on high, because (Thank God!) we don't always live in a time of crisis.

But being filled means that the Holy Spirit will be there when we need Him. When the pathway of obedience leads us out over our own depth, the Holy Spirit must come through, according to the Promise. 6. But being filled IS an experience! It IS something which is more than just subjective, existential, or whimsical and capricious. It is a Promise which we can know even if we cannot completely control or categorize it.

The climate of fullness is always surrender. There must be a desire for and a submission to God's whole will. We teach, and rightly so, that we come to a crisis of deliberate surrender to God for time and for eternity.

Certainly there is a submission to God's direct commands. "Don't leave town!" God's will, not ours! This submission is epitomized in Romans 12:1,2 and Philippians 2:5-11.

There is also a submission one to another. (Ephesians 5:21) And Acts 2 tells us that when the Holy Spirit came to fill them "They were all in one place, in one accord."

Don't overlook that fact.

It was in this spirit of submission, surrender to God, that they WAITED!

- C. This experience of being filled should manifest itself by these five or six criteria, perhaps. Not "pass" in order to satisfy some self-appointed human panel, but in order to enter into the joyful realm of Christ's expectations and His Promise.

And the absolute essential manifestation of being filled with the Spirit is OBEDIENCE! God's will is now MORE than a law written somewhere in stone. God's will has become DELIGHT!

IV. THE PEOPLE: WHO MAY BE FILLED?

- A. On that great Birthday of the Church Peter said: "This Promise is to YOU and to your children"(to you people here, listening to me speak today.) "And," Peter also said, "to those who are afar off (even back home in Asia Minor where some of you live..) "And to as many as the Lord our God shall call to Himself."(Acts 2:39)

So here, according to scripture, if God speaks to you in convicting, convincing, promising persuasion, then you are a candidate for this fullness.

- B. Only God's people may be filled. This must be more than a shibboleth of our tradition. I would far rather be dead wrong, theologically, and belong to God totally, than to be dead right and too rigid to acknowledge my own deep need!

To be a part of the 'holiness tradition' is to have both a great blessing AND a danger! We sometimes almost come to think that WE own the Spirit! We think that WE understand the Wind!

- C. CONSECRATED PEOPLE WILL BE FILLED. There will be a deliberate consecration! Remember Jacob at Jabbok? There will probably be a crisis time of surrender. It may be big and traumatic, or it may be quiet and sweet and almost uneventful.
- D. PEOPLE WHO SEEK TO BE TOTALLY OPEN BEFORE GOD WILL BE FILLED. "What is your name?" There must be confession, and understanding of our own UN-righteousness apart from God. Apart from GRACE we have no right to claim the Promise.
- E. There probably will be a challenge to our faith. Salvation— all of salvation— is by GRACE through faith! Not by "feelings." No some predictable, measurable response. Not the assurance of someone dear and trusted. On your own, for yourself, ALONE, you come to realize: This Promise is for ME! And then, I ACCEPT THIS GIFT!

- F. Then: This fullness will "work its way OUT" in a life-time of open-ness and obedience and surrender— and VICTORY AND JOY AND FULLNESS AND RICHNESS which we can then proceed to give away!

Don't you see: that is why Jesus didn't want the disciples to leave town UNTIL....

V. THE PLAN: WHAT DO WE DO WITH THIS FULLNESS?

- A. I say it reverently: That is Jesus' problem! If we will tarry until we are filled with His Spirit, then we are simply to witness wherever we are led.

The disciples did not have a great Master Plan to win over the world. They didn't even have a world-wide vision, even though Jesus had said: "Go to the uttermost part!" The very idea of sharing their faith with Gentiles was almost too much for them.

But the disciples were genuinely filled! They were God-soaked people! And God could NOT be contained!

- B. The people who accomplish for God are people who are filled with God.

Mother Teresa prays four hours a day. We rightly stand in awe of WHAT SHE DOES for Jesus. But she does much because she prays much; and she prays much because she needs the strength because she in herself cannot do what she does.

Too often we are TOO STRONG or TOO SMART for Jesus to use. Or we are TOO SURE that we know what Jesus wants.

- C. But if we will be filled, then Jesus will not be CONTAINED. Jesus will out! "They took knowledge" of Peter and John "that they had been with Jesus!" They simply lived out Jesus, and went where Jesus said, and did their best to do what Jesus ordered. And without computers or jet planes or copy machines or tremendous organizational ability they turned their world over for Jesus in one generation!

The Promise was also their Plan!

Conclusion:

The Promise: I Will Send You a Helper

I'm glad that I was brought up in a Nazarene church to hear about the fullness of the Spirit, and the Promise of Pentecost. I'm also glad that I learned about consecration, and I believe I have given my whole being to Jesus forever and ever.

But I want to probe to the depths all that this Promise of Jesus, that I may be filled with His Spirit— probe all that it means! Will you claim with me the promise of our Ascended Savior?

Pentecost

PENTECOST, May 14, 1989

John 14:1-3,15-16,27

Do not let your hearts be troubled. Trust in God; trust also in me. In my Father's house are many rooms; if it were not so, I would have told you. I am going there to prepare a place for you.. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come back and take you to be with me that you also may be where I am. If you love me, you will obey what I command. And I will ask the Father, and He will give you another Counselor to be with you forever. Peace I leave with you; my peace I give you. I do not give to you as the world gives. Do not let your hearts be troubled, and do not be afraid.

I called my mother Friday evening and told her I was proud of her. This is Mother's Day weekend, you know. And I said to her in the course of conversation, "What is your church doing for Pentecost this year?"

And she said, "Is it Pentecost this Sunday?"

Here we are, celebrating one of the three greatest days of the church... and probably MOST of the evangelical Christians say: "Ho-hum— Pentecost Sunday? so what?" So, what indeed!

I. THE CHRISTIAN PENTECOST IS VERY SIMILAR TO SINAI

- A. The giving of the Law and the giving of the Spirit. The first Christian Pentecost was a Great Day in the history of God's relationship with humankind. It was an event of importance at least equal to the giving of the Law on Sinai. The coming of the promised Holy Spirit on the 120 was the establishment of a new order of Chosen People, a New Israel of God.
- B. First a covenant, then writing of the Law:

The First Israel was established, first in Covenant with the Fathers; and then, in the giving of the Law on Sinai to Moses, who humanly speaking, was the Convener of the nation.

The New Israel, the Church was established, first in the promise to Peter and the disciples: (Matthew 16) "Who do you say that I am?" "Thou art the Christ!" "Thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church!"; and then in the writing of the Law upon the hearts of the believers.

(John Wesley says: "At the Pentecost of Sinai in the Old Testament, and the Pentecost of Jerusalem in the New, were the two grand manifestations of God, the legal and the evangelical; the one from the mountain, and the other from heaven; the terrible and the merciful one." Explanatory Notes, Acts 2:1)

- C. It is highly significant that the Feast of Pentecost was both a feast of first harvest, the wheat harvest; and a remembering of the giving of the Law on Sinai.

For the Christian Pentecost was a great day of harvest, with 3,000 souls added to the New Israel; and it was the day that the Holy Law of Christ's New Commandment was written by the Spirit on the believer's very hearts. [Pentecost established a New Israel- the Church!]

II. PENTECOST IS DIRECTLY CONNECTED WITH CHRIST'S PROMISES

- A. Pentecost was/is a Christ-centered event:

We like to think we know all about Pentecost. We have doctrines that tell us about the Holy Spirit, and what He DID, and what He DOES, and what He is supposed to DO. But I wonder sometimes if we could do better if we didn't already know so very much!

The disciples didn't know what to expect. They did, however, recall what Jesus had told them. They had ten days of waiting and prayer and talking together, and when the Holy Spirit came, Jesus was the focus of Peter's great message.

B. Jesus had said (in the words of our lesson):

1. I AM GOING - There was to be a period of temporal, physical separation: (We are in that period of time just now.)

Jesus had given them to understand that He would be physically leaving. It would certainly be a transition time. A shaky, testing, wrenching time.

"But," He said, "I am going to my Father's house— to prepare a place for you. And ..." (Jesus had also said:) "I WILL COME BACK AND TAKE YOU TO BE WITH ME."

By this they understood and believed that Jesus would be physically returning. He would be literally coming back in His resurrected body to gather His own to be with Him forever.

[But that is not all that Jesus had said that the disciples thought about before the Day of Pentecost was fully come:]

2. Jesus said, "I COMMAND YOU TO LOVE ONE ANOTHER":

This was a vital part of Christ's Plan. He said, "I am concerned about your love. It is what I value. If you love Me, then be sure to do as I have commanded you." What, again, was Jesus' New Commandment? John 13:34 Love one another as I have loved you. Not just "Do unto others." The Golden Rule in some form or other is a part of many codes; usually negative (i.e., "Do NOT do to others what you wouldn't want them to do to you.")

But: "Love like ME! Give like I have given!"

And so when Pentecost came, and the Holy Spirit was given, IT WAS IN GREAT PART AN ENABLING FOR THIS COMMANDMENT!

3. Jesus had also spoken about 'another Comforter.' Here was something of a new concept— the dawning of the revelation of God as Trinity.

Jesus said, "I WILL ASK THE FATHER AND HE WILL GIVE YOU ANOTHER COUNSELOR." But at the same time Jesus had said, "I WILL COME TO YOU!"

Jesus seemed to contradict Himself: I am going away, but I will be with you even if you go to the uttermost part of the earth. I'll be with you, Peter— but I'll also be with you, John. And I'll be with you, Bill Restrict, and you, Louise Dygoski, and you, Fred Cawthorne! How is this possible?

Jesus said He would come again ... but He also said: "I will go with you to the uttermost part of the earth.

"Before I come again, I will come to you!" What does this mean? It is the secret of our faith! God resides in the human heart!

4. But Jesus also had said, in this passage of promise: "I GIVE YOU MY PEACE." 'The Holy Spirit, when He comes, will bring you My most precious inner resource!'

'I'm not going to exempt you from struggle. But I AM going to give you a supernatural peace that you can draw on!'

And these promises were what the disciples drew on as they waited— and what they experienced as the Holy Spirit came upon them and made them The Church!

But are these same promises valid today? What about the purity and the power and the feelings and the fruit and the manifestations?

III. PENTECOST FOR YOU AND ME TODAY

- A. Pentecost is given for real people in real life situations: It is hard for us to realize how tough a world situation the Early Church was born in:

1. It is hard to get perspective; is OUR world better or worse than Jerusalem in A.D. 30 ?

There are probably good arguments on both sides. THEY didn't have any of the left-over influence of generations and even centuries of Christian faith. But OUR generation has advanced in technology much faster than it has developed morally. So we have the means to destroy ourselves much more efficiently.

Still, the prospects of 120 followers of a crucified Jewish rabbi capturing their world for good and for love and for righteousness seemed pretty remote. Just about as remote as having Mikhael Gorbachev come to the altar and be saved!

2. But if there was no Master Plan in the minds of the believers, there WAS a willingness to live and die for the Master. And the Master always has a plan!

B. IF WE WILL BEGIN WHERE WE ARE, AND LET THE PRESENCE OF GOD CLEANSE AND PURIFY OUR HEARTS AND OUR HOMES, GOD HIMSELF IS THE ONLY ONE WHO KNOWS HOW GENUINE REVIVAL WILL SPREAD!

1. But we need to begin, NOT with the world, but within our own hearts and lives:

We need the power and the purity of Pentecost to begin to make difficult personal choices:

- a. you middle-school kids can choose to keep your minds pure. When most of your friends spend several hours a day watching MTV and other music that fills their minds with garbage, God's kids can dare to be different! You can say "I'll let Jesus watch TV with me!"
- b. you business-type people can choose to make decisions on the basis of what Jesus would have you do, and not simply what turns the biggest profit:

[Illus: One of our ENC representatives came back this week to tell of a church in NY that had a key layman who was transferred away at a huge raise— but who turned down the transfer to "stay in the ministry" of that local church. Is profit wrong? Of course not! But Jesus is Lord of ALL!]

2. If 120 could do what THEY did, what can 120,000 or 1,200,000 or 12,000,000 do in our world today? [And certainly there ARE many, many sincere believers today saying: "Lord, Fill ME with Your Spirit!"]

Once again, I say it reverently: "That is God's problem!" But I want to be one of those who is available for God to use. And I certainly want to see those I know and love saved.

But I do believe that God wants revival more than WE do! And I also certainly do believe that only Pentecost can save our nation and our world from self-destruction.

Being filled with God— not just some narrow, parochial experience that WE own— BUT BEING FILLED WITH GOD UNTIL HE CAN DO WITH US ANYTHING HE WILL— is the heart of what Pentecost means. Are YOU filled with God? Are YOU asking God to give to you, in all your failure and weakness, all that He has for you?

HAS PENTECOST HAPPENED TO YOU?

Prayer: Lord Jesus, You have promised to come to us! You have promised us Your peace! Grant to us this Pentecost Sunday a fresh infilling of the same Spirit the disciples received 2,000 years ago— and do with us as You see fit! Amen.

#39 - Spirit of Faith, Come Down

Holy Holy Holy Lord God Almighty

May 21, 1989, Trinity Sunday

Isaiah 6:1-8 "I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, High and lifted up..." "...thine iniquity is taken away, and thy sin purged."

"Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, 'Whom shall I send, and who will go for us?'"

Introduction:

Much of our worship, private devotions and public prayers, is imperfect. We come to the place of worship for many reasons. We come because we have needs. We come seek to "explain" and "understand" the Infinite. We come to release our tensions and feel "holy" or "happy."

But somehow in spite of our imperfection it happens! God comes! And again and again we are face to face with God, (in some small measure) as Isaiah was in this text passage.

True worship is a wonderful thing! It is never an "ordinary thing" or something to be taken for granted when we perceive that God is very near.

True worship is more than just thinking about God. And yet as we talk about God, and invite Him to help us know Him better, perhaps He will grant that we shall worship even as we think about the mystery that is "the Trinity."

I. THE TRINITY IS MYSTERY

A creed, such as we have read together is not a "puzzle to solve" but rather a statement of truth; a revelation, an opening to our hearts and minds something of the reality of the way God IS. We think (ponder) on such truth:

A. God is ONE, not three Gods.

Dr. (William) Greathouse said this week (at district assembly) that many people are professing monotheists but practicing polytheists. By that, he explained, he meant that we worship many other things beside the Almighty.

But there is also a danger of worshiping the God we "understand." The God that we have become "comfortable" with; the God we have "tamed" or brought down to our size so that we may live comfortably with Him.

God is ONE because the Bible says so. Deuteronomy 6:4 "Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one Lord..." and Jesus quotes from it in Mark 12:29 and added "mind" to the list: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, soul, MIND, and strength."

B. Jesus Christ is Himself God.

Many passages ascribe deity to the Lord Jesus Christ. The first to come to mind is the Prologue of John's Gospel. In the beginning WITH God, the Word WAS God. The Son was with God in CREATION "All things were made by Him."

Jesus prayed to the Father. They are One [see John 10:30, and John 17:11;] and they are separate Persons. This is part of the Holy Mystery of the Godhead. But We have a Christ-like God. God is LOVE, because Jesus is love. (Philippians 2:5-11)

C. The Holy Spirit is spoken of as Person and as God.

In the final discourse of John's Gospel Jesus spoke of the Promise of the Spirit. In John 16:13 Jesus says: "When HE the Spirit of truth is come, HE will guide you into all truth: for HE shall not speak of Himself, but whatsoever he shall hear that shall He speak: and He will show you things to come. He shall glorify Me: for HE shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you."

Certainly the Spirit is more than just an impersonal Force.

Gift of the Father and of the Son, the Spirit from all Eternity is part of the eternal, unchanging Godhead.

- D. We must accept all these truths as scripture: Ralph Earle says, "None of these facts can be surrendered without giving up the faith of the New Testament."

[But what does this possibly have to do with you and me, where we live and struggle day by day? It has a great deal more to do than we may realize!]

II. GOD AT THE PLACE WHERE WE ARE

[What does the vision of Isaiah have to say about meeting with the reality that is God?]

God does not exist for us. We exist for Him. But from our perspective, we understand God as He relates to us. And God reveals Himself to us just at the point of our need:

A. GOD ON THE THRONE OF THE UNIVERSE.

We need a God high and lifted up.

There is within us the need to know something of the AWE of God Himself. Idols will never satisfy. The most subtle idols are those we construct mentally of scraps of truth; without realizing it we desire to control even the idea of God.

But when GOD begins to reveal Himself the idols pale. The young prophet was good, dedicated, true to the best he knew. But the dawning of God's reality forever cured him of lesser objects of worship.

THE HOLINESS OF GOD DEMANDS HOLINESS ON THE PART OF THOSE WHO WOULD BE IN HIS PRESENCE. A glimpse of the awe of God begins to reveal the true limitations, weakness, and sin of our own nature. The proof of genuineness of theophany: "Woe is me!" [Peter: "Depart from me!"

Disciples: "What manner of man is this that even the wind and sea obey Him!?"]

B. GOD ON THE CROSS; THE ALTAR OF SACRIFICE.

We need a God who can take away our iniquity.

The vision of God high and lifted up does not excuse sin, and it does not deny sin; but it does reveal our own sin. But there is ACTION from the throne: a messenger comes to take a cleansing coal from the altar to purge the sin away! Fire. Purging. A voice declaring: "Thine iniquity is taken away, and thy sin purged."

There is no contradiction between the high and holy One and the provision for cleansing. This God who fills the temple, and indeed fills the universe, this Infinite and Eternal One is also the one who sees that a young prophet is cleansed from sin.

THE LOVE OF GOD PROVIDES A CLEANSING SO THAT THE HOLINESS OF GOD IS NO LONGER ALIEN. [John 3:16]

C. GOD CALLING: "WHO WILL GO FOR US?"

We need a God who will actually bring us into His own work of CREATION and REDEMPTION.

"Who will go for US? Whom shall we send?"

The communion of God, of God the Holy Spirit, brings salvation near to us. But then God the Holy Spirit also calls for us to be a part of the plan of salvation.

III. FELLOWSHIP WITH THE HOLY ONE IN THREE

- A. The Trinity is not "a puzzle to solve" but as we reverently open our hearts and minds to its truth we begin to grasp that our God is greater than we can ever know— and yet that He makes Himself known even to our little children!

(Conclusion:)

- B. So: How shall we worship?

How does this magnificent vision of God which Isaiah describes help us in our worship today? How are WE to worship in our personal prayer times, and as we come together?

1. The best we know how.

We will continue to be creatures of our culture. I will probably continue to preach sermons trying to explain the unexplainable. And we will continue to think to ourselves that the services where we "feel good" are better than the services where we are challenged ("dug out") and stretched and brought under conviction.

2. But we must not limit our God!

We must not 'create Him' in OUR image. When "Uzziah" dies— when we seek to "Draw near to God ..." — when we seek for Him for Himself alone!

3. And our God WILL reveal Himself!

And we will cherish the "high moments." They will come as we seek to worship the best we know, with open hearts.

We may actually be dismayed when God begins to reveal Himself in awe, as Isaiah was dismayed. He said: "WOE is me!" But that dismay is the opening of a door on life as we have not experienced it before.

It may not neatly fit into our theology, but as Dr. William Greathouse once expressed it (in his book The Fullness of the Spirit) "Again and again we must break through into spiritual reality!"

Prayer:

O God, Help us not to be satisfied with anything less than YOU! Come to us where we are— as YOU will— how YOU will— in Your holiness and your grace and mercy and in your love and purpose. At any cost, O Lord, grant that we may please You, and live for Your glory, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. We pray in the Name of our Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen

#21 Come, Thou Almighty King

The Battle for Our Children

May 21, 1989

Isaiah 49:23-25 "... and thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that wait for me. Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captive delivered? But thus saith the Lord, Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children."

[This past week Pastor Nielson and I sat down and deliberately watched a "video" on MTV. It was by the rock star Madonna, and I believe the name of it was "Like a Prayer." It was well-planned, full of symbolic meaning, calculated to appeal to the people who are least equipped to defend themselves against temptation, and it was hellish, demonic.]

By some estimates, the "average" young teenager watches TV, and many of them MTV, three or more hours per day!

[Illus: What does that have to do with our families?: I'm reminded of a cartoon I saw recently in Christianity Today— a father and mother are watching their children watching TV and saying: "I sure hope the government bans that program soon! It shouldn't be on the air!"]

But as evil as much of our culture is today, I want to do more just now than say: "Let's agree, isn't it awful! Shame!" I want to prayerfully consider: What can we do in this life-and-death struggle for our children?

I. THE NEED AND THE PROMISE ARE CONNECTED: "WAITING ON THE LORD"

A. I don't know too much about the times in which Isaiah wrote: times of captivity and idolatry and pagan worship that threatened the worship of Jehovah God.

But I believe I know something of our times: I see a tidal wave of Satanic influence. And while the violence and the sex and the drugs are "out front" where we can see them— the abortion on demand— the hard attitudes of "Me-ism"— the root cause THAT IS NOT SO OBVIOUS just might stem back to the way our children have subtly been taught for the last seventy years or so.

The Word of God has been supplanted, and made "irrelevant." This exactly parallels the first attack of Satan in garden of Eden: (1) God has not really said that! (In our "culture" we do not talk about "right" or "wrong"— we just talk about "values" and "what is right for you" or "wrong for you." But the idea that a thing is right or wrong on the basis of the authority of God is to be ridiculed.

B. So— what do we DO about this captivity?

God says (in direct connection with this promise: "The people that wait hopefully for Me will not be put to shame."

God's people must wait on HIM. The need to WAIT. Certainly we must "do something!" But before we "do" we must be "endued." This does not mean then that we will do nothing BUT wait. That quite the contrary, we will work harder than anyone else, perhaps.

C. What does "waiting" mean? A certain amount of hours in prayer? Waiting is itself hard work. How do we pray? [I am not now "telling" you how to pray; I am asking!] Do we have to say the words? Out loud? We had better be working on our own answer for this! We had better learn to WAIT by ourselves, in the quiet hours! And we had better learn to WAIT together, when the crises comes, and we need the help of one another, to call and say: "Will you WAIT with me?"

D. The Lord says: "They shall not be ashamed that wait for Me!" I'm pretty sure that we can't "do it wrong" if we keep at it!

II. THE PROMISE: IF WE ENGAGE IN CONFLICT FOR THE RIGHT, GOD WILL FIGHT WITH US! AND HE WILL SAVE OUR CHILDREN!

A. CLAIM THE PROMISE

Please don't tell me this isn't what these words mean! I believe they are MINE! And I want them to be YOURS, too!

B. PRESS FOR SALVATION

We must believe that our children need to be saved. We must believe that there is a Lamb's Book of Life, and "ark of safety." We must ourselves be saved. Backsliding is so subtle! It is so easy to become "intellectual" and "casual" about really important things!

C. GO ON A "WAR" SCHEDULE

We must accept the fact that as long as we live this side of eternity we must be on a war-time mobilization; either we are part of the solution— or we are a part of the problem.

D. DON'T GIVE UP!

If our precious loved ones are saved it will not be by accident. No merely casual, hope-so approach will do for this most important of earthly assignments.

[Illus: A young lineman brushed a high tension wire one day and was electrocuted, and fell senseless and lifeless to the ground. His fellow-workers rushed over to him and did what they could to revive him; but they found that he was beyond help, and they grieved.

But at that very instant a jeep pulled up and the supervisor saw what had happened, and what is more, he saw that it was his own son lying on the ground. And he would not accept defeat without making an heroic struggle; he applied the CPR techniques and kept at it— and the life began to flicker and the boy revived. The difference here was love.]

The Battle for Our Children

Whatever your age, or the age of those you love— let's accept the challenge to be partners with God in setting people free from the captivities of evil! God has promised that, if we wait for Him, He will fight FOR us— fight along WITH us— and that He will save our children! I believe Him!

Life Through the Open Door

May 28, 1989, Second Sunday after Pentecost: Kingdomtide

John 10:10

Introduction:

The promises in the New Testament are always finally in the context of the community of faith. We are to live and move and have our being in the fellowship of the church.

[As independent-minded as most of us are, we often seek to appropriate the promises of God for our own felt personal needs. We think how "this promise" or "this church" meets me where I am just now— of what "I" need. I suppose that is normal and understandable.]

This favorite verse, John 10:10, about abundant life, a verse to which we come back again and again, is about belonging to the fold, the flock of the Good Shepherd. We will find our life in the context of the true church.

But what do we know for certain about "the true church?"

I. JESUS IS THE CHURCH: THAT IS, JESUS IN YOU AND ME IS THE CHURCH

A. Jesus is the Head of the church. Jesus is the LIFE of the church. Jesus is the VINE. But also in this present world JESUS IS ONLY PRESENT IN HIS CHURCH! H. Ray Dunning says: "The church is the Body of Christ, hence to be in Him is to be a part of his Body." Alan Richardson says: "The Church is thus the means of Christ's work in the world; it is His hands and feet, his mouth and voice."

B. The branches are NOT the vine— and yet the Vine is the branches. In a wonderful way— if we are in Christ, we are in the church; and if we are in the church we are IN CHRIST! There is no such thing as being "in Christ" and not being in His body, the Church.

II. JESUS IS THE TOTAL PURPOSE OF THE TOTAL CHURCH

- A. The church (we Christians) exist(s) for ONE reason only: to be Christ's BODY in this world. The proclamation of Jesus Christ is the total task of the total church.

THE PROCLAMATION OF JESUS CHRIST IS THE TOTAL TASK OF THE TOTAL CHURCH!

- B. We tend to identify the proclamation of Jesus Christ with the preaching of the Word of God from the pulpit of the church. And I would certainly hope that the pulpit exalts and lifts up Jesus Christ.
- C. But the pulpit exists primarily to edify, to equip, to prepare the total church to proclaim the majesty and love and grace and salvation of God in Jesus Christ. And that has to happen outside the four walls of the sanctuary.

III. JESUS IS AT HOME IN THE CHURCH GATHERED

- A. We ENTER IN to the place of worship; the sanctuary of His Presence. [11 o'clock on Sunday morning is (in most ways) my favorite time of all the week!]
- B. We "ministers" love our calling. We sense its high importance and privilege. We have been made to understand that our role is "key" to kingdom growth.
- C. But the "cutting edge" of ministry is when the entire BODY of Christ accepts the TRUTH that we are ALL to take Jesus Christ wherever we are: TO PROCLAIM HIM!
- D. We ENTER the sanctuary to fellowship and worship. We NEED the food, the edification. But we LEAVE the sanctuary to enter into "life." And life on Monday is REAL life out there in the world!

IV. JESUS IS ALSO VERY MUCH AT HOME IN THE CHURCH SCATTERED

- A. We need new ways to measure "church growth." Buildings and numbers and dollars are well and good— even necessary. But when people think of their ministry and value to Jesus in the church they do not need to think ONLY in terms of what they can do when the church GATHERS.
- B. In the ideal church 100% of the flock will GATHER in order to be fed, edified, strengthened.

In the GATHERING they will give and receive support in prayer, and see that fellowship and education are happening.

- C. But in the ideal church a full 80% WILL HAVE THEIR PRIMARY TASK FOR JESUS OUTSIDE THE WALLS OF THE SANCTUARY.

This means that only about 20% of the Body will have "inward directed" tasks of teaching, administrating, keeping the wheels turning.

- D. This will mean "witness" in the old-fashioned meaning of the word: Helping people to the decision: Jesus is Lord! (Romans 10:9,10) That is true!
- E. But somehow it will also mean witness in the broadest sense of the word! It means a total life involvement: letting Jesus 'LOOSE' wherever we are! Not from "ought" and from "should" but from abundance and life and joy!

Conclusion:

V. JESUS HAS PROMISED LIFE TO THE FULL IN THIS CONTEXT: COMING IN AND GOING OUT!

This week a young person told me frankly: "You aren't preaching where we live! We have heavy responsibilities you aren't covering!"

I want to preach where you live! But I may not always be able to meet you where you are.

But I recall a testimony on a Wednesday night some years ago, now. A testimony I have often returned to (insight!)

[Illustration: Cindy Knox was a brand-new social worker in some of the toughest parts of Boston. One day she was shocked again by a particularly sordid case of neglect and abuse to little children. In her revulsion and anger she cried out, half aloud: "Oh God, Where are You?"!! And in her own words, Cindy said, "Jesus spoke to me, and He said: 'I'm in you, Cindy!' THE CHURCH was in that tenement that day!]

I'm not sure that I can preach where each of us lives! The businessman, tempted to shave corners. The student, tempted to cheat "like everybody else." The parent, tempted to let TV do all the babysitting. [How about the pastor, wondering what in the world to say as he faces pain and suffering??]

But I can assure you! I grasp these promises of the Good Shepherd, the Vine, the Door— that if we COME IN by the Door and gather in Jesus' name to fellowship and learn and worship— —and then GO OUT by the Door to proclaim Jesus, and let Him live out through us— WE SHALL KNOW REAL LIFE! WE SHALL BE THE CHURCH! AND THE WORLD WILL SEE JESUS!

#84EH Let the Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me

It Pays to Serve Jesus

June 18, 1989 AM

Psalm 84:11,12 For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly. O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

[There are times when we walk through the deep waters of pain, and cannot find a ray of light, spiritually. And then there are times when it seems as though our hearts will burst with joy because of the blessings of God. And strange as it may seem, we may be pleasing God just as much one time as another. Feelings and faith do not always correspond in any way we can understand.]

Introduction:

[This is the "doorkeeper Psalm" to which we often refer when someone opens the door for us. But it has a deeper significance than that:]

The Psalmist is 'away.' Very evidently he misses the place of worship. And he interprets his longing, correctly, as a longing after God.

Often when we have a craving, or a deep longing— when we "cry out" for something, we don't quite know what— that "something" is really Someone! OUR HEARTS ARE MADE FOR GOD!

Can that desire for God ever really be met? What does this great promise mean?
"Sun, shield ... grace glory ..."

Just how literally may we take these words? And WHEN do these words apply? Are they for "happy" days or for "homesick" days?

The question is, does it really PAY to serve God? Are Christians "blessed" above others?

I. THERE IS MYSTERY INVOLVED IN GOD'S 'BLESSINGS'

A. God will never be manipulated.

We can never push God into a simple "cause-and-effect relationship" in order to make Him do what we think ought to be done. We can never simply use the promises of God to accomplish our own desires and selfish schemes. If you can do that, then your God is too small!

Yes— there ARE promises— promises that if we pray, then God will hear and answer. There ARE spiritual LAWS.

But God IS! God is GOD! He is unlike all others.

B. God can never be fully understood.

We believe that he is GOOD and that He is HOLY. But we can never be certain we understand why things happen. Remember, the Book of Job is full of very wise sayings that simply ARE NOT TRUE! [You must be careful as you read Job to see who is speaking!]

C. And yet here is the Word: GOD HAS PROMISED HIS BLESSINGS ON THOSE WHO LOVE HIM! What does this mean?

II. THERE IS THE FACT OF STRUGGLE INVOLVED IN ALL HUMAN EXISTENCE

A. If you DON'T know the Lord, you will know pain.

The Bible declares that "The way of the transgressor is hard" (Proverbs 13:15): It does not always seem so, but ultimately

1. Life gives back what is sown (Galatians 6:7), and too, in the end regardless of what we see of outward circumstance,
2. the transgressor is separated from God. And that is the ultimate tragedy, for we are made for God; made to live in His Presence and to know His blessing.

B. If you DO know the Lord, you will (also) know pain.

Even the life of faith means struggle!

1. There is struggle to enter INTO life! Matthew 7:13-14 says: Strait is the gate! It costs to CONFESS! (Confess need of Savior! Confess SIN! Confess helplessness to save self!) It costs to REPENT! (To TURN FROM our own wicked way!) It is never easy! Jesus said: "STRIVE! (Agonizomai!)"
 2. God's way demands FAITH! Fight the good fight of faith! This way demands that we trust God's LOVE and trust His WORD! It demands that we renounce our claims to our self-centered ways!
- C. If you DON'T ... and if you DO! There is PAIN both ways! So— what is the difference?
- There IS a fundamental difference in the 'hardness' or 'difficulty' of life and living with and without the Presence of the Lord God as Savior and Friend!
- GOD, HIMSELF, IS THAT DIFFERENCE! And that difference is what I want to look at now:

III. THE FACT IS: GOD IS INTERESTED IN MAKING HUMAN LIVES THE VERY BEST THEY CAN BE!

"No good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly!" Where men and women will permit Him, God works His best will:

A. GOD'S WAY BRINGS

1. Free forgiveness for all our sins!
2. Life changing purpose: we become partners with God in His work of Creation and Salvation.
3. Genuine meaning and satisfaction: our lives can make an eternal difference!

B. (Our text tells us:) GOD IS A SUN AND SHIELD

(Romans 8:28 "In all things God works— for them that love God.) God will and DOES give grace and glory! God is in the 'construction business.' "I will MAKE you!" God takes great delight in making people like His Son Jesus.

I John 3:1,2: "Beloved NOW are we the sons/daughters of God ... and it doth not yet appear what we shall be..."

C. (Some 'personal insights:') WHAT MAKES LIFE RICHEST OF ALL? [When we realize (or re-realize:)]

1. THE PRESENCE OF JESUS!

Jesus is present with all believers. And He is now present with you/me. But from time to time we get this insight, this assurance: WE HAVE CONTACT WITH A VERY PRESENT FRIEND! THAT is worth everything!

2. THE LOVE/TRUST OF JESUS!

He loves US; we love HIM. We are brought into Christ's company ... fellowship ... salvation .. or whatever we call it ... by loving Him the best we can!

And as poor as our love may be, Jesus appreciates it and He refines it! Jesus loves US! Jesus loves ME! Jesus loves YOU!

D. This is NOT mysticism! IT IS THE SCRIPTURAL 'NORM' OF WHAT IT MEANS TO BE SAVED! We must have a know-so contact with God!

1. We dare not throw away the old formula: Saved by faith. Confess. Believe.
2. But all the same we cannot coldly pursue a 'matter-of-fact' salvation, trusting in "the facts of truth" apart from an utterly sincere, open, friendship with the Lord Jesus Christ.

Conclusion:

Does it PAY to serve Jesus?

Can this "craving after God" ever be filled?

The answer is: YES!

God does not promise to remove the tensions of life. He does NOT guarantee that we shall be free from pain. To be human is to suffer,

But to LOVE and to serve the Lord is to come to know Him, to know His Presence, to share His love.

BUT "HOW?"

(Verse 5!) The Psalmist says: I want MY HEART to be the HIGHWAY TO ZION!

1. Our hearts' deepest cravings are for God!
2. As we invite Him, He comes with His LOVE! He comes with His TRUST and LIFE PURPOSE! He comes with His ASSURANCE OF SALVATION!

All this PLUS:

The one dimension that is the most important of all is the eternal view! This seems so worthless to modern minds that it has even influenced to some extent the thinking IN the church— the importance of the long-term view!

It does pay to serve Jesus right NOW! Right HERE! But it will be paying one hundred years from today ... and one thousand years from right now, as well!

Prayer:

Dear Heavenly Father,

We have all experienced the deep longing of our hearts after love and peace and joy!
We know those cravings are for YOU!

Please make our hearts "highways to Zion!" Come with your Presence and make us all that You have in mind for us to be!

You have said: "No good thing You will withhold!" So, help us to serve You because we LOVE You! And You work in us as you will!

In Jesus' name, AMEN. #70 It Is Well with My Soul

Peter and Cornelius

July 2, 1989

Galatians 2:9-21, Acts 10:1-16

Purpose:

(1) To appreciate the great grace of our Lord, Who extends His mercy to all those who seek His face; and (2) to get to know and appreciate St. Peter as a very human, very great man of God.

Introduction:

What sort of man do you envision when you think of the great Apostle Peter? Do you think "impetuous" or "forward" or "talkative"? These are the stereotypes.

I am not certain that we grasp the scope and power of this man whom Jesus chose, and who was the acknowledged leader of the early church. I am not sure that we understand this man very well, who, along with St. Paul, was one of the two great heroes of the Book of Acts.

Peter was the undisputed leader of the Jerusalem believers; he was powerful in his persuasive speaking; he was powerful in his dealings with believers and unbelievers. Peter was such a man of God that people followed him around, and tried to get lame and halt people into his shadow, believing that his shadow brought healing.

I. PETER VERY MUCH A KOSHER JEW

Peter was comfortable with keeping many rules

Peter had never read Romans or Galatians. They had not yet been written, even though the truth in them is eternal. The early church was still feeling its way.

Peter knew that Life was a free gift of God in Christ. But Peter had been raised a strict Jew. Never in his life had he ever tasted pork; never had he ever had any social dealings with Gentiles. Peter knew that Israel was favored of God; and perhaps in his mind he thought that Jesus had come as a Jewish Messiah to set up a Jewish kingdom.

Years later this upbringing was still very much with Peter— as we read in Galatians 2, where Paul says that Peter had grown comfortable in the freedom from legalism that real salvation brings- but when some of his old Jewish friends came from Jerusalem to Antioch, where Peter had been eating with Gentiles (as well he should!) Peter reverted to his old, comfortable ways!

This is not to criticize Peter. I can identify with him in many respects.

Peter's heart and mind were 'stretched' by God's LOVE

We get some insight into just how great a man, how great a servant of God that Peter was by the fact that, given his background, he was still the instrument of God's choice to bring the Good News to Cornelius.

Here we see Peter dealing with a man with whom he had very little in common— at least so far as we might think.

We might think God would rather choose a "Luke" or at least a cosmopolitan Paul to witness to a professional soldier Gentile. But God's ways are beyond our understanding.

[Illus: I cannot help but think of Jack White, from Indiana, and the "Jesus Revival" at New Milford— totally incongruous from our understanding and perspective.]

(Transition: "But there are two men in this story in Acts 10...")

II. CORNELIUS .. A GOOD MAN SEEKING AFTER GOD

Does God ever answer the prayers of a "non-Christian?"

A professional soldier ... hardly where we would expect to find a gentle man. Yet here was a devout man, a man who prayed. Here was a man who gave to others. Yet he was not saved.

MY answer: God does what HE wants to do!

Cornelius was SEEKING AFTER GOD! How many are doing just that?

Does God answer the prayers of a non-Christian? Does God love non-Christians? DO WE? [One of the moving moments of General Assembly was the introduction of a District Superintendent who happened to be a South American Indian (from a tribe very similar to the Agauruna head hunters.) Head of one of the church's largest districts.

As a completely unlettered pagan he "saw" a man all in glowing, gleaming robes who appeared in his hut (dirt floor, grass roof, and all) and spoke to him about a Book and about finding a man who could get HIS name written there. This Indian man came to Larry Garman ...

WHY DON'T WE HAVE SUCH VISIONS? Do we walk in all the light we have? I JOHN 1:9

I believe

1. God will honor those who SEEK Him.
2. There are people LOOKING after God that God will guide US to if we are prepared— if we pray— of we are FILLED with the Spirit.

(Philip— taken to the Ethiopian eunuch)

III. GOD ANSWERED THE PRAYERS OF A PAGAN BY SENDING PETER

Peter had a viable prayer life

1. If we ever are used of God in any significant way we, too, will have to be people of prayer; available to God; in "right relationship" with Him.
2. Peter was "wrong" in his thinking— but God gently talked with him about his prejudice. [In the "discussion/argument" Peter was on the side of law and order— God was on the side of love and redemption.]
3. Peter was CERTAIN of His relationship to God in Christ. And that certainty never left him. But Peter was also "certain" of a lot of other things. Certain that HIS rightness had to do with his keeping of kosher law... certain that the chosen people were the nucleus of the church.

4. And Peter came aware of the heuristic quality of genuine faith! Peter was open to the Lord's leading

He was uncomfortable with change. He had a pure heart— that was filled with prejudice And yet PETER WAS OBEDIENT TO THE SPIRIT

5. Peter walked in the light ... and Peter reaped a great harvest! (10:44)

Conclusion:

1. Aren't you glad that Peter was open to God's Spirit? Aren't you happy that we are saved by FREE GRACE, and not by the keeping of kosher laws?
2. But wait a minute— are WE (you and I) AVAILABLE to God, even as Peter was? EVEN WHEN IT STRETCHES US AND CAUSES US GROWING PAINS [Illus: At General Assembly the entire Church Growth Convention heard Jim Couchenour tell of his dealings in a saloon in Columbiana, Ohio.]
3. And there are still many, many Cornelius-type people out there praying as best they can: "Oh, God! Send someone my way to show me how I can know You in a personal, satisfying, sin-forgiving, heart-cleansing way!"

Are YOU (am I) available if God should need someone to tell them?

PRAYER: (For a faith that stretches us— to be more like YOU!)

Called to Good News

July 16, 1989 AM

Romans 1:5 "... we have received grace and apostleship to bring about the obedience of faith among all the Gentiles, for His name's sake"

Romans 16:25-27 Now to Him who is able to establish you according to my gospel and the preaching of Jesus Christ, according to the revelation of the mystery which has been kept secret for long ages past, but now is manifested, and by the Scriptures of the prophets, according to the commandment of the eternal God, has been made known to all the nations, leading to obedience of faith; to the only wise God, through Jesus Christ, be the glory forever. Amen.

People want to KNOW God and they CAN know Him

[People desperately want to make contact with God! AND THEY HATE RELIGIOUS FAKERY. Yet, when they think there is a chance that God will "materialize," or be visible; when they believe there has been an authentic miracle, people will spend money, take time, make pilgrimages. 'WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE SHROUD OF TURIN?' At best an aid; never can be a central "proof."

It is a cry of our heart! We want to know!]

Paul says he KNOWS! He has been CALLED! And his call involves telling people God is calling THEM, too!

As we read the opening sentences of Romans, our attention is drawn to the word "called." Paul as he writes testifies that he is called. Paul has had contact with God! And he in the same breath says his call involves letting us know that we, too, are called of God. If we will LISTEN God is calling!

A KEY to KNOWING: Link of "obedience" and "faith:"

What does this mean? Is God literally "calling" every person?

What is faith? Is it believing what dad and mom told me? Is it saying "my church must be right"? Is it hearing the call? Is it answering a call that is already heard?

Is "obeying" faith? Or is "faith" obeying? Or is there any connection at all? Is the call simply a matter of informing us of the facts of God?

THERE IS CONTACT FOR YOU!

You can make contact with God! You can know that He is in your life. And you do not have to make a pilgrimage. But when a man or woman comes to know God in reality, he or she must come to God on HIS terms! And while you don't need to go on a pilgrimage*, you do have to desire God! You'll never know spiritual reality until it is important to you! ((*Let's go to the Holy Land again!!))

I. THE TESTIMONY OF PAUL TO BEING CALLED

- A. Paul was a religious person before he was converted. He desperately wanted to "make contact with God." He wanted to "matter" in religious things; he wanted "reality." Later Paul's testimony was: "I was zealous, I thought I was doing a good thing in opposing what I saw as a "sect" that contradicted the old way of salvation by works of the Law.
- B. God made contact with Paul. He "called" him. It was a forceful call; there was no doubt in Paul's mind that God wanted him. The details of this call are in Acts 9, and repeated in Acts 26:18.
- C. But also there was the element of choice in that call: Once Paul knew it was God, Paul had to make a choice! And in the very next verse (Acts 26:19) Paul says (26:19): "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision!" I said "Yes" to the heavenly call! ["Obedience" is linked with "faith." It is what validates the call, and releases the reality of God into our lives.]

II. PAUL'S CALL WAS TO BE A GOSPEL MESSENGER: TO CALL OTHER PEOPLE!

PAUL'S CALL IS YOUR CALL!

A. A PERSONAL CALL

Set apart to the "good news." The "gospel" is the truth about God's LOVE in Jesus Christ: [John 3:16 made personal!] God still makes the Gospel personal! (My own testimony; Bill Wagner & Charles Stanley on TV. etc.)

B. A RESPONSIBLE CALL

This message of "good news" demands a response, even as Paul had to choose, of whether or not to OBEY! "Faith" involves "the obedience that comes from faith" or, "The obedience that brings faith??"

C. A UNIVERSAL CALL

That "call" extends to you! To me! God wants US to know Him! That is what the New Testament is all about! That is what the true CHURCH exists for! God wants us to hear His call, and respond to HIM!

D. A CALL OF JESUS HIMSELF

(1:6 "The called of Jesus Christ") Paul says, "This call is not PAUL'S call— (I am just the messenger)— It is a call of Jesus Christ; it is a call to Jesus Christ:

1. Here is our call to spiritual reality. If we will heed the gospel- give God our attention— we do not need to go on a pilgrimage, or find a super-gifted leader. Jesus can make Himself known to each of us!
2. But it is both a call to Allegiance and, ultimately, to Ownership. One step beyond the "surrender" or even the "joining with" is the deliberate decision to "belong TO!"

E. A LOVING CALL

It is a call of LOVE! (Verse 7 "beloved of God in Rome") Be certain, God doesn't have any unwanted children! God loves you! And that is why He calls you!

F. AN AMAZING CALL TO SAINTHOOD!

It is a call to (are you ready for this?) sainthood! What is a saint? One who is super-spiritual? Isn't a saint who has 'one of those 'things' around his head? ...and where he walks things grow?

No— one who regularly walks and talks with God because he or she loves God! Saints are friends of God!

Conclusion:

People desperately want reality in their dealings with God! THEY'RE WILLING TO DO 'SPECTACULAR THINGS' TO FIND 'REALITY!'

But our ideas of reality runs to our five "senses" and God has ordained that we move into the realm of HIS reality, the realm of TRUTH and of LOVE and INTEGRITY. We all must live and walk by the FAITH that His grace enables.

[And faith is always linked to obedience; and obedience to faith. (see 1:5 again, and 16:25-27)] Remember this connection between "faith" and "obedience." We cannot wait to understand and explain everything before we begin to follow God. We do not need to obey if we are not convinced it is God that is speaking, calling to us. But when we DO know in our hearts "This is GOD!" then we obey unto faith, or we draw back into uncertainty and defeat.

Exhortation:

1. STAY IN TUNE PRAYER LIFE IS A KEY:

"Pray through" each day ... an admonition I took to mean "get blessed" (feel happy, religious.) But "pray through" means to get "in tune" ... has to do with obedience and trust: and with this confidence comes the assurance—"I'm where God wants me to be!"

2. TRY TO SERVE FROM LOVE

Seeking after "reality" may not satisfy as much as seeking after God's will and seeking to be of service. (Our team that went to Scotland went to serve, but they found God's LOVE!)

3. TRUST GOD'S WORD ... BUT THERE WILL BE DIFFERENT LEVELS OF ASSURANCE! TRUST YOUR HIGH MOMENTS!!

Reality comes on different "levels" as we walk by faith. But from time to time there comes great reinforcing assurance!

[Dr. Greathouse, after being elected General Superintendent, in his kitchen early the next morning; In "Canastota?" on my way to ENC (1949) I discovered Isaiah 41:10; in my study in Edison, unsolicited: I knew I was saved!]

You don't have to travel to France or the Holy Land! Somewhere along the pathway of obedience the assurance of faith will come! Along the pathway of obedience God gives His gift of the knowledge of His Presence!

Paul says: I've been CALLED! No question! I've been called to tell you that GOD IS CALLING YOU! He wants you to belong to Jesus! And He wants you to be a saint!

Prayer: O Jesus, Be Thyself to me a Living, Bright, REALITY!

The Way of Hope

July 16, 1989 PM

Psalm 130

(1) Out of the depths I have cried unto Thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice! Let Thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications. (2) If Thou, O LORD, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who could stand? (3) But there is forgiveness with Thee, that Thou mayest be feared. (4) I wait for the LORD, my soul does wait, and in His word do I hope. My soul waits for the Lord more than the watchmen for the morning; indeed, more than the watchmen for the morning. (5) O Israel, hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is lovingkindness, and with Him is abundant redemption. And He will redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

This Psalm speaks about hope. It was sung on the way to Jerusalem. And it speaks of seeking God, and of calling out to Him even when it is a struggle.

The Psalm has five natural sections, as I read it, for us to consider:

I. THE HELPLESSNESS OF MAN'S EXTREMITY

The very best I can do is not enough to bring me to God, or to "force" God to satisfy my felt needs. It is a victory when I realize this, and I cannot really begin the journey to hope until I acknowledge my helplessness. There are many different kinds of things that make people cry out to God.

Jeanine Van Beek cried out to God because of the horror and injustice of the Nazis in her native Holland, during WWII. As a girl of 15 she went to her room and cried out to God— and God met with her in a faith-kindling way, even though she had no adult encouragement.

The Peruvian Indian I mentioned before, now a church leader, was met in his primitive house by a shining being who spoke to him about a Book of Life.

Lewis Smedes tells of a black man, the son of a prostitute and a white travelling salesman; a man whose mother was so violent at times that he became a hobo at eleven years of age, and finally found himself in a black hole of solitary confinement in a Texas prison. As he began to crack mentally and emotional he cried out loud: "Help me!" And a voice said to him, "You are not an animal!"

And in the 9th of Acts is the story of Paul, who did all he could do to be the best he could be in his fundamental mindset in his own religion, who sought through sheer zeal to prove that he was right. But Paul was struck down by the arresting Holy Spirit until in anguish he cried out: "What would you have me to do?"

II. THE WAY OF HOPE LIES THROUGH THE DOOR OF CONFESSION AND OPENNESS BEFORE GOD

"If Thou, O Lord, shouldst mark iniquities NO ONE could stand!" The Psalmist is saying, "My sins can and will separate me from the hope of knowing God, unless they are dealt with!" There is only ONE thing that can permanently separate you from God and hope! And that one thing is refusing to face your own sins, and refusing to let God deal with your sins! It is not the fact that we are sinners that keeps us from God. Every one of us has sinned, and do not deserve His love. But what keeps us from hope is refusing to acknowledge our sins! The only sin God cannot forgive is the sin we refuse to confess.

III. GOD IS A GOD OF FORGIVENESS AND GRACE

"But there is forgiveness with Thee, that Thou mayest be feared!"

- A. It is not always sin that causes our life crises! We need to know that, and understand it. But we need to "clear the decks" and know that we are open and above-board with God! Grace is a New Testament word, perhaps. But the Psalmist knows that God is love! He says, "If you held my sins against me, I could not stand! But there is forgiveness with You!"

God has promised to meet the sinner. God has promised to support His children.

In Old Testament times God had made provision for sacrifices, which, while not very satisfying perhaps, pointed forward to the Perfect Sacrifice that was to come. This provision, and the Day of Atonement and the Passover taught the people that while sin was serious, and while it brought a great sense of separation, there was atonement for sin!

But now we know that the place where God meets the sinner is called Calvary! The place where God's hatred for sin, and His justice, and His great love for each one of us is at the Cross of Jesus Christ!

But we must be convinced, convicted in a personal way of this truth. It sounds like a story that is too good to be true! we think, "There IS forgiveness with Thee! But can you forgive ME?"

And He CAN!

- B. And when we have sought God for our sin, we can be certain that we can also seek Him succor for our sorrows and our burdens! And we seek Him with His own gift to us: F A I T H !

IV. TO PERSONALLY EXPERIENCE GOD'S GRACE WE MUST EMPLOY GOD'S GIFT OF PERSONAL FAITH

The Psalmist says (1) I have cried to you from my extremity! (2) I have begun to grasp the fact that You care about sinners, and that You forgive them. (3) So now I will begin to cast myself on Your Word. I will begin to trust Your mercy, Your revealed grace!

Once again a key word (that we have heard a lot lately :) "Wait!" "I wait for the Lord, my soul does wait."

I wait, not because God wants me to jump through hoops and over hurdles to be saved. And certainly not until I get "good enough" or earn or merit, or come to the place where I am sad enough or have wept enough tears.

But I wait because there is a reality to this salvation that we dare not miss! We dare not accept someone's pale version of the genuine article. We dare not PRESUME that because we have a reasonably accurate understanding of the plan of salvation, and have acknowledged the mere FACT that we are sinners, that the "facts" or the "truth" will save me. No! We must be certain that we meet with God Himself! We must be certain that we have heard His word of pardon!

HOW MAY I FIND CERTITUDE? HOW DO I KNOW GOD HAS HEARD? Sometimes this step of personal faith is straightforward, and rather businesslike. Sometimes it is very emotional. Sometimes there is a need to take hold and hang on "by naked faith"- particularly among the children of the church, it seems.

But the important thing in this seeking is— it must be OUR OWN faith! And it must find God's reality. And always there is the element of obedience, or a willingness to walk in revealed light! That's a key!

V. THERE IS ASSURANCE!

Verses 7,8 — although to the day we meet Jesus our faith will be tested ... and we must walk by faith, and not by sight ... and we will need the encouragement of the people of God, and the strength of the means of grace—

There is assurance in the matter of our soul's salvation: We can know that our sins are forgiven! Don't settle for second-hand assurance here!

There can be God's assurance even IN our trials, too! I believe that we can have God's assurance at the time we need it most.

In Acts 27 Paul is a prisoner, with a group of prisoners on a voyage in first one ship and then another on his way to Rome. When the centurion and the captain of the vessel determined to sail on from Crete, even though it was the dangerous hurricane season, Paul spoke up in warning (27:10.) But his warnings were not heeded, and there was nothing, as a prisoner, that he could do about it. And sure enough they ran into a storm which ultimately destroyed the vessel and threatened all their lives.

Then in the darkest hour of despair it was Paul, the prisoner, who "took charge!" He spoke to the assembled passengers and crew (and there were 276 of them!) with great peace and confidence. And these were his words:

"This very night an angel of the God to whom I belong and who I serve stood by me, saying, 'Do not be afraid, Paul; you must stand before Caesar; and behold, God has granted you all those who are sailing with you.'

"Therefore, keep up your courage, men, for I believe God, that it will turn out exactly as I have been told. ... "

Conclusion: Let's look at that Psalm again:

(1) Out of the depths I have cried unto Thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice! Let Thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications. (2) If Thou, O LORD, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who could stand? (3) But there is forgiveness with Thee, that Thou mayest be feared. (4) I wait for the LORD, my soul does wait, and in His word do I hope. My soul waits for the Lord more than the watchmen for the morning; indeed, more than the watchmen for the morning. (5) O Israel, hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is lovingkindness, and with Him is abundant redemption. And He will redeem Israel from all his iniquities.

And let's pray:

The Joshua Challenge

August 20, 1989

Joshua 1

The death of Moses was a great trauma for Israel. His name was synonymous with deliverance. He spoke face to face with God. He brought down the Ten Commandments. He was a one man National Resource. He was full of life force one day— and he was gone the next!

Moses' death was also a personal shock to Joshua. Joshua had been a loyal follower. He had taken orders and obeyed them faithfully. Now he knew that things would never be the same again. The future loomed threatening and uncertain.

And it was in this fearful time of transition that God spoke to Joshua. God challenged Joshua, and promised him prosperity and success. But from the first word there was no question: this success must be on God's terms. It was to require both faith and courage!

God said: Moses my servant is dead. He stated the obvious. Joshua had to face the facts as they were. It was the end of an era. His life and the life of his people had already changed. The restrictions of listening to Moses and obeying his orders were forever lifted. But so was the security of leaving the responsibility of final choices to Moses.

Moses had shown to Joshua, and to all Israel, the power and grace and salvation of God. Moses had obeyed God. He had marched into Egypt to confront the Pharaoh. He had instituted Passover. He had parted the Red Sea. He had led his people for forty years.

Moses' very life spoke of God's grace and power in deliverance. Moses' message was "being saved from!"

Most of us have some Moses-type influence in our lives. We have had authority that has taught us of God's grace and love. We have learned of the Blood of the

The Joshua Challenge

Everlasting Covenant and of deliverance from sin. Parents, the church, teachers, leaders— all have shown us the truth and lessons of faith. Thank God for our own Moseses!

But now for Joshua and Israel the limits of Moses' leadership had arrived. Moses was dead. And now came a new challenge! It was a challenge to find the rest of God's will, beyond being saved From.

God's plan from the very first was to deliver from Egyptian bondage, and bring His people into the land of promise. From the very beginning God had a destination as well as a destiny in mind for the people that bore His Name.

Forty years wandering the wilderness trails had not been God's first choice. Moses went to the mountain (Pisgah) and viewed the Promised Land from a distance, and then he died. And then God called Joshua to leave the wilderness and cross over the Jordan into new and exciting territory.

God said: "Now therefore arise, cross this Jordan!"

"Deliverance" is never quite enough! Getting out of prison is wonderful— but now there is valid work to do! Joshua hears God calling him to go beyond the bounds of what the great man, Moses, has been able to do!

Every generation is called on to break molds and exceed models, even of good and godly fathers and mothers. Every generation needs to reverently stand on the shoulders of all that is good that has gone before.

God said: "Every place on which the sole of your foot treads I have given it you ... (and) no man will be able to stand before you." God seems to be given to extravagant promises, like: "If ye abide in Me, and My words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." (John 15:7) Or, here, "Every place you tread on will be yours!"

Walter Brueggeman says that a key question in the Christian faith is found in Genesis 18:14 "Is anything too hard for God?"

Of course there are dangers in taking God's promises seriously, in two directions at least:

We can over-simplify what we read, and perhaps even identify OUR will and our perspective of the situation with God's. Again Brueggeman says: "Faith does NOT make every desirable thing possible; not everything IS promised. What IS possible is characterized only as everything promised by God. That is, only what corresponds to God's good purpose is possible. He has promised a future in a new community, but not everything we would seek." [1]

We need to remember that Jesus prayed: "If it be possible..." then He ended His prayer as we always must: "Nevertheless, not My will but Thine be done!"

Another way we can mis-use God's promises is to over-spiritualize them, until they do not "connect" with the real world of blood, sweat, and tears at all. We can explain away all God's promises until we accept some level of mediocrity as the normal way God intends for us to live here and now, on earth.

God wills that every believer, like Joshua, shall not only be saved from sin, and guilt, and the scars of the past, but saved to a measure of love, joy, peace, and all the other manifestations of the fruit of the Spirit! God not only wants us "out of Egypt," He wants us "into Canaan, the Promised Land!" And that, in God's promise, is success!

God said: "Be careful to do according to all the law which Moses my servant commanded you; do not turn from it to the right or to the left, so that you may have success wherever you go."

Seems a contradiction: Moses is dead! But still keep the rules!

But God is not saying "Keep the rules!" Rather He is saying, "Submit to Divine Authority! Walk humbly before ME!" There is no success, as God measures success, without obedience to His will.

God says: "Be strong and courageous! Only be strong and very courageous! Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous!"

The Joshua Challenge

This is not Disney World. The crocodiles are REAL! A man can get KILLED here! Disobey— and you will certainly suffer! The need for courage is very real, or God would not have repeated Himself again and again!

God said: "Just as I have been with Moses, I will be with you; I will not fail you or forsake you. Do not tremble or be dismayed, for the Lord you God is with you wherever you go."

This is a familiar theme, and here we are again at the heart of what faith is all about: a personal walk with God. It is the open secret of the ages. God loves YOU, and wants you to love Him and walk with Him.

The Joshua challenge is our challenge, too!

From Many One

September 17, 1989 AM

Ephesians 4:4-7 There is one body and one Spirit, just as also you were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all who is over all and through all and in all. But to each one of us grace was given according to the measure of Christ's gift.

INTRODUCTION

The profound message of this chapter [maturity in Christ] begins with the importance of UNITY. Christians are to understand that they have important things in common with all other Christians. Jesus prayed that we might be ONE. It is written on the top of our worship folder: ONE Lord, ONE Faith, ONE Baptism.

But 'lesson two' lets us know that UNITY and UNIFORMITY are not one and the same thing. Even if suddenly, somehow, all genuine Christians were to achieve the ideal of perfect love for all other Christians [which obviously we have not] WE STILL WOULD NOT ALL BE ALIKE!

[I am not sure just how this fits in here, but] THE MOST IMPORTANT THING IN ALL GOD'S CREATION IS PERSONALITY. And God has certainly got Himself a VARIETY of characters, doesn't He!

And the amazing thing about it is, God loves ME! God loves YOU! Just as you are—He sees something so very precious that He wants to perfect it and preserve it and develop it through all eternity.

So the first thought today is

I. GOD LOVES VARIETY IN HIS ONE GREAT CHURCH

A. I would like to read a companion passage (from I Corinthians 12:4-14:)

"Now there are VARIETIES of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are VARIETIES of ministries, and the same Lord. And there are VARIETIES of effects (results?), but the same God who works all things in all persons.

"But to each one is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good. For to one is given the word of wisdom through the Spirit, and to another the word of knowledge according to the same Spirit; to another faith by the same Spirit, and to another gifts of healing by the one Spirit, and to another the effecting of miracles, and to another prophecy, and to another the distinguishing of spirits, to another various kinds of tongues, and to another the interpretation of tongues.

"But one and the same Spirit works all these things, distributing to each one individually as He wills."

- B. God has as many different gifts of grace as there are people. In God's SOVEREIGNTY He wills your very best, and mine!
Still—

II. GOD INCLUDES EVERYONE IN HIS GREAT PLAN

(text)" to each one..." (& I Corinthians 12:14"to each one ..")

- A. WE ARE CALLED [We do not need to worry about being excluded.]

"Am I really 'called'?" Am I among the chosen? [We have all— well MOST of us— had the experience of being the last to be chosen for "sides."] YES YOU ARE CALLED! YOU ARE CHOSEN!

- B. WE ARE CALLED ON GOD'S TERMS [A call to COVENANT]

We DO need to COVENANT with God. We DO need to begin to grasp THE COMMON MISSION.

- C. WE ARE CALLED TO FULL MATURITY

But every one of us is DIFFERENT! And GOD says: GOOD!

We speak of "gifts"- properly- and yet—

III. GOD HAS BUT ONE GREAT GIFT

A. [It is true that God has many, different GIFTS; and leaves out not one of His children; and]

ALL GIFTS RADIATE FROM GOD from I Corinthians:

Variety of GIFTS: ONE SPIRIT. Variety of MINISTRIES: ONE LORD. Variety of EFFECTS: ONE GOD AND FATHER.

This has to do with our individual development, and our place within the Body of Christ. There is a place for each of us. And if we will seek to "fit in" we can bless and help each other, and do God's best will!

In this local church we have an opportunity to demonstrate the truth that UNITY does not mean UNIFORMITY.

Sometimes I hear you say that "'YOU" don't fit into this "BIG CHURCH.'" [Come on, get perspective. "Big" is very relative. But perhaps YOU are exactly what is needed: as we all submit to the Master Craftsman, He is meting out grace to make us EFFECTIVE in His kingdom.]

B. But there is ONE GREAT GIFT

The text does NOT say giftS; rather it says "grace was given according to the measure of CHRIST'S GIFT(singular!)"

1. It is CHRIST'S Gift: GRACE: [What a beautiful word!] Undeserved love.

Unmerited favor. God loves the GOOD people. But NO one is GOOD. No one can get near God, because our hands are filthy, and we can't wash them. Our hearts are foul and we can't make them clean.

We admire Mother Teresa for going among the smells of death in Calcutta. But what do you think WE smell like to God? We smell of death itself!

CHRIST died for us! GOD COMES AMONG US. He doesn't enjoy the filth, the odor. He does, somehow, genuinely care about US!]

2. It is Christ's GIFT: GRACE: A word about Christ's GIFT

It is LIFE. It is RECEIVED and not earned. There is no reason to brag or be "superior" because we have this Gift.

Christ DIED for us! Jesus paid it all. There is nothing we can ever do to repay Him. But we may take His GIFT!.

3. GOD'S GIFT, AND HIS GIFTS, ARE FOR YOU

(text:) "to EACH ONE OF US grace was given..."

God apportions grace to each person. God loves each person. We do not see people as equally worthy of love. But the Bible says that God does not just see us as we are, in our rebellion, but that "while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us!"

Christ died FOR US!

CONCLUSION

You have to be ALIVE in order to MATURE

A. GOD IS CALLING YOU TO FULL MATURITY IN HIM

It is exciting to be part of God's Plan; to be an important co-laborer with God in His work of Creation and Redemption. It is pretty exciting to realize that God has a great diversity of gifts, and that He apportions them to each one of us in a unique way. Each of us within the Body of Christ has special grace apportioned to us according to the measure of Christ's gift.

But the first GIFT is LIFE itself!

B. BUT BEFORE WE CAN GROW AND MATURE WE MUST BE ALIVE!

The GREAT Gift is Life itself!

And there may be those here today who are not sure in their hearts that they have ever really received THE Gift!

This Gift is a PERSONAL COVENANT WITH GOD. It is more than just trusting in the fact that we were baptized somewhere, sometime.

It is more than living all one's life in church— even in the Church of the Nazarene. It is more than studying the Bible, important as that is!

The fact is: RECEIVING THE GIFT OF CHRIST, OF LIFE MEANS EITHER YOU HAVE- OR YOU HAVE NOT!

C. AFFIRM YOUR COVENANT WITH GOD THIS MORNING!

We cannot simply begin using our gifts for Jesus unless and until we are "IN GRACE."

God wants YOU more than He wants what you can do! God loves YOU more than He loves what you can bring to Him. God NEEDS YOU to make His family complete! Have YOU received the GIFT OF CHRIST?

It is not too commonly known that the great evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, had an elder brother.

Shortly after their father died, the elder Moody brother left home without word, without a forwarding address, without a word to his widowed mother. Years and years went by, and it was a perpetual grief on the mother's heart. She waited for a letter, but none came.

Years went by, and the mother had grown old and grey. One summer afternoon a sun-burned man came to the village of Northfield, and came up the drive of the Moody home. He knocked at the door, and old Mrs. Moody herself opened the door. She invited the stranger to come in.

But the man held back, and tears of shame started. He said, "No, mother, I can't come in until you forgive me!"

He didn't stand out on the porch for long. Mrs. Moody's mother heart forgave him, and in later years she rejoiced more over her prodigal that had returned than over her other children who had never run away.

From Many One

Jesus never keeps sinners waiting outside the door of His love and grace. The forgiveness of all our sins is the very first GIFT OF GRACE that a penitent heart will know!

GOD IS CALLING EACH OF US TO BE MEN AND WOMEN, TO COVENANT WITH HIM TO BE PART OF HIS BODY.

Ephesians 4:4-7 There is one body and one Spirit, just as also you were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all who is over all and through all and in all. But to each one of us grace was given according to the measure of Christ's gift.

Matthew 11:28-30 Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of Me. For I am meek and lowly of heart. And ye shall find rest unto your souls.

INTRODUCTION

The words of our text are just about the most beautiful words in any language.

But they are universally misunderstood or mis-appropriated: as (1) to be an emergency escape in times of trouble only; or, (2) a take-it-or-leave-it viable alternative among many ways to go. Or, (3) it is thought to be unworthy of respect because it seems "cheap." [That's too easy! Just 'Come unto Me!']

[But these are words we all need to hear. And welcome, too, just NOW!]

I. THIS IS NO CHEAP, EASY SOLUTION TO LIFE'S PROBLEMS

- A. Only QUACKS promise "Salvation is the end of your problems!" JESUS doesn't!
As a matter of fact, salvation may INCREASE the number of your problems.
It is neither simple nor easy to be a committed follower of Jesus Christ.
- B. But only Jesus can say these words: (text) "I will give you rest!"
- C. But these words are not meant for us to take lightly, either. We can never simply "Add Jesus!" and find instant relief! JESUS IS NOT LIFE'S ROLAID!

II. THESE WORDS ARE A CALL TO ALLEGIANCE TO A PERSON

Jesus said: "Come unto ME!"

- A. It is not a call to blind allegiance to a system or to a human organization. I hope you trust me, and love my church, but you cannot come to Jesus simply on the authority of MY say-so. I want to help you, and be a faithful messenger. But the call is to JESUS!

- B. How may we know the 'real Jesus?' So many versions are being marketed. So many "ways" being thought of as "the" way!
1. I must know personally, for myself! I can and may invite Jesus into my life to teach me by His Holy Spirit. Mentors and teachers and helpers are fine. But when I cannot move except for a discipler, I am in deep trouble! Jesus is capable of setting me free to follow HIM!
 2. I will know Jesus for myself through the Word. Jesus never contradicts the written word.
 3. I must have the witness of the Spirit within. This is NOT some outward sign, or some universal stamp. It IS an inner persuasion: we dare not be satisfied until we KNOW we have HIM in our inmost being to live!
- C. Only this personal faith in JESUS will survive! "Orthodox" Christians, even by-the-book Nazarenes without HIM will be sadly disappointed. Every life not built on Jesus will crumble and disappear.
- D. No mere nominal profession will do. No lip-service will 'cut it.' Appearances will not make it with God. Jesus can never ever be a 'minor part' of life! JESUS IS LORD OF ALL- OR NOT LORD AT ALL!

III. THESE WORDS ARE A CALL TO A YOKE

- A. "Rest" would seem to be the exact opposite of a "yoke." A yoke is in some ways a form of bondage.

But "no work at all" is NOT what the human soul craves. What we really CRAVE is work that really MEANS SOMETHING! Real REST is finding satisfaction and accomplishment in what we do.

[I heard Dr. Mann say many years ago "I haven't WORKED in 30 years!" Now many of us had seen him put in hours and days and miles; had seen him very tired in the work of the college he served and loved. But what he meant was clear: he LOVED what he was doing!]

- B. "Rest" means we are free from bondage to sin. We may be "bound" but it is by cords of LOVE! We are doing what we WANT to do!

- C. Being "yoked" with Jesus puts us in harmony with all that is GOOD and RIGHT and CREATIVE in the Universe that He made!

IV. THESE WORDS ARE A CALL TO THE HUMILITY OF LEARNING

Jesus said: "LEARN of Me!"

- A. Our testimonies sometimes seem to imply: "God is really LUCKY to have a person like ME!" We also say: "I found the Lord!" Which is something like falling out of the boat and saying, "I have FOUND the ocean!"

Our culture has taken a good thing- the need for a healthy self-image- and made an idol of it until humility is something quaint and ancient, something to be despised.

But Jesus said: "Apart from ME, you can do NOTHING!" Until we learn of Jesus we don't REALLY know what life is about!

- B. It is an accepted theme: "Don't be TOO religious!" Emil Brunner said: "The demand to put religion first is religious arrogance."

Well, I agree- sort of. Don't put "religion" first! Don't be always "spiritualizing" everything. But Jesus Christ first? THERE SIMPLY IS NO OTHER WAY!! He wants to have THE word on every aspect of our lives!

Augustine said it: "Thou hast made us for Thyself, O God! And our souls are restless until they find their rest in Thee!"

Jesus said: "Learn of Me!"

- C. HUMILITY IS THE PRE-REQUISITE FOR LEARNING!

Perhaps I am editorializing here. But I speak of the difference between learning and training, between education and guidance for career. The difference somehow has to do with submission to Truth; a willingness to change, rather than just acquiring knowledge and skills in order to accomplish one's own ends and purposes.

"Learn of Me!"

CONCLUSION

When Jesus began the "exclusive" part of His ministry the Apostle John tells us that people began to leave. Ones, twos, groups simply walked away.

And Jesus turned to His disciples and asked: "Will YOU go away, too?"

Peter spoke up. He always spoke up! And I don't know whether you will let him speak for you or not, but I want you to know he was speaking for me, at least that time! he said: "Master, where shall we go? To whom shall we go? YOU have the words of eternal life!"

"Learn of Me!"

The Peace Corps used to have a saying: "The hardest job you'll ever love!" They said: "Hard work!" "Low pay!" "Long hours!" "The hardest work you'll ever love!"

And people signed up— because they knew that is some small way their lives would make a difference!

Jesus challenges every one of us— old and young. "Live before you die!" "Are you TIRED? Come to Me! I'll give you REST!"

"Come to Me, and share My YOKE! Help Me do My work! LIVE BEFORE YOU DIE!"

"Learn of Me!"

And best of all— as you RESPOND to the Great Invitation, you'll find JESUS WILL BE RIGHT THERE, TOO!

[What do you do when you get a gracious invitation from someone you admire and respect?]

#13 (WS) O Thou In Whose Presence

Battle on the Mountain

September 24, 1989 PM

1 Kings 18:21

And Elijah came near to all the people and said, "How long will you hesitate between two opinions? If the Lord is God, follow Him; but if Baal, follow him. But the people did not answer him a word.

What is God saying to His church these stressful days? How can we hear from Him?
[The background for our text is a story:]

It was a brilliant, sunshiny day. There was a cloudless sub-tropical sky. On a flat mountaintop overlooking the sea several thousand people were standing silent, intent, totally engaged in the matter at hand. No one was looking around at the scenery for there was a confrontation going on- a battle!

It was NOT a battle of God versus evil. That is no contest.

And it wasn't really a battle of Elijah versus the false prophets of Baal (although that was very interesting.) But there was a very real battle that day. The battle was in the hearts and minds of God's people. They had never really settled it once and for all for themselves:

1. WHO GOD WAS; and
2. WHO GOD WAS TO THEM!

They knew their sacred stories. They had their doctrines down cold. They knew all about Moses and the Exodus and the pillar of fire and cloud. That was part of their tradition. History. They were proud of that.

But they also knew how their neighbors lived. They didn't want to be behind them in any way. They knew the Canaanites insured the comfort and success of their way of life by the worship of Baal. Somehow along the way God's people had all but forgotten that Jehovah God had promised to be a Father to them.

Now Baal had failed. They were miserable. The drought had lingered. The land had come to ruin. It had come to a showdown.

Elijah called to them: HOW LONG WILL YOU HANG BETWEEN TWO OPINIONS? And they answered Elijah not a word. WHAT A PREGNANT SILENCE!

I. SOME TIME OR ANOTHER WE ARE ALL ON THAT MOUNTAINTOP

The question comes: When are YOU going to decide for yourself about God?

Who IS God? Who is God TO ME?

Our false prophets and empty idols have failed. It is time for God's people to declare their faith.

[URGENTLY, EVEN PASSIONATELY]

II. WE ARE CALLED TO WORSHIP GOD AND REJECT IDOLS

- A. The difference between an IDOL and the true God is: PEOPLE USE IDOLS TO GET WHAT THEY WANT. But the true God IS TOO BIG TO BE USED!

An idol demands sacrifice and promises rewards, but the motivation remains self-centered and self-serving. The true God says: I AM HOLY! I AM JUST! I AM LOVING! AND I WANT YOU TO BE LIKE ME! God, too, demands our sacrifice, and promises eternal life. But the motivation of true worship tends to lift us out of selfishness and into God-serving.

- B. Most of us today are not "into" literal idol worship; we do not have little figures that we worship. But there ARE modern idols that we have to decide once and for all to forsake:
1. Worship of EMOTION. "Gratification now!" We want what we want to make us feel good and we want it now. Religious people want to FEEL GOOD and feel happy NOW! So what is so bad about that? ONLY that when you or I let some emotion dictate how we shall act- when we reject holy discipline and demand immediate everything- we deny the God who IS, and we declare that for us some other, lesser god is calling the turns.

If we FEEL spiritual we are "up." If we FEEL bad we are defeated. Feelings make good servants. Feelings are NOT unimportant. Feelings always mean something. But feelings make horrible masters. We cannot afford to serve them. And we can master them with God's grace and help.

2. Comfort and ease is a dangerous idol. We are so spoiled in our culture that we think it is the blessing of God that we do not have to work hard at anything, especially serving God. But God has not promised us an easy time!
3. The subtle worship of SELF! A MOST DECEPTIVE kind of idol is the worship of our own IDEAS OF WHAT IS RIGHT AND WRONG. We reject AUTHORITY, and we want to be our own God and give our own version of the Ten Commandments.

We have a strange occurrence these days of people who have a "private faith" that permits them to be one thing "in their hearts" and then to live a completely different thing in the marketplace or in public. We want to grow personally. We want to develop and "be somebody." But at the same time there is less and less loyalty to any group or organization, even to a local body of the church of Jesus Christ. The idol of our culture says "If its right for you, do it!"

[Eternity magazine wrote a few years back that Dr. A.W. Pink, a noted author who wrote a lot about the glories and wonder of the local church for the last 30 years of his life worshiped at home because he couldn't find any local church that suited him.]

Regardless of what we think, there are objective truths to be believed and to shape our lives. the Ten Commandments have never been changed to the "Ten Suggestions."

And there is no holiness that is not social holiness.

This MOST INSIDIOUS idol of all says that the good, orthodox, Bible-believing Christian can fail to surrender his or her will AND SIMPLY OBEY GOD WHEN GOD'S CLEAR WILL IS KNOWN.

[We rationalize and explain away every kind of sin and sinful living. We live like the world and do business like the world and entertain ourselves like the world and become almost indistinguishable from the world, and when crunch time comes we wonder why GOD has failed!]

C. The battle is on: God is waiting! Silence prevails!

"How long can you waver?" asks the prophet. We don't have to be smart or powerful or good looking to carry the work of Jesus Christ forward to victory. But we do have to be faithful and obedient!

I'm not arguing for simplistic answers, or saying that it is ever easy to know God's will or easy to be all-out for Him. But I am saying that God's people can settle it once-for-all that they belong to Him, and that HE IS GOD! It will not be a matter of debate every time a decision arises: SHALL I OBEY THIS TIME OR NOT?

CONCLUSION:

Every individual— every generation— has to settle these two questions, the questions God's people had to decide there on that sunny mountaintop.

That day God's people turned back to Him! And God was gracious to them! The drought was broken.

BUT THE BATTLEGROUND IS STILL THE HEARTS AND MINDS OF GOD'S PEOPLE:

1. WHO IS GOD? and
2. WHO IS GOD TO YOU?

Don't make any mistake about it: God is going to win!

But who is God to YOU?

Not just "Whom do you 'believe God to be?"

Nor even "Whom do you INTEND to follow?"

Sooner or later you will have to settle the question once for all! I challenge you to settle the question NOW! By a decisive act of your will, as the Holy Spirit deals with you, you can say with the people that day a long, long time ago on Mount Carmel.
"THE LORD, HE IS MY GOD!"

And if you want Him to be— if you INVITE Him to be— and are willing to WALK WITH HIM DAILY— he will give you victory and joy and a genuine sense of accomplishment.

He will become the LORD OF YOUR EMOTIONS!

He will be the LORD OF YOUR MIND!

And as you trust Him, He will be the LORD OF YOUR DECISIONS!

What is God saying to His people? What is God saying to the world?

To His people God is saying: Be holy, for I AM holy.

Don't rely on what you know, or how good you are. "Holy" means set apart to Me!
Make certain that you belong to ME!

Don't walk away from me, and I won't leave you! Isaiah 41:10.

To the world God is saying: I love you. I am going to set things right.

God is concerned with the world situation. Either He is God, and in control and overruling, or He is not God at all. We choose to believe with all our hearts and lives that He indeed is God, and that He is OUR God- HE IS GOD TO US!

God is concerned with the wide world— BUT ALSO—

God is concerned with YOU! ! !

Prayer

#14 O God, Our Help in Ages Past

Benediction: I often use a benediction from the last chapter of Hebrews. This morning I want to use it again— but I want to "lead up to it" by reading what comes before; perhaps this is what God is saying to His church today:

Hebrews 13:1-21

Let brotherly love continue. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body. Marriage is honorable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge. Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me. Remember them which have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation. Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever. Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein. We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle. For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp. Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach. For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come. By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name. But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased. Obey them that have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you. Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly. But I beseech you the rather to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner. Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is well-pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

A Hymn to Christ the King

Revelation 4 and 5

Introduction:

We have come to the end of another church year's cycle. Next Sunday we begin the year all over again with Advent, as we look forward with faith and joy to the celebration of the coming of our Lord to this earth.

On the "last Sunday" of the year it is good to set aside a little time to simply reflect on the greatness and the goodness of our God, and to affirm with joy that we believe He is the King of kings, the Almighty, the Sovereign of all existence.

If we try to keep up with "the news" from all parts of the world, and from all areas of society, we might be asked by skeptics, "What does reading dead poetry from an old book have to do with what is really happening?" And that is probably a fair question. We can only speak with conviction about what we believe to be real and important.

But it is precisely because the "news" of our day is (at once) thrilling and threatening that we need to AFFIRM OUR FAITH IN THE SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD!

Such an affirmation is an affirmation of an already existing personal and corporate faith. It may never convince a skeptic. But it gives great satisfaction to those who know God. [And we may know Him! God reveals Himself to those who seek Him!]

And just such an affirmation is found in the Book of the Revelation, chapters four and five. After John's vision has begun, and he has met the glorified Christ, and after John has received Christ's message to each of the seven churches, then comes a vision of the majesty of heaven, and a glimpse of the Throne of God Himself. Let me read to you at some length from these two chapters:

[From Revelation 4: 1-8. (This is an hymn of praise to God in His eternal mystery.)

A Hymn to Christ the King

[Then 4:9-11 (entire.) (This is an hymn of praise, acknowledging God's creating and sustaining glory.)

[Then, from Revelation 5:1-14. (This is an hymn of praise to God for the great love and condescension He has shown to all mankind. God has spoken to us in His Son; and God has spoken peace and life and salvation!)]

The simple reading of these chapters is the message of the morning, on this "Christ the King" Sunday. But I would like to simply make a few comments on these three basic hymns:

I. A HYMN TO THE MYSTERY OF THE ETERNAL GOD

- A. It is a given: WE CANNOT UNDERSTAND GOD. And we will never "understand" God. The angels in heaven do not "understand" God.
- B. Which is not to say we have a "magic" God— or a God that contradicts logic and truth. He simply goes beyond what we can understand.
- C. We have an holy God who inhabits eternity: "His ways are past finding out." But everything we do discover points to His greatness.

II. A HYMN TO THE MAJESTY OF CREATOR GOD

- A. When I began to study theology in a primitive manner forty years ago we were still using the "cosmological" and "teleological" arguments for "proving" God's existence.

We have since come to realize that God cannot be proved to anyone who refuses to believe. The arguments for God's existence from 'First cause' or from 'the fitness of things' can never really satisfy the longings of a hungry heart, perhaps, but they certainly can and do rejoice the heart of one who already accepts the simple fact of God, and who seeks to know Him better.

[And the burden of the disproof of God is, to my mind, a far greater load than proving that He exists.]

- B. But there is great wonder in the handiwork of God. The heavens and the earth, and all that is in the created Universe declare God's wonder. The heavenly host, as described by St. John, are not backward or reticent to sing His praise. The "real world" does not deny God's existence. It underscores it!

[Even the creation of ourselves! The Psalmist said: "I am fearfully and wonderfully made!"]

III. A HYMN TO THE MERCY OF A LOVING HEAVENLY FATHER

- A. Perhaps we will always be probing the wonder of God's MYSTERY and His MAJESTY throughout all eternity.
- B. [And that love centers around the GIFT of the Father, the SON, made possible by the HOLY SPIRIT drawing near to us!]

Conclusion:

To my mind, right now is both a thrilling and a frightening time to be alive. It is thrilling, because there are opportunities for service and growth in God's kingdom. It is frightening because much of the "glue" that has held societies together, and much of the "insulation" that has held them apart have disintegrated, and it is very difficult to predict what may happen next.

If God is truly SOVEREIGN, we believe that He can bring about spiritual renewal over the face of this earth. The teachings of our Lord would seem to indicate that the "wheat and tares" would come to harvest time together. And God's Spirit has been moving in powerful ways throughout what we term 'the Third World.' Here in our nation we have many freedoms, but in a strange, de facto way, the outlets of news and information often seem to be mostly controlled by people who seem antagonistic to the message of a Sovereign holy God. Those who speak out about living an evangelistic, aggressive faith are painted as the 'lunatic fringe.' And often, perhaps, we may give good reasons for criticism; we need to be, as Jesus said, wise as serpents and harmless as doves.

But what does this have to do with the end of the year, and "Christ the King" Sunday?

We have lived for more than 40 years in the fear of Communism and nuclear holocaust. We are living to see what appears to be an amazing accommodation to democracy and freedom behind the Iron Curtain, while at the same time our "free society" is staggering under the weight of greed, and lust, and drugs, and violence until decent people are afraid to walk their streets at night.

[It would be ironic to see the final spiritual renewal and revival of Christian faith surge westward from Korea and northward from Central America and even eastward from Russia itself, before the King of kings returned with judgment and justice and His righteous reign of peace.]

Our part may not seem to be a major part in the drama of faith. But every child of God can be an active player in this vital action. We are not to be coordinated by "the media." We serve a great God, who by His Holy Spirit is able to do with His people what He will! Our main concern, so far as I can understand it, is to be sure that we are HIS people! Available to Him for sacrifice or service!

And we do not have to wait until "eternity" to join the hymns of praise to our great Christ the King. We can join the heavenly chorus which John portrays for us in these chapters:

We can praise God for His greatness! He is THERE!

We can praise God for His condescension! He has MADE us, and we are His!

We can praise Him for His MERCY!

#36 (Exalt Him) Alleluia! Alleluia!

Jesus on the Spirit of Advent

December 10, 1989

Luke 21:29

And he told them in a parable: Behold the fig tree and all the trees; as soon as they put forth leaves, you see it and know for yourselves that summer is now near. Even so you, too, when you see these things happening, recognize that the kingdom of God is near!

I Thessalonians 5:1-11

Now as to the times and the epochs, brethren, you have no need of anything to be written to you. For you yourselves know full well that the day of the Lord will come just like a thief in the night. While they are saying, "Peace and safety!" then destruction will come upon them suddenly like birth pangs upon a woman with child; and they shall not escape.

But you, brethren, are not in darkness, that the day should overtake you like a thief; for you are all sons of light and sons of day. We are not of night nor of darkness; so then let us not sleep as others do, but let us be alert and sober. For those who sleep do their sleeping at night, and those who get drunk get drunk at night. But since we are of the day, let us be sober, having put on the breastplate of faith and love, and as a helmet, the hope of salvation.

For God has not destined us for wrath, but for obtaining salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that whether we are awake or asleep, we may live together with Him.

Therefore, encourage one another, and build up one another, just as you also are doing.

Introduction:

Advent is a wonderful time! But Advent is not simply a time of wonder, but a serious time of expectancy. Advent is a time to look for the hand of God in history, both past, present and future, if we can speak of history that way.

[Did the eternal God really choose a point in linear time as we understand it, and become personally involved in everyday life?]

[Does God ever really "bang in" on the affairs of time?]

[I shudder sometimes to hear someone say so very certainly: "God told me this!" I have had people very certain of what God's will was for me; and God hadn't told me, yet!]

[But at the same time, I pray and ask God to help me through the everyday issues and events of life. I try to maintain a constant inner conversation with Him. Don't you?]

[By the same (paradoxical) simplicity, I (constantly) ask God to intervene in the affairs of people! I believe He hears those prayers— and sometimes He answers them the way I pray them...]

In just how personal a way are we to "be looking for God's hand?" Will God ever invade history in a personal, visible way again?

Do we really dare to believe that He does, and that He WILL?

God's people belong to an eternal truth that has deeper goals than merely holding on for dear life to the status quo or whatever is the best that we know.

Some simple facts about the Second Advent:

I. WE ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ESOTERIC KNOWLEDGE

- A. "But of the times and seasons ye have no need for me to write." Why not? It seems as though I am expected to know something I don't!!

This companion scripture to our text begins with the phrase "times and seasons." It speaks of two ways to look at what we call "time." The words in Greek are "chronos" and "kairos." We are all familiar with the ideas represented by them both. But sometimes it is important that we separate the two.

"Chronos" means time as we measure it in passing segments we call minutes and hours and days and years. "December" is a chronological division of time.

"Kairos" means "an opportunity" or "a moment or a period when something happens:

2 Corinthians 6:2 "I have heard you in an accepted TIME (kairos): behold NOW is the accepted TIME (kairos)"

Paul is saying that it is not necessary to write to the Thessalonians the details of Christ's Second Coming because nobody knows the time (chronos) and everybody with vision will know the season (kairos) when it gets here!

- B. We are not to worry too much about "end times." But that does not mean we have no responsibility in history!

II. WE ARE TO BE PEOPLE OF HOPE

- A. End times will be shaking times! It may well be that a shaking time is coming even now! Good and bad things are happening, faster and faster.

One thing is certain, according to Jesus and His prophets: Cataclysmic changes are going to occur; men's hearts will fail them for fear. And if our primary concern is to see peace until the end of our days, and then let all hell break loose on our children or their children we will not be prepared when the earth shakes and the firestorm sweeps.

When the frightening times come is it possible that Christians will have a different attitude? How should Christian's attitudes be different from any others?

- B. The SPIRIT makes the difference! Christians should experience and manifest the fruit of the Spirit: Love, Joy and Peace.

What about LOVE? Not just talking about love, but doing something about it! [We cannot all be Mother Teresa— but there are people who are lonely we could visit!

What about JOY? I believe that real JOY is one of the scarcest commodities in all the modern world! There is no shortage of laughter, or humor, or pleasure. But JOY?

If it is true that JOY is the clearest evidence of God's Presence, and that the world for all its laughs doesn't know real joy-- then it stands to reason that we Christians need to be joyful exponents of a clear and sure note of HOPE! The KING is COMING!

What about PEACE? How can we have a sense of peace when we are frightened, too? It was PEACE that appealed to John Wesley when he was seeking assurance and salvation!

The Moravians had a doctrine that differed from ours; it differed finally from the doctrine that Wesley refined and adhered to. But on the ocean voyage from England to Georgia, when a storm threatened the ship and all aboard with death, the German Christians were unafraid. They sang praises to God.

I'm not sure that I would be physically unafraid like that. But I am sure that it was a grasp of God's Sovereignty, a belief that went to the core of their being— there was something that made a life-changing difference in those Moravian Christians.

[Conclusion:]

III. A SIMPLE FORMULA FOR CHRIST'S PEOPLE IN ADVENT

- A. TREASURE THE LIGHT. "You are all children of light! Children of day!" IF we walk in the light, as Jesus is the Light, we have fellowship! In some misguided false assurance of what "grace" means, let us not think it a light thing to walk in less light than is available to us!

We have almost incredible resources for helping spiritual growth available to us. And at the same time we often act like spiritual pygmies!

- B. DON'T STOP LOVING GOD AND GOD'S PEOPLE! "For God has not destined us to wrath, but for obtaining salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ, who died for us, that whether we are awake or asleep, we may live TOGETHER with Him." Live TOGETHER with the risen Lord.

William Johnston, in a book called Christian Mysticism Today (cited by Benson) says:

"I say unhesitatingly that there are three sources of Christian ... experience ["authentic experience: the joy of being "in God's Presence"]:

(1) the Word of God in sacred scripture, (2) the sacraments, particularly the Eucharist, and (3) the Word of God in the community called church.

"If you ask for practical advice... I do not advise you to take the plane to Tel Aviv and the bus to the Judean desert. I do not tell you to travel to Cairo and then to Sinai or to the desert south of Alexandria. I do not tell you to sit in the lotus and breathe from your abdomen. All this [HE says] is good, very good, but in the end peripheral. Instead I say:

Listen to the Word! Read the scriptures! Read them again and again with faith and love until the word comes to life within you, penetrating the deepest layers of your unconscious.

Again, celebrate the Eucharist! Break bread with the community! Be present TO the mystery of faith and partake of the bread of life. This will lead you into that rich inner desert of silence and joy where your life lies hidden with Christ in God. This will lead you to say with Paul: "It is no longer I who live, but Christ lives in me." (Galatians 2:20) This will lead you to cry out with Jesus: "Abba, Father!"

Again, listen to the community. Be part of the community. Get guidance from some representative of the community . . . never get isolated. Never go out [{ALONE}] on a limb. Community!"

- C. We, as God's people, looking for the Second Advent, must seek to build our very lives, and the lives of our families, inasmuch as it is possible, into the living, breathing life of the true church of Jesus Christ. And that church is manifest, imperfectly, but manifest nevertheless, in the local body of blood-washed, born-again believers!

Hear it again: THE WORD! THE SACRAMENTS! THE FELLOWSHIP OF THE CHURCH!

- D. (And, finally, we need to seek to help our brothers and sisters be strong in the Lord. We all can see faults in others. But instead of justifying ourselves on the basis of others' faults, or, instead of simply criticizing, we must encourage and build one another up.

One song we sing almost celebrates what we do NOT know about the mysteries of our faith; one verse particularly speaks about the Second Advent:

"I know not WHEN my Lord may come At night or noonday fair, Nor if I'll walk the vale with Him Or meet Him in the air.

... and that is the way real Christian faith IS! Each verse begins with the mystery and uncertainty with which we as believers must live. "I know not WHY, I know not HOW (twice), I know not WHAT, and I know not WHEN." But the whole point of the song is that it is all right as long as we can genuinely sing the chorus:

But I know WHOM I have believed!

This is a WONDERFUL TIME IN HISTORY to be alive, and to be looking for the great God of History to break in once again! Let us be children of LIGHT, children of the ADVENT! Prayer: Lord, I believe what I am preaching today. But help me not just to say words, but to know You, and to live in Your Presence, I pray. Amen

The Week after Christmas

December 31, 1989

John 1:12

Galatians 4:1-8

What I am saying is that as long as the heir is a child, he is no different from a slave, although he owns the whole estate. He is subject to guardians and trustees until the time set by his father. So also, when we were children we were in slavery to under the basic principles of the world. But when the time had fully come, God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under the law, to redeem those under the law, that we might receive the full rights of sons. Because you are sons, God sent the Spirit of His Son into our hearts, the Spirit who calls out, "Abba, Father." So you are no longer a slave, but a son; and since you are a son, God has made you also an heir.

The day after Christmas we sat down for dinner. The Advent Candles were lit, and after the meal we started to read and have a word of prayer. The smallest member of the family present was quick to inform us that "Christmas was over!" We didn't need to carry on with the candles any longer.

And Christmas IS gone for most people, I suppose. But for us Christians?

You have to admit, whatever your religious faith, that Christmas has a powerful effect on most people. It is a curious blend of private and public traditions entwined with a supernatural story that (probably) most people regard as largely myth.

Christmas is a perfect set-up for let-down. It brings huge expectations. Expectations as to "magic moments," and "love," and "togetherness." Somehow it almost always seems that the best Christmases are in the past— Christmases that we dimly remember. It isn't necessarily true- but it seems that way, perhaps.

Some thoughts, the week after Christmas:

I. THIS YEAR'S 'TRADITIONAL' CHRISTMAS IS PAST.

By "traditional Christmas" I mean that human overlay of what once was a spiritual theme. A lot of things about Christmas are beautiful and wonderful and traditional, and that's just fine. [The date itself is traditional, the end of the southern journey of the sun was 'overlaid' on the story of the Prince of Light. And that itself tells a beautiful story. But tradition is never at the heart of Christmas.]

1. Some parts of Christmas are over- and we're glad. (Some parts of Christmas will be over when we get the bills paid.)
2. Some parts of Christmas are over and we're sad. I love the soft light of candles; I enjoy visiting and being visited.

II. BUT WE MUST ALWAYS REMEMBER, CHRISTMAS IS NOT OVER!

THE REAL CHRISTMAS, THE TRUE CHRISTMAS IS A BEGINNING, NEVER AN ENDING. "True Christmas" is that transcendent blending of the human and the divine, where God touches you and me. Heaven did bend low that first Christmas; and heaven still does bend low! Like Jesus Himself — so simple anyone can understand: A baby. Helpless. And yet so wonderful in mystery that no one ever will understand: Great God Almighty! Come to live with you and me!

- A. The HEART of Christmas is never over.

"Immanuel" means GOD ... WITH US. And Jesus Himself said to those who believed in Him: "I will never leave you or forsake you." "I am with you to the end of the age." 2. This is where our text comes in: This 'continuing Christmas' is for those "who received Him Who came." (John 1:12) He came unto his own, and His own received Him not. But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the children of God, even to as many as believed on His name. 3. So, if we have "received Jesus" then we are children of God

[Lesson:]

We are adopted as God's children because: (Galatians 4:4) God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption [THE 'FULL RIGHTS'] of sons.

We are able to know that we are God's children because: (Galatians 4:6) God has sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. As sons and daughters of God: then (heirs) of God through Christ. WE MUST PRESS INTO OUR FULL INHERITANCE. (Galatians 4:6) God has made you also an heir.

- B. Our world cries out for sons and daughters of God to come to full maturity, and claim their full inheritance!

The word in "maturity" is not simply "what are my rights?" It is also "God help me to assume my responsibility!" The full word is "fellowship" or "partnership" — working with Jesus Christ in partnership with God Himself! And this the highest privilege known to men or women.

[The "collect" of the Old Book of Common Prayer for this Sunday reads: Almighty God, who hast given us thy only-begotten Son to take our nature upon Him, and as at this time to be born of a pure virgin; grant that we being regenerate, and made Thy children through adoption and grace, may daily be renewed by thy Holy Spirit; through the same our Lord Jesus Christ, who giveth and reigneth with thee and the same Spirit, ever one God, world without end. Amen.] Christmas is never over IF we are daily being renewed by the Holy Spirit!

III. We Must Carry The Heart Of Christmas With Us All The Year

- A. Some people still don't have a clue to what they miss at Christmas! And it may well be that some people will never know unless God chooses to show them through you or me! 2. We have seen again that the important parts of Christmas are available now. We need to know that ourselves. And we need to be able to tell everyone we can: "As many as receive HIM can become sons and daughters of God!"

- B. John 1:12 is stated in the past tense. But it is not over, yet! As many as Christ comes to, by His Holy Spirit, and as many as receive Him by inviting Him into their lives— to those the promise still stands! 4. We can't "keep Christmas alive" in the sense that many people might understand it. And I'm thankful that that Christmas comes only once a year. But we can do something about keeping the spirit of the TRUE Christmas!! [We can never BUY Christmas. We can never CONJURE UP Christmas. But] Remember, GOD IS WITH US!

CONCLUSION

[This hasn't been much of a sermon, homiletically, perhaps.] But I do have a word from the Lord for you this morning. I received it myself late this week in the course of a conversation with a friend of mine who loves Jesus. It does so happen that we attend very different churches. The word was a GREAT reminder to me. My friend didn't know when she gave it to me, but it was clear and helpful, and I told her so.

She was asking me for help in dealing with a pernicious heresy; she believed I would know Scriptures— and I think I did help her. But she said, "I've been asking the Lord to forgive me for trying to play God in this person's life, i.e., the person to whom she is witnessing.) I need to just love her AND LET GOD BE GOD!" That was the word: LET GOD BE GOD!

If Jesus has really COME, if by His Holy Spirit, He is really here, then in whatever situation I find myself — the real, on-going truth of Christmas is: God is HERE and I can LET GOD BE GOD! How can we find grace to face the challenges of life? How can a pastor speak about wisdom and grace for so many different needs? This past week a new baby came into our church family. One of our dear saints left us for heaven. One person is wrestling with depression. Another family stands at a crossroad of decision. That's the way life is. How indeed! The answer is 'the Gift we got for Christmas!' And the LOVE of Christmas never ends! Jesus is really with us! He is Immanuel! He will give us grace, day by day. LET GOD BE GOD WHERE YOU ARE JUST NOW!

A Year of Sabbath Rest

January 7, 1990

Matthew 11:28 "Come unto Me ...and I will give you rest."

Introduction

[Today is the first Sunday in "Year of Sabbath"]

The words "rest" or "freedom" probably remind us of lazy summer days with a recreational book and a warm summer sun. And that's probably all right.

But I want to talk with you this morning about a different, deeper quality of rest and freedom. What about "rest" as a way of life? What about a life of perfect "freedom?" Is it possible?

I really believe that it is. And if what I want to tell you is God's truth, it is worthy of your full attention.

I. REST IS MORE THAN VACATION

- A. REST AND FREEDOM ARE MORE THAN SIMPLY DOING AS WE PLEASE. Bernard Ramm quotes Barth as saying 'the usual definition of freedom that people write for themselves is a definition of sin.' That is a disturbing statement. But isn't it true that we think of freedom as being able to do what we want to do, regardless of what anyone else may think? Isn't it true that we define freedom in purely individualistic terms?

It is not that sitting in the sun and reading is wrong or evil. Thank God for lazy summer days and vacations where we can read about Captain Horatio Hornblower if we wish!

But when we think of freedom as only as doing what we want to do with no thought of God we are making islands and idols of ourselves.

- B. REST AND FREEDOM MUST BE MORE THAN NEGATIVE TERMS. We may rest IN labor; we may have FREEDOM TO obey.

Jesus says: "Come, I will give you REST" and in the same breath "Take my YOKE upon you ..." REST and WORK [- at least the kind of work Jesus has for us -] are NOT mutually exclusive.

The Children of Israel in slavery in Egypt thought that rest was simply not having to do as they were told, and not having to make bricks without straw. But God knew that their "rest" and "freedom" was much more than that!

In Exodus 13, before the Exodus even began, the scriptures record God as telling the Children of Israel through Moses that they were headed for a land of promise, of milk and honey.

But on the way to the rest and liberty they stopped by the Mountain called Sinai and received Ten Commandments!

- C. THERE MUST ALWAYS BE A POSITIVE SIDE TO TRUE FREEDOM. We don't understand true freedom until we see it as the enabling to become! God has made us with certain innate longings and desires. We are built with a yearning after God.

But in ourselves, in our own power, we are not free to enter that fullness! We do not have the capacity to satisfy that longing! But when God sets us free FROM sin, He also sets us free TO FULFILLMENT.

THAT IS WHY CHRIST'S CALL TO REST IS ALSO A CALL TO A YOKE. When we really meet Jesus Christ, and follow Him, then for the very first time we can be certain of beginning the kind of living we are capable of living.

II. PRAYER IS THE ROYAL PATHWAY TO REST

- A. "COME UNTO ME!" The invitation to REST is a personal invitation to the Presence of GOD. REST is not just some thing, REST is some ONE!

Prayer is God's gift to us that enables us to function fully. Whatever we need to be wholly human we may unlock with prayer.

If we can live without prayer we can live without God. And if we can live without God, we may be sure that we will live without true rest or freedom.

- B. Prayer must be seen as much, much more than a duty or a chore. Prayer must be seen as the VEHICLE OF GOD'S GRACE.
- C. Prayer must be LEARNED. "Lord, teach us to pray!" We learn to pray by praying. We learn to pray by not giving up. We learn to pray by praying all alone. We learn to pray by praying in the great congregation. We learn to pray by praying together in twos and threes and small groups.
- D. Prayer is seeking to be in tune with God's will. Prayer has several facets, and we usually use just a few. Our favorite is "petition." (GIVE me!) But some people's front yards are so full of garbage and junk that if God did choose to deliver on some of their petitions, He wouldn't have any place to back up the delivery truck!

LET'S TAKE THIS YEAR TO SEEK TO LEARN HOW TO PRAY BETTER!

III. WE CAN HELP EACH OTHER FIND THIS REST

- A. The power of a common cause. People unite around common causes. Common causes cost something! Avoid "busy work" but foster "support systems." The work of the kingdom need not come to a standstill; but we need to ask ourselves what purpose each function serves. [Make everything bend to the mission statement!]
- B. "Sacrifice" is a key to fellowship. It may seem strange to talk about "sacrifice" so we can "rest." But a worthy goal means deliberate choice. People will suffer and give up comfort if they believe they can achieve significant goals; and in the process of achieving, or even just in the struggling, they are bonded together in love that is deep and satisfying. [The "sacrifice" times of the ancients were times of feasting.]
- C. [Let's not worry about 'keeping score.']

Conclusion

- Practical:

How may we make 1990 a year of rest and freedom? Perhaps this is a great place to return to our text. I'm sure you thought I had forgotten it! Jesus promises us rest!

- Desire:

HOW MUCH DO WE WANT GOD? Jesus says "If you want REST— come unto ME!" How much do we really WANT God? And how much do we simply want OUR way— want OUR prayers answered?

It isn't a matter of being "earnest" or "fervent" when we pray! Not how much do we "feel" in our prayer life; but will we ask God to help focus our desire?

- Discipline:

ANYTHING WORTHWHILE TAKES SOME CONCENTRATION. Jesus says "If you want REST— take my YOKE and learn!" What will we set aside of lesser or distracting goals?

Not the rigid discipline of a drill sergeant (although that may be helpful at times and in certain circumstances) but the surrender of lesser to higher; the willingness to pursue worthy goals. Perhaps as simple a thing as planning TV watching; or going to bed earlier in order to be fresher for devotions the next day.

- Devotion:

THERE IS A PERSONAL, GENTLE, CARING FACTOR HERE: Jesus says: "I will give YOU rest!" We must cultivate that CARING! "Devotion" has shades of meaning:

- Adoration:

Having to do with God and love.

- Esteem:

Having to do with looking with fresh eyes on the riches of God's grace: the joy of being God's children

- Fellowship:

Committing to God's family!

- Enthusiasm:

Simply asking God to help us come alive! "Boring" is a simpleton's word!

"Boring" is the password of a jaded generation! To follow God and lay aside the drugs of the day is to discover a fresh enthusiasm for life. In that setting off for the Promised Land is both rest and freedom!

A year of JUBILEE has exciting prospects! Together, as the writer of Hebrews says it: "Let us labor to enter into that rest."

Adequacy of Atonement

February 4, 1990

Lesson: 2 Corinthians 5:16-21

Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we [him] no more. Therefore if any man [be] in Christ, [he is] a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. And all things [are] of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech [you] by us: we pray [you] in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. For he hath made him [to be] sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

Prologue to the sermon:

Early on in the service (an old chestnut) Children's Sermon- the "Hayford Street Gang" story. How a "big boy" walked me right through a gang of tough guys.

Introduction:

- A. [How I came to this short series:] Hardy Powers, Oct '58, in Pilot Pt, Texas, delivered an address on "What Nazarenes Believe." And I took notes: Dr. Powers said Nazarenes believe in:
 - 1. The authority of scriptures;
 - 2. The adequacy of the atonement;
 - 3. The reality of personal experience; and
 - 4. The urgency of Mission.

- B. Today we look at (2) The adequacy of the atonement. By "adequacy" I do not mean that all we need as Christians and as humans is religion. Dr. Bill McCumber had a "throw away line" this summer that brings us down to earth from making ultra extravagant claims. He said, "Some people say, 'All I need is Jesus!' But I need Doris, too!"
- C. The heart of this question is: Is what Jesus has done in and of itself ALL I NEED in order to have eternal life?

The adequacy of the atonement does not negate the inequities of life. It does not deny the fact that we really do need each other.

[The adequacy of the atonement has to do with the ultimate success or failure of each of us as creatures of God. But first, what do we mean when we speak of the ATONEMENT?]

I. THE ATONEMENT: WHAT IS IT?

- A. The word "atone" is its own ("pocket") definition! It is being "at one" again, when there has been a parting of the ways. It is what our text calls "being reconciled" to God. Atonement is the basic gift of Jesus to each one of us. The story of the atonement IS the Good News. It is the story of Immanuel.

To understand atonement we begin with the scriptures, and they tell us of the manger and of Christ's miracles. They tell us of the cross of Calvary, and of the resurrection. They tell us of the ascension and of Pentecost, and all this has to do with making us at one with God.

- B. One fresh way of looking at the atonement is summarized in the first chapter of 2 Corinthians:

[2 Corinthians 1:3-4 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort; Who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God.]

Here God's Presence is called COMFORT! God coming alongside! God with us! The "Hayford Street gang" story all over, every day!

[But I made the statement: "The ADEQUACY of the atonement has to do with the ultimate success or failure of each of us as creatures of God."]

II. THE ADEQUACY HAS TO DO WITH ULTIMATE SUCCESS OR FAILURE AS CREATURES OF GOD

- A. Adequacy means a place where we can STAND! Adequacy means that we are dealing with ultimate reality. God is not mocked! This way of faith can be trusted. Wasn't it Archimedes who was supposed to have said, "(I am so sure of my theory of the power of a lever that) 'If you give me a solid place to stand, I can move the world!'"?? The adequacy of the atonement means in Christ we have all that we need to be all that God wants us to be.
- B. Adequacy means a personal realization. Adequacy as people of God may not seem as important as, say, adequacy in business, or in finance, or in the things that give people status in our present day society. But each person here is more valuable than all the money on Wall Street. Each person here will outlive and outlast all the kingdoms of this earth. We have such an earthbound view (i.e., We identify our Christian faith with "democracy" or with our viewpoint on politics. The idea of a genuine Christian socialist seems absolutely foreign.)
- C. Adequacy centers around eternal matters, but matters that can and do carry over into everyday life and tend to make it significant.

Not every Christian will be recognized as "great." But every Christian is called to be noble, and good, and holy. And holiness is God-likeness. And that is adequacy!

III. HOW THE ATONEMENT IS ADEQUATE TO WHERE WE ARE DAY BY DAY.

Let me leave you with some solid scripture to take home and re-read and digest:

Here in 2 Corinthians 5 are some of Paul's 'testimonies of adequacy'. [I'm once again using "therefores" as markers:]

Paul writes THAT BECAUSE OF THIS GREAT GOD OF COMFORT, THIS GOD THAT COMES ALONG SIDE we may know:

Adequacy of Atonement

A. Adequacy of ASSURANCE (5:6 Therefore we are always of good courage...)

Do you ever need ASSURANCE? Do you ever wish that God could call you on the telephone? This is a way of faith! We have battles along these lines!

Being reconciled to God means that we have an inner persuasion that we are saved; that we have passed from condemnation.

B. Adequacy of MOTIVATION (5:11 Therefore we are made manifest to God) God knows what we do, and He cares about us! Having an observer while we do anything can be a source of encouragement or frustration. It is sobering to know that we shall give account at Judgment Day- and we shall!

Being RECONCILED TO GOD means that He knows what we're doing, what we're thinking. Not just that we shall stand and give an account at the judgment- but that we are manifest (open) to God NOW! And we can live in openness and honesty before Him without fear! We know that HE knows! We want Him to know!

C. Adequacy of LIFE ITSELF! [Of CONNECTION with 'the Vine;' Of RELATIONSHIP that is FILIAL, for we have become adopted children of God!] (5:17 Therefore we are new creatures...)

To really KNOW God, to be AT ONE with Him is much, much more than informational knowledge.

Here is an open secret: verses 16 and 17 tell us that we have to know Christ by His Spirit! We cannot even know Him as His disciples did before Calvary and the Resurrection!

Being reconciled to God is more than just book keeping. There is a new quality of life. There is correspondence with REALITY.

D. Adequacy of OPPORTUNITY FOR MAKING LIFE COUNT

(2 Co. 5:20 Therefore we are ambassadors...)

In the plan of the atonement, every believer is assigned a place in the SHARING of the message of reconciliation!

And what is more, we are not all that God would have us to be— we are not fully adequate- unless and until we have begun to take seriously the fact that we each have a place, a task, an assignment in the Body of Christ to help Him do the Work of Christ!

Conclusion:

Well, do we Nazarenes really believe in the ADEQUACY OF THE ATONEMENT?

Yes!

We believe in the adequacy of the atonement! Jesus IS (finally) all we need! For it is through Jesus that we receive all good things! The atonement is adequate because sin has lost its power to bully us and dominate us! Not that we never hurt, or suffer loss, or face situations that cause us involuntary dread.

We ARE reconciled to God! The atonement means that we are "at one" with Him. God's wonderful and mysterious plan and purpose through the ages— of sharing His life with us, and of living with us here and now, so that we may live with Him forever- - is already under way in the lives of those who know Jesus Christ.

Its a little like the story of "the Hayford Street gang." If God is with us, really with us, then we don't have to face life alone!

Joys of Belonging

Romans 8:1 "Those who are in Christ Jesus"

Introduction:

[Just ten days ago a new little baby boy made his first appearance on Planet Earth: my latest grandson, Russell IV. Along with his birth came FULL ACCEPTANCE into our family: A NAME, AN ESTABLISHED RELATIONSHIP WITH ALL OTHER FAMILY MEMBERS, and ALL THE SUPPORT AND GOOD WILL YOU CAN IMAGINE. YOU know what I mean, exactly, because it has happened in your family, too.]

Last Monday I called Russell III, the proud father, just to see how the new boy was doing. I said, jokingly, "Has he said 'Ma- ma' or 'Da-da' yet?"

Russell said, "Don't be silly." Then he added, "I have been carrying him around the house, saying, 'That is a refrigerator' and 'That is the microwave' and 'That is the telephone.'"

We certainly enjoy the baby just as he is. But WE LOOK FORWARD TO WATCHING HIM LEARN AND GROW AND FINALLY ENTER INTO THE CONVERSATIONS OF THE ENTIRE FAMILY.]

Romans 8 is written in celebration of those who have been BORN into God's family and are alive in Christ.

AND ROMANS 8 IS ABOUT ENJOYING THE PRIVILEGES OF BELONGING IN THIS GREAT FAMILY. Romans 8 is a chapter filled with the practical contact of the Holy Spirit with believers. Depending on your version or translation, there are between 15 and 19 references in this one chapter, references to the Holy Spirit as He works His sanctifying grace in our lives. Romans 8 is a syllabus on sanctification.

I. SANCTIFICATION IS "THE DISCOVERY" OF THE CHURCH IN THE 90'S

A. "Sanctification" is "old stuff" to us Nazarenes. But believe me, sanctification is being re-discovered throughout the entire Church of Jesus Christ. There is a proliferation of books on holiness, written by everyone from Billy Graham to British Anglicans to Roman Catholics.

Perhaps we Nazarenes have been "sanctification-ed" to death, with everyone explaining until no one understands. Maybe sometimes we have talked about sanctification, and have sometimes confused our talking with seeking and finding and enjoying.

Still, sanctification and holiness of heart and life are big with God our Father. The entire Christian community is vitally interested. Even veteran Nazarenes are full of questions. I believe that I am aware of some of the questions that growing Christians ask:

- "Is holiness as we preach it relevant to everyday life?"
- "Do we sometimes make 'sanctification' to mean just a crisis experience and so limit the full scriptural expression of the word?"
- "Do sanctified people ever sin? Can they?"
- "Do we push 'experiences' instead of 'relationships'?"
- "Aren't all Christians 'sanctified'?"
- "Do some Christians have the Spirit 'with' them and others 'in' them?"
- ... and on and on!

B. I propose to begin a deliberate walk through this rich eighth chapter in Romans, looking for old and for new insights into sanctification. I promise not to depend on clichés and worn shibboleth.

It is always a dangerous thing to tackle great passages of scripture. I ask you to help me; let's do it together! I don't ask you to 'set aside' your present understanding of what it means to be sanctified. I do ask that we all seek to be open to the riches and glory and even power that come when we give ourselves to meditation on God's Word.

- C. "Sanctification" doesn't belong to us, or to any other human organization. The beauty and truth of holiness are there for all who are "in Christ Jesus." And "sanctification" certainly is NOT some new fad— it is in the doctrinal statement of every orthodox church, including the Roman Catholic.

Some terms may sound new, at least to our ears, such as "spiritual formation;" but the verity of sanctification is as old as God's dealings with humankind. No, we do not have a corner on sanctification, and I am not sure that we have taught our "cardinal doctrine" very well.

- D. Romans 8 begins "in Christ Jesus." This is salvation. To "be saved" means that we have life in God through Jesus Christ.

To be "in Christ" means that we have the full acceptance and the name and the established relationship that comes instantly upon our coming into God's family. [Just like Russell IV, my grandson!] We're IN! This full acceptance can be termed justification. It is what God has done FOR us. It has to do with standing. We're IN!

But also, just like Baby Russell, we have to be learning and growing and experiencing this LIFE that is ours. There will be significant milestones along the way. This growing Christ-likeness, both gradual and crucial, can be termed sanctification. It is real change, in our character, in our state. We're ON THE WAY WITH JESUS! And that growing and experiencing is what I want to look at here in Romans 8 these next several weeks.

- E. Please, as we go through Romans 8 together, let's not make this just a "head trip" or a just a series of "lessons." These words are scripture! Let's take them for our very own! Let's ask God to make them live in us! Romans 8 should be the way all Christians live. It is the NORM! It certainly is NOT the way that the average Christian lives.

II. FACT ONE: ALL WHO ARE SAVED ARE 'IN CHRIST JESUS'

- A. To be saved is to be "included in!" [It is an amazing and wonderful discovery to new Christians: the "inclusive aspect of saving faith." God accepts us as we are! True, God hates sin, and never simply excuses it or ignores it. But we can be sure that God loves His children! His purpose and intent is to help them! Not to exclude, but to preserve and keep them!]

B. Wonderful things are concurrent and simultaneous with being "in Christ." The list of joys and privileges is long. In this chapter we get a perception of the great joy and privilege those who are "in Christ" know. To be "in Christ" means:

1. (verse 9) THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST LIVES WITHIN. "If anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he/she does not belong to Him." ONCE WE ACCEPT THE REALITY OF A GOD WHO IS, AND WHO IS GOOD, AND WHO SPEAKS—AND ONCE WE CHOOSE TO PUT OURSELVES UNDER HIS AUTHORITY, EVERYTHING CHANGES! [PERSON TO PERSON REALITY!]
2. (verse 14) THE SPIRIT OF CHRIST LEADS. More about this leading later, but in short, (verse 28) there is not a situation where God excludes Himself from us, from our lives!
3. (verse 15) THE SPIRIT MAKES US "AT HOME." Adoption, trust, belonging.
4. (verse 17) THE SPIRIT PERMITS US TO ENTER INTO THE SUFFERINGS OF CHRIST. (ALL humankind knows pain; Christians are not excluded. But Christ's sufferings are redemptive. If we do not shrink back from the Cross, we may have fellowship with the Christ.) We are not facing the facts if we do not realize the fact of spiritual warfare.

C. This is not an exhaustive list of the "joys and privileges" of course. But it gives an idea of the richness of life into which we are born as God's children.

[But let's continue to look at basic truth:]

III. ALL OF SALVATION, STANDING AND STATE, IS BY THE GIFT OF FAITH

(Romans 10:9,10) We can be sure that we are "in Christ Jesus" and know that we are eligible for all the joys of Romans 8. How?:

A. The initiative is from God. God seeks us. God speaks to us. God enables us to hear and to believe. [Mystery!]

1. There must be a gift of faith, a touch from God, a conviction that God has spoken in His Son, Jesus Christ.
 2. The old, old story (old for many of us) suddenly becomes very personal! God speaks to YOU! (ME!) Or, it may be the very first time the message is heard (as my own father- saved in the first gospel meeting he attended, at age 21.) But we KNOW God wants us to let HIM into OUR lives!
- B. When God speaks, we can respond. We do not need to fully understand or comprehend in order to have a real, genuine, relationship with God. We are not saved when we pass a certain comprehensive test. We are saved when God speaks and we hear Him, and we say, "Present!"
- C. Are YOU willing to let God be God in YOUR life? We must combine the gift of faith with a deliberate response of our will. Our will can not, and does not save us. But our will may open the door for the Sovereign God to enter! HE can save us! And He WILL enter! Have YOU permitted Him entrance into YOUR life? Can you hear Him knocking just now?

Conclusion: Invitation. [Revelation 3:20] Prayer.

The Urgency of Mission

February 18, 1990

Text: 2 Corinthians 5:14 "For the love of Christ COMPELS us..."

(Read 2 Corinthians 5:14 - 17)

Introduction:

[We are at the fourth of the distinctive statements about what Nazarenes believe made by Hardy C. Powers at Pilot Point, Texas, in 1958: i.e., authority of scripture; adequacy of the atonement; reality of spiritual experience; and now, the urgency of mission.]

Our faith is God-given, and true, and satisfying. Authority! Adequacy! Spiritual reality of experience! But our faith is also for doing!

Psalm 126 talks about "Going forth weeping, sowing seed ... and doubtless coming again with rejoicing and with results!" The paragraphs immediately following the text (2 Corinthians 6:1-10) tell of the awful, serious, glorious urgency which the author himself felt about working together with the Master. [This passage (2 Corinthians 5:15-17) means more to me now than when we started looking at it a few weeks ago.]

I. LOVE COMPELS

'What I Did for Love' [5:14 "...the love of Christ controls us ..."]

Throughout the annals of memory we human beings have astounded one another at the amazing 'sacrifices' carried out in the strength of love.

We do things because we love that we would not do for any other reason. We do things that simply do not "make sense" and that certainly do not "profit" in any way except personal satisfaction.

STORIES:

James Robert McKane (Russell Metcalfe's cousin)

On a sunny morning in March, 1945, just five months before the end of the war, an American patrol walked into murderous machine gun fire on the island of Luzon near Baguio... [A man runs into murderous machine gun fire to rescue a fellow patrol member who is lying bleeding. He is killed. Here love of country & love of fellow soldier & love of family all mixed in together = "hero"]

Elizabeth Elliot

[A woman joins her husband in a very dangerous mission. When he is killed and the entire world is distressed, she goes back to the same tribe and actually wins them to the love of Jesus Christ. Here love of Jesus Christ + love of another human being + love that cannot be explained = "standard of excellence in Christian love!"]

John Stark

[A man tenderly cares for his wife year after year; love of Jesus + love of fellow Christians + (tragedy, life's partner incapacitated) + faithfulness year after year = "A personal revelation of what it means to be called 'Christian'."]

II. LOVE MOTIVATES

["... The love of Christ controls us ..."]

- A. Real love somehow enables human beings to get outside the entrapment of their own self-worship. [Some things that pass for 'love' are undisguised selfishness!]

To say "Love motivates" may be saying the same thing as "Love compels" in other words. But there is a certain kind of love the Bible tells us "compels" us. It is AGAPE love.

- B. Agape is that kind of love which is centered outside of ego; it is a love which transcends and around which all other things in life center. It does not have to be Christian [1 John 2:15 reads "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him." In each case the word "love" is the Greek word "agape." Therefore it must be possible to "agape" the world- - to center our lives on things other than the Father!] It is people who have centered their very lives outside their own little world that have caught the 'urgency of mission.'

III. LOVE TRUSTS

["...we have received the ministry of reconciliation ..."]

- A. The kind of "faith" that changes the lives of people in need— and the kind of "love" that really is "AGAPE" has to be more than a mental concept.

We may often think of "the faith of our fathers" as a body of doctrine or creed which we are taught, and learn and believe with our minds. It is [FIDE.] But there are TWO Greek words for our common idea of faith: in addition to this (important) doctrinal truth (FIDE), there is the faith that is what we believe with our whole beings! (FIDUCIA). "FIDUCIA" is the kind of faith that trusts another person because of a relationship of respect and love. It is hard to put into words just what the difference might be.

- B. I wonder, especially in a church on a college campus, if we come to church and expect our "faith" to be mainly HERE (in our heads.) If we learn something new, or if some truth is put to us in a fresh way, then we think our faith is strengthened.

BUT HOW SELF-CENTERED WE ARE! Even in our worship we are the center! We need control!

- C. We think that faith is a matter of being convinced that a thing is true or not. Certainly that is a part of it. But a critical attitude of mind can be a copout for not wanting to spend enough time with God to let Him really LOVE us! It is in the relationships of LOVE that FIDUCIA is revealed. It is in our personal relations with God that our 'FIDE' ALSO BECOMES 'FIDUCIA'.

- D. Throughout the Bible the emphasis is on fiducia, and hardly ever on fide. ["Fide" is assumed!] It is assumed that there is a God; that this God has a right to make demands on us; that God is good; and that our surrendered lives can and will make a difference eternally. What a wonderful thing it is when "fide" becomes "fiducia" as well!

Conclusion:

- A. All my life I've heard all sorts of reasons why I should be doing this or that for God! If you are like I am, we've had mixed feelings, mixed reasons for doing what we've done. I wonder if we can ever really say: The love of Christ compels us?

The Urgency of Mission

- B. When it does, what we do will matter! You can make a difference! Together we can make a BIG difference! This church can be a place where healing takes place. Our fellowship can be a saving fellowship. But it will be love that drives us, if such work is done!
- C. [Story: Lawrence Richards' wrote of two college classes given identical material with the exception that in one case it applied directly to their life and a commitment of themselves; in the other case it was simply material to be learned to pass the course.]
- D. The question that brought Peter back into vital relationship with Jesus was not "Peter, am I really the Messiah?" That was absolutely vital- but it had been settled! The question that restored Peter, and sent him on his way to marvelous service was, "Peter, son of Jonah, do you LOVE Me?"

What Do You Say to the Great I AM?

February 18, 1990

Isaiah 6:1-8

In the year that king Uzziah died I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and his train filled the temple. Above it stood the seraphims: each one had six wings; with twain he covered his face, and with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly.

And one cried unto another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is the LORD of hosts: the whole earth is full of his glory. And the posts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

Then said I, Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for mine eyes have seen the King, the LORD of hosts.

Then flew one of the seraphims unto me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar: And he laid it upon my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lips; and thine iniquity is taken away, and thy sin purged. Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then said I, "Here am I; send me!"

Introduction:

What do you say to God? [I know, it depends on how big your understanding of God may be! "Now I lay be down to sleep!" is perfectly appropriate for a two or three-year old.] As we come to grasp the greatness of God— not that He is less than loving, nor less than caring— but as we come to grasp that this Sovereign of the Universe wants to speak to us— what is appropriate?

What do you say to God? "Anything He wants you to say! Look how BIG He is!" ... but no! .. that is not really how it is! At least, not always!

I. THE PROPER THING TO SAY TO GOD IS: "PRESENT!"

- A. When God speaks to us, believe it or not, it is always because there is an exciting, wonderful, life-changing prospect ahead for us.

God doesn't deal in trivialities! God deals in LOVE!

- B. We are always trying to bring God into our reality, and into our standard of values. If talking with God doesn't make us richer, or doesn't seem to be amusing, or seems as though it might cost us comfort (deferred gratification) then it is hard for us to see what a high honor and privilege to be addressed by the great I AM!

- C. The real story of the Bible is the life-history of men and women who said: "Here I am!" when the Great I AM called their names:

People like:

- Abraham (Covenant of faith)
- Moses (Shaper of the Nation of the People of God)
- Isaiah (Messiah's fore-teller (text))
- Mary ("Behold, the handmaiden of the Lord!")

- D. Saying "Here I am!" does not entirely mean we are "passive" before the God and the truth of the Bible. But GOD DOES HAVE TO CALL US FIRST! And when He does! a proper response is: "Here, Lord! I'm HERE!"

But just how simple is it to report "Present" to God?

II. INITIALLY, IT MAY BE JUST AS SIMPLE AS THAT!

- A. If we can be open and simple with God, God can be direct and even confrontational and forgiving and cleansing with us!
- B. Can you remember when God spoke to YOU? And you said, "Here I am!" ??

III. BUT TO CONTINUE TO SAY "PRESENT" TO GOD WE HAVE TO LEARN TO SAY "ABSENT" OR NO! TO OTHER THINGS!

- A. We have to learn to say no to bad things like sin and guilt and anxiety.
 - 1. Like SIN. Going against God's will. God gently leads us. (Illus: Herb Frame and his cigarettes.)
 - 2. Like GUILT. God doesn't expect perfection of performance from any of us. But He can and does expect our best, and our honest love! Openness. Confession.
 - 3. Like anxiety. I'm working on WORRY!

- B. And, believe it or not, we have to learn to say no to "Good" things like somebody else's expectations that overload and sink our little boats.

There is a tremendous power in expectations. We tend to fulfil the prophecies of those we let influence us! How else to explain dynasties of doctors— of politicians— of merchants— of ministers?

It is hard to over estimate the power of positive and loving expectations within a loving community! [And the opposite is sadly true, too!] [MORE ABOUT EXPECTATIONS LATER]

- C. WE NEVER SAY "NO" TO GOD! But we sometimes need to distinguish between GOD and God's people and God's various organizations.

We have to be alert to the claims of competing values: we want to be liked/loved/appreciated. We want to value ourselves and people who "can."

It helps to have a personal "Mission statement." DO YOU?

We need to say "yes" to the tasks of the church that we can do, and that God approves of. To say "no" to church tasks when we are simply loaded down with selfish agenda is to deny the kingdom.

But God is a reasonable Boss- of we want to use that title.

[Certainly He is our Master; and this is His church— so He is the Boss!] No one should be so busy that she cannot stop and listen for the great I AM when He speaks!

What Do You Say to the Great I AM?

D. So, we need to say "No" to that which complicates and ruins our lives!!

This is not to say that we do not bear one another's burdens. That is not a matter of "expectations."

Conclusion:

HOW DO WE TALK TO THE GREAT "I AM" ??

I said just a moment ago: 'It is hard to over estimate the power of positive and loving expectations within a loving community!' What a power it is to know that people love us, and think we're the greatest!

People care about what we do, what we choose!

But if that is true about PEOPLE, how greatly true it is about GOD! THE GREATEST POWER THAT CAN BE RELEASED IN OUR LIVES IS GRASPING THE GREAT EXPECTATIONS THAT GOD HAS FOR EACH OF US!! GOD MADE US AND HE KNOWS WHAT WE CAN BECOME!

[Isaiah, already well on his way to being a good, even great servant of God— but not aware of JUST HOW GREAT! God reveals Himself to Isaiah! Isaiah says: HERE AM I! PRESENT!]

[Say "YES" to Jesus, and He will help you to say "No!" Can we build a church with people who say "No!"?? If they have said, "YES!" then we surely can and will!]

The Alone-ness of Jesus

March 11, 1990

Isaiah 53: 1-3

John 16:31-32 Do you now believe? Behold, an hour is coming, and has already come, for you to be scattered, each to his own home, and to leave me alone; and yet I AM not alone, because the Father is with me.

Introduction:

Being alone— being apart— being by one's self— is an experience that is common to all mankind. At times being alone is good and to be sought. At times it is bad, and we will do almost anything in order to avoid it.

Being alone is sometimes a vital necessity. But then there are times when the sense of alone-ness is excruciatingly painful. Perhaps loneliness is the greatest single source of pain in our society today.

Alone-ness can be the agony of isolation, the punishment of solitary confinement. Or, alone-ness can be the stimulation of solitude, the setting for monastic retreat. Being alone can be the deliberate counterpoint to social intercourse, or it can be the very essence of hell itself.

When Jesus cried out from the cross, in the words of Psalm 22, "My God, My God, Why hast Thou forsaken Me?," He was expressing the culmination of an alone-ness that was both solitude and isolation, an apart-ness and separation that was very much a part of His life from the very beginning. The text from Isaiah calls Messiah "A root out of dry ground— despised and forsaken of men." Jesus knew what it was to be all alone.

In His final separation from God and man, Jesus was unique; on the cross Jesus knew an alone-ness such as we have never known, and which we never need to experience. But much of the separation and even isolation and loneliness that Jesus knew throughout His life was common to us all.

I. HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT ABOUT THE ALONE-NESS JESUS KNEW?

There were reasons beyond those common to all humanity WHY JESUS WOULD EXPERIENCE BEING "ALONE."

- A. Jesus had an awareness of separation because He, and He alone of all humankind, was absolutely pure and holy. Purity and holiness are at one and the same time very attractive and very threatening and repelling to people tainted with selfishness and sin. To take a stand for the right, for justice, when it is unpopular is to feel something of the separation Jesus must have known. To be alone and in the right is to be in company with Jesus.

And the heart of this difference, this separation from all the rest of humanity, was the fact that Jesus was and is God Almighty. Those who 'understood' Him the very best understood Him in the most partial way—they never fully understood Him. Those who 'knew Him' the best never really knew Him to the depths. His was the alone-ness of a genuine superiority.

He was patient, yet there must always have been the hint of that impatience that every mother of small children knows when she has talked to small children all day. She dearly loves her children, but she gets tired of just talking small-children-talk all the day long!

Certainly we are not incarnate God, and so we cannot know these very special ways that Jesus experienced isolation, separation— alone-ness. But still in keen ways we experience misunderstandings, the superficial and partial ways others think they know us, and the separation that those misunderstandings bring.

- B. The Bible tells us of a number of times when Jesus was alone. No doubt there were many, many other times. But these recorded times are particularly significant:
1. Early in Luke's account we read of a time when Jesus was separated from His parents, and was found alone in the temple. At the age of twelve, Jesus said kindly to His mother: "Don't you understand that I must be about my Father's business?" Don't you understand?

And even though he continued in subjection to His parents, as was right and proper at the time, still it is clear enough that Jesus knew the alone-ness and separation that comes to us all when we realize that mother and dad's faith are not sufficient for 'me!', and that I must learn for myself to do the will of the heavenly Father.

It is a lonely business when we begin to confront the great challenges of life, and to discover God for ourselves. Do you remember when you were challenged to be a Christian, a believer, by a direct relationship of obedience to God? It is a scary time for parents and for young people. It is a time when it is easy to have misunderstanding and mistrust.

But we may be assured that Jesus knows what it is like when God challenges us at 12, or 15, or 17, — or whenever— to be about the Father's holy business, and to live for Him without reservation.

2. Another time that Jesus was all alone was in the desert, where He was tempted by Satan. After His baptism the Spirit led (or drove) Him into the wilderness where, weakened by long fasting, He faced excruciating temptation, in depths we cannot fully understand.

Temptation is most devastatingly strong when we are physically and emotionally "down," and when we are isolated and alone! But when we are alone, we have a Friend at God's right hand praying for us! One Who understands what we are experiencing! Jesus knows, and is able to strengthen us if we will ask Him.

3. Then, Jesus was alone often in the place of prayer. When He was pressed by many demands and the burden of other people's cares, as He carried out the most important assignment ever given to one Person, Jesus simply had to take time— to make time when He could be in the company of the Father alone. To seek the company of God in solitude when there are other demands is never easy. But if Jesus the pure and holy One needed to do it, then we, too, need to seek to be often— regularly— alone with God in the place of prayer.

4. Jesus was alone in the Garden of Gethsemane. This is one time when it appears as though He did not want to be alone with God. He wanted human company. He was facing the supreme test. He took the eleven with Him to a place they knew. He took Peter, James and John as it were into the inner sanctuary, and asked them just to "Watch one hour with Me..." But they could not. It was not just that they were unwilling. They simply could not go into that inner sanctum of surrender with Jesus.

We are on holy ground here. (I recall being in that grove of olive trees, all gnarled with age!) But we all must come, sooner or later, all alone, all by ourselves to the place where WE pray that prayer! We must come to the decision that if no one else goes with God, WE are still going to go all the way!

5. Finally— in the history of Christ's recorded times of being alone— come the anguished words from the cross: "My God, My God, WHY hast Thou forsaken Me?" Jesus was alone on the cross of Calvary. Thank God! There really is no parallel here for OUR lives, at least in the most central and holy sense. The horror, the hell of what Jesus knew in THAT alone-ness there was at the heart of His sacrifice for our redemption. Because He cried in utter darkness we do not need to ever know and experience that final, utter separation and loneliness!

[But how does the alone-ness of Jesus speak to your condition today, and mine?
Think with me about how my alone-ness can be transformed by uniting with Jesus.]

II. HOW MY ALONE-NESS CAN BE TRANSFORMED BY UNITING WITH JESUS

[There will be many times when we will want to seek to be alone in good and wholesome solitude. But we are not called upon to seek to be lonely!]

- A. Still, we can be certain that loneliness— the "dark side of apart-ness" or "alone-ness" will come unsought— unbidden— unwanted. We will know, as Jesus knew, the pain of misunderstanding, the isolation of superficial, partial friendships. We may well know what it means to be alone because we are trying to follow our conscience and seek justice and holiness. But in those times we may be sure that we ARE understood— that we are completely and thoroughly KNOWN!

- B. And yes, there will be many times in seeking to follow Jesus when we will need to seek a holy solitude. We will need to be alone with God on a regular basis. We must stay in harmony with Him, and stay so sensitive to His leadings that when the times call for it we can appear to be out of step with everyone else if need be because we know we are in step with King Jesus.

God help us that we can live so conscious of God that when purity or justice call for taking a stand we will have the courage to appear to walk alone, if necessary.

- C. May God help us to be like Jesus in His prayer in the Garden of Gethsemane to be able to say: "Nevertheless, not my will, but Thine be done!" These are holy, lonely times we must face, and we MAY face them with God's blessing and strength.
- D. But when the "bad alone-ness" comes to us, and to those around us— and it will!— how can Jesus help us then?
1. We must believe that in our loneliness Jesus can reach into our isolation and transform it. If it is an isolation of injustice and insensitivity or bereavement or loss it will be hard or even impossible to understand. But by God's grace we must not allow Satan to use alone-ness to destroy our faith, or even more important, the LOVE that faith demands! Bitterness and hatred and division and pettiness are the end result of what is probably Satan's favorite weapon.
 2. Do you understand that ISOLATION IS PROBABLY SATAN'S FAVORITE WEAPON? For isolation is the sheer essence of hell. All real fellowship and loyalty in the name of sin and selfishness are just illusion. And believe me, Jesus is seeking ways to break through YOUR isolation and loneliness right now!
 3. Remember this, too. If YOU have experienced isolation and loneliness, if you ARE EVEN NOW experiencing it— there are many others around you— many here right now— who are experiencing it, too. And if we would seek to have the mind that was in Christ Jesus, and let His life flow into our own— then the 'Jesus in you' and the 'Jesus in me' is always seeking ways to break through that isolation in those we know are hurting in order to bring love and healing.

That is what Jesus did when He was here on earth.

Conclusion: I see a man short in stature, and perhaps somehow small in his own self-esteem— but a man who had abundantly compensated by making a great deal of money in a despised kind of business. I see him absolutely alone in the midst of a throng of people.

Oh, Zacchaeus was not physically alone— but in that crowd there was not one friend, not one person who knew how much he really wanted to love God, and how much he wanted to love his fellows and be loved by them— how much he wanted to do the right, to live right. Not ONE! Except for Jesus!

I want the keen kind of sight that Jesus had! I want to see Zacchaeus off to the side, peering through the leaves of his sycamore tree! I want the love of Christ that can help penetrate the alone-ness of others.

But remember that in that crowd there were at least TWO people who felt isolated and alone. But Jesus, misunderstood, and in many ways apart, reached out of His alone-ness into the desolation and isolation of Zacchaeus and said: "I see you! I want to be with you!" And something wonderful began in the heart of that lonely man!

And out of the loneliest hour in all creation Jesus has reached in love into your isolation and mine. He has asked us to take HIM home with us. And He wants to transform our alone-ness into life-sharing love!

The Prayer Jesus Prayed for You

March 25, 1990 PM

John 17:1-3 (3) - And this is life eternal: that they may know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent.

INTRODUCTION: When Jesus came to the very last moments He would share alone with His disciples, it was not a time for small talk or idle words. Not one of them would ever forget how He gave them a new commandment, or how He said He was leaving them His joy.

But then Jesus stopped talking to the disciples, and began talking to His heavenly Father. It was a prayer that electrified them as they heard Him pray it.

He prayed for Himself that night. He spoke of unimaginable glory, and of perfect union with the Father in that glory. As He prayed He revealed as never before the single purpose of why He had ever left the glory of heaven. The hearts of the disciples were stirred as they realized the Presence of Deity.

And then Jesus prayed for them! They listened as He asked the Father to make them a part of the fellowship and life which Jesus Himself shared with the Father.

But then, wonder of wonders, Jesus prayed for you and for me! In this, the holy place of all the Holy Bible are words that reach to where we are this very hour:

I. JESUS PRAYED THAT WE MIGHT HAVE ETERNAL LIFE

- A. This is the only reason Jesus came. Everything else augments, enhances, points to-LIFE!
- B. If you have eternal life you are a Christian! If you are a Christian you are alive in Christ! It is as simple as that! If you do NOT have life, then you are NOT a Christian!

There may be "stages of faith" and certainly there are different levels of understanding— but in the final word there is only one test of being a Christian:

Either you are alive unto God— or you aren't!

- C. Other good and vital things— the spiritual growth, the service, the following after— are essential. Don't throw them away. But remember: ETERNAL LIFE IS OF GOD. ONLY GOD HAS ETERNAL LIFE, AND ONLY GOD CAN MAKE US ETERNALLY ALIVE. AND THAT IS WHY JESUS CAME!

II. ETERNAL LIFE IS ALWAYS CONNECTED WITH KNOWING GOD

- A. GOD-knowledge is the central issue of our faith; it can never be peripheral. We come to know God at times by "roundabout" ways; fear of punishment, weight of guilt, seeking to be fulfilled; selfish ways, usually.

But Jesus said: "THIS is life eternal: that they may know THEE. the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou has sent!" That is HIS definition, not one I made up!

1. This knowledge is always revealed; never self-obtained.
2. It is always more than knowing about God; it is knowledge OF God.
3. This "knowledge" is always a relationship, and it is reciprocal; we come to know God as we make ourselves known to Him! it is not something "free-standing" and simply "facts."

It is important that God know us! The saddest words that will ever be heard will be: "Depart from Me, I never knew you!"

- B. This necessity of knowing God makes the sin of PRESUMPTION (false faith) one of the basic sins of unbelief. Presumption is assuming that one knows what God is like. Presumption is saying: "I know what God expects." David prayed (Psalm 19) "Keep back thy servant from presumptuous sins."

Have you ever noticed how many people are EXPERTS on God?? BUT THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR REALLY KNOWING GOD!

III. THIS ETERNAL LIFE WILL MANIFEST ITSELF IN:

- A. SECURITY (verses 11,15) "Keep them!" Implying that faith will be tested; that we are not exempted from the common troubles of mankind ... but also assuring us that God can and will KEEP His own!

- B. JOY (verse 13) "that they might have My JOY fulfilled in themselves!" To have the privilege of walking with God; having the witness that we please Him; this brings an underlying JOY to life and living! Jesus knew the JOY of being totally at one with the Father. He gives us His Spirit so that we may know something of that joy. (Fullness!)
- C. UNITY WITH GOD/GOD'S FAMILY (21) "That they all may be ONE ... that they also may be one in Us ... that the world may believe"
 - 1. "Unity" is a modern shibboleth
 - 2. Jesus prayed for unity on the basis of being one with the Father, Son and Spirit. We cannot be "one" with those who deny the holiness and uniqueness of God. There is no basis for unity apart from this divine connection.
 - 3. "Causes" in and of themselves can never be the basis for unity. We are not one because we are against anything— even sin. We must be one because we are IN God!
 - 4. "Unity" is LIFE at the SOURCE— unity in spirit! Doctrines are important; and we must maintain our distinctives in a spirit of humility. But unity is NOT a matter of agreement on thoughts or ideas. In Christ this unity will manifest itself!

CONCLUSION: Can you imagine how those disciples could scarcely breathe for the holy wonder of it all as Jesus prayed that night? As they heard Him speak with the Father about glory— and then realized that He was praying for them?

Can you imagine how they thrilled as they heard Jesus ask the Father to sanctify them, and make them one with Him and with each other?

Can you believe that Jesus was praying this prayer for me and for you? Believe it!

Jesus prayed this mighty prayer for you! And nothing can defeat that prayer, if indeed you invite the Holy Spirit to reveal God to you!

Will YOU be alive to God to all eternity?

Will you make it the consuming passion of your life to know God, and Jesus Christ, whom God has sent?

Romans 8:15-17;29

For you have not received a spirit of slavery leading to fear again, but you have received a spirit of adoption as children by which we cry out, "Abba! Father!" The Spirit Himself bears witness with our spirit that we are children of God, and if children, heirs also, heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him in order that we may also be glorified with Him. For whom He foreknew, He also predestined to become conformed to the image of His Son, that He might be the first-born among many brethren."

Introduction:

This past week, in southern Lebanon, a member of your family- - and my family— was murdered. You may or may not have read or seen in the newscasts that a William Robinson was robbed and killed by people who said that he was establishing an Israeli settlement in their country. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson had 29 Lebanese orphans in the little Christian orphanage they had begun there.

The newspaper said that Mr. Robinson belonged to a small fundamentalist Protestant Christian sect.

Did you notice those adjectives? (1) small, (2) fundamentalist, (3) Protestant, (4) Christian. And did you hear the noun? "Sect"!

In actuality, Mr. Robinson belonged to the greatest family on earth: the FAMILY OF GOD. If, as I believe he did, Mr. Robinson owned Jesus as Lord, then my brother and yours died this past week in Lebanon. [Does that make any sense at all??]

I. IS THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST REALLY ONE?

A. THERE IS CERTAINLY OPPOSITION TO UNITY IN CHRIST'S BODY

There is something that hates the very idea of all Christians actually and in fact being one in Christ!

1. [THE PRESSURE TO PRIVATIZE FAITH]

The belittling designation of anyone who takes his Christian faith seriously is pretty much the rule, not the exception. Remember again how the newspaper pictured William Robinson? (Small: He was only caring for 29 orphans. Not very significant. Only about 29 more than most of US! Fundamentalist: pretty much a catch-word for anyone who takes any kind of stand on anything any more. Protestant: They probably got that right, but here in this market where there are many more Catholic than Protestant it makes Mr. Robinson definitely in the minority. Christian ... but SECT! A pejorative term, usually. A dissenting group, splintered away from the main body.)

2. [THE PRESSURE TO ISOLATE BELIEVERS]

The mind-set of the media is to blur the TRUE distinctions of faith: (SUCH AS THE LORDSHIP OF JESUS CHRIST- which in all fairness they cannot understand, anyway) and to magnify artificial differences: (SUCH AS CULTURAL WAYS OF WORSHIP, or DENOMINATIONAL NAMES, or MINOR DOCTRINAL DOGMA) until finally each Christian becomes a religious movement of exactly

ONE! [THE ENEMY WOULD HAVE US TO BELIEVE THAT WE ARE WEAK AND INSIGNIFICANT AND ALL ALONE!]

It doesn't seem to matter what weirdness you believe, (so long as you are SINCERE), and it doesn't really matter how hungry you are for righteousness, or how much your heart cries out for God JUST SO LONG AS YOU KEEP IT TO YOURSELF!

B. IT IS CLEARLY GOD'S WILL THAT ALL WHO CALL JESUS LORD BE UNITED AT THAT POINT— OF THAT OBEDIENCE AND LORDSHIP TO JESUS!

IT WAS THE PRAYER OF JESUS: MAKE US HOLY, MAKE US ONE!)

1. This was Christ's High Priestly prayer. It was as much to bring us all together as it was to make us pure and holy!
2. IS THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST REALLY ONE? In one true and holy sense, THE ANSWER IS YES! CHRIST'S BODY IS ONE! All believers who share the Christ LIFE share a common life. (We ARE brothers and sisters to Mr. Robinson, if in fact he IS alive in Christ.)
3. IS THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST REALLY ONE? THE ANSWER IS ALSO "NO!" At least NOT IN THE WAY THAT IT CAN BE! It must BE more of a priority, if we are to heed our Lord's command.

[Transition: Which brings us back to "family."]

II. HOLINESS IS SOCIAL IF IT IS GENUINE

A. WE ARE SAVED ONE-AT-A-TIME INTO GOD'S FAMILY

The fact that we come one-by-one to Christ is highly reinforced by our American frontier mentality. We worship "individuality."

In emphasizing the INDIVIDUAL SIDE OF SALVATION (usually translated "I" and "ME") we are in danger of missing the BEST of what God intends that sanctification - holiness- will actually bring to us!

[What do I mean? Look at some examples:]

- B. The way the word 'saint' or 'saints' is used in the Bible is very significant. The word "saint" means "holy one." It is a name used for the people of God. We are called to be saints.

Did you realize that the word "saint" appears in the Bible exactly three times: two of them in the OT- in Psalm 106 referring to "the saint, Moses;" and in Daniel where the prophet has a vision of one saint talking to another. The lone place in the New Testament where the word "saint" appears is Philippians 4:21, where Paul says: "Salute every saint in Christ Jesus."

By contrast, the word "saints" shows up at least 95 times. Every place in the New Testament the word appears, it refers to the church— to the group— to the collective family of God.

- C. The gifts of the Spirit, Paul tells us plainly (in Ephesians 4 and elsewhere) are for the building up of the body of Christ.

- D. And here in the great Chapter on the Spirit-filled life we get the "family picture" again. We are adopted, not as "only children," but as part of a growing, happy, loving FAMILY!

Look at these text verses again: (15-17 We have not received a spirit of bondage and fear, but we have received (WHAT?): The Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry "Father! Daddy!

"The Spirit Himself tells us unmistakably that we are (WHAT?): CHILDREN OF GOD!

"And if we are children, then we are HEIRS .. HEIRS OF GOD AND JOINT HEIRS WITH CHRIST!"

We are in the family! We are together with Christ AS WELL AS WITH ONE ANOTHER!

We even have a family resemblance! (29) (We are) predestined to be conformed to the image of (God's) SON!

- E. HOW IMPORTANT IS THIS CONCEPT OF 'FAMILY'??

WHY SAY "FAMILY?" What is "family?"

"Family" on God's terms is a place where torment and tormenting fear are ruled out; a place where bondage is replaced by responsibility discharged in liberty and freedom.

FAMILY IS VERY IMPORTANT!

THAT IS WHY A CHURCH IS DIFFERENT FROM SUPER STOP AND SHOP!

[There isn't any LOYALTY involved in 'supermarket shopping.' But a CHURCH isn't really like that, if it becomes FAMILY! It isn't just a place to get your groceries! It is a place where we invest in each other's lives!]

Where there is deep commitment and loyalty, there is the promise of great reward! [Haven't your greatest JOYS as well as your deepest sorrows come from your earthly families?] This is something of what God expects in HIS BODY, the church!

IS FAMILY IMPORTANT? Is surely is!

[What we begin here on earth will continue into the freedom of eternity:]

F. GOD WILL REVOLUTIONIZE OUR CONCEPTS OF FAMILY IN ETERNITY

Our most precious relationships here will not necessarily be destroyed— for in eternity we will "know as we are known." But our best relationships here are embryonic and incomplete in the light of eternity.

In Jesus Christ, in His image, we begin a relationship that is satisfying here and now, but that extends beyond the known and the seen into the greater realities of forever.

We cannot let the precious trinkets and imperfect promises of this passing moment overshadow the wealth of what it means to be a joint-heir with Jesus Christ in inheriting the riches of reality that will endure when Donald Trump's billions have vanished like smoke, no matter how the wisdom of this age undervalues them. We are God's family!]

III. SANCTIFICATION AND THE 'FAMILY OF GOD'

A. [NOT EVERYONE WITH OUR NAME IS A RELATIVE!]

REAL LIFE TRUTH OFTEN BRINGS TENSION! [Jesus: "I came not to bring "peace" but a "sword!"]

In the tension that is truth, we need to be tough-minded, and to realize that not every group or individual that proclaims itself "Christian" really intends to follow Jesus and make Him Lord.

[BUT ALL OUR RELATIVES DON'T SPELL IT EXACTLY LIKE WE DO!]

By the same token, we need to be warm-hearted, and realize that not every group or individual that does worship and follow Jesus will agree with us on every detail. How can a family be "tolerant" and "intolerant" at the same time? [Illus:(?) My four sons explained that one to me without even trying. They fought among each other— but when one was threatened they CAME TOGETHER.]

THE KEY TO REAL FAMILY IS JESUS! "WHO IS JESUS TO YOU?"

B. IT COSTS TO BE LOYAL PERSONALLY AND TO A GROUP

Being "family" does not let the individual "off the hook." We are each one answerable to God. We are each one responsible to keep his or her spirit sweet, and in tune with the will of God. We are each one gifted (at least potentially) by the Holy Spirit in unique ways which benefit the family!

We must each one— you, me— be seekers after HOLINESS! WE MUST PERSONALLY BE SANCTIFIED WHOLLY— AND LOYAL TO GOD!

[Transition: But here's a DIFFERENT thought...]

C. HOW ABOUT AN ENTIRE FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS SEARCHING AFTER HOLINESS? Can it be done? What level of participation will it take? What level of trust? What percentage of people will have to be serious about seeking the mind set which the indwelling Spirit brings?

How about setting out to find out how we can be a community that rejects bondage and legalism, and at the same time adopts the disciplines and the concentrated effort we need to discover what God would like to accomplish through His church, THIS CHURCH! ??

[Am I an impractical dreamer? Somehow I am sure that IF we ever see spiritual impact in any significant way we will have to learn what FAMILY — the family of GOD— means!]

Conclusion: How can we conclude this message?

1. Let us unite in prayer for the ministry of our murdered brother, William Robinson. If God was in it, let us pray it will confound the enemies of God and multiply. [And certainly let us pray for his widow and his loved ones.]
2. Let us pray for THE SANCTIFICATION OF the FAMILY OF GOD WHERE WE LIVE! Let God's great LOVE and POWER flow in concentric circles from each of us— in obedience to the Holy Spirit. Let it come to our homes— to our friends— to our entire church fellowship— through the churches of our district— to the brothers and sisters in our community, Protestant and Catholic— who are members of the FAMILY of God! O God, don't just "make ME holy!" Come upon us, and MAKE US TRULY YOUR FAMILY!!

Mindset of Belonging

Becoming Like Jesus (Romans 8) Sermon 1 of 5

1. Mindset of Belonging
2. Holiness: A Family Resemblance
3. Sanctification and Suffering
4. Resurrection Hope
5. The Filling of the Holy Spirit

April 1, 1990 AM

Romans 8:6 - 9 For the mind set on the flesh is death, but the mind set on the Spirit is life and peace, because the mind set on the flesh is hostile toward God; for it does not subject itself to the law of God, for it is not even able to do so; and those who are in the flesh cannot please God. However, you are not in the flesh but in the Spirit, if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you. But if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Him.

We are reading Romans 8, seeking to find out what something of what it means to know the sanctifying grace of God. [It is all too easy to begin anywhere and end up exactly where we want to come out.]

INTRODUCTION

There are some strong statements in this opening part of Romans 8 that, taken out of context, contradict common sense and experience. One such statement is: "They that are in the flesh cannot please God."

What this is sometimes interpreted to say is: As long as we are flesh and blood, here in this life, we can not hope to please God. Even Christians are under sin's dominion!

But the very next statement is also easy to misunderstand: "You are not in the flesh if indeed the Spirit of God dwells in you."— which is misinterpreted to say that people who are inhabited by God's Spirit are somehow "other-worldly" and so they do not fully enter into life here on earth.

What we can understand immediately is that there is conflict and struggle, tension and even warfare that we experience even as we seek to know God's sanctifying grace.

I. THE BATTLEGROUND OF THE HUMAN PERSONALITY

Why there should even be a battle of good and evil is a mystery. Occasionally even little children will ask profound questions like: "Why doesn't God just squash the devil?"

Why this battle should continue even after a person has chosen to go with God is beyond our understanding. But the battle continues. And the center of the battle, at least so far as we mortals can understand, seems to be our very minds and souls, the human personality.

Romans 7:21 declares there is a principle that good is always opposed: "I find then a principle that when I would do good, evil is present with me." God's Word reveals the true extent of the struggle. Our minds become a microcosm of the mystery of good and evil.

This struggle sharpens with the revelation of a God who IS, and who is GOOD, and who SPEAKS to us, who challenges us to believe in Him, to KNOW Him, and to come to LOVE Him and TRUST Him.

You are personally involved in this titanic battle.

II. THE BATTLE OF GOOD AND EVIL INTRUDES INTO EVERY ASPECT OF LIFE AND LIVING

[Philosophers and peasants, great men and little children- all of us have tried to understand the dimensions of the warfare of good and evil.]

- A. Our society has largely taken the approach to the problem of denying that it exists. With no absolute good and no absolute evil, each individual in our society is free to do as he/she pleases, just so long as no absolute standards are proclaimed.

[And consequently we have the tragic enigma of parents berating their children for doing drugs, when they themselves are addicted to alcohol; of public officials whose personal and private lives are full of broken promises and rotten selfishness making pronouncements on what is and what is not "moral" for society; we have liberal church leaders speaking for God who have lost all personal contact with God; we have fundamentalists who know all the answers even before the questions are asked. And the heart of the whole matter is this thing Paul calls "mind set!"]

All these failures are merely human solutions to human problems. All these are evidence of lack of trust in a God Whose Word reaches to where we live!]

- B. [We cannot be "good without God!] We have forgotten that the One who made us knows us better than we know ourselves. We have forgotten the instructions that come with the Manufacturer's Guarantee. And whatever we may think or say about ourselves, human beings still respond at the deepest level to what is right and what is wrong. Our souls bear witness to a battle that we do not ever fully understand. We are a bundle of contrasts.
- C. [We are called on to choose.] This is the message of the Evangelist. God has spoken; His way is GOOD. All other ways lead to death. (Deuteronomy 30:19-20) "I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that I have set before you life and death, the blessing and the curse. So choose life in order that you may live ... "
- D. This chapter is a litany of the personal fallout of our choosing: (v 1) contrasts of condemnation/freedom; (v 26) of weakness/attainment; (vv 2,6, 13, +) of death/life; (v 18) of suffering/glory; (vv 35-39) of separation/love.

All of these contrasts come to a focus in what Paul calls "mind set." (KJV = "carnal mind" and "Spiritually minded".) There are only two ways to think about life, so far as Paul is concerned— in the flesh, or in the Spirit.

- E. [Several statements are made about THE MIND SET ON THE FLESH.]
 - 1. It has as ITS LIFE GOALS (verse 5) the things of the flesh; temporal things, things that will pass away. It believes that THINGS are the cause of joy.

2. It has as ITS BASIC TEMPER (verse 7) a hostility toward God. It sees God as the enemy, the One who takes away joy.
3. It has as ITS LIFE STYLE (verse 7) a law-breaking way of living; in fact it couldn't keep the law if it wanted to.
4. IT CANNOT PLEASE GOD (verse 8) even though God loves the sinner, and seeks his salvation, the way the sinner LIVES is not pleasing to God.
5. THE MIND SET ON THE FLESH IS DEATH (verse 6.) Not just "will be" death, nor "leads to" death— which are both true— but is NOW spiritually DEATH!

F. In contrast, here is what is said about THE MIND THAT IS SET ON THE SPIRIT:

1. It is LIFE and it is PEACE (verse 6.)
2. It has as ITS LIFE-GOALS the things of the Spirit (verse 5.) "But you can't eat "love and Joy and Peace..." Perhaps not, but don't forget Matthew 6:33!
3. The mind set on the Spirit is WHERE GOD LIVES. The Christian is possessed BY GOD HIMSELF! God comes to live in us! (verse 9.)
4. PLUS ... all the other benefits of this chapter!!

[So, how may we come down on the side of God, and of good— not just on Sunday when we're all dressed up— but out there on the job where the rubber meets the road?]

III. THE BATTLE BOILS DOWN TO: WHO SHALL BE GOD?!

[Is it really possible to be 'Spiritually minded'? Those who are in Christ Jesus HAVE ENCOUNTERED THE LIVING GOD. And so they have a particular way of looking at God. And because they do, they also have a particular way of looking at all of life.]

- A. [God can/must be encountered as a Person.] If you are a Christian this morning it is not (just) because of WHAT you have believed, but because of WHOM YOU HAVE ENCOUNTERED! If you have met the living God who is bigger than all your universe, you have been introduced to the way of the 'spiritually minded.' If you have a lesser god who perhaps serves to make you healthier and wealthier and wiser, but does not fill all the Universe, then you are still "in the flesh!"

THERE IS NO 'MIDDLE GROUND:' TO BE SPIRITUALLY MINDED IS TO SEEK TO LIVE IN GOD'S REALITY. TO BE FLESHLY MINDED IS TO TRY TO SERVE A GOD WE CAN BRING INTO OUR REALITY.

- B. The challenge is to let God truly BE GOD! THIS IS NOT A NEW THING, THIS "STRUGGLE OF REALITIES." The First Commandment is still the hardest one to truly keep! NO OTHER GODS!

Every generation of God's people has had its form of "secular humanism" under one form or another. It seems so simple to follow Jesus Christ: But there are always logical, attractive, compromising alternatives to following God with all our hearts. There are many "lesser gods." There always have been.

Jesus said we are to be "In the world but not of the world." One Jewish historian saw it as a battle between the children of Zeus and the Children of YHWH: between the people who saw their gods as super-humans, needing to be placated, but serving to define the ideal Man and the ideal Woman, and the people who saw human beings as made in the image of the Invisible and Holy One who said "I AM THAT I AM" and "BE YE HOLY FOR I THE LORD YOUR GOD AM HOLY!"

IN THE WORLD! Christians can buy and sell for profit, can run computers, can compete in the marketplace and the arenas of life. "All truth is God's truth—" and certainly not all pagans are deliberately God's enemies, and not all the world outside these doors is evil. BUT NOT OF THE WORLD!

Christians are different! They have a different mind-set. They refuse to bow down and worship any Creature. Only the Creator is worthy of that loyalty.

To be Christian, then, to have one's mind set on God, MEANS THAT WE HAVE A PERSONAL, LIVING, VITAL CONNECTION WITH GOD ALMIGHTY!

IV. THE BATTLE IS WON AS WE CONTINUE TO BE PRESENT TO GOD

- A. To "be saved" is to encounter God. It is to be "present" when He calls [... and not just believing a creed or joining a church.]

- B. But to be 'being sanctified' is to continue to be "present" to God in the out-living of our lives. [I need to be careful here— careful and kind. I am dealing with some of the finest Christian people I know. People who are highly motivated and actively engaged in the work of God's kingdom.]

WHAT we do may or may not be exactly what we need to be doing. But HOW we go about doing what we do— the SPIRIT we demonstrate-, and especially WHY we go about doing what we do will reflect whether or not we really know God! That is what "mind-set on God" is all about!

- C. And there simply is no short-cut to "being present" to God. There is no "fool-proof" formula, no ritual that will not dry up and become an end in itself, no "prayer wheels" we can leave on while we go about doing as WE please. We simply have to spend some time with God. If we will take time to "be present" to God, He will dominate our lives and make us like Himself.

CONCLUSION:

When we are "in Christ" the battle is won, but it is not over. There is still suffering to face. There are weaknesses to be endured. There are separations that will come. But be assured: God IS! God LOVES YOU!

If our minds are stayed on the God who transcends, we will find that He is the God who never, ever leaves us nor forsakes us.

April 8, 1990 - Palm Sunday/Passion Sunday Romans 8:16-17

"... fellow heirs with Christ, if indeed we suffer with Him ..."

Romans 8 Series: Becoming like Christ involves more than just beautiful theory.

INTRODUCTION

This is Palm Sunday. The jubilation of the throng is recognition of Christ's divine majesty. Shining through every word Jesus ever spoke, and every deed He ever did is the fact that Jesus is King of Kings. But this is also Passion Sunday. It is time to think of how much the love of Jesus costs Him.

[We usually relegate the serious thoughts of Christ's sorrow and suffering to the Thursday and Friday services of Holy Week — and this year Holy Week is 'getaway time' for many of our people.]

On that first Palm Sunday, before He entered Jerusalem proper on the back of a donkey— before the Triumphant Entry, Jesus paused on the Mount of Olives, probably at a place opposite the Temple, and there He wept openly.

What made Jesus weep?

And what does that weeping have to do with you and me?

Does this text - "... we are fellow heirs with Jesus if indeed we suffer with Him ..." — have anything to do with Christ's sorrow on the hillside that first Passion Sunday?

I. WHAT MADE JESUS WEEP?

A. NOT THE CROSS

It was NOT the cross that made Jesus weep. "He endured the cross, despising the shame." And why? For the JOY that was set before Him. The cross was the final scene of a battle that Jesus won for all of us. Jesus did not weep because He was about to suffer.

B. NOT THE SHAME OF BEARING OUR SIN

It was NOT even the separation that was the final, keenest agony of the cross. "Don't weep for Me!" Jesus told the women that followed Him along the route to Calvary.

Jesus hated the idea of bearing sin's penalty. He prayed that if it were possible that the cup would pass from Him. He sweat as it were great drops of blood in the agony of the burden of my sins. But that is NOT why Jesus wept.

C. JESUS WEPT OVER OTHERS

JESUS WEPT OVER THE LOST! For "Jerusalem! Jerusalem! How often I would have gathered you ... but ye would NOT!" Jesus saw the suffering and sorrow and death that lay ahead for the people who would reject the salvation that only He could bring them.

II. WHAT DOES THAT WEEPING HAVE TO DO WITH YOU AND ME?

[What is the "sorrow" which we can share with Jesus?]

A. IT IS NOT SACRIFICE TO GIVE UP ANY SIN

Certainly NOT a sorrow for the sins we have had to leave behind. Some people have bought into the idea that God is GOOD, but God is NOT ANY FUN. Never ever feel sorry for people who give up their sins to follow Jesus!

B. GENUINE SACRIFICE IS NOT WORTH MORE THAN A PASSING TEAR

And don't shed more than a passing tear for the genuine sacrifices you may be called upon to make for Jesus. [Have you ever made any real sacrifice?] (See verse 18)

Jesus didn't spare Himself. He knew that there was real JOY set before Him if He endured His cross. He calls on us to take up our cross, each one. If there must be tears, let's get them over with. THAT is not what made the Master weep!

C. SHARING JESUS' SORROW IS CARING FOR OTHERS, AND PARTICULARLY FOR THEIR RELATIONSHIP TO THE FATHER

The nearer we come to Jesus, the more we will see that we need to weep for the sorrows of those who refuse the Gift of Life! We need to weep for the things that made Jesus weep!

D. MOTIVATION IS EVERYTHING!

1. Weeping isn't something we can simply turn on and off like a faucet. There must be emotional involvement. We will weep over the things that really matter.
2. One must get the focus off me and mine and even ours. Even in following and serving Jesus it is all too easy to find the focus HERE. It is all too easy to want the right hand of Jesus, the place of prominence, the seat of authority.

The necessity of "building the church" or even of "witnessing" and laying aside things of this world and lesser pursuits and following Jesus— all good and to be commended— all these can still be done in order that the "I/WE" might be lifted up!

3. Can you see the purity of Jesus' motivation? On this day of celebration — in the Garden of Gethsemane— on the Via Dolorosa —and hanging on the Cross between heaven and earth, Jesus sought the salvation, the reconciliation, the peace of OTHERS!

4. IT IS (PROBABLY) IMPOSSIBLE TO CHANGE ONE'S OWN MOTIVATION

The question then is, "How can you and I submit our mixed motivation to God, and be willing to share in Christ's love for others until it breaks our hearts, and we can in some small measure share in His suffering?"

Charles Wesley prayed with his pen, and I echo him and pray his prayer for myself, and, I hope, for you:

Oh, that in me the sacred fire Might now begin to glow, Burn up the dross of base desire. And make the mountains flow!

Refining Fire, go through my heart; Illuminate my soul; Scatter Thy life through every part, And sanctify the whole.

We cannot simply decide that we shall love like Jesus and weep like Jesus and be redemptive like Jesus. But if we are willing to share in Christ's love, the love that CARES, I believe the scriptures promise us that in some measure, we may!!

[CONCLUSION:]

III. DOES JESUS CARE? IS JESUS WEAK? DOES JESUS BRING HOPE?

A. DOES JESUS CARE?

Does He care for ME, that my motives are mixed? For YOU, in your search for holiness? Certainly Jesus cares! The writer of Hebrews tells us that "Jesus, that He might sanctify (us) with His blood, suffered outside the (city) gate." Jesus suffered OUTSIDE for us! Jesus CARES for a lost world, too. Jesus died for the lost.

B. IS JESUS WEAK?

From this side of Calvary, from this side of the Resurrection— YES! Before the cross— YES! Isaiah the great prophet tells us that Jesus:

" ... was oppressed and He was afflicted, Yet He did not open His mouth; Like a Lamb that is led to the slaughter, And like a sheep that is silent before its shearers, So He did not open His mouth. By oppression and judgment He was taken away; And as for His generation, who considered That He was cut off out of the land of the living, For the transgression of my people to whom the stroke was due? His grave was assigned with wicked men, Yet He was with a rich man in His death, Because He had done no violence, Nor was there any deceit in His mouth. But the Lord was pleased To crush Him, putting Him to grief; If He would render Himself as a guilt offering, He will see His offspring, He will prolong His days, And the good pleasure of the Lord will prosper in His hands. As a result of the anguish of His soul, He will see it and be satisfied; By his knowledge the Righteous One, My Servant, will justify the many, As He will bear their iniquities. Therefore, I will allot Him a portion with the great, And he will divide the booty with the strong; Because He poured out Himself to death, And was numbered with the transgressors; Yet He Himself bore the sin of many, And interceded for the transgressors. - Isaiah 53:7-12

What a picture of weakness! What a Man of sorrows! Can we always be seeking the pathway of power when Jesus deliberately chose the way of weakness?

C. DOES JESUS BRING HOPE?

Hope for what? [What do we mean by "hope?"] That we won't have any hard times? That we will always be healed of that life- threatening disease? That we will never physically die?

Hope for what? [What do we mean by "hope?"] That if we come to Him we will somehow be His favorite children, and the rest of the world can go to hell in a handcart but that somehow we won't have to suffer?

Hope for what? That if we ask Him He will let us suffer with Him, and then reign with Him, and know the JOY that He knows? Isn't that what our text is saying?

IF WE REALLY WANT TO SHARE IN CHRIST'S PASSION, WE HAVE THE PRIVILEGE OF "GOING OUT TO JESUS":

(Hebrews 13:12-13) "Therefore Jesus also, that He might sanctify the people through His own blood, suffered outside the gate. HENCE, LET US GO OUT TO HIM OUTSIDE THE CAMP, BEARING HIS REPROACH." [Here in the Book of Hebrews is that theme of sharing Christ's suffering, again. We begin by being willing to have our motives purified, by being willing to identify with the suffering, rejected, "out-side" Savior! We continue as His concerns and His sorrows become our very own!]

This is Palm Sunday. The jubilation of the throng was the recognition of Christ's divine majesty.

But this is also Passion Sunday. We often limit serious thoughts of Christ's sorrow and suffering to Holy Week and Good Friday.

But if we are going to let God do a work in our fellowship as well as in our individual lives, we will ask God to help us to go to Jesus, where He is [outside the gates] to see what He sees [the needs, the spiritual death of others] and we will ask the Father to have His way in us, even in OUR weakness.

[SHALL WE PRAY:]

Lord Jesus, the sin and sickness of our world is almost overwhelming! But You have taken Christ's weakness, and through His Cross You have demonstrated Your power and victory over sin and death.

Will You let us enter into Christ's weakness? Will You help us to go to Jesus and bear His reproach? Will You demonstrate Your power in Your church once again?]

April 15, 1990 - Easter Sunday

Romans 8:11 If the Spirit of Him Who raised up Jesus from the dead dwells in you, then He Who raised up Christ Jesus from the dead will also restore to life your mortal bodies through His Spirit Who dwells in you.

John 11:25-26 Jesus said to her, I AM Myself the Resurrection and the Life. Whoever believes in Me, although he may die, yet shall he live. And whoever continues to live and believes in Me shall never actually die at all. Do you believe this?

[Easter] Romans 8:11

Introduction:

We have been looking into Romans 8 for several weeks now, seeking to define the word "Sanctification". We have seen that it means "Belonging to God." And we have seen that it means "Becoming like Jesus."

We do not need to take time out from this emphasis for Easter because the resurrection of our Lord is at the heart of what God wants to do IN us as well as FOR us. In every part of our salvation, our LIFE, Jesus, our Living Lord, is the KEY:

I. JESUS IS RESURRECTION LIFE!

[John 11:25] Jesus said to [Martha:] "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in Me shall live even if he dies, and everyone who lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?"

Resurrection Hope

- A. Easter is all about life. Not just animation, breathing, moving about, renewal of the beauty and greening of spring. I am talking about eternal life. The kind of life that God IS.
- B. Jesus came to bring us life. [John 10:10] "I am come that (you) might have life, and that (you) might have it more abundantly." Jesus came to open the circle of eternity, and bring us into the fellowship of glory.

- 1. Jesus is the Word. He brought us a message of life from God. And Jesus still is the way, the ONLY way that we can come to know God.
- 2. The "message" is Himself. The message Jesus brought when He came to earth was not (primarily) something to learn, or a new way to behave. Certainly that was part of it. Jesus taught us how to walk and to talk and to live. But the message IS: We can come to KNOW God!

The eternal life, THE EASTER LIFE, IS in coming to know God. [John 17:2-3] [Jesus, praying to the Father in heaven:] " ... You gave HIM (speaking of Himself) authority over all mankind, that to all whom You have given Him, He may give eternal life. And this is eternal life, that they may know YOU, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent."

- C. Jesus has forever defeated death. That is what we celebrate this Resurrection Day morning! That first Easter Morning the stone was rolled away- NOT to let the imprisoned risen Savior out— He was already GONE. But the stone was rolled away to permit us to see that the tomb is empty. The empty tomb speaks of mighty HOPE!

II. JESUS CAME TO OFFER ETERNAL LIFE TO YOU AND ME

- A. EASTER MEANS HOPE FOR YOU. We tend to make holidays of the events of the faith we can adapt, and to ignore those we cannot.

['EASTER' RELATES TO THE WHOLE OF CHRIST'S MESSAGE OF LIFE]

Christmas is a family occasion. That isn't bad— but how often the Advent of Christ is almost totally overlooked.

Easter is a Spring Rite— and not too many walk the Lenten pathway, or follow the Via Dolorosa— not too many really put the Open Tomb in context.

Two other great Days in Christ's "message of life" to us are largely overlooked. But when the whole message is put together, we can see an open door into Everlasting LIFE!

B. EASTER IS ONLY PART OF THE PICTURE. Christ's MESSAGE OF LIFE is the sum total of all He does in our behalf. Let me quickly put these four great Days of Christ into perspective with four great WORDS:

1. The first great word is ADVENT: Jesus CAME!
2. The second great word is PASSION, which climaxes at what we call EASTER: Jesus showed us how to live, He taught us how to pray— and then He died for our sins and rose again for our justification.
3. The third great word is SESSION, which is revealed to us in PENTECOST. Where do you think Jesus is right now? (Ben: In our hearts! Right! But HOW?) Jesus is at the right hand of God the Father. We know because He has sent His Spirit to live in our hearts! No Spirit, no Session! No Spirit, no LIFE!
4. There is a FOURTH GREAT WORD! PAROUSIA! Jesus is coming again! He is to be seen by every eye! He will be acknowledged by every tongue!

C. EASTER CELEBRATION IS SAYING: "JESUS IS LORD!" It is good and right to celebrate Christmas and Easter and recall what each of them means. But they don't finally make sense- we don't get the total picture of AVAILABLE EVERLASTING LIFE until we put all Christ's MESSAGE OF LIFE together and see how Jesus IS Lord of all history, and how He wants to be Lord of each of our hearts today!

III. JESUS WANTS A HOME IN YOUR HEART

[We come now to where Easter "comes in" to our series on sanctification:]

A. Romans 8 is not just for learning, it is hope for living! And yet, here are some hints at the magnitude of the victory Jesus has won, and won for us. We see:

1. THE BIRTH OF A NEW RACE (8:22) "Pains of childbirth" indicates a new and utterly incomprehensible qualitative change in life. [Matthew 25 hints at the scope of the New Race, i.e., "Ruler over many things."]

2. CREATION SET FREE FROM DECAY. (8:21) Free from the tendency to "wind down" and "wear out."
3. By this we understand that these poor, frail bodies will be set free from the limitations of death, illness, aging. (8:23) ... These are indications of the LIFE that "Easter" (I prefer Resurrection Day) is all about.
4. But these are GENERAL truths. They must be made PERSONAL. We have to know them in EXPERIENCE! We MAY know God personally! That is why Jesus came! [Remember John 17:2-3 ?]

B. The text speaks directly and personally about Resurrection: [Romans 8:11] If the Spirit of Him Who raised up Jesus from the dead dwells in you, then He Who raised up Christ Jesus from the dead will also restore to life your mortal bodies through His Spirit Who dwells in you.

1. Jesus wants to live IN US by His Spirit. "If the Spirit dwells in you..." Do you know what I am talking about? Do you want to know? You MAY know! Listen!
2. The Spirit is God making the truth PERSONAL. By the Spirit we come to understand that Jesus —came in ADVENT to live among us. Can you believe that? And we come to understand that Jesus - [PASSION] ... died for our sins. For YOUR sins! For MINE! Do you believe that?

It is the Spirit that makes us really believe that Jesus - [PASSION] ...was raised for our new life in Him. Has that happened to you?

And the Spirit's very Presence in conviction assures us that - [SESSION] ... Jesus is at God's right hand! He is there to channel His life and love into OUR poor, imperfect vessels.

Conclusion:

C. The text is a promise. It is the basis of Resurrection Hope.

1. Other scriptures express it other ways. St. John says that we have never SEEN Him, and yet we KNOW Him! But then John says that "When we shall see Him we shall be LIKE Him!" (I John 3:2)

Here we walk by faith, not by sight. Here we get only a glimpse of glory from time to time. It does not yet appear— we cannot fully understand what we shall be. But we shall see Him!

2. Our text uses the word "IF." It is a great promise, IF we let the Spirit of God come into our lives!

Is God welcome in YOUR life this Easter Sunday morning?

Romans 8:11 If the Spirit of Him Who raised up Jesus from the dead dwells in you, then He Who raised up Christ Jesus from the dead will also restore to life your mortal bodies through His Spirit Who dwells in you.

Romans 8:9 " ... if anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Him."

Introduction:

Defining Sanctification

We may scripturally define the "sanctified life" as Belonging to God, and as Becoming Like Jesus. But we may also define sanctification as Being Filled with the Holy Spirit.

We can understand the concept of belonging to God. We can even understand becoming (more and more) like Jesus Christ. But what does it mean to be filled with the Holy Spirit?

Somehow this seems to mean many different things to different groups or individuals. Like the blind men and the elephant, all too often we seize on some facet of truth and make it the controlling emphasis of our thought on this matter of critical importance.

We emphasize the gifts of the Spirit and we compare and contrast them to the fruit of the Spirit. We debate about the manifestations of the Spirit, and we discuss heatedly about the baptism and the infilling of the Spirit. These are all vital and important topics.

But in the meantime very little is said about the Spirit Himself. And for good reason—for not too much is known about this mysterious Person of the Godhead.

I. WHO IS THE HOLY SPIRIT?

- A. One way to grasp the truth about the Holy Spirit is to see what the Bible calls Him, or more particularly what He is called right here in this chapter. He is called:

[verse 2] The Spirit of life [verse 9] The Spirit of God [verse 9] The Spirit of Christ [verse 11] The Spirit of Him Who raised Jesus from the dead [verse 14] The Spirit of God [verse 15] The Spirit of Adoption

- B. The Holy Spirit is MYSTERY. God is always Holy Mystery. But this is particularly true of the Third Person of the Trinity.

(Revelation 4:5 Speaks of the "seven Spirits of God," and describes them as lamps of fire burning before the Throne. But the Glorified Savior is described as a Lion and as a Lamb; both of these mysteries of faith are Persons of the Godhead, and not to be lightly treated in our minds and imagination, but rather, reverently worshiped.)

- C. We can be sure that the Holy Spirit is like Jesus. Jesus called Him "another Comforter." The Holy Spirit is God in the normal living of Christian faith.

1. He IS power for extraordinary manifestation; and
2. He is ENABLING for special assignments large and small. But most of all, best of all,
3. He is also A COMPANION IN DAY BY DAY LIVING.
4. The Holy Spirit comes to make JESUS real. He comes to glorify Jesus.

[Illustration: Mildred Bangs Wyncoop tells of a student rising to his feet in a college chapel to say, "I've found something better than the Lordship of Jesus! I have found the Spirit!" And she goes on to say, that is NOT what the scriptures say!]

What DO the scriptures say? (John 16:13 But when He, the Spirit of truth is come, He will guide you into all truth. for He will not speak of Himself, but what He hears, He will speak. And He will show you things to come. He shall glorify ME; for He shall take of Mine and disclose it to you.) The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God and the Spirit of Jesus. But what does the Spirit DO in our lives?

II. WHAT DOES THE HOLY SPIRIT DO IN OUR SANCTIFICATION?

A. Romans 8 tells us a number of practical things about the Spirit's ministry to us:

1. (verse 2) As the Spirit of life, HE SETS US FREE in Christ Jesus FROM THE LAW OF SIN AND DEATH.
2. (verse 5 and 9) As the Spirit of God (context) HE ENABLES BELIEVERS TO SET THEIR MINDS ON THE THINGS OF THE SPIRIT. This can also be coupled with (verse 13): ...by the Spirit (we) are PUTTING TO DEATH THE DEEDS OF THE FLESH.
3. (verse 11) As the Spirit of Him who raised Jesus from the dead, HE ASSURES US OF ETERNAL LIFE.
4. (verse 16) As the Spirit of adoption, HE BEARS WITNESS WITH OUR SPIRITS THAT WE ARE GOD'S CHILDREN. He brings ASSURANCE!
5. (verse 26) HE HELPS US IN OUR WEAKNESS. [If we have any!]
6. (verse 26 & 27) HE MAKES INTERCESSION FOR US; He helps us pray, or He actually prays FOR us.

B. How does this translate, practically?:

[A 'SUB-SERMON' HERE, using the outline REAL WORLD, REAL PEOPLE, REAL POWER:]

1. REAL WORLD! THE SPIRIT KEEPS OUR FAITH SWEET AND PURE IN THIS REAL WORLD. Many kinds of faith would seem to work under ideal conditions, or textbook situations. But conditions are never ideal. (Verse 22) "For we know that THE WHOLE CREATION GROANS AND SUFFERS PAINS OF CHILDBIRTH TOGETHER UNTIL NOW." We have to live in a groaning, suffering world. [WORLD OF "FUZZY GRAYS!"]

The freedom and the assurance of the Spirit help the Spirit-filled Christian to find it increasingly possible to live with life as it really is (the paradox of reality:) (verses 23) Even the Spirit-filled Christians groan as we await the fullness of glory.

In other words, we can have a child-like faith that is not childish. The mature, Spirit-filled Christian knows groaning which cannot be uttered; but he or she also knows that the Spirit is there to make intercession.

What does it mean to hear: "Blessed are the poor in Spirit (Matthew 5)" and at the same time hear "You are complete in Christ, seated with Him in power (Colossians 2:10, 3:1)"? or how can we reconcile "God is Sovereign: His Will MUST be done" and at the same time "You and I have Free Will: We are 'Free Moral Agents.'"??

Part of this mature child-likeness will ponder the imponderable questions, like: "Why do the righteous suffer?" and "What about the billions who will never hear of Jesus Christ before they die?"

2. REAL PEOPLE! THE SPIRIT HELPS US TO BE REAL PEOPLE. The Spirit helps us IN our weakness and infirmity. Some preaching I have heard seems to say that the Spirit-filled Christian doesn't HAVE any weakness any more. The Spirit is POWER— so any weakness indicates a moral lack.

But verse 26 indicates clearly both weakness AND ignorance. But it tells us that the Spirit will HELP the one, and INTERCEDE for the other.

Our natural tendency is to cover up our failures. Certainly there is no virtue in parading them before one another. But God wants us to be REAL.

[Illustration: Someone ought to write a story about a community where everyone wore masks every time they came together in order to fit a special edition of a Script they all revered.

They were subtle masks— almost always smiling— and they fit well, most of the time. But as these people lived together the masks didn't grow along with the problems of everyday living. And when the real people emerged from behind the masks, no one in the fellowship knew who these people really were— and they didn't even recognize themselves— for there was confusion as to which was mask and which was real— or if there even was a real ... is such a story a possibility for someone to write?]

Beyond the normal and necessary courtesies of politeness, we need to learn to live without sham. [Not everyone wants a full organ recital when they say, "How are you?"!!] Somehow we need to come to see that God loves us in spite of our faults and weakness. If we dare to open up to Him, He will HELP us in our weakness. If we don't have any weakness, we don't need any help! If we know HOW to pray all the time, we may not need the Holy Spirit to groan for us!

Somehow I am certain: God wants us to be REAL!

3. REAL POWER! THE SPIRIT LEADS US INTO THE MINISTRY OF COMPLETENESS. Remember, the ministry of completeness reflects a basic concept of God. (Verse 31) If God is for us (NO ONE) can be against us!

Somewhere in the backs of our minds we have hidden something that we heard somewhere in Sunday School class— that God made all the beautiful things like the sun, moon and stars, but then God was lonely. So out of His loneliness and need God said, "I will make man so that I can have fellowship!"

That may sound nice— but it isn't true. And it is very dangerous. GOD COULD NEVER LACK ANYTHING! It sounds nice to say "God has no hands but our hands!" and there is an element— a paradox— of truth in that statement of God's "need."

But we need to remember that God the Lord is GOD! God is Sovereign! God is complete!

And when His Spirit dwells in us, we share in His love and His completeness! So when we serve and minister, it is not with the idea of building goodness, or earning merit, or even seeking to save our own souls, but rather we must give and serve from LOVE, like God!

The Spirit leads us, in all our weakness and ignorance, to serve in the power of God's might, and in the clarity of His will, and in the provision of His power. (Verse 31-32) What shall we say to these things? If God is for us, who is against us? He who did not spare His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how will He not also with Him freely give us all things?"

III. HOW MAY YOU AND I BE SANCTIFIED WHOLLY ?

A. MAKE SURE THAT WE BELONG TO GOD. (Consecrate)

Objects can be consecrated without their consent. People need to give themselves. If there are hindrances or other claims on your life, this claim will supersede. (Romans 12:1,2)

B. MAKE IT OUR AIM TO BE LIKE JESUS. (Ask, Seek, Knock)

Different people will tell you different things about being filled with the Spirit. But there is nothing higher than being like Jesus. Ask God to bring that to pass in your life and you can be certain that you are asking according to His will (Philippians 2:5)

C. WE MUST GET FILLED WITH THE HOLY SPIRIT AND STAY FILLED.

(Romans 12:1, Luke 11:13, Ephesians 5:18) It isn't hard to be sanctified when you are ready to say "YES" to God! The thing is to STAY filled— day by day! To "be BEING filled!"

PRAYER: Help us dare to ASK for what we need!

#38 EH Come, Holy Spirit

The Crooked Yoke

May 6, 1990 PM

2 Corinthians 6:14 - 7:1

Do not be yoked together with unbelievers. For what do righteousness and wickedness have in common? Or what fellowship can light have with darkness? What harmony is there between Christ and Belial? What does a believer have in common with an unbeliever? What agreement is there between the temple of God and idols? For we are the temples of the living God. As

God has said:

"I will live with them and walk among them, and I will be their God, and they will be my people."

"Therefore come out from them and be separate, says the Lord. Touch no unclean thing, and I will receive you."

"I will be a Father to you, and you will be my sons and daughters, says the Lord Almighty."

Since we have these promises, dear friends, let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit, perfecting holiness out of reverence for God.

Introduction: The message of Jesus Christ to fallen mankind is a message of liberation, of hope, and of freedom. In Colossians (2:20 — 3:1) Paul writes: "If you have died with Christ to the elementary principles of the world, why, as if you were living in the world, do you submit yourself to decrees ... in accordance with the commandments and teachings of men? ... If then you have been raised with Christ, keep seeking the things above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God."

And so a message which says "Do!" or "Don't!" seems to be a contradiction to that freedom and liberty. [It is NOT! Trust the Spirit! He hates legalism and grudging service! He is the Spirit of Christ and of God and of love!]

What does it mean to obey: Come out from among them and be separate? Is this valid for today? Is this a "Nazarene" problem?

Clarify "separate" and the motivations for "separation."

I. THIS IS A MESSAGE OF LOVE, NOT LIMITATION

- A. This message is not to unbelievers but to God's children. God doesn't begin His great salvation by saying: "I want to make you my child, so for the rest of your life you have to be different from everybody else— (different=weird)!" He starts by saying: "I DON'T WANT YOU IN BONDAGE TO ANYONE!"

The people who are in bondage in this world are those who have never met God in Jesus Christ. The Bible says that all sinners are slaves to sin!

- B. THE MESSAGE IS MORE A STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLE THAN A LIST OF RULES.

1. There is probably a proper time for all children to learn life-rules; growing up in our society or any society we teach children, "DO this because I say so!" or "DON'T do that!" We don't let six-year-olds get driver's license— we don't allow thirteen-year-olds to marry, usually. There are good reasons.
2. But with growing maturity comes growing personal responsibility for personal choices. We think: "Now I am able to make my own choices!"

- C. BUT IT IS CLEAR, AND STRAIGHT: COME OUT FROM AMONG THEM AND BE SEPARATE! DO NOT BE UNEQUALLY YOKED TOGETHER WITH UNBELIEVERS!

1. How are we to receive such a word? The message of separation is spoken to believers.
2. It is not a message of salvation. We do not separate in order to be saved. We are saved by grace: "just as I am, without one plea, but that Thy blood was shed for me."

[In answering that question ("How shall we receive such a word...") Paul asks several questions. One of them is ...]

D. WHAT DOES A BELIEVER HAVE IN COMMON WITH AN UNBELIEVER?

1. One answer is ... quite a bit, actually! We are human ... we have families to raise ... we hurt the same ways.
2. Perhaps in our day the question might be turned around: What does a believer NOT have in common? What is it that is offended by being unequally yoked?

That one sacred thing A LOYALTY TO GOD AS FATHER AND A PERSONAL RELATIONSHIP WITH JESUS CHRIST AS SAVIOR.

THE PERSONAL LOVE OF GOD! IT IS LIFE, ETERNAL LIFE— the reality of knowing God. It is precious. It must be nourished. To "believe" is not just a matter of facts we know— To believe— to be able to believe— is precious! It must be nourished.

It is hard to describe, perhaps— but it is unmistakable:

[I ran into Mrs. M told me how she had been raised in an extremely conservative setting by a strict religious order. She "knew" that all other churches were wrong. Then the Holy Spirit showed her the difference between "churches" and "sects." He seemed to tell her that the heart of the matter is the Lord Jesus Christ. I believe this insight to be valid! This is the one thing that believers and unbelievers do NOT have in common.]

It was a thrill to sense the acceptance and one-ness of this Protestant pastor and that very Catholic lay-woman.

II. THIS PASSAGE IS A CALL TO LIBERATION, NOT TO BONDAGE

- A. A. The command is: DON'T BE YOKED! ["Don't stick your neck in a noose!"] WHAT DOES BEING YOKED MEAN? Certainly it is neither possible nor desirable to have nothing to do with unbelievers.

But to be YOKED means to enter into binding, intimate, partnership relationships with people that fundamentally disagree with what is most important and vital to our very lives!

One kind of UNEQUAL YOKE would be to marry someone who did not love Christ! This all too often leads to real sorrow!

But there are many relationships and intimacies that will challenge the firstness of the Christ-relationship. We are called to take Jesus Christ with us into every part of our lives.

OUR INTIMATE RELATIONSHIPS MUST NOT DENY WHAT WE REALLY ARE!

[Another question asked here is:]

B. B. WHAT AGREEMENT IS THERE BETWEEN THE TEMPLE OF GOD AND IDOLS?

C. How is this question relevant?

1. We know the temple is not a building. But perhaps the building itself can illustrate the point. Would we have purely social times in this building? Would we allow worship of idols?

2. There are things which are appropriate at certain times and in certain places. there are other things which are never appropriate, anywhere, ever. We need to be careful in blurring all distinctions between "sacred" and "profane" that we do not "homogenize life" in a way that is theoretical and sad and deadly.

[1. is there a sacred and a profane? 2. if all of life is sacred, what do we do with vulgarity? 3. where do we put the garbage cans? 4. what is the difference between garbage and poison? Both must be disposed of— one is deadly.]

3. Is bringing someone else's idol into the house of God ever appropriate? ... under what circumstances?

[Properly, I would be angry to have someone promote worship of some 'deity ' that pretends to equality with Jesus Christ. I would not tolerate it here in this place, dedicated to the worship of God. But ...]

4. If we wouldn't feel comfortable about doing some things here in God's "house" what, then, about bringing profanity and vulgarity and values antagonistic to Jesus into the corridors of our minds? What about holding on and letting go of questionable things? What about toying with X-rated videos? What about tolerating suggestive thoughts? What about greed and envy and hatred? DO WE HAVE TO SIN IN THOUGHT? IS IT REALLY NECESSARY TO COMMIT ADULTERY OR TO COVET OR TO HATE IN OUR MINDS SIMPLY BECAUSE WE ARE 'HUMAN'?

[Transition: SO, WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO OBEY: COME OUT FROM AMONG THEM AND BE SEPARATE? Is this valid for today? Is this a "Nazarene" problem? Is it even a viable possibility, to think that we can separate our minds and bodies from the filth of the pervading sins of our time?

[Of course it is possible! I CLOSE WITH AN OBVIOUS OUTLINE FROM II COR. 7:1 — "Since we have these promises, dear friends, let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit, perfecting holiness out of reverence for God."]

III. THE CALL AND THE PROMISE ARE FOR CLEANSING

[How may we begin to comprehend the richness of being a child of God, in good standing and fellowship, having His divine approval on our lives?

How may we be so unbelieving as to think it makes no difference how we live in relation to how we fellowship with the Father?

How may we expect to be life-sharing, world-changing, Christ-revealing people when we are absolutely no different from the world we seek to serve?

How can we call ourselves God's children when we, ourselves, sit upon the throne of our little kingdoms, and refuse to have God tell us anything we do not first want to hear?]

- A. As believers we are called to A PURIFYING! ("Having these promised, BELOVED, let us cleanse ourselves ...")

Such a cleansing is possible, or the imperative would not be here. We can be set free from the garbage piles of the day and age into the freedom of pure fellowship with God.

B. We are called to be active in this cleansing process:

Only God can sanctify— but here the imperative is "Purify yourselves!" Take some initiative! Get out of the manure piles of the world!

C. The secret to cleansing is CONTROL!

Dare to turn things over to God! We think we have a Nazarene problem... when in fact we have a "control" problem. We (naturally) do not want ANYONE to tell us what is good for us. If we will cooperate with God, He will purify from "all defilement;" OF FLESH (anything that keeps us from pleasing God in our "BODY", FLESH") AND SPIRIT! (God can even deal with our attitudes and motives!)

CONCLUSION: Listen to these words again— not as a challenge, now, to reprobate sinners, or to rebels— but as a loving call to God's own dear children:

"Therefore come out from them and be separate, says the Lord. Touch no unclean thing, and I will receive you.

"I will be a Father to you, and you will be my sons and daughters, says the Lord Almighty." Since we have these promises, dear friends, let us purify ourselves from everything that contaminates body and spirit, perfecting holiness out of reverence for God.

Will you ask God to perfect His work of holiness in your heart and life, beginning just now?

#246 Is Thy Heart Right With God?

The King and the Kingdom

May 6, 1990 AM

Matthew 6:33 But seek first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness...

Psalms 93:1-5; 97:1; 99:1

To think of God as King- to say that Jesus Christ is the King of Kings- may not have the impact that the words deserve.

[Did the children reflect our own thinking at all?] To say that God finally gets His will sounds foreign to our ears. But the Bible clearly teaches us that God is Sovereign.

The doctrine of the sovereignty of God is not particularly popular because it reveals God as God— not the servant of man's ambitions. The man or woman in the street has another deity that shouts like hell itself whenever the idea rises that there is one great, Almighty God Who has the right, by creation and by the purchase of redemption, to see that all this Universe finally does His will.

The idea of a Sovereign God does not lend itself to manipulating God for selfish reasons. And if all holiness and goodness and salvation come from Him the idea of a sovereign God removes all provision for earning salvation.

Perhaps we want to think of God as the perfect President of the perfect democracy. We have elected Him, and we can go along as we choose with His administration. If anything goes wrong, blame God!

But we didn't elect Him! From beginning to end, the Bible declares that God is sovereign, and that Jesus Christ is King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

The Bible declares a God who IS. [The late Francis Schaeffer wrote a book called, The God Who IS THERE.] What I say will not change the fact of God. What you believe God to be will not alter the objective fact of God.

Three Psalms begin with (what we could call) an Old Testament statement of God's sovereignty: "The Lord Reigneth!"

(93, 97, & 99) I use these opening statements just now as a framework on which to focus the claims of Jesus Christ as Sovereign Lord from the New Testament (and no apology!). First the statement itself: The Lord reigneth!

I. THE SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD

"The LORD reigneth!" [Jesus said: "All authority is given unto Me in heaven and in earth" (Matthew 28:18)]

A. This is present-tense truth Not "shall one day reign" ... but even NOW He is in charge.

Certainly that raises many questions. We hold God accountable for all the injustices of the world in our puny courts of logic. I do not defend God— that is as foolish as defending the sun when people throw mud at it. And I know it is a statement of faith, but I do declare: God IS and God is GOOD!

B. The LORD himself is in charge. Not some intermediate power, and not some impersonal force. Jesus declares that the authority is given to Him! It makes a difference when we pray. God cares when we speak with Him. The cry of our hearts is heard at the center of all authority.

C. To believe otherwise is to live in a pre-Copernican age, spiritually.

1. We have a God-centered universe. The Universe is not centered around ME, or around YOU— or even around the human race!
2. The universe is not here by mere chance, or chaos. "The heavens declare the glory of God," Psalm 19. The personality of man in its highest capabilities echoes the image of God ["Let us make man in our image" Genesis 1:26].

Even though the finest minds in philosophy and science cannot finally provide adequate theories to allow us to understand unifying patterns of all we can observe of creation, the Bible gives us this word which we may choose to believe: The LORD is in charge of His universe!

II. THE MAJESTY OF GOD'S SOVEREIGNTY

"He is clothed with majesty!" (Psalm 93:1) [Jesus declared: "Before Abraham was, I AM! (John 8:58)]

- A. How can we speak of the transcendent majesty of God? I pity those who cannot see His hand in the heavens. We do not worship creation. But creation speaks to us of a Creator. (Springtime of all times of the year, speaks to us of God!)
- B. The Psalmist sees God as unperturbed by the noise of many waters. He is not a figurehead ruler; the disasters and appalling happenings that threaten our very sanity are not beyond His control. (93:5) We may depend on God's WORD!

III. THE MERCY OF GOD'S SOVEREIGNTY

"Let the earth rejoice!" (97:1) [Jesus said: "I am come that they might have life..." (John 10:10)]

- A. [Majesty is not always synonymous with caring, but] THIS majestic (transcendent) One is also involved with a people which He calls His own. This great God "preserves the soul of His saints" (v10) Certainly there is MYSTERY here! But God will make Himself known to us all. If we SEEK, we shall FIND. IF we will listen, God will speak.
- B. This great God "preserves the soul of His saints." (v10) He takes care of His own!
 - 1. To say that God overcomes evil is not a simplistic statement. We may never understand all that is involved here. I sincerely believe that we do not need to become experts in evil— but true Christians are specialists in belonging to God.
 - 2. God's people are called to a clear clean separation from evil. (v 10) "Ye that love the Lord, hate evil." [It is a mark of low spiritual attainment to continually ask 'What is wrong with this?' or 'Can I do that and be a Christian?' The person who loves the Lord lives in order to draw nearer to Him. What offends the Holy Spirit offends those who are His temple.]
 - 3. The LORD (Himself) is the touchstone of that righteousness. (v 12) "Rejoice in the LORD!" Not the certainty that we are "right."

I am interested in democratic process and in doing what I can in saving the United States of America. But God is NOT American, and He is not committed to preserving our way of life as WE see fit. God may well be more interested in you than he is in any institution! If I understand the teachings of Jesus, YOU will be alive and conscious long after the United States of America is ancient history! The church of Jesus Christ will be Christ's BODY eternally! Are you in tune with that fact?

IV. THE MIGHT OF GOD'S SOVEREIGNTY

"Let the people tremble!" (99:1) (From Revelation 1:17-18) John the Beloved says "I fell at His feet as a dead man." And Jesus, the glorified Savior King lays his hand on John and says: Do not be afraid; I am the First and the Last, and the Living One; and I was dead, and behold I am alive forevermore, and I have the keys of death and of hades."

- A. The Old Testament Psalm gives us just a glimpse of God seated between the cherubim. Majestic, YES! LOVING, certainly! But staggering the earth in His holiness. He is executing judgment in Jacob. (v 4) The God who is faithful in nature and in creation ...faithful in mercy and lovingkindness .. faithful and just to forgive when we confess our sins ... is also faithful in judgment.

The first part of the New Testament is mostly about the earthly ministry of Jesus, the meek and lowly Nazarene. But that is not how the New Testament ends!

- B. All mankind shall be judged by our response to the Word Christ brought into this world, A word of love and of justice. Christ's love and Christ's justice are not decided democratically. We begin to define them and to understand them only as we come down off the throne of our own kingdoms, and acknowledge Him Lord.

Because He is King, we stand or fall in His Kingdom by our identification with Him (in FACT, and not just superficially by mental agreement). There are no part-time Christians, no compromises are accepted.

It is by our belonging to Him that He makes us His own! Anything less than a total belonging to God brings us into conflict with His great purpose. And this should cause us to tremble at this "Sovereign God."

To think of the holiness of God is reason to tremble. For there is NO holiness apart from God. ONLY God is holy! All holiness is HIS! But there is GRACE! God accepts sinners! In fact He ONLY accepts sinners!

CONCLUSION:

Why speak of this [God's Sovereignty] at all?

- A. Maybe I am doing some recruiting! It might be that to think of the greatness and goodness and holiness of God would prompt somebody here to seek repentance and a drawing near to Him.

This great King never violates your right to choose! He makes that CHOICE your privilege! By certain that your relationship with Him is right, You can join in rejoicing that God, the LORD, is King!

- B. Certainly as an act of worship! I have tried in a pitifully small way to lift up the sovereignty of God so that we might desire to exercise our highest privilege, of (ongoing) worship.

We do not have to wait until Sunday to tell God we love Him! We don't have to wait until we die to sing God's praises! Somehow I feel that when a humble boy or girl or man or woman really worships, there is an echo that sounds throughout eternity! GOD TAKES NOTICE!

A sermon about The High Road of Love, Sex, and Marriage

May 13, 1990

Ephesians 4:29 - 5:10 Let no unwholesome word proceed from your mouth, but only such a word as is good for edification according to the need of the moment, that it may give grace to those who hear. And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption.

Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and slander be put away from you, along with all malice. AND BE KIND TO ONE ANOTHER, TENDER-HEARTED, FORGIVING EACH OTHER, JUST AS GOD IN CHRIST ALSO HAS FORGIVEN YOU.

Therefore be imitators of God, as beloved children; and walk in love, just as Christ gave Himself up for us, an offering and a sacrifice to God as a fragrant aroma.

But do not let immorality or any impurity or greed even be named among you, as is proper among saints; and there must be no filthiness and silly talk, or coarse jesting, which are not fitting, but rather giving of thanks.

For this you know with certainty, that no immoral or impure person or covetous man, who is an idolater, has an inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God.

Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience.

Therefore do not be partakers with them; for you were formerly darkness, but now you are light in the Lord; walk as children of light (for the fruit of the light consists in all goodness and righteousness and truth) trying to learn what is pleasing to the Lord.

Introduction: Ephesians 4 is one of the Golden Chapters of the Bible:

I. CHRISTIANS IN RELATIONSHIP

- A. After statements of lofty principle we come to PRACTICAL GUIDELINES FOR LOVING CHRISTIAN CONDUCT. Our speech is to be uplifting (edification .. giving grace to those who hear). Our attitude is to be that of kindness and forgiveness, not bitter or angry. Our actions are to be gentle and Christlike.
- B. The key to Christian conduct is A PERSONAL CONTACT WITH GOD:(1) Do not grieve the Holy Spirit (4:30); (2) Do be forgiving as God in Christ has forgiven you (4:32); and (3) Do be imitators of God the Father (5:1), as His dear children.

II. DANGERS OF BEING DECEIVED

- A. These instructions are more than just suggestions. They have clear prohibitions attached as well:

(From the text, 5:3-5) But do not let immorality or any impurity or greed even be named among you, as is proper among saints; and there must be no filthiness and silly talk, or coarse jesting, which are not fitting, but rather giving of thanks. For this you know with certainty, that no immoral or impure person or covetous man, who is an idolater, has an inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God. That is clear enough.
- B. To be engaged in on-going breaking of these prohibitions is to sever oneself from inheritance in the kingdom of God, along with the clear warning of (5:6): Let no one deceive you with vain words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience. God expects His children to be different from people who disregard His clear teachings. God wants His children to "walk as children of light!" We are to be Dawn Treaders!

III. CHALLENGES TO ACCEPTED TEACHING

- A. A. Christians who are serious about following Jesus Christ must brace for THE CHALLENGE OF OUR POST-CHRISTIAN ERA. The "capital" of assumed piety left over from the simpler days of the McGuffey Reader has all been used up long ago.

We cannot depend on government or on public opinion. We may well see a revival of religious fervor in our time that does NOT include Christian faith. For Christian faith is not compatible with other religions. We must seek to be as loving and acceptant as Jesus Himself, while at the same time truly heed what He said: I AM the Way, the Truth and the Life. No one comes to the Father except by Me.

B. B. EVERY TENET OF OUR FAITH IS BEING CALLED INTO QUESTION. To say that we accept Bible teaching as a standard for living is to come first into ridicule and then into violent opposition. THIS IS ESPECIALLY TRUE IN WHAT WAS ONCE THE VERY HUSH-HUSH REALM OF HUMAN SEXUALITY.

C. C. SEX HAS not only come out of the closet, it has in many regards TAKEN CENTER STAGE IN THE ARENAS OF LIFE. When I began my ministry IN 1956, in keeping with the mores of the culture to which I ministered, I probably would not have used the word "sex" in a sermon. It is very difficult for us to grasp just how far we have come in down many roads in 36 years.

[It seems almost silly that there was a flap over the use of the phrase, "I don't give a damn" in a major movie. Now, so far as I can discern, there is no garbage too filthy to be spoken and shown from movie screens or theater productions and the like.

D. D. Particularly, THE PREVIOUSLY ACCEPTED CONCEPT OF SEX BEING SANCTIONED ONLY IN THE CONTEXT OF THE MARRIAGE OF ONE MAN TO ONE WOMAN IS UNDER SERIOUS ATTACK.

1. 1. Popular magazines and television sit-coms alike glamorize adultery, pre-marital sex, and all the things we used to call sin and perversion.
2. 2. The word homophobia is now being used as a bludgeon to attack anyone who disagrees with liberal lobbies. Until 1973 the American Psychiatric Association officially regarded homosexuality as a condition to be treated, an abnormality. How the American Psychiatric Association was "lobbied" is a matter of public record. Now anyone who disagrees with the idea that homosexuality is a normal, acceptable "alternative lifestyle" is accused of homophobia.

[Perhaps we ought to push a new word: homophobia-phobia. The fear of speaking the truth on any sexual matter because of fear of the opposition we will surely face. Before we were attacked with homophobia-phobia it was possible to be discuss and disagree without being considered hateful to individuals. Now all Bible-guided Christians are "bigots" and "fundamentalists" and worse.]

3. 3. A great deal is assumed about sex. To see things in the media— TV or the printed page— makes it easy to assume that what is shown or printed is the "norm." We should have enough sense to realize that just because TV makes people look happy and attractive doesn't make it so. Too much of our thinking is shaped by too few unregenerate people.

[Kinsey is NOT the final authority on sexuality, the Bible IS: [Paul Gebhard and Alan B. Johnson, in a book called, The Kinsey Data, say that Kinsey used a very large number of prisoners in his data. Abraham Maslow is quoted as saying to Kinsey that his volunteers were not representative of society. I believe Kinsey gives a distorted view of American sexual behavior and belief.]

4. 4. We must know what we believe and not be timid about teaching it to our children. The air-headed idea that children should wait until they are 18 to decide what and whom to worship and believe would be silly if the world were a spiritual vacuum, which it most definitely is NOT. If we do not know Christ ourselves, AND IF WE DO NOT INTRODUCE OUR CHILDREN TO JESUS, we will lose our children, and we won't need to wait to die to go to hell.

Already in some public schools there is mandatory sexual education where it is taught that homosexuality is a normal and even desirable appetite. [I cite Congressman William Dannemeyer, from California, who has written a book, Shadow in the Land, printed by the respected Ignatius Press, a Roman Catholic book house. Congressman Dannemeyer has been under attack himself as being "obsessed with attacking homosexuals." Just this week the Globe ran a prominent article, largely pejorative, with lengthy quotes from spokesmen for gay and lesbian organizations.

Our old, accepted, scriptural values are under attack, make no doubt about it!

IV. CALL TO CHRIST-CENTERED LOVING [Conclusion:]

- A. WE CAN HAVE CLEAR TEACHING ON LOVE, SEX, AND THE FAMILY OF GOD, if we are prepared to live in a God-centered world and reject the me-ism that is glamorized in every public medium of communication. If we will accept the Bible as God's Word, we can find sound instruction as to how to live in these troubled times.
- B. THAT TEACHING INCLUDES CLEAR PROHIBITIONS: NO sex outside marriage, and such sex is always sin, no matter how right it "feels." There are names for sex outside of marriage— ugly names that have been mostly forgotten. In this day of explicit and graphic realism we need to say those names: sex before marriage is fornication; sex by a married person with anyone other than husband or wife is adultery; sex with members of the same sex is sodomy.
- C. SEX AND MARRIAGE ARE NOT THE SAME. The symbol or token of God's dealings with His beloved people all through the Bible is not just sex, but the intimacy of marriage. God loves His people with an intimacy that has covenant commitment. The Church is the Bride of Christ, and she must be true to Him. Each Christian is committed, married to God, and TO BE FAITHLESS TO GOD IS TO COMMIT SPIRITUAL ADULTERY.
- D. Marriage is based on these four things: (1) promise. (2) exclusivity. (3) gender. "For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother, and cleave unto his wife, and they two shall be one." (4) permanence. "Until death do us part." Only as these vows be held as sacred, and as the Church and the community at large keep these uncompromisingly as the foundation for Christian marriage can society abide.
- E. But to save ourselves, and to live clean in a fallen world is not (quite) an end to our Christian responsibility in this matter of love, sex, and marriage:

WE ARE TO SEEK TO BE A REDEMPTIVE FORCE IN A FALLEN WORLD. We cannot simply ask God to help us keep our skirts clean and silently hope that the wicked world will hurry up and leap into hell. For as a matter of fact, people who are wrestling with these issues are our own loved ones.

HOW ARE WE TO THINK ABOUT "HOMOSEXUALS?" Is it wishful thinking to say that we can and must distinguish between the person and the things a person may do?

We must hold out the hand of fellowship to homosexuals, but we cannot compromise in our condemnation of all homosexual acts. There is a critical distinction between these two things.

- F. WE ARE ALL CALLED TO BE GOD'S DEAR CHILDREN, "CHILDREN OF LIGHT," DAWN TREADERS! We must first be pure ourselves, and then we can help our society in its deep need.

If you are in a sexual affair— whether adulterous or fornication or homosexual— it cannot end except badly, with people getting hurt.

But BY GOD'S GRACE YOU CAN BE HELPED, you can do the right thing, YOU CAN BE RIGHT WITH GOD! I am not preaching a simplistic, "easy believe-ism," but I am confident that God is able to clean you up, inside and out.

Our text says, in part: Therefore do not be partakers with them; FOR YOU WERE FORMERLY DARKNESS, but now you are light in the Lord; walk as children of light ! (5:8)

Listen to this (a similar) passage from I Corinthians 6: (9- 11) "Do you not know that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived; neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate [margin: effeminate by perversion], nor homosexuals, nor thieves, nor the covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor swindlers, shall inherit the kingdom of God.

"AND SUCH WERE SOME OF YOU; but you were washed, but you were sanctified, but you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, and in the Spirit of our God."

Every one of us here has done things in the past for which we are ashamed. We are sinners by birth, and have been sinners by choice. But we are called to walk with God. We are called to holiness for that very purpose- to walk with a loving God in covenant relationship. As a people, and each one in our own lives- - let us heed that call.

Shall we pray.

Anticipating Pentecost

May 20, 1990

Text: 1 Peter 4:7-19 "The end of all things is at hand... be sober and watch unto prayer..."

But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer. And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins. Use hospitality one to another without grudging. As every man hath received the gift, [even so] minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. If any man speak, [let him speak] as the oracles of God; if any man minister, [let him do it] as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy [are ye]; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified. But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or [as] a thief, or [as] an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters. Yet if [any man suffer] as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.

For the time [is come] that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if [it] first [begin] at us, what shall the end [be] of them that obey not the gospel of God? And if the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the ungodly and the sinner appear? Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls [to him] in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator. —

Peter is the writer— the 'preacher' here in this text passage. I cannot help but think that Peter had in mind the greatest prayer meeting he had ever been in when he told his church "Be sober and watch unto prayer!" He remembered when the Master had told him: "Things will never be the same again! But if you'll watch in prayer, I will come to you!" Peter was thinking of the great prayer meeting that anticipated the first Pentecost of the Church.

Since His crucifixion and resurrection, Jesus had been with the disciples- but not all the time. Beginning with His appearance to Mary in the garden and the two on the Road to Emmaus, these weeks had been a wonderful and yet solemn "mystery time" when Jesus was teaching his disciples how they really had to know Him by faith.

Sometimes I wonder if Jesus was not "commuting" during this time. He was seen of those whose faith received Him. Above 500 people at once had seen the Lord.

But now He took His beloved disciples to a hill overlooking the magnificent temple Herod had built. Below was the 'eastern gate' that He had entered on His triumphal entry seven weeks before. He blessed them, and He told them He was now going to leave them, but then He said to them: (beginning at Luke 24: 49)

"Behold, I send the promise of my Father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high." And he led them out as far as to Bethany, and he lifted up his hands, and blessed them. And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven. And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy: And were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God. Amen.

[THE TEN DAY PRAYER MEETING WAS ABOUT TO BEGIN]

I. 'THE END OF ALL THINGS IS AT HAND'

"But the end of all things is at hand: be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer..."

A. HOW NEAR IS THE END? "(v 7) The END of all things is at hand"

1. In the days immediately after His Passion Jesus had predicted drastic things ahead for Jerusalem- certainly things were not going to be the same as they were — and as a matter of fact Jerusalem would 'cease to exist' as the Jewish capital in less than 40 years! Jesus had GONE, but He had gone with a COMMISSION and with a PROMISE, an enabling promise that Peter had experienced. He wanted everyone that he knew to experience that same enabling.

So here is Peter, in later years, echoing the warning: "The end of all things is at hand! Watch unto prayer!" How is this relevant today, in 1990?

2. How can we say "The end is at hand!"? For us here and now? Isn't it only the fanatics and cranks go around saying "The end is near!"??

In every age Christians need to ponder the transience of all of life. Nothing stands still. Every relationship moves, and becomes either better or worse. But perhaps this has special meaning in this day of ours.

If we don't have cancer, and if we have a little money in the bank to tide us over.. we forget that life is transient. "AIDS" doesn't raise the mortality rate one percentage point! Wars do not finally mean that more people die than if there were no wars! NOT ONE OF US IS GOING TO GET OUT OF THIS WORLD ALIVE! [Well, one day there will be a generation that does!]

Yes, we're in this race for the long haul! Yes, we need to find God's abiding peace. But we need a sense of urgency, along with the peace that passes understanding!

- B. Every generation faces the same situation: we are on the one-way road to eternity. The end of many things is looking us in the face. It is not easy to know who is and who is not... values have been turned upside down ... frightening forces in innocent disguise are enough to make us all paranoid.

II. OUR FAITH WILL BE TESTED

(v 12) "Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you..."

- A. For some of our brothers and sisters throughout the world today this trial takes the form of physical intimidation, hunger, poverty. Mozambique, Central America, China, Albania—it takes stand-out courage to take a Christian stand there.
- B. But it may be that our testing is the hardest of all! Slowly, bit-by-bit, our values are eroded, our sacred commitments are questioned, our courage challenged in little increments. It is never easy to be loyal to God! It is often lonely!

III. OUR GOD IS ABLE TO KEEP US, AND TO CHANGE OUR WORLD THROUGH US

(v 19) "Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls [to him] in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator."

- A. WATCH UNTO PRAYER: Peter is here saying: Keep in mind the assignment— the purpose for which we are here at in the first place. Prayer is reaching out to God to receive His good promises.
- B. RECONCILE OUR HEARTS! (vv 8,9) "And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins. Use hospitality one to another without grudging. As every man hath received the gift, [even so] minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.

This was the first lesson of the ten-day prayer meeting! "ABOVE ALL!" WE NEED TO STICK TOGETHER! LOVE! HOSPITALITY!

- C. CLEAR THE DECKS! Use all the means of grace! For all our great light and blessings WE ARE ACCOUNTABLE! (v 17) "For the time [is come] that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if [it] first [begin] at us, what shall the end [be] of them that obey not the gospel of God?
- D. THE "ANSWER" THE DISCIPLES RECEIVED is the same one JOB received: the PRESENCE— and that Presence is here, now— in the sacrament of communion:

Conclusion:

Imagine with me the state of mind, the thoughts, the expectations of the disciples in that period between the time that Jesus went away and the Holy Spirit came to them with assurance and power! It was a heart-searching time between Ascension and Pentecost:

1. there was an expectancy
2. there was a seeking after unity
3. there was a commitment not to stop seeking until the Promise came! Whatever the cost, the disciples were going to pray and obey until God came!

Will you take a few moments of quiet to think and pray with me?

Are YOU willing to be that kind of Christian? [Seems rather "fanatic" somehow, doesn't it?] Think with me...are there sins? Confess them. Are there fears? Name them. Are there unsundered areas? Give them. Are there weaknesses? God wants them, too. Are there talents? Give them to God? Are there relationships? Make them subject to the Master Relationship!

Write— perhaps on a card in the pew rack— your surrender. Transfer it to a piece of money, symbolizing life. Even a penny will do. If you don't have money, just use a piece of paper.

Now, as you come to receive communion, first place your offering— of the good and the bad and the day-by-day on the collection plate, then come, receive the elements. It is NOT in payment— it is a matter of emptying your hands—to receive God's Promise.

Jesus said:

- "I died for you— to take away your sins.
- "I rose for you— to give you life eternal.
- "I pray for you— that you will receive all I have for you.
- "I am sending the Spirit to you— but watch unto prayer! Empty your hands!

Love: The Foundation for Pentecost

May 27, 1990 AM

Lesson (I John 4:7-21)

Text- John 13:34 A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you, that you also love one another. By this shall all men know that you are My disciples, if you have love one for another.

INTRODUCTION

1. This is the Sunday between Ascension Day and Pentecost, one of the great days of the church. "Ascension Sunday" is a good time to think about preparing for Pentecost. We have "Lent" before Easter, and "Advent" before Christmas. But what do we do before Pentecost?
2. Before that first Christian Pentecost the followers of Jesus Christ prayed. John the Beloved (who wrote our text) was one of the participants in the ten-day prayer meeting that preceded the great birthday of the Church. During that time of waiting the hearts of the disciples were knit together in obedience and anticipation of the Promise Jesus told them was coming from the Father. What happened then (at that prayer meeting) marked John and Peter and the others for life.

"Love one another" became the hallmark of John's ministry, and John intended that it should be the hallmark of God's people. It was John that recorded the "Great Commandment" in his gospel, (our text.)

3. John shows us that the Great Commandment precedes and forms the foundation for the "Great Commission." The kind of love which John declares is not a soft, woolly, sentimental feeling, but a positive regard for good and for light and for truth, a God-likeness that will finally change and shape the entire Universe. This love of God is the most powerful thing there is. How can we begin to describe this powerful force?

[Look into this passage with me. It is:]

I. A STATEMENT ABOUT GOD

A. "GOD IS LOVE" (v 8)

This is not a comprehensive statement about God [-it is not all that may be said of God-] but it is a conclusive statement. Whatever else God is, He is LOVE! And so love characterizes God's family. From our limited and twisted perspective, we can look at the world's pain and suffering and say "How can God put up with this? God doesn't care!" Or we could say, "God must be limited in what He can do. God is not all-powerful!"

It is a statement of faith, given credence by the Word, to say that we believe that God IS, and that God is GOOD. John says: "God is LOVE!"

John Wesley wrote these words about this passage: "God is love. - This little sentence brought St. John more sweetness, even in the time he was writing it, than the whole world can bring. God is often styled holy, righteous, wise; but not holiness, righteousness, or wisdom in the abstract, as He is said to be love: intimating that this is His darling, His reigning attribute, the attribute that sheds an amiable glory on all His other perfections."

One stanza in Frederick W. Faber's hymn, "There is a Wideness", says it very beautifully:

*'For the love of God is broader Than the measure of man's mind;
And the heart of the Eternal
Is most wonderfully KIND!*

B. GOD IS KNOWN, REVEALED BY HIS LOVE (also v 8)

John is so strong in his conviction about God being love that he says: Love is essential to knowing God in any degree! "The one who does not LOVE does not know God!" God is known by His love; somehow we come to know Him by receiving and reflecting that love.

How deficient some of us may feel as we hear this! Our capacity for pure and powerful love seems so small! How poorly we reflect such a great love! Never mind! God's commandments are also God's promises!

[But this passage is also a statement about God's people:]

II. A STATEMENT ABOUT GOD'S PEOPLE

A. GOD'S PEOPLE ARE TO REFLECT HIS NATURE (v 12)

"If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and His love is perfected in us." We reflect this love by openness and trust toward God, and by openness and fellowship with one another. God loves us, and has accepted us on the basis of grace and His own loving-kindness, and so God expects us somehow to reflect His life and His love in our everyday living.

B. THIS IS EXPRESSED NEGATIVELY HERE BY SHOWING TWO THINGS THAT ARE MUTUALLY EXCLUSIVE WITH GOD'S LOVE.

If love is the hallmark of God's people there are some things that God's love does not coexist with:

1. GOD'S LOVE DOES NOT CO-EXIST WITH THE KIND OF FEAR THAT SPRINGS FROM TRYING TO HIDE FROM HIM.

Taken in its literal language this statement ("Perfect love casts out all fear") has been carried to logical absurdity. And John does modify his "fear" statement by speaking about fear that has torment. There are all kinds of fears— fears that have no moral or spiritual implications whatsoever— fear of heights, of pain, of spiders.

And, too, godly people still have a healthy "fear of God." The immensity, the majesty, the wonder of God the Creator, and above all else, the glimpse of His perfect holiness will inspire a holy awe, which the Bible terms "fear." The Psalmist has it right: "The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever!" (Psalm 19:9) But there is a kind of fear that the love of God removes!

"God" is a pretty frightening concept in the "abstract." "God" is also pretty frightening when we think of Him only as coldly concerned with justice or holiness. The Genesis account tells us that our first parents ran from the voice of God when they knew that they had disobeyed. But that same story tells us that God sought them, and found them, and clothed them, and promised them a Savior.

When we realize how much God loves us, and when we begin to receive that love, we reflect that love and we lose the kind of fear that comes from trying to hide from God.

2. GOD'S LOVE DOES NOT CO-EXIST WITH HATRED OF OTHER HUMAN BEINGS.

We love what He loves, we hate what He hates. And that includes the most cruel form of hatred which is "un-love!" "Un-love" is that detached interest in which we view other human beings in their failures, sins and sufferings as though they were specimens in a laboratory— make observations on their motivations and their conduct, and say, "Tsk, tsk! Isn't it a pity!"

[But remember, don't despair because you feel you don't measure up!]

III. A COMMANDMENT THAT IS ALSO A PROMISE

- A. Which brings us back to John's "life emphasis": "Love one another!" It isn't original with John. It was the Savior's last commandment: John 13:34

"Loving one another" didn't come "naturally" to John! He was a son of thunder, and a seeker after "destiny." But it came. It came as John obeyed the Savior: "Love one another" is possible with God! God's commandment is also His enabling.

B. [HOW WE CAN OBEY AND FULFILL THIS GREATEST COMMANDMENT?]

Our struggle is not to love one another, or to love the unlovable; not to pretend to 'feelings' we cannot manufacture, but to MAKE GOD AT HOME— IN YOUR HEART AND IN MY HEART!

BEFORE WE CAN LOVE THE WORLD— OR EVEN BEFORE WE CAN REALLY LOVE EACH OTHER— WE MUST BE AWARE THAT GOD LOVES US! And when that reality begins to dawn on us, God's LOVE will transform us!

Before we can GIVE, we must be willing to RECEIVE! How hard it is for many of us to grasp: God knows us ... He knows our faults and sins ... and yet, if we will receive Him, He wants to make us able and fit to walk with Him. God loves YOU!

C. It is GOD'S GRACE that makes His LOVE a reality!

The world looks at what we do; and it cannot help it. The world does not care WHY we do what we do— but 'the WHY' is important to the Father, and it is everything to the Christian.

The world admired Martin Luther King (after the fact!) but it ignored and ignores the fact that HE DID WHAT HE DID ON THE AUTHORITY OF THE BIBLE.

The world admires Mother Teresa for her amazing love of the un-lovely. But what the world does not care to see is THE DISCIPLINE OF PRAYER AND DEVOTION TO JESUS THAT FIRES AND EMPOWERS THAT SERVICE.

CONCLUSION

We cannot all be acclaimed as great 'saints,' or for that matter as great anything! But we all can love Jesus and seek to obey His word. It was not a gathering of 'great saints' that made up the ten-day prayer meeting before the first Pentecost.

Remember, before that first Pentecost, from Ascension Day until the Holy Spirit came, the followers of Jesus Christ prayed. During that time of waiting the hearts of those ordinary people were KNIT TOGETHER IN OBEDIENCE, and IN ANTICIPATION

OF THE PROMISE Jesus told them was coming from the Father. As they sought to obey the "Great Commandment" they were empowered to launch the "Great Commission!"

So- (v 7) "Love one another" became the hallmark of John's ministry, and John intended that it should be the hallmark of God's people for all time. Hear these words of our Savior once more: A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another, even as I have loved you, that you also love one another. BY THIS SHALL ALL MEN KNOW that you are My disciples, if you have love one for another.

Let us pray: O God of Love:

Help us to believe that You are GOD, and that You are GOOD.

Help us to know that the ability to really LOVE comes as we accept Your grace. Help us to OBEY and to ANTICIPATE Your Promise. Make us a Spirit-Filled Community. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

Aldersgate: A New Day of Evangelism

June 3, 1990

Today is Pentecost Sunday, but also this time of year reminds us of another very significant happening. Just 252 years ago a week or so ago, May 24 1738-1990 was the anniversary of Wesley's Aldersgate-Street "heart warming" experience:

Romans 1:16,17

*"For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek. For in it the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith; as it is written: *' But the righteous man shall live by faith.'" (Habakkuk 2:4)

Introduction:

[It is hard for us to imagine a Christian faith being preached and practiced and rigidly enforced in many respects WITH NO ASSURANCE OF A PERSONAL SALVATION; and with NO CERTAINTY of going to heaven.

[But this was the norm when John Wesley began his ministry two-and-a-half centuries ago in England. It was like a new dawning when this priest in the Anglican Church began to proclaim that we could be saved by responding to God's grace—that God's prevenient grace was extended to all who would receive it— AND THAT WE COULD KNOW THAT WE HAVE PASSED FROM DEATH TO LIFE.

[TO MY MIND IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW THE HISTORY, THE STORY OF THE WESLEYS. There is nothing quite so predictable and at the same time unique as the rising of the sun. It came up at exactly 5:45 a.m. here in Boston today, although no one in Boston saw it because it is cloudy and raining. No one doubts it came up- - for it is daylight. And not very many people cared about the exact time, although technically at 5:44 it had not yet risen, and at 5:46 the sunrise was history.

The rising of the sun was preceded by light, growing almost imperceptibly from total darkness to full gray daylight. The exact beginning of the light just before sunrise is almost impossible to trace with the naked eye, and varies with the atmosphere, and, in fact, with the latitude. In equatorial latitudes dawn and dusk are brief and darkness and light occur with surprising suddenness. In polar regions twilight lingers.

Sunrise, for the people called Methodists, and many others, including the holiness groups, dawned when one man of God discovered for himself that we could be saved and we could know it! John Wesley's heart was strangely warmed at 8:45 p.m., Wednesday, May 24, 1738. Let me tell you about the dawning of that sunrise, as I understand it, and of the clouds or fog that obscured some of the light in the dawning of that sunrise.

The story of Wesley's search for assurance is fascinating, and quite well documented:

He was born into a poor clergyman's home, and from an early age had the conviction that God had his hand on his life.

Cutting the story short, in 1725 he was ordained a priest in the Church of England. The Aldersgate experience marked a high point in his experience after 13 years of disciplined living in the priesthood:

There are some mis-perceptions about his up-bringing: He did have a godly mother— but with no teaching of assurance, for Susannah Wesley herself only came to know assurance September 3, 1739, more than a year after Aldersgate!

Certainly in his seeking after God and God's will Wesley held nothing back. He was in earnest— and if works would bring salvation and assurance, Wesley would have been saved over and over again.

But there came to the Wesley brothers the slow persuasion that salvation is by faith alone. They slowly began to know the relinquishing of the 'wealth' of acquired righteousness. On Whitsunday, May 21, 1738, Charles Wesley believed and was assured of his salvation. The following Wednesday John Wesley followed his younger brother.

[Look with me at this experience of the assurance of salvation:]

I. THE EXPERIENCE OF SALVATION

GOD HONORS THE HUNGER AND THIRST FOR HIM THAT HE PLACES WITHIN US, BUT THERE IS A PLACE, ALSO, FOR US TO ATTEND TO THAT HUNGER

- A. THE INNER PERSUASION: there was an instant of sun-rise (SON-rise!). Here are Wesley's own words:

5/24/1738

"In the evening I went very unwillingly to a society in Aldersgate-Street, where one was reading Luther's preface to the Epistle to the Romans. About a quarter before nine, while he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation: And an assurance was given me, that he had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved me from the law of sin and death."

- B. But this new assurance was NOT a simple, cloud-free sunrise; and it was NOT unchallenged, emotionally. I have read many, many accounts of Wesley's conversion. I do not recall any that go on with what immediately follows in his Journal. Here is the very next paragraph, on that same meeting in Aldersgate:

Wednesday , 5/24/1738

"I began to pray with all my might for those who had in a more especial manner despitefully used me and persecuted me. I then testified openly to all there, what I now first felt in my heart. But it was not long before the enemy suggested, 'This cannot be faith; for where is thy joy?' Then I was taught, that peace and victory over sin are essential to faith in the Captain of our salvation: But that, as to the transports of joy that usually attend the beginning of it, especially in those who have mourned deeply, God sometimes giveth, sometimes withholdeth them, according to the counsels of his own will."

[Then, later that same day, after he had gone to his own home, he wrote:]

"After my return home, I was much buffeted with temptations; but cried out, and they fled away. They returned again and again. I as often lifted up my eyes, and He 'sent me help from his holy place.'

Then, the next day after the 'sunrise' come these words:

Thursday 5/25/1738

"... the enemy injected a fear, 'If thou dost believe, why is there not a more sensible change?' I answered (yet not I,) 'That I known not. But this I know, I have 'now peace with God.' And I sin not today, and Jesus my Master has forbid me to take thought for the morrow.

"'But is not any sort of fear,' continued the tempter, 'a proof that thou dost not believe?' I desired my Master to answer for me; and opened his Book upon those words of St. Paul, 'Without were fightings, within were fears.' Then, I inferred I, well may fears be within me; but I must go on and tread them under my feet.

And the next day:

Friday 5/26/1738

"My soul continued in peace, but yet in heaviness because of manifold temptations.

Sunday 5/28/1738

"I waked in peace, but not in joy."

Monday 5/29/1738

"I was often tempted to doubt."

Why am I telling you this, to discredit Wesley? Far, far from it! Wesley's usefulness to God and the kingdom are beyond question. But I am bringing this to your attention so that you can see that the greatest exponent of 'know-so salvation' came to his own assurance by way of doubts and struggles and extreme honesty, as well as by dint of single-minded desire to live for God and with God!

- C. Wesley thus had both sympathy and advice for others; as well as the insistence that none be satisfied short of the witness of the Spirit;

Monday November 19, 1739

"I earnestly exhorted those who had believed, to beware of two opposite extremes, -the one, the thinking while they were in light and joy, that the work was ended, when it was just begun; the other, the thinking when they were in heaviness, that it was not begun, because they found it was not ended."

II. THE PRACTICE OF GODLY LIVING

GOD USES THE LIFE THAT HE INHABITS, BUT HE IS MORE CONCERNED WITH FAITHFULNESS THAN HE IS WITH THE 'BELLS AND WHISTLES' OF OUR EMOTIONS

- A. God honors those who hunger and thirst after righteousness. John Wesley was a seeker!
- B. Wesley was led as he obeyed . . . not by human programming, nor by deliberate design; although this did not keep Wesley from being as methodical and as well-disciplined as he knew how to be: a round-robin circuit of all Britain, year after year.
- C. God begins to use JW in preaching out in the streets and fields, and a revival begins while preaching in a prison:

Thursday 4/26/1739

"While I was preaching at Newgate (a prison in Bristol), on these words, 'He that believeth hath everlasting life.' I was insensibly led, without any previous design, to declare strongly and explicitly, that God willeth 'all men to be' thus 'saved;' and to pray that, 'if this were not the truth of God, he would not suffer the blind to go out of the way; but if it were, he would bear witness to his word.' Immediately one, and another, and another sunk to the earth: They dropped on every side as thunderstruck. (A spiritual awakening was on at Newgate that reformed the prison!)

Sunday 5/13/1739

My ordinary employment, in public, was now as follows: Preaching an average of 22 times per week!

[Transition: But where does this Wesley study have to do with our world on this Pentecost Sunday in 1990 in 'post-Christian America?']

III. GOD IS NOT FRUSTRATED WITH THE EVILS OF OUR AGE

BUT CAN IT BE THAT HE IS FRUSTRATED WITH THE LEVEL OF HUNGER AND THIRST AFTER HIM ON THE PART OF HIS PEOPLE?

- A. Wesley's England was at least as barbarous as our own country today! There was rigid class discrimination; there was wide-spread brutality; there were debtors' prisons and capital punishment for minor offenses.
- B. When he died Wesley had not conquered all ills— but God in John Wesley had made a difference!
- C. AND WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE! Jesus: Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled! Where, really, is our hunger? We, too, can make a difference in our world. We cannot all be John Wesley. But we can be saved and know it!

This way of living the Spirit-filled life— cannot be by dint of merit; we do not simply come to the place where we 'deserve' to be filled.

But it does not come to the casual seeker, either.

Conclusion:

Has the Sun of righteousness risen in your life, to take the central place in everything you are and do? If we were as concerned to let Jesus Christ dominate us as Wesley was, do you think we could come to the assurance that our lives are truly His? Do you believe we could make a difference?

Malachi 4:1,2 For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch. BUT UNTO YOU THAT FEAR MY NAME SHALL THE SUN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS ARISE WITH HEALING IN HIS WINGS; AND YE SHALL GO FORTH, AND GROW UP AS CALVES OF THE STALL.

Let's keep looking with FAITH for the rising of the Sun!

#190 - A Charge to Keep I Have

Is Pentecost Just History

June 3, 1990 AM

Lesson: Acts 2:1-11;

Text: John 14:23 "If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him, and make Our abode with him."

Introduction:

The story of Pentecost is familiar territory for us Nazarenes, or at least it ought to be. Seven weeks after the Resurrection, and ten days after the Ascension of Jesus back into heaven, the assembled disciples were astounded by the descent of the Holy Spirit upon them in such a wonderful way that we call it the 'Birthday of the Church.'

Nothing has ever been quite the same since.

But most of us have heard all that before. And so when we say, "What happened at Pentecost?" we know what we are going to hear before we hear it. We are told what we are supposed to need, even before we may sense any real personal need of being filled with the Holy Spirit. We are pre-conditioned as to what to expect even before we seek and find any personal experience of Pentecost.

To be exposed to the holiness teaching is for the most part very good indeed. Holiness truth helps us into the experience of full surrender plus faith that brings cleansing and power and fullness of the Presence! And yet I wish that we could come to Pentecost with "fresh eyes" and see if there are aspects of God's grace we may be missing. MUCH of what took place can never be analyzed and explained. We believe that the same Holy Spirit that came to and into the church in the second chapter of Acts still comes to live in the church today.

What does the Bible show us about the abiding Presence of God in the church and in our individual lives? WHAT HAPPENED AT PENTECOST ?

I. SENSIBLE EVIDENCES AT THE FIRST PENTECOST

[The Initial Signs of Pentecost:]

- A. RUSHING MIGHTY WIND: this signifies THE UNCONTROLLABLE NATURE OF THE SPIRIT, not that we are 'out of control, and made puppets; but He, God's Spirit, is NOT simply at our beck and call, for us to use); cleansing, powerful, breath of God Himself.

This very evidently was NOT something "private," or confined to the immediate participants. The NOISE was heard. It brought a crowd.

- B. TONGUES OF FIRE: this signifies CLEANSING. It reminds us of the awful holiness of God. God wants us cleansed so that we can come near where He is! He baptizes His servants with cleansing, powerful, fire from the altar of God.

These "tongues of fire" were evident to OTHERS, too. Each could see the other's glory, and NOT HIS OWN. Significant? It reminds us of Isaiah 6.

- C. OTHER TONGUES: this signifies COMMUNICATION! Here is intelligibility, universality, THE REVERSE OF BABEL; when man is glorified it does not 'make sense;' when God is glorified, there is communication from God to man to man; giving of the law into the very heart.

[But 'Pentecost' was more than outward and visible signs. 'Pentecost' was a time of promises being fulfilled:]

II. UNFOLDING PROMISES AT THE FIRST PENTECOST

[The mighty work of the Holy Spirit, which Jesus had promised, had now begun:]

- A. THE HOLY SPIRIT A TEACHER

(John 14:26) The Helper will TEACH you all things; and bring to your remembrance all that I said to you.

- B. THE HOLY SPIRIT LIFTING UP JESUS

(John 15:26/ John 16:14) When the Helper comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, He will bear witness of ME. He shall glorify ME; for He shall take of Mine, and shall disclose it to you.

C. THE HOLY SPIRIT CONVICTING SINNERS OF THEIR NEED OF SALVATION

(John 16:8,9,10,11) And He, when He comes, will convict the world concerning sin, and righteousness, and judgment; when the Church received the Spirit, (then) the world began to be convicted of sin!

D. THE HOLY SPIRIT GUIDING THE CHURCH IN ACTION

(John 16:13) But when He, the Spirit of truth, comes, He will guide YOU into all the truth; for He will not speak on His own initiative, but whatever He hears, He will speak; and He will disclose to you what is to come.

All these BEGAN to come to reality as soon as the disciples received the fullness of the Spirit on the Day of Pentecost.

There was no higher Lordship than that of Jesus; and when the Church received the Spirit, the world began to be convicted of sin, and righteousness, and judgment! That is still the formula!

[But Pentecost is more than history!]

III. THE OPEN SECRET OF PENTECOST:

Jesus, who went away into heaven, is with His Church in the person of the Holy Spirit. He has come to abide in His disciples' hearts.

- A. THE ABIDING REALITY OF PENTECOST ... The ABIDING Reality: God making Himself at home in the human heart. The word "abiding" has various connotations: as, - constant, enduring, eternal, immutable, lasting, permanent. To "abide" also has the connotation of 'being at home.' Of "living there!" JESUS, AT HOME IN US!

[Look again to our text for this Pentecost Sunday:]

John 14:23 "If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him, and make Our abode with him." THAT is Pentecost!

1. This abiding, so far as we are concerned is initiated by love for Jesus Christ: ("If anyone loves ME!") We do not receive the "abiding reality" if we do not love Jesus!

2. Love is genuine when it involves a desire to please: ("If anyone loves Me he will keep my words.")
3. Love for Jesus is returned: the Father responds when we seek to be like Jesus. ("My Father will love him")

B. The result: "WE" will come to live with the one who loves Me!

My heart God's HOME! "... My Father will love him, and We will come to him, and make Our abode with him." GOD AT HOME IN YOU AND ME! THAT IS THE HEART OF PENTECOST!

Conclusion:

In our holiness tradition we give great importance to the experience of heart holiness. We (have a clear 'formula' which we use: we) understand that consecration plus faith will bring the fullness of the Presence! And WE DARE NOT STOP SHORT OF THIS EXPERIENCE!

We must have the fullness! We must know the blessing! But the EXPERIENCE is vitally connected with our RELATIONSHIP- the way we think about God, and act toward Him! We say: "What has God DONE for you?"!! "Do you have the EXPERIENCE?"!! And sometimes we talk as if the EXPERIENCE was something like a "thing" or a "gift" that we can have in and of itself.

The way into EXPERIENCE is by RELATIONSHIP! The question is not so much, "What has God DONE for you?" but "Who IS God to you?" It is not so much asking God to GIVE us something— but asking God to help us LOVE HIM, AND GIVE OURSELVES TO HIM! And then God gives Himself, His Presence, to us!

Jesus said: "If you LOVE Me . . . WE, the Father and the Son, by the ministry of the blessed Holy Spirit, will come to you, and live IN you!

Prayer: Lord Jesus, Make it so! Amen

#63 EH I'd like for us to close with a song by Paul Gerhardt, a German; one that John Wesley thought so much of that he translated and rhymed it into English: Jesus, Thy Boundless Love to Me

or #39 Spirit of Faith, Come Down or #267 Spirit of God, Descend

A Word of Encouragement

Summer Prescription for Renewal

June 10, 1990

John 15:1-17

The only thing wrong with the summer is that it is too short!

All too soon all the things we hoped to do, and all the books we hoped to read, and all the leisure time we hoped to spend re-charging our emotional batteries will be history!

But one thing I do hope the summer brings to us all is a little perspective- a little spiritual refreshing. All too many people see their religious duties as just that: chores! So summer vacation is a time to escape from things spiritual. I am really sorry if that is how you look at the summer. It just could be a time when you spend extra time in joy and fellowship with your very Best Friend! God wants to help us get His perspective— to grasp His great Peace, and to experience His great loving-kindness for us, each one.

The promises of God can give us reference points, to help us see where we've been, and where we are, and where we're going. They can help to hold us steady in the winds of success or adversity. Perhaps you have your favorite promises. Promises like: Proverbs 3:5,6; and I like Galatians 6:7,8 ("...be not weary in well doing...")

Instead of just a "promise," I would have us consider a whole "passage" as a reference point today. This whole passage is worthy of life-trust: (John 15:1-17.) A highlight is verse 7 "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you." The truth here, of shared life with Jesus, is a frame of reference for a summer of renewal- and for a lifetime- the fact that we are chosen of God! The initiative for LIFE is with HIM!

I. I HAVE CHOSEN YOU (v 16)

- A. GOD HIMSELF HAS CALLED US! We come to know God because He makes Himself available to us. We did not simply set out and "find God." God found us!

God called Adam in the cool of the day; He calls to every person who truly will listen. Sometimes we say in our arrogance: "I found God." And so we did; but in reality God was seeking us all, each one.

OUR 'FINDING GOD' IS ALWAYS A RESPONSE TO HIM, TO HIS LOVE.

As Jesus spoke to the disciples that night, each of them may well have thought back to when he first met Jesus. For each of the disciples was "called." Do YOU remember when you first responded to Jesus? For before WE could RESPOND...we had to be "CALLED!" Jesus said, "You have not chosen Me, but I have chosen YOU!"

GOD HAS CALLED, IS CALLING EACH ONE OF US!

- B. But to be CALLED is not exactly the same as being CHOSEN! Jesus also spoke these words: (Matthew 22:14) "MANY are called, but FEW are CHOSEN!" It is not enough that God loves you, and that Jesus comes where you are and calls for you to follow! THAT does not make you one of the "chosen," not quite, yet!

[The Rich Young Ruler came running to Jesus. Jesus LOVED him (Mark 10!) and invited the rich young ruler to "Come, follow Me!" As far as Jesus was concerned, He wanted the rich young ruler to be "chosen." But there was lacking that element of obedience! He was unable to part with his "things." The CHOSEN are those who hear and heed and follow and keep on following!

To be among God's CHOSEN, there must be a willingness to follow Jesus! A choosing to OBEY Him! (John 7:17) "If any man is willing to do His will, he shall know..." It is NOT 'salvation by works. But we ARE chosen, when we are willing to leave all, and follow after Jesus!

II. I AM THE SOURCE OF LIFE (v 1, 5)

- A. Shared LIFE with Jesus. Here is the figure of the Vine and the branches...one we need to return to again and again. WHY? Because the Vine and the branches share ONE LIFE!

We do not receive LIFE and then proceed to go away and do with it as WE will. But forever we are to be in close connection with Jesus Christ.

- B. Perfect freedom comes from being 'ONE WITH JESUS!' THE PARADOX: Jesus is saying: "YOU ARE TIED TO ME/YOU ARE TOTALLY FREE"!

This is the "heart" of the message, right here:

1. ABIDE IN ME! REMAIN IN ME! KEEP THE CONNECTION TIGHT!

Seems like "conditional love."

Seems very much like it is not very adventurous!

The life of a grape-vine branch! Indeed!

If we do not learn to ABIDE...if we do not WAIT ON THE LORD...if we do not learn the secret of this obedient "passivity," we shall never learn the FULL SCOPE OF LIFE IN CHRIST!

2. ASK WHATEVER YOU WILL IN MY NAME, I WILL DO IT!

The other half of the truth of the paradox: A sense of complete liberty! Freedom to be what you were intended to be!

Keep ON sharing life in Me! "Be being filled with the Spirit!"

(Ephesians 5:18.) This intended to be an on-going, never-ending relationship.

III. I HAVE CHOSEN YOU...TO BEAR FRUIT (v16)

BE ASSURED! Jesus is interested in YOUR full potential! Fruit! Fruit that will last! Last—how long??

[What are the results of a lifetime of work without the eternal dimension? There is more, or less, satisfaction in all work, depending on various factors of usefulness, beauty, demand, and the like, BUT all such work will decay. Even the pyramids will cease to be!])...but the promise is: THE CHOSEN WILL BEAR FRUIT IN THEIR LIVES THAT WILL REMAIN...LAST...ABIDE! [Illus: what has been achieved in "things" vs. "people"—the physical work, flooring, on the building of Akron 1st (in 1949) or the helping of a family to get back together (Barry & Paula)—which lasts longer?]

Fruit that is UNIQUE to you! What YOU were made for is fulfilled!

IV. THE FINAL WORD: LOVE EACH OTHER!

- A. I love YOU—that's why I have chosen you! Be sure of that!
- B. You love ME! Good! That's the way it must be!
- C. But more and more—SEEK TO BREAK DOWN THE WALLS OF INDIFFERENCE AND...LOVE ONE ANOTHER! [This NOT irrelevant to the rest of the message! We cannot be all WE should be individually apart from loving one another!]
 - 1. The 'kiss of peace' and the like is one thing, but at best it is superficial. Is it possible to really have a desire to be of help to one another?
 - 2. Perhaps it would be better to extend a hand of help— seek to do it as a regular thing
 - 3. My prayer is that each sincere heart might find a prayer fellowship; seek "accountability."

[Conclusion:]

This passage, or one like it from God's Word, is worthy of being a "lifetime passage!" It says: HERE IS THE RELATIONSHIP ON WHICH WE BUILD OUR LIVES!

Another way to look at it is 'Lining up our lives by the "THREE GREATS" of Jesus' teachings:

- 1. We're familiar with THE GREAT COMMISSION . . .and that is the "fulfillment" here: bearing MUCH fruit (Matthew 28/ Mark 16:15 Go ye...) John 20:21 AS THE FATHER HATH SENT ME, SO SEND I YOU! But the Great Commission cannot be realized unless and until the Church is heeding
- 2. THE GREAT COMMANDMENT: in this passage here: (v 12,13 This is my commandment, that ye love one another!) John 13:42 A NEW COMMANDMENT GIVE I

UNTO YOU, THAT YE LOVE ONE ANOTHER AS I HAVE LOVED YOU. And yet in a very real way, both THE GREAT COMMISSION, and THE GREAT COMMANDMENT are dependant on another "great!" For Jesus has give to you and to me

3. THE GREAT PROMISE! The promise of the Holy Spirit! If you are at all alive in God, you have the Holy Spirit! But to be filled with the Spirit is our privilege, and the heart of God's promise of renewal.

[Illus: When D. L. Moody was being considered for a city-wide revival (perhaps in London) the pejorative question was asked: "Does Mr. Moody have a monopoly on the Holy Spirit?" The reply was, "Of course not! But it seems that the Holy Spirit has a monopoly on Mr. Moody!" That is approaching what it means to be filled with the Holy Spirit!]

John 7:37: If any man thirst let him come to Me and drink. He that believeth on Me, as the scripture saith, out of his inmost being shall flow rivers of living water. (But this spake He of the Spirit, which they that believe on Him should receive!) (16:7 If I go away, I will send Him unto you!)

There we have them . . . the great PROMISE! . . . the great COMMANDMENT! . . . the great COMMISSION! Our assignment for the summer! Have a re-creating time— and seek to let God flow into us in renewal and refreshing by His Spirit!

I Will Extol Thee O Lord

October 14, 1990

Psalm 30:1 I will extol Thee, O Lord, for Thou hast lifted me up, and hast not let my enemies rejoice over me.

Introduction

This is a Psalm of thanksgiving to God because He has brought the Psalmist David through a time of deep trouble. Just what the trouble was this time, the Psalmist does not say. But David was certainly no stranger to trouble.

One reason that the Psalms have such great appeal to us all, why we find it easy to identify with David, is that in the Psalms we often find expression of our deepest, inmost feelings: David feels good for whatever reason- and he says so; he feels anguish for whatever cause- and he says that, too.

From time to time I can identify with both his highs and his lows. Can't you?

[Some of the "lows" David knew he brought on himself, by being careless, or disobedient, as when he numbered the people against the best advice of his counsellors, or when he backslid into the grievous sins of adultery and murder.

[Some of the "lows" David experienced came when he was being perfectly obedient to God, doing what he was supposed to be doing and yet he looked trouble in the face, as when Saul sought to kill him.

[And I like to think that some of the "lows" came because David was Jesse's son, and Jesse may have been a dour Geordie or a somber Presbyterian Scot by nature. I think I know a bit about that, too.]

Whatever the reasons for David's "lows," he refused to simply accept them as inevitable or normal. David fought them! In I Samuel 30:6 it is written that David was "greatly distressed," but also that "David encouraged himself in the Lord!" Then, after God had lifted him, and had come through to bring him victory and joy, David recited over and over to himself, and to everyone and anyone who would listen, about how great God IS to hear and to come to the aid of those who cry to Him in their distress.

I. LIVING IN OPENNESS BEFORE GOD IN THE STORMS OF LIFE

- A. The storms of life, the "hard places," come to every one of us. And yet when those challenging times come they usually seem to surprise us. We do not think that any low places ought to be in our life.

David reflects this tendency for us to deny, (in verse 6,) when he says: "I said in my prosperity 'I will never be moved!'" I'm wiser now! I've had troubles before, but I'll never have trouble like that again.

Or, "I'm a Christian— so I should never even be tempted to be depressed." And yet in spite of our personal theology, of what and how we think, the "low times" come to us all!

- B. It is true that depression can follow sin or moral failure and breakdown. God has forgiveness and restoration as well as healing when this happens. But there are other causes for depression as well:

Some of the storms that shake us are related to the "passages" of life. Growing up, or growing older— facing new experiences— any and every form of cultural change brings a threat to the comfort of the status quo. Every move that a family makes brings about inevitable cultural clash. Every promotion at work, or demotion, for that matter, every adjustment we have to make brings an emotional price that we have to pay.

Physical illness often brings emotional depression, and with it a feeling of spiritual emptiness. Many kinds of disappointment leave us vulnerable to what David was feeling. Friends let us down. A job we wanted doesn't materialize. Family misunderstandings cause concern and even anguish and grief.

- C. But even though we may have said, like David, "I said in my prosperity 'I shall never be shaken!'"—this can't happen to me— when we wake up to find that it HAS happened, we need, like David, to say so! To admit to ourselves, and especially to God, "I need Your help! Show me where I'm wrong, if I am— but help me!" God hears such praying!

II. THERE IS A GOD WHO HEARS US IN THE MIDST OF THE STORM

- A. God hears your prayer! David testifies here (verse 2) "I cried unto Thee, and Thou didst heal me!"

What I am telling you this morning, on the authority of God's Word, is that God loves us, and knows us, and that God hears every prayer that we pray, even in the middle of a storm of life!

- B. Every situation is unique! But I also need to say that there are very few 'textbook experiences.' We want to be insulated from the harsher sides of reality, and avoid pain at all costs, and live without strain or ruffled feathers. But then when the storms come we begin to realize that what we talk about may well be true, but also we find we know very little in actual experience.

[I recall a mini-storm that took place many years ago in another state. I was up in the wee hours with a couple undergoing severe problems. As a young pastor I was challenged to my depths and beyond— and I would be severely challenged by the same problem today!

[But the irony I felt most keenly that night was that I had recently written, and had had published, words of comfort that came to me in accusation during those hours of extreme stress: "You wrote about God's sufficiency! NOW you are feeling stress! You are a hypocrite!"

- C. [Well, I wasn't a hypocrite! But I was sure paying my dues! It is a comfort to know that someone else has weathered such a storm— usually!]

God works in His own mysterious way! What I am trying to say here is: We need to be careful HOW we speak for God! He is a very real Friend in our need! But I do not own Him. You do not have a corner on Him. He knows better than we know what our friends can bear, and what they need. And He does come through! Every time! God does not abandon those who trust in Him!

III. DELIVERANCE BEGINS WHEN WE HAVE THE ASSURANCE GOD KNOWS

- A. Be assured God knows! The enemy's tactic is to convince us we are isolated, alone— and not even God hears or cares to hear!
- B. Do not despise providential means! Often our deliverance comes along avenues of Providential guidance. God expects us to use what resources we have. It is useless to pray for help on an exam when we have never cracked a book in study.

{Illus: A religious man in flood time looked to God for deliverance. The waters came to his front door, and a boat came by with the invitation to ride to higher ground and shelter.

"I'm trusting the Lord!" said the brother with a smile.

Soon the waters were even with the second story, and another rescue boat came by his bedroom window. He waved it off- "I'm trusting in the Lord!"

But the waters came higher yet, and he climbed to the roof and then sat on the chimney. A helicopter pilot saw his plight, and a sling was lowered. The man gritted his teeth and waved the helicopter away: "I'm trusting the Lord!"

After the waters swept him and his house away in total loss, the man opened his eyes in the glory of heaven. He asked the Lord immediately, 'Didn't You hear me praying?"

"I sent you two boats and a helicopter!" was the Reply. More truth than humor in this story! }

- C. In all honesty, some times there is literally nothing more that we know to do, and still we are swept by the storm.

Psalms Now puts it this way: "There are times when I feel God's anger, but even then I know His concern and love for me remain eternal. And my nights of despair resolve into the dawn of new joy."

It pays, in times like these, when we don't know what to do, to hang on in the confidence that God does love us, God does hear us, and God will never abandon us. God will come through!

(Conclusion)

IV. THE BENEDICTION OF THE CONFESSIONAL LIFE

- A. The benediction I have been using this fall— "Humble yourselves...Casting all your care upon HIM, for He careth for YOU!"— comes from I Peter 5. I would like to read the entire short paragraph from which the benediction has been taken.

I Peter 5:6-11

Humble yourselves. therefore, under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you at the proper time, casting all your anxiety upon Him, because He cares for you.

Be of sober spirit, be on the alert. Your adversary, the devil, prowls about like a roaring lion, seeking someone to devour.

But resist him, firm in your faith, knowing that the same experiences of suffering are being accomplished by your brotherhood who are in the world. And after you have suffered for a little while, the God of all grace, who called you to His eternal glory in Christ, will Himself perfect, confirm, strengthen and establish you.

To Him be dominion forever and ever. Amen.

- B. This benediction tells us that there is a part we play in the fight against bitterness and despair. We can cooperate with God's grace! "Humble yourselves!" You need the mighty hand of God! And here's how:
- Be vigilant; don't expect an uncontested pathway to glory
 - Be resistant. This is a fight of faith. Don't give in to fear or despair or bitterness.
 - Be patient. There will be suffering. But it will pass.
 - Be Present to God! for GOD HIMSELF IS AT WORK IN YOU!

I Will Extol Thee O Lord

- C. Finally, our thanksgiving takes the form of a confessional statement. Back to the text: I WILL EXTOL THEE, O LORD!

This "confession" can begin even while we are in the struggle! It is effective there!

Confession is more than part of repentance and conversion, although it is that. Confession is even more than living in openness before God, although it certainly is that, too. Confession is more than a formal prayer to say every time we come together in worship. A confessional statement says:

This is MY God! I belong to HIM! HE does not exist for MY convenience, but rather, I EXIST FOR HIM!

But my God does not abandon His children, ever, ever, ever!

The Call of Jesus to Rest

October 21, 1990

Luke 6:20-26; Matthew 11:28

Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

Introduction

Jesus had a way of turning things 'upside down' when He spoke. He said things like "Blessed are the poor" and "It is good sometimes to mourn." His words are...

I. A CHALLENGE TO OUR VALUES

['Things' do not truly satisfy.]

Just think what He said:

- A. "Blessed poor" "Happy hungry" "Hopeful mourners" ... we are familiar with the Beatitudes— but when we look at them again and again we wonder again, "What could this mean?"

Jesus certainly was not glorifying poverty. But somehow we get the message that life is bigger and richer and more holy than the things we often fill our days and nights with.

And, too, Jesus was not your run-of-the-mill 'power-of- positive-thinking-type guru. Jesus never taught "All things work together for good!"

- B. There is a negative side to truth, as well as a positive. There is death as well as life. There is blessing, yes. But there is also woe. Jesus taught that it is vitally important how we choose to order our lives, and what or whom we place at the center of our lives.

The message of the gospel of Jesus Christ is the fact that through God's love and grace we have...

II. A CHOICE OF LIFE CENTERS

...and a choice between blessing and cursing, ...and a choice between rest and turmoil of spirit.

- A. The first word Jesus taught His disciples to PREACH was "Repent!" "Turn!" "Change course!" Why? "Because the kingdom heaven is near at hand!"
- B. The kingdom of heaven is a mystery! It IS here already! Jesus is in charge! And yet it IS COMING! Jesus is NOT in charge in the same way that one day- perhaps sooner than any of us think- He SHALL be!
- C. This kingdom is what Jesus is talking about when He says: "Blessed!" His kingdom is for people! His kingdom is LOVE! ("Love your enemies! Pray for them that despitefully use you!")

But this kingdom is also militantly against SIN! That is why Jesus also said: "WOE!"
- D. Much of the religious community that passes for the Christian church is spread over a spectrum that goes from a damnable complacency with a legal, literal, mental conversion on one end of the scale to a militant worship of purely human values and wisdom at the other end.

Both the extreme fundamentalist and the Christians who reject the authority of the Bible share one common thing: they demand to be in control of their own religion or lack of it. They lack the poverty of spirit, the mourning for sins, the purity of heart that Jesus tells us is necessary to truly see God.

It is to these people— people with all the answers— that Jesus pronounces His woes:

The militants who would re-write the Bible are shocking:

The militant feminists have spoken of traditional worship of Jesus as "christo-fascism." The respected scholar Richard John Newhaus quotes a teacher at a divinity school here in Massachusetts as stating that the doctrine of the atonement, the cross, represents "the sadomasochism of Christian teaching at its most transparent." And a further quote: "Is it any wonder that there is so much abuse in modern society when the predominant image or theology of the culture is of 'divine child abuse'- God the Father demanding and carrying out the suffering and death of His own son?"

The militant free-sex people, who tell us that Bible values are out-dated, are attacking the authority of the Catholic church, probably because many bishops are bold to denounce adultery, abortion, as well as homosexual promiscuity, and not too long ago interrupted a mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral, a violation of guaranteed civil rights as well as everything sacred.

But the complacent fundamentalists are in danger, too:

It is true that we are not saved by what we DO. But it is also true that Jesus said over and again that we shall give an account of how we live this life. And if our faith in God, and our commitment to Jesus doesn't go deep enough to have any effect on the way we live, we are in danger of the same eternal damnation that waits for the out-and-out Christ rejecters!

Whatever "brand" we give ourselves as Christians, we must learn that we cannot EVER separate the kingdom of God from the Present, Living, Reigning KING! That is why Jesus taught as no one else ever taught. He didn't merely teach "lessons." He taught HIMSELF! Instead of talking about rest, Jesus said "Come to Me— and I will give you rest!"

[Jesus still extends to all who will hear!]

III. A CALL TO PERSONAL TRUST IN HIM

- A. We are so "intellectually" or "scientifically" biased that we think that the most important thing about faith is to get our "facts straight," to be theologically correct. And I certainly want to be correct; to be orthodox.

But there is a different measuring stick that Jesus will use in the Day when He divides the nations! THAT SELECTION WILL BE ON THE BASIS OF WHETHER OR NOT HE KNOWS US! OF WHETHER OR NOT WE KNOW HIM!

The Call of Jesus to Rest

There will be people there on that Day who are as orthodox as the King James Version, who will be absolutely out of touch with what is going on; and there will no doubt be people WE would consider flaming liberals who have lived under the Lordship of Jesus Christ. There is no substitute for that PERSONAL relationship with Jesus! The word is: "COME UNTO ME! I will give you REST!"

- B. "Rest" does not come through ignoring the stress of the day, and it certainly does not come through trying to compromise with it.

The only finally unbearable and intolerable burden is sin. The only inescapable tyrant is the unsublimated, undisciplined self.

- C. Jesus spoke these words in troublesome times. The common people who heard Jesus preach were mostly poor people in a middle- eastern country occupied by a foreign power. It is hard for us to imagine the bleakness of their outlook, or the extent of their physical poverty. Still, Jesus promised them rest unto their souls.
- D. Jesus spoke these words in the framework of choice. You come, and I will. You choose not to come, and I will not. Rest is connected with deliberately coming to Jesus. Just because you hear me say these words does not necessarily mean that you hear Jesus calling you. Your hearing has to be mixed with faith. But if there is any kind of spiritual desire for rest, and if there is a willingness to acknowledge Jesus as Lord, you have the possibility of making that choice!

PRAYER:

Lord Jesus, We press into Your promise for the Rest You have promised! We seek to draw near to YOU! Help us, each one, to know how to approach You, from where WE are, to where YOU are - in Jesus' name. Amen.

Confession of Faith

November 4, 1990 PM

Acts 24:14-16

CONFESSION OF FAITH (Communion Service)

Introduction:

"But this I admit to you, that according to the Way which they call a sect I do serve the God of our fathers . . ." Paul, on trial for his life, admits to being a believer. If we were on trial for being Christian, would we have enough evidence to convict us?

I. BELIEVING

(14) "Believing everything that is in accordance with the Law, and that is written in the Prophets;"

FAITH is the first word that comes to us, usually, as we think about what it means to truly be Christian. Believing begins with that indescribable inner persuasion or confidence that we are in contact with truth.

God has spoken in the Bible.

We have to make a judgment as to whether or not we shall believe that the Bible is God's Word. There is some sort of continuum from obscurantist mouthing on one side to deconstructionist ranting on the other, and these have a thread in common that they both would deny, which is an over-weening desire to have human control of the material.

But whether unlettered or profoundly prepared, we come sooner or later to the radical watershed: is this or is this not God's own Word, His own revelation concerning Himself, and concerning sin and salvation, and the Incarnation and the Cross and judgment to come?

How we decide has momentous consequence for life now and hereafter. Believing is the action of faith. Faith centers around the cross, of what Christ has already accomplished for us in bearing our sins so that we might be free from the accursed load.

It is a tragic thing to lose one's FAITH. To be able to believe is a GIFT. Think about that! Not obscurantism- deliberately ignoring facts to believe what someone else tells you; but choosing to believe that God has spoken! It is not a matter of authority: "If any man will do His will, he shall KNOW of the doctrine" John 7:17. Faith is more a matter of volition than it is intellect! Better, it is a matter of the whole person.

II. HOPING

(15) "Having a hope in God, which these men cherish themselves, that there shall certainly be a resurrection of both the righteous and the wicked."

HOPE is not the weak word we render it in common English usage. It the trust of faith turned around and looking into the future. Hope is what makes life worth the living. And living hope comes from believing the heart of the Gospel which is the resurrection of Jesus.

Hope is not a vague and fuzzy belief in reincarnation. Resurrection is a continuity of personality, and Paul mentions resurrection both of righteous and wicked. This hope speaks of accountability for the power to choose. (Matthew 24)

III. OBEYING

(16) "In view of this, I also do my best to maintain always a blameless conscience both before God and before men."

LOVE is the final word in living Christian faith, and it is incomplete without it. Love gives the necessary course correction to live out faith and hope in a constantly changing scene. Paul says here that it is necessary to maintain a good conscience—it doesn't just happen.

To speak of working at the job of pleasing God and keeping a pure and tender conscience is not a word for unbelievers. We don't talk "how" before we talk "what"

and "why." But with those who already know and serve God, we are eager to prove our love by seeking to do those things that enhance our relationship with God and with God's people, as well as that enable us to carry forward the mind and work of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Are you (am I) — are we Christian as Paul said that he was?

The Cornerstone of Faith

"Jesus is Lord of All"

November 4, 1990 AM

Luke 14:25-27; John 6:66

Introduction

The course of the public ministry of Jesus is just the opposite of what we might normally expect a life's work to be. The American Dream is that we start out small with big dreams, and through hard work and applied skill and intelligence we grow and grow until we make it to the top. The ministry of Jesus is upside down and backward to this ideal blueprint of success. Early on Jesus experienced evident acceptance and success as thousands followed after Him. After three short years He was all alone, on a cross.

I. WHY WAS IT, DO YOU SUPPOSE, THAT THOUSANDS CAME AFTER JESUS?

- A. Jesus spoke the common man's language. People understood Him. He talked about baking bread and taking care of sheep. He talked about fields of flowers and lost coins.
"Never man spake like this Man..."
- B. Jesus had the common touch. He loved people. He loved children. He loved Samaritans. He loved, in a pure and holy way, women, who were downtrodden (and still are very much in the Middle East.) He loved rich people. He loved the poor. People understand the common touch.
- C. Jesus IS God. The Presence is a mysterious power that at once attracts and repels. God is LIGHT! Light is attractive, but it also reveals and can ultimately blind. God is LIFE!
- D. There were genuine THRILLS in following Jesus. Miracles happened. Loaves/fishes. Healings. The assumed promise of a new kingdom NOW. "Perhaps Jesus might fulfill MY dreams and wishes."

But this popularity did not last. Jesus did not raise false hopes or feed selfish ambition, and fairly early on in His ministry people resigned from His campaign in crowds. Finally He was threatened, and arrested, and endured a mock trial. Then He was crucified.

II. WHY WAS IT, DO YOU SUPPOSE, THAT MANY 'WENT BACK AND FOLLOWED HIM NO MORE'?

A. Jesus had a distinct and demanding set of values. They contradicted those values commonly accepted. From the beginning Jesus said (although He was not heard at first): "My kingdom is NOT of THIS WORLD!" Jesus taught (that):

1. It is more blessed to give than to receive.
2. The truly GREAT must be TRULY SERVANTS!
3. He taught that HUMILITY is a virtue. His "ME-generation" didn't want to hear this, any more than our own ME-generation!

Jesus was out of step with the values of a world that rejects the authority of a heavenly Father God.

B. Jesus demanded a LOYALTY that was ABSOLUTE. It could never be Jesus AND... It could never be Jesus, BUT... The choice must be clean and simple. Look at the stark words of our text.

"If anyone comes after Me, and does not hate his own father and mother and wife and children and brothers and sisters, YES, AND EVEN HIS OWN LIFE, he cannot be My disciple."

Jesus is not preaching hatred, but He is saying that He will brook no rivals for the Lordship of our hearts and lives!

Still, if Jesus had stopped with just saying "Hate your father and mother" He might have kept a lot of those who left Him. But Jesus went on to say "Hate your own life also!" The hard part is that we must give up the lordship of our SELVES! We give up the right to order our lives to Jesus, and Jesus alone.

[It is still the test for heresy: Any system of trust that ultimately says "Jesus and.." or "Jesus, but . ." to that very extent is NOT Christian!]

C. Jesus demands a personal involvement(from John 6:) "Eat my flesh..."

A sincere, sober, intellectual agreement that Jesus speaks the truth is good, even necessary. But far beyond intellectual belief is the demand of Jesus: Follow Me! Get close to Me! See what makes Me tick! Learn to LOVE Me! And do what I tell you!

Can I leave what I am doing, NOW!, to be with Jesus, and do what He says, go where HE goes, BE what HE would have me be?

Can I make Jesus Christ all my hope and righteousness? Can I trust His sacrifice- His BLOOD- my only plan of salvation?

Can you see how this was the WATERSHED DECISION TIME of Jesus' ministry?? From THAT time many left Him!

III. WHY WAS IT, DO YOU SUPPOSE, THAT SOME STAYED WHILE OTHER LEFT?

A. Surely everyone felt both the attraction and the repelling. Those who left had felt the attraction; and those who stayed must have felt the sting of challenge to their own self-sovereignty.

B. This dilemma, why some are saved and others are damned, is not a modern question. But it is an eternal question. The modern mind does not accept guilt or sin as a fact. But it is as much a fact of existence as a round earth and a blue sky.

1. We can deny the realities of heaven and hell. The dilemma is solved by modern minds by refusing to believe that there is any need to be saved; by refusing to accept the authority of Jesus; by denying the reality of sin and hell.

But we have to re-write the Bible to accept this. To say "God is too good to send anyone to hell" or "Hell is right here and now" sounds philosophical and sophisticated. But it contradicts what Jesus plainly said.

2. We can seek to side-step choice. The dilemma was 'solved' a few centuries ago by some Christians by saying that it was pre-determined who would leave and who would stay.

Granted, we have a paradox, a mystery, when we speak of God's Sovereignty and man's free will. But the Bible says "Whoso ever will may come!" The Bible gives us reason to hope that no one is simply shut out of heaven because he or she is not among a select, elect group, and nothing to be done about it.

[I would reverently approach this mystery by saying that:]

- C. The Word of God invites each of us to make a choice. We have an awesome God-given power, the power of choosing our eternal destiny. Paraphrasing Augustine, "Our wills are ours, we do not know how, but they are ours so that we have the ability to agree with God, to make our wills belong to HIM!"

Conclusion:

A Very Human Insight: Jesus was God. But Jesus was also very Human. He loved His disciples very much. And He believed they loved Him, too. But what he had laid out as the demands of His LORDSHIP, and of PERSONAL INVOLVEMENT had become a WATERSHED, a division for time and eternity. John 6:66 says that from that time of CHOICE, "many turned aside and walked with Him no more."

This was a moment hard to describe in the lives of Jesus and His disciples. Jesus turned to them, as the crowds melted away. When He spoke it was quietly, and with great feeling: "Will you also leave Me?"

It was then that Peter spoke up: "Lord, to whom shall we go?" It was Peter as recorded in another place who said, "Lord, You are the Christ!" Peter speaks for me!

We have all felt the drawing, attractive power of Jesus! Have you been challenged by the high and noble.

We have all also felt the challenge of the relentless singleness of Jesus' purpose! He keeps boring in on our motives and our attitudes! "WHY are you following Me?"

And the question is. at the most basic, radical level: WHO is Lord? Whatever the cost, have you thrown in your lot with Him? to:

1. 1. Make His sacrifice on Calvary the only atonement for your sins? Your ONLY sacrifice, your ONLY hope of heaven?
2. 2. Make Jesus LORD without reservation? Accept the value system of Jesus for the rest of your life? Take your orders from HIM, even though it means cutting away all rivals for His authority? "Hate your father and mother" seems so cruel. But be assured that Jesus did not come to destroy families, or any other worthwhile relationship in life. But relationships will destroy YOU if you let them or any other good or even holy thing take the place which only GOD can hold in your heart and life.

I challenge you to say with Peter: "Lord, We will follow YOU! You have the words of eternal life!"

A Psalm of Renewal and Revival

November 11, 1990 PM

On the Sunday evening before special services dedicated to renewal and revival, it is good to turn to one of the Prayers of David and let him help us express and focus our need and our desire.

Psalm 40

This Psalm speaks both of "waiting" and of "seeking."

It is good and right to actively seek God, and most of the time way we well may know how to go about seeking Him. But even when we are seeking God, we need to admit that in reality God is the active party in any genuine renewal. Before we sought God, He was seeking us! Before we were thinking of Him, He was thinking of us! Our renewal always begins when we decide to listen, to be quiet, to wait for God, Who is already speaking.

David tells us that he waited patiently for the LORD; and God turned and heard him. This Psalm is full of certainty and praise! Incidentally David tells us what every believer needs to receive:

I. THE NEED FOR A FIRM PLACE TO STAND . . .

(2)"He ... gave me a firm place to stand." "He set my feet upon a rock..."

There are some things that we know that do not need to be proved. But in the profusion of learning, and the explosion of knowledge in our day, many people have lost their spiritual certainty. And then they cannot regain it by listening to the same people that introduced them to God, because they are listening to human explanations, or obscurantism, or anything except listening to God!

Still, however it is lost, it is a tragic thing to lose spiritual certainty! It is a tragedy when all you have is a slippery slope or a miry pit of destruction when you need solid rock on which to stand! I'M TALKING ABOUT SPIRITUAL CERTAINTY! KNOW-SO SALVATION! IS IT STILL POSSIBLE IN 1990?

I don't know quite how to say this: I alluded to it in the sermon this morning, in that Rev. Tom Nees says he never has to prove God's existence or the reality of sin in the ghetto. We would say in our arrogance that the reason is because they are not as educated or sophisticated as we are. 'If they knew all that we know, etc. '

I'm glad for the study of epistemology, that study of how we know. It is humbling to realize that even in the common ideas of life, we hardly ever all see things the same, and probably none of us is ever "right" about the details of the facts.

What this means is when I talk to you about GOD, and explain Him, I can never be sure that (1) I am right, or (2) that you hear what I say the way I meant it; or (3) that if you do what I say it will make any difference in your life.

But there is all the difference in the world when God talks to you through me, or by any means that He has at His disposal— and you are listening— and when God gets through to you. When God speaks, and you hear— you can take it to the bank!

People who have been "talked into" cheap grace, and who never "wait patiently for God" may wonder about the "knowing" aspect of salvation. Call it a witness. or call it assurance, we need to know God, and know that we know God. It is possible today! But we have to get this firm place to stand on God's terms!

II. THE NEED FOR A NEW SONG TO SING . . .

(3)"He put a new song in my mouth"

A "revival" that simply beats us around the ears with new "oughts" and "shoulds" is something I can do without. I can recall many times as a lad when all I got out of revival was the scare of my life. And I even remember a few since I have been pastor where I wondered if anyone else felt as guilty as I did.

But I would like to remember the joy of first love of God; I would like to do more than stand against the evils of our day, I would like to be so full of the love of God that "Many will see and fear and put their trust in God."

I suppose (I think) that cheerless and dull gray religion is better than none at all, especially if there is any spiritual life at all in it. But somehow the very first casualty in the process of slipping away from God is genuine JOY!

We do not have any lack of religious excitement, or interesting seminars, or things to do to keep busy for the Lord. But David says that when he waited on the Lord he began to sing again! The song had left, evidently, but God gave David a new song of praise! The world can be changed by a people of God that are singing His new song of praise!

I'M TALKING ABOUT JOY, NOW! WE GET IT BY WAITING PATIENTLY (INTENTLY, ON PURPOSE) FOR WHAT GOD HAS TO SAY!

III. THE NEED FOR A TASK THAT DELIGHTS

Yes, there are things that we must leave in order to follow after Jesus. [Some people didn't hear me quite clearly a week or so ago when I spoke of 'leaving all to follow Jesus.' I did NOT say that Jesus would require us to sell our homes and follow Him. But I did say that there must be a willingness to leave all in order to be near Him.] I suppose there are some "sacrifices" that are necessary.

But clearly the Psalmist isn't into long-faced, sorrowful lists of things he has given up.

(6) "Sacrifice and offering you did not require" he writes "but my ears you have pierced." He goes on, "Burnt offerings and sin offerings you did not require. Then I said, 'Here I am, I have come— To do Your will, O God is my desire (delight!); your law is within my heart.'"

Many scholars believe that the "ear piercing" has to do with the ceremony prescribed in Exodus and again in Deuteronomy when a slave was being set free, and he didn't want to leave his master's house. When a servant became a love-slave his ear was pierced, and he became a permanent family member; his "ear was pierced."

Romans 12:1 makes provision for believers to become "love- slaves" of God— to say, make me Your servant forever! I delight to do Your will, O God!

CONCLUSION:

What I am trying to express, or to let God express to me and through me this "revival eve," is the possibility that we can raise our level of the experience of spiritual reality if we will wait "patiently" (intently, on purpose) for our God.

You are some of the best people I know. I do not un-Christianize any of you. But again and again we need to break through to refreshing and reviving in the Lord.

And while the "waiting on the Lord" sounds passive, it needs to be done deliberately. It is obvious that we cannot "schedule revival" and say to God:

"All right now, Sovereign of the Universe, between Tuesday and Sunday of next week we would like You to bless us up a little— not too much, now— because we have very full schedules. But bless us enough to keep us out of hell, if there is one, and make us real nice people, and bless our relationships and keep us pretty comfortable. Amen"

But perhaps we can say:

"Lord God, We walk through whirling mists and hear shouting voices. Please help us make sure our feet are on the solid rock.

"And, Heavenly Father, We are full of causes and agendas and burdens; please help us remember the old songs of praise, and, if You would, give us a new song of praise that will lift us toward You.

"And, Lord, Help us to love You so much that serving You will be our delight and our joy!

"You have promised that if we seek You we shall surely find You! With the Psalmist we pray, 'May all who seek You rejoice and be glad in You!'

"We will do our best to clear the way to begin this week. You come as You see fit, for we wait patiently for You. Turn to us, and hear our cry! In Jesus' name, Amen."

Things that Matter

November 11, 1990 AM

Colossians 1:9-18

Why Do We Schedule Special Meetings?

Times have a way of changing. Churches change. You are not the same person you were last year. But what about our responsibility and relationship with God? Has that changed, too?

A textbook on pastoral ministry starts off with a story about a group of people who lived on a treacherous seacoast. They formed a band to rescue people when their vessels were shipwrecked, as often happened there.

The little band acquired a lifeboat, and built a small life-saving station on the shore. The building became the center of their lives, and between storms they spent a lot of time in good fellowship together.

After a while their little station became inadequate for the social times that developed. They built larger, and furnished more lavishly. Soon it actually it seemed a shame to bring half-drowned sailors in where they dripped all over the rug.

The life-saving station had evolved into a yacht club. Another little band down the beach had to take over the life saving chores.

A church can be like that. The basic purposes for which we exist can sometimes change. There is nothing wrong with fellowship on purpose. Still, we need to step back from time to time and ask ourselves,

- 'Why are we here as a church?'
- 'What is important to me as a Christian?'
- 'What do I really want for my family, my children, in the next year, five years, or ten?'

The special emphasis, the special services of revival this week, are opportunities for us to stop and pay attention to things that matter.

I. THINGS OF THE SPIRIT MATTER

A key verse: Ephesians 4:32 "Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you."

- A. A. The vital things of the spirit are not necessarily those things that consume the most time. We cannot be in church, or even in postures of devotion eight hours a day. We do have to work and prepare meals and go about the everyday tasks of life and living. Still, the things of the spirit permeate the rest of life, and determine what the true quality of that life shall be.

It is legitimate that we make a living. There is no sin in paying attention to things. It is right that we sacrificed to build a church building and maintain it; it is a tool. It is right that we take on the added burden of helping an inner-city ministry center get off the ground. But all these things are not ends in and of themselves; they are means to a more important end.

- B. The vital things of the spirit are not necessarily even the highly visible or spectacular spiritual qualities we have come to honor and value. The "Love Chapter" says it best: everything, even everything GOOD, is worth nothing unless it is dominated, shot through, permeated by genuine love!

It is possible to be accepted as spiritually gifted and still not be like Jesus. It is even possible to be active in spiritual concerns and not be tuned in to what Jesus Christ really wants to do in this world. Selfish ambition and pride and jealousy are not limited to the world outside the church. Thank God for gifts and gifted people. But we need to remember that real spiritual growth is often almost imperceptible.

- C. What really counts? Perhaps only God can persuade us that things like ACCEPTING RESPONSIBILITY ... and LEARNING TO PRAY ... and BECOMING MORE AND MORE LIKE JESUS... that these mark real achievement.

The things that matter most always have to do with love. Love for the LOST.
Love for the CHURCH. Love for the LORD of the church.

Things of the SPIRIT matter! Also ...

II. THINGS OF THE KINGDOM MATTER

But how can we see "kingdom things?" What gives us discernment to know what is and is not important in the kingdom of God? Another "key verse" might be Romans 14:17: "For the kingdom of God is NOT meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost!

- A. Righteousness is an essential! OUR LIVES MUST BE CHANGED! We must live a separated life! Unless we have settled our own sin problem we can never hope to rescue others trapped in guilt and sin. We do not see a world in need and simply plunge in to do good deeds.
- B. Peace is vital! WE HAVE TO BE AT ONE WITH GOD! Peace is perhaps the most attractive thing in the world. We keep the TV on all the time ... we need the constant influence of music. We try to fill all the silences, the 'dead space' in our days, and often it is because we do not know the wonder of PEACE!

But PEACE comes as a result of being right with God, and learning to be at home with Him, in Him.

- C. Joy in the Holy Spirit! THE FORGOTTEN INGREDIENT! Oh, from time to time we have flashes of God's JOY. That is wonderful. But it is Christ's legacy to us— and when we pass from the purely negative into the positive side of the Christ life, He intends for us to experience this JOY as a way of life!

III. THINGS WHICH MATTER CENTER IN JESUS CHRIST

(We've 'arrived' finally at our text:) Colossians 1:9-18

- A. Paul prays that we shall KNOW GOD'S WILL. How do we make certain that we are in God's will? Certainly it IS vital, important!

Tom Nees left Washington, D.C., First Church of the Nazarene ten years ago to pastor in the ghetto of inner city Washington. This in itself is some kind of testimony to the reality of God's leading, for Tom Nees has flourished as a Christian and as a Christian influence in the last ten years.

One observation Pastor Nees has made in his ministry to his 'new parish' is that WHERE LIFE IS REDUCED TO ESSENTIALS, PEOPLE DO NOT HAVE TO BE PERSUADED ABOUT THE THINGS THAT MATTER! In the more affluent suburban church pastors spend much time and energy trying to prove God exists, and that sin is personal and devastating!

Our schedules and our comparative wealth can bring us to a practical complacency about the really IMPORTANT things! We can be INSULATED FROM LIFE ITSELF!

B. PAUL CHALLENGES US: IN EVERYTHING, CHRIST!

A Christian newsletter [National and International Religion Report] stated last week that religious fervor is spreading among U.S. soldiers in the Saudi Arabian desert. A Marine officer told National Public Radio that service personnel were being immersed in a makeshift baptistery made from a plastic tent container. Christian radio broadcasts are being beamed in from Southern Lebanon.

If that is true, and I believe it is, it took a massive interruption of normal schedule to bring spiritual matters to the attention of those who now see what really matters.

What will it take for us to be able to say that in EVERYTHING Jesus Christ shall have undisputed first place?

Prayer:

Not just a nod of the head, O Lord, but a total surrender of all our lives! Help us to put YOU first today, and in all the days and hours of our lives. Amen.

#326 Jesus Calls Us

Hope Thanksgiving for the Future

November 25, 1990 AM, Christ the King Sunday

Revelation 22:1-21

Introduction

Today marks the end of the traditional church year. Next Sunday we start all over again with Advent. In some traditions the church year just "ends." In others the last Sunday is called "Christ the King Sunday." In my own mind it is a good time to peer ahead into the unknown, to the One Great Day in God's calendar that we do not know how to celebrate. [Thus, the scripture 'describing' the Throne, the Presence of God]

A few years ago some Nazarene ministers were discussing the pros and cons of observing the church year, and one said, "It seems like going around in circles to me." But another replied, "It is more like ascending spirals to me." The way that we worship and pray ought to connect with reality. Real life is going somewhere. Faith that works must keep us connected with the realities of two worlds. We cannot afford to let go of either world. The connecting link between this world and the next is called "hope."

WHAT GOOD IS HOPE?

I. HOPE MOTIVATES

The Hope of a Destination

Life is finding ourselves on a voyage upon which none of us asked to embark. But here we are, sailing from a mysterious beginning to an as yet unknown destination.

There is just one power or capability that makes us willing sailors on this fascinating voyage. That thing is the power of hope. Hope in an ultimate destination perhaps, or at least, hope that we shall make some rewarding stops along the way, keeps us going. Only hope overcomes despair.

I have been thinking about two very contrasting journeys at sea:

One was actually taking place 270 years ago right now. A little ship was nearing its destination after a long and very difficult voyage. It could not be called a pleasure trip in any sense of the word. There were deaths, and at least one baby was born during the weeks and months it took to reach the New World from Plymouth, England. The people on board were looking for a place that they could call home, a place to live. In the next four or five months half of them would die. Fifty-one would survive the first year and make a beachhead in the wilderness. Evidently the rigors of the voyage and the extreme hardships of that first winter were, to their mind, worth it all.

The other voyage took place three years ago. Helen and I flew down to Miami, and got on board a luxury ship, Song of America, for a seven-day cruise to nowhere, just for the fun of sailing. (And it was fun!)

It is almost obscene to mention the two ocean voyages in the same breath. But somehow in the unpalatable contrast is a mini picture of the extremes with which we can view this matter of life and living. For the Pilgrims, destination was everything. On a Caribbean cruise, rest and relaxation was the whole purpose. [Obviously, I don't believe that is wrong, in its place; actually, the cruise was a tenth anniversary gift from YOU!]

I'm not just sure how to apply this contrast of sea voyages. I am not suggesting that we do have to sail to heaven in cramped, smelly, storm-tossed quarters, and that trying to make the voyage as enjoyable and rewarding in its own right as possible is carnal and worldly.

But genuine HOPE reminds us that life is going somewhere. It tells us that (as Jesus said in Luke 12:15) "life does not consist in the abundance of the things which we possess." Many a wealthy, well-adjusted, self-satisfied sinner, as well as many a miserable, self-righteous church member is headed on a cruise into hopelessness. Only HOPE keeps us headed toward the celestial city at any cost!

WHAT GOOD IS HOPE?

II. HOPE PURIFIES

Hope keeps us clean even as we pursue the goals it inspires.

Being Christian means living in a good and holy tension between life as it is, and as it will be, between what we are now and what one day we shall be.

"We are even NOW children of God, " John tells us (I John 3:2), "but when the King appears we will be made like He is."

Then he says: "Everyone who has this HOPE fixed on (Jesus) purifies himself, even as He (Jesus) is pure."

[Coming back to the Mayflower (was it all that turkey I ate on Thursday?)—] Not everyone on the Mayflower was there because of Christian hope. And hope, or the absence of hope, made quite a difference, indeed.

In the cramped spaces between decks the passengers and crew lived, and sometimes died. Helen was reading aloud to us this week some of the journals of the Mayflower voyagers. The sailors cursed one another as they got sick and died; they selfishly grasped what they could of the dead men's possessions. In contrast, the Pilgrims cared for one another, and reached out in love to the unbelieving crewmen when they could. We have deconstructed and criticized all old Christian journals and writing; we have put our own modern meanings into their long-dead mouths. But the fact remains, that those who had a vision of God's will for their lives had love that manifested itself in the hard times of life.

A vision of heaven; the possibility of being near to God; be HOLY because I AM holy.

WHAT GOOD IS HOPE?

III. HOPE ENTERS THE UNSEEN

Hebrews 6:19 This hope we have as an anchor of the soul, a hope both sure and steadfast and one which enters within the veil.)

The classic figure for HOPE is ... the ANCHOR. Hope is that which enters into the unseen Holy of Holies, and somehow makes the connection between this world and the next.

Those unfamiliar with boats and ships and sailing may think that an anchor is not important. Almost an afterthought. Every mariner knows that it is a vital piece of equipment, and that many times his very life will depend on the quality of his anchor.

When storms buffet and the waters are treacherous, the standard procedure is to anchor and ride out the gale. If the anchor won't take firm hold there is the danger of being blown onto shoal and being broken into pieces.

But how do we find this reality in HOPE? We find a personal assurance only in knowing JESUS CHRIST! Edward Mote wrote these words: "My hope is built on nothing less than Jesus' blood and righteousness..." "

IV. HOPE CENTERS IN CHRIST THE KING

What good are these words from Revelation 'describing' heaven- this collage of words depicting a city of light and crystal rivers and trees of healing leaves— What good are they, in light of the end of the Church year? What do they say to us of the NATURE OF OUR VISION? How do they go about CLARIFYING THE VISION we have, and SHARPENING OUR HOPE?

The message of Christ's kingdom MUST be eschatological. The whole New Testament is about the coming kingdom of God! But we must always be eschatological without being other-worldly! IT IS PROPER TO SPEAK ABOUT "KINGDOM" (The THRONE!)

CHRIST THE KING MADE IT HIS THEME: Jesus spoke often of the kingdom.

Matthew 4:23 Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospel of the kingdom."

Mark 1:14-15 "Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of God and saying, 'The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand.'"

Luke says that preaching "the good news of the kingdom of God" as the very purpose for which Jesus was sent into the world." (Luke 4:43)

BUT WHY "HOPE?" (WHY NOT JUST BETTER LIVING NOW?)

Because the Kingdom is here. And yet the Kingdom is Coming.

I Corinthians 15:24, 28 "Then comes the END, when He delivers up the kingdom to God the Father, after abolishing every kind of domination, authority, and power ... and when all things are thus subjected to Him, then the Son himself will also be made subordinate to God who made all things subject to Himself, and thus God will be all in all."

The biblical message is a mix of PRESENCE and PROMISE! The GOOD NEWS of the kingdom is that the promised future is in some manner, some way at work in the world today.

Some THING decisive has happened. But the consummation of redemption is still in the future as we understand time.

The collage-picture of heaven— a future reality, where we shall prove the reality of God's promises— IS A PROMISE OF HOPE. But REVELATION IS ALSO A PANORAMA OF PRESENT POWERS AT WORK.

So- what good is it to live as citizens of two worlds? What good is "hope?"

Wesley H. Brown told the story at an Evangelical Round Table, about Martin Luther King, SR. Daddy King was visiting the Holy Land. In Jerusalem he was asked to speak to a small group through an Israeli interpreter. Upon finding out there were some Arabs also present, Rev. King insisted that he be interpreted into Arabic as well. There he stood, said Mr. Brown, with one arm around an Israeli, and the other around an Arab. Brown wondered what in the world he would say. For five minutes this little black Christian pastor talked from his heart about the love of God that he had found through His Son, Jesus Christ. His hearers were profoundly moved.

Hope Thanksgiving for the Future

Out of the sorrow and tragedies of his personal voyage, Daddy King spoke of the HOPE that made life make sense for him. And it spoke powerfully in what we view, humanly, as a hopeless situation.

We have come to the end of another church year. Next Sunday we begin again with Advent. But it is the reality of HOPE that keeps life headed somewhere. That HOPE can enable each one of us to let Christ the King speak through US the word of HOPE in this world that needs it so very much!

Prayer: #92 The Solid Rock

Make Way for the Coming King

December 2, 1990

Matthew 21:1-11

Introduction:

This scripture, of course, describes the 'Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem.' We rightly associate it with Palm Sunday and springtime. But this is also an Advent scripture: it contains the essence of what Advent is all about. The message of Advent is that GOD HIMSELF ENTERS INTO HUMAN AFFAIRS. Beyond all human control or manipulation, and yet also in a way which is somehow revealed by words of prophecy, GOD COMES TO WHERE WE ARE!

Zechariah, the Old Testament prophet wrote the words: "BEHOLD!—'Can You Believe it!'— See, Your King comes to you!" That is the heart of the message of Advent! The KING OF KINGS visits us! And ADVENT is for us, now, just as much it was in the darkness and spiritual silence of Zechariah's age, or as it was before Jesus was born in Bethlehem. It is every bit as true now as it was when the hosts on Mount Olivet shouted "Hosanna!"

I. ADVENT MEANS GOD MOVING ONTO THE SCENE

"Look! Your KING comes to you!"

- A. God's coming means "HOPE." God is headed into LIFE and into JOY and into LOVE, and He wants His people to go along with Him.

"HOPE" is a key part of prophecy! When we think of 'prophecy' we have been conditioned to think of "foretelling" and "prediction." As soon as the Persian Gulf crisis began to escalate the Christian bookstores and the fortune-telling industry began a boom in sales! The Late Great Planet Earth has had new editions printed, and anyone who pretends to see into the future has people who want to listen.

Make Way for the Coming King

But genuine prophecy is not so much foretelling as it is the forth-telling of the fact that God is going somewhere and taking His people along with Him.

B. God's coming means LOVE. The story behind our text is first of all a statement of great kindness, and gentleness, and love. The Son of God borrowed the unbroken colt of a donkey, and riding down Olivet's hill in the utter humility and veiled majesty and compassion that only Jesus could combine, Jesus underscored for all who will see His willingness to enter into life where meek souls will receive Him.

C. God's coming always means MYSTERY. "Hope" enters the UNSEEN! Beware of religious people who know too much! Remember, these are "boom days" for the predictors! But be warned, when it comes to Bible prophecy, anyone who clears away all the mystery is a quack!

Some self-proclaimed "prophets" jump on the latest current events and deal in these mysteries as if they have a special pipeline from God. For 70 years prophecy geniuses have recognized Russia as the great Bear of the North sweeping down to destruction in Armageddon.

Now instead of tearing up their charts in shame, they are simply using "white-out" and inking in "Saddam Hussein" and "Iraq" as the Anti-Christ forces.

God thinks too much of His church to give key messages to a few people to make big bucks with it!

That reminds me of one more thing about God's coming to us: D. God's coming means JUSTICE!

Prophecy is not to satisfy man's curiosity. It is to vindicate a just and holy God. And while prophecy is HOPE and LOVE and all those good things, this is NOT to say that prophecy is all kindness and sweetness! Prophecy is also clear warning! Prophecy always declares: JUSTICE IS GOD'S THING!

Have you thought about JUSTICE very much? Do you know that straight and impartial justice isn't all that exciting if God expects to judge US by HIS holy standards?

It is one thing to think "Give those evil Arabs a taste of JUSTICE, Lord!" But do we really want God to visit all this whole earth with JUSTICE? Do WE want to receive from God what we deserve?

Prophecy never simply says that God is for "US" and against "THEM!" Prophecy says that the KING, when He comes, will deal with EVIL and INJUSTICE!

It would be good not only to highlight Zechariah 9:9, but also to ponder Zechariah 14:4, when this same King comes again to this same Olivet! It isn't the "American Dream" that is coming; it isn't the Roman Catholic OR Protestant OR Great White Spirit that is coming. Advent means that GOD IS MOVING ON THE SCENE! BEHOLD, YOUR KING COMETH UNTO YOU!

Advent means God is coming on the scene. But why is He coming? WHO is God coming to visit?

II. ADVENT MEANS THAT WE ARE VISITED

See, Your King comes to you!

- A. Here is where WONDER breaks in! Wonder is perhaps the most cherished aspect of the Advent-Christmas season. The Story itself is full of wonder: the Star, the Magi, the giving and the bells and the children and all the rest. The Story lends itself to appreciation of the very best qualities of human existence.
- B. WONDER BORDERS ON INCREDULITY! As we grow older, and our perspective lengthens and our horizons expand by light years, the wonder becomes almost unbelievable, unbearable. Why did God choose earth? Let me tantalize you with just a fragment of fantasy from C.S. Lewis:

Once upon a time a very young angel was being shown round the splendors and glories of the universes by a senior and experienced angel. To tell the truth, the little angel was beginning to be tired and a little bored. He had been shown whirling galaxies and blazing suns, infinite distances in the deathly cold of interstellar space, and to his mind there seemed to be an awful lot of it all. Finally he was shown the galaxy of which our planetary system is but a small part. As the two of them drew near to the star which we call our sun and to its circling planets, the senior angel pointed to a small and rather insignificant sphere turning very slowly on its axis. It looked as dull as a dirty tennis ball to the little angel whose mind was filled with the size and glory of what he had seen.

"I want you to watch that one particularly," said the senior angel, pointing with his finger.

"Well, it looks very small and rather dirty to me," said the little angel.

"What's special about that one?"

"That," replied his senior solemnly, "is the Visited Planet."

"'Visited'?" said the little one. "You don't mean visited by- -"

"Indeed I do. That ball, which I have no doubt looks to you small and insignificant and perhaps not overclean, has been visited by our young Prince of Glory." And at these words he bowed his head reverently.

"But how?" queried the younger one. "Do you mean that our great and glorious Prince, with all these wonders and splendors of His Creation, and millions more that I'm sure I haven't seen yet, went down in Person to this fifth-rate little ball? Why should He do a thing like that?"

"It isn't for us," said his senior, a little stiffly, "to question His 'why's,' except I must point out to you that He is not impressed by size and numbers as you seem to be. But that He really went I know, and all of us in Heaven who know anything know that. As to why He became one of them . . . how else do you suppose could He visit them?"

The little angel's face wrinkled in disgust.

"Do you mean to tell me," he said, "that He stooped so low as to become one of those creeping, crawling creatures of that floating ball?"

"I do, and I don't think He would like you to call them 'creeping crawling creatures' in that tone of voice. For, strange as it may seem to us, He loves them. He went down to visit them to lift them up to become like Him."

The little angel looked blank. Such a thought was almost beyond his comprehension.

"Close your eyes for a moment," said the senior angel, "and we will go back in what they call Time."

While the little angel's eyes were closed and the two of them moved nearer to the spinning ball, it stopped its spinning, spun backward quite fast for a while, and then slowly resumed its usual rotation.

"Now look!" and as the little angel did as he was told, there appeared here and there on the dull surface of the globe little flashes of light, some merely momentary and some persisting for quite a time.

"Well, what am I seeing now?" queries the little angel.

"You are watching this little world as it was some thousands of years ago," returned his companion. 'Every flash and glow of light that you see is something of the Father's knowledge and wisdom breaking into the minds and hearts of people who live upon the earth. Not many people, you see, can hear His voice or understand what He says, even though He is speaking gently and quietly to them all the time.'

"Why are they so blind and deaf and stupid" asked the junior angel rather crossly.

"It is not for us to judge them. We who live in the Splendor have no idea what it is like to live in the dark. We hear the music and the Voice like the sound of many waters every day of our lives, but to them— well, there is much darkness and much noise and much distraction upon the earth. Only a few who are quiet and humble and wise hear His voice. But watch, for in a moment you will see something truly wonderful."

The Earth went on turning and circling round the sun, and then, quite suddenly, in the upper half of the globe there appeared a light, tiny, but so bright in its intensity that both angels hid their eyes.

"I think I can guess," said the little angel in a low voice. "That was the Visit, wasn't it?"

-from New Testament Christianity

If Bethlehem is true then our God does not measure values simply in vastness or duration. If Bethlehem is true then the wonder begins to dawn of just how valuable we are to God, if He would come to us!

- C. One other sobering thought: If Bethlehem is true, then so is Apocalypse! If we let God into our world at all, then God will have His way. If we do NOT let God in, then perhaps He will let us have OUR way!

Advent means God on the scene; and that means AWE and WONDER- - and that means GOD IS HERE!

III. ADVENT MEANS A PRESENCE TO WORSHIP

See, Your KING comes to you!

If the KING truly comes— then what is our response? Well, it isn't always what we would like to have people think we would do for the King of Kings. For—

- A. We debate. Do the loyal subjects of the king call themselves Catholic or Protestant? Are we to follow Calvin or Wesley? Shall we roll our trousers? Do we dare eat a peach?

If the King of Kings truly COMES- how do we react? Well—

- B. We "decide:" The Lord Jesus Christ, King of Kings, Sovereign of the Universe, Babe of Bethlehem and Christ of Calvary, can have 10% of my money; can have a choice corner of our living room; can have two hours or so every Sunday except when we go on vacation— and we will also keep His Book on the coffee table all the time, even when non-Christians come to visit.

But these responses are so inadequate!

No— If the KING comes:

C. We declare: JESUS IS LORD! And then we see where the King wants to take us!

Conclusion:

We have the clear word of the scriptures, which we are free to believe or to reject:
"SEE, YOUR KING COMES TO YOU!"

He CAME to this earth! He declared the Father's glory! He defeated sin and death and hell! He promised eternal life to those who confess Him as Lord!

He IS COMING AGAIN to this earth! You can count on it!

HE IS HERE RIGHT NOW! Your King comes to you, in the Presence of the Holy Spirit, to bring HOPE, and to inspire WONDER- - but also to enable you and me to say
"JESUS IS LORD!"

Prayer:

We affirm, by Your Spirit's grace: 'JESUS IS LORD!' Amen.

Signs of the Coming King

December 9, 1990

Luke 21:34-36; 1-4; 25-28

Introduction:

Beyond the beautiful story of Bethlehem, which we believe and know and love, and permeating all the scriptures, the message of Advent is that GOD HIMSELF ENTERS INTO HUMAN AFFAIRS.

[God created humankind in His own image; God makes covenant with you and me; God in Jesus Christ came in the flesh to live among us; God is with us NOW by His HOLY SPIRIT; God has promised to return and govern us.]

In the last week of His earthly ministry, Jesus and His disciples were in the City of Jerusalem. The (Galilean) disciples were (1) fascinated by the imposing temple complex. They made appropriate (tourist-type) comments to Jesus.

Jesus (2) took the occasion to comment on transient versus eternal matters. "These mighty stones will soon cease to be impressive," He told them. "They will soon be torn down flat to the ground." What He was saying was that the things which we depend on must be more substantial than just granite and marble. Jesus turned the minds of His disciples to "final things." Then came a torrent of questions (3) (questions which we might all want to ask):

"If we can't depend on the Temple, WHAT CAN WE DEPEND ON?"

"If this is going to pass away, WHEN WILL THE END TIMES COME?" "What is important for us to know? We're listening!" And so Jesus began:

I. IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW AND TRUST JESUS

- His lesson began with three negatives; three "don'ts."

A. "Don't be deceived!" AVOID THE ESOTERIC

Jesus' first concern seemed to be that the disciples would not be thrown off the central issues of faith. Before He would "predict" anything He said "Watch out that you are not deceived!" When we focus on and begin to ask questions about 'the future' we become very vulnerable to suggestion. Particularly, we are vulnerable to those people with the loudest voices and the biggest wall charts, who know all the details.

B. "Don't be afraid!" DON'T PANIC

The second concern of Jesus was that His disciples should not live in fear of His Coming again. "Don't be deceived" is followed in the same breath with "Do not be frightened!"

C. "Don't make 'special preparation!' - DON'T EVEN WORRY When will we learn that we can't "get ready" for a Parousia— we have to LIVE ready, and BE ready— and be doing what we are supposed to be doing!?!"

It isn't that "hard times" won't come; but hard times will not necessarily signal "the end" of time as we know it. Jesus went on: "My "deliverance" may seem strange to you at first! "There will be opportunities for some of you to die for Me. But not one hair of your heads will perish!" (17 - 18) Then Jesus tried to give some perspective:

II. IT IS IMPORTANT TO KNOW THAT WORLD HOPE OR DESPAIR IS NOT CENTERED IN JERUSALEM

[Translation: We must distinguish between hard times and "end times." Hope and despair center in JESUS.]

A. EVERY GENERATION SEES TRAGEDY AND SORROW

Personal "end times" come to every individual, and every generation. "The Great Tribulation" could not exceed the horror of the Killing Fields for the Cambodians (under Pol Pot) or the Turkish massacre and genocide of the Armenians or the inhumanity of the Holocaust. But Jesus made clear that even the approaching devastation of the Temple and Jerusalem's sorrow (in 70 A.D.) was not necessarily the indication of the Great Day of the Lord.

B. THE MYSTERY OF JERUSALEM, OF 'THE LAND,' DOES NOT DISPLACE LOVE

There is honest disagreement among great and good scholars on the role of the literal landscape of that portion of the Middle East we call The Holy Land. It may be in time to come that clear signs will emerge regarding Jerusalem and Israel. Certainly we feel a kinship to the Jewish people who revere the same scriptures we do. But a simplistic approach that characterizes millions of human beings, regardless of their faith or lack of it, as sub-humans to be eliminated is not the lesson I have learned from Jesus Christ, who taught "Love your enemy." "Go the second mile."

Any voice that calls for compassion for Arabs can be construed as anti-Semitic, I suppose. We Christians ought to be pro-Semitic, but we ought to be pro-HUMAN!

C. A CALL FOR HUMILITY ON THE PART OF 'PROPHETS'

Thus, the complexity of the so-called signs we can read in the Middle East today calls for at least a bit of humility on the part of would-be prophets. We are certainly right to pray for the peace of Jerusalem. We are certainly right to defend the right for Israel to exist. We also are right in refusing to predict what we do not know. There are strong warnings about prophets who say, "Thus saith the Lord!" when God has not spoken to them at all. But that does not mean that Jesus did not say anything that day about "end times." He did:

III. (25) HIS PROMISE WAS: THERE WILL BE A UNIVERSAL MANIFESTATION

And even in this it is difficult to know what is literal and figurative; whether Jesus means the heavenly bodies we see every day, or whether He means common elements of civilization that all humankind shares. At any rate-

A. THE 'SUN' AND 'MOON' AND 'STARS' ARE VISIBLE OVER ALL THE EARTH

Jesus says there will be signs and then the Son of Man will come in a cloud with power and great glory.

B. TERROR WILL BE WIDESPREAD

Whatever these signs, these universal signals may be, Jesus says (26) that men will faint with terror and apprehension of what is coming on the world.

C. JESUS SAYS: "NOW! LOOK UP!"

But the message is clear: the people who belong to Jesus the King are NOT to consider this bad news. "When these things BEGIN to take place, STAND UP, and LIFT UP YOUR HEADS, because your redemption is drawing near."

It seems like a pretty tall order: "DON'T BE FRIGHTENED! Christians aren't any braver or smarter or stronger than any other group of people. Why should WE be unafraid when all the world seems to be shaken?

FRANKLY, I DON'T HAVE THE ANSWER! But I think I know! It has to do with what we've been talking about— of ASSURANCE— knowing Jesus in a personal way. Of PERSPECTIVE and PROMISE and of the ATTITUDE OF HOPE. God knows who His people are! He will not forget them, and simply let them be overwhelmed and lost.

IV. STRANGE AS IT SEEMS, GIVING IS NOT UNRELATED TO THIS

A. Come back with me to the first paragraph in the chapter. (1-4) Why, DO YOU SUPPOSE, is THAT stuck in HERE?

B. Jesus wasn't worried about the collection for the Temple that Tuesday of Holy Week. He wasn't condemning the rich people who gave large sums. He wasn't worried about temple finances.

But Jesus WAS watching! The poor woman who gave two mites did not escape His notice! And Jesus knows the thoughts and intents of our hearts, too! Not one sacrifice, not one noble thought escapes His attention! This poor woman who believed, and who gave her all, and who was observed by the Lord Jesus Christ is a pattern for us all! We need to be GIVERS!

Conclusion:

If Bethlehem's story is genuine, so is Apocalypse. If God ever has broken into human affairs, He is still so engaged.

If we let God into our world at all, then God will have His way. If we do NOT let God in, then perhaps He will let us have OUR way! And I could not think of anything more chillingly frightening than seeing a world where selfishness rules unchecked!

But be assured, there shall be a(n Objective) Parousia. The powers of heaven will shake, and God's people, along with all the world, will know what is happening!

Prayer: Thank You, O God, that You come into human lives. We invite You to share in every aspect of our living. We ask You to make us like You are— loving, giving, trusting. Amen

#24 EH I Cannot Tell

Questions for the Coming King

December 16, 1990 - Advent III

Matthew 11:2

Introduction

JOHN THE BAPTIST HAD NEVER HEARD OF CHRISTMAS. But if he had, he wouldn't have had much room for a Christmas tree where he was. It is hard to celebrate Christmas when you are in prison.

But prison wasn't all that was ruining John the Baptist's Christmas spirit. There was also a dreadful line-up of nagging questions that wouldn't go away.

I. CHRISTMAS DOESN'T MEAN 'NO MORE PROBLEMS'

A. John's disciples had come and told him that Jesus of Nazareth, whom John had baptized and pronounced the MESSIAH, was hardly behaving like any King they knew, coming OR going.

1. HE WAS PREACHING KINDNESS AND LOVE, AND NOT ORGANIZING DEMONSTRATIONS AGAINST THE ROMANS OR THE HYPOCRITES IN RELIGIOUS LEADERSHIP.
2. HE WAS AWARE THAT JOHN WAS IN PRISON, AND YET HE HAD NOT TAKEN STEPS SUPERNATURALLY OR ANY OTHER WAY TO GET HIM OUT.
3. HE WAS ACTUALLY EATING AND DRINKING WITH PUBLICANS AND SINNERS; HE HAD BEEN SEEN TALKING TO WOMEN AND SAMARITANS.

It was enough to cause a sinking sensation in the pit of John the Baptist's stomach.

B. DOUBTS! [These frightening sorts of thoughts present themselves uninvited from time to time. If it has never happened to you perhaps you are very fortunate. Or perhaps you have never been exposed to darkness and evil.]

1. This will be a Christmas for several hundred thousand young men and women in a far desert land which even just six months ago they could not have dreamed would ever happen.
 2. And every year Christmas for many, many people is nothing like the pictures we mail to each other on our Christmas cards.
 3. Chances are that right here this morning there are those who love the Lord, and are serving Him the best they can- but if they were very honest- they would say they were tempted to say, "Why doesn't the Christ of Christmas spread a little of His cheer around my way?"
- C. What happens When Christmas isn't all Merry and Bright? WHAT HAPPENS WHEN JESUS DOESN'T SEEM TO BE DOING WHAT WE EXPECT?
1. Would that everyone could have a Cameo Christmas, a Hallmark Christmas by the hearth, with all the trimmings! I am thankful that I have had my share of Olde Fashioned Christmases. We listened by the big Philco radio to Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." Nobody could play Scrooge like Lionel Barrymore! And somehow we had to hear Messiah, even though I didn't appreciate it then as I learned to later.

But storybook Christmases don't always happen. And strange as it seems, God comes near sometimes when circumstances get tough.

One of the Christmases I recall as "special" was in the winter of 1937 when my family was really in desperate times in the Great Depression. My father was sick in bed, and had been for months. And yet I remember it as the year I helped make ornaments for the tree of English walnut shells and string and popcorn.

I remember also the love and closeness of aunts and uncles and cousins who made sure that we were not alone.
 2. Does doubt come to good people? I mean, can a person who is really "doing it all" for God still have doubts?

Would you say that John Bunyan, who wrote Pilgrim's Progress, was a good man? Would you believe John Bunyan ever wrestled with doubts? Listen to something John Bunyan wrote:

"Of all temptations I ever met with in my life, to question the being of God and the truth of His Gospel is the worst, and the worst to be borne. When this temptation comes it takes my [girdle] from me, and removes the foundation from under me. Though God has visited my soul with never so blessed a discovery of Himself, yet afterwards I have been in my spirit so filled with darkness, that I could not so much as once conceive what God and that comfort were with which I had been refreshed."

II. CHRISTMAS FAITH WILL BE CHALLENGED ['IS JESUS REALLY EMMANUEL?']

A. THERE ARE DIFFERENT KINDS AND SOURCES OF NEGATIVE THOUGHTS:

1. Some SO-CALLED doubts have moral origins. Many "intellectual" questions begin with a difference of opinion with God. Sin clouds the windows of the soul until not only the heart is stained, but no one else is believed, either.]
2. Some doubts have physical causes. Weariness. Circumstances. Never make a vital decision when you are exhausted.
3. Some doubts ARE intellectual. To simply ignore questions will not suffice an honest mind. "I don't know" is not a sign of stupidity. How do we go about facing honest questions in the heart and mind?

B. DOUBT IS NOT SIN! Honest doubt, faced up to much as John the Baptist faced his, is an expression of integrity. John the Baptist looked for a simple, easy answer he could understand without stretching his hurting faith. He got what he needed— but it was an answer that demanded even more faith, but an answer that would satisfy and carry him through life and death.

C. THE EXAMPLE: HOW JOHN DEALT WITH HIS DOUBT. John had that sinking feeling in the pit of the stomach we call by different names; that challenge that tells us that all we hold sacred is at stake, along with the integrity of our faith.

What did John the Baptist do?

1. First look at WHAT HE DID NOT DO: he did not make a sermon out of his doubting; he did not take sides with it. He was not satisfied just to remain in torment. He did not seek to influence his disciples or infect them.
2. Then John sought to GO TO THE SOURCE OF TRUTH. John did expose his doubt to Jesus himself. "Are you really MESSIAH?"

Be honest with your doubting; but take it to the Lord Himself, even if you are hurting, instead of "feeding" it.

John asked, via his messengers:

Are you the ONE TO COME? There is no question you are good but you are gentle, and we need hell fire! You are so poor, and we need funding! You seem too often wrapped up with individual's needs and we need to strike at the heart of evil, which is corrupt leadership, and hypocrites in the religious community, bad government officials.

Jesus answered, by the same messengers: Tell John that the lame are being healed, and the dumb are speaking— people are getting help— and blessed is the person who doesn't stumble over me!

III. LOOK AT THIS ANSWER: LOOK AT ME AND DON'T STUMBLE!

A. JESUS ANSWERED. He did not criticize John for asking: John could not help how he felt; there is no sin in doubting. And Jesus did not for a moment question John's integrity. If John had been corrupt, or afraid of facing death because he was evil, Jesus would have told him so. Jesus made it clear after the 'messengers' had left that John the Baptist was a great and good man.

B. JESUS ANSWERED "OBLIQUELY" ALMOST CRYPTICALLY

Jesus does not simply say what we expect Him to say. Jesus does not come as we envision He should come. He comes as He says that He will come.

When Jesus speaks there is always the demand for more than an intellectual response. To 'know' the verities of faith is not less than intellectual, but it is somehow more.

The answers Jesus gives to our doubts are not a scientific exercise. The answer we get is true because Jesus is true. To prove by science all that Jesus claims to be makes the proving greater than the proven. We "appeal" some "even higher power" to prove the Word of God.

A great Bible scholar once said:

"Knowing is not the requisition of neutral knowledge about statements, principles or systems. Nor is it the passive contemplation of God. Rather, it is a process that involves the total person: his or her observing, thinking, use of senses, intelligence, will, action and heart." K.Barth (CD, IV/3/p183)

- C. WHAT KIND OF ANSWER IS THIS? "Blessed is the one who keeps from stumbling over Me!" Does SUCH AN ANSWER help?

What does that say to the men and women in the Saudi desert? Does He have anything to say to the person feeling all alone and isolated this Christmas?

I believe with all my heart that Jesus DOES care, and that He DOES have something to say to anyone who really will listen!

We're often too preoccupied with what we think we should hear the LORD say that we sometimes may miss His answer. His word is a challenge; the message is the same He gave to His beloved Baptist: "BLESSED IS THE ONE WHO IS NOT OFFENDED IN ME!"

1. DON'T DECIDE IN ADVANCE WHAT JESUS SHOULD BE AND DO.
2. HEAR WHAT JESUS SAYS WHEN WE LIKE IT, AND LISTEN
ESPECIALLY CAREFULLY TO WHAT HE SAYS WHEN WE DON'T LIKE IT, OR DON'T UNDERSTAND IT.

3. DON'T LET ANYTHING, NO CIRCUMSTANCE, EVEN PRISON, KEEP YOU FROM STUMBLING OVER THE FACT THAT JESUS IS LORD!

Blessed is the man or woman that says: "God IS! God is GOOD!
Lord, I believe! I will OBEY You!"

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's Christmas Hymn speaks of hope that strikes through the gloom of doubt: "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day"

And in despair I bowed my head.

"There is no peace on earth, " I said,

"For hate is strong and mocks the song of peace on earth, good will to men.

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep:

"God is not dead, nor doth He sleep;

The wrong shall fail, the right prevail,

With peace on earth, good will to men.

Prayer:

Oh God, Wherever we are this morning, give us this message of Christmas— that You are KING! You are the King who CAME, and the King Who Is Coming! And You are the King who COMES! You have said, "I AM with you!" We believe You! And we love You.
Amen.

The Joy of the Coming King

December 23, 1990

Instead of a traditional sermon with three logical points, on this Fourth Sunday of Advent, I wish that I could simply show you three dramatic scenes, like the three ghosts in (Dickens') A Christmas Carol.

Let me read to you a rather extensive scripture lesson, actually, three lessons; each lesson sets the stage or describes a scene.

1. Scene One: [Luke 1:26-38.]
2. Scene Two: [Luke 1:39-55.] Finally,
3. Scene Three: [Philippians 4:4-9.]

Now- Try hard with me to see the three pictures which these scriptures bring to mind. The first scene has a title. It is called:

I. THE ANNUNCIATION

This is an utterly great moment in the history of all humankind. Some might dispute its factual historicity. If I thought it did not literally take place I would not be celebrating Christmas. We probably can not authentically set the scene in any photographic sense. But some of the elements described for us by the scripture are beyond doubt. I am certain we will see them clearly.

The central figure in Scene One is a beautiful young lady. Mary was a beautiful person, clothed with humility and purity. I am sure she was beautiful in every way, but the beauty I am certain of is her spiritual beauty. In appearance Mary may have been no different from many other teen age girls in Galilee. But there was a purity about her which God highly honored.

The other person in this scene is not human. Gabriel is a magnificent being. His name means "Man of God" which we could probably translate "Being of God" or "Person of God," for the scripture says Gabriel is an angel. We tend to picture angels as sort of gold-and-white winged creatures that blink on and off, in and out, half real, half imaginary. But we may be sure that Gabriel is a very, very real being. He inhabits a level of reality with which we are only marginally tangent. The sudden impact of that reality startled Mary, as it would startle any one of us. In the scene we are watching Gabriel greets Mary with great respect. He calls her "Blessed!" He is very gentle, but he is a pretty dazzling sort of presence.

Mary is greatly troubled. She cannot imagine what this might be. This is NOT a dream or a vision. It is a visitation from other dimensions of life. God is using the angel to communicate His will.

Gabriel gives Mary assurance that he is not going to hurt her. "Don't be afraid!" But then without a pause the angel goes on to say that Mary is to have a Son, she shall call Him Jesus, and He will rule over the house of Jacob forever." That is almost impossible for Mary to grasp all at once. But Mary does understand: God has chosen her for a special task!

Mary's reaction is total humility. There is shock, even fear. "Why me? How can this be?" Her questions are answered, perhaps not completely, but enough that Mary knows God has really spoken. God asks Mary to be the mother of the Son of God.

Mary's deliberate and immediate reply is: "Behold the handmaiden of the Lord! Be it done to me according to Your Word!"

And the curtain comes down on the First Scene. The next picture we call

II. THE MAGNIFICAT, OR 'MARY'S SONG'

Actually, The Magnificat is the name given to the song or hymn which Luke uses to portray the expression of praise from Mary's heart as it fairly burst with love to God. How Mary came to sing that hymn is what I want us to look at again, to ponder. Simple scenes like this are all too easy for us to overlook.

Mary's hymn of joy was not glibly or superficially sung. Her submission to God's will [in the first 'picture' we saw] brought her inner peace, but also brought challenge to her faith. The angel Gabriel had told Mary that her relative Elizabeth, whom Mary knew was past normal child-rearing years, was six months pregnant. This was very significant information to Mary.

First of all, it was a help to her own faith, for it would be nothing short of a miracle if Elizabeth really were expecting a child at her advanced age. But also it became a suggestion as to where she might go in perplexity to find help and encouragement. If Elizabeth really was expecting Mary thought that she might be a help to Elizabeth. And it also just might have occurred to her that though she was SURE she had seen the angel, she wanted to see how Elizabeth looked (what SHAPE she was in!) So Mary went into the hill country to visit Elizabeth.

Scene Two begins as Mary steps inside Elizabeth's door. Immediately Mary saw that Elizabeth truly WAS expecting! It was an emotional moment! There was genuine love, and joy, and warmth. Even Elizabeth's unborn baby reacted to the Presence of God as Mary drew near. Once again Mary is called "Blessed!"

Elizabeth acknowledged the joy, and spoke these words: "Blessed is she who believed that there would be a fulfillment of what had been spoken to her by the Lord." Blessed is the faith of Mary! Blessed because she dared to trust God's WORD!

THEN came the sudden warmth of heart to Mary! THEN she FELT the Divine approval! Then her soul nearly burst within her as she felt a rush of deep emotion, and she uttered the words which Luke has passed down to us as a song:

My soul exalts the Lord!

And my spirit has rejoiced in God my Savior.

And the curtain comes down on Scene Two. The final picture, far removed from the other two, is nonetheless an Advent passage, too. See if you can connect it with the other two. I call this one:

III. A RHAPSODY OF JOY

We are a long, long way from Bethlehem and Galilee. The scene is ancient Rome, in a prison cell. Perhaps, actually, it is a rented house where Paul is permitted to live with a rotating guard schedule. That portion of the stage which we might outline or define with detail is vague, dark. At best, Paul's "state" as he is writing is far from ideal. He is NOT staying at the Sheraton Tara. We have to almost read between the lines to get the picture. The simple facts are there: Paul is not complaining, but if we look carefully we see [1:7] chains. We realize that Paul has had to face [1:15] envy & strife even while being imprisoned. Paul has lost everything he owned; [3:8] I have suffered the loss of all things. Paul has wept; he has [3:18] shed tears over false brethren. Paul has been neglected, for [4:10] he is now rejoicing that after a long neglect Philippians able to get a care package through. Do you get the setting?

There is not a lot of action in this scene. But Paul is writing- dictating to Timothy and Epaphroditus. And look, listen what he is writing! Paul is radiating pure JOY! He is giving off solid rays of LOVE! THE DRAMA IS THE MIRACLE OF WHAT IS BEING PRODUCED 'HERE!' Here is an epistle that we look to for resources:

REJOICE IN THE LORD! THE PEACE OF GOD WILL KEEP YOU! THE GOD OF PEACE WILL BE WITH YOU! I CAN DO ALL THINGS THROUGH CHRIST! MY GOD WILL SUPPLY ALL YOUR NEEDS!

It isn't that Paul doesn't feel cold or hunger or pain. He is very human, and like Mary, he craves the comfort of other people of faith. But Paul's heart, like Mary's, seeks to MAGNIFY THE LORD!

The curtain comes down on Scene Three.

What is the common thread here? What does Paul in prison, and the blessed mother of Jesus have in common? They believe God's WORD! They believe God has chosen them! And they believe that God is with them!

God breaks into human existence! THE LORD IS AT HAND! THAT is what makes Philippians a lesson for Advent. And that IS the lesson we can try to learn! We have not been chosen like Mary. She is unique. We are not chosen like Paul, thank the Lord for that! But we ARE chosen. And we CAN trust God's Word.

Look at the "summary words" that come to us from these pictures. JOY / SUBMISSION STRENGTH HOPE PEACE / FELLOWSHIP/PRAISE. And once again, the 'common thread' is Immanuel. God is With US!

Prayer: God, We thank You that "The Lord IS near!"

Christmas All Year Through

December 30, 1990 AM

John 1:12

Galatians 4:1-8 What I am saying is that as long as the heir is a child, he is no different from a slave, although he owns the whole estate. He is subject to guardians and trustees until the time set by his father. So also, when we were children we were in slavery to under the basic principles of the world. But when the time had fully come, God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under the law, to redeem those under the law, that we might receive the full rights of sons. Because you are sons, God sent the Spirit of His Son into our hearts, the Spirit who calls out, "Abba, Father." So you are no longer a slave, but a son; and since you are a son, God has made you also an heir.

Last year, the day after Christmas, we sat down for dinner. The Advent Candles were lit, and after the meal we started to read and have a word of prayer. The smallest member of the family present was quick to inform us that "Christmas was over!" We didn't need to carry on with the candles any longer.

And Christmas IS over for most people, I suppose. But for us Christians should it be?

I. WISTFULLY WE HEAR "WHY CAN'T WE HAVE CHRISTMAS ALL YEAR?"

- A. We couldn't AFFORD to have Christmas all year!
- B. If we DID it wouldn't be special.
- C. But that special "glow" —that would be nice

II. THAT SPECIAL PART OF CHRISTMAS IS LOVE

AND ESPECIALLY THOSE WE LOVE BECAUSE OF ASSOCIATION IN FAMILY OR FAMILY OF GOD

A. Paul sums it up in our lesson: [Lesson:] Gal 4:4 God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption [THE 'FULL RIGHTS'] of sons. God sent his Son ... That we might receive the full rights of sons ... that we might be real FAMILY with God Himself!

B. THIS IS WHERE OUR TEXT COMES IN: This 'continuing Christmas' is for those "who receive Him Who came."

(John 1:12) He came unto his own, and His own received Him not. but as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the children of God, even to as many as believed on His name.

C. ALSO, IF WE HAVE "RECEIVED JESUS", WE ARE ABLE TO KNOW THAT WE ARE GOD'S CHILDREN because:

(Galatians 4:6) God has sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.

Christmas is never over IF we are daily being renewed by the Holy Spirit!

III. CHRISTIANS CAN AND DO EXPERIENCE "CHRISTMAS" ALL YEAR!

A. We can't "keep Christmas alive" in the sense that many people might understand it. And I'm thankful that Christmas comes only once a year. But we can do something about keeping the spirit of the TRUE Christmas!! [We DON'T HAVE TO BUY this best part of Christmas. It won't ruin the "special times" we all love.]

B. Some people still don't have a clue to what they miss at Christmas! And it may well be that some people will never know unless God chooses to show them through you or me!

C. This continuing spirit of love/Christmas has something to do with the joy of giving as well as receiving. It has to do with maturing out of babyhood and childhood, even, into full maturity in Christ.

As sons and daughters of God: then (heirs) of God through Christ. WE MUST PRESS INTO OUR FULL INHERITANCE. (Galatians 4:6) GOD HAS MADE YOU ALSO AN HEIR.

- D. Our world cries out for sons and daughters of God to come to full maturity, and claim their full inheritance!

THE WORD ON "MATURITY" IS NOT SIMPLY "what are my rights?" It is also "God help me to assume my responsibility!" The full word is "fellowship" or "partnership" — working with Jesus Christ in partnership with God Himself! And this the highest privilege known to men or women.

[The "collect" of the old Book of Common Prayer for this Sunday reads:

Almighty God, who hast given us Thy only-begotten Son to take our nature upon Him, and as at this time to be born of a pure virgin; grant that we being regenerate, and made Thy children through adoption and grace, may daily be renewed by Thy Holy Spirit; through the same our Lord Jesus Christ, who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the same Spirit, ever one God, world without end. Amen.]

This morning we talked about being ambassadors, and we are. But this is even better! We are to be ambassadors who are sons and daughters of the King Himself! The promise of our text still stands! Cooperation with the Father! His help! His love!

CONCLUSION

I mentioned being a messenger—receiving messages as from God this morning. What a joy!

It is amazing how we receive messages from the Lord if we will listen! A week ago I perceived God speaking to me in a prayer a friend of mine prayed in our kitchen.

I remember about a year ago right now during the course of a conversation with a neighbor of ours who loves Jesus. We attend very different churches. This was another case where my friend didn't know how much she helped me, but I told her how much I appreciated it.

She was asking me for help in dealing with a cult or heresy; a friend of hers was somewhat entangled. She believed I would know scriptures— and I believe I did help her. But she said, "I've been asking the Lord to forgive me for trying to play God in this person's life, (i.e., the person to whom she is witnessing.) I need to just love her AND LET GOD BE GOD!"

That was the word that reached me: LET GOD BE GOD!

If Jesus has really COME, if by His Holy Spirit, He is really here, then in whatever situation I find myself— the real, on-going truth of Christmas is: God is HERE, AND I AM HIS CHILD WITH FULL RIGHTS, and I can LET GOD BE GOD!

In many respects this is an awesome time to be alive! How can we find grace to face the challenges of life? How can a pastor speak about wisdom and grace for so many different needs?

This month a new baby came into our church family. The widow of an old preacher (Mildred Poole) died this week; I'll stand by her grave in Everette in a few days. One person I spoke with yesterday has a brother very ill because of "chemo" fighting lymphoma. One person is wrestling with depression. Another family stands at a crossroad of decision. That's the way life is.

How indeed! The answer is 'the Gift we got for Christmas!' And the LOVE of Christmas never ends! Jesus is really with us! He is Immanuel! He will give us grace, day by day. LET GOD BE GOD WHERE YOU ARE JUST NOW!

The Greatest Job in the World

December 30, 1990 PM

Lesson: 2 Corinthians 5:11 - 21

Text 5:20 "We are, therefore, Christ's ambassadors, as though God were making His appeal through us."

I love my work. There are times I don't earn my salary. Then there are times when you couldn't find enough money to pay me to do what I have to do. But as a minister, I believe that I am an ambassador for Jesus Christ.

But wait a minute. This passage is not written to pastors alone, or even primarily to pastors. Verse 17 says if ANY person is in Christ he/she is a new creation, and so called to be an ambassador for Jesus Christ. YOU are just as much in this ambassador business as I am. Maybe even more so! The call of God to preaching or evangelism is a wonderful thing, and I do not trivialize it in the least. It has fallen to me to be a full-time resource person, and a worship leader in the church at times. But WE are ALL God's men and women. We are all called to represent God. God Himself has called us.

You may wonder about that. You may not feel personally "called." [Sometimes I don't feel called, either!] I know how that is, believe me! [Speaking for God can be a heavy responsibility!] But this passage says it clearly- God wants YOU to know that whatever else you may do for a living, you are called to be His representative! But I'm also pretty sure that He wanted me to tell you, too, that you don't have to face this high assignment all by yourself.

CHRISTMAS was when the greatest job in all the world began! God sent His only begotten Son into the world to say "I love you!" And now as His children through Christ and IN Christ, we are to pick up Christ's work, carry on that mission, saying to the world what God tells us to say. We are Ambassadors for God! We are called to the greatest job in the world!

I. WHAT THE GREATEST JOB IN THE WORLD IS NOT

This passage says that we are ambassadors of heaven; and that it is the love of Jesus Christ that makes us go. But I want to back up, and begin describing what this task, of being an ambassador, is NOT. I want to look back at several verses that connect with the thought of our task; actually, they are negative statements that Paul uses, usually with the phrase "We are NOT ..." as an opener:

- A. WE ARE NOT PEDDLERS (2:17 Unlike so many, we do not peddle the word of God for profit. On the contrary, we speak before God with sincerity, like men sent from God.)

Now there is nothing wrong with being a peddler. I remember when I was about Junior High age stopping in the basement of an old 'Five and Dime' and watching a real pro peddler at work. He had a set spiel, and some sort of vegetable peeler. Fascinating! Only the fact that I was broke kept me from buying one for my mother. But what a peddler sells is not a matter of life and death. He sells gadgets, usually. He may make it seem very urgent— like you can't live without his gadget. But he knows that what he is selling is basically so that he can make a living.

[I was a peddler once! I "sold" magazines door to door when I first graduated from high school in the "recession" of 1948-49. I usually began my "pitch" by saying, "You don't want to buy a magazine, do you?"]

But we are ambassadors, not peddlers!

- B. WE ARE NOT ACTORS (3:13, 18 We are not like Moses, who put a veil over his face to keep the Israelites from gazing at it while the radiance was fading away. (But) we with unveiled faces all reflect the Lord's glory, . . . being transformed into His likeness with ever-increasing glory, which comes from the Lord, who is the Spirit.) Moses put on the veil because the people complained of the brightness of his face. Maybe it makes people uncomfortable if we begin to get too close to the Lord. [I don't think it is possible to get too close to the Lord!]

But here Paul said that Moses put the veil on— or maybe KEPT it on— so that the people couldn't see the glory fading away! I'm not sure of what all that means— and I don't want to take too much time on this emphasis— but ambassadors have more important business to do than trying to pretend they are something they are not to the people to whom they are carrying God's message.

I'm not telling you not to put your best foot forward. I am telling you that you and I need to be real people, honest growing Christians (as verse 18 says.) And people to whom we represent Jesus, for whom our Lord died, deserve to know where we are and where we are headed! Let's be real, let's be genuine as we seek to represent Jesus! Our most powerful evidence may be when we admit that we are struggling, but that we are keeping the faith!

- C. WE ARE NOT 'PROOF TEXT-ERS' (4:2 ... we do not use deception, nor do we distort the word of God.) (OR "Text-Twisters") Ambassadors do not have the privilege of editing— either watering down or of beefing up— the word that comes down from The Throne. When God declares WAR, we can't sue for peace on our own. And when God says, "I will forgive ALL who come to me" we can't select out those we think are worth saving! God's Word is alive! Texts are funny things!

We get a good idea! We get THREE POINTS TOGETHER. If they all start with the same letter, that is better yet! And THEN WE GO LOOKING FOR A GOOD TEXT! But then something funny happens! That text— if we give it a chance— begins to exert a life and message of its own. And maybe it begins to ruin that beautiful three point masterpiece! Ever have that happen to you? [I have!]

Ambassadors get the message! And then ambassadors carry the message— they translate it into the local language— they apply it to the local culture— they manifest it in truth in their own lives— they become the message— but they don't make the word fit the circumstance, they make the circumstances face the word!

- D. WE ARE NOT EGOTISTS (4:5 For we do not preach ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, and ourselves as your servants for Jesus' sake.) This is not to say that you shouldn't be a "character." You look like a bunch of characters to me! It doesn't mean that we shouldn't have strong "EGOs" whatever that means. And it doesn't mean that an effective ambassador doesn't let his own personality be expressed in every facet of his representation of the King.

But there is only ONE STAR in every aspect of service for the Lord! There should only be one Star in every worship service! The Bright and Morning Star! And it is impossible for us to lift up Jesus and try to make people think about how smart we are, or how pious we are, or how ANYTHING WE ARE! Probably there is a little 'show-boat' in every one of us. It is more fun to talk than it is to sit and listen— usually.

But we know, and GOD knows, whom we are trying to exalt! Yes. this is the greatest job in the world!

II. WHAT THE GREATEST JOB IS

A. IT IS A JOB WE DIDN'T CHOOSE FOR OURSELVES!

We were selected! Why in the world God ever chose you and me, I'll never know.

[Someone asked Billy Graham why God chose him to be a spokesman before millions when there are hundreds of preachers who can preach as well as Billy can. (I doubt that!) Billy Graham's reply was, "When I get to heaven that's the first thing I'm going to ask the Lord!" He is genuinely humble. But he is NOT falsely modest! He is God's called man. And so are YOU!]

It is NOT AN OPTION whether or not we shall be Ambassadors. Every Christian is already representing Jesus Christ. The question is, shall we do it well, or not? We have already been "drafted!"

B. IT IS A JOB WE DON'T HAVE TO DO IN OUR OWN STRENGTH

1. Paul says (text, verse 20) "(It is) as though God were entreating THROUGH us ..." I know we don't always sense that undergirding, even when we are prayed up. But count on it, it is always there! When you would do good, GOD IS PRESENT WITH YOU! (to counter-point Romans 7:21, which says 'When I would do GOOD evil is present ...').

2. This thought "connects" with Romans 8:28-32. I would like to close with some thoughts about THE SOVEREIGNTY OF GOD that go along with this idea of every Christian being AN AMBASSADOR:
 - a. [GOD IS ACTIVE IN ALL OUR LIVES] We are all familiar with 8:28 "God works in all things..."
 - b. [GOD HAS PROMISED ALL WE NEED TO ACCOMPLISH HIS BEST WILL] We also love 8:32 "He that spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?"
 - c. [But what's an ambassador to do? How do we practically apply this provision and power?]

C. IT IS A JOB GOD WILL DO THROUGH EACH ONE OF US!

1. GETTING INTO THE FLOW OF GOD'S SOVEREIGNTY (I Corinthians 3:9 hints at it:) We are laborers together WITH God! All too often we have an "either/or" approach to God's sovereignty. We are either "all works" or "all faith." In our English language we have just the two moods:

Active: "I will do it!" Or,

Passive: "I will have it done to/for me!"

But in the Greek language— and in everyday "Ambassador Language" there is a middle voice:

Middle: "I will enter into what is being done!" We need to get into the flow of God's Sovereign working! God is in the world, reconciling it to Himself! He has called us to be His people!
2. God is still Sovereign! He is still calling! If we will get quiet and listen, He will guide us the next step! He isn't impressed with our strength. But He isn't worried about our weakness, either! What He really wants is men and women who love Him, and who are willing to explore the task to which He has called them.

Conclusion:

The Greatest Job in the World

ARE YOU WILLING TO ASK GOD TO ACTIVATE YOUR HIGH CALLING AS AN AMBASSADOR? WILL YOU MAKE YOURSELF AVAILABLE TO HIM THIS VERY DAY?

Pray with me!

Thank God for calling us! Thank God that He doesn't leave us alone! Thank God that He is Sovereign! Thank God that we may enter into the flow of His great WILL! Amen!
[Hear the challenging words— sing them from your heart as a prayer- of a relatively young Hymn:]

The Power of the Lord was Present

A Story of Holy Compromise

January 5, 1991

Luke 5:17-26

Text Mark 2:3 "And they came, bringing to Him a paralytic, carried by four men."

The word "compromise" raises a flag of caution among people of principle. And yet in the real world of human relationships, compromise is perhaps the most overlooked source of genuine joy. The facts are that (1) Bringing people to Jesus is just about always a cooperative effort. In fact, doing anything for Jesus means cooperating with His people. And (2) Cooperative effort just about always involves holy compromise. But the strange and wonderful truth that follows is that (3) holy compromise just about always brings about holy fellowship and joy.

No pastor of integrity would ever suggest that anybody should compromise with any form of sin. But by the same token any minister of integrity would have to say in all honesty that more pain and damage has been done than one can imagine by people who not only refuse to compromise on issues of principle, but refuse to bend or adapt or compromise in lesser matters of opinion, custom, or even personal taste.

Here in Luke's Gospel is a brief story about some people who tore the tiles off a flat roof and lowered a paralyzed man down into the interior of the house where Jesus was. In the Gospel of Mark, probably prompted by Peter, we are told that it was four men who brought the helpless man to the Savior.

[Bringing people to Jesus is just about always a cooperative effort.] It goes without saying that here was a cooperative effort that required some compromise. Unless these four men were all the same build and same height and same strength the simple fact of carrying a heavy, inert object requires bending and stretching.

In my mind's eye I have gone into considerable more detail than you can find in your Bible. If some of the personalities of the Wollaston church had been present the lineup might have looked like this [although any resemblance to people in your church or mine living or dead is purely conjectural!]

AMOS

FIRST THERE IS AMOS. Amos is a seasoned, experienced, grounded (rather old) believer. He had been brought up in the scriptures from a lad. [Cut his teeth on the KJV.] He had waited for years in faith that Messiah was coming. Early on in Jesus' ministry he had been convinced that Jesus was the fulfillment of all the OT prophecies.

Amos is MATURE! He would probably not want to talk about it, but secretly in his heart of hearts he is a little impatient and even irked by immaturity. He detests taped accompaniments! He is not the least impulsive and not too outwardly emotional.

But make no mistake! Amos is the salt of the earth, and he loves Jesus and follows Him with all his heart.

BARTHOLOMEW

THEN THERE IS BARTHOLOMEW. Bartholomew is a young believer, full of energy. He is not a rebel; really he is not! But he has this sensation down deep in his insides that anyone over 30 is "over the hill."

Bartholomew is full of JOY! And Bartholomew is full of LIFE! He has never had a sick day in his life. And frankly he isn't always too patient with people who have aches and pains. He doesn't understand people who don't like LOUD hosannas— preferably with at least 100 watts of amplification behind them. Bart will be at all the Christian concerts within 50 miles radius!

CRISPUS

THE THIRD MEMBER OF THE CAST IS CRISPUS. Crispus is an intellectual, and a dedicated social activist. He wears wire-rimmed glasses that make him look like an intellectual and a dedicated social activist.

Crispus has heard Christ's call to minister to the poor. He has put his life on the line. He has sold all that he possesses, and is personally involved in an inner-city ministry. And quite frankly, Crispus questions other Christians who don't do the same as he has done.

DEMAS

THE LAST OF THE FOUR IS DEMAS. Demas is a died-in-the-wool conservative. Demas wears a Jesus-First pin. He has "Jesus bumper stickers" on his car. He is a real "Mary" type who simply wants to sit at Jesus' feet. He has a secular job only because he has to pay his rent and eat, but he wants to keep unspotted from the world— so he doesn't use dice with board games. (Just 'spinners.') And he doesn't think the church teens ought to go roller skating.

But once again, here is a genuine Christian! Demas really belongs to Jesus and loves Him with all of his heart. Here are four people about as different in temperament as you can imagine. Four people who agree on just about one thing and only one thing— at least at the beginning of this little drama. They knew in their hearts that Jesus IS the answer to the needs of the world.

It doesn't even matter that they saw the needs of the world very differently. They didn't even stop to consider that the world's problems might be more complex or different from the way they understood them. What matters was that they agreed (without knowing it) THAT FINALLY, JESUS IS WHAT THIS SINFUL WORLD NEEDS!

Our four friends had a great deal more that was NOT in common, at least on the surface, than points of agreement. They would have disagreed violently on political candidates. They would have almost come to blows over whether or not one could fall from grace, or just 'from fellowship with God.' Any kind of abstract or theoretical question probably would have started WW I 2,000 years early!

Christians are like that! They disagree in theory— they love to argue minor points of doctrine in various kinds of abstract argument. There (probably) is a place for that, but . . .but what saved them was the fact that these four men faced a very specific problem.

SILAS

They had a mutual friend SILAS, who was dear to them all. SILAS WAS HELPLESS, A PARALYTIC. Perhaps Silas was related to one, and a friend of a friend of another— but at any rate each of these four, Amos, Bartholomew, Crispus, and Demas had said to himself many times: "If I could just get Silas over to Jesus I know that Jesus could touch him and meet his need!"

I'm not sure how they got together. Since I'm telling the story I can imagine it was one of those strange coincidences that God can arrange whenever He wants to. And in my imagination there was a mutual disappointment when the four met.

Amos thought: "A lot of good hallelujahs will do now! We need someone who KNOWS someone, and some money to hire an ambulance." And Crispus was thinking: "That Demas guy will want to have a prayer meeting for this guy— and what he REALLY needs is a new pallet and we need to arrange hot meals for him until we can find a way to get him to the meetings."

But one of them— I don't know which one— says out loud: "If only we could get Silas to Jesus I believe HE could heal him!" And the rest have to agree.

They begin to realize that together they can do what they can't do alone. And they demonstrate that (1) BRINGING PEOPLE TO JESUS IS JUST ABOUT ALWAYS A COOPERATIVE EFFORT! So off they start! What a sight they are! Carrying a helpless man on a stretcher is not an easy or a dignified task. And as they get nearer they see that their task isn't only hard—it is apparently impossible. There is a huge crowd gathered around Peter's house, where the Master is teaching.

They simply cannot get through the crowd. There are too many people! You can't find Christ in a big crowd! You can't really worship! You can't really get near to Jesus, can you?

But by now someone comes up with another suggestion. "We've come this far! Too far to be defeated! We won't take 'No' for an answer!

Let's go up on the roof! Let's take off a few tiles and drop Silas right down on the front row!"

AND THEY DID! And the Word says "Jesus saw THEIR faith!"

Jesus didn't seem to be surprised at all!

First Jesus forgave Silas his sins. And then Jesus healed him, and sent him walking out in the sight of everyone. It was one unforgettable celebration!

How, do you suppose, did Amos and Bartholomew and Crispus and Demas "debrief" after the service was over? What was the "afterglow" like that day? I see them as they put the tiles back and they talk.

"Well, I'll have to admit that I could never have done it alone! And no two of us could have done it, either!"

"Yes, I'll have to admit that we make a pretty good team!"

I see it as the beginning of genuine Christian fellowship—cross-generational, cross-cultural, even cross-intellectual, if there is such a thing. They were still persuaded that Jesus was the answer to the needs of their world. And they still saw those needs from their own perspectives.

But they also began to see that there were other, honest, Christian perspectives beside their own. That is the way Christian faith in obedient action tends to work. It brings people together who seem to have little in common, and makes them love and deeply appreciate one another.

If we wait until we know all the answers- until we have enough loaves and fishes to feed the multitude- we will never get Jesus and needy people together. But if we will be looking for ways to share our faith, we may just find help in bringing people to Christ in the most unlikely ways, help from people who are the same as we are— and from people who are very, very different, too, perhaps!

[He was sitting in the waiting room of a car dealer. He was a professional man- a lawyer, actually. He is very dignified, professionally, but casually he often wears a sweatshirt that says "Jesus- He's the Real thing!." He pulled out his Bible, and the big, black man next to him said, "Are you a Christian?"

Really, I wish I could let him tell you himself— and may be that some day you will hear him.

But that black man was a Muslim from a Muslim family of generations who had found the Lord in a miraculous way. The lawyer is sitting in the congregation back in my church this morning, brought up in a good Roman Catholic family. Not much in common with a died-in-the-wool black Muslim! Only Jesus! And who knows what will come of that meeting!]

Oh, make no mistake THERE ARE SOME ISSUES THAT DEMAND SOLID, UNIFIED CHRISTIAN PERSPECTIVE. Our compromise can never be with sin, with the breaking of any of the clear commandments of God. But as amazing as it may seem there are many serious issues, important issues, where good and sincere Christians can and will disagree. Issues that would divide and kill fellowship if we would let them.

There are "outside-the-church issues" about which Christians feel strongly: We all agree that abortion is bad. But how should Christians oppose it? Sincere and committed Christians disagree about the best methods!

We all hate the filth and pornography, and the protection given to obscenity by rulings on First Amendment rights. But what is the best course in rolling back the tide? Again, sincere Christians do not always agree.

Just mentioning these issues may be foolish, but I am trying to show that in so many ways we can agree to disagree— and still agree to love each other, and to love God, and to do our best to bring people to Jesus.

And particularly these days there are always "inside-the-church issues," those matters of policy, of building, of financing, and above all, of ministry and serving Christ here in Bel Air, and on the Washington district. These crucial days in a world with recession and war scare there is the challenge of bringing people to Jesus—of developing and continuing normal ministry to families with both father and mother at home, as well as reaching broken homes and individuals and people that don't neatly "fit" any categories.

Some church experts tell us that the growing kind of church is the homogenous-unit type of church. But our Nazarene church is potentially about as heterogeneous as a church can get! And in more ways than dear Reuben may have meant in his wonderful little book, WE REALLY DO NEED EACH OTHER!

We, each one, individually, as well as together as a church, have an opportunity to meet and know people who love the Lord and yet are very unlike ourselves.

We will be stimulated, if not offended, by many different ways of looking at the task God has set before us. We will be seeing the curse of sin as the problem— but we will be seeing it in many more than just FOUR ways!

But if we agree that Jesus is LORD; and if we agree that Jesus is what this world needs— then like these four men who brought the paralytic to Jesus WE WILL FIND WAYS OF GETTING AT THE TASK GOD HAS FOR US!

And the best part, perhaps, is that as we learn to work together we'll discover the holy JOY that comes from finding how BIG and how BROAD and how WIDE God's holy family can be! We are in for some dramatic surprises! We'll find that TOGETHER WE CAN BRING PEOPLE TO JESUS! And when Jesus sees OUR FAITH we'll find that holy compromise brings holy JOY!

The Whole Armor of God

January 12, 1991

Ephesians 6:10-24

The decision to live for Jesus Christ inevitably leads to a spiritual warfare. The decision itself, and every "YES!" to God thereafter will be met with opposition, sometimes passive, sometimes subtle, sometimes active and massive.

I don't like talking about warfare this evening. I trust that we shall have peace in our time on earth. But whatever happens in the Persian Gulf, in these days more than ever before perhaps, we need to recognize that living for God, living by faith in Jesus Christ, is a spiritual warfare. Every impulse for good is opposed. We need God's equipping grace to face life.

And God does have grace with which to equip us!

To recognize the spiritual dimensions in our struggles is a significant part of the battle. It isn't that the devil is responsible for every bad feeling we have; but he will seize upon it and use it unless we refuse to play into his evil schemes.

[This past week in a Prayer Retreat one of the most highly respected men on the district told how he FELT at times like a total failure. There may well be psychological reasons for these and many others of our feelings. But Satan uses such feelings as a launching pad for attacks designed to put us out of the fight; to incapacitate us, and leave us weak and self-centered and out of the battle.]

These words in Galatians Six are much, much more than a quaint description of ancient armor. Paul is speaking to life as we have to live it just now in all its tension—and believe me, the whole world is feeling the strain! Christians need to be equipped! This is not just "spiritual talk." It speaks of very real human struggle!

I. CASUALTIES OF SPIRITUAL WARFARE

Unfortunately we all know sad casualties of the warfare for men and women's souls.

- A. I see a young Christian "all-out for God". Then there is a FLAME OUT! Perhaps disillusion with older Christians (they aren't perfect!) Perhaps "intellectual problems."
- B. I recall a solid, sincere, intelligent Christian at a Christian college. Not a party-er; good testimony. Becomes a high- paid specialist in a high paying profession. The things of the world enamor him— he becomes rich.. and totally useless to the kingdom of God.
- C. I know of not one not two not three or four talented men of God— genuine talent— real call— become ambitious, or greedy, or lustful— and they FALL! They take an untold toll when they fall.
- D. It is hard to compare casualties like this with much more graphic casualties of physical warfare. And it is easy to assume that I am being totally parochial, and exaggerating— easy to assume that I am a Nazarene pastor who cannot see beyond the ministry of my own denomination.

But I AM desperately concerned that the people I serve— the sphere of influence where I can make my voice heard— realize the seriousness and the all-out nature of this spiritual warfare. I am concerned that WE REALIZE THE ETERNAL CONSEQUENCES OF WINNING OR LOSING THIS WARFARE.

II. DIMENSIONS OF PREPAREDNESS FOR SPIRITUAL WARFARE

Make no mistake: REAL danger exists! The old armor is only representative— but there are GUT shots and HEART shots and FOOT shots! Each piece of armor is connected with some aspect of the integrity of obedience. The admonition is: YOU NEED IT ALL!

Some people never get past playing roles! (Jesus spoke of children playing "wedding" or "funeral" and dancing or crying on cue.) 1. LOINS - truth - 6:14

Some people never can quite get themselves to quit the sin business; to own perfect allegiance to King Jesus. 2. BREASTPLATE - break with sin! excusing/rationalizing

Some people never learn to "take care of their feet". They always travel on other people's spiritual insights. We have to do some Bible digging for ourselves! 3. FEET - step-by-step is how we take the Promised Land

Not one of us is perfect! We all have "chinks" in the armor!

SHIELD OF FAITH

Not one of us knows all the answers! [I like how Jesus handled dear Doubting Thomas! He was kind!] 5. HELMET Professor Jesus!

More later— SWORD & PRAYER!

III. THE BATTLE JOINED!

- A. It can never simply be "business as usual!" There is a war on!
- B. The battle somehow centers in the struggle for the personality of men and women! And somehow it is centered in this period of mortal life here in time and space.
- C. Strange as it may seem, I do not think it is necessary to be "experts on the opposition." The enemy IS wise and darkly powerful. But God has defeated him. God is "working both sides of the street" when it comes to spiritual struggle.
- D. We may fill our place in this spiritual warfare: the idea is to "Fight the good fight of faith!" There are TWO VITAL ITEMS which we have not yet discussed:

6:17 The sword of the Spirit! The living Word... connected with the Bible, but living in and through Christ-in-you: "Being used of God!" the cutting edge of the gospel!

6:18 Prayer in the Spirit! Prayer is where we maintain contact! How we receive orders. How we are nourished!

Conclusion:

We're in this war for the duration! For as long as it takes!

We all need the prayers of one another! Soldiers do as they are told! They don't have to survive! They DO have to be faithful!

Let us Pray: Equip us, O Lord, to be Your faithful soldiers. Amen.

[Baptismal Candidates as well as others who wish to stand with them in re-affirming Baptismal Vows invited to come forward to front seat during hymn. Congregation sings:]

The Quality of Forgiveness

Matthew 18:15-35

January 20, 1991 pm

"Confession," properly done, may be "good for the soul," but genuine confession of guilt or sin is never simple or easy. Have you ever made a restitution? Did you ever feel the need for finding someone's forgiveness? I have!

When I was a teenager, and a Christian, I had a confrontation with Mr. Duerr, a Swiss gentleman who was an old friend of my wife-to-be's family. I was very rude with him, thinking he was being too familiar with my girlfriend; as a matter of fact in my 18-year-old chutzpah I offered to punch him in the nose even though he was old enough to be my father.

Later — six or seven year later— I was a young pastor and had never forgotten the rudeness — I dropped into Mr. Duerr's typewriter store on Main St in downtown Akron. I had business with him; actually bought a portable —no maybe an old upright Underwood or something, I honestly don't remember. But that day I asked him if he remembered the incident years before, and he immediately became very serious, came around the counter— said that yes, he did remember, and had been pretty shocked because I had a reputation as a Christian and that seemed out of character (which it was; although in retrospect I believe I was coming off a fever and a bout with leg infection so was probably less inhibited because of medication; I can't imagine how I would have been rude otherwise— it wasn't the way I was brought up.) I told him I was sorry that it had NOT been a Christian thing to do, and would he forgive me.

He did, and then he began to talk about his own spiritual journey as a "backslider" and we parted with peace and a measure of understanding. I had done a difficult job of "making restitution" that cleared up a spot in my prayer life and helped me to be "void of offense toward God and man"

I. WE ALL FACE THE FACT OF FRICTION IN INTER-PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

- A. We can (1) deny ever hurting others; or, we can (2) claim never to have hurt feelings ourselves. But the fact remains that misunderstandings do come. We need to make certain that our consciences are clear. We may never clear the air to feel "at ease" with everyone— but we can exercise ourselves to keep a conscience void of offense toward God and toward fellow human beings (Acts 26:18).
- B. Where we may keenly feel our need for resolving these problems is when we come to the quiet time— the place of prayer. We cannot pray as we ought if there are unresolved bruises on our conscience (either way— on "us" or on "them.")
- C. When we recognize that there ARE and there WILL BE times when friction and misunderstanding come, then we can seek and find God's help in restoring full communication and re-establishing fellowship.

The abiding Presence of the Holy Spirit will go a long way toward minimizing hurt feelings— avoiding letting them fester. But even God's sanctified people need God's grace to forgive and be forgiven.

II. THE PRINCIPLE OF FORGIVENESS IS GOD'S WAY OF HANDLING FRICTION

- A. Do we realize all the implications of what it means to forgive? [Look at vv 24, 27 a man owes a staggering sum of money- - many $Millions— and his Lord simply TOOK THE LOSS BECAUSE OF COMPASSION. The Lord did NOT pretend it was not a huge sum, or that it never happened.] Forgiveness is not saying: "Oh, It's all right!"
- B. This is the way that God intends us, asks us, helps us to forgive each other. We are not to fester ill will, but to say, "I forgive!"

III. GOD'S GRACE FLOWS OR IS IMPEDED AS WE EMPLOY THIS PRINCIPLE

- A. Lord's Prayer: We are forgiven AS WE FORGIVE!
- B. There is also a direct connection of having a clear conscience with a prayer life that "prevails." Following verse 18 the power of prayer FOLLOWS on the ATTEMPT to restore full fellowship. (Also Matthew 5:24 "Leave thy gift at the altar and be reconciled to thy brother. . . .")

- C. Making peace, or even seeking to make peace with others may well be the means of opened channels of God's grace to their hearts (as Walter Duerr).

CONCLUSION:

How are you handling the frictions and the dis-harmonies of life and living? I am not an alarmist— but uncertainties of our times dictate to me that I need to keep short accounts— make certain that my conscience is clear!

- A. IS your conscience clear before God? Have you confessed your sins— and your SINFULNESS to HIM? Thank the Lord, that is the beginning!
- B. Is your conscience clear before your brothers and your sisters? This does not mean that it is easy. It does not even mean that you can patch things up, humanly speaking. [I prayed for a policeman every day for years because I did not want to HATE him. And I don't believe I did, and I don't!]
- C. Bertha Munro said two things about forgiveness:
1. CHRISTIANS CAN AFFORD TO FORGIVE! She meant that since we have been forgiven so very much, we can forgive others, too.
 2. CHRISTIANS CANNOT AFFORD NOT TO FORGIVE! In a hundred years— in a hundred days— what will it matter?

WALTER DUERR .. later..sought God's forgiveness; found grace to forgive his enemy.. was restored and lived a number of years in a faithful witness with his life. Paul said: Acts 24:16 Herein do I exercise myself to have always a conscience void of offense toward God and toward man."

A Promise of Gods Strength

January 27, 1991

Isaiah 40:28-31

Introduction

There is no question but that these are days of stress all over the civilized world. The events in the Middle East are brought into our living rooms and our minds, and they are sobering, to say the least.

Yesterday the Patriot Ledger said that people of faith everywhere are turning to prayer: some for guidance, some for solace, some for God's intervention. I would hope that we would be people of prayer.

The question is: Where do God's people have any advantage over people who profess no faith at all? What difference does faith make?

Faith does indeed make a difference! I am sure that you are already finding this out. Perhaps you don't even need to be told that. But I find that it helps me to be reminded of God's great promises. Times of stress, whatever the reason, are good times to return to favorite treasures, to the passages of scripture that have 'come through' with assurance over and over again.

One such passage that we can claim together is Isaiah 40, and especially that last paragraph which says, in part:

" . . .they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength . . ."

I. ISAIAH IS A PROPHET OF GREAT HOPE

[Isaiah is also a great Messianic prophet, and is sometimes called "the Fifth Evangelist" (along with Matthew, Mark, Luke and John), because we Christians can see so much of Jesus in his writings.]

- A. Some "key words" that open Isaiah's message as we read are words like "expectancy" and "hope" and "peace." Isaiah lived in expectancy for a long time, through many difficult times. But Isaiah was "forward looking." He believed that God was in charge, and that He was in charge of the future. Isaiah is the one who told us that Messiah would be called "Prince of Peace."

- B. The heart of Isaiah's message is the fact that God works not only on a cosmic scale, but personally. God was interested in kings and nations, and Isaiah observed roles and rituals of religious ceremony along with his fellow priests and prophets. But the message came in a PERSONAL way to Isaiah himself. Isaiah felt his own personal uncleanness before the holiness of God as well as that of his people. Isaiah experienced personal cleansing and empowering. The message that God gave him interfaced with his own family situation.

And— Messiah would be a PERSON! Not just the nation of Israel, but a Suffering Servant, a man among men and women!

Majestic and meek. Baptized - and a baptizer with fire! Life-bringer who came to die! This personal Savior would be called by the names of deity: WISDOM POWER IMMANUEL! God with us!

- C. Isaiah tells us in this passage that the reality of God's gifts of HOPE and STRENGTH and PEACE are personally available, held out to those who will 'WAIT UPON THE LORD!'

Wait upon the Lord!

II. WHAT IS THIS 'WAITING UPON THE LORD'??

- A. "Waiting" would seem to imply something like 'killing time;' like reading old magazines in a doctor's waiting room somewhere while the appointments are an hour behind schedule. Or, waiting might seem simply to let the years go by until God's time gets right, and a certain day or hour appears and God says, "Now you've waited long enough!"

But "wait" here has a personal aspect. It doesn't simply mean letting time pass, but means waiting in expectancy, or looking to God in trust as we watch to see how God will answer our prayer.

And no one, in any age, ever really waits on God in vain! No one ever comes in trust and obedience that does not somehow find that God is IN the prayer, that God is BEHIND the prayer— and that, ultimately, God is HEARING the prayer. [I certainly do not minimize the mystery of prayer. I do not dispute the fact of genuine struggle and even travail in prayer. But God does hear and answer prayer!]

B. But what, then, does this waiting mean?

Waiting on God indicates a sense of DEPENDENCY. Being dependent somehow goes against our All-American western culture Protestant work-ethic positive self-image self-confident way of life and living.

[There ARE benefits to a healthy self-image which I do not deny. There is enormous worth in looking at a task and thinking "I CAN!"]

But in matters of eternity and life and death "I CAN!" somehow fades away into the realization that among the spinning galaxies of ultimate reality there are many things which "I CAN NOT!"

[In "skits" of Bible stories which we used at a recent pastors' retreat one mini-drama had to do with the centurion who came and asked Jesus to heal his servant. The man who represented the centurion was deeply moved, even to tears. Later he said, "I realized that in temporal things I had great authority: 'I say to one, "Come!" and he comes, etc.' But in the things which really mattered (i.e., the life and death of the beloved servant) I was totally helpless, dependent on Jesus."]

Waiting on God is saying to God: We can't do it unless and until YOU do it!

C. So waiting on God is not so much TIME as it is ATTITUDE. It is listening for God. It is seeking to give God our attention. It is being ready for communication from the Master. [It is perhaps like a little dog trotting along, always looking back, always looking up to make sure the master or mistress is coming along, and everything is all right.]

And as we wait, we will hear God! As we wait the things will happen that would NOT have happened if we had not waited! Isaiah makes it clear that the benefits of waiting on God are in the HERE AND NOW!

THEY THAT WAIT UPON THE LORD SHALL RENEW THEIR STRENGTH!

[But we are NOT little dogs trotting along, looking up to the Master's face. We are PEOPLE, living in a tremendously complex world situation. We have tremendously complex lives to lead. Is there any practical guidance for waiting on God?

III. GIVING GOD OUR ATTENTION

- A. We can pray DELIBERATELY to be filled with God's Spirit. William Barclay says:

"The only way to receive the Spirit is to silently and prayerfully WAIT upon the Spirit."

A helpful verse to me is Luke 11:13. Jesus says that if we ask the Father He is more anxious to empower us with the Spirit than we are to give things to our own children! But we need to ASK!

Barclay goes on: "In a church life in which the church is increasingly organized, and in which strenuous activity is the key-note, and in which ACTION is valued above all things it is hard to find time for that apparent doing nothing which means everything."

- B. But can we be even more PRACTICAL? More SPECIFIC? How shall we pray in such a way that we can renew our strength? [I have FOUR suggestions:]

1. By praying HONESTLY. God will only receive as much of our lives as we are willing to give freely to Him. This God who could easily overwhelm us never pushes His way in past locked doors! If you need His help in areas of your life make certain that you have made Him welcome in EVERY area. [sin / confession / open-ness]

2. By praying REGULARLY. Prayer life is not so much a series of major repairs and overhauls as it is keeping a schedule of daily maintenance. Fifteen minutes a day is better than two or three hours every other week!
3. By praying CORPORATELY. Worship together with the Body of Christ is an essential part of waiting on the Lord. Worship is much more than just a convenient time for religious people to get together to hear a common word. The CHURCH has power as it joins in prayer together. "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together" is the word of God (Hebrews 10:24.)
4. Finally, By praying TOGETHER. Not just in the assembly of the Body, but in the daily traffic of life and living, Christians must learn to pray with each other, and pray for each other.

We need to reach out and ask for help. We need to say, "Let's pray!" If it seems like a weakness, it is only admitting before God that He alone is our strength! There is strength and power in weaving the potency of prayer into the daily conversation of our living.

Conclusion

William Barclay again: "God will 'do it again;' that is, renew and revive, both for us individually, and for the church, if we remember that He asks nothing but our attention, and if we learn to wait INTENSELY upon Him."

Prayer:

Lord, We confess freely our need of Your strength. We believe that You are as good as Your word. Help us to wait in simple faith and trust- to give You our full attention. Help us to hear Your Word of power. Amen

The Man Who Pleased God

January 27, 1991

Hebrews 11:5-6 By faith Enoch was taken from this life, so that he did not experience death; he could not be found, because God had taken him away. For before he was taken, he was commended as one who pleased God. And without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to Him must believe that He exists, and that He rewards those who earnestly seek Him.

Introduction

One of my "life verses" is Hebrews 11:6. I think of it just about every day I live. But I do not always remember that it is tied with the story of Enoch, a man who walked with God. "Faith" and "believing" is not something we do in the abstract. When faith is real, it has to do with the way we live our every day lives.

Walking is an everyday thing— we all do it— and we don't think that much about it. It is a habit.

We enjoy flying. We see things from a different perspective. We get some place in a hurry. We are an "expert" because we are more than 100 miles from home. But most of life is lived in the everyday— by walking.

And that is the way life with God has to be! There are no short cuts to character. No special deals made for "experts." We have to do more than just grasp ideas, and understand lessons: we have to let truth come and dwell in our souls through everyday living.

Our text says that Enoch walked with God, was God's companion. And we have to learn to walk with God, too.

I. IT IS A CHOICE TO WALK WITH GOD

A. Genuine, everyday, real FAITH must choose between the spectacular and the genuine.

1. GOD Himself has to be the central reason for the kind of God-pleasing faith that Enoch knew. It is not easy or natural to decide to please God over and above our own natural desires. It is natural to want to please ourselves.

God does good things for people; He brings many wonderful benefits. It is easy to think of God in terms of His benefits and to forget the Person of the Giver Himself!

2. R.T. Kendall (in Believing God) worries about Christians making a big deal about celebrities becoming Christians: "... one of the sadder moments in the history of Christians evangelism has been the introduction of celebrities into evangelistic campaigns. However sincere the motives may be that lie behind the football player, the movie star or the beauty queen that gives testimony for the Lord, this is but an unconscious conspiracy to de-stigmatize the faith. If I become a Christian because of the feeling: ('If a person of such stature or fame has become a Christian, then perhaps it won't be so bad if I do') then I betray that my ultimate concern is people and not God. Jesus asked, 'How can ye believe, which receive honor one of another, and seek not the honor that comes from God only? (John 5:44)'"

There are greater things in life than being rich, famous, or beautiful and culturally smooth.

B. Everyday, overcoming, genuine faith must even choose between the apparent and the genuine.

1. Appearances are all-important to phony Christians. Appearances ARE important; it IS important what other people see: "Avoid the very appearance of evil."

Genuine 'walkers-with-God' have as their first concern the reality of staying near Him; and secondarily only 'what it will seem to other people.' [Illus: Jim Couchenour goes into the local "bar" to share Jesus— and changes lives there forever!]

2. Success in terms of numbers, approval of others, and the like can often be used interchangeably with "victorious faith."

One recent book studying soul-winning groups in America flat-out states that we have mixed up the "success gospel" with Christian faith. Too often we worship the big, the booming, the shiny. But God-centered faith is willing to be thought a failure so far as on-looking people may be concerned!

Paul was a man who certainly pleased God. But listen to these words he wrote to the Corinthian church (I Co. 4:11): "To this present hour we are both hungry and thirsty, and are poorly clothed, and are roughly treated, and are homeless..." Doesn't sound to me as though Paul was a modern-day success story. He didn't have a stretch limo to carry him from pulpit to pulpit!

3. Until we settle it to please God first we will probably continue to have troubles with prosperous evil people, and with hypocrites in the church, and with do-nothing professing Christians. But Enoch-type people are too busy trying to stay in step with God, trying to make their lives please Jesus, that they won't stay de-railed by people for too long!

There are greater things in life than what PEOPLE think!

II. IT IS FRIENDSHIP TO WALK WITH GOD

A. It IS possible to walk with God in 1991 in the stress of our present tensions. The reason more people do NOT walk with Him is NOT that it is all that difficult, or that it requires that we have super-faith or be super-smart (or super-simple.) ANYBODY can walk with God, BUT...

1. To walk with God we must treat Jesus like a PERSON, and not simply as a list of rules. You or I don't walk with God simply by "Dos" and "Don'ts." How do you get acquainted with anyone?
2. To walk with God we must meet Jesus on HIS terms. He is patient and will discuss matters. He is understanding— He will not chide and berate. Jesus even understands failures. But talk to Him! include Him IN in everything you do! And remember, His Word is final!

3. [Meeting Jesus on HIS terms will mean that we must-]

- a. deal with the sin in our lives. God can never fellowship with willful, out-broken sin.
- b. live in open-ness and confession before Him. God will never fellowship with deliberate deceit.
- c. be HOLY! God is HOLY! He wants us to be like HIM, so that we CAN walk with Him! We are "HOLY" when we give ourselves to Him and He accepts us! He makes us "HOLY" when He lives in us, and fills us with His Holy Spirit.
- d. WALK with Him! To walk-
 - lots of people want the "big moments" only "You should have been at summer camp! You should have seen the Christmas Pageant our church put on! GREAT!
But we can't live by FLYING times only! Our fellowship must go beyond "Spurts!"
 - other people want the BABY CARRIAGE treatment. Did you ever see a little kid getting pushed around the mall in his baby-carriage sound asleep? We want God to push us to heaven in His big baby carriage while we take the bottle and nothing else much...

B. Enoch walked! And we have to walk, too! Walking with God is how we get acquainted with Him in depth.

III. IT IS FULFILLMENT TO WALK WITH GOD

[Another word for "fulfillment" might be VICTORY!]

- A. Enoch "was not!" They looked for Enoch high and low. They looked for him all over— and he was gone!
- B. And WE will leave the scene some day, too. We all have an appointment with God!

- C. It must have been wonderful to just be TRANSPORTED UP! But if I understand my Bible correctly, an entire GENERATION OF ENOCH-TYPE PEOPLE WILL BE TRANSLATED!

Conclusion

Every Christian who truly walks with God turns "death" inside out, and never leaves God's Presence.

One entire generation of Christians will know the same translation Enoch knew!

#43 O Master, Let Me Walk with Thee

God as Teacher

February 3, 1991

Psalm 16:11 Thou wilt show me the path of life; in Thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore.

Introduction

This past Wednesday in prayer meeting we looked again at the life of Enoch, the man who walked with God. When we think of the great saints, both biblical and ancient, as well as those in our own past, we tend to stand in awe a bit, and think they were or are a breed apart. We think that they were gifted with a special goodness or sweeter nature or something that lifted them above the everyday grit and grime we live in.

But that simply is not the case. We all have the same possibility to walk with God and be taught of him. No one is "born holy!" Genuine holiness is something which we receive and which we see developed as we cooperate with God. It is not something which springs full blown from an all night of prayer or a spellbinding experience in a retreat somewhere, as valid as that may well be.

Here in this closing verse of Psalm 16 we see:

I. THE UNFOLDING PATHWAY OF LIFE.

When we walk with God the journey is important, and not just the destinations and goals.

- A. We tend to think of success in life (in most areas) as arrivals, of goals, of achievement.
[As: I got the job I wanted; I earned the degree, I made the dollar amount— I have the home— NOW I am "living."]

And God does have "milestones" along the way. There are definite experiences of grace: forgiving, cleansing, infilling, that are scriptural and necessary. God does talk in terms of destinations and levels of attainment that He has in mind for His children (even if God's destinations and attainments are not what His children may think at the time "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man the things that God hath prepared for them that love Him.")

- B. But Eternal Life is also an unfolding reality that has already begun! We miss a great deal, perhaps MOST of what LIFE is all about if we don't enjoy the Presence of God as we journey along the way! The journey is fun when you love the company!

[Journeys in little pre-war cars filled with cousins up to Petoskey for the summer . . . six hours at least- - singing, playing "Alphabet"— watching for landmarks and for deer . . . I think of the gentleness of my Aunt Pearl and her patience along the journey.]

But the text also says that when it comes to learning about life we need, and we HAVE a teacher (a Teacher:)

II. THE PUPIL-TEACHER RELATIONSHIP

"Thou wilt show me the path of life..."

- A. Holiness, Christian life and living, are not really self- taught. We think we discover new truth. We think we find secrets of God's grace. But really we do not discover this "WAY" by our own adventuresome ingenuity alone; we are always mentored!

Some of us have had human mentor-teachers— and all of us have been helped along the way by preaching and teaching and testimonies and gospel singing and the like from fellow humans who have been God's instruments in teaching.

- B. But ALL of us who grow in grace have GOD for a Teacher. How is God seen as TEACHER? What are the qualities of a master- teacher that we can see in God?

[Some of you Education professors could talk more intelligently about these "teacher qualities" we see in God; but we all know that teaching means facts and lessons and assignments and the like. And yet we know that a real teacher teaches much, much more than just facts!]

There is SELF-REVELATION! Somehow a gifted teacher "connects" the facts with life and living. He or she encourages us to face the facts as he or she has faced them. Unconsciously, perhaps, we find ourselves thinking like our beloved teacher! GOOD TEACHERS TEACH THEMSELVES WHETHER THEY WANT TO OR NOT! (Unfortunately, probably so do bad teachers! I hated algebra when during the war (WW II) I had a teacher who didn't understand it that tried to teach it!)

There is some also some kind of DISCIPLINED LOVE! (We somehow remember the "tough" teachers— the ones who demanded something from us! WHY?) There must have been a higher level of respect there.

And God will never let us "get by" with less than what we CAN be and do!

But our text closes with a thrilling thought:

III. A NEVER-ENDING WALK

"At thy right hand there are pleasures for ever more."

A. Earthly relationships do come to an end; they change. Many of my teachers are no longer here. We move on, we change disciplines; we go beyond the level of what one teacher can tell us. We graduate. Mentors become onlookers and colleagues. Hopefully, they also become fast friends.

B. But this greatest teacher-pupil relationship only grows better and more productive.

We can infer from verses such as this that human beings are destined for unimaginable growth throughout the ages! Whatever this means, your greatest potential, and mine, as human beings, comes from this single fact: We shall be in God's Presence, walking with Him, being shown this pathway of life, throughout eternity.

Here Teacher and pupil not only become fast friends, they have entered into a relationship that literally will never end.

Conclusion

God as Teacher

Which brings us back to Enoch, this man who walked with God (as it says in Genesis 5:24.) When we learn to walk with God wonderful things happen.

We learn to please God by our faith and obedience. The most satisfying thing in all the world, bar none, is to have a witness that God is pleased with you. (I would to God I could have that "feeling" once in a while!) But listen to what Hebrews 11:5,6 says:

By faith Enoch was translated so as not to see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had a testimony that he pleased God. But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a Rewarder of them that diligently seek Him. (Wesley's translation.)

Prayer: Be our Teacher, O Lord! Help us to learn from You the Pathway of Life; and help us to stay near You, in Your Presence forevermore, so that we can come to please You and to BE LIKE YOU.

Amen!

The Shepherds Table

February 3, 1991

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He makes me to lie down in green pastures. He leads me beside the still waters. He restores my soul. He leads me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me. Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies. Thou anointest my head with oil. My cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever. Psalm 23

Introduction

This beautiful Psalm is one of God's sweetest gifts to all generations. The pure poetry, along with the personal trust in God it exudes, has spoken in countless circumstances and situations, powerfully time and time again. It is at one and the same time a statement of faith and a prayer. We will never exhaust its supply of strength.

Very often when I am thinking about the sacrament of communion, thinking of Christ and His provision of salvation, thinking of the Last Supper and the words Jesus spoke then:

"This is my body, broken for you; this is my blood;" I think of the phrase in the Shepherd Psalm:

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies.

Somehow I know it "connects." Jesus, our Good Shepherd, is the One who calls us to His table.

I. GOD'S TABLE IS ABOUT FOOD

Jesus took the common things of life and living and elevated them to the status of sacrament. When purity and love are present then all of life is holy. But in a special way Jesus made food and eating part of His most sacred command:

- A. Food is basic stuff. It is connected with life. That isn't too profound. But somehow just about all cultures and civilizations have understood that bread has to do with the mystery of Life; with the God or "gods" that connect with what we cannot understand of beginnings and destinations.
- B. Idols, man-made "gods" demand to be fed. Again and again in the scriptures idols are described. They have to be carried. They are a burden.
- C. But the living God feeds his children. He carries them. We who have been brought up on the truth of the Christian story don't realize the stark contrast of many of the world religions.
- D. God does have demands regarding food. JHWH demanded "shewbread" on the table, which the priests ate. Our God demands our first fruits, our tithes. But do our tithes "support Almighty God?" God provided manna. Jesus broke loaves and fishes and fed multitudes. Again, Jesus provided breakfast along the seashore for the disciples. No, we don't feed God—we simply put Him absolutely "first" and He provides what we need to be/become what He wants us to be.

II. THIS TABLE IS ALSO ABOUT ENEMIES

- A. "Enemies" is basic stuff, too. Who has "enemies" in this sophisticated time? Certainly not Christians! We are past the confrontational stages of life and living!

Enemies are people you hate! People who hate YOU! Christians don't hate!
"Love your enemies!"

The Psalms seem so simple: David hated God's enemies; we are so much more sophisticated!

We don't like the "war-like" examples of the Bible we don't have any enemies!

WHAT? WHAT DO WE DO WITH THE IDEA OF "ENEMIES?"

B. When we seek to do God's will we are opposed.

1. There are forces seeking to cause your defeat. You had better be alert!
2. There are battles we must fight. Every Christian group or individual has some sort of agenda, even if it is just saving the seals. Some of the most militant of people are people who advocate peace.

C. Christians usually fall into one of two categories: either ACTIVIST, or CONVERSIONIST.

1. Activists create pressure. They seek to enact law. They form a moral majority or a green peace. They protest.
2. Conversionists seek to evangelize. Nothing wrong with that— except that all too often this means "Join MY group the way WE say and then circle the wagons and wait for the cavalry." I do not deny that I believe that people need to be born again, and that unless a person is saved he or she is lost.

But there is a third way. Stanley Hauerwas suggests that this "third way" is not in any way a blending of the other two, but a radically different approach to Christian reality!

3. This third way says: EAT IN FRONT OF YOUR ENEMIES! Don't just try to block them in legislature, or persuade them to become a member of your church— but show them your Shepherd!

Instead of an ACTIVIST APPROACH or a CONVERSIONIST APPROACH, this is A CONFSSIONAL APPROACH to Christian living. . . . saying: "Jesus Christ is MY Shepherd! He is MY Lord and MY Master. I will seek to do everything I do in a way to please Him and reveal Him to the world!

III. THE LORD'S TABLE IS ABOUT SANCTUARY

A. This Psalm is highly personal. That is hardly news. We all know it by heart, and yet somehow it has the power to make each one of us feel "special" before God. THAT is deeply satisfying. There are a lot of Christians. Millions, even. But you can relate to God one-on-

The Shepherds Table

One!

- B. Never forget, though, that though it is personal, the star of the Psalm, the focus of the confidence, the object of trust is the Shepherd! "The LORD is my shepherd!" That is confessional. And it is the Lord that maketh and leadeth and restoreth and leadeth (again, for His name's sake) and

Thou art with me

Thy rod and Thy staff comfort me and

THOU preparest and

THOU anointest!

- C. It is NOT a table for two! Yes, it IS personal! But there is fellowship around the Shepherd's table. Actually the fellowship is not the primary thing— even though sometimes it becomes the focus. But the fellowship is incidental to the MEAL.

Conclusion:

I would challenge you this morning to be a confessional Christian!

To "eat in front of your enemies" does not mean you will DO LESS than those who call themselves "activist."

To be "confessional" does not mean that you will TALK LESS ABOUT JESUS than the "conversionists." Probably you will both do and say more than ever before for your Master.

But my challenge to you is that as we eat together this morning you and I will be telling the Shepherd, the Master, our Lord Jesus Christ, that He can make us, He can lead us, He can restore us, He can "rod and staff us" with whatever discipline He sees fit!

Prayer: Meet with us at Your table this morning, O Lord. (Crimond)

FOCUS Psalm 122

I was glad when they said to me, "Let us go to the house of the Lord."

Invocation:

Help us to be very conscious that we are in Your presence, O Lord. Amen.

I heard Reuben Welch via video: speaking from the book of Philippians, and in a nutshell his outline was that Philippians was about

1. Ch 1=LIFE OF CHRIST
2. Ch 2=MIND OF CHRIST
3. Ch 3=GOALS OF CHRIST
4. Ch 4=STRENGTH OF CHRIST and Reuben Welch said that in each case in order to receive that which is Christ's we had to relinquish claim on that which is our own. I like that; and by God's grace, I DO!

The LIFE of Christ in Chapter One

Intro:

Some "take home" verses: (6) For I am confident of this very thing, that He who began a good work in you will perfect it until the day of Christ Jesus. (21) For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.

A. PRIMACY OF PRAYER FOR [the church] FAMILY

3-5 I thank my God in every remembrance of you, always offering prayer with joy in every remembrance of you. God's church is family. Lifting the family in prayer is always in order; always our first order of business.

B. PURPOSE OF PRAYER FOR THE FAMILY

9-11 And this I pray (1) that your love may abound still more and more [i.e. for compassion] (2) in real knowledge and all discernment [i.e. for discernment, mature and grounded faith], (3) so that you may approve the things that are excellent, etc. [i.e. for effectiveness; for being able to major on the majors and minor on the minors.]

C. THE POWER BEHIND PAUL'S PRAYER FOR THE FAMILY

21 For to me, to live is Christ, and to die is gain.

Reuben Welch said that in order to receive that which is Christ's we have to relinquish claim on that which is our own! Paul had deliberately chosen God's will and way over his own. (Galatians 2:20) It is a choice that God will help us to make, too. And to keep on making.

D. THE PATTERN OF LIFE THIS PRAYER PRODUCES

27-30 Only conduct yourselves in a manner worthy of the gospel of Christ . . .

1. standing firm in one spirit [i.e. love, concern for lost]...
2. with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel [i.e. jealous for the Lordship of Jesus Christ; no "pushover" for sweet talk and pantheism]
3. in no way alarmed by your opponents [i.e. we will be opposed; it is a good sign]
4. For to you it has been granted . . . to suffer for (Christ's) sake. [i.e. we can turn our "hardships" into opportunity to really be alive in God.]

GEORGE MÜLLER'S PRAYER LEGACY

In 1836 in Bristol, England, opened an Orphanage with, I believe, 42 children who had neither father or mother. Later Mr. Müller was able to open several other homes for orphans, and greatly expand the numbers of children he served, the last house holding 700 orphans.

What was unique about these orphanages, however, was the way they were funded and supplied. Mr. Müller stated that his third aim was the bodily welfare of the children, but higher than that, he sought their spiritual welfare, that they should know Jesus Christ as Savior. But he declared that his chief aim was the glory of God. He wrote:

"I ... particularly longed to be used by God in getting the dear orphans trained up in the fear of God; - but still, the first and primary object of the work was (and still is:) that God might be magnified by the fact, that the orphans under my care are provided with all they need, only by prayer and faith without anyone being asked by me or my fellow-laborers whereby it may be seen, that God is FAITHFUL STILL, and HEARS PRAYER STILL."

[Read one or two instances of answered prayer:] Read Pages 33-37, starting with the last sentence on page 32: How to be effective in prayer. Conclude with George Müller's

How to Ascertain the Will of God:

"I seek at the beginning to get my heart into such a state that it has no will of its own in regard to a given matter. Nine-tenths of the trouble with people is just here. Nine-tenths of the difficulties are overcome when our hearts are ready to do the Lord's will, whatever it may be. When one is truly in this state, it is usually but a little way to the knowledge of what His will is.

Having done this, I do not leave the result to feeling or simple impression. If so, I make myself liable to great delusions.

I seek the Will of the Spirit of God through, or in connection with, the Word of God. The Spirit and the Word must be combined. If I look to the Spirit alone without the Word, I lay myself open to great delusions also. If the Holy Ghost guides us at all, He will do it according to the Scriptures and never contrary to them.

Next I take into account providential circumstances. These often plainly indicate God's Will in connection with His Word and Spirit.

I ask God in prayer to reveal His Will to me aright.

Prayer Texts

Thus, through prayer to God, the study of the Word, and reflection, I come to a deliberate judgment according to the best of my ability and knowledge, and if my mind is thus at peace, and continues so after two or three more petitions, I proceed accordingly. In trivial matters, and in transactions involving the most important issues, I have found this method always effective."

Lessons from a Man of God

Lenten Series 1991

February 17, 1991

Psalm 90:13 So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts to wisdom.

What are your greatest aspirations and dreams? I hope that they are built around the desire to be a man or woman of God. But if they are, you are not typical! You will not find "godliness" on the "Ten Top" lists for ambitions anywhere that I know. A "godly one," according to Psalm 50:4, is one who has made covenant by sacrifice with God. If you have trusted in the blood of the everlasting covenant, then you are one of God's people— and potentially a godly man or woman!

The world says "Give me goals that I can measure and display! Give me goals that say to the world, 'Here is a success!'" But we will do well to learn to aspire to higher goals than those we can set for ourselves! God's plans for you are better than your own! And God wants you to be a woman of God, a man of God!

Moses was called "a man of God." He wrote the words of our morning's Psalm. It is distilled wisdom. In it Moses tells us:

I. THE PSALM OF MOSES

- A. "Lord, YOU have been our dwelling place in all generations." God is HOME to the godly man or woman. Moses would teach us to think of God Himself as our HOME.

Of course this doesn't sound "practical." God may help us with our ethics or our personal peace, or our problems. But centering our whole life in God? Really?

Moses learned through years of living that the Presence of God Himself is the secret to wisdom. God does provide, work miracles, fight our battles; but the man or woman that simply lives with God, and does not just seek to use Him is the man or woman of God.

But living with God is not automatic. Moses says:

- B. "Teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts to wisdom." The godly man or woman is a teachable person, and seeks to have God Himself for the Teacher. We look at this verse and think of time management, and disciplines of business administration; and these are excellent. Moses specifically asks GOD Himself to teach him whatever skills he needs.
- C. Finally in this Psalm Moses prays "Establish our works, O Lord! Don't let us live our lives in vain!" There is that cry for immortality and for meaning. And Moses was able to get some important things done in his lifetime!

II. THE LIFE OF MOSES

Moses went through three distinct stages or periods in his life:

- A. First Moses had an ACTIVIST STAGE. For the first forty years or so of his life, Moses was a prince in the richest country of the world. In this stage Moses no doubt saw himself as a key player in any social revolution that needed to take place. His faith was chiefly in himself. And when he struck out, he struck out! He killed an Egyptian who was beating a Hebrew slave— and ended up being hunted like a common murderer.
- B. Then Moses went through an ISOLATIONIST PERIOD. He dropped out, and he probably intended to stay unspotted from the world. But on the back side of an Arabian desert Moses encountered a God who wouldn't leave him alone; a God who called him by his name: "Moses!"
- C. So finally Moses came to a CONFSSIONAL FAITH IN THIS GOD: and the "man of God" era in Moses' life began in earnest. With nothing but the rod in his hand and his brother, Aaron for company, Moses went back to Egypt at God's command, and the rest is history:
 - 1. He led perhaps 1,000,000 Hebrew men, women and children out of the hands of the Pharaoh of Egypt.

2. He met with God on the mountain we call Sinai, and delivered to the world the Ten Commandments.
3. He formed the nation of Israel from this band of slaves, and delivered them to the borders of the Promised Land. Quite a life's accomplishment!
4. Then Moses died! But before he died, Moses called all the people together. Most of them had not been around when the slaves had left Egypt. Moses gave them the Law a second time. And then Moses sang them a song. God gave this 120-year-old man a song of praise. There it is in the 31st chapter of Deuteronomy. We usually skip through it hurriedly on our way to the Book of Joshua, if we read the Old Testament at all.

But that isn't quite the end of the story of Moses, the man of God:

III. THE SONG OF MOSES

The song of Moses, curiously, is also a part of the final book of the Bible, the book we call "Apocalypse" or The Revelation. Over in one corner of the vast mural of epic struggle which is the Apocalypse is a mysterious inscription of blessing. (14:13) John writes:

And I heard a voice out of heaven saying, Write, From henceforth happy are the dead who die in the Lord: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors. Their works follow them.

And nearby, in this same corner of the gallery is a living portrayal of victorious saints -(perhaps even you and me?)- who have fought the good fight. They are standing by a sea of glass that looks as if is mixed with fire, and they have musical instruments in their hands, harps that God Himself has given them. They are singing a song. What do you suppose the song they are singing is called? It is called The Song of Moses, and of the Lamb! Do you want to hear it? Frankly, I don't know the tune! But I do have the words! It comes right out of the song Moses sang in Deuteronomy 31!

Great and marvelous are your deeds Lord God Almighty. Just and true are your ways King of the ages. Who will not fear you, O Lord, And bring glory to your name? For you alone are holy. All nations will come And worship before you, For your righteous acts have been revealed.

Conclusion:

Moses writes: "Lord, teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts to wisdom!"

Just how realistic is it to have a life-goal of being a man or woman of God? Why does that somehow sound like "preacher talk," borderline fanaticism?

No, we aren't timid about other kinds of goals. We say, "Give me goals I can measure and display. Give me achievements that say to all the world: Here is a success!"

But we will do well to learn to aspire to higher goals than those we can set for ourselves!

Moses knew the people (he spoke to just before his death) would say that being men and women of God was beyond them, too. But listen to his words (from Deuteronomy 30:11):

Now what I am commanding you today is not too difficult for you or beyond your reach. It is not up in heaven, so that you have to ask, 'Who will ascend into heaven to get it and proclaim it so we can obey it?' Nor is it beyond the sea, so that you have to ask, 'Who will cross the sea to get it and proclaim it to us so we may obey it?' No. the word is very near you; it is in your mouth and in your heart so you may obey it.'

If the Bible is true then we had better be serious about letting God help us with our life's goals! And if the Bible is true, then one day we may all be taking part in a song the Apocalypse calls The Song of Moses and of the Lamb! If God is our dwelling place, when the time comes, the words and music will come along, too!

Prayer: Lord, You ARE our dwelling place! Teach us how to number OUR days that we may apply OUR hearts to wisdom. Amen.

Dress for Dinner

February 24, 1991

Introduction

There is one recurring nightmare that is common to many people in one form or another. I confess that I have had this nightmare in several different forms. Maybe you know the story: you are scheduled to appear in public- perhaps make a speech or presentation- and at the last minute you aren't properly dressed. Perhaps you are in your underwear or worse. At any rate real panic sets in when you think of how you are going to face the expectations of the people when you know that you are unprepared.

I. TWO INSTANCES IN SCRIPTURE OF THIS "RECURRING NIGHTMARE"

A. The man and woman in the Garden. (Genesis 3)

The idea of clothing as covering goes back a long, long way. Eve said to Adam, "I think the Lord Himself is coming to dinner, and I don't have a thing to wear!" There in Genesis Chapter Three the man and the woman in the Garden had a command performance when they suddenly discovered they weren't properly dressed. A lot of sermons have been preached about fig leaves and coats of skins provided by a gracious God. But from the first book of the Bible to the last, it seems to be important what we are wearing when.

After they had disobeyed God's clear commandment Adam and Eve seemed to know they were naked, and they were ashamed of their nakedness. Here was loss of innocence; here was the beginning of genuine guilt. The result for Adam and Eve was a loss of the joy and peace of the beautiful Garden, and exile from God's Presence.

B. The dinner guest at the wedding feast (text passage.)

Something of this same theme is carried in a parable or story that Jesus told. He told it as a parable of what the kingdom of heaven is like.

In this story a king is giving a wedding party for his son. When his first invited guests don't show up, the king practically shanghai's a host of people come to the great celebration. They are urged, cajoled, commanded to come— to a banquet, a feast— the high point in the social calendar of a lifetime, perhaps.

But when the king walks through the banquet hall and sees a poor fellow there experiencing a real-life episode of the recurring nightmare, he has him put in handcuffs and shackles and sends him off to the deepest, darkest, dankest dungeon in the realm.

Somehow, in our modern mind-set it hardly seems fair. We don't know just how to take it. Then, as if to make the application even more difficult Jesus tacks on the proverb:

For many are called, but few are chosen.

WHAT CAN THESE TWO STORIES ABOUT 'CLOTHES' HAVE TO SAY TO US?

II. CLOTHING AS A RESPONSE TO LIFE

A. Have you ever thought about THE MEANING OF CLOTHES?

Actually, dress is one way in which we respond to reality. How many times have you said, "I'll listen to the weather person today to see what I should wear"? A reasonable approach to clothes, certainly.

But warmth or protection from the elements are only one reason, and perhaps not even the most basic or primary reason we wear clothes. Perhaps you haven't thought much about it, but we wear clothes because of modesty; we wear clothes as ornaments or fashion statements; there are occasions when the wearing of clothing expresses meaningful symbolism; think of a long white gown of lace with a sheer veil; think of a khaki uniform with four stars on each shoulder; think of a shirt with black and white stripes (which way do the stripes run?); you see, we wear clothes for much more reasons than simply protection from the elements.

- B. Consciously or unconsciously, the way we dress makes a statement. We try to learn to interpret; to look beyond superficialities. We try to know the woman or the man and we say, "How he or she dresses doesn't really matter."

I recall when holiness people wore uniforms, sure as can be. I remember when sermons told people— and mostly women— how to and not to dress. (Thank the Lord, those days are past.)

But like it or not we process appearance into what we think of people.

- C. In the scriptures, clothing often symbolizes or represents the way we respond to life! Clothing ultimately becomes our character! Our spiritual clothing is how we protect ourselves from the spiritual realities; how we deal with our failures; how we act and react in our relationships.

Listen to these words (in Isaiah 59) describing Messiah at least in part in terms of what He is wearing, or 'puts on:'

Now the Lord saw that there was no justice and He saw that there was no man . . . then His own arm brought salvation to Him and His righteousness upheld Him; And He put on righteousness like a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on His head; and He put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and wrapped Himself with zeal as a mantle (etc.)

We ourselves are commanded to "put on the whole armor of God" and to clothe ourselves in Christ garments of grace, garments of glory. And in the message of Jesus to the church at Laodocia he says:

I advise you to buy from Me . . . white garments, that you may clothe yourself, and that the shame of your nakedness may not be revealed . . (etc.)

To be found undressed, or dressed improperly is not just embarrassing in this spiritual sense, it means coming up short in character. It means being incomplete in personal preparation for our relationship with God Himself!

III. WHAT IS BEING CLOTHED PROPERLY IN CONTEXT OF REVELATION 16:15

[Behold, I am coming like a thief. Blessed is the one who stays awake and keeps his garments, lest he walk about naked and they see his shame. Revelation 16:15]

- A. It means being clothed in righteousness. The great hymn says in part that we may be "Dressed in His righteousness alone, Faultless to stand before the throne." When we are saved we are justified ("Just-as-if-I'd"-never-sinned!) We are then clothed in Christ's righteousness. HIS perfect life is IMPUTED to our account!
- B. But these garments may be soiled. Jesus warns the church at Sardis. Evidently the many have soiled their garments. What does this mean?

Their works have not been completed; they have not followed through. Like the wedding guest without the wedding garment, they have not taken seriously the need for further preparation.

What does it mean to keep the garments of the spirit unsoiled?

- C. A degree of alertness is required. (Text) Stay awake! Keeping one's garments unsoiled means exercising the cleansing grace of God. It doesn't mean perfection in the sense of performance. It does imply utter seriousness about watching for the will of God; of watching for the wiles of the enemy as well.

The blessing (beatitude) is for those who stay awake and for those who keep their garments. It is NOT necessary to be embarrassed when the king comes! We CAN be clothed in the righteousness of God's grace!

CONCLUSION

There are TWO garments mentioned in the passage directed to Sardis: There is the garment of GRACE which we may keep unsoiled; this is the imputed righteousness that is sanctification begun, and sanctification through and through, and sanctification up-to-date. But there is another garment: the promise is that they who have not soiled their garments SHALL WALK WITH ME (with Jesus!) IN WHITE! The final clothes we shall wear will be like the glistening robes that Jesus Himself wears! When we shall see Him, we shall be like Him! Paul fairly sings to the Corinthians,

For this perishable must put on the imperishable, and this mortal must put on immortality. Thanks be to God who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ! I Corinthians 15

We have all be called to dinner! We are all invited! But Jesus said, Many are called, BUT FEW ARE CHOSEN! There is still time for us to GET dressed and to STAY DRESSED for this greatest of all invitations!

78(EH) When He Shall Come

Scripture

And to the angel of the church in Sardis write: He who has the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars, says this:

I know your deeds, that you have a name that you are alive, but you are dead. Wake up and strengthen the things that remain, which were about to die; for I have not found your deeds completed in the sight of God. Remember therefore what you have received and heard; and keep it, and repent. If you therefore will not wake up, I will come like a thief, and you will not know at what hour I will come upon you. But you have a few people in Sardis who have not soiled their garments; and they will walk with me in white; for they are worthy. He who overcomes shall thus be clothed in white garments; and I will not erase his name from the book of life, and I will confess his name before My Father, and before His angels. He who has an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. Revelation 3: 1 - 6

Then the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves loin coverings . . . And the LORD God made garments of skin for Adam and his wife, and clothed them. Genesis 3: 7, 21

Then (the king) said to his slaves, The wedding is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy. God therefore to the main highway, and as many as you find there, invite to the wedding feast. And those slaves went out into the streets, and gathered together all they found, both evil and good; and the wedding hall was filled with dinner guests. But when the king came in to look over the dinner guests, he saw there a man not dressed in wedding clothes, and he said to him, Friend, how did you come in here without wedding clothes? And he was speechless. Then the king said to the servants, Bind him hand and foot, and cast him into outer darkness; in that place there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. For many are called, but few are chosen. Matthew 22: 8 - 14

Behold, I am coming like a thief. Blessed is the one who stays awake and keeps his garments, lest he walk about naked and they see his shame. Revelation 16:15

Faith for Resurrection

March 17, 1991

Jesus said, I AM the resurrection and the life! - John 11:25

Revelation 20:4-6

". . . And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus and because of the word of God, and those who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received the mark upon their forehead and upon their hand; and they came to life and reigned with Christ for a thousand years. The rest of the dead did not come to life until the thousand years was completed. This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is the one who has a part in the first resurrection; over these the second death has no power, but they will be priests of God and of Christ and will reign with Him for a thousand years.

11-15 " And I saw a great white throne and Him who sat upon it, from whose presence earth and heaven fled away, and no place was found for them. And I saw the dead, the great and the small, standing before the throne, and the books were opened; and another book was opened, which is the book of life; and the dead were judged, every one of them according to their deeds. And death and Hades were thrown into the lake of fire. This is the second death, the lake of fire. And if anyone's name was not found written in the book of life, he was thrown into the lake of fire.

INTRODUCTION

Come Easter, we celebrate the victory of the Lord Jesus Christ over sin and death and the grave, and particularly, His resurrection in power and glory. The theme of life and death is central to our understanding of salvation. For some light on "resurrection" I have turned to this seemingly esoteric passage in Revelation 20.

I. A DIFFICULT PASSAGE, REVELATION 20

A. The entire prophetic statement of the Book of Revelation is difficult to understand, and this passage is no exception. You can be sure that there are plenty of willing interpreters around, but the only problem is that very few of them agree with each other. The only thing of which we may be certain is that there is genuine mystery involved here.

B. MYSTERY

Whenever we have the meeting of a holy, infinite God with the history of sinful and finite mortal men and women, we have more than we can fully comprehend or understand. It is foolish to outline and predict the exact order of events of end times. The element of "prediction" is not necessary to salvation, and should never become a major concern when reading the scripture.

But just because there is a strong component of mystery here does not mean that we cannot say that God does not speak through such passages. By the Holy Spirit we may receive and understand a clear, factual message.

C. FACT

In this sobering passage that one day we shall all understand much more clearly, first-hand, there are some lessons that are not up for interpretation, at least not to my understanding.

1. There is the fact of human accountability before God. John said, "I saw (all) the dead, the great along with the small, standing before God. And the books were opened, and another book which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged every one of them according to their deeds."
2. This makes it plain that death as we know it is NOT the end of human existence. There is something for every man, woman, boy and girl that lies beyond the grave.
3. But another fact this passage from Revelation tells us is that immortality is not the same as eternal life. Just being raised from the dead to judgment is not the same as being free from what the scriptures term "the second death."

[TRANSITION TO II. - This raises two pointed questions:

1. What IS eternal life?
2. How may I be sure to take part in the resurrection of the holy?

For answers we leave the Book of the Revelation and turn to the One Who came to interpret God to us, to the Living Word Himself. (In the 11th Chapter of the Gospel of John:)]

II. A COMPANION PASSAGE, JOHN 11: THE SIGN OF LAZARUS

In the Gospel of John (11: 1 - 44) is the CLIMACTIC MIRACLE of the Gospels, the account of the raising from the dead of one of Jesus' friends, Lazarus.

- A. The simple story is one we all know, or certainly ought to know: Jesus loved (agapeo) Martha, Mary and Lazarus. They had made their home His home. He and they were friends. They cared for each other.
- B. Then while Jesus was away across the Jordan Lazarus took sick. Evidently right from the start the sisters knew it was a serious illness. They sent word to their great Friend. Jesus got the message. And as far as they were concerned He did nothing about it until it was too late.
- C. But then what took place became a galvanizing DEMONSTRATION OF THE MASTERY OF JESUS OVER DEATH. It was not something Jesus merely did to "play games" with his friends' lives. No one simply "uses" Jesus, and I believe that we can trust Him not to simply use our friendship callously. This is a complicated story. John doesn't try to hide it. Jesus wept. He cared. He sorrowed. He shared in suffering. He wasn't a showman, playing games with people's life-drama; using Lazarus like some laboratory experiment.
- D. But what did transpire there has served across the centuries as a witness of Christ's mastery over life and death. He stepped to the tomb, and with a loud voice called Lazarus back from the realm of the dead into the land of the living.
- E. This miracle of miracles in John's gospel, the resurrection of Lazarus, crystallized the opposition that had been growing against the person and the mission of Jesus. Lazarus became a celebrity (John 12:9) as multitudes came to see this man who had been dead four days and then brought back to life. The Pharisees were disheartened; "the world is gone after Him!" was their complaint (John 12:19.)

- F. You might think they would have admitted their error and worshiped Jesus, too. But they decided to make on last-ditch effort against Him. The human machinery for the crucifixion was set in motion.

[BUT HOW DOES THIS 'SHED LIGHT' ON THE PASSAGE? Coming back to the questions "What is LIFE?" and "How can I take part in the resurrection of the holy?"]

III. OUR WORD FOR TODAY - OUR ASSURANCE IN LIFE AND DEATH

- A. The key of this story, and the place where the two passages connect, are the words of Jesus just before He speaks the words of power that brought the dead back to life.

JESUS SAID, "I AM THE RESURRECTION AND THE LIFE!"

1. These words were spoken as He responded to practical Martha. Later when Mary says the same words, Jesus doesn't repeat Himself, He weeps! Martha said: "Lord, if You had been here You could have DONE SOMETHING!"
2. Jesus said, in effect, "There is something more than being able to DO something! You haven't yet realized who I AM! I AM SOMETHING!" "I AM LIFE!" "I AM RESURRECTION!"

- B. Inset:

1. What IS life? Being able to relate, to correspond to the environment. Physical life is being able to breathe air, to eat food, to smell odors, to hear sounds, to reach out and touch and feel.
2. But what, then, is ETERNAL LIFE? Eternal LIFE is being able to relate, to correspond with God Himself! Being able to relate, to correspond with the Source of Life! Jesus is the touch-stone, the connection, the eternal Word, the Expression of God.
3. Physical life is "threshold life" where, if we stand on tiptoe, we can look into eternity. Physical life is discovering that we are made in God's image and yet that the image is broken and empty and needs the touch of the Creator God to make it whole again. Physical life as we know it now is Paradise Lost, it is God-hunger. St. Augustine said it perhaps more beautifully than any other: "Thou hast made us for Thyself, O God, and our hearts are restless 'til they find their rest in Thee."

- C. Jesus, Himself, IS ETERNAL LIFE! When we know Jesus and are IN HIM we begin to share His LIFE, and we are even now alive unto God. Eternal life is not just something which will happen in the future after this "real world" ends; eternal life is the real world dawning into our consciousness even now.

So this is what we understand that Jesus meant when He said: He that is now alive, and believes in Me, shall never die! If we know Jesus, and are alive IN HIM, we will have no need to fear in the unfolding of the apocalyptic mystery.

CONCLUSION

A. THE PROMISE OF BLESSING

1. The beatitude "Blessed and holy is the one who has part in the first resurrection." Of whom is John speaking?
2. How may I be sure that John is including ME in this beatitude?
3. To answer that satisfactorily we need to answer the question Jesus asked at the grave of Lazarus: Do YOU believe that I AM the resurrection and the Life?

B. THE ASSURANCE WE MAY RECEIVE:

1. The assurance is divinely revealed. It is dangerous to "assume" or "presume" or to be humanly "persuaded."
2. But you can be sure! Jesus responds to the whosoever! (John 3:16) But you MUST respond!
3. Our response is simply "Living FOR Jesus!"

[Do I have to live at a certain intensity? How about the strong feelings I felt last week during revival? I called Stephen Manley, and he spoke to us all— including me! I know that I do not have the same intensity in my approach to living. Can I be a true believer and still be "me?" The all-important thing, as Dr. Manley said again and again, is WHO is at the center!]

Faith for Resurrection

#335 Living for Jesus

Baptismal Service

EH #58 - Soldiers of Christ, Arise!

March 24, 1991

If we have not done so before, the congregation stands to repeat The Apostles' Creed (513 WS): [Be seated]

Mini-Homily:

Our last baptismal service was January 12, before the air war began in Iraq, before the counter-war began. We are sensitive to the horror of war, and perhaps for that reason were (and are) somewhat reluctant to use the terminology of warfare to describe the Christian way at that time for obvious reasons.

The fact remains, warfare is what the Christian way really is! The entire Universe is engaged in a contest of good and evil, and somehow the human personality is in the middle of the conflict.

Sometimes we try to clean up the stories of the Old Testament, and we worry about a primitive concept of God, or a God of war and vengeance. We get side-tracked in questions of history or sociology when we haven't faced up to our own personal struggles of theology. We need to read the Old Testament first of all in the light of what we know and who we are today— and certainly God is not directing any of us to be primarily warriors or literally taking up physical weapons. But there is nevertheless a life-and-death struggle for your soul, for the souls of your loved ones, for the soul of our generation.

The powers of good and evil are strong, and our human resources of themselves are weak. But God never intended that we should fight the battle against evil in our own strength, or using merely human wisdom and power. The history of grace and salvation is a story of God's intervening, stepping into the battle on behalf of human beings who look to Him for help.

Baptismal Service

The sacrament of baptism is a statement to three worlds watching that you are siding with Almighty God in this warfare. You are turning your back on the sinful, selfish way of life. You are leaving the land of slavery and bondage. You are crossing the Red Sea of obedience and following the Pillar of Fire of the Holy Spirit and the Bible and the Body of Christ, the Church.

You are casting your lot in with God, and with Jesus you are dying to that which opposes God and good and Life; you are dying and being buried to sin, and to all claims of the devil, and you are raised to newness of life with Jesus Christ in His resurrection victory over sin and death and hell.

Why we use water in this ceremony— even as we use real bread and drink in the sacrament of communion— is because the sacrament is a token to us of how the real world of God and Life and the Infinite somehow makes contact and intermingles and transfigures the real world of broken life and imperfect love and anguish where we live now. You will be covered with real water, and get wet— and that immersion will say to us all:

I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me; and the life that I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me, and gave Himself for me. Galatians 2:20

The words of ritual in the Church of Jesus Christ across the years have referred to the significance of water in the ceremony of baptism:

NOAH AND THE ARK were saved by water

ISRAEL THROUGH RED SEA in a covenant relationship, led by the hand of Moses, then later

THROUGH THE JORDAN RIVER at flood-tide, into the Promised Land, where the Israelites did not need to fight for themselves so much as they needed to follow God and obey Him (a la Jericho)

We are baptized with real water as we remember

JESUS BAPTISM WITH SINNERS, when He identified with us, against the protest of John the Baptist.

We are baptized with water

SIGNIFYING THE WASHING AWAY OF SINS THROUGH SPIRITUAL BIRTH as well as the significance of BEING "BURIED WITH CHRIST AND arising with Him in newness of life.

We mention also such scriptures as

Mark 16:16 "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; he that believeth not shall be damned."

Acts 2 where Peter says

[Peter]: "Repent and be baptized every one of you for the remission of sins and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost.

You are obeying your Master, Jesus Christ in presenting yourselves for baptism here this day.

(Shall we pray)

Prayer: O Father, Give the assurance of Your Holy Spirit's Presence to these persons who confess Your name and declare their faith in the sacrament of Baptism today! In Jesus' Name. Amen.

[Will the congregation please stand; will the Baptismal Candidates stand here at the altar; and those wishing to re- affirm their vows publicly stand with them. May we ALL hear the questions, and answer them before God as an affirmation of our belonging to the Body of Christ:]

Beloved:

Desiring to receive holy Baptism, the Lord Jesus Himself has promised in His Word the things we have prayed for; the Church of Jesus Christ stands ready to receive

Baptismal Service

you, and you may count on His faithfulness, as well as the steadfastness of the true Church until He comes.

Your part is to promise by God's grace to renounce the devil and all his works, to constantly believe God's holy Word, and to obediently keep Christ's commandments.

Please give public testimony by answering the following questions appropriately:

Do you renounce the devil and all his works, the vain pomp and glory of the world, with all covetous desires of the same, and the carnal desires of the flesh, so that thou wilt not follow, nor be led by them?

Answer: I renounce them all.

Do you believe in the truth as stated in the Apostle's Creed?

Answer: All this I steadfastly believe.

Will you be baptized in this faith?

Answer: It is my desire.

Will you then obediently seek to do God's holy will and in love keep His commandments, and walk with Jesus as your Savior and Lord all the days of your life?

Answer: God being my helper, I will endeavor so to do.

Prayer:

Grant, O Lord, that these persons may truly be buried with Christ as dead indeed unto sin and evil affections, and that they may be raised to newness of life in Christ.

Grant that this baptism may be a true means of grace that they may know that they have power and strength to triumph over the world, the flesh and the devil, sharing in Your victory all the days of their lives.

Grant that they may live forever in unity with You, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, in the fellowship of Your Body, the Church. Through Jesus Christ, Amen.

[To the candidates;]

In just a few moments, as we baptize each one of you, we affirm that you are full members, not necessarily of this organization we call the Church of the Nazarene, but full members of the Church of Jesus Christ, and living participants in the Body of Christ.

[Those of you have re-affirmed your Christian Baptism of other years, we pray that God indeed does witness to your hearts that you, too, are called to be a vital part in the Church of Jesus Christ, living members in the Body of Christ, the Church.]

The Baptismal Candidates may leave to prepare for the Sacrament. Those who have re-affirmed their vows may return to your seats; you all may be seated.

(Congregational Song - Sacrament - Benediction and/or as appropriate, led by Pastor Nielson)

Pastor Nielson close the service and give benediction.

Faith to Greet the Coming King

Palm Sunday 1991

March 24, 1991

Revelation 22:7 Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book.

John 12:12-15; Matthew 21: 4 - 9; Luke 19: 35 - 38; Mark 11: 7 - 10; Philippians 2: 1 - 11

This text from the last chapter of the Bible has two distinct parts. (1) It declares that the risen Lord, the Alpha and Omega, is coming, and coming suddenly. (2) It also pronounces a beatitude, a blessing, on those who are prepared for this coming (parousia) by keeping the words of the prophecy. What can this mean? First, a look at Christ's unexpected coming.

Just about every time Jesus came on the scene of action He did it in an unexpected way. His coming was never out of character, nor was it ever contrived, or designed merely to impress or surprise. But it seems that an essential part of His character is that He is beyond our predictions!

I. OUR CHRISTIAN FAITH IS ALL ABOUT GOD COMING WHERE WE ARE

A. In Jesus Christ, God enters into our world and into our lives- and always in a way we cannot quite anticipate:

1. In His Initial Appearance on earth, His Nativity, Jesus surprised the Universe! Jesus was born, the Son of God, the King of kings, the long-awaited Messiah, in a cattle shed.
2. When he was a lad of twelve He was lost by his parents because of their presumption, and found again in the company of doctors and learned men, where he said, "Don't you understand that I must be about my Father's business?"

3. He began His ministry as a despised citizen of the town of Nazareth, (a Nazarene!) when the saying among the Jews of the time was, "Can anything good come out of Nazareth?"
 4. One time He missed the last boat to Capernaum, and startled the disciples by appearing out of the gloom of night walking on the water to catch up.
 5. He was too late to attend the funeral of Lazarus, but you know what He did when He went with the mourners to the grave.
- B. Jesus is still in the business of coming into people's lives! By His Spirit, Jesus still enters lives, and makes His Presence known and felt, and convinces men and women of sin, and righteousness and judgment, and of His love and forgiveness.
- Every Christian is a unique story. Every one of us who has met Jesus has met Him along the way of everyday living, and yet in a miracle of grace He had made Himself known! Jesus comes to YOU!
- C. But this is not all the text means. There is another appearance of Christ, what we call The Second Coming, that is spoken of all through the New Testament.
1. In these final chapters of Revelation the smoke of battle has cleared away, leaving a wondrous vision of a new heaven and new earth, and of a splendid and majestic holy city descending from heaven.
- In the midst of this glorious description, at the heart of the message of Revelation, is the message from the risen Lord: I am coming, and I am coming quickly.
2. You may be sure that Jesus will surprise us all in the way that He appears when He comes again. The text says: "Behold, I come quickly!" It is the closing theme of the entire Bible.
- D. How much should this "Second Coming" dominate our everyday living? How much should we be thinking about that coming?
1. What part does eschatology, the doctrine of "last things," play in our everyday Christian faith? [Eschatology is that part of our scriptural understanding that tells us that with God we are going somewhere, and not aimlessly lost in time and space. It is an important part of every true Christian's faith or creed.]

2. To make the Second Coming a part of our faith does NOT mean that we live in an unnatural, panic-stricken, white-robed- waiting-on-the-mountaintop attitude. Rather we must build the concept of looking for the coming of the Christ into our attitude for everyday living.
3. (Transition:) The Palm Sunday story is another one of Christ's "unexpected comings." Perhaps it can shed light on the text:

II. JESUS MADE AN UNEXPECTED APPEARANCE THAT FIRST PALM SUNDAY

- A. Jesus came on His own terms (as outlined in that passage from Philippians 2): He did NOT come to meet anyone's expectations:
 1. The people had different ideas of who He was and why He was coming— they came for many different reasons to see Him— but that did not change what was taking place:
 - a. Why the people came
 - John 12:17: multitudes came because Jesus had raised Lazarus;
 - Luke 19:37 a multitude of disciples were praising God for the miracles they had seen;
 - Mark doesn't really describe the crowd except to say that some were going ahead and some were following behind.
 - b. What the people thought:
 - The religious leaders thought they had a rebellion on their hands that they could no longer control: (John 12:19) "The whole world is gone after Him."
 - Most only partly understood or understood not at all: Matthew says (21:10-11) that when they got into the city itself all the city was stirred and asking, WHO IS THIS? And the answer the disciples gave was partial: This is the prophet Jesus, from Nazareth in Galilee."

c. Jesus was, as always, "in character." He incarnated that passage from Philippians 2, (that passage which James Heyward read for us, THE "KENOSIS" PASSAGE), in which Jesus' full character is revealed:

- Not grasping for His rights
- Servant (doulos)
- Obedient unto death
- Shame

and yet somehow regal, kingly, on His way to the Cross not as a martyr, but as a Warrior to conquer hell and sin and death, so that somehow we understand the rest of the passage that says the He shall be Highly exalted.

Who could have predicted that the lowly Nazarene, gentle Jesus would come into Jerusalem like this, stopping to weep over the city, then permitting the parade to go on? Who could have thought that having come through that Eastern Gate which is now walled shut, He would dare to enter into the Temple and turn over the money changers' tables? Who could have looked ahead to Friday, and beyond that to Sunday?

B. No doubt He will not come in humiliation like that again. Then He was on His way to become "sin" for us to open a way for us to enter into His righteousness, that we might become "holy" and be with Him forever— beginning NOW!

But He will come! And He will surprise us! He said so! He will be coming again!

[Transition:] The second part of the text is a promise to those "who keep the words of the prophecy of this book":

III. ' WE CAN'T GET READY, WE HAVE TO BE READY! '

A. And what does all this have to do with Palm Sunday, and the "kenosis passage"??

Blessed are those who keep the words of the prophecy of this book!" How in the world do we: "Keep the words of this prophecy?"

1. We understandably love Easter, and want to identify with Jesus in victory over death and sin and the grave. We want to know Jesus in power- which is culminating in His Return: "I come quickly!"

Here we stand on Palm Sunday amid the miracles and the palm branches and want to jump right over from here to there. Yes, we know the story of Christ and the Cross. But what does that have to do with you and me?

2. But remember, the Book of Revelation is about struggle. It is about warfare, and the battle of Good and Evil. Christian faith is taking a stand for God and good. Jesus could not simply jump from Palm Sunday to Easter— he had to march through Gethsemane and a Mock Trial and Calvary and the Tomb as a Warrior- - as our Champion— before He could stand on the mountain top of Easter. "He was made in fashion as a man . . . and humbled Himself . . . and took the form of a servant and became obedient unto death, even the death of the Cross; wherefore God hath highly exalted Him and given Him a name that is above every name ..."
3. Do you begin to see what "keeping the words of this prophecy" means in relation to being ready to meet Jesus in His victorious coming? It isn't understanding all the trumpets and vials and visions of the Apocalypse. Most of Revelation is undecipherable to most people. But the "simple part" of Revelation (Chapters 2 & 3) is about (1) keeping a fresh love to Christ, and (2) avoiding immorality and outright heresy, and (3) being faithful even when we feel small and (4) staying dependent on Christ for Life itself.

4. Or, keeping the prophecy is simply seeking to stay in tune with the Jesus of Palm Sunday, our Christ who is coming soon. Paul puts it this way: "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus!"

Anticipating Christ's coming is not a matter of keeping rules, or doing this or not doing that. Watching for Jesus means loving Him, and living to please Him, and seeking to be like Him.

- B. Hear again the words of the text, this Beatitude of Revelation: (Revelation 22:7) Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book. That promise, along with every other blessing of the church, is OURS if we will receive it!

Prayer: Lord Jesus, We know now how the battle will turn out. We know that You have already won! But help us to be faithful each day, that we might keep the words of love You gave us, and be worthy to meet You when You come. In Your name we pray. Amen.

Dawning of the Eternal Day

Easter Sunday Morning

March 31, 1991

Revelation 22: 14 - 17 Jesus: "I AM the bright and morning star."

Introduction

Our text is the final beatitude of the Revelation: Revelation 22:14 "Blessed are those who wash their robes, that they may have the right to the tree of life and may go through the gates into the city."

With this promise the Bible has come full circle, back to where the human race began, in the Garden of Eden. Through His victory on Calvary and by the power of His Resurrection, Jesus has restored all that was lost when our first parents sinned.

I. THE LAST BLESSING IN THE BIBLE

A. This final Beatitude of the entire Bible is expressed in three phrases: Blessed are . . .

1. ... those who have washed their robes
2. ... for they have the right to the tree of life, and they
3. ... have access to the gates of the city, New Jerusalem.

What does that have to do with Adam and Eve and Eden? And what does it have to do with Calvary and Resurrection?

B. Perhaps it is too difficult to thoroughly treat in just one Easter Sunday sermon, but

1. When our first parents sinned they lost their innocence. They knew that they were naked; they were ashamed. They sought to cover their shame with aprons of leaves, and a gracious God made them coats of skin.

Here in the closing verses of Scripture we read of those who are not naked, they are not ashamed, but they have robes, robes of righteousness, washed and made white in the blood of Calvary's Lamb.

Not only is innocence restored, but innocence becomes holiness; a deliberate choice, made possible by grace.

2. When our first parents sinned they were quickly banned from eating of the tree of life in the center of the garden. Part of their curse was physical and spiritual death.

But here in this final beatitude we are told that God's people will have access to the tree of life that grows by the throne of God. Because of His victory over sin and death and the grave, the separation of sin is being overcome once and for all, and we shall live with Jesus, in His Presence, forever.

3. When our first parents sinned they were put out of the Garden, banned from the Paradise that had been their home, where in the cool of the day they had walked and talked with God Himself. All that that entailed, all that was involved we cannot fully understand. But we call that tragedy of sin "The Fall," and every one of us has become a sinner by choice as well as by birth, and we have known separation from God.

But the promise is: We shall have the right to go in and out of the gates of the New Jerusalem. And it will be "home."

- C. Do you begin to see the "Full Circle?" The PLAN of God and His love began in Genesis and is seen being COMPLETED in Revelation; what began in INNOCENCE now finds fulfillment in HOLINESS; where human attempts at COVERING SIN and shame failed, and where the Law and the Prophets looked forward to a more perfect way, Jesus purchased a cleansing and Covering and the saints wear ROBES OF WHITE which partake of His righteousness itself.

Where Genesis records the BROKEN DREAMS and shame of disobedience and failure, Revelation shows how our Champion opened ACCESS TO ETERNAL LIFE; where Adam knew EXILE from the Garden of Paradise, the Second Adam has won for us PASSAGE THROUGH THE GATES of the City called New Jerusalem, where there is no need of the sun or the moon, for the Lamb Himself is the Light!

[Aren't you glad that we came to this promise on Easter Sunday?]

II. THE GOD OF BLESSING

What authority do we have for these fantastic-sounding promises? How can we know we are not simply reading science fiction?

If that question has crossed your mind, I'm glad it has: for a promise is only as good as the integrity of the One who makes it. And here we have One who is speaking with great authority and integrity.

- A. "I Jesus!" Though the messenger to John is an angel, the message is clear. It is from the Lord Jesus Christ Himself. The word is, "I JESUS!"

If the Bible is God's Word at all, then this text is of all portions to be trusted! It has the personal stamp of Jesus!

- B. Jesus identifies with humanity, with you and me:

I am the root and the offspring of David. Here in the closing words of the Bible, Jesus declares that He fulfills all scripture. All prophecy is complete. No loose ends remain to be explained.

Reaching back into history, identifying even in His glory with the human race, Jesus tells the ones who have washed their robes that they will live forever and that they will eternally be with Him. Jesus incarnates the integrity and the authority of the Holy Bible.

- C. Jesus announces a new and glorious day for mankind.

I am the bright and morning star. HE SHINES TO HERALD THE DAWNING OF ETERNAL DAY!

This final beatitude does not just look back, but it promises that we can know a limitless growing relationship with God and with God's people. When God comes and calls our names, we do not need to hide in the bushes! We can be at home with Him!

III. THE GOD WHO COMES TO DINNER

- A. The very best thing about Easter is that this promise is literally valid for each one of us, right now. The power of Christ's Resurrection makes it possible for you and me to have these clean robes, and to eat of the tree of life, and to enter the New Jerusalem.

And all this centers around what we are here celebrating this morning: the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead!

I know that I am talking a sort of "shorthand," but I believe that you can understand this scriptural language.

1. The "clean robes" are the knowledge of sins forgiven; they are the certitude that we are justified, and regenerated, and adopted into God's great family forever.
 2. The tree of LIFE, whatever it will mean when we see Jesus face to face, means that already we can begin eternity with Jesus, and come alive in Him. "He that liveth and believeth in Me," said Jesus, "Will never die!"
 3. The access to the gates of the city means that we can go home again! We are not going to spend eternity as lost souls, wandering around the galaxies (unless we want to wander around the galaxies!) with no place to go! We are no longer kicked out of Paradise!
- B. All this because "(Jesus) . . . took our sins and our sorrows, He made them His very own, He bore the burden to Calvary and suffered and died alone . . ." no wonder we sing, "How marvelous, How wonderful!" FORGIVENESS and CLEANSING and LIFE and ENTRANCE are possible because of the Resurrection that validates and manifests the Integrity of the One who has made the promise of blessing!

If Jesus had remained in the grave we would never have heard of Him. If He had not risen we would have no Christian faith, and no certain hope of eternal life.

But Jesus rose again. He ascended into heaven, where He became our High Priest at the Holy of Holies. He is now our Friend at the Throne, our Intercessor in prayer to the Father.

C. (Conclusion) But the Promise is valid only to those who will receive it! Whether or not we wash our robes is, because of grace, our choice!

1. Have YOU come to Jesus for the forgiveness of sins? Have you trusted in His righteousness, and do you know that you are justified, and adopted into His family?
2. Do you know the stirrings of spiritual LIFE in your being? Is there spiritual appetite? Do you desire the Bread and Drink of the heavenly kingdom?
3. Are you on Your way HOME? Home to the New Jerusalem, where Christ is preparing you a place?
4. Through the shadowy word-pictures of the ancient text we understand that God came in the cool of the day to fellowship with Adam and Eve. He called them by name. And somehow their disobedience spoiled the party, the fellowship was over.

But in the clearer light of the Revelation we read that this same great God, now having drawn much closer, much more understandable in the Babe of Bethlehem and the Savior of Galilee, now is pictured outside the door of your heart and mine. He knocks! He says, "If YOU will open the door, I will come in, and I will have dinner with you— I will live with you— I will be closer to you than breathing, and nearer than hands and feet."

We have a God who, because He lives eternally, has opened eternal life for us all. Amen.

Prayer: O Christ ! Thank You for Your great victory for us ! Come into our hearts, share Your life with us ! Amen.

All Things Become New

April 7, 1991

John 20:19 When therefore it was evening, on that day, the first day of the week, and when the doors were shut where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst, and said to them, "Peace be with you."

And when He had said this, He showed them both His hands and His side. The disciples therefore rejoiced when they saw the Lord. Jesus therefore said to them again, "Peace be with you; as the Father has sent Me, I also send you."

And when He had said this, He breathed on them, and said to them, "Receive the Holy Spirit."

"If you forgive the sins of any, their sins have been forgiven them; if you retain the sins of any, they have been retained."

2 Corinthians 5:17

Introduction

The appearances of Jesus in the forty days after His resurrection, recorded in all four Gospels, are very important indeed. They are important for what Jesus said, and He said a lot! But these post-resurrection appearances are perhaps even more important for what they tell us about how we can come to know God in a new and living way through the risen Savior. Every appearance speaks of:

I. A NEW ORDER OF ACCESS

- A. From the dawn of time every tribe and every race has wanted to make contact with the Eternal. Men and women have reached out to God as best they could. The history of mankind is a history of religions.

Just this last Thursday (4/4/91) in the Boston GLOBE was an item from the Associated Press stating that a recent poll of adult Americans indicated that the Number One concern for them was finding and maintaining a relationship to God! And that in spite of decades of anti-spiritual blitzkrieg on the part of most of the entertainment and information media.

Christians and Jews believe that almost 4,000 years ago in a special way God reached out to call a special people to follow Him and witness to His goodness. He called a man named Abram. He made covenant with him and his descendants. He spoke through a man called Moses. He spoke through prophets and Psalmists and a sacred Scripture of Covenant came into being. And we believe this revelation was superior to anything before.

God revealed that He cared about this world. He could be contacted, even though that contact was usually through priests and rituals. But somehow all creation waited for a better way, a fuller understanding of God. The world awaited MESSIAH!

The writer of Hebrews, in perfect harmony with all the revelation that has gone before, likens this search for communication to a narrowing focus that finally centers in the Christ:

God, Who at sundry times and in divers manners has in the past spoken through the prophets has in these latter days finally spoken through His Son.

Jesus came to bring a new and better way to the Father. For thirty-three years the Son of God lived among us. For three years and more He taught, and by His very life and death and resurrection revealed His Father God. This was a quantum leap in the God-man connection! Nothing could ever be quite the same again for those who encountered the Christ.

But access was still very limited. It was limited physically, both in terms of how many might see and hear Him, and how He might come and go to those seeking Life. It was limited in human capacity to understand the scriptures. But all that began to change the day Jesus rose again from the dead!

- B. The risen Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ, comes where He is loved; where people gather in His name; where He is sought. Here behind barred doors, meeting in fear and yet in rising hope, Jesus is suddenly amongst them! he is there! Not a wishful dream, but a real, living Person! [Just as He is here just now!]
- C. This access is now a two-way street! We can come to God at any time! We have access to God by the crucified, risen Savior (Romans 5:1,2)
- D. This ACCESS is to be the NORM! Far from occasional and mystic, God intends for His people to love Him and live in His Presence! Mystery? Yes! Magic? No way! Jesus, the crucified, risen Savior, reveals Himself to you and me! This new access does not lower the place of scripture in the life of faith. Access to God through Christ is linked to scripture; each new appearance gave:

II. A NEW LIGHT ON SACRED SCRIPTURE

- A. Jesus had said it before (John 5:39): the scriptures are the means of knowing Him. He came to fulfill the scripture (Matthew 5.)
- B. But NOW Jesus reveals HIMSELF as the KEY to the Bible. Luke is more explicit. In Luke 24 the two disciples on the Emmaus Road were treated to an exposition: "Beginning with Moses and in all the scriptures (Jesus) expounded to them the things concerning Himself" Then later in that 24th chapter Luke records this appearance (that John speaks of in John 21) and Luke says that Jesus (Luke 24:45) "...opened their minds that they might understand the scriptures."
- C. It is out of fashion, perhaps, [in these days of deconstruction] to believe in a Bible that is divine as well as human. It is even more incredible to the natural mind to look to a Man who lived 2,000 years ago for help in understanding the Bible. And if Jesus lived and died, and that is all, then it is naive.

But if Jesus is the risen One, and the One who comes, who breaks in where we are, then we dare say:

Come to Jesus! Learn of Him!

Ask Jesus to help you understand the scriptures!

That same Emmaus-Upper Room lesson is going on still! But there is still more! It gets better! Knowing the risen Savior puts a new dimension on LIFE itself!

III. A NEW JOY IN LIVING

A. PEACE

The Risen Lord appeared with a benediction of peace! It was the last thing Jesus had promised before His death— it is the first thing He says as conquering Savior— more than a casual "Shalom!" this PEACE MEANS THE END TO A DIVIDED HEART!

B. PURPOSE

Peace does NOT exclude work; it encompasses significant labor. Jesus had a new and wonderful assignment for His people. It is OUR assignment as well:

As the Father has sent Me, even so I am sending YOU.. and YOU... and YOU!

C. PRESENCE

Jesus BREATHED on them and said:

Receive YE the Holy Spirit!

A new kind of contact with God! A new kind of LIFE! In the Creation story, we are told that God breathed into the nostrils of Adam the breath of life, and man became a living soul! Here Jesus breathes upon His church— and a new kind of life is born!

D. POWER

There is mystery involved in the statement:

The sins you forgive will be forgiven and the sins you don't will not... but suffice it for now to say that Jesus was committing to the CHURCH His own assignment of telling the world that they can draw near to God, and that God loves them, and that their sins can be forgiven!

... all these blessings of knowing the risen Savior are in the context of a Unity, a divine-human mystery we call the CHURCH.

Conclusion

Thomas, bless his heart, wasn't there. Neither was I! Later Jesus reassured Thomas. But then Jesus said words that (I believe) John intended as the fitting climax of his masterpiece portrait of the Savior:

Thomas— you believe now because you have seen. But even more blessed are those who will believe even though they have not seen— but simply because they know they have met Me!

INTRODUCTION

Christian is a church word. A Christian is a person who wants to follow Jesus. "Him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out." (John 6:37) A Christian is a person who has LIFE in God (II Corinthians 5:17. "If any (one) is in Christ (they) are a new creation; old things have passed away; behold all things have become new."

A Christian is also a member of Christ's Body, the Church. (Acts 2:47) " And the Lord added to their number daily such as were being saved." Every Christian in the New Testament after Pentecost was a baptized member of the Body of Christ.

The relationship between the individual Christian and the Church of Jesus Christ is basic and vital. To best understand this relationship it is essential to ask "Just what IS the Church?"

How? Since total objectivity is impossible, I would state where I am coming from in this look at the church. I believe in a Christo-centric study of scripture; that is, reading to find out how to draw closer to Jesus; how to be more like Him; how to get to know Jesus better. My desire to know more about the church is a quest from faith to faith: I believe that we here (in Wollaston) are even now a true church, and part of the one true church of Jesus Christ. This coincides with a growing conviction that ultimately the local church is the basic unit of the Church.

Without apology, our look at the church stems from an honest quest for growth: I believe that we are/are to be a part of a larger whole. This larger church is not limited to our denomination or even to our particular tradition (or that branch of Christendom with which we are most familiar and comfortable); our spiritual pedigree is Wesleyan/Anglican/Reformed/Arminian. But I want to see this church be all it can be!

Wesleyans Are Not Fundamentalists.

Given our Wesleyan viewpoint, still I want to be as honest as I can. And any study of the church fosters controversy over definitions. When we look for an authoritative word, on the church or about any other spiritual term, we probably feel pushed into an either-or battle between the liberals and the fundamentalists, based squarely on the nature of the scriptures. This struggle has monopolized the attention of many theologians and most of the pastor-theologians for more years than we would care to admit.

What neither liberals or fundamentalists would care to admit is that there seems to be a common thread in their approach to the scripture. Both wish to speak with an authoritative voice about what the scripture is or is not, what it says, what its purpose is. In short, both sides seek to have control of the holy writ.

When we talk about God and the holy things it is all too easy to fall into saying very profound and very stupid pronouncements.

Fundamentalists have a reputation for denying obvious scientific facts. Grudgingly and slowly the ultra-conservative religious positions have accepted some new ideas. The human side of the God-human connections have been down-played; i.e., the humanity of Jesus, and the human authorship of the books of the Bible. Sometimes this has been carried into a rejection or downplay of the human part of the God-human relationship we call salvation. God does everything, even to the selection of who shall-shall not be saved. Liberals have a reputation for denying or "scientifically explaining away" the unseen or spiritual realities described in the Bible. The divine side of the God-human connections have been reduced to natural phenomena. Jesus was the highest expression of humanity, but that is all. The Bible is inspired exactly as other great literature is inspired. Prayer and religious exercise are subjectively true and useful if the individual so deems them.

Is there a way to break the hold of this controversy? Can we come to the Bible to seek and find God's mind about the church without either throwing away our living faith in God OR being so closed-minded that we know exactly where we should end up even before we begin?

Wesley's Authority Checks

In a Christo-centric approach to scripture, where shall we look for identification of who the church is, and what the church should be/become? As a Wesleyan, I suggest that we let John Wesley help us define what the church is.

Wesley had four sources of authority.

1. Above all the other authorities was the scripture as accepted in our Canon, the 66 books of the Bible.
2. Wesley also looked to what he called tradition; the accumulated wisdom of the centuries of people calling themselves Christian, including the Creeds and the writings of the early fathers.
3. Wesley also appealed to reason. He understood that the keenest reflections of the wisest persons thinking about God and holy things reason could not penetrate mystery; but he also understood that God's truth would not ultimately contradict itself. God is not capable of lying.
4. Finally Wesley believed that religious truth should be proved in the crucible of everyday living, by experience.

THE MARKS OF THE CHURCH

Lesson Ephesians 4:4 - 13

The Marks of the Church Introduction

Ephesians 4:13 ". . .until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ."

The Orthodox Statements about the Church

To get a fresh look at the church we jump back over the years of liberal-fundamental debate, and look at what the church has said about itself, historically. I would give scriptural and prayerful consideration to these words which perhaps can help us have a better living relationship with the Church of Jesus Christ.

The "Reformation definition" of the church, ascribed to various Reformation figures (Luther, Calvin, even Wesley): The Church is where the Word is preached and the sacraments administered. The verbs are usually modified: faithfully preached, duly administered. Let us pray that here in our "basic unit of the Church" those two basic fundamental components will happen with faithful regularity.

The other definition of the church is one I would like to spend a great deal more time with; the simple statement contained in every orthodox church's beliefs: The Church is One, Holy, Catholic, Apostolic. Theologians call these the "marks" or "notes" of the church. These essential parts of the church have deep and practical impact on the Christian and the local church.

Ephesians, Chapter Four, gives something of an overview of the universally accepted marks of the church. Later we will look at each mark separately. In this first, introductory sermon, just a brief word about each of the four:

THE CHURCH IS ONE The scripture fragment "until we all reach unity in the faith.." as well as " Make every effort to keep the unity of the Spirit through the bond of peace. There is one body and one Spirit- just as you are called to one hope when you were called- one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in (you) all." from our text chapter are not isolated proof texts, but rather reflect the great concern of the Lord of the Church that His church be united.

The Church of Jesus Christ is ONE CHURCH! This is both a statement of fact and a goal to which we will be striving until Jesus returns. We have to accept this statement by faith when we observe the fragmentation that is so obvious. There is a need for Christians to come together.

THE CHURCH IS HOLY

Here the text challenges Christians to "attaining to the whole measure of the stature of Christ." The church is to be like its Lord.

How can we ever say that the church is HOLY? What does it mean "to be holy?" Is holiness an unattainable goal, or is it the normative way of life for Christians, or is it somehow a combination of the two?

Holiness, for the Church, has all to do with Christlikeness! Doctrines and textbook theology are important as we shall see; but totally, completely, unreservedly belonging to Jesus Christ, and reflecting His spirit and doing His will are ALL-important in this great "mark of the church."

THE CHURCH IS CATHOLIC

"From (Jesus) the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work." (16)

The word "catholic" means world-wide. The church is ONE, it is also for the WHOLE WIDE WORLD! Which simply means that the one church is to be cross-cultural and not only the way WE think it should be!

We exist to build up the church where we worship. The church where we worship exists to support and build up the larger whole of which it is a part. That larger whole may often, perhaps usually, be the denomination or network of similar churches—culturally tied together. But it will inevitably reach across culture barriers, inevitably bring health or weakness to the whole,

No doubt we are all guilty of saying, "So let them come to US! After all WE are the right ones!" In Jerusalem just now, three competing Christian groups hold portions of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, each one sure the other two are in error.

There are many tribes and nations; many different ways of praising the Lord. We may not always be sensitive to each other, but there is a universal LIFE that undergirds the true church wherever it meets.

THE CHURCH IS APOSTOLIC

Again we look at Ephesians (4:x) "until we reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God"

I will not spend any time on this this morning, except to say that our Word, our Truth, our Scripture is and must be the same that was once delivered to the apostles. Times change, methods change, cultures evolve, but the Gospel of God's love in the Life and Death and Life of Jesus remains forever the same, to all eternity!

The church is US! We hold the plumb-lines of the scripture and the marks of the church against the reality of this church where we worship and prepare and seek to serve our Lord. The abstractions "one" and "holy" and "catholic" and "apostolic" want to leap off the pages of the theological textbooks, and challenge us to fuller, deeper service of our Master. They want to stretch our perceptions, and broaden our horizons, and energize our efforts.

The church is not my church! It isn't yours, either. It is HIS church. We belong to the church because we belong to Him!

When you speak, or even think of His one, holy, catholic, apostolic church, never think "they!" Think "US!"

Ephesians 4:1-6

We have begun to look at what theologians and church fathers across the centuries have called the "marks" or the "notes" of the church. Coming without apology from an evangelical and scriptural perspective, still we are seeking to avoid the unproductive tension between fundamental-liberal extremists, and perhaps get a fresh look at God's words about the church.

One of the four characteristics that belong to the church universal is the mark or note of UNITY. The Church of Jesus Christ is ONE.

Any study of the church begins with the scriptural concept of faith as corporate, or that which is held in common among all the spiritual fellowship of God's people.

THE IDEA OF CORPORATE FAITH

We are so attuned to think of faith as a purely subjective, individual matter that it is almost startling to find, when we are looking for it, just how "corporate" the concept of faith as expressed in the New Testament really is. Actually, the "corporate nature of faith" shines in both divisions of the Bible:

The Church is One

In the OLD TESTAMENT "salvation" was equivalent to being or becoming a member of the people of God; "damnation" was the equivalent of being cast out or excommunicated from the rest of this group.

The NEW TESTAMENT carries this group identity idea forward; with emphasis on "belonging" to the ekklesia: Jesus called the disciples one by one, and they joined a group (which was the church anticipated during Jesus' ministry;)

The church-in-the-making waited in one accord for the initial Baptism of the Spirit. They carried this UNITY forward throughout the pages of Acts and the New Testament (Galatians 2, etc.) The word "saint" is used in the singular only twice in the New Testament, both times in relationship to the church; all other appearances of the word is in the plural, "saints!"

Speaking of the use of the word "church" to mean the common faith, in his sermon "Of the Church" (vi:392) John Wesley made the statement, "A more ambiguous word than this, the Church, is scarce to be found in the English language. It is sometimes taken for a building, set apart for public worship; sometimes for a congregation, or body of people, united together in the service of God. Wesley goes on to say that when he speaks of the church he means the latter, the "body of people UNITED together in the service of God."

H. Ray Dunning says: The place to begin a study of the church is in the corporate character of biblical faith.

This corporate nature of faith has been an essential part of the church from the beginning. The faith has not been something to "JOIN" like a club or an army or a work force; it has been something to be BAPTIZED INTO, to be BORN AGAIN INTO, to become part of as we change direction, and begin a new way of living.

This corporate nature of faith is still valid; it is still something we need to recapture and re-emphasize. Our individual walk with God is to follow this pattern. The church in other days and other cultures understood this better than we do, perhaps.

It is easy for us to make church a matter of convenience in our weddings and burials and christenings, as well as in our worship. But especially these sacrament-like occasions are set in the context of the strength of the corporate faith.

As Christians we are members of each other! We exist to lift one another up and bless each other. We are our brothers' and sisters' keepers!

Our burials should be as often as possible from the church, by the church, in the church; our marriages should be solemnized as sacred services of worship, and reflect the corporate faith, and the fact that the church is the greater family. Our christenings are powerful statements to three worlds that our children belong to Christ's Body, and all others may keep "hands off!"

It is this CORPORATE faith that underlies all we say about the church. The marks of the church have their reality and existence in this shared LIFE.

THE CHURCH IS ONE

We have already recognized that all Christendom has agreed that the Church of Jesus is One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic. The church is:

ONE (and yet it is diverse;)

HOLY (and yet it is very human and imperfect!) The true church is holy because it belongs to a holy God; yet it is imperfect because it has ME (and you) in it! But we are washed in the blood, and are being made in the image of Christ!)

CATHOLIC (world-wide, and yet very local and provincial) The Gospel fits the whole world; and yet there are cultural adaptations; differences, applications.

APOSTOLIC (true to the ancient Word; yet up-to-date and experiential, what we term "confessional!") The true church lives by every word that proceeds from the Father; it abides in the True Vine, the Son.

Just now particularly look at the statement: THE CHURCH IS ONE .

The Church is One

The unity of the church in the love of God was the heart of Jesus' great prayer (in John 17.) All who own allegiance to the One Great Lord of the church are part of a unity for which Jesus prayed.

Painful as it is, we have to live with some unanswered questions about why it is so difficult for all God's children to get together; and why genuine allegiance to the Lord Jesus Christ does not more quickly break down barriers of misunderstanding within the family of God. But at the same time, we need to be available to God as His instruments of healing and love within the Body.

There are three outstanding scriptural figures of this unity: these figures are filial and conjugal and organic. The FILIAL figure is seen in such passages as John 1:12 "As many as received Him, to them gave He the right to become the children of God." Or Romans 8:15 "We have received the Spirit of adoption as children whereby we cry, "Abba! Father!" and Romans 8:29 says the church is "conformed to the image of (God's) Son, that He might be the first-born among many brethren."

The church is God's FAMILY. But there is another striking figure of the unity of the church with Jesus Christ, the figure of CONJUGAL unity, or the marriage of Christ and the Church. In that passage we usually are thinking of earthly family relationships. But if we turn the passage over on its other base like an hourglass, we see the UNITY of the church in relationship to Christ: (Ephesians 5:25)

Husbands love your wives just as Christ also loved the church and gave Himself up for her; that He might sanctify her, having cleansed her by the washing of water with the word, that He might present to Himself the church in all her glory, having no spot or wrinkle or any such thing; but that she should be holy and blameless.

As husband and wife become one, so the church is ONE with her Bridegroom, the Lord Jesus Christ. But there is an even closer figure of the unity of the church; that of:

ORGANIC unity. In Ephesians 4:15 we are charged to "Grow up in all aspects into Christ, who is the HEAD (of the Body)." And in Ephesians 5:30 is the startling translation, at least in the KJV,

"We are members of His body, of His flesh, and of His bones!"

The church is to be/to become the very BODY of Jesus Christ here on earth. This is an INCARNATIONAL concept— that as the life of Jesus is breathed into each member of the Body, together we become ONE, and become CHRIST INCARNATE TO THIS WORLD! ["So what?"]

BRINGING THE MARKS OF THE CHURCH HOME WHERE WE ARE

Any sincere study of the church is a useful thing in order to get the inclusive picture; the ideal of what God intends we shall be world-wide; but theology should/must find application in every day living. The great concepts and ideas of theology finally are not simply to inform and educate us, but to become food to eat and sustain and grow us, and make us healthy.

So these "marks of the church" - ONE HOLY CATHOLIC APOSTOLIC -must be reflected in each local congregation: HOW CAN "THE CHURCH IS ONE" TOUCH YOUR LIFE AND MINE?

I would suggest four ways: (The first is NEGATIVE) DON'T BE SUPERFICIAL; this UNITY is always in the Lordship of Jesus Christ. I Corinthians 12: No (one) can say 'Jesus is Lord' except by the Holy Spirit. So-called ecumenical services may or may not be helpful; all too often they have an agenda of legitimizing non- Christian "churches."

The second: DO AFFIRM YOUR PERSONAL UNITY with Jesus; as God's children; as being TRUE to God in a personal sense; as being part of the Body of Christ.

Third: DO PRAY FOR AND LOVE CHRISTIANS everywhere. Look for Jesus in people other than our own Wesleyan family. One of the greatest evils in God's sight is being unwilling to maintain the UNITY of the true church. In New Testament vision, there is no greater sin than schism. Listen to John Wesley again:

The Church is One

"I dare not exclude from the Church catholic all those congregations in which any unscriptural doctrines, which cannot be affirmed by "the pure word of God," are sometimes, yea, frequently preached; neither all those congregations, in which the sacraments are not "duly administered." . (and here Wesley specifically mentions the Church of Rome with which he disagreed in many ways). . . "Whoever they are that have 'one Spirit, one hope, one Lord, one faith, one God and Father of all,' I can easily bear with their holding wrong opinions, yea, and superstitious modes of worship: Nor would I, on these accounts, scruple still to include them within the pale of the catholic Church [small "c"]; neither would I have any objection to receive them, if they desired it, as members of the Church of England." (op cit next page)

Fourth and finally: DO IDENTIFY WITH THE CHURCH RIGHT WHERE YOU WORSHIP EVERY SUNDAY ! In your heart, with your mouth think and say "WE" and never "THEY!"

There is no doubt that it is easier to love the "perfect church" of theory, or to think of some greater, more "together" fellowship in some far city. But here and now, where you and I worship together, imperfect as we are, we are Christ's Body— we are part of His ONE GREAT CHURCH!

Am I saying that we ought to quit being denominational Nazarenes? Not at all! I am saying that we already belong to one great Church which we had better love and appreciate and work and pray toward its health and success in showing a needy world the love of its Lord. We have the opportunity where we are of reflecting God's will that the Church be one, holy, catholic and apostolic. Amen.

The Community of Faith

Stories from Exodus

April 14, 1991 PM

Exodus 32: 1 - 35 (narrative)

Introduction

Exodus is a very important book! It records the beginning of faith as a community beyond a family or tribal level; of God moving with a covenant people.

Complex, with divisions and subdivisions, yet with common faith keeping alive the sense of being a great Family, the People of God. This is an ideal we can never quite let go of.

Perhaps the best way to study Exodus is to read it as a narrative tale; a book of fascinating stories, first about Moses, then about the young nation of Israel.

[Maybe we ought to begin at the beginning, and maybe sometime we will go through Exodus that way. But just now we'll break into the middle, or sort of the beginning of the middle.]

The Story:

As the story begins- or at least this episode- Pharaoh and his army are history. The former slaves are free, free, free! But they are finding that freedom has its drawbacks.

There was misery in taking orders, but also there was something there to eat. Doing the bidding of Egyptian masters was galling, but it did put food on the table. Now they were on their own— and sometimes food and water were very scarce indeed.

Strangely, these people kept thinking like Egyptians even after they had long left Egypt. Even though they had been set free by God in a totally miraculous way, they still continued to revert back to reasoning the way they had been brought up. It seems sometimes as though it is almost impossible to change habits of childhood and youth— although by God's grace it can be done. But this whole generation seemed to love to complain and murmur and whine.

They needed water: God provided water.

They needed food: God provided food. But it seems they never were quite satisfied.

They needed protection and direction: God led them and covered them by a pillar of fire and a pillar of cloud. It is hard to imagine how these people could ever doubt that God was with them. But doubt they did.

One of the first dramatic climaxes of the entire Book was when they came to Horeb, to Mount Sinai, where Moses was to receive the Law from God.

Sometimes as we picture it in our mind's eyes we have Moses waltzing up the mountain path, receiving the stone tablets from God and skipping back down in a matter of hours. But that is not what the ancient scriptures tell us. That narrative says the process was much, much longer and more involved.

First, there was a preparatory time. Moses was summoned by God, who told him (19:4) "I have carried you on eagles' wing to this hour— have brought you to Myself. If you obey me and keep My covenant you will be a kingdom of priests and a holy nation."

When Moses told them that, they were pretty excited. Their answer was (19:8) "We will do everything that the Lord has said!"

Moses then prepared the people: Prepare yourselves! Wash your clothes! Don't come near the holy mountain! Stop normal activities! Prepare the way of the Lord! And then Moses disappeared up the mountain, and after a time with the elders, when there was an exciting revelation to them (see chapter 24) Moses remained on the mountain with God, while things were pretty much on hold in the camp. Moses stayed there for 40 days and nights!

What were the people to do?

I. WHEN GOD'S PEOPLE INVENTED THEIR OWN CHURCH

There is always tension between God's way, which always demands faith, and the way of Israel's neighbors, which seems to fit the need of the hour.

They said "Nothing seems to be going on with God and the worship of God according to the Commandments we have heard; so let's make things happen! Hey Aaron! Let's have some excitement!"

And Aaron, to his everlasting discredit, accommodates the urge to help God make His way more palatable!

[Waiting on God is never easy or simple! The way of faith always requires exactly that: faith in the integrity of God! God has brought us this far! He will not abandon us now!]

Aaron says: Religion requires sacrifice! So let's sacrifice. They DO sacrifice; they have to give GOLD (actually they take off their ear rings, which isn't a bad idea.)

Aaron says "The neighbor nations worship forms like animals: let's make sure we keep up with the latest fads in worship. We can worship this awesome God AND be like other religions, too.

They form a golden calf, and Aaron says, or lets them say: HERE is what the God who delivered you from slavery really looks like! [I haven't been able to figure that one out, myself!]

Pseudo-worship involves making God as we think He ought to be— in a convenient way for us.

What happens when we run up against a scripture that we have real trouble with? Are we willing to submit to the authority of God's Word?

Take the matter of man-woman roles in marriage and in the church? Are we willing to come under the authority of the scripture? — of the will of Almighty God?— even when it becomes inconvenient for us? When it contradicts the morés of our culture, but it is clearly God's Word what do we do?

Clearly, these Israelites were impatient with God's methods- - and the Bible says (I Corinthians 10) the people sat down to eat and drink, and then they rose up to play—and they became a lost generation in the history of God's people!

II. THE RESULTS OF PSEUDO-WORSHIP

- A. DISGUSTING TO GOD
- B. FRUSTRATING TO MOSES
- C. DISASTROUS TO ACTIVE PARTICIPANTS
- D. POTENTIALLY DEADLY TO THE ENTIRE COMMUNITY

III. HOW GOD'S CHURCH WAS ESTABLISHED

- A. GOD'S GRACE ACTS IN CONCERT WITH HOLY LAW

Sinai corresponds to Pentecost, except now the Ten Commandments are written by the Spirit in the desires of every Christian heart: "I delight to do Thy will, O God"

- B. MOSES' INTERCESSION

Abraham prayed for Lot; here Moses prays for his people: there is great power in intercession! Don't give up when you pray for the church—for the kingdom of God to come. Jesus Himself taught us so to pray.

- C. JUDGMENT IS NOT AVERTED TO REBELS

It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God (Hebrews 10:31)

- D. THOSE BEING FORMED INTO COMMUNITY OF COVENANT

RETURN TO THE 'SIMPLICITY OF COVENANT'

Conclusion/application:

We are also on a Pilgrim's journey. We, too, are being formed into a holy people to carry the name of Jesus.

- A. We need to be people under authority! We need to make sure that our wills are broken—broken in—tamed—submissive—whatever—sold on the integrity of God, the goodness of God, the trustworthiness of God.

- B. Those people in the wilderness were on the spot! They weren't going to get out alive without God! They needed a miracle every day! AND WE ARE JUST AS MUCH ON THE SPOT!
- C. The elements of worship— the ingredients— giving and prayer and fellowship and excitement— all are not in and of themselves what constitute the true Church. We can put them all together to please ourselves— but unless God is present— and unless we are met at HIS behest— we are an abomination to God and a danger to ourselves!

Romans 11:33 - 12:8

Introduction

We have said that every orthodox church regards the marks of the church to be four: The church is One, Holy, Apostolic, Catholic. When we speak of Catholicity, we speak of that which the One church [Where the WORD is preached, and where the sacraments are administered] has in common world-wide. The WORD to be preached, of course, is the Living Word, Jesus Christ.

It will not do to begin by making sweeping statements. We begin, rather, with a statement of awe and mystery:

THE CHURCH ISSUES IN THE UNFATHOMABLE GLORY OF GOD

11:33 - Oh, the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How UNSEARCHABLE are His judgments and UNFATHOMABLE His ways! For who has known the mind of the Lord, or who became His counselor? Or who has first given to Him that it might be paid back to him again? For from Him and through Him and to Him are all things. To Him be the glory forever. Amen

Before we make any pronouncements on what the church world wide is, or what we believe it ought to be, we need to begin with the mercies of God! We are all created in God's image, and are the objects of His love. We are made to love and adore and fellowship with Him. If our worship, and if the church are connected with Him, they carry with them truth and beauty and life beyond the narrow scope of our understanding. Romans 12:1,2 is very practical and straightforward. It is familiar territory to evangelical Christians. We like to jump in right here, at the practical side, and go for the decision. "Just do it!" And any way we can get people to meet God is great!

But remember, Romans 12:1 has a "therefore" in it. And the "therefore" points back to the doxology of praise in Romans 11:33-36. Paul comes to the end of a doctrinal passage, a great treatise on grace and salvation and he breaks into this hymn of praise, and THEN he says, "Because of all this great love of a great God, give yourself to HIM; become part of His Body, the Church!"

One of the most important, if not the most important quality of the true catholic church is humility before the wonder God's love, the wonder of being invited into God's inner circle, into God's very Presence. The WONDER! The WONDER of it all! What the text calls our "spiritual service of worship" all springs out of the mercies of God! This is beautiful truth beyond our comprehension!

The preaching of the Word and the Sacraments represent two places where the Living Word makes contact with us, two sides of the same great truth. Preaching is logical and presses for decision. Sacraments are visual or representative, and speak of the unspeakable and mysterious. Across the centuries churches have tended to emphasize one aspect over the other.

Sons and daughters of the church who have been exposed only to narrowly held segments of God's truth (on either side) may tend to rebel when they begin to see the truth of the wider whole. Then, unless they are careful, they re-act humanly, and swing far over to other emphases. We do not know and certainly do not own the whole orb of truth. "(Don't) think more highly of (yourselves) than you ought" (12:3) This can be applied to churches, too! The fact is that we CANNOT own it all, and we do not NEED to own it all. But Catholic is that which the One church has in common; that which is common to all churches that are true churches. How does the Reformation formula apply to the whole church (including our own)?

THE ENTIRE CHURCH IS CALLED TO SPIRITUAL WORSHIP

(12:1-3)

I urge you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living and holy sacrifice, acceptable to God, which is your SPIRITUAL SERVICE OF WORSHIP. And do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, that you may prove what the will of God is. that which is good and acceptable and perfect.

We do not have a monopoly on worship; and neither does any other segment of the church! The entire church catholic worships. The call to "spiritual service" is not limited to evangelical young people at a youth camp; it is not a call just to Mother Teresa in Calcutta— it is a call to the entire church of Jesus Christ everywhere.

But there seem to be so many different ways of worship! Some seem so emotional! Some seem so dead and dry and formal! What is genuine "spiritual service?" What constitutes the church? Before we look at the forms we have to consider the content. Jesus Himself said, in Matthew 18:20: "Where two or three are gathered in my name, I am there in the midst!" Whatever our definitions, Jesus is the Living Word!

[Bishop Michael Baughan spoke here several years ago. He told of 300 churches in the See of Chester, England, which are under his care, that use the same form or liturgy. But Bishop Baughan said that as he went from one church to the next, on church would "worship" and another would simply go through a form. The difference was the evident Presence of the Living Word among those worshipping.

We come back to the Reformation definitions: Where the Word is proclaimed and the Sacraments administered, there is the church! Can we summarize "catholic elements of worship" in the context of this definition? What should we expect to be a part of the church universal at worship?: (As we have said:)

THE PRESENCE OF JESUS IS A UNIVERSAL

"JESUS CHRIST is the Word of God. Where Jesus Christ is Present by His Holy Spirit, there is the church!" If the differences of language and culture could be overcome, any Christian OUGHT to feel "at home" in any other Christian service of worship. Granted, sometimes these culture barriers are formidable; and sometimes Jesus takes second place to the forms which have sprung up; but where Jesus is present, there is the church!

THE BIBLE IS A UNIVERSAL

THE BIBLE proclaims the Word of God. The church of Jesus Christ will always give a central allegiance to the written Word of God. It is impossible to think of a Church without the Bible.

The Bible is God's revelation given in human language. The Bible itself is a mystery of incarnation. It is possible to err into bibliolatry, to "go off" on worship of the Bible; to make one interpretation of infallibility a by-word of true catholicity. But it is impossible to have a church without the authority of scripture. The authentic role of scripture is to proclaim Jesus Christ. (John 5:39)

PREACHING IS A UNIVERSAL

PREACHING makes the Word of God contemporary. The church of Jesus Christ will always have men and women called to proclaim Jesus Christ in the anointing of the Holy Spirit. Preaching is a central catholic function of the Body of Christ. The scripture says,

"For the word of the cross is to those who are perishing foolishness, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God . . . For since in the wisdom of God the world through its wisdom did not come to know God, God was well-pleased through the foolishness of preaching to save those who believe." (1 Co 1:18,21)

The end of preaching is not sermons. Don't misunderstand me, I think I understand something of the art and craft of sermon building. I know a good one when I hear it; I know a bad one when I preach it. But the end of preaching is to make Jesus available; to proclaim that He is here, now, today!

Sermon-crafting is a respectable profession, I suppose. Yet it is possible to be so involved in perfect sermons that Jesus gets lost along the way. But preaching is God's method for making His Word come alive in the church. It always will be. So be it!

SACRAMENTS ARE A UNIVERSAL

SACRAMENTS somehow communicate the Word of God. When I say "sacrament" I would include the whole concept of liturgy, or how we worship, and what we DO when we get together to worship.

Just as some Protestant communions can let the sacred scriptures almost take the place of God Himself, and substitute a literal, legalistic interpretation of the Bible as spiritual fact, even so some Liturgical communions can come to elevate the Sacrament and the Exercise of Worship to a place where it is an end in and of itself, when properly understood it is meant to be a vehicle of communicating God's Presence.

The sacraments are not meant to convey a false sense of security that excuses Christians from obeying the Word and walking humbly before God. And doing everything just as it is "written down in the proper book" is no indication of an authentic sacrament. Daniel Jenkins (in his book The Nature of Catholicity) says, "a passionate devotion to the Sacrament (MAY) mask a spiritual laziness which destroys the meaning of the Sacrament(!)"

Probably most Christian services would include: (1) Prayer recognizing God's Presence and seeking to adore and worship Him; and (2) Reading of scripture; (3) Proclamation of the Word, or preaching in the Spirit's anointing (4) Call for response of some kind; including an offering, but certainly not limited to that; sometimes the 'sacrifice of praise' in testimony;

And all orthodox churches also periodically observe (5) The actual Sacraments themselves (Baptism and Communion) as well as Sacrament-like services, as Ordination, Christening, Marriage, Burials, and the like.

In addition, most Christian churches have some form of confession and absolution. Wesleyans have lived with Wesley's definition of sin as "a willful transgression of a known law of God" so long that often we have trouble realizing that even Wesleyans are to pray the Lord's Prayer all the way through, too!

Finally, the proclamation of the Word is not limited to preaching and the sacraments for...

SOME FORM OF DISCIPLINE IS A UNIVERSAL

DISCIPLINE reveals the Word of God. The true catholic church of Jesus Christ will have discipline. By "discipline" I mean the living OUT of the LIFE which Christ has placed within us; unless the Church manifests its life there is no life there!

CALLED TO BE OURSELVES; CALLED TO BELONG TO THE CHURCH

No corner of the church has perfect fullness. But it is possible to rejoice in the extent where Christ has made us strong, and also rejoice for the Presence of Jesus Christ in others. We can seek to make Jesus the center and the reason for our worship! His manifest Presence is the true "catholic" manifestation, the one true universal element of worship.

We can pray for the entire Church catholic without being unfaithful in any wise to our own family, the Church of the Nazarene. In fact we will be better Nazarenes if we seek to be first of all better Christians! The Holy Spirit would inspire within us a genuine prayer for His coming in power throughout His whole church.

I talked with Nancy Powers yesterday; she shared with me some of the concerns of a priest in our area who genuinely cares about the needs of people, and who seeks to meet those needs in Jesus' name. [Bill McCarthy, St. John the Baptist, 7,000 families. Will you join with me in praying for Fr. Bill McCarthy and his ministry in our city?]

The Lost Tribes of Israel

April 21, 1991 PM

Psalm 106:24-27 Then they despised the pleasant land; they did not believe His promise. They grumbled in their tents and did not obey the Lord. So He swore to them with uplifted hand that He would make them fall in the desert, make their descendants fall among the nations and scatter them throughout the lands.

Numbers 13, 14

The story of the Exodus is not limited to the book of that name. The idolatry at Sinai with the golden calf was one crisis which the Israelites experienced on 40-year saga to the Promised Land. Another crisis, the one that made the 40-year sojourn necessary, was the failure to press into the Promised Land at Kadesh-Barnea, and is told in Numbers 13 and 14.

I. A STORY OF LOST OPPORTUNITY

A. A MOVEMENT (ALMOST ALWAYS) BECOMES AN INSTITUTION

After a miracle beginning, God gave the Law in a convincing way. Then the thousands were organized by tribes around the Tent of Covenant into a fledgling nation.

1. THE ORGANIZATION of their camp is interesting to me (as found in Numbers 2):

On the EAST were Judah 74,600, with Issachar 54,400 and Zebulun 57,400 (EAST = 186,400);

On the SOUTH were Reuben 46,500, Simeon 59,300 and Gad 45,650 (SOUTH = 151,450);

In the middle was the Tent of Meeting with the Levites...

On the WEST was Ephraim 40,500 with Manassah 32,200 and Benjamin 35,400 (WEST = 108,100),

On the NORTH and bringing up the rear in march were Dan 62,700 and Asher 41,500 and Naphtali 53,400 (NORTH = 157,600)

GRAND TOTAL 603,550 plus Levites plus women and children!

2. THE ORDER OF MARCH (Numbers 10:33) How they journeyed: When the Shekinah would lift the ark would follow three days journey ahead of the host to seek out a resting place for the rest.

When one trumpet was blown the EAST set out; and right behind them the Gershonites and Merarites carried the Tabernacle; THEN At the second trumpet the SOUTH; and after them came the Koathites carrying the holy objects that went IN the Tabernacle, so that when THEY arrived the Tabernacle would be all set up;

THEN came the WEST and the NORTH as a rear guard.

3. What does this matter?

B. A FAILURE OF VISION

1. This "army" marched to the southern borders of the Promised Land and halted while Moses sent spies to see what was ahead. (Number 13:(could read 26 - 33)

These men were leaders of each tribe, and were "eyes and ears" for the rest.

For 40 days they went through what we now call The Holy Land from south to north and east to west. They took notes, in modern idiom, on the agriculture and the sociology and the forestry and the architecture and the road systems and the like.

There were twelve spies: Shammua, Shaphat, Caleb (Judah) Igal, Joshua (Ephraim) Palti, Gaddiel, Gaddi, Ammiel, Sethur, Nahbi, Geuel.

2. THEY BROUGHT BACK A UNANIMOUS REPORT:

This is a wonderful place! Why, the fruit is so big that we brought back this ONE bunch of grapes between two of us! [Which, by the way, is a symbol quite common in Israel today; one taxi company has a logo of two men carrying grapes on the sides of all its cabs!] This is a beautiful and fruitful land.

3. BUT THEY ALSO BROUGHT BACK A VERY DIVIDED RECOMMENDATION:

Ten of the spies saw ONLY with eyes of human understanding; and they said: The task is impossible! The opposition is too powerful! We cannot do it!

And they were right!

Two of the spies— the only ones whose names we remember, even though all twelve are in the Bible— Caleb and Joshua said:

We should by all means go up and take possession of (the land) for we shall surely overcome it! (AV) "We are well able to overcome!" And you know what? They were right, too!

C. A LOST GENERATION "LOST TRIBES OF ISRAEL"

1. All who looked only with human vision fulfilled their own prophecy! God was angered with them: "You shall not enter in!" And they all died in the wilderness! Forty years!
2. Those who saw with heavenly vision were more than conquerors! Caleb's courage is another whole sermon! They and their children were blessed because of their faith!

II. A QUESTION OF DISCERNMENT: VISION OR HALLUCINATION

A. TAKING THE 'SAFE SIDE' . . . WHEN SPEAKING OUT IS UNPOPULAR

How important is vision? How can we know when to use human vision and when to be Caleb and Joshua?

How are generations lost in the wilderness?

Consider the courage of Caleb and Joshua in speaking out against the majority opinion. It isn't always the Godly thing to be "safe" ... somehow I have the thought that sometimes we Nazarenes lost ground by taking the safe side of arguments on "externals" when the tough side was spiritual vision. Like being "politically correct" opposition wasn't voiced.

B. GOD ALWAYS HAS A PROMISED LAND IN MIND FOR US!

It is nothing less than "the mind of Christ" or the JOY which Jesus promised to leave us, joy in His Holy Spirit. The Spirit-filled life is our Promised Land! "Let THIS mind be IN YOU which was also in Christ Jesus."

C. SOMETIMES THIS MESSAGE GETS LOST IN EXCUSE AND HUMAN REASONING

"Of course we can't have the mind that was in Christ!" "No one can be like Jesus!"

And we give up the battle without a shot being fired. What does this imperative mean, "Let this mind be in you!"??

The essence of the mind of Christ that we can understand was that Jesus did not insist on HIS rights; that he did not GRASP at His own benefit— but that he gave Himself.

Is it possible for Christians to love like that today?

YES! THE LIFE OF FAITH BY DEFINITION MEANS DOING WHAT OTHERWISE WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE!

This UNBELIEF is not something new.

As we have seen in Numbers, and the story of the spies, Moses' people thought it was impossible to stay "in tune" with God.

Conclusion:

I have to bring this story-ramble to a close. What lesson can we learn from these people who were afraid to go forward on God's word?

Many years after the tragedy of the failure of the spies Moses faced another generation and said:

DON'T LOSE YOUR VISION! DON'T LOSE YOUR FAITH!

It was a different day, and in a different setting, to a new generation that Moses was speaking, but I think he was remembering when a generation was lost because it despised the pleasant land of promise:

Deuteronomy 30:11-14 "For this commandment which I command you today is not too difficult for you, nor is it out of reach. It is not in heaven, that you should say, 'Who will go up to heaven for us to get it for us and make us hear it, that we may observe it?' Nor is it beyond the sea, that you should say, 'Who will cross the sea for us and make us hear it, that we may observe it?' But the word is very near you, in your mouth and in your heart, that you may observe it."

(vv 19-20) "I call heaven and earth to witness against you today, that I have set before you life and death, the blessing and the curse. So choose life in order that you may live, you and your descendants, by loving the Lord your God, by obeying His voice, and by holding fast to Him; for this is your life and the length of your days, that you may live in the land which the Lord swore to your fathers, to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to give them."

Way back in the Old Testament, God wanted it understood that His commandments are also His promises!

HAVE YOU MADE THAT LIFE-CHANGING COMMITMENT TO BE ALL-OUT FOR GOD?
Have YOU presented YOUR body a living sacrifice to God for time and eternity? Are YOU satisfied with the level of spiritual victory in your experience?

The Lost Tribes of Israel

What we call "holiness;" the Spirit-filled, Spirit-led life- - the life overflowing with milk and honey and blessing and joy— is God's challenge to our faith, but it is also full of giants and problems and super-human needs. We can be overcoming Christians!

This is what Wesley called: the circumcision of the heart. The dedication for life of the entire person to God.

#243 I'll Live for Him

A Song of Ascents

THE JOY OF KNOWING AND SHARING GOD

Annual Meeting Sermon

April 28, 1991

A Song of Ascents Psalm 126

When the Lord brought back again the captive ones of Zion, we were like those who dream. The our mouth was filled with laughter, and our tongue with joyful shouting; then they said among the nations, "The Lord has done great things for them."

The Lord has done great things for us; we are glad.

Restore our captivity, O Lord, as the streams in the South.

Those who sow in tears shall reap with joyful shouting. He who goes to and fro weeping, carrying his bag of seed, shall indeed come again with a shout of joy, bringing his sheaves with him.

This is A Song of Ascents, to be sung on the way to worship in Jerusalem. I'm not sure how many of you sing on your way to Sunday morning worship, but it might not be a bad idea.

This is one song to get you ready to come into God's Presence; it tells of — The Lord has done great things for us...

I. WHAT THE LORD HAS DONE

- A. No doubt this has been a mixed year for the church, for you, for me as individuals. But along with the pain, there has been a Presence! It is GOOD to remember that God is with us.
- B. God is with us as a people:
 - 1. A growing missions awareness: Nielsens/ Stephanie Brank taken from our "cozy family" bring us closer to Manila; Restricks were "ours" for a year— now we are "with them" in Portugal. Todd Wanner in Honduras.

The Scotts (Jon, Margaret, Andrea, David, JOEL, Nathan) have helped us see real live missionaries with a passion for God's work; W&W to Azores. God HAS done great things!

2. An opening door in Codman Square; this is not the time to go into great detail, but suffice it to say that the possibilities are great if every person will care and pray and obey! Dennis Scott, Merritt Nielson, (Neale McLain)
- C. God did a great thing for us in the trauma of the Persian Gulf last winter; how soon we forget the trauma! Armageddon loomed large! SCUDS fell in Israel. Saddam Hussain was an unknown quantity. The euphoria of "unification" in Europe evaporated. We dare not forget! God answered our prayer; there is a respite!

The Psalm of Ascents also speaks of what God would have His people to do:

II. WHAT THE LORD WOULD HAVE HIS PEOPLE DO

" . . . go forth weeping, bearing precious SEED . . . "

- A. It is important that we GO FORTH. There is a semi-popular gospel song that says "My house is FULL, but my fields are EMPTY!" The command of Jesus was that we are to: "Pray the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers!"

"Going forth" speaks of the TASKS of the church. No less— no more! They all need to be done!
- B. But going forth is not quite enough; we are to go forth WEEPING. The tasks of the church are never to be done "coldly" or in JUST a professional manner. We are dealing with persons, made in God's image.

"Weeping" speaks of finding God's compassion to make the tasks more than "jobs" but missions of love.

But GOING and WEEPING are necessary-but-not- sufficient! There is a final, vital ingredient!
- C. THERE IS THE MATTER OF SEED! The SEED is the LIFE! The SEED is the Gospel! Not simply the written Word, but that is vital! Not simply Good News in human words of wisdom— but LIFE!

SEED = LIFE LIFE = KNOWING GOD

KNOWING GOD = (God INHABITS His Word; as we read Christocentrically we come to know Jesus!) Jesus Christ living within us! The INCARNATIONAL KNOWLEDGE OF GOD! THAT IS THE SEED!

CAN GOD REALLY LIVE WITHIN US?

There really is no substitute for INCARNATION! There is no short cut to knowing God as personally resident! INCARNATION is not a lesson which gifted people can by-pass. The knowledge of God is itself the basis of wisdom.

If we think because God has gifted us with large dimensions of thought we are qualified to KNOW (UNDERSTAND) GOD then we are exactly reversed!

God does not consist of our ideas of infinity and immensity and omnipresence! Rather, we inform those ideas by coming to KNOW God, and God INHABITS His written Word, and illuminates it by His Holy Spirit.

[There are a lot of Abe Lincoln stories, and it is impossible to know how many if not most are apocryphal. But Lincoln doted on his children; he loved his son Tad. Tad took a Private in the Army through the sentries into Lincoln's office, because Tad KNEW Abraham Lincoln in a way no scholar ever has known him!]

There is just a little more in this Song of Ascents- beside PRAISE for what God has done, and an OUTLINE OF THE TASKS at hand, there is

III. ASSURANCE THAT GOD WILL GRANT HIS PEOPLE SUCCESS

"...shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing sheaves"

- A. Many churches — all churches one would presume— want success in their endeavors. But as long as they (we) define success on our terms it will be elusive.

Many churches think that seminars and studies and techniques are where we begin for success. These things have their place. But we begin with the basics: success is finding and doing God's will here and now! And if we (1) have SEED and (2) will GO and CARE, then we shall succeed! The word is DOUBTLESS!

B. Remember: INCARNATIONAL! We have to know God! He has to get on the inside of us! We can win if we have the good SEED!

C. Then think: RELATIONAL! You and I don't have to go to Manila! (At least I don't think YOU do!) But where we GO we can CARE! And if we Go and if we CARE and if we have the good SEED, then the word is DOUBTLESS! Prayer: Thank You, Father, for what YOU have done for us this year! Forgive us for where we may have limited You— where we have tried to make YOU in OUR image!

Live in US! Inhabit our CHURCH! And somehow make US in YOUR image we pray! We pray in Jesus' name. Amen

[Lesson Ephesians 2:14-22]

The entire Christian church agrees that the church is, or is supposed to be "apostolic" in nature. And yet as you might expect, there are several different explanations of just what it means to be a part of the apostolic church.

THE APOSTOLIC POSITION

Some people say the apostolic power lies in the church itself. They think first of all of the Apostles themselves, and say that the church is apostolic because there is an unbroken line of authority handed down from St. Peter to the present time.

This view says that Jesus gave authority to these men, particularly to Peter; these men then passed that authority along in an unbroken line of bishops to the present. The Church that has this unbroken line of authority (meaning the RC church) is the sole repository of grace and thus of salvation.

This represents the old Augustinian/ Catholic view of the church as "apostolic" [which has moderated a great deal, particularly since Vatican II.]

The Church is Apostolic

This is an historical impossibility to prove. The church HAS come down across the centuries. It IS an unbroken witness, but not because of the unbroken line of bishops.

Other people say apostolic authority is the authority of the scriptures. This view looks at the pure Gospel that was preached by the Apostles, and says the church is apostolic when there is faithful adherence to this message. This view says the "ROCK" on which Jesus was to build His church was the confession, "Thou art the Christ!" and not Peter himself.

We believe that the witness of these men HAS been handed down to us in the Scriptures. Their testimony, which most of the apostles sealed with their own blood, has been passed along unbroken, and is with us in the Bible today.

This represents the Lutheran/Reformation view of the church, or more broadly, the classical position of all Protestantism.

Once again, however, caution is needed. It is possible to be militant in defending what we believe to be the "true infallibility" of the Bible, and be out of touch with the Spirit of Jesus. British theologian Daniel Jenkins warns:

"The crude appeal to the letter of the Scriptures, with no attention to the experience of the Spirit-guided Church, means not only a woeful impoverishment of the Church's life and worship; it frequently means also a crabbed and narrow interpretation of the Scriptures." (44)

No church can be apostolic without faithfulness to the scriptures, there is no question about that. But it takes more than the letter of the Word to make a church an apostolic church.

A third view sees the apostolic foundation of the church in the righteous living of the saints. This view claims that somehow an apostolic church has to recapture the EXPERIENCE AND THE MIRACLES OF THE APOSTLES, which, of course, the people who take this position are sure they have re-discovered.

In this view apostolic succession is totally discounted; and theological preaching and the sacraments diminished in comparison to individual experience and rigid interpretation of bible discipline. What matters is personal experience, how the individual "feels" about his or her relationship to God. But this is always dangerous: Emil Brunner once wrote (Philosophy of Religion)

"When once the main interest is fastened on subjective experience, the objective element, the Word, dwindles to a mere means of stimulus— for what matters is the "inward working." (41) (cited by Jenkins)

Again at the risk of over-simplification, this is an extreme Anabaptist position, that of an independent church; the role of the apostle is taken by the sect or the strong personality. The Church becomes a mere association of Christians gathering for mutual edification.

In summary, some people think the apostolic authority is in the institution of the church, in its bishops; some think it lies solely in the Bible and correct theological understanding; and some believe it belongs in the individual experience "rightly" interpreted.

If I had to choose between an unbroken line of authority; an undiluted Gospel of the apostles; or finding the experience and lifestyle of the apostles, my choice would be closer to the second, or Reformation position than any other.

But before we obligate ourselves to any one position, think with me about the function or role or calling of an apostle.

THE APOSTOLIC OFFICE

The text says that Jesus Christ Himself is the cornerstone of the church which is being built on the apostolic foundation. Any view of what it means to be apostolic is only valid as it rests firmly and squarely on a relationship with Jesus Christ. Look with me at the calling of the original apostles:

There are some things that an apostle was not!

The Church is Apostolic

To be an apostle definitely was NOT a matter of obvious greatness or brilliance or intellect. No doubt all these men became truly great men; but it was a greatness that developed out of their dedication to their Master. It was a greatness that even then was not apparent to the world; a greatness that I believe is available to you and me even today.

The apostles were not great innovators or keen publicity agents. To be an apostle was NOT to develop schemes with which to turn their culture around. As a rule these men seemed rather reluctant to leave Jerusalem, and discovered their opportunities only when they were thrust out into the harsh realities of an alien culture. (See Acts 8:1)

The men whom became such great leaders were weak, often prejudiced, had painful and severe quarrels and misunderstandings— and yet somehow the church is supposed to be like them!

So, just WHO AND WHAT WERE the apostles? Simply stated, the apostles were men who were CALLED by Jesus, and they had just three things, basically, to do:

An apostle had to be someone who knew Jesus. Personally and intimately. They had to be called by Jesus to be with Him. Not everyone He called followed. Not everyone who wanted to tag along was permitted. Apostles knew how Jesus lived. They knew how He died. Most of all, apostles knew Jesus after the resurrection. They knew Jesus was still very much alive.

Apostles were committed to serve Jesus. They were not called to give Jesus advice, they were His servants! Apostles had surrendered their rights to themselves. They were NOT to be "big shots" or innovators. Some of them early on did get delusions of grandeur. But they were severely chastised for it, too! Ultimately they came to love God's will more than they loved their own lives!

Most of all, the apostles were commissioned to tell to the world what they knew. More than one scholar says something like this: (Jenkins)

"It (was) not their faith or their zeal or their religious genius or any special charismata they possessed, like the gift of the Spirit by the laying on of hands, and certainly not any accident of historical association, but their testimony which constitute(d) them Apostles." (25)

Some of them developed into profound theologians and scholars, as Paul and John did; some of them no doubt were tremendous leaders, heading up the organization of a regional church as Peter did. But whatever else they were, first and foremost they were witnesses to tell what they knew in the power of the indwelling Presence of God in their lives! Not what they speculated, or what they heard each other say, but they were to tell only what they KNEW! It was a convincing testimony!

The Church of Jesus Christ exists today to carry out the apostolic task. It is this witness, and not the men themselves, or even the verbatim words of the Gospel, or the emotional or pietistic experience of these men that makes the church truly "apostolic."

THE APOSTOLIC COMMISSION

The entire CHURCH is called to the Great Commission. IN THE GREAT COMMISSION THE ENTIRE CHURCH IS CALLED TO THE APOSTOLIC TASK! There is an interesting paragraph in the next (3rd) chapter (7-13). Paul says the apostle's task that fell to him is now to be manifested through the church. And Paul does not limit this witness to evangelism- he says the church will witness to all creation.

Jesus Himself (and not the church) must be the center of our witness. A person who is promoting the Church first can have a religion which is really "Glory be to ME!" "We're Number One!" To reject the servant role is to lose the apostolic commission.

The ONLY reason for existence of the Church is to carry forward this apostolic function of lifting up the risen Savior. Our relationship with Jesus must underlie everything we do.

Our public worship should call people away from the spirit of our godless world; it should even turn people away from preoccupation with themselves, and from any worship of mere outward forms to see God's LOVE in the FACE of the risen Savior.

The Church is Apostolic

Our personal commitment to Jesus will reflect a willing submission to His Lordship. We will take seriously the Bible's claim that eternal life is ONLY in knowing God.

It is a humbling thing to be called to follow the apostolic tradition. It is a sobering thing to know that Jesus has said to YOU, personally, "FOLLOW ME!"

That is the reason many of you are here today!

But if Jesus has called you, there is no other way except to submit to His authority, and follow HIM! Or else, to count the cost, as did the Rich Young Ruler, and go sadly away. There is no middle ground.

In a community where intellectual keenness is highly valued, submission of the intellect may be seen as anti-intellectual. Nothing could be farther from the truth! Obscurantism and rationalism and other forms of self-delusion are forms of dishonesty, and Jesus Christ never tolerates dishonesty for a moment! But if we determine instead, from a place outside of submission by faith to the integrity of God as revealed in Jesus Christ, to decide for ourselves what is right and wrong, or what is true and what is nonsense,, we misunderstand the whole purpose of theology. We are elevating the our own thoughts and the discoveries of science, of philosophy or psychology or anthropology or sociology by an act of our own sovereign will to equality with Revealed truth.

We can come to the inner assurance that all of life must relate to the Presence of Jesus Christ. Our highest witness then will be a consistency of life and living.

You don't have to be a great talker to be a great apostolic witness! [The greatest testimonies to the Reality of God are testimonies of people going through the fire!

Prayer: Lord, If you are calling us, we are following! Help us know You better! Help us serve You! And let our ordered lives confess the beauty of Thy Peace! Amen.

COMMUNION MEDITATION

23rd Psalm

Thou preparest a table before me...

Introduction

This evening we come again as brothers and sisters to the table of the Lord, the Sacrament that communicates in a special way to us the fact that Jesus IS WITH US.

What assurance do we have that this is indeed a fact?

I. WE HAVE A CONFESSION

A. Paul has written (Romans 10:9,10) that if we confess with our mouth the Lord Jesus, and if we in fact believe in our hearts that God has raised Him from the dead, we shall be saved.

Thus the confession: "JESUS IS LORD" THE FOUNDATION OF OUR FAITH

B. "Jesus and..." or "Jesus, except..." is the root of all heresy

C. The authority and accountability of the corporate Body is/must be balanced by the inner witness of our own spirit.

[John Wesley's "heart warming" experience, May 24, 1738]

This experience will not contradict the "catholic" church; the Spirit of Jesus is uncompromising and yet sweet and Shepherd- like. He leads. He loves. Never make a pressure confounded decision in life!

II. WE HAVE A HOPE

"OCCUPY UNTIL I COME" THE HOPE OF OUR ETERNAL SALVATION

Communion Meditation

A. Our faith is "eschatological;" it is "going somewhere. We are not merely cycling aimlessly through the centuries'

B. Jesus is coming again Every time we share in His Table we are testifying to the fact that we believe that "He shall come (again) to judge the living and the dead." as the Creed states.

III. WE HAVE A PRESENCE

"THIS IS MY BODY" THE CONTINUATION OF OUR LIFE

A. But our faith is not just in the past or in the future. Our faith is, and must be, in the NOW!

B. This Presence is:

1. ADEQUACY

a. By adequacy I do not mean that all we need as humans and as Christians is religion. [Dr. Bill McCumber said "Some people say 'All I need is Jesus!' But I need Doris, too!"]

b. But adequacy means with Jesus I am of great personal worth! I am God's child; I have been adopted into God's family. I need the deep inner persuasion that what Jesus has done in and of itself is ALL I NEED IN ORDER TO HAVE ETERNAL LIFE.

c. The adequacy of the atonement does not negate the inequities of this life. It doesn't mean that we don't "really need each other!" But it does mean that we are AT-ONE with God!

This Presence is also:

2. REALITY

a. I don't mean that we know all the mysteries; I do mean there are some things we KNOW! (2 Corinthians 5:17 "A new creation!")

b. That is what the great Anglican priest John Wesley rediscovered and spread all over Britain and Ireland.

c. There are many things we CAN'T know; but we can know
IMMANUEL: GOD WITH US! That is reality

This Presence is also:

3. MISSION

a. We cannot know Jesus-- really know Him-- and stay the same regarding other people! If we have found Someone to walk through life with us, can't we begin to tell others about Him, too?

b. This world is crying out for adequacy and for spiritual reality and assurance.

c. So-- what should we do? WE begin thinking BIG! How shall we set Dorchester on fire for God! But God thinks small. He wants to save a world so He starts off with a Baby. Maybe God wanted Gladys and Charlie to climb that iron fence and meet those people from the neighborhood last week in Dorchester! Maybe God wants you and me to be friends with our neighbors and show them our Friend!

Conclusion

All my life I've been hearing all sorts of reasons why I ought to be doing this or that for God . . . or why I should follow this or that program. And maybe I should have! But if you are like I am, we have had mixed feelings for doing what we have done. I wonder if we can ever really say THE LOVE OF CHRIST COMPELS ME!

The question Jesus asks us is the question He asked Peter when He restored Peter to the leadership of His disciples: DO YOU LOVE ME??
!!

If we have accomplished anything this year - if Jesus has led us into Codman Square - if we have seen any good things at all-- can it be for any other reason than that Jesus has been with us-- and that He is with us NOW?

Communion Meditation

[In Copley Square, right beside Trinity Church, is a statue of that Church's most illustrious pastor, Phillips Brooks. The church erected it in honor of the man who wrote, among other things:

How silently, How silently,
The wonderous Gift is given
So God imparts to human hearts
the belssings of His heaven

But there is another figure in the statuary-- a Hooded figure of the Christ, standing behind Phillips Brooks with His hand on the shoulder of the man in the pulpit. That statuary tells the story. In the dark, in the cold, in the sun, in the rain-- He is always there. Christ stands behind the pastor with His hand on his shoulder. And He will always be there!

This is what it means to be "in Christ!" It is HIS Presence!
And His Presence is ADEQUACY!!

The Church is Holy

Five sermons introducing the universally held theological truth that the church of Jesus Christ is one, holy, catholic and apostolic, with application for a church at the end of the twentieth century.

- The Marks of the Church Introduction
- The Church is One
- The Church is Catholic
- The Church is Apostolic
- The Church is Holy

May 5, 1991

Ephesians 5:25 "... Christ loved the church and gave Himself up for it, that he might make it holy with His own blood, and present it to Himself pure and radiant, without any spot or wrinkle, holy and blameless."

In the Bible account of Gideon you may recall that Israel was being menaced by enemies (Midian) and the nation was in terror. Gideon, the hero of the story was himself hiding as he threshed out his harvest when an angel appeared to him and said, "Hail, mighty man of valor! The LORD is with thee!"

Gideon didn't know if the angel was making fun of him, or was just very near-sighted! He did not know either his own potential or God's design for his life!

By the same terms, if a letter came to your house addressed to "the saints" at your residence, how would you respond? Or, when you read or hear read the challenge anywhere in the Bible: "Be ye holy for I the Lord your God Am Holy!" how do you receive it?

The very idea of "holy" or "holiness" invokes strong reactions. In general there are two:

One response to holiness says, "Who me?" Then with a great show of humility the heavy responsibility of sainthood or holiness is ever so lightly pushed aside.

The other response says, "I will be holy!" But then it proceeds to define the beginning and ending of the call to holiness strictly in the individual, in the "me."

THERE IS A PERSONAL CALL TO HOLINESS

...which cannot be ignored. YES, GOD CALLS US PERSONALLY: (re: Romans 12:1,2)

God calls EACH of us, deals with us, convicts and convinces us, so that we might be enabled to fellowship with Him. God calls EACH OF US TO HIMSELF. To be "holy" means we are in a special relationship to God.

Our "holiness" is not a "LOAD OF GOODNESS" that makes US "holy" in all we do or say. ONLY GOD IS HOLY in any underived way. All holiness comes from HIM.

But God cannot fellowship with the unholy. He wants us to fellowship with Him. So we have this dilemma: you have to be holy to come near to God, and you can't come near to God unless you are holy. It is sort of like you can't get a job without experience, and you can't get experience without a job.

So— what can be done? The thing to realize is what HOLY is, what it means. "Holy" means "set apart." My parking space is "set apart" to me; this church building is "holy" in a sense in that it is "set apart" for the worship of God. TO BE GOD'S IS TO BE HOLY:

But things don't have any say in whom they shall belong to; people do. Still, what is God's IS holy! So, the struggle is not to make ourselves holy so that we can approach God; WE CANNOT DO THAT OURSELVES!

Somehow the struggle is not to be HOLY— but to give ourselves wholly away to God, and to know that He has accepted our gift. What is HIS— He makes holy!

And strange as it may seem, part of the "giving away," the consecration, involves identifying with God's holy church!

TO BE HOLY INVOLVES BEING PART OF GOD'S HOLY CHURCH

Our passion for personal holiness must flow into a holy love for Christ's church if it reflects Christ's own kind of love.

"Holy" has been preached almost exclusively from a personal, experiential approach. We have measured our holiness by the inner, emotional response ("I feel sweet, or peace, or feel love"), by what we sense personally, enabling: ("I am not ashamed to testify" "I find that I can forgive.") And while this personal side is absolutely valid and necessary, yet it can be extremely centered in self!

The corrective for self-centered holiness, an oxymoron if there ever was one, is remembering that we are to be sanctified in relationship to Christ's church, which is to be HOLY!

GOD'S CALL "BE HOLY!" IS ALWAYS IN THE CONTEXT OF THE CHURCH

THE CHURCH IS THE FOCUS OF CHRIST'S LOVE. Look again at the scripture which declares: "... Christ loved the church and gave Himself up for it, that he might make it holy with His own blood, and present it to Himself pure and radiant, without any spot or wrinkle, holy and blameless." (Ephesians 5:25)

THE CHURCH CAME TO LIFE ON THE DAY OF PENTECOST

Peter preached: "This is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel!" THE CHURCH'S CALL TO HOLINESS INCORPORATES THE INDIVIDUAL 'PERSONAL CALL TO HOLINESS' AND MORE:

The CHURCH is to be united with God by the sanctifying grace: Jesus prayed (John 17:17) Sanctify them: "That they may be one with us." The CHURCH is promised the empowering Spirit: Acts 1:8 - The CHURCH received admonition and challenge from the glorified Savior in Revelation 2,3

HOLINESS IN THIS CORPORATE SENSE BECOMES A SUBMITTING AND SURRENDERING TO MAKE THE CHURCH MUCH MORE THAN OUR INDIVIDUAL TESTIMONY CAN BE. This is a risky, scary thing: to submit one's individual rights into a sense of community.

In the 1960s Hippies tried it— and they were disillusioned every single time! James Jones persuaded hundreds to experiment with submission; the results were disastrous.

The Church is Holy

Still, there it is: the disciples had all things in common; they relinquished their own rights.

What principle is this?

THE HOLY CHURCH WILL MANIFEST GOD'S LIFE IN THIS WORLD

The LOVE of God - The COMPASSION OF HOLINESS must be manifested in the context of the corporate faith. The Apostle John said the greatest "selling point" the church has is: BEHOLD HOW THEY LOVE ONE ANOTHER!

The COMMUNION of God - THE COMMUNITY OF HOLINESS must also be manifested in the corporate faith. The church described in Acts 2 was manifestly unselfish! They gave whatever they had in order to make the kingdom go forward. "THEY HAD ALL THINGS COMMON!"

We can re-capture some of that "belonging"! The nursery needs to be staffed. Little children need to be cared for. People need to be loved and prayed for. It isn't a matter of communism, or giving, although in my mind tithing is a "floor."

The LIFE of God - THE VIBRANT REALITY OF HOLINESS will also be made manifest in the corporate faith! [I am not speaking of synthetic excitement.] When God meets with His HOLY CHURCH it is always an enormously important occasion!

Some time ago in some church promotional literature one "managerial-type" pastor likened his church to a filling station. HE SAID: "The 'real world' is out 'on the road.' "

I take exception.

The church is like a home. THIS sanctuary is a dining room. The meal is fuel for the tasks to be done. But it is also a sacrament of love.

Physically, in our individual homes, too much of our eating is 'fast food' filling station mentality. HAPPY is the family that several times a week sits down together in love to eat, talk, laugh, think, remember, enjoy each other.

Spiritually, it IS true that what the church does 'out on the road' IS vital; WE are the only way that Jesus gets "out of the Bible, out of the four walls of the church."

But what we do IN the church is much more than a smelly, selfish gas station. It is more than "tanking up."

We are family- God's HOLY family! We LOVE each other! When we eat, Paul said, wait for each other!

SO, HOW IS THE CHURCH 'HOLY?'

You [PERSONALLY] are called to holiness as a child of God.

The church is holy because YOU are holy! Like Gideon, the angel is saying to you, "HAIL, YOU SAINT! YOU ARE A MIGHTY CHILD OF GOD!" And you are already sanctified, if you are a Christian at all- - for you are dedicated, given, baptized into the Body of Christ. You are being sanctified God wants to sanctify you through and through, with His cleansing reaching every deliberately surrendered part until in a crisis of consecration you will know you have said an everlasting "YES!" to His love. And one day we shall be sanctified completely! In a way we cannot imagine, "When we shall see Him we shall be like Him!"

The church is HOLY if it is God's church! We [AS GOD'S CHURCH!] are called to holiness as a unit. We can have the baptism of the Holy Spirit that fosters compassion.

I get tired of seminars, and of super-stars, and of methods and techniques.

But we must avoid any false humility that says, "I'm no saint! We're no super-church! Holiness? Holiness is for the day of the kerosene lamp and the button-down shoes. We can't have that kind of powerful fellowship!"

Can't we?

I'm going to ask you to join with me in the closing prayer today, A JOINT AFFIRMATION that we belong to God as a church!

Prayer:

WE, THE WOLLASTON CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, AFFIRM THAT WE BELONG TO YOU, O GOD. WE BELIEVE THAT WHAT BELONGS TO YOU IS TRULY HOLY. WE ASK

The Church is Holy

THAT YOU WILL MAKE US WHOLLY YOURS THAT WE MIGHT WALK WITH YOU AND FELLOWSHIP WITH YOU AND OBEY YOU IN ALL THAT WE SAY AND DO, THAT YOU MAY HAVE YOUR PERFECT WILL IN OUR CONGREGATIONAL LIFE. AMEN.

God Is Great God is Near

May 26, 1991

Psalm 145:3,4;17-19

Great is the Lord and most worthy of praise; his greatness no one can fathom.

One generation will commend your works to another; they will tell of your mighty acts.

*The Lord is righteous in all his ways and loving toward all he has made.
The Lord is near to all who call on him, to all who call on him in truth. He fulfills the desires of those who fear him; he hears their cry and saves them.*

Introduction

[Today is Trinity Sunday, when it is customary to think about the mystery of God.] IT IS A DIFFICULT THING TO THINK ABOUT GOD. Usually we find it more comfortable to think about God-things; and the God-things we like to think about are commonly things that have to do with what God is doing for US. OUR needs. OUR desires.

To think about God Himself means that we will ask impertinent questions like: IS THERE A GOD? and, WHAT IS GOD LIKE? To think about God requires that we ask ourselves, WHAT IS GOD TO ME?

I. IS THERE A GOD?

[To ask "IS THERE A GOD?" in a Nazarene church seems almost somehow sacrilegious, doesn't it! But Hebrews 11:6 indicates that faith in God is not "automatic."

- A. "IS THERE A GOD?" If we had to answer this question, not with our WORDS, and not with (mere) intellectual assent, but with the way we LIVE— ah, that might be a different situation!

If faith in God is more than an intellectual assent, and if we are supposed to witness with our life-styles, [to BE men and women who act as if God really IS!], then we face a challenge! Many Christian churches are populated with practical agnostics.

But that is another sermon, sometime.

- B. "IS THERE A GOD?" The reality of God is a "revelation matter." Faith is a gift! Faith is a gift of spiritual insight; we peer into the mystery of Life and somehow we know that we are not alone. God the Father is declared in His handiwork, and He has spoken in Revelation. (Psalm 19)

In the Creation story God is seen as coming to where Adam and Eve are and walking with them in the cool of the day. God is still coming where we are. God speaks from faith to faith!

Illustration: Cosmonauts ("I didn't see God!") versus Astronauts ("In the beginning...!") Faith to faith!

[But ...]

II. WHAT IS GOD LIKE?

There are plenty of people who are willing to help us. Some of them may actually be helpful!

- A. We have our 'official' definitions of God; the writings of the ancients; the creeds. We even have the Manual of the Church of the Nazarene, which states:

"We believe in one eternally existent, infinite God, Sovereign of the universe; that He only is God, creative and administrative, holy in nature, attributes, and purpose; that He, as God, is Triune in essential being, revealed as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit."

Official definitions are necessary. But they don't always leave us with a very warm feeling.

- B. The Bible, read as a textbook, BEGINS to unfold the mystery of God, in terms that relate to us. The names of God as found in the Old and New Testaments are a good place to begin.

The first name God used of Himself is the name Elohim, which comes from a word relating to "power." It would suggest that God is the Source of all energy and power.

The second name God uses of Himself is the 'unspeakable name' which the ancient Hebrews would not speak, the name we call Jehovah, and scholars usually call Yahweh. THIS NAME IS A PROPER NOUN THAT MOSES HEARD AS I AM THAT I AM.

The Jews used compound names: Jehovah-Jireh "the Lord will provide"; Jehovah-Nissi, "The Lord my banner"; Jehovah-Shalom "the Lord send peace"; Jehovah-Shammah, "the Lord is there"; Jehovah-tsidkenu, "the Lord our righteousness."

Another Hebrew name for God is "El Shaddai," our "God our Nourisher" or "Strength-giver." "Adonai" which means Lord or Master was often spoken when the 'unspeakable name' of Jehovah was read with the eye. These are some of the names or concepts of God we see in the Old Testament.

- C. The New Testament story of Jesus opens the door of revelation wider, and shows us that God is LIGHT, that He is LIFE, that He is LOVE. As we search the scriptures, and let them speak to us of the nature and attributes of God, we come to say that God is SPIRIT, that God is HOLY, that God is ETERNAL. We say that God is OMNIPRESENT, and there is no place hidden from His immediate knowledge. He is OMNISCIENT, and there is nothing He does not know or understand. God is OMNIPOTENT, with the only things impossible to Him being those things which contradict His own nature. He is good, so He cannot be evil. He is holy, so He cannot love uncleanness.
- D. But the highest insight into this question 'WHAT IS GOD LIKE?' is found in WHO JESUS IS, and WHAT JESUS HAS DONE AND IS DOING. He is called "The WORD" because He is sent from the Father. He said, (John 14:9) "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father." And Paul tells us (2 Corinthians 4:6) that: "In the face of Jesus is the light of God's glory!"

HOW CAN JESUS TEACH US MORE THAN THE LETTER OF THE WORD? [John 5:39] Jesus WILL NEVER CONTRADICT THE WORD; but Jesus is somehow always more than the sum total of the "letter." We do not need some esoteric scholar to sift out the "real Jesus" behind the written word on a pseudo-intellectual basis. Jesus IS the Eternal Contemporary!

THIS, TOO, IS A "REVELATION MATTER!" It is a miracle of God's grace that enables us to believe that Jesus truly is the Son of God, and that He makes God "come alive to us."

What is God like? E. Stanley Jones said, "We have a Christ-like God!" Simply put, inasmuch as we can understand Him, God is like Jesus!

[But there is a THIRD question . . .]

III. WHAT IS THIS GOD TO ME?

- A. The two questions merge into a third; This God who IS . . . who IS LIKE JESUS . . .
WHAT IS THIS GOD TO ME?

It is possible to be persuaded about God, even in a correct way, and still not KNOW Him!

- B. HOW DO WE COME TO KNOW GOD IN THIS PERSONAL WAY?

She was doing a routine task, so her mind could freely wander. She was thinking serious thoughts as she moved along. Thoughts about life and death, about God and worship were all mixed in with thoughts of her present situation.

She had really made a mess of her life. It wasn't all her fault. Everybody thinks about serious things sometimes.

As she arrived at the well her thoughts were interrupted by a Jewish gentleman sitting right on the low wall that surrounded the well itself. He startled her by asking her for a drink.

And it was simply amazing! One good word led to another, and soon she was engaged in the most thrilling conversation of her life. She expressed some of the questions she had just been pondering.

She thought that maybe that her deepest need was for religion. "Are the Jews correct in saying we have to go to Jerusalem to worship? Or can we Samaritans get along by worshiping right here on this mountain?"

Her heart and mind were open. She longed to know what God was really like, what He demanded of her.

This Stranger began to give her a disturbing but yet deeply satisfying answer!! He told her "You don't need more religion! You've got too much already! What you need is contact with GOD!"

"What is God like?" That day the woman at the well received one of the greatest discourses ever spoken on the nature of God.

"GOD IS SPIRIT! THEY THAT WORSHIP HIM MUST WORSHIP IN SPIRIT AND TRUTH!" The place and the method may vary. God is interested in the heart condition.

She saw the pieces of scriptural revelation begin to fit together and make sense. She said to the Jewish gentleman: "I know that when Messiah comes He will explain everything to us!"

Her longing and her mixed-up life and her whole heart together said within her: "Couldn't this great God SOME DAY do something wonderful for me?"

And THEN came the EARTHQUAKE! The Jewish gentleman said: You don't HAVE to wait any longer! "Messiah is here! NOW! I AM Messiah!"

All of a sudden this very REAL God, the very GREAT God, was also VERY NEAR!

- C. HOW DO WE DRAW NEAR TO ALMIGHTY GOD? How do we find Jesus as Savior and Lord? The answer is: WE DON'T! I know the Word says: "Draw near to God, and He will draw near to you!" But in every case, our drawing near to God is a response to the invitation He gives us! We may draw near, we can draw near, BECAUSE GOD ALREADY IS NEAR!

Conclusion:

1. It is easier to think about God-things than it is to think about God Himself. But when we DO put God at the very center, we discover that all we have been seeking for all along is found in God Himself! The things we think will satisfy elude us. Then we discover Jesus Christ is very near, making Himself known, and we discover that "well of water springing up within us."
2. When we are (1) in our daily routine (God is NEAR!). When we are (2) mixed up, messed up (God is NEAR!). When we are thinking of how we can do better, draw closer (God is NEARER THAN YOU KNOW!).

Two-hundred-fifty-three (253) years ago last Friday evening, about 9:15 London time, marked the anniversary of one man's discovery that God is Great and God is NEAR! He had been a priest for 13 years! He had served God and His kingdom in sacrificial ways. HE KNEW THERE WAS A GOD; AND HE KNEW BETTER THAN MOST OF US WILL EVER KNOW WHAT GOD WAS LIKE. BUT THAT EVENING JOHN WESLEY CAME TO KNOW GOD IN A PERSONAL, HEART-WARMING ASSURANCE!

Prayer: Help us to think about You today! Amen.

Introduction

PREACHING / PROCLAMATION

Preaching is a high and holy task. I have a high regard for preaching. Preaching can be sacramental. The word "preach" gets a bad press. Whatever the secular meaning of the word, to preach is God's way of proclaiming His Gospel.

Proclamation is the task of the whole church. Preaching is not the sum total of proclamation. Actually, preaching is not usually the earliest source of evangelistic awakening! For the task of proclamation is the task of the entire church of Jesus Christ.

Words that I live by in preaching. I would share with you words that I live by, that to me are part of my sacred assignment as a preacher. I have come to the conclusion that these words are not just for ordained people. Together we all are the church apostolic, called to know Jesus and to witness to the world of what we know. HERE ARE THE PRECIOUS WORDS:

I. I AM AN AMBASSADOR, NOT A PEDDLER

"We do not peddle the word of God for profit"

- A. Peddlers are honorable, but they (1) are in their work to make a living; and (2) they usually sell gadgets.
- B. We are ambassadors. We earn our livings in order to support our true work. What we handle is a matter of life and death. We are people who are sent.
- C. As ambassadors we are honor bound to learn our craft; to know our calling well; to become experts in the matter of scriptural truth. We must know the message in order not to garble it.

II. I AM CALLED TO BE REAL, NOT A PLAY-ACTOR

"We do not cover our face, as Moses, to hide the fading glory"

- A. The incident cited: Moses had a crisis time of glory when his face shone. He was frightening to the people then, but it was an honorable sort of excitement. After all, he had been with God.

When the glory faded, Moses kept the veil on so the people wouldn't see his apparent weakness or mere humanity.

- B. Religious hokus-pocus is a temptation. People think more highly or less highly of us than we deserve. But we must strive to be honest before God!

[Not just "be ourselves!" But be ourselves as God is working with us!]

It is vital that we share our high moments as well as be vulnerable in our low times. I am not suggesting that people want to hear the details of your hospital experiences; but I am saying that we need to share the fact that God meets with human beings where they live.

III. I MUST SPEAK THE TRUTH, NOT PROPAGANDIZE

"We do not distort the Word of God"

- A. Let the Word itself speak. All too often when we apply the word to a situation we know where we want to end up before we even start. We are sure how we want to see the result turn out. That is all very well, so long as we are totally under the authority of the living Word.
- B. The Word will speak! The Word of God reflects the Living Word, the Son of God. It has a mind, a life, a will all its own that supersedes our limited perspective.
But that is the rub; the word will not be used! It must be obeyed!
- C. The critical factor: AM I LIVING BY THE WORD?

IV. I MUST BE CHRIST-CENTERED, NOT SELF-PROMOTING

"We do not preach ourselves, but Christ"

- A. This is not to say that God cannot and will not use "characters." Thank God, He loves you the way you are— and He wants you to be yourself! Your sanctified self, that is!
- B. It comes down to a matter of LOVE: we seek the glory of God ahead of our own!

Conclusion

I have a dream of seeing our church become very effective in reaching people who do not know Jesus as Savior. I believe that we can have a great new break-through in proclamation.

Such a dream would usually be immediately followed up by challenge to learning and doing. And I believe there is a place for all that.

But I believe that there are two things that will happen and that if they happen the dream will come:

1. We must really want to proclaim; must see proclamation as the total task of the total church, and as the one single thing that will bring us the most joy. WE MUST WANT PEOPLE TO KNOW THE CHRIST WE LOVE.
2. We must believe in each other as we catch the vision: love and encourage and boost one another in every thing that we do. WE MUST HAVE A BAPTISM OF TRUST AND LOVE AND COMMUNITY.

And, so, we do not lose heart.

The Qualities of Family

June 23, 1991 AM

1 Thessalonians 2

Introduction

[Family advice from Paul?]

Paul was tough. He had to be to survive in his world. He did not tolerate failure lightly. He drove himself harder than anyone else.

But Paul was also tender.

Paul responded to the tenderness of Stephen the martyr, when perhaps nothing else could have reached him, the radical persecutor of the Way.

After his remarkable conversion, he was taken under the personal care of one of the kindest men in all the Bible, Barnabus, the son of consolation. Barnabus didn't change Paul's gritty spunky aggressive nature entirely, but he did make an indelible mark. Paul was not only tough, Paul knew the value of being tender.

[The Holy Spirit (not just crusty St. Paul) inspired these words!:]

Here in I Thessalonians 2 are some "side comments" by Paul on the way parents ideally relate to their children. He tells the people in Thessalonica what he thinks of them, and how he has sought to treat them. Paul's comments are an outline of family characteristics we might look at and cultivate.

I. PARALLELS: GROWING A CHURCH AND RAISING A FAMILY

- A. I may be an idealist, but I really believe that A CHURCH IS A FAMILY. Some families are closer than others; some are more "fun;" but every local unit of Christ's church is family!
- B. THE IDEAL CHURCH/FAMILY IS GOD-CENTERED, RATHER THAN PERSON-CENTERED. (2:4) "we speak, not as pleasing (people) but God, who examines our hearts."

1. This formula works for everything Christian. [Actually, I learned it at a CCI "Fireside" more than 20 years ago in Green Lake, Wisconsin. It has worked at Camp Taconic all these long years since! We do not run a camp, even a "Boys' Camp" or "Girls' Camp," for people— not even the boys or girls, although that is the reason for the camp. The camp is run for the glory of God! Every person does what he/she does as unto the Lord! The end result: the boys and girls are served even better than if we ran the camp for them!]
 - a. It works in a church
 - b. and it even works in a family
 2. The church is NOT to be simply a place where perceived needs are met, or where the gospel is "marketed." The "bottom line" is NOT church growth, or even good reports. The "bottom line" is pleasing God! He is the One who builds His church!
- C. "Pleasing God" has a way of combining worth-while goals, and "straining out" lesser ones.

[The current Reader's Digest carries an article I barely skimmed, by a rabbi. His testimony was the same as mine: it has been a great life BUT there is one regret: I was too ambitious about my career at first!]

II. GROWING A CHURCH OR A FAMILY CANNOT BE DONE IN A DETACHED AND IMPERSONAL WAY

- A. The single most important thing that families need is "LOVE." But 'love' has to be more than a word. "Love" is so broad a term that it has to be broken into pieces we can handle and recognize and work on. Paul put it this way: (2:8) "Having thus a fond affection for you we were well-pleased to impart to you not only the gospel of God BUT OUR OWN LIVES ALSO, BECAUSE YOU HAD BECOME VERY DEAR TO US."
- "Lessons" are important. ABCs, "times tables" and the disciplines must be mastered. But the greatest lesson of all is what kind of person the teacher is, or what kind of person the father or mother is. Character is more "caught" than taught.

We've all had them: teachers who had to get the lesson across, whatever the cost; teachers who went altogether by the text. But we've also had them: teachers who were tough, perhaps— but who demanded our best because they believed in us and loved us!

[I remember Mrs. Crouch, a history teacher at Akron North High School. "Wake up, Russell," she said. "You're going to be dead a long time!" But I knew she cared about me!]

- B. The first quality of this investment of self, this quality that makes for "family" health is LOVE EXPRESSED AS...

1. GENTLENESS

Paul says, (2:7) "I have been like a mother to you!" Tough Paul, hard on John Mark when he got homesick, not whimpering when he is beaten, standing up to more than one Roman centurion or magistrate— tough Paul says, "I have been like a mother to you!"

So, "how is a mother?" In a word, "gentle." Love that almost hurts! Love that seeks to lift and bless. Love that is on the alert for ways to be a help.

[Practical: Yes, young mothers have the toughest job! They do FEEL like they don't want to even SEE their kids sometimes. But just let those same kids whimper off in the corner somewhere, and the family reunion is going strong, and there is all kinds of noise and confusion, and Mother hears HER little child's voice when no one else in the room does! Why?]

GENTLE LOVE CAN ALSO BE 'STRONG' ["TOUGH LOVE!"]

- a. Paul also speaks of being 'like a father.' (2:11 "... we were exhorting and encouraging and imploring each one of you as a father would his own children ...")

[Remember, now, this is not YOUR father, nor is it mine.

Some of you have sad stories to tell about family relationships. Don't let them influence you in your concept of the term "father" or "mother" as it is used in the scriptures.

I happened to have as a father a man who totally gave himself to God before I was born. I am eternally grateful for that. But at the same time I hasten to say that my father was not perfect, and he made a number of mistakes in dealing with me as his son.

In turn, I have been a sincere and committed Christian since before my children were born, but I must confess that I have not been the perfect or ideal father.]

Paul is speaking of an "ideal." We all have to rise above the mistakes and sins of our parents.

- b. So, what sort of strong characteristics does Paul describe as helpful for the church/family?

The first quality Paul associates with the ideal father, and the second in our family list is LOVE EXPRESSED AS:

2. ENCOURAGEMENT

A good TEACHER OR PARENT is an encourager! He/she makes you feel like you CAN! He/she doesn't beat you down, but builds you up!

[Illustration: R.C.Sproul told us of a teacher who wrote "You can write!" on his paper and put it up on the bulletin board for all to see! Alice Spangenberg wrote the same words on one of my freshman papers, and it greatly encouraged me!]

The next thing Paul mentions- and perhaps the order is important- is LOVE EXPRESSED AS:

3. COMFORTING

We've discovered the importance of touching! Parents need to hug their children often and sincerely, and not just when they deserve it or are good, but when they feel most naughty we need to encourage them to be better human beings.

[Illus: The little boy who went past many churches to get to D.L. Moody's Sunday School because "They love me!"]

The next thing on Paul's list is the one we usually place first. It is LOVE EXPRESSED BY:

4. URGING

This "urging" aspect of parenthood carries over into most relationships and uses words like "ought" and "should" and questions like "Did you?" and reactions like "I told you so.."

All these are (probably) legitimate. After all, URGING is on the list! And some of us wouldn't have got out of bed this morning if someone hadn't used this fatherly technique!

But urging is like salt. It must be used properly!

Urging used to be extended even to corporal punishment. I speak of judicious use of spanking. Now even to mention the idea of swatting a child is to incur accusation and suspicion. Still, if the other aspects of love (i.e., Gentleness and Encouragement, etc,) are really present, URGING HAS ITS PLACE! [ILLUS. The URGING must fit the child and situation, however! I recall how I was disciplined as a child of five or six; I tried the same thing on John when he was five or six with very different results!]

There is one more important item on the list of qualities. it is LOVE EXPRESSED THROUGH GENUINE:

5. PRAISE!

(2:20) "For you are our glory and joy." (And 3:8) "For now we really live if you stand fast in the lord!" Passion, affection, vicarious living, family tightness— a wonderful thing.

Conclusion:

I covet these things for this church we call our spiritual home and family. I want to see us live to please God with all our hearts, whatever our individual gifts and assignments may be.

And I also covet this for the people you call "family." You have the greatest influence by far on your inner circle.

1. Gentleness ... global, universal care for the welfare of others
2. Encouragement ...
3. Comforting ... we all need it!
4. Urging ... use with care; but don't let anyone settle for being less than her/his best!
5. APPRECIATION/PRAISE! ... joy in others' success is a sign of genuine LOVE!

Words to the Family

June 30, 1991

Ephesians 5:15-21

Thesis statement:

When we find peace in subjection to God, we can begin to find peace in subjection to one another. There is a proper place for doing what other people ask us to do. There is a proper place for asking other people to do things. There are times to obey and times to refuse to obey.

Attitude toward authority: "No one is going to tell me what to do!" Spoiled children need to learn who is boss; the difference between breaking the will and breaking the spirit— is there such a thing?

The home in which "ego" is not the center, but the genuine love, fear, respect, and authority of God— where we submit to one another.

INTRODUCTION

Ephesians 4 is a great "church chapter." It speaks of the unity of the faith, and of the diversity of gifts in the church. It ends with a blending of doctrine and Christ-likeness. It is a marvelous passage.

But then Ephesians 5 sets up a passage on inter-personal relationships, and particularly those of the family: husbands, wives, children, even household servants and masters. Frankly, a great deal of cultural adaptation has been preached around the last two chapters of Ephesians: slavery justified, and subjugation of married women among them.

So, what is to be made of such specific passages?

1. Can we come with open hearts to read what God demands of His people, and perhaps to sort out what Paul recommends, or our own culture determines?

2. Can we seek a humility that says we will accept what is clearly God's will, and not be our own God?
3. Can we start with the imperatives of this "personal relationship" passage, and go from there? [I see four (4) imperatives:

BE IMITATORS OF GOD AS DEAR CHILDREN (1, flowing out of 4:32)

BE CAREFUL HOW YOU WALK (15, in light of 10)

BE FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT (18)

BE SUBJECT TO ONE ANOTHER IN THE FEAR OF CHRIST (21)

I. THE GRACE GOD GIVES US FORGIVENESS

We are imperfect people all; we get the idea that life is ideal— and we expect others to live up to the perfect standards of love. Of course WE don't always quite make it— but then WE are special. We want others to love us more than they love themselves— and we will show them how!

But that is not the way grace operates!

Forgiveness is the soil in which the flowers of relationship can grow! Of course it is a two-way street! But love doesn't keep score!

II. THE CHOICES GOD AFFORDS US CHOICE

Life goes better when

1. We appreciate its limited quality; preciousness.
2. We have deliberate goals, set by prayer and openness before God; and
3. These goals are held lightly: "trying to find out what the will of the Lord is"

III. THE PRESENCE GOD PROMISES US PASSION

Here is a contrast with drinking to excess, with drunkenness. Why, do you suppose, do people drink to excess?

It is only a conjecture with me at this time; I have never drunk alcohol, but I believe people drink to cushion the hard facts of a life that comes in on them— to overcome, to forget.

What if there were a drug or substance that would not only cushion the pain but leave no bitter after-effects— would pay dividends to those who used it— and while indeed cushioning the harsh facts of life it would work in objective reality to change those facts? What do you suppose people would say to a drug like that?

Our God can turn water into wine; and He can turn beer into furniture, too!

What we need is more people who are addicted to God — Who are turned on by seeking and finding the passion of being God-soaked, God-intoxicated, God-filled— God-blessed!

IV. THE KEY GOD ENTRUSTS US [HUMILITY]

Here is the most difficult part of the passage!

Humility— the most delicate of the graces of the Spirit

We all seek our own!

We all are interested in the recognition that should be coming to us!

Conclusion:

When we have mastered the imperatives— or, as we seek to enfold them into our lives— then we can go on and deal with the individual roles within the family:

Wives— be subject to your own husbands. Don't be pulling against the flow of the family; seeking your separate way.

Husbands- (in the light of verse 21— being subject to one another) love your wives as Christ loves the church— laying down His very life to make its life possible.

Parents- don't "use" your children selfishly; don't provoke them to anger; model for them the grace and giving of God Himself; and model for them also the demands, urging, characteristics (from I Thes 2) we spoke of last Sunday.

Words to the Family

Children - reverence your parents! Respect them!

Slaves- hourly wage earners? Laborers?

Owners- Those hiring work done— we ALL fill these various roles from time to time.

Paul was NOT condoning a social system of people owning other people. He WAS saying that where we find ourselves there are principles that will lift us above.

The First Step in Worship

Reconciliation

July 7, 1991

Matthew 5

You have heard that the ancients were told, YOU SHALL NOT COMMIT MURDER and 'Whoever commits murder shall be liable to the court.'

But I say unto you that everyone who is angry with his brother shall be guilty before the court; and whoever shall say to his brother, 'Raca,' shall be guilty before the supreme court; and whoever shall say, 'You fool,' shall be guilty enough to go into the fiery hell.

If therefore you are presenting your offering at the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, leave your offering there before the altar, and go your way; first be reconciled to your brother, and then come and present your offering,

Make friends quickly with your opponent at law while you are with him on the way, in order that your opponent may not deliver you to the judge, and the judge to the officer, and you be thrown into prison. Truly I say to you, you shall not come out of there, until you have paid up the last cent.—Matthew 5:21-26

Introduction:

The Sermon on the Mount is familiar territory for people who have been Christians for any length of time. In this segment of the great sermon, commenting on the commandment, "THOU SHALT NOT COMMIT MURDER," Jesus underscores several important facts for us here:

1. Being 'right with God' is very much inter-connected with 'being right' with each other;
2. Relationships with both God and fellow human beings must be maintained; they sometimes require reconciliation; and

3. It is important to settle these "debts of spirit" before they have time to sour and fester.

Relationships are dynamic. They never stay put, never hold still, never stay quite the same. They need to be worked at, maintained! And it is not just human relationships that need to be maintained because they are dynamic and changing.

Our relationship to God is a growing, dynamic thing. Our walk with Him stretches us, challenges us. It must be kept fresh and sweet. It is not automatic. One reason for worship is making sure that we are in touch with God.

I. WORSHIP AS RECONCILING THE RECONCILED

A. AS A CHRISTIAN:

1. You ARE reconciled to God. He loves you. You love Him.

When we are saved by the grace of God, we are reconciled to God by Christ's sacrifice.

Worship is an exercise of love. When genuine worship takes place it is the highest fulfillment and satisfaction humans can know.

Worship is usually reserved for those who are in harmony with God. There is mystery involved in this intercourse with the Almighty, but it probably is a safe statement to say: It is necessary to be at one with God in order truly to worship.

2. God is NOT looking to cut you off from Himself! Hear these words of scripture:

And although you were formerly alienated and hostile in mind, engaged in evil deeds, yet He has now RECONCILED you in His fleshly body through death, in order to present you before Him, holy and blameless and beyond reproach- if indeed you continue in the faith firmly established and steadfast, and not moved away from the hope of the gospel that you have heard, which was proclaimed in all creation under heaven, and of which I, Paul, was made a minister. (Colossians 1:21- 23)

B. CHRISTIANS NEED TO "CONTINUE STEADFAST"

1. Those who truly worship find it is of utmost importance to stay in harmony, in step, with Jesus. [Re-quote, from above: "... if indeed you continue in the faith firmly established and steadfast, and not moved away from the hope of the gospel that you have heard ..."]
2. Worship is a reconciling, re-tuning, course-correction in love that keeps us on course.

C. This reconciliation is really necessary! It has to be done, or vital contact with God will be lost! Our worship must go beyond just "living in our heads!" It must come into the arena of relationships where we live our lives!

1. So often we are content to "think" instead of do. We think that faith is the same as knowledge; that acknowledging the truth or the facts somehow is the same as faith. Faith is a mystery, but on our part it is very close to simple obedience: doing what we KNOW GOD wants us to do!

Sometimes we think that when we have agreed that a course is right; or have agreed that we are probably wrong that the admission plus grace makes it all right. We take "thinking" for "doing."

2. "Informed" or "reminded?" In our worship— our sermons— the sermons we demand— we want to be informed: what is God LIKE! But there is only one authority on that subject: God must speak for Himself. And God does speak! Instead of being informed, probably very often we need to be reminded!
3. Thus one part of worship is confession, absolution, washing. We do NOT live under the yoke and dominion of sin; we are NOT aliens from grace. But, paradoxically, we DO pray the Lord's prayer; we DO confess that we fall short, and we DO leave worship renewed and assured.

[Transition: But here is a "sticky wicket!" - Jesus links worship to a clear conscience to human beings. To be right with God involves a conscious effort to be right with each other. Just as it is necessary to be "reconciled" to God, according to Jesus it is also vitally necessary to be reconciled to our brother/sister.

SO: How does this segment of the Sermon connect with your family and mine?:]

II. BEING RECONCILED TO GOD MEANS RECONCILING WITH FAMILY

A. Our relationship with loved ones is a lot like our relationship to God:

1. We ARE reconciled- we HAVE made commitments; we LOVE and we ARE LOVED. But at the same time
2. We must work at the task of MAINTAINING OUR RECONCILIATION.
3. We need to KEEP sweet and fresh and forgiven!

Family friction: harboring secret grudges is worse than hidden cancer, physically. (Is it possible to even hide these frictions from ourselves?) When we cover over resentment and feelings of frustration that fester and become a denial of our basic commitment of love we are inviting disaster!

B. Few people set out to be hateful and unforgiving and hard to communicate with and spiteful. Perhaps that is the very reason why Jesus connects WORSHIP and RELATIONSHIPS with each other.

[Do you know that] It is at the place of prayer our relationships are examined in the pure light of God's love. [?] And it is just here where we need to be very sure we do not just "live in our heads." We have to make the effort to be reconciled. We have to reach out to the offended dear one.

We can deny our feelings. We can try to pray over top of bad attitudes. But worship and honesty and obedience and transparency before God are all bound up together.

C. But doesn't being filled with the Spirit take away all negative feelings? [Where do you find that bit about "feelings" in the Bible?] Claiming unrealistic levels of purity ("I am sanctified; therefore I do NOT feel what I feel!") is asking for emotional bankruptcy, if not spiritual disaster.

D. We need gentleness and wisdom in seeking reconciliation. Honesty with our loved ones is not just "letting it all hang out!" The way we approach the offended must reflect God's patience and grace with us! (Ephesians 4:32!) Kindness plus honesty is the basis for beautiful family relationship.

(Conclusion:)

III. DON'T INSIST ON COLD, HARD, LITERAL JUSTICE!

- A. At the end of this passage, Jesus throws in what seems to be an irrelevancy about the courts or civil law.
1. Why, do you suppose, does Jesus talk about settling disputes out of court when he has been speaking about murder and hatred and worship and friendship and reconciliation relationships?
 2. Can it be that Jesus is telling us that we all need mercy before the impartial bar of God's justice? And is He telling us that if we insist on going through the courts, as it were, we shall find that we are more involved in liability than we thought?
- B. Jesus expects us to "Forgive one another, even as God, for Christ's sake, has forgiven us!" Jesus teaches us to pray, "Forgive us, as we forgive one another!" We need to keep the channels clear between us and God! And we need to keep the channels clear between our hearts and those we love as well!
- Jesus urges us to find peace "on the way." Not glossing over family disagreements, not excusing wrongs— but forgiving and being forgiven!

Prayer: Lord, Life is too short for us to let clouds come between loved ones! Give us the grace to be reconciled, and maintain that one-ness with You, and with those we love. In the name of our Elder Brother and Friend and Savior and Lord, Amen.

Hebrews 11:6

Introduction:

I have not always been a good Christian. I have been an utterly sincere Christian. One thing that I did, shortly after I made a 're-commitment' at age seventeen, has become a symbol in my own mind of my entire relationship with God across the years.

I ran, physically, after God, trying to reach Him, to find Him, to come near to Him.

Maybe I had an over-simplified, even arrogant idea about being a Christian. I had the idea that now that I am a Christian, I will give it everything I have, and I'll be a pretty good one! I'll be spiritual! I'll get my prayers through, and I'll do everything I know and be a credit to God and the church.

What's wrong with that? Probably nothing— but there are a lot of "I's" in that thought, aren't there?

Anyway, I ran after God, literally. Maybe more than once— but I remember one time vividly— it was in a bit of woods, no one else around to see or hear. I prayed, I called, finally I got up and simply ran, hoping that the energy would bring me closer to God.

Maybe I am still running after God! Maybe sometimes I need to run. But I have been discovering these past 40+ years that God is near when I realize that He is near— and that God is near even when I do NOT realize that He is near.

It isn't bad to run to God. James tells us, "Draw near to God, and He will draw near to you!" Perhaps it is even all right to go running after Him. But I'm not sure that it is necessary, or that a physical nearness is what James means at all.

I. DISCOVERING ISAIAH 41:10

I discovered Isaiah 41:10 on the way to Eastern Nazarene College in early September, 1949, in the Durkee's new Plymouth. The occasion was evening bible reading. I didn't know where I was, but God not only knew, He let me know that He knew.

A few weeks later in the jail in Wareham (my two room mates and I had been dropped off in the middle of the night, a college prank on freshman, and actually a kindly police sergeant offered us the use of his brand-new jail cells- 1949) it stood me in good stead.

II. THE WALK TO THE HAMBURGER STAND

Did you ever have God slip up beside you, like the Emmaus story tells? One night three college boys decided about 10 p.m. to go for a hamburger in the only place (then) in North Quincy that was open— a diner across from Sacred Heart Church. We talked of anything and everything, but somehow on the walk home the conversation turned to God, and to the desire we had to know Him.

When we turned off Hancock Street onto Elm Avenue we fell silent. We walked maybe a block, and then we said to one another, "Did you feel that, too?" Each of us in the deepest parts of our hearts had sensed that God Himself had walked along with us. I cannot tell you any significance for you. But I have never gotten over the thrill of knowing that one time as we talked about God He joined in the conversation with indescribable love.

III. I KNOW I AM SAVED!

(EDISON STUDY, 1970 OR SO)

The occasion was a seemingly totally unprovoked, simply going about my God-called task. There have been many times when I have "felt" close to God, or have been moved to a deep sense of gratitude for His blessings. But this day as I sat at my desk it "dawned on me" with sheer and deep persuasion of joy that I knew I was accepted, that I was saved. That is the only way I can describe the assurance. I do not try to catalog the experience as being "saved" or "sanctified," for I am sure I had been saved a long time before.

I would give a lot to have that experience repeated over and over— and there certainly are times when I "feel" anything but right with God. But that afternoon I knew and the memory of that certitude is precious indeed.

Experience is not the be-all and end-all of faith. Experience is not to be trusted apart from scripture and from covenant-making faith. But experience is a powerful witness in the journey with God.

IV. THE ROAD TO EMMAUS, THEN AND NOW

THE OCCASION: SEE LUKE 24

They were sad They were discouraged They were sinfully behind in their faith . . . but understandably so—no different from what I would have been, I'm sure

Jesus was: A companion in their walk He was an explainer of Himself in the scriptures He revealed Himself in the breaking of bread This experience brought: New joy, great assurance A desire to share The seeds of the church that continue to this day

Conclusion:

Many times I think that I am that new Christian, that teenager, running to Jesus—seeing if I can find Him and use Him to make me a super Christian.

And other times I think— yes, I am still running! I still don't know a great deal about being near. But then I quiet my mind and think:

Where, do you suppose, is Jesus right this very minute?

There is a beautiful church in a central city square, Copley Square, in Boston— Trinity Church, Episcopal. On one side of the church, facing a little park, is a statue of Trinity Church's most famous pastor, Phillips Brooks. Phillips Brooks was a noted preacher, a silver-tongued orator that held hundreds spellbound each Sunday. But he is best known for a Christmas carol that you have probably sung many times, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The statue of the pastor is notable because there are actually two figures in the statuary, and the pastor is the smaller of the two. He is standing in his pulpit, this figure of Phillips Brooks, with his hand on the Bible, but the larger figure, a hooded figure of the Christ, is standing just behind Phillips Brooks, and Christ has his hand on the shoulder of the man in the pulpit. There is a message I get every time I see this statue, and even every time I think about it. For I know that whenever I think about it, the Presence is there! In the dark, in the sunshine, in the cold of winter, in the heat, the Presence is there backing up that pastor!

I suppose I'm still running to Jesus! Not, now, to see if He will make me super-Christian, so that I can do great things. But because I need Him! And He has promised never to leave me, and that if I need Him, He'll come where I am.

Let us pray.

I Corinthians 15:3-11 "I delivered ... what I also received."

Introduction

At Falmouth this summer Ben, my 5-year-old grandson, began going to check the mailbox all by himself. It is 150 yards down the street, just out of sight around some bushes, and I confess I peek around them to make sure he is all right down near the main street.

Ben was fascinated by the fact that there is a metal flag on the box that tells the mailman to pick up outgoing mail. So one day he decided to put the flag up and send some mail on his own. And so he did. But the mailman didn't take Ben's picture post card.

When he brought it back, disappointed, we discovered why. Ben hadn't addressed his message to anyone in particular, or in fact to anyone at all. And he hadn't put a stamp on the card. And as a matter of fact, there wasn't any message on the card at all; just a post card with a pretty picture of Falmouth.

It certainly isn't wrong for a 5-year-old to want to send mail, and he'll soon learn how. But somehow it made me think about some of my own efforts to communicate the good news about Jesus.

I'm not a communications expert, but there must be some elementary facts about ANY kind of communication. Surely you must have (1) Something to say; and (2) an effective way to say it; as well as (3) someone to say it to.

Paul says: "I am sending on to you a message that I know, because I have first received it myself!

I. CHRISTIANS HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY

"I delivered . . . WHAT I FIRST RECEIVED"

- A. When Paul became a Christian, he definitely received something! There was no question but that he had had an encounter with the divine, with God Almighty!
 - 1. Not many conversions are that dramatic. But every true conversion must have that touch of God, that element of the divine.
 - 2. Do you recall when you met with God in a confrontational way? Conviction? Conversion? [Testimony: My own personal dealing with a sense of being "wrong" or "away from God" on January 17, 1948.]
- B. YOU may have this personal encounter with God! It is the most important knowledge that you will ever know! You dare not stop short of the personal certitude.
But once we KNOW, we will want, somehow, to TELL:

II. CHRISTIANS NEED TO SAY WHAT THEY KNOW

"I DELIVERED ... what I received!"

- A. THE JOY OF KNOWING DEMANDS THE JOY OF SHARING
In another passage Paul tells King Agrippa "I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision." From the first day Paul wanted to tell others about his newfound life in Christ.
 - 1. On the Road to Emmaus the sad, discouraged disciples met Jesus. He changed their gloom and doubt to faith and joy: and they immediately walked the seven-plus miles back to Jerusalem. WHY? To deliver what they had also received!
- B. EVERY CHRISTIAN IS CALLED TO REPRESENT HER/HIS LORD
We are AMBASSADORS. Ambassadors do not invent their own messages; they do not set policy. They say what they have been told to say; they represent the home office. There is plenty of room for creativity and individualism in this world. But when it comes to the true faith, we do not invent or develop or even discover our own salvation: it must be handed to us directly from God Himself!

C. WE MUST STICK TO WHAT WE KNOW FOR OURSELVES

What WE have received we may be fairly sure is what our brothers and sisters could use. They don't need ADVICE; they need LIFE WITH A CAPITAL "L."

When we begin to preach second-hand sermons— when we tell others what we are not sure of ourselves— our witness is hollow! It is really impossible to share a Christ who we do not personally know for ourselves. Can you see the importance of that 'inner assurance' that we do, in fact, know Jesus, and that our lives are hid in Him?

- D. In the scripture that we most often use before communion, from I Corinthians 11, Paul uses this same phrase: "I give to you what first of all I received myself."

III. GOD'S LOVE GIVES US PEOPLE WE WANT TO TELL! LOVE MAKES US CARE ENOUGH TO SHARE

- A. The desire to share is GOOD! It speaks of the genuine-ness of faith. And the way to say it is simply to keep at it: talk of God's goodness to God's people; there will be opportunity to talk of God's goodness to others who need to know it. We MAY deliver to others what we have ourselves received!
- B. God's Word is OPEN before us: it is a never-ending source of life, and of promises that meet us at the point of need. We freely receive; we take, and partake, and rightly so.
- C. But so is God's WILL open before us! In the same measure we RECEIVE of God's promises, we are willing to SHARE. With Paul we say, "That which I received . . . I also delivered!" And it is the highest joy and privilege there is, to realize that we are ambassadors for Jesus Christ.

Conclusion

I think it was commendable that Ben wanted to tell someone else about Falmouth; that he went to the mailbox. But as Christians, we can do better than a general, commendable desire to tell "someone;" we can obey Jesus Christ, and be sent; we can remember the elementary facts of communication: Something to say; an effective way to say it; someone to say it to - -

And we can receive and deliver the Good News of the Gospel: We can say to the world: "Jesus loves ME, this I know! And because I know it myself, I can say to YOU: Jesus loves YOU, too !"

Preparation for Communion:

I Corinthians 11:23 - 30

The table of the Lord is for all who will come; It is an observance of God's grace.

Wherever you are, if you want to draw near to God, you are invited: Celebrate prevenient grace - God is seeking your salvation Celebrate saving grace - God has received you unto Himself in forgiveness Celebrate sanctifying grace - God is making you in the image of His Son, by His Spirit

It is an celebration of God's Presence Not only DID Jesus die for you Not only WILL Jesus come again and receive you to Himself- But Jesus IS PRESENT with those who meet in His name; He is Present in Communion is a special way, and it truly is a means of grace to those who come expectantly.

Lesson John 21:15-25

Text: Mark 1:16-18

Introduction

If you follow some people around you'll get rich; if you hang with others you'll get into trouble. One thing is sure, the people that you are in step with are going to make a big difference in your life.

Peter decided to hang around with Jesus and that decision took him into all sorts of situations! Including one time of walking on water! People have talked about it ever since, but no one, so far as I know, has ever done it in the summer time!

It all began for Peter one day by the sea-side. Several boats were pulled up on the beach, and Peter and his brother and others were going about their business. Some were washing their nets; some were looking to their boats.

Peter thought he saw the ripple of fish feeding along the shore and he walked over and threw his round casting net over the place. It was just then he saw Him. The Man called Christ, the Man who was like no other man.

Something inside Peter was stirred deeply. And then he heard Jesus say, "Follow me..."

And that is just what Peter did. He put aside everything, and began to follow Jesus. He could not know then where they might go. But Peter decided he would forsake all else and trust Jesus.

I. A CALL TO FOLLOW JESUS IS A CALL TO ABANDONMENT

- A. A call "Follow Me" means leaving nets and all and a definite change of life. A "turning." It may not be as dramatic a leaving as Peter and Andrew, James and John, but make no mistake- if you follow Jesus, really follow Him, then NOTHING else comes ahead of Him!

- B. A call means willingness to take orders. Training is part of serving. Rough edges need to be knocked off in any smooth-running relationship. [Marriage's first 365 days!]

Peter was of the "Let's just DO it!" "Shoot from the LIP" variety of people! GOOD people— but do they ever need to learn to FOLLOW and TAKE ORDERS!

- C. Later Peter came near complaining: "Lord, we have left ALL and followed Thee!" Implying, perhaps, the question: Is it worth it, this total abandonment? Jesus did not hesitate to assure him: "Yes! It is the ONLY way!"

[BACK TO PETER'S ADVENTURES:] Do you remember two key incidents in Peter's life?

One was a real high point, when Peter was inspired to say to Jesus: "Thou art the Christ! the Son of the living God!"

And in reply Jesus said: "Blessed are you, Peter! I will build my church on this Rock! I'm giving you the keys to the kingdom!"

The other time was one Peter would liked to have forgotten. It was a really low place. Trusting in his own strength, Peter said: "Though every other follower abandons You, I won't!" And this time Jesus gently said, "You will deny me three times before morning!"

II. A CALL TO FOLLOW JESUS IS A CALL TO RESPONSIBILITY

- A. It is inescapable: God's people are groomed for growth. This is certainly true in the Cosmic Scheme; Jesus said that when the faithful face Him in heaven they will hear Him say: "Well done! You have been faithful over few things, I will make you ruler over MANY! Enter into the JOY of thy Lord!"

But don't be mistaken: It is also true right here in the arena of mortal existence!!

- B. Imperfect, controversial, biased and sometimes a bit two-faced because of his fears (see Galatians 2), still Peter was challenged by Jesus with the charge of great responsibility: "I will give you the keys to the kingdom..."

- C. God challenges every one of His children to follow Jesus into matters that count for eternity. He does not want us to settle for trivia.

Someone has scrambled all the price tags of our world; we pay too much for money, and we value life-changing love so little! But Jesus gives the keys to the kingdom to those who will follow Him, and only to those.

[BACK TO THE PETER SAGA] - One last incident in Peter's following of Jesus:

It the first Easter evening. Jesus left a message: "Tell the disciples, and especially Peter, I'll meet them by the lake."

It was a 90-mile journey back to Galilee, and the disciples must have made it back to Galilee in record time. And less than a week later, back by the beautiful lake where they had once earned their living, Jesus met them on the very same shore where He had first called them.

Jesus took the big fisherman aside, and He tenderly renewed the relationship.

"Do you still love Me?" He asked.

Peter was grieved that He had to ask. But the relationship was restored.

Then Jesus said those very same words again! He said, "Whatever the others do, Peter, you FOLLOW ME! "You will follow Me now, Peter, even to the death."

III. A CALL TO FOLLOW JESUS IS A CALL TO LOVE AND TRUST EVEN TO THE DEATH

- A. It isn't that we will be tortured to death. Things aren't always as simple and clear-cut as that. "How sweet would be their children's fate if they, like them, could die for Thee."

Anyway, in this world, [which until recently was divided into what we call "Free" and "Communist" or "Totalitarian"] where, do you suppose, is the Christian Faith "healthiest?" Where it costs the most!

- B. The most important aspect of faith to superficial Christians is that we save our souls from hell, and save our skins here from as much discomfort here and now as possible.

This is what spawns such half-truth doctrines such as "Give to get!" "Tithe the income you WISH you had!" Even "Seek first the kingdom— do the necessary religious exercises— AND ALL THESE THINGS WILL BE ADDED!" People go where they hear what they want to hear! But all these Bible-half-truths are perversions of deeper truth about true riches!

- C. In matter of fact, Life (as we see it with the natural eye) is NOT fair! Jesus was crucified at 33 years of age! Every one of his followers since, up to the present generation, of course, has died, too.

Does it pay to follow Jesus, even to the death? I WISH WE COULD ASK PETER IN PERSON, RIGHT NOW! (Where, do you suppose Peter is?)

Conclusion:

The common caricature of Peter is the gate keeper of heaven. There he stands with the keys, saying who shall and who shall not enter. But of course that is just a caricature.

Peter, just now, is near where Jesus is! He is still following! Peter, just like you and me, needed to come to God by grace through faith. [Am I saying all people are equal before God? In love, I am sure we are all loved equally. But in stature and accomplishment? No way! When we see Peter we shall be duly impressed.]

I imagine the reunion that took place when Peter died! How, do you suppose, did Jesus greeted Peter when Peter's great spirit left his martyred body, and was escorted by the angels to the Presence?

[FINAL 'PETER SAGA'] Whether or not it was said in words, or how it was expressed, can only be imagined. But in the greeting [of "Well done, faithful servant! Enter thou into the JOYS of thy Lord!"] there had to be a flashback in both their minds to that day along the lake shore when a number of boats were pulled up on the sand and a stranger came by with the holy light of God in His face, and he said to Peter and his brother, Andrew, "Follow Me!"

Jesus is still stopping by where we are, going about our daily routines, and saying:
"Follow Me!"

You don't know what you are getting into, or where you may end up if you hear that voice and obey. But you do know Who you will be walking with!

Prayer: Thank You for the privilege of being near You! Amen.

Hearing Gods Voice

Prayer Meeting Meditation

September 11, 1991

Hebrews 3:7-8; 14-15 also Hebrews 4:7

Exodus 17:1-7 "Is the Lord among us or not?"

Focus: Psalm (7-8)

As I get older my hearing gets less trustworthy. Is that possible in spiritual sense? Not necessarily; however we can take God's voice for granted.

It is not just possible that heart-hardening could be imperceptible and slow? Could my "spiritual hearing" possibly be affected by a hardening of the heart?

FOUR WAYS MY SPIRITUAL HEARING MIGHT BE BLOCKED OR IMPAIRED:

A FAILURE TO PRAISE THE LORD FOR WHAT HE HAS DONE!

(1) Hebrews 3:12

This is the incident of referred to in Psalm 95 and three times here in Hebrews (Exodus 17) where the people GRUMBLED even though God had done so very much for them . . . LEST there be in any one of you an evil, unbelieving heart, in falling away from the living God.

THINKING THAT GOD'S SIMPLE, HOLY, RIGHTEOUS 'RULES OF SIN' DO NOT APPLY TO YOU

(2) Hebrews 3:13

The children of Israel were called OUT of Egypt, INTO a special relationship with God. They were to be HOLY so they could be LIKE God, and be NEAR Him! God's laws are for OUR benefit; and they have not changed! Honesty/Purity/Mercy/Humility LEST any one of you be hardened by the deceitfulness of sin.

SETTLING DOWN' ... BY THINKING "NOW I HAVE ARRIVED!"

... AT ANY STAGE OF THE JOURNEY!

(3) Hebrews 4:1

Caleb and Joshua never "got used" to wandering around; they knew there was yet a GOAL to attain. They didn't "just settle." (Genesis 15:6!!) LEST while a promise remains . . . any of you should seem to have come short of it.

NEGLECTING THE LIVING QUALITY OF THE WORD OF GOD

... EITHER BY NOT HEEDING BIBLE PREACHING, OR MORE IMPORTANT, BY NOT READING TO OBEY!

(4) Hebrews 4:11,12

It is never a light thing to have access to God's Word; to God's will for YOU! LEST anyone fall through following the same example of disobedience. Light is for walking in!

Conclusion:

God is speaking every day! He has a plan for YOU! You can hear Him! You can know Him! God IS speaking! He WILL give us "REST" as we pursue "REST!" Heaven's JOY as we go toward heaven and home!

So— (stated positively):

1. PRAISE the Lord . . . don't grumble!
2. Stay away from sin (temptation!) . . . sin is deceitful!
3. Never think you have (fully) arrived!
4. Keep digging in into God's Holy Word!

Jesus is our great High Priest!

Confidence in Prayer

September 15, 1991 pm

Luke 18:9-17 "Two men went up to the temple to pray ..."

Confidence is a great thing; but clearly in the matter of prayer it is important where we place our confidence. Jesus told a story to warn us not to place our confidence in our own righteousness while we look down on others.

I. A VERY SIMPLE STORY

Instead of giving long abstract lists of rules, Jesus often clothed the truth in stories. Here in just a few words Jesus gives a picture of two men going up the place of prayer, the temple.

- A. One key thought of this story is that we do not always know what is going on in someone else's prayer life. We cannot see other people as God sees them. One thing we can be sure of, people are probably not what we think they are. An Old Testament scripture tells us that man looks on the outward appearance, but the LORD looks on the heart! (I Samuel 16.)
- B. Here were two very different men. One was a man obviously accustomed to the temple and its surroundings. The other was in a line of work that the average Jew of his day despised; he collected taxes from the Jews for the occupying Roman government to make a living for himself.

One man was used to prayer; he was at home in the temple; he lived for the established religion. The other was not the kind we might think of as religious. But there they are. Both of these men have climbed the Hill of Zion to the beautiful temple in order to pray.

Jesus described first the Pharisee:

II. THE PIOUS MAN AND HIS PRAYER

A. It isn't wrong to be pious

1. If you read the story carefully, it does NOT say that all Pharisees are bad; not all religious people are suspect. As a matter of fact, the thing that makes the story striking is the fact that here was a religious man who is not all that he would seem to be on the outside.
2. A popular negative reaction to piety today- to religion- would seize this story, as it does every failure of every prominent Christian, and use it as proof that there is nothing at all to supernatural faith. That is not what Jesus intended.
3. Pharisee means something negative to us now, but Pharisee was not the dirty word then that it has become. Paul was a Pharisee! This greatest Christian, perhaps, that ever followed Jesus claimed to be a Pharisee; he was raised a Pharisee, and told a throng in Jerusalem that he WAS a Pharisee.

Pharisees were people who loved God's word; who strove to live by God's Word; who believed in eternal life— who would make wonderful church members if they were also people after God's own heart.

Pharisees— people who "live by the book"— make good Christians if they ever really get thoroughly converted! They TITHE! They APPLY THE BIBLE TO THEIR EVERYDAY LIVING! They go beyond what they were taught of the letter of the law, and live out the JOY that comes from serving whole-heartedly!

B. True piety is inherently humble

1. Where this Pharisee's faith went wrong was in a misplaced confidence. It is one thing to have poise and self-confidence in the normal sense of the word; it is quite another thing to come to the place of prayer and face Almighty God like this man in Jesus' parable did.
2. How was that? How did the Pharisee pray?
 - a. The Pharisee prayed with Thanksgiving! Isn't that good? Thanksgiving is good— except that this man thanked God for being so fortunate as to know him! I know that doesn't "make sense" but there it is!

- b. The Pharisee prayed with an awareness of sin It is necessary for us to see that humans are sinful, and God is holy, or we cannot appreciate the need for salvation. This man had a well-developed sense of sin—— except the only sins he saw were the sins of other people! He saw every sin except his own!
- c. The Pharisee also was aware of others as he prayed. When we pray, we are made conscious of the fact that we do not, we cannot live in a vacuum.

Real prayer makes us aware of others,. and of their needs.

But this dear religious pious Pharisee compared himself with others— to his own advantage. "I thank you that I am NOT like to others— especially that wretched tax gatherer over there!"

In summary, here was the Pharisee's prayer:

Thanksgiving ... for what he had to give to God! Litany of self-righteousness (good things!) Awareness of sin ... of everyone but himself! Comparison ... not with Jesus but with weak and obvious.

- 3. And what was the result? The RESULT of this great utterance was exactly ... nothing! ZERO. Dead air.

When souls go away from the place of prayer— from worship— dry and empty— it could be that there was no spiritual food and drink available; it could be that there was spiritual food and drink in abundance, but no means of receiving the supply.

[Transition:] It is probably hardly worth our time to listen in on the prayer of the other person in the story Jesus told. He isn't a seasoned, initiated spiritual giant just as yet. He isn't quite "at home" in this beautiful temple. All the same, here he is:

III. THE SINNER AND HIS PRAYER

A. A sense of distance

One thing that strikes us as we look at the word-picture Jesus has given us of these two men at prayer is that this other man, this not-so-attractive, not-so-religious man is standing a distance apart from the others; perhaps a distance from the altar itself.

What is this "sense of distance"? What is this feeling of separation? Do you think you ever know what I am talking about?

Does God ever seem far away, ever?

Do you seem somehow set apart from others who seem to be "in" and you are "out"?

Is it hard to draw near to God? Does it seem so, sometimes? Drawing near to a great God— is not small stuff. Beware of the person who has God all figured out; who never stands in awe of the holiness and power and justice of God.

Yes, God has taught us to call Him "Father!" And yes, God is love. God is also Other.

Am I saying we ought to stand at a distance? Or that we should recognize the distance that is already there?

What this tells me is that this unlikely pray-er— this publican— had a healthier concept of God than the Pharisee had. He sees God as HOLY! He sees himself as unworthy to draw near!

B. Awareness of need

The next thing that strikes us about Jesus' description of this publican is that he is NOT telling God how GOOD he is! As a matter of fact, he is having trouble looking up into the face of God! There is a keen awareness of unworthiness manifest here.

Can you identify with that at all?

C. There is somehow boldness to ask for grace

Somehow the holiness of God has drawn him to the place of prayer; somehow the gift of faith is being imparted. In spite of the OTHER-ness of God, this poor sinner is emboldened to ask for forgiveness!

Courage to ask is a step of faith; a gift of God to those who come to Him.

D. Sorrow for sin

We don't have much to go on; but Jesus said this man 'smote his breast,' with his head bowed. I believe this is evidence of sorrow for sin. It was enough for a loving Father God!

Not much of a prayer, you'll have to admit. But what was the result?

E. A prayer that reached the Throne of God

RESULT: This man, not the pious, religious one, went back down the hill to his home justified !! On the basis of Christ's provision— on the basis of the love of God forever identifying with sinful men of all ages— even though he didn't understand— even though this is just an illustration, remember it is a parable of truth told by Jesus— and Jesus said this man's prayer hit the center of the bull's eye.

Did he KNOW he was justified?

Well, remember it WAS just a story. But it is a story that has happened over and over again across the millennia— and the answer is:

I like to think he KNEW he was justified, too!

Conclusion:

There you have it: a contrast of ways to come to God— of ways to seek God's face— of approaches to the need for God and salvation.

But wait a minute— there is a little story at the end of this story. It isn't a parable, this time. It really happens.

IV. THE 'OTHER STORY' — "COMING LIKE A CHILD"

- A. It may have been just a coincidence. But I think it perfectly fits. The other story is that just then some mothers came by with their children, and they wanted Jesus to touch them, to bless them.
- B. You know how the disciples reacted: "This isn't kid stuff— beat it! Don't bother the Master!" Jesus seems to say: "This is exactly what I have been talking about! No "important people" understand! Only the true in heart may come!"
- C. What do the tax-gatherer and little children have in common? The stories are really NOT so unrelated: Whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child does not enter at all!"

What do the tax-gatherer and a little child have in common?

Honesty? A certain humility? Children may be self-centered (aren't we all underneath?) but they know that they aren't "big folks" either!

- D. Our confidence is to be placed in the willingness of God to meet us, cleanse and save us, and accept us by grace into His family. When our confidence is in our own spiritual wealth we are in grave danger!

In the last book of the Bible are messages for every church, of every age. But the most serious warning is to a church which acted very much like this Pharisee in Jesus' story, The Church at Laodocia. The Church at Laodocia had everything! Except it had lost the simple, straightforward, humble, life-changing love of God!

- E. How can we pray with confidence? The place for our confidence in prayer is in the holiness and the love of God! In Him we can know that we are justified freely!

Contrasts in Giving

September 29, 1991 am

Acts 2:43 - 47 And everyone kept feeling a sense of awe; and many wonders and signs were taking place through the apostles. And all those who believed were together, and had all things in common; and they began selling their property and possessions, and were sharing them with all, as anyone might have need. And day by day continuing with one mind in the temple, and breaking bread from, house to house, they were taking their meals together with gladness and sincerity of heart, praising God, and having favor with all the people. And the Lord was adding to their number day by day those who were being saved.

Acts 3:36 - 4:2 And Joseph, a Levite of Cyprian birth, who was also called Barnabas by the apostles (which translated means, Son of Encouragement), and who owned a tract of land, sold it and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet.

But a certain man named Ananias, with his wife, Sapphira, sold a piece of property, and kept back some of the price for himself, with his wife's full knowledge, and bringing a portion of it, he laid it at the apostles' feet.

Introduction:

We look to the scriptures for salvation truth, doctrines to believe unto salvation. We also look to the scriptures for pictures of faith, examples to follow into profitable service of our Lord. These examples, these pictures, are to be discerned and followed in spirit, not necessarily literally.

I. PICTURES OF GIVING IN THE BOOK OF ACTS

Early in the Book of Acts are key passages that bear on how some of the early Christians gave. At least, here are some observations:

1. Acts 2: The disciples had all things common; It seems as though there was A REAL "TEAM SPIRIT" throughout the whole church, even in the matter of giving:
2. Acts 4: Barnabas had a field that he sold and donated the money to the church; Then, as now, there were people who seemed to delight in giving— the gift of giving; there were INDIVIDUALS THAT PUT THE CONGREGATION ABOVE SELF
3. Acts 5: Ananias lied about his giving. But also then, as now, there were INDIVIDUALS THAT TRIED TO 'USE' THE TEAM TO MAKE THEMSELVES 'LOOK GOOD'

II. BRINGING THESE PICTURES UP-TO-DATE IN TODAY'S CHURCH

THE TEAM EFFORT IN TODAY'S WORLD - Is such a thing possible?

1. HOW MUCH LOYALTY SHOULD A CHURCH EXPECT?

A very recent book [The Social Dimension of Sectarianism, by Bryan R. Wilson, Oxford Press, 1990] expresses what many academics probably believe:

If a man is an Anglican or a Methodist, this is but one among many of his attributes— he is also a lathe-turner, a pigeon-fancier, a trade-unionist, a harmonica-player, and so on. But if a man is {a member of a sect- my words} ... his religious commitment is supposed by him, by his co-religionists, and even by his workmates, kinsfolk, and acquaintances, to influence in very high degree, not only his attitudes but the choice and quality of performance of all his social roles ... his religious motivation .. super-ordinates all other motivation .." 178-179. Wilson goes on to say that such behavior is deviant from the wider society in both kind and degree.

In other words, if church and religion are kept "IN," and don't have any impact on life in general, [Wilson is saying] we are "NORMAL." Religion is a PRIVATE matter. Churches are commodities, like Super Stop 'n Shop. The church is supposed to be there to provide services and meet needs, not to make any demands!

(I agree that) Any church that seeks to make any exclusive claim on God or salvation is by that very claim a SECT. Any church that expects its members to lock-step their way to heaven all on the same method is extremely dangerous, and should be avoided.

But any Church that preaches Christ crucified, risen, and coming again is derelict if it does not demand a first loyalty to HIM! And yet any church that expects all-out loyalty to Christ, and expects that loyalty to be expressed mainly through the local fellowship is suspect in this pluralistic society. Every Christian can and must be centered in God through a local church fellowship. If you don't feel comfortable in one church, there are others. But if you are seeking a place where you don't have to make any kind of personal investment in your self, your time, and your means, you are mistaken about the nature of the Christian faith.

If a church does not apply Christ's demands to put Him first, and then at least try to offer ways and means of giving to God through its ministries, it is not worthy the name.

2. THIS SOUNDS HIGHLY IDEALISTIC, I KNOW. What are some practical applications of giving of means through the church? I've asked two members of our church board to express some personal ideas this morning. A couple of weeks ago our board prayerfully discussed the matter of stewardship. I listened to the discussion- - and afterward I asked Donna Mowen and Michael Roberts to say a few words today:

[You'll just have to imagine good testimonies to a commitment in stewardship of time, talent, and finances here . . . 3 - 5 (?) minutes.]

III. CONTRASTS IN GIVING

THIS SCRIPTURE IN TODAY'S LIVING

1. WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO HAVE ALL THINGS IN COMMON?

Is this happening anywhere in the world today? It would be hard to recognize one method of giving or organization among the Christian churches around the world that are making an impact on their communities for Christ. But they do have this one thing in common: they live their lives for God centered in Christ, and they live those lives for God through their church!

The center of our life is Christ. The life of Christ is expressed in His church. The basic unit of the church is the local congregation.

I pray that God will give us a new sense of mission and unity and one-ness.

We are NOT forced into some narrow interpretation of life, or some weird personal/corporate interpretation of rules. But we must be willing to be thought SECT-LIKE, for being a Christian and a follower of Jesus will become the most important thing in all of being.

2. WHAT IS THE LESSON OF BARNABAS? ARE THERE MODERN-DAY BARNABASES?

Verlin Long lived in order to give! He had the gift of giving!

3. THERE IS ALSO A LESSON IN THE STORY OF ANANIAS: MODERN-DAY ANANIASSES:

Those who seek to use the church— who give from selfish motives— who are interested only in themselves. Some of these are still around in 1991.

Ananias gave because he wanted the reward of being thought good like Barnabas. His sin was in pretending to be God-centered when he was not.

It is a deadly business to seek to use God, to seek to use God's church, to seek to advance selfishly. People with a critical spirit, or an attitude of selfishness regarding the church effectively cut off the most effective tool God has to supply grace to their own lives, and those of their family.

IS IT POSSIBLE TO REACH BACK INTO THE BOOK OF ACTS AND TRANSLATE THE LESSONS WE FIND THERE INTO LIVING, GROWING SPIRITUAL LIFE? I believe that it is!

Prayer:

Lord, Help us to LOVE- love YOU and Your CHURCH- and pour our lives into Your KINGDOM as You give us grace. Make us SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF CONSOLATION, like Barnabas, I pray, in Jesus' Name.

291 All for Jesus

Bring an Offering

September 22, 1991

Psalm 96:8

Introduction:

According to our Lord, we are supposed to worship God in spirit and in truth. But in one part of our worship services we often say, "Let us worship the Lord with tithes and offerings." Money is the essence of material reality. What part does money have in worship? What do you think about the offering? The time in our service when we collect money?

Have you ever stopped to think about this time when men and women lay hard-earned cash on shiny brass plates that are actually part of the church furnishings? Do you wonder why we take an offering when we come together in worship?

'Is there any question? God needs money to run His church.'

There is no question that the money we give in our offerings is the life-blood of the work of the church. There is no question that from time to time we give, perhaps a little extra, because we perceive that the church needs the money at that particular time.

But is the need for money the basic drive behind the offering? Or is there another need? Perhaps we bring tithes and offerings because we have a deep need to express something important to God?

There are many questions we could raise about the offering: Does it matter how much money I give? ... isn't it the spirit behind the giving that counts? ... why talk about giving in relationship to worship, anyway? I probably will bring up more questions than I answer. All the same, I ask you just now to take a look at sacrifice and giving as part of worship:

I. THE IDEA OF GIVING IN WORSHIP

(Psalm 96:8) "Ascribe to the Lord the glory of His name; bring an offering, and come into His courts."

- A. The very earliest activities of man as recorded in the Bible had to do with the offering of a sacrifice to God by the first brothers, Cain and Abel.

It is significant that the first discussion about offering to God ended in a tragic clash, and people have been disagreeing about such matters ever since. Still, somehow from the beginning of human history, it has been important to pray, and to come to God with some token of sacrifice in hand.

- B. To trace the history of sacrifice as part of prayer and in known human cultures and religions would make an interesting study for a lifetime. The part that sacrifice and offering have had in worship in the Judeo-Christian scriptures runs straight through from Genesis to Revelation. Part of the worship of Jehovah God is dedicating to God that which is precious to the worshiper. And some form or other of offering seems to be a common thread of most if not all the religions of the world.

- 1. But in pagan religions this universal idea of sacrifice in worship is corrupted, and is centered, not on the goodness and love and holiness of a God of grace, but on man instead.

Pagan sacrifices are for good luck, or for the appeasement of angry gods, or for the buying of favor. [It is a matter of record that many world religions have featured human sacrifice to insure harvests, or to make sure summer would return, or whatever. Cite: Aztec, Mayan pyramid discoveries; human sacrifices, etc.]

- 2. Sad to say, many so-called Christians bring offerings for the very same reasons: to appease an angry God, or to bring good luck, or for fear of what will happen if they don't.

Certainly this is not the kind of sacrifice our Bible teaches; certainly NOT the kind of offering that God demands of His children.

So- why DO we have offerings as part of worship— and how OUGHT we to give to God?

II. OUR GOD MAKES IT CLEAR OUR SACRIFICES ARE NOT FOR HIS UPKEEP

(Psalm 50:12) "If I were hungry, would I tell you? The cattle on a thousand hills are mine ... you cannot enrich Me!"

- A. Make no mistake, our offerings are designated for the upkeep of God's anointed church. And that kind of upkeep is God-ordained, and not at all wrong.

In the Old Testament, the system of tithes- actually begun long before the Law- maintained the orders of priests and the Tabernacle.

In the New Testament the early believers at first had "all things in common" and gave liberally of their money and goods as well as their very lives to see the church go forward. Paul says in 1 Corinthians 9: (11)

"If we sowed spiritual things in you, is it too much if we should reap material things from you? If others share the right over you, do we not more? . . . Do you not know that those who perform sacred services eat the food of the temple, and those who attend regularly to the altar have their share with the altar? So also the Lord directed those who proclaim the gospel to get their living from the gospel ..."

So it is not wrong that the tithes and offerings support the visible church. It is right and proper that we give to God through the church; or, that we give to the church as unto God.

But our giving does not enrich God, nor if we withhold our sacrifice does it diminish God. We may by withholding our gifts impoverish some local work, and in so doing impoverish ourselves; but make no mistake, we shall not bankrupt God Almighty.

- B. Giving is a response of love and obedience and thanksgiving to God by His people. (Psalm 50:14) "Offer to God a sacrifice ... of thanksgiving!! And pay your vows, etc."

- C. The fact that "it pays" to put God first, or that "You can't outgive God" or "Tithing makes us partners with God" may be very true. But these motives for giving are still based on a reward and punishment, serve-God-for-profit concept of giving. There are higher motives. True giving involves love.

III. GIVING: GOD CENTERED, GOD-INITIATED SACRIFICE

- A. Love involves sacrifice. There has to be a giving up of something of self in the favor of the one loved. God is the Initiator of love. Perhaps that is at the heart of giving in worship; the expression of the other-centeredness.
- B. God has taken the initiative in this self-giving. God could not change His holiness, nor would we ever wish Him so to do. But God could and has stooped in love to give of Himself because He loved us. Our giving needs reflect that self-giving. In Hebrews is a passage that tells what love and sacrifice really are all about:

(Hebrews 9:11-14) "When Christ came as high priest of the good things that are already here, he went through the greater and more perfect tabernacle that is not man-made, that is to say, not a part of this creation. He did not enter by means of the blood of goats and calves, but he entered the Most Holy Place once for all by his own blood, having obtained eternal redemption. The blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a heifer sprinkled on those who are ceremonially unclean sanctify them so that they are outwardly clean. How much more, then, will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself unblemished to God, cleanse our consciences from acts that lead to death, so that we may serve the living God?" ... (26b) "But now he has appeared once for all at the end of the ages to do away with sin by the sacrifice of himself. Just as man is destined to die once, and after that to face the judgment, so Christ was sacrificed once to take away the sins of many people; and he will appear a second time, not to bear sin, but to bring salvation to those who are waiting for him."

- C. This great LOVE is at the heart of who and what God IS. It is not 'just by Jesus Christ, who loves us and placates the Father who is angry with us,' but this great sacrifice of love expressed at Calvary is by the Triune God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, who share heaven's life with us in the Incarnation.

- D. The Cross of Calvary, mystery of God's love, makes the idea of our paying for our own salvation by the value of our money or by the filthy rags of our own righteousness not only absurd but actually an insult to the Father and the Son. When the perfect sacrifice has been made, how can we ever say, "And now, in addition to your life which is poured out for me, I will give You five dollars? Or fifty-million dollars?"
- E. But how do offerings and sacrifices translate into what we do with MONEY in our church services? Is there any connection? Doesn't Romans 12:1,2 speak of a different KIND of offering?

IV. THE IMPORTANCE OF THE WIDOW'S OFFERING (Luke 20:1-4)

- A. The story of the widow's mites is important. It is told in the context of Jesus' final days of ministry. Jesus used the widow as an example of how properly to give.

He watched rich and poor give to the temple treasury that day, and he commented only on this one woman's way of giving. He indicated that the way this poor widow gave was the right way to make offering a part of worship. How?

She had three things going for her:

1. SHE HAD POVERTY TO BRING HER FACE TO FACE WITH LIFE AT ELEMENTAL, IMPORTANT LEVELS. It isn't hard to face up to what is really important in life WHEN LIFE IS REDUCED TO ESSENTIALS.

I have been poor, materially; and while I am not now rich by any means, I have more than enough to eat. I am not espousing material poverty as good in any way. Yet Jesus told us, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Poverty, being poor in spirit, is the realization that all of us are dependent on God for our very existence. This woman's poverty was apparent. We are "affluent." Look at all the things we have! What is hard for us who live very near to Laodocia to grasp is that we are in abject poverty as well! Our bargaining, our self-righteousness cannot buy life when the time comes for us to face the Judgment. This woman had no false security built on temporal, material substance.

2. THIS POOR WOMAN HAD A HEALTHY FAITH AND TRUST, ENOUGH SO THAT SHE COULD FREELY GIVE to a temple run by imperfect humans in the name of God.

It was not difficult for her to understand that she was not enriching God. Yet she gave; her money was needed. She would not say, "The people who run this Temple are not to be trusted— I'll send my money to the true ministry on the TV"; or, "I need this money, and the rich people can give my share." No, she had faith and trust to bring what she could, not what she thought she could afford, but all that she had, to God.

3. One other thing this woman had— that every true giver has. SHE HAD DIVINE APPROVAL. It wasn't just that Jesus was there watching. She couldn't know that He was going to make her an object lesson. But she knew that God saw, that He knew— and she was living in partnership with Him. His approval was all she needed!

B. OUR GIVING CAN BE GOD-CENTERED. It can exalt God's name. It can go beyond a legal decimal point. It can go beyond the expectation of return. It can be an expression of our expression of love for the sacrifice God has made for us. Much of our giving has been stuck on lower motivation: [Cite illustration: Father asked son who was working when he was going to buy a car. Son said he was waiting for the hundredfold return on the $50 he had given to God. Father, who was wiser in the faith, said, "You already have your return— it is called a job!"]

C. ALL OF LIFE CAN HONOR GOD. God wants to be partners with us in the details of our workday world. Our giving must reflect a love for Him that exalts His name.

Conclusion:

I was brought up believing in storehouse tithing. I came through the Great Depression in a house where my parents tithed, and where God supplied. Their tithing was not in order to demand of God, but it certainly made it easier for their faith to reach out in times of need. I KNOW BY EXPERIENCE THAT STOREHOUSE TITHING WORKS!

But I was also saved because I didn't want to go to hell. I was taught that sin separates me from God, and if I persisted in sin, I would be permanently separated. I BELIEVED THAT! (AND I STILL DO!)

BUT I HOPE I GIVE NOW FOR HIGHER REASONS... AND I HOPE I SERVE GOD FOR LOVE, AND NOT JUST AS A FIRE ESCAPE!

I am not preaching "Give to get!" this morning. I do believe that no one is a fool who accepts God's offer of partnership. But I am preaching that giving, and that sacrificing, giving what costs, giving our all literally in submission, and giving our tithes and whatever else God requests through the church, is part of the worship of God. And I BELIEVE THAT THE HIGHEST KIND OF GIVING DURING WORSHIP, AS WELL AS IN ALL OF LIFE— IS A TOTAL SURRENDER IN LOVE OF ALL OUR LOVES BECAUSE WE LOVE!

#405 I'd Rather Have Jesus

A Message from God to My Heart

September 29, 1991 PM

Psalm 147

Praise Ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God; for it is pleasant, and praise of comely. [2] The Lord doth build up Jerusalem: he gathereth together the outcasts of Israel. [3] He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. He telleth the number of stars; he calleth them all by their names. [5] Great is our Lord, and of great power; his understanding is infinite. The Lord lifteth up the meek: he casteth the wicked down to the ground.

Sing to the Lord with thanksgiving; sing praise upon the harp unto our God: Who covereth the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh grass grow upon the mountains. He giveth the beast his food, and to the young ravens which cry. He delighteth not in the strength of the horse: he taketh not pleasure in the legs of man.

[11] The Lord taketh pleasure in them that fear him, in those that hope in his mercy. Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem; praise thy God, O Zion. For He hath strengthened the bars of thy gates; he hath blessed thy children within thee. He maketh peace in thy borders, and filleth thee with the finest of wheat. He sendeth forth his commandment upon earth; his word runneth very swiftly. He giveth snow like wool: he scattereth the hoarfrost like ashes. He casteth forth his ice like morsels: who can stand before his cold? He sendeth out his word and melteth them: he causeth his wind to blow, and the waters flow. He showeth his word unto Jacob, his statutes and his judgments unto Israel. He has not dealt so with any nation: and as for his judgments, they have not known them. Praise ye the Lord.

Introduction:

WHAT IS GOD LIKE?

- God is NOT like anyone or anything else. He must reveal Himself.
- God is not even UN-like other things!
- Nothing is "the opposite of God!" The opposite of "good" is "evil," but the opposite of God" is not "the devil." GOD REVEALS HIMSELF:

I. 147:2 GOD IS IN THE BUILDING-UP BUSINESS

A. GOD WILL BUILD HIS CHURCH

1. An encouragement when we were building this church (from idea to paper to financing and construction;) God built this church, even if He used YOU to do it!
2. An encouragement TODAY! Inasmuch as it is GOD's CHURCH, HE WILL BUILD IT! God still will build His church!
3. Second Church in Dorchester!

B. GOD WILL BUILD YOUR CHARACTER

1. The human personality is the crowning creation of God! No other creature has been made in His own image! When God takes a willful sinner and works with him or her and makes a character like unto His Son, Jesus Christ, that is truly wonderful!
2. God isn't done with me yet! I want to let Him build me! When we "make God in OUR image" we think He is mostly interested in what WE think is important: BIG MONEY— or FAMOUS PERSONALITY — or whatever. Actually God is in the important business of building PEOPLE!

II. 147:3 GOD IS IN THE HEART-HEALING BUSINESS

- A. God cares about how we feel! He will take your scarred and torn emotions and heal them.
- B. God's healing is from a different perspective from ours. But if we will trust Him, He will heal us!

III. 147:5 GOD UNDERSTANDS

- A. We think our lives, each one, are unique (and they are) and beyond the understanding of God (they are NOT!.) Whatever the complexities of your situation, your life just now, be sure of this: GOD UNDERSTANDS IT PERFECTLY!
- B. We don't pray to INFORM God of the facts. We pray in order to align our wills with His loving will for us; we pray to inform Gods and ourselves that we want to be HIS!

IV. 147:11 GOD TAKES PLEASURE IN MY TRUST

- A. God loves YOU just now, whoever and wherever you are in your spiritual journey.

But there is a difference in God LOVING you, and God TAKING PLEASURE in you! Any parent knows there is a vast difference between LOVING a child, and being thoroughly PLEASED with a child!

Does God TAKE PLEASURE IN YOU? God takes pleasure when we trust in Him, in His goodness!
- B. All trust is a response to God's GRACE! Wherever you are, if you look to Him in trust, God will respond to you!
- C. Such TRUST begins for us, at the CROSS! When we are convinced that Jesus died for the sins of the world— and then when we make the choice to trust Him completely for our salvation this mighty PLEASURE OF THE ALMIGHTY comes into focus! All heaven rejoices when we truly TRUST God!

Conclusion:

What is God "LIKE?"

God has revealed Himself in Jesus as One who loves us more than we can understand! He wants to BUILD you up— and HEAL you- - and DELIGHT IN YOU!

247 Only Trust Him

Basic Concepts of Faith

What it means to confess Jesus Christ as Savior.

October 6, 1991 pm

Romans 10:9,10 With the MOUTH we confess . . . with the HEART we believe that God has raised Him from the dead we shall be saved.

John 12:44-50; then 35-36; then 37-43:

Introduction:

TWO THINGS stand out in this passage:

1. FAITH IS PERSONAL CONTACT WITH GOD!

It is getting to know Jesus and walking with Him. It isn't so much a matter of being "right" or "wrong" as it is being in His Presence. Jesus IS Light!

2. FAITH IS A MOVING TARGET!

It moves toward God, and toward LIFE. We cannot sit in the light; we cannot merely bask in the light; we must walk in the light!

We say of saving faith: 'Faith is believing! We are believers!' But here (42-3) were men who believed, but were not believers!

- a. They did not want to risk losing a situation that was in some (human) measure secure; and
- b. They would rather be liked by people than be approved by God. How could they "believe" and not be believers?

I. WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BELIEVE?

Are there two kinds of believing? Can I truly BELIEVE and still be lost?

WHAT IS SAVING FAITH?

Look at Romans 10:9,10:

[It is important that our concept of salvation come directly from the Word, and not second-hand from proof-texting or cliché. It is very easy to hear what we want to hear.]

- A. One element of FAITH is to come to a crisis of persuasion. Many people do not know who Jesus really IS! It is the Holy Spirit that takes Christ's Words and His witness, and convinces the world that God has spoken the Final Word in His Son, Jesus Christ!

This persuasion involves the simple facts of the Gospel: I have sinned, and deserve death. Jesus died on the cross for my life. Jesus rose again as MY champion over sin, death, hell.

It is only by the revelation of the Holy Spirit that I can believe that in my heart!

- B. But very evidently there ARE two levels of faith. It is one thing to know who Jesus IS, and quite another to KNOW JESUS AS PERSONAL LORD AND SAVIOR!

One level OF BELIEVING is at the point of accepting a thing as true, or being convinced. A second level OF BELIEVING is a willingness to line up the life in accordance with the truth.

- C. Here in this passage were men of leadership who had come to believe in Jesus as the Messiah. But they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God, so they did not confess their faith openly. Perhaps they rationalized, and said: "If He IS Messiah— as we believe Him to be, He doesn't NEED our help! He will do all right by Himself, and when He is established, then we'll get on the winning side." These men never went all the way and confessed Jesus as Messiah, Lord, and Savior!

- D. We must conclude: FAITH IS NOT COMPLETE UNTIL IT IS CONFESSED! or, scripturally, FAITH IS NOT SAVING FAITH UNTIL IT IS CONFESSED So—:

II. WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO CONFESS JESUS CHRIST AS SAVIOR?

Confession is the other side of true faith; it is not the same as works . . . but involves a deliberate willingness to be available to God; to make our life HIS . . .

- A. Confession means baptism. The normal sequence of events includes baptism. It was Christ's clear command: "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved..."(Mark 16) A washing, a burial, a symbol of birth to a new way, and in all an open confession before the public.
- B. Confession means an acknowledgment of Jesus before others. Testimony has this sacramental aspect; it is like water baptism. Every time we acknowledge Jesus publicly we strengthen our faith.
- C. Confession also has the aspect of acknowledging our NEED of Jesus: the sinful acts and nature that brought us condemnation. Only sinners can be saved! Only confessing sinners. {Someone said this is the difference between Jesus and Uncle Sam: When Uncle Sam wants people for his army, he says: Only able-bodied people can apply; but when Jesus wants people to serve Him He says: "Only the broken can come! Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest!"
- D. We need to keep on confessing! throughout our walk with Jesus: being OPEN with Him about our shortcomings . . . finding the 'middle ground' between extremes: (sin every day in word, thought, deed: no different from pre-conversion AND no need whatsoever to pray: "Forgive us our debts!") But this is not the main thrust of "confess" in this passage.
- E. This "confession" or unashamed acknowledging of Jesus as Lord—this confessing HIM before people we know—becomes the cutting edge of WITNESS.

Conclusion:

Too much of the church has been like John 12:42-43. Somehow people have come to think that if they BELIEVE with their minds That Jesus is the Christ they are true followers of Jesus.

But this is not really what it means to be "Christian!" There must also be that abandoning of "security" and deliberate choosing rather to please GOD than care what people think! There must be the confession: JESUS IS LORD! LORD OF MY LIFE! And that is saving faith!

Make connection with JESUS! Throw caution to the winds, and CONFESS JESUS AS LORD! Walk in the Light . . . and keep on walking!

A Call for Prophets

October 13, 1991

Numbers 11:25-29

Introduction:

The Exodus is under way. Hundreds of thousands of people are camped out all over hundreds of acres of desert real estate. They need to eat. Every day. They are not bashful about telling their leader what they want on the menu.

A Daunting Prospect

Moses is challenged by the sheer scope of his task. He didn't ask for this job in the first place. He complains to God:

"Where am I going to get the resources to carry through on this Exodus Project? If we slaughtered all the cattle today to eat we would be back to a starvation diet by the middle of next week!"

Divine Direction

God answers Moses. He is not silent. But God does not simply respond to Moses' question or answer in kind. Instead God says:

"Is my arm suddenly too short to reach where you are? Do you remember how you got here in the first place?" God's question stops Moses dead in his tracks. But it is only the beginning of God's answer. Still, it is enough to get Moses started forward again in obedience.

The Principle of Anointed Vision Shared

In obedience to God, Moses calls the high-level leaders together. There are 70 of them. He tells them that God has heard their prayer. He repeats the cryptic message he has received from God: "Is MY arm too short?" Even as Moses speaks God shines just a little of the light of His glory into those gathered leaders. He puts His Spirit on all of those who were gathered together.

It was an optimistic meeting, to say the least! It was like a preview of Pentecost, only 1,500 years early. The burden AND the blessing Moses had been carrying was shared. It is always a great thing when God's people hear directly from God!

But the record says that TWO of the 70 leaders, Eldad and Medad, were especially moved upon by the Spirit. They began to act like prophets. A prophet has the ability to see and to declare that God's way is best!

Now Moses was the accepted prophet in the camp; everyone knew that Moses was the called leader. Still, in what seemed to be a genuine way, here were two other leaders prophesying. Joshua- good, loyal, soon-to-be leader of the entire Exodus Joshua- was concerned for his beloved leader, Moses. He was understandably worried about insurrection, or a division of authority. But Moses sensed that this was of God. [There had been cases where people not called had taken on themselves the holy orders, with disastrous results. This was different.] So Moses said:

"Are you jealous for MY sake? Don't be! I would that all God's people were prophets, and that the Lord would put His Spirit on them!" He knew that when God's Spirit is involved, and the blessing is genuine, then God's work will go forward.

I. AN OLD TESTAMENT DREAM IS TO BE A NEW TESTAMENT REALITY

- A. It is an abrupt transition from the Exodus and this Old Testament story to the modern church scene. But there are some cogent parallels. If Moses was overwhelmed with his DAUNTING PROSPECT, so are we! And if God's people ever needed DIVINE DIRECTION, it is now! But what of Moses' "dream:" WOULD THAT ALL GOD'S PEOPLE WERE PROPHETS, AND THAT THE LORD WOULD PUT HIS SPIRIT ON ALL OF THEM?

1. LEAVE THE CONTEXT OF THE EXODUS FOR NOW:

The Exodus has always been a paradigm for salvation; for leaving sin's bondage, and being saved in a Passover-Red Sea crisis. Another time I might want to come back and use the specifics of Moses' wish and prayer for examples in our own spiritual pilgrimage.

2. FOCUS ON THE CHALLENGE OF THE DAY:

Just now I lift out the challenge of the scope of our task as Christians. Like Moses, we look at the challenge of living by faith, and we say: "Lord, where will we get resources to see Your church go forward in a wicked day?"

3. GOD'S ARM IS NOT TOO SHORT TO REACH US!:

The answer has to be the same one that Moses got! "Is MY arm short? I AM THAT I AM!" And God must put His Spirit on US, too—so that WE can prophecy! Joel 2:28 says that after Messiah comes, God will pour out His Spirit on all flesh! WE ARE CALLED TO BE PROPHETS!

B. WE NEED TO HEAR FROM GOD, AND KNOW HIS WORD FOR TODAY!

1. Moses thought he needed food. And he did! But God said, "First of all you need ME! You need MY Spirit on you and your people!"
2. We think we need power, or mobilization in this or that area. And we do. BUT GOD SAYS: "FIRST OF ALL YOU MUST BE MY WITNESSES!" The CHURCH must fill a role as Prophet.

Jesus Christ, our Head, is Prophet, Priest, and King. The CHURCH must fulfill all three of His roles, as His will unfolds. We understand the Priest role a little bit. We understand the King role even less; but we are called to faithfulness in stewardship over the gifts and graces God has parceled to us now, with the understanding that God intends for all His children to reign with Him: "Thou hast been faithful over a few things; I will make you ruler over many things ..." But we understand the role of Prophet least of all.

When we think of prophets, we think of beards and sandals, and clothes made out of gunny sacks. We think of holding up signs saying "The End is Near!"]

- C. Not every individual is a prophet, although as Christians we may be called to be prophetic at times. But The CHURCH itself is to be a PROPHET!

II. WHAT IS THE ROLE OF PROPHET?

A. A PROPHET MUST FORTH-TELL GOD'S TRUTH

1. We think of FORE-telling as the basic role of the prophet. We look into the prophets all too often ONLY to see what is going to happen at the end of the world. In so doing we miss the primary role of the Prophet!
2. Prophets "connected" with their day and their age. They did not usually agree with the status quo, but their message was not simply saying what was going to happen some time in the future. Their message was a declaration of what God was saying THEN! It was usually a call to get right with God!

B. A PROPHET IS NEVER SELF-APPOINTED. HE/SHE IS ONE WHO IS SENT

1. Every child of God is called to do the work of a prophet as the opportunity and challenge arise. We do not have to wait; if God's Spirit is within, we will feel the challenge to tell others.
2. There are those who are specially called prophets: individuals with the gift of evangelism or challenging the church to righteousness. Billy Graham comes to mind.
3. A host of just-as-effective men and women in their own places.
4. But one thing we overlook, perhaps, is that God calls the whole Body, the Church to a Prophetic role; and I believe that He also expects individual churches to pursue the same roles within their communities.

III. GOD'S CHALLENGE IS TO HIS CHURCH: BE CHRIST'S BODY!

A. The Prophetic Call is THROUGH/FOR THE CHURCH!

1. Christ's body is one! Christ LOVES the Church! The prophetic role is sometimes seen as opposing the other roles of the religious community:
2. In our own knowledge and wisdom we will fragment the roles, and pull the body apart. Traditionally prophets and priests did not see eye to eye; few men combined the two roles. David came close to being both King and Prophet— at times he certainly fulfilled the prophetic role; Isaiah was both a priest and a prophet.

3. Jesus fills all three roles, and is the Reality of which all the others are shadow. When His Spirit fills the church all three roles will function to complement each the other. All three aspects will/should be manifest in every complete church!

B. HOW should we carry out the role of PROPHET?

1. BY A WILLINGNESS TO OBEY GOD! We have to be WILLING to do whatever we believe God calls us to do.

I am NOT now suggesting the church be involved POLITICALLY! At least not in any partisan sense.

2. BUT THE CHURCH, THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE UP CHRIST'S BODY CANNOT SIMPLY BE STAND ASIDE AND BE PASSIVE!

There are some respects in which we can liken ourselves in the American community of faith to the Christian church in early Nazi Germany. We may well have to separate in our thinking the idea of a beloved nation and an intruding government that does not represent the ideals of the Old and New Testaments on which our nation was founded (along with some Transcendental stuff.)

I am not calling for a conservative knee-jerk reaction to every crisis. But by the same token, I am not giving in to thinking that the answer for every challenge is a political solution from the left, either. It is all right to be a Christian and be politically conservative and Republican. It is all right to be Christian and be politically liberal and Democrat. BUT IT IS NOT ALL RIGHT TO BE CHRISTIAN AND LET OTHER PEOPLE INTERPRET WHAT IS AND WHAT IS NOT GOD'S WILL FOR US.

It is NOT Christian to let the government eviscerate the Bible and tell the CHURCH what is and what is not moral and right.

3. WE MUST SEEK TO BE AWARE! TO BE ANGRY!

- a. Immediately many will think about places in the world where injustice seems flagrant. But I cannot with good conscience speak about the issues in Northern Ireland or South Africa. I simply do not know the facts. I do not understand all the issues. But for us Christians here just NOW these world issues can be a smoke-screen for what is happening right here in day-by-day existence.
- b. Some facts of life:
 - 1. Federal appeals court ruled that Georgetown Univ. MUST financially support a group on campus that is in opposition to their doctrines.
 - 2. Recent episodes of prime-time so-called entertainment drama have featured unmarried, teen-age sex as 'responsible' and 'the norm.' [It is neither! Sex is God's GIFT— but it is still wrong any place outside of heterosexual marriage, according to the Bible I read and understand!]
 - 3. I'll stand with Cardinal Law in his right to speak for what he interprets as God's will! People want to have it both ways— be Catholic and be their own Bibles. It is the same for Christians everywhere: I am not a Roman Catholic, and not bound by what Cardinal Law says. But I AM a Christian, and under the authority of God's WORD! Every Church should have some areas for which they stand and will not back down!

YOU CANNOT BE A CHRISTIAN AND INVENT YOUR OWN TEN COMMANDMENTS! PART OF BEING A CHRISTIAN IS ACCEPTING THE AUTHORITY OF GOD, AND THAT AUTHORITY IS EXPRESSED IN GOD'S WORD! IT IS BIGGER THAN THE INDIVIDUAL!

4. We must learn anew to PRAY! We must have concerted prayer! Private prayer is the foundation of personal experience, and there is no substitute. But we must also pray together, and ask God for mercy on our land!
5. Then- and only then- there will be God's clear direction on speaking out. Then, when the church has prayed, as in Acts 4, there can be deliberate action—always in the name of the Lord; always in accordance with the Word of God.

Conclusion:

A. Our text was taken from a scene in the Exodus. Moses cried out with the wish that all God's people were prophets, that the Lord would give them all His Spirit. Moses felt the desperate need of God's help if the people were to move ahead. How does that intersect with our times?

B. Joel 2:28 "And it shall come to pass afterward, saith the Lord, that I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh, and your sons and your daughters shall prophecy, and your young men shall see visions and your old men shall dream dreams ..." In the days after Messiah comes, this cry of Moses was to become reality throughout the called people of God. In other words, THE CHURCH IS CALLED TO THE PROPHETIC ROLE.

Moses, along with Jeremiah and Hosea and Amos and John the Baptist are dead. They died in various and sometimes unpleasant ways.

And guess who has been called to walk with God, and call the world to hear the PROMISE and the WARNING and the LIGHT and the SEPARATION of the Gospel of God's SON?

WE have! THE CHURCH MUST ANSWER GOD'S CALL IN THESE CRUCIAL DAYS!

C. GOD IS CALLING SOME OF YOU TO A PROPHETIC MINISTRY IN A SPECIAL WAY!

It used to be in the days when the Parson was the Person, and people looked up to the clergy, that the finest young men and women didn't have too much trouble answering God's call to ministry. Now, increasingly, the pastoral and evangelistic PREACHING MINISTRY is thought of with less secular, worldly respect. But God is still calling the finest and best young people into His prophetic tasks!

Moses said, "Would God that ALL the Lord's people were prophets and that the Lord would put His Spirit on ALL of them!" May WE be worthy vessels for God to fill with a fresh anointing of His Spirit, to do with us as HE will!

Prayer:

O God of the prophets! Help us to know Your Son, our Risen Lord! Help us to walk with Him! Help us not to run ahead, nor to lag behind.

Illuminate us in our hearts by the hope of Your great promise, and help us to shine like lanterns in a dark night where people need Your Light.

In Jesus' Name.

(ex) I think of you teens in your high schools as "prophets!" Not that I expect you to carry signs. But you need to be aware of the anti-God stance of our official school systems! You need to affirm that God IS; that God made the heavens and the earth! You need to get better and better acquainted with Jesus! That's what it means to be a prophet as a teen! HE will show you what to do!

ABCs of Christian Faith

October 13, 1991 PM

1 John 3:19 "This is how we know that we belong ..."

Introduction:

Last Sunday night I spoke at some length about the threat to the church of an unchallenged faith. I asked the question:

"Are you saved?"

and followed that first question up with another:

"Who says so?"

It is essential that we have the certainty of God's personal revelation by the Word, and by the Spirit within, and by the witness of a changed life. I said that a person who claims to be a Christian but does not have Christ at the center of his/her life is a greater threat to the church than all the evils outside the structure of the church.

How do you know that you are saved? What finally gives assurance? I spoke last week about (1) confessing Jesus as Lord, and (2) believing in the heart that God has raised Him from the dead. Romans 10:9.10.

But tonight I want to talk a little more about the "knowing" aspect; I want to zero in on assurance. It is wonderful to KNOW that we are really children of God.

Maybe my own testimony will ring bells with you; maybe not.

A CHILD'S FAITH REAL, PRECIOUS, FRAGILE?

As a small child I recall asking Jesus into my heart. I knew my parents were 'right.' I knew that when the preachers said something, it was true.

A TEENAGER'S FAITH HONEST, SINCERE, DOUBTING

But after straying a bit, and losing my assurance, as a teenager I remember coming to the altar as a seeker, and I wanted to KNOW that I was really saved. I heard the older people testify, and had no real reason to doubt they were experiencing something as a backslidden teenager that I didn't know.

So when I came to the altar I wanted to KNOW!! I prayed, I looked around— I saw other people crying or laughing. I wanted to feel something new or electric going up and down my spine. I wanted to be a new creature in Christ.

THE ADVICE OF OTHERS BASED ON THEIR KNOWLEDGE

People were there at the altar with me, and they gave me the benefit of their wisdom. I respected them. I listened. How could I know I am saved?

The Bible says thus and so.

I know— and I believe the Bible. But I am not so sure that I am meeting all the requirements— and if I am, how come I am not changing in a way I can feel?

Well, my pastor told me. Now I don't doubt my pastor, but what's good for HIM may not quite reach to where I am. Is my pastor infallible?

SOMEHOW EACH SUCCESSIVE STEP IN FAITH IS NOT EASIER- IT REQUIRES SOMETHING MORE

As a small child I recall inviting Jesus "into my heart, come into my heart, Lord Jesus, Come in today, come in to stay..."

"Where is He?" "In my heart!"

As a wayward teen I recall earnestly listening at the altar as someone explained the logic and the reason of it all.

But I longed for a vehicle of change, something under the hood, an experience, a reality, a something!

The question then (and often now) was/is: "WHAT HAS GOD DONE FOR YOU?"

A PARTIAL FAITH IS BETTER THAN NONE; A 'FORMULA' CAN BE USED TO CHANGE LIVES BUT THERE REMAINS A NAGGING WISH FOR CERTAINTY

I knew the expected answer and I gave it hopefully. I really HAD confessed my sins! I really DID believe that Jesus died for me. And I really believe this day that he "took me back" then— because my life was changed! I had a new hunger for the Word. I experienced a renewed "call," or "vocation," as Catholics would call it.

TODAY I AM SATISFIED THAT I BELONG TO JESUS I HAVE AN INNER ASSURANCE I'M NOT EXACTLY SURE HOW THIS CERTAINTY HAS DEVELOPED TO BE HONEST

But I THINK it was when I began to get OUT OF EXPERIENCE SEEKING INTO RELATIONSHIP BUILDING.

Remember the question that was asked at the altar? A legitimate question, too: WHAT HAS GOD/JESUS DONE FOR YOU? TELL US WHAT GOD HAS DONE!

Perhaps there is a better question we could ask ourselves every day. And that question is:

WHO IS GOD TO ME?

For the final end of our salvation is to bring us near to God, and to love Him and let Him love us!

GOD WANTS TO MOVE, IN LOVE, INTO THE CENTER OF OUR LIVES!

He is pleased when we treat Him like the Person that He is, instead of thinking of Him simply as a Great Natural Resource.

WHO IS GOD TO YOU?

In all honesty, if people think of who God is at all, many think of Him

1. As a distant Observer and Threat to Happiness. The idea that He can be a Friend and a daily Companion never enters their mind!
2. Others see God as Good and Right and Holy but Unapproachable, a sort of modern "deist" position.
3. Still others see God as Angry or Grieved with my sins; and if He is distant and hard to reach that is not good news!

But God wants to reveal Himself to all who will come to know Him. I believe there are "relational steps to salvation!"

The steps to salvation along this relationship way of thinking may well be exactly the same as along the experience ladder. The relationship is the other side of the coin of experience. But it is the HEAD side!

A. AWARENESS

THE FORMULA WAY, "experience" says: I am lost, I am doomed, I am on my way to eternity without hope.

"Relationship" says: Jesus Christ is my HOPE, my only hope!

B. CONVICTION

"Experience" says: I feel so guilty for my sins!"

"Relationship" says: "God is my displeased with sin! God is my CONVICTER! He is drawing me to pray.

C. DECISION

"Experience" says: "I want Jesus to save me!"

"Relationship" says: "Jesus Christ is my LORD, if he will have me!" And He will! Subtle difference: "I am saved!" and "Jesus is LORD!"

D. FAITH

"Experience" says "I am saved! I receive salvation and sanctification!"

"Relationship" says "Jesus is my Savior!" "Jesus is My Sanctifier by giving me His Spirit!"

E. KEEPING GRACE

"Experience says: "I have walked with God lo these many years!"

"Relationship" says: "Jesus has become my dearest Friend! I never want to leave Him! He has promised never to leave me!"

Conclusion

This passage — which was used at the altar January 18, 1948, when as a 17-year-old backslider I was at an altar seeking certainty — worked then in the experience-formula way. I believed the logic; I was at the altar because I was drawn by the Spirit.

"If your heart does not condemn you!" I knew I was sincere. But I didn't FEEL anything! I confessed Jesus as my Lord, publicly. My private life changed. The experiential way "worked."

But this passage is about LOVE!

The proof is in the LOVE! Here it speaks of the love within the church, the love of God abiding in the Presence God's Spirit within.

And across the years I have tried at least to balance the experience with the relationship. Not just what has god done for me... BUT WHO IS GOD JUST NOW TO ME!

And THAT is where the assurance has come! I don't KNOW if I am as good a Christian as someone else. I don't KNOW if my experience matches yours, and I don't really care! But I do know that Jesus means EVERYTHING to me! He IS my Friend, my Master, my Savior, my Lord! I belong to Him!

Learning to Pray

October 20, 1991 PM

Luke 11:1-13 (read 5 - 8 first)

Introduction:

We've been going over basics this fall— for two weeks we've talked about how we know we're saved. Assurance. Growing from child's faith to youth's faith to adult faith to on-going heuristic faith, ever staying in relationship to God in Christ.

Today I ask you to give attention to a key factor in your life which makes or breaks you as a growing Christian: your prayer life. I CANNOT "TEACH YOU TO PRAY."

In the first place, I am not qualified, for that is the task of the Lord Himself and the Holy Spirit whom He sends. "He will guide you into all truth."

In the second place, prayer is something which must be learned 'on the job.' Like any serious discipline, the people who know the most about prayer are the ones who realize that what they don't know about their discipline is greater than what they do. With that caveat...

WE LOOK AT HOW THE MASTER TEACHER BEGAN THE LESSONS OF PRAYER WITH HIS BELOVED DISCIPLES:

I. TEACHING BY EXAMPLE

(v 1) "Jesus was praying"

If Jesus needed to pray . . .

A. Jesus first LIVED what He taught

Jesus never said: "Do as I say but don't do as I do!" He did say: "Love as I have loved!" He did say: "As I have washed your feet, so you ought to be servants one to another and wash one another's feet." He did say: "As the Father has sent Me into the world with the Good News, so I am sending you into the world!" He did say: "As the Father and I are one in family love, I want my disciples to be one with us!"

B. Jesus lived by prayer

Jesus apparently prayed for human wisdom and strength; He also seemed to want to spend time in the Presence of the Father. Jesus sought times of solitude and retreat so He could pray. And if Jesus needed that, his disciples deduced, properly, that they needed it also. One of them got up nerve to ask Jesus to teach me to pray— and this passage records the 'lesson.'

II. THE LESSON PROPER

(v 2 - 4) "The Lord's Prayer"

Jesus did give them a model prayer to use and study.

A. A Lesson Jesus Probably Repeated Many Times

Luke's version is different from Matthew's, even though early manuscripts sought to harmonize them. This indicates to me that this pattern was a lesson that Jesus repeated more than once. The exact words are not as important as the impact of the whole lesson.

B. The Lesson is an Exercise in Priorities

Lesson One: God first! God at the center! His name hallowed. His kingdom; His will. His interests should be ahead of our own.

C. Prayer is Loving Dependency and Trust

Lesson Two: Dependency and trust. We ask in the way that children ask their parents: Give us! Forgive us! Show us how! Keep us in good graces!

D. So just "saying prayer" is not praying

Lesson Three: Persistence!

III. A WORD PICTURE TO ILLUSTRATE HIS MAIN POINT

(v 5-)

A. Many cogent lessons can begin with the Model Prayer

1. We assume that the Model Prayer is the whole lesson. It was the heart of the lesson. But then came various applications.
2. In Matthew's Sermon on the Mount the Model Prayer is immediately followed by expanded attention to that part of the lesson dealing with forgiveness. ("If you don't find grace to forgive, you won't be able to find grace to be forgiven!".)
3. Here in Luke Jesus wants to emphasize something else; just as basic, perhaps even more basic than forgiveness. Jesus wants to underscore persistence in praying. He does it with a story. (And He has several similar stories through the Gospels.)

B. Here the lesson is persistence

1. Jesus paints a word-picture:

A reluctant friend is contrasted to the loving heavenly Father. It is sort of humorous: It is late at night when a second cousin arrives from Emmaus or Sychar or somewhere. He is hungry- been on the road all day. There isn't a thing in the breadbox; you've been meaning to go to the market first thing in the morning. But Cousin Phil can't wait. So— I think I'll just go next door and borrow three loaves of bread from Paul Trout the Baker.

But Paul is in bed. The Bible says he is in bed with all twelve of his children. I always pictured a real wide bed with all their little heads sticking out the top— like the seven dwarfs or something. He doesn't want to be disturbed, and I don't blame him. It isn't hard for me to imagine the disciples laughing a little.

But they get the message! As I keep hollering and throwing stones at Paul's window, he finally says: "If I get him the bread maybe I can shut him up and get to sleep!" My shameless persistence pays off! I'm glad Paul doesn't have a phone to call the Temple Guards on me! If he did have a phone there wouldn't be any AT&T service because it hadn't been invented yet.

2. So you see that the moral or the one thought in this lesson story is that somehow we are to keep on praying. It is NOT that God is reluctant to hear us, or that He doesn't want to grant us what we need. God is NOT like the Baker who doesn't want to get out of bed.

C. The story is followed by direct instruction: ASK, SEEK, KNOCK.

1. These verbs are all in the present imperative:

"Ask and keep asking" "Seek and keep seeking." "Knock and keep knocking"

In the mystery of prayer Jesus is saying there is a dimension, a factor, an element, a side of prayer that relates to power and effectiveness that is tied up with no quitting! Dogged persistence! Not persisting in having MY way, now. No- we've already prayed "THY name ... THY kingdom ... THY will!!!" Now as we ask for bread and forgiveness and guidance we simply hang in there and won't take "no" for an answer!

2. Jesus slips back into his story teller, word picture mode when He contrasts again: You don't surprise your children with less and worse than they ask! And you are tainted with selfishness and sin. If you ask the heavenly Father, He may surprise you— but it will be with something far better than you can ask or think!

IV. THE CLIMAX OF THIS LESSON ON PRAYER

(v 13) THE HOLY SPIRIT

We pray in order to be filled.

When we are filled we can pray.

- A. The Spirit within: an end in itself!

Being filled is in itself an end; we are beloved of God. Unless and until we grasp this, we are forever seeking to use the Presence to get on to the "important stuff."

B. The Spirit within: TO DO AS WELL AS BE!

Whatever the Holy Spirit wants to do with us is important stuff! And when we are filled, our praying goes beyond the lesson stage, and gets into the reality of spiritual happening.

- C. (CONCLUSION:) I say with the disciple who was bold enough to step forward and ask:
Lord, Teach me to pray!

Prayer

Hymn O to Be Like Thee

The Christian in the World

October 27, 1991 PM

John 17:15-18

Introduction

1. There is a glory of this world. And it is good. "The heavens declare the glory of God!" This is a beautiful world! God created it! The hills of Vermont in Autumn call the faithful to praise their Creator.
2. But there is also an eternal glory. And while the eternal glory may be reflected in earth's glory, and even somewhat revealed in the faces of people who belong to Jesus, it is a mysterious, wonderful thing, this eternal glory!
3. This great Prayer of Jesus for us (John 17) looks back into the eternal glory that the Son of God knew before there ever was a world. It speaks to us of eternity.

I. LIVING IN THE LIGHT OF GLORY

- A. Eternity is our destination. Christians have nothing more important than to prepare to meet God face to face. But we are also called to live here and now with the light of eternal glory touching every facet of our lives.
- B. Christians are to look to the eternal glory. Christians do not JUST live in the "now." There is wisdom in saying (so profoundly) 'The past is gone, the future is uncertain- all I am sure of is the PRESENT!' The Psalmist teaches "time management:" "So teach us to number our days that we may present to Thee an heart of wisdom." Christians do have both a past, a present, and a future. But the greatest assignment we have is to prepare to meet God!
- C. Jesus is heaven's glory manifested. (2 Corinthians 4:6) This prayer makes it clear: The glory of heaven has been manifested on earth. (17:4 "I have manifested Thee on earth...") In the Person of our Lord Jesus Christ, eternity has invaded the earth. The true glory of earth reflects the greater glory of eternity; the glory of eternity far outweighs passing glories.

II. LIVING IN HOLY TENSION

- A. We are citizens of two world systems. This prayer also makes clear that Christians are in both systems at one and the same time. Christians are supposed to be involved to the full in both time and eternity!

The word is: "We are IN the world but not OF the world." But however we describe it, the fact is that Christians will experience TENSION in being involved in two worlds.

In this prayer (17:14) Jesus says: "The world has hated them," and before He prayed, (in John 16:33) Jesus said, "In the world ye shall have sorrow." Coming to understand "who we are" will not eliminate this tension. We need to see that it is not a "Nazarene tension," not brought on by certain standards and rules. It is rather a radical tension that Jesus Himself faced: we are called to confront the world with God's love!

- B. True faith means TENSION between the two worlds. We look again at the saying, 'IN the world but not OF the world.'

Superficial logic usually takes a position here on one of two extremes: either we are to be extremely heavenly minded, which means isolation ("We'll build a sweet little nest/ Somewhere out in the west/ And let the rest of the world go by ...") OR extremely up-to-date and "relevant" which is interpreted as simply adopting whatever pagan customs are current and in style.

Actually "fuzzy logic," is in order here: a wisdom that realizes a higher wisdom, for:

III. CHRISTIANS ARE EARTHLINGS, FULLY HUMAN

- A. Like Jesus, WE MUST TRULY PARTICIPATE IN THIS PRESENT WORLD. Look at this business of spiritual isolationism. Some Christians seek to escape the tension by becoming "other worldly." We somehow become "different" when we enter the church; our "testimonies" sound like we have speech writers. Or worse, we carry this sterile, wooden idea of "church" with us when we try to tell others about our faith. But if the Son of God became fully human, then we ought to seek to be wholly human, too.

1. Being "fully human" does not mean keeping up with fad and fashion. Someone said last week at minister's retreat: "The one thing teens think about more than anything else is 'What will THEY say?'"

This heavy burden of conformity, ("What will THEY think?,") carries over long after teens! We are so worried about our 'image' that we neglect the real integrity of character! But we do NOT have to 'keep up' to some artificial standard to be fully human.

2. Being "fully human" does not mean that we have to know everything about everything. We must NOT be neophiliacs. [Hear a quote from a modern-day prophet, Richard John Neuhaus]

"We are neophiliacs, lovers of the new who are titillated by the news. It gives us an illusory sense of involvement in our times. We fear being left out of what is happening. The imperative of participation, carried to excess, becomes frenetic and compulsive. Oscar Wilde somewhere said that the trouble with socialism is that it leaves one with no free evenings. Failing to participate fully in our own lives, we seek participation in realities constructed by others. To the extent a person has a life of her own, it is a life defined by limits. With respect to innumerable things that are happening we are 'out of it,' thank God!" - Richard John Neuhaus, in The Naked Public Square.

- B. Being involved with this world DOES mean caring about people! Christians cannot get off by professing to love God while at the same time rejecting their brothers and sisters.

TV offers us the option of being pseudo-involved with "this world," but the people in the 21-inch tube don't really know us, and we don't know them. We think we know the anchor man, or Willard Scott. We know the latest TV crime victim, and perhaps rightly we shed tears over a Dave Dravecky. But at the same time our next door neighbor may be dying with cancer, or may even be dying of loneliness, and would give anything to have someone to talk to or pray with.

- C. Being involved with this world DOES mean a proper attitude toward material reality. Things ARE important. MONEY is NOT immoral. We are to use things, and to use money, and love people, and to love God. Not the other way 'round.
- D. Being involved in this world means seeking a God-given sense of MISSION. "Mission statement" is almost a style-fad or mania now. Every organization, every institution needs a clear mission statement. I agree. But what about a personal mission statement? One that is tailored just for you?

Every one of us has an assignment, even if it is to stand and wait. On this REFORMATION SUNDAY think of the assignment that God gave to Martin Luther. What would have happened if he had not heard and obeyed? Perhaps- speculation- God would have raised up someone else. But Martin Luther did obey!

We think of men and women like John and Charles and Susannah Wesley, and Dwight L. Moody, and Billy Graham. They wouldn't have known to call it a mission statement, but they followed their assignment.

And Jesus makes it abundantly clear: As the Father has sent HIM, Jesus, into the world, to let the world know He loves them, even so Jesus is sending us— YOU and me!

[Christians are citizens of Planet Earth. But there is TENSION! Remember?]

IV. CHRISTIANS ARE CITIZENS OF HEAVEN

[Transition:] The other side of the coin is equally true Like Jesus, we are not OF this world! While some Christians seek to escape the tension by "being so heavenly minded they are of no earthly good," and fail to "connect" with real people and real needs, other Christians seek to escape the tension by simply adopting the world-view and the culture uncritically.

Jesus has claims on us: Jesus has standards, OBJECTIVE, FACTUAL TRUTH, to which he calls His church:

- A. Christians are called to be HOLY! To be in the world but not OF the world means OBEYING THE COMMAND TO BE HOLY! (17:17 "Sanctify them! Make them holy!")
 - 1. Holiness is AGREEING WITH GOD! It is NOT agreeing with the world, and relaxing in apathy in the face of greed and lust and selfishness.
 - 2. Holiness is WALKING WITH GOD wherever He is going! Whatever the cost may be, to be HOLY means that God's opinion means more than everyone else's opinions put together!
 - 3. Holiness is NOT abandoning the righteous LAWS of the Old Testament, but rather it is having the heart of those laws written in OUR hearts! ("Ye have heard it said ... but I say unto you!")
- B. Christians are members of Christ's BODY.
 - 1. To be in the world but not OF the world means WORKING THROUGH THE CHURCH THAT JESUS HIMSELF HAS BROUGHT INTO EXISTENCE. Jesus loves the church as He loves His own life!
 - 2. There is no Christianity outside the context of the Body of Christ! This is what I understand Jesus to mean when He prays- for us— in verse 21, 23: "That they may be one . . . perfected in unity ..."
 - 3. The Christian really comes to a sense of identity— comes to know who he or she really IS— as she or he is ONE with a body of believers— with THE Body of believers, as that Body is One with the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit! I speak of the wonderful mystery of the Church! May WE truly be a part of the church!

Conclusion:

- 1. This prayer begins with "eternal glory." It also ends with reference to eternal glory. But there is a significant difference between the beginning and the ending of this great High Priestly prayer! The difference is not only significant, it is wonderful and beautiful!

2. At the beginning Jesus speaks of "the glory that He had with the Father before the world began." And now at the end, Jesus again looks forward into the eternal glory which He will share forever with God the Father.

But now Jesus prays (24): that those whom the Father has given Him may BE WITH HIM, NOW, IN THAT GLORY WHICH HE KNEW BEFORE THE WORLD WAS! Jesus is opening up the circle of eternity and of the love of God, and bringing in all who are truly HIS!

3. As we identify with Jesus in His humility, and in His assignment— being SENT, Jesus makes it clear that He identifies with US in being glorified! If we share now in His mission, He will share His glory with us throughout all eternity.

We are Christians (ONLY) as we identify with Jesus Christ! Jesus prays for us that we might both be in the world, participating AND be one with Him and the Father!

And Jesus' prayer is powerful! Jesus will enable us to really and truly live in the creative TENSION of being IN this world but not OF this world! And He has promised we shall share in His Presence and glory both in time, now, and for all eternity!

The Just Shall Live By Faith

Reformation Sunday

October 27, 1991

Romans 1:14-16

Four-hundred-seventy-four years ago this week a Roman Catholic clergyman nailed a long list of religious statements to the door of the cathedral in Wittenberg, Germany. Martin Luther was that clergyman. He is a giant figure in Church history.

Martin Luther was the child of a rigid legalistic system. He was a brilliant scholar and teacher. He was a seeker after the assurance of salvation. In his searching and Bible study, Martin Luther "re-discovered" the phrase, "The just shall live by faith," (in Romans and Galatians,) and as it became more and more clear to him, he came to stake his very life, here and hereafter on the truth of that one phrase.

The defiant act of nailing the list of "95 Theses" to the cathedral door is now the 'nominal beginning' of what we call The Reformation.

Reformation Sunday is seen by many in our pluralistic society today as underscoring a time of separation and rejection. And perhaps it is; and there may be times when conscience causes rejection and separation. But Reformation Sunday commemorates a protest of sincere love and concern for the true church in the face of practices and teachings that failed to bring life and assurance. True reformers are NOT usually interested in destroying their church; they are men of LOVE, and not hate.

[Transition:] But Romans 1:17 and Galatians 3:11 are not the only places in the Bible where we see the phrase: The just shall live by faith. In both places, Paul is quoting from the Old Testament. In fact there are four separate places this statement appears, and each time it has a slightly different setting or emphasis. Taken together these four statements give an insight into saving faith.

The four references, and their settings are these: In Habakkuk 2:4 the setting is faith in God's WORD; in Romans 1:17 we see faith in God's grace; in Galatians 3:11 (even though the emphasis there is also grace,) we see faith in God's justice; and in Hebrews 10:38 the emphasis is faith in God's faithfulness.

I. GOD'S INTEGRITY, HIS WORD IS THE FOUNDATION OF SAVING FAITH

Habakkuk 2:4

- A. Habakkuk's prophecy: A complaint that there is wickedness in Judah; a charge that the people in large part have simply forgotten their God.
- B. But Habakkuk is prophet and not just a reporter. He is concerned with the way GOD sees the situation, the view from the Throne, and not just the band-aid proposals the human mind can conceive. Habakkuk says, "If we can get quiet and listen, God will, speak to us!" (2:20 "The LORD is in His holy Temple: let all the earth keep silence before Him.")
- C. And this is where this great text "fits." God will not help solve the problems of those who refuse His Word. The pride and the arrogance of unbelief effectively block God's love and grace. (2:4 "Behold, as for the proud one, his soul is not right within him; but the righteous will live by HIS faith (-or God's FAITHFULNESS!))
- D. GOD WILL NOT DISAPPOINT THOSE WHO LOOK TO HIM IN OBEDIENT TRUST (and there isn't any other kind of trust when God is involved!)

The prophet declares that the only possibility of our righteousness is based on the foundation of God's Word. And in spite of terrible circumstances, Habakkuk closes the words of his prophecy on this truly powerful note (3:16-19 "I heard and my inward parts trembled, at the sound my lips quivered. Decay enters my bones, and in my place I tremble. Because I must wait quietly for the day of distress, for the people to arise who will invade us. Though the fig tree should not blossom, and there be no fruit on the vines, though the yield of the olive should fail, and the fields produce no food, though the flock should be cut off from the fold, and there be no cattle in the stalls, yet I will exult in the Lord, I will rejoice in the God of my salvation. The LORD God is my strength, and He makes my feet like hinds feet, and makes me walk on my high places.")

- E. If Habakkuk were to visit New England we might see that he is a prophet and not just a reporter! It doesn't take too much wisdom to see something is seriously wrong when millions of unborn babies are killed in our country each year, and politicians make decisions based on what gets them re-elected rather than on what is right or wrong. It isn't hard to see the bankrupt moral fiber of our nation when illicit drugs are such big business that "all the king's horses and all the king's men" can't seem to shut down the supply, and public morality is too weak to shut down the demand.

Habakkuk might tell us that men like Bruce Wahl and Michael Haynes and John Borders are worth hundreds of policemen in Roxbury and Dorchester—not that we don't need the policemen, too, just now. I wonder how Habakkuk would view our efforts at Second Church there in Codman Square?

We get totally involved in peripheral matters. It is important to save a species of owl, or to preserve our natural treasures. But we only get one chance at each generation of HUMAN BEINGS! And only God Almighty can deliver us from the chaos in which our sins have entrapped us as a nation and a race.

[Transition:] But we have already said that Martin Luther "discovered" this text from Paul, as he quoted Habakkuk in the Book of Romans. And there it shows us the wonder of God's great love extended:]

II. GOD'S LOVE REVEALS AN OPEN DOOR TO SAVING FAITH

Romans 1:16-17

- A. Saving faith is based on the fact of God's integrity: what He says, He means! But faith is more than just a mental acceptance of that fact. Paul's use of the phrase: THE JUST SHALL LIVE BY FAITH is in the context of THE GOSPEL.

"GOSPEL" AS USED HERE IS A NARROW TERM. It doesn't just mean 'good news' or 'truth,' as we often use it. It doesn't mean the general use of scripture principles and precepts in order to give is 'the good life.' But the Gospel means the Good News about what God has done for us in the victory of His Son, Jesus Christ, by His death and resurrection and Session! The gospel in one verse is John 3:16. The gospel is for the "WHOSOEVER" that believes in God's only begotten Son!

It is in the context of response to God's grace- God's LOVE in Christ, that Paul declares that we live by faith. [Romans 1:16-17 For I am not ashamed of the gospel, for it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first, and also to the Greek. For in it (the Gospel) the righteousness of God is revealed from faith to faith; as it is written, THE JUST SHALL LIVE BY FAITH."]

- B. The important word, so far as you and I are concerned, is "whosoever!" The great grace and power of the Gospel of which Paul declares he is not ashamed is available to you and me just now!

[Transition: But God's word/integrity and his love/free grace do not exhaust the meaning of salvation by faith. A third time this phrase appears, in Galatians 3:11, and there the context is God's justice:]

III. GOD'S JUSTICE, RECONCILED, MAKES SAVING FAITH POSSIBLE

Galatians 3:11

- A. The "HOW" of obtaining salvation was where Martin Luther was particularly offended. He had followed the teachings of the church of his day on penitence, and he had found no assurance whatsoever that his sins were in fact and deed forgiven. He had observed excesses, such as the sale of indulgences that permitted wealthy people to buy absolution while poor people had to suffer purgatory or hell. And so it was that when the truth dawned on him that all sins were already provisionally 'paid for' it was certainly good news that broke in on his soul!

B. But Galatians makes it clear that salvation is not God merely 'excusing' sin.! God cannot merely ignore sin as if it never had happened. The Old Testament prophet Ezekiel tells us (twice) The soul that sinneth shall die! (Ez 18) and Romans 6:23 says, the wages of sin is DEATH!

C. A just God has had to deal with sin in justice! God cannot simply look the other way. But the context of this text in Galatians says God's love can be extended to us because in the cross of Calvary Jesus has redeemed us from the curse of breaking God's law.

It is in the CROSS that God's MERCY and God's JUSTICE meet. [Galatians 3:11 "Now that no one is justified by the law before God is evident, for: THE RIGHTEOUS MAN (THE JUST) SHALL LIVE BY FAITH!]

D. So, while it is true that God's LOVE is extended to us; and it is true that we are authorized to say (AT THIS TIME) "Whosoever will may come!;" it is also true that we dare not presume on that great love! God is not able to offer us saving faith on the basis of our own goodness, or our sincerity, or any other merit of our own. It is in Christ that God's justice is satisfied, and we trust in Jesus Christ, and we trust "TODAY!" (Now is the accepted time!)

[Transition: But there is one more place where this text is found, in Hebrews 10:38.]

IV. GOD'S FAITHFULNESS ESTABLISHES THE SAVING RELATIONSHIP

Hebrews 10:38

A. We are not only saved by faith as a one-time crisis, but we have the privilege of walking day-by-day with Christ in faith. By its very nature walking "by faith" means that we are NOT walking "by sight." It means that this relationship, with God will be severely tested.

Saving faith is NOT a mental theory. It is not "an ideal" to which we aspire along predictable, textbook lines and formulae.

B. And so this last great word (Hebrews 10:38) is in the context of real life, of battles, of perseverance! This is not now the language of revival, and getting saved, going to the altar; not about Bible study and understanding the atonement as the pastor "explains it." This is the language of Jesus in the laundry room, in the high school classroom, of Jesus on-the-job with you and me! (Hebrews 10:23 Let us hold fast the confession of our hope without wavering, for He who promised is faithful!)

And also Hebrews 10:35-39 Therefore, do not throw away your confidence, which has great reward. For you have need of patience, so that when you have done the will of God you may receive what was promised. For yet in a very little while He who is coming will come, and will not delay. But MY RIGHTEOUS ONE SHALL LIVE BY FAITH; and if he shrinks back, My soul has no pleasure in him. But we are not of those who shrink back to destruction, but of those who have faith to the preserving of the soul.

C. This is "a whole seminar" on perseverance! We are to be:

1. (22) be drawing near to God;
2. (23) be holding fast the confession of HOPE without wavering— what God promises, He carries through!
3. (24) be considering one another! LOVE THE CHURCH! Walking by faith is ALWAYS in the context of FELLOWSHIP OF THE SAINTS!
4. (25) not forsaking coming together! Using all the means of grace.
5. (35) Summarizing: DON'T THROW AWAY YOUR CONFIDENCE IN GOD'S FAITHFULNESS!
6. (36) "Ye have need of endurance!" God is not capricious! I am not playing games with Him! I can, I will depend on Him to bring me through Conclusion: So— the "text of the Reformation" is THE JUST SHALL LIVE BY FAITH! What a powerful truth this is, that triggered a great Reformation throughout the entire Church of Jesus Christ.

1. Perhaps we need to return to the spirit of reform again. Not along lines of power, or too-easily-understood slogans and doctrine. Reform isn't that simple!

Reform begins in the heart of those who would be pure in heart, as they ask themselves the question: AM I LIVING BY HIS FAITH? Or am I the kind of Christian that is selective, and chooses the benefits of grace, or the kind of Christian that swallows unchallenged assumptions of fundamental doctrine, or lives by selfish withdrawal from the battle?

2. We need a love and loyalty for Christ's church that will not serve blindly, BUT THAT WILL CONSTANTLY CALL THE CHURCH TO DEEPER, PURER OBEDIENCE! What we say will not speak as loudly as our own personal life-style, and the integrity and love of our relationships, and our own obedience to scripture and the Holy Spirit!
3. God is NOT exhausted! God is not "burned out!" What God did with Luther and Wesley ... He can do with people today who dare to take His Word seriously! THE JUST STILL LIVE BY FAITH!

Prayer: Spirit of God, Come breathe God's life in us; Blow through Your Church, a cleansing, mighty Power for Righteousness. Lift up the Lord Jesus Christ for all the world to see Until every knee shall bow And every tongue confess that He is LORD! To the glory of God the Father. Amen.

Running for the Joy

November 3, 1991

Hebrews 11:39-12:1-3

Introduction

Halloween is a corruption of All Hallow's Eve, and comes on the eve of a special day in the church calendar, a day that is a good time to get a perspective on where we fit in the list of those who follow our God. set aside to think about those who have run the race of faith before us.

There is mystery involved, of course, whenever we think of the hereafter. Not too many places does the scripture draw back the curtain and give us any hint of what is going on with the Church Triumphant. Personally, I can live with a certain amount of mystery. There is a mind-set that views all mystery, even Holy mystery, as merely "problems to be solved." But I have the abiding conviction that God will reveal to us all that we need to know; we don't need some super-prophet explaining esoteric portions of scripture in order to have all that God has for us.

I. THERE IS A "MYSTIC SWEET COMMUNION WITH THOSE WHOSE REST IS WON"

- A. Hebrews 11:39-40 "And all these, having gained (God's) approval through their faith, did not receive what was promised, because God had provided something better for us, so that apart from us they should not be made perfect."

The saints, even the saints of the Bible, are depending on US to complete the task of being God's people. [Dr. Paul Bassett said just this week, "Abraham needs us!"] The saints of Hebrews 11 have an interest in how the church does its task; we, in turn, are expected to join the list of Hebrews 11, the list of those who live by faith!

- B. These great saints inspire us with their witness. That is at least some of what the "cloud of witnesses" implies.

And not just the saints in Hebrews 11, proper, either. The witnesses who have been added to the roll of heroes is long! Witnesses who have "made it!" I have watched a number of God's people in the travail of dying. I think of them now and then with great respect and love. They seem to say to me from beyond, "We made it! We were true! You can be true where you are, too!"

- C. But it is not just those who have "gone on" who may be in this cloud of witnesses.
 - 1. There are other saints, contemporary saints, our brothers and sisters, who may be encouraged or disheartened by the way we run the race.
 - 2. And there are other saints— or saints-to-be, people who may be watching us, seeing how we live, not just what we say!

[But so much for the "cloud of witnesses— at least for now. The emphasis here is running— running this race to win.]

II. RUNNING THIS RACE FOR LIFE IS NOT EASY, BUT IT IS SIMPLE

There are just a few things we need to keep in mind.

- A. It is a LONG race. A marathon. The word is PATIENCE! The word is ENDURANCE! The word is DON'T EVEN THINK ABOUT GIVING UP!

Take time to prepare. Take time to put on the whole armor of God. Take time to pray through on the big decisions of life. Take time to BE before you try to DO.

- B. Don't carry unnecessary weight. "Lay aside every encumbrance." [Remember David refusing to let someone else equip him to follow his dream in armor that wouldn't come close to fitting.]
 - 1. Don't carry the heavy weight of living up to other people convictions or expectations. There are people in the ministry today because Pastor Jones or Pastor Smith or mom or dad thought that's where Mary or John ought to be— and by the same token, there are people in other professions today that God might well have called if some significant other person had not discouraged it. DON'T LET ANYONE BUT GOD MAKE YOUR BIG DECISIONS FOR YOU! IT IS TOO

HEAVY TO CARRY!

2. Don't carry the heavy weight of bitterness of spirit. (VERSE 15 "See to it that no one comes short of the grace of God; THAT NO ROOT OF BITTERNESS SPRINGING UP CAUSES TROUBLE and by it many be defiled."

God has grace to help even the victims of cruel things to forgive; and the forgiver loses the heavy weight of bitterness, even though the forgiven person may not even appreciate it!

C. Have an absolute INTOLERANCE FOR ALL SIN.

1. I know this speaks of "a besetting sin," or "a sin that entangles." It might be construed as a character flaw or disposition that we have to live with and overcome. [I am a congenital worrier. It does not bless God when I worry. I seek by God's grace to lay it aside.]
2. But it also may speak of a tendency to rationalize, to excuse cutting corners in situations where clear-cut issues are at stake.

Dishonesty is always sin. Cheating in any form is always sin. Academic sins, or white collar sins are just as wrong and just as defeating as out-and-out stealing, car theft, or robbery.

Immorality is always sin. Let me put it a little plainer: sexual intimacy outside of marriage is always sin. We can rationalize, we can plead that "everyone is doing it," but God's holy people lay aside all sin!

III. WE HAVE A WINNING COACH TO HELP US RUN A WINNING RACE

We are aware of the grandstand, and the "cloud of witnesses" can cheer us on and inspire us. But we do not look to the "cloud of witnesses" for our winning strategy. WE LOOK ONLY TO JESUS.

On the Mount of Transfiguration, Peter, James and John were dumbfounded, awestruck, to see their Lord glorified, shining, and they were impressed when they realized that He was talking with MOSES and ELIJAH! They were about as impressed with finding out who those two great giants of the faith were as they were with the revelation of Christ's glory. Peter had the suggestion: "Let's build THREE booths here, one each for Jesus, Moses and Elijah." He was quickly and kindly rebuffed by none other than the voice of God the Father: "THIS IS MY BELOVED SON! HEAR HIM!"

1. "Consider Him!" It helps! Jesus endured! He bore the cross because He loved YOU! When you're tempted to quit, think about those who love you, think about those who may be hurt if you quit—yes— BUT MOST OF ALL THINK OF JESUS, WHO WOULDN'T QUIT UNTIL HE HAD DEFEATED SIN, DEATH, AND HELL FOR YOU! HE WOULDN'T QUIT!
2. And Jesus is right with us in this race!

Communion is just such a time— a time to lift our eyes to Jesus. As we prepare now to partake together let us ask God the Holy Spirit to help us to "CONSIDER HIM!"

This is a life-and-death race. The winners get to see the Lord. The ones who drop out, or run other paths don't. The course is set before us. It starts right here, where we are tonight. It continues, according to 11:14 along the pathway of peace and holiness. "Pursue peace with all men, and the sanctification without which no one will see the Lord."

Holiness is not something exotic, for a distant glory, or by great spectacular sacrifices. The race is right here, day-by-day, set before us!

Jesus is the Life of the Church. He is with the Church Triumphant, and they enjoy His Presence in a way that we cannot yet know. But He is also with the Church Militant even though we walk by faith.

Prayer of Consecration Distribution of Elements

The Big Little Word

November 3, 1991 PM

1 John 1:1-10

[Leading into Holy Communion]

Introduction

Salvation is God's work. It is all of grace, and there is nothing of our own works or merit that we can do to save ourselves. That is a truism in modern evangelical Christian faith. I agree.

But in the grace of God, somehow God has made it possible for us to respond to His grace. Do you remember the prayer attributed to St. Augustine: Our will is ours, we know not how; our will is ours to make it Thine. (Augustine ?)

Our choices in the matter of salvation are underscored here in the opening paragraphs of I John, underscored by the use of the little word "if." He writes IF WE SAY, and IF WE CONFESS, and IF WE WALK, as well as others (IF WE SIN, IF WE ABIDE.)

I. IF WE SAY

There is always some danger in talking when we are around God. The biggest danger is that while we are talking we can't be listening. We need to hear what God has to say about us.

- A. One possibility of choice in salvation is to say that we know more about ourselves than anyone, even God.

If we say we have not sinned— or,

If we say that we have no sin— and here John is talking about people who are into MAKING CLAIMS, and being defensive, instead of HEARING WHAT GOD SAYS about their condition.

Everyone has sinned. Everyone is born with a bent to sin. Even Christians need daily grace for coming short. (Hamartia)

- B. But just saying doesn't make it so:

If we say we have fellowship with God we had better be sure that the will of God is precious to us! There is no fellowship with God outside the revealed will of God.

II. IF WE CONFESS

- A. One possibility of choice in salvation is to agree with whatever God has to say about us in our sin and shortcoming.

Confession is more than signing a statement when you are arrested and caught red-handed. Confession is living in absolute openness before God.

- B. THERE IS GREAT CLEANSING POWER IN A LIFE OF CONFESSION and openness before God. God does not wring confession out of us in order to gloat over our inferior position. But He asks us to open our hearts and lives to His cleansing. God does not violate our personality, and will not perform an unwanted forgiveness and cleansing.

- C. Confession brings forgiveness and cleansing! It brings healing! It is truly GOOD for the soul! Jesus said on several occasions: "I came NOT to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance."

Even as a small child growing up Nazarene I had problems with this one. We need to be very careful and clear in our definitions of sin. We dare not excuse what God never excuses. God never excuses any sin. But at the same time, we dare not make claims that the Bible does not support.

Both sides of the Calvinist-Arminian debate are right: We can and must live every day above sin in this present world (Luke 1:75-76) while at the same time, we can and must pray the Lord's Prayer every day, "Forgive us our debts ... "

- D. If we do NOT confess . . .

III. IF WE WALK IN THE LIGHT

- A. Another aspect of choice is acting on what we believe to be God's will.

God is very patient. But He is also true to His Word. If we walk in the light, we have fellowship (Enoch.) If we do not walk in the light, the light moves on and we are again in darkness.

Obedience is essential to faith. - THE LIBERATING POWER OF ONE STEP

- B. Pilgrim's Progress is the best illustration I know:

"Do you see that light?" " "I think I do!" "Follow it! Don't swerve to right or left!"

[Perhaps a short quote here would be more effective]

[Transition:] This is all the "ifs" in chapter one. But wait a minute. There are more, very much connected with grace and salvation:

IV. IF WE SIN

And so they were saved, and lived happily ever after! No problems could sway them. No defeats. No ... no way! Our faith has to be lived out in the real world.

- A. God's grace is for the real world. Do we ever come short of God's Grace? And John has use of the big little word beyond an initial entering in or crisis.

- B. 'If we SIN, are we "out"? Must we begin all over? Are we no longer children of God?

1. Not so! Look at some different scenarios:

If we are enticed into sin suddenly If we have a besetting sin If we rationalize a sin and confess when we do NOT intend to quit

2. If we sin, we have AN ADVOCATE. A representative. Jesus Christ cares. Jesus Christ is powerful. Jesus Christ is God Almighty! We only hurt ourselves if we refuse to bring our sin to Him. Sin persisted in will bring separation from the relationship!

V. IF WE LET GOD'S WORD LIVE IN US: ABIDE

2:24 "If what you heard from the beginning abides in you, YOU WILL ALSO ABIDE IN THE FATHER AND IN THE SON."

Coming to be "at home" with God and the things of God.

1. Making the Word of God "at home" in our hearts. The ABIDING WORD. The "bottom line" of our faith is not simply a Word as we know it, but The Word of God, Jesus Christ, a PERSON! Friendship. This is so deeply profound! (excuse the redundancy!) The way to keep the Word resident is to treat Jesus with great reverence as the Person He is, but to seek to share life with Him.

2. Practice the Presence.

Thomas Kelly's "A Testament of Devotion": The heart of that book— seek to live in the Presence! If Jesus abides we will not lose the glow of our spiritual reality! When we trust other, lesser witnesses they will not only fail us, they will crush out the light in which we must walk to have fellowship with Christ. Faith is a dynamic reality, not a static point of arrival.

Conclusion

It seems so simple! Just walking in the light; just agreeing with Jesus. And it is really simple! Jesus is on your side, not against you!

For us this evening walking in the light means meeting with Jesus in the Sacrament of Holy Communion. This is a message that is real, not less than spoken words, but more.

Hymn #213 Grace Greater than Our Sin

Prayer of Consecration and Distribution of the Elements

Everyone is contaminated with sin, and everyone has sinned.

We are not sinners because we sin; we sin because we are sinners. There is that within our humanity that does not want to be subject to anyone, even to God. There is that which is inherent in our humanity that wants to be god to ourselves. That is the essence of sin.

People do not go to hell because of this "bent," at least not directly. God does not simply condemn us for being the way we were born. But when we agree with the sin within, and choose our way over God's way, and say these egregious things, then we not only have sin as a condition or state, but we have sin as rebellion against God, and sin as transgression of what we perceive God's will to be. The clear choice of self ahead of God is worthy of eternal damnation.

John's clear message here is: Don't be a fool! Agree with God! Don't make claims of sinlessness that will only separate you from hope of salvation!

The God Who is Near

November 10, 1991

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised; and his greatness is unsearchable. One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts. The Lord is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works. The Lord is nigh unto all that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth. He will fulfill the desire of them that fear him: he will also hear their cry, and will save them. Psalm 145:3,4,17-19

(Jesus:) "I who speak to you am he." John 4:26

Introduction

Whether or not we believe it, whether or not we even know or care, everything in life begins and ends with God. And whether or not we believe it, our thoughts about God, conscious or not, have everything to do with making us and shaping us into what we are and what we do.

This is true of an individual. It is true of a church or a denomination. It is also true of entire nations and cultures.

In order to think about God we need to ask at least three questions:

1. IS THERE A GOD?
2. WHAT IS GOD LIKE?
3. WHAT IS GOD TO ME?

I will tell you at the beginning that all the questions about God and life and faith have their answers in Jesus. These answers are not necessarily to be found in studying Jesus as we might an historical figure or a textbook, (as in, 'What did Jesus really say?',) but rather in looking to Jesus as the divine Word of God who is Present, sent from God to reveal Himself to those who diligently seek Him.

I. QUESTION ONE: IS THERE A GOD?

It seems almost sacrilegious to ask such a question from a Christian pulpit. As a church we are certainly not neutral in this matter. It is not something that we intend to leave for our children to decide for themselves while we act for eighteen years of their lives as if there were no God. We ourselves have been brought up on the assumption that there is, indeed, a living God.

Is there a God? YES! And yet each person "has to discover God" for himself or herself. For THIS IS A "REVELATION QUESTION!" It is a question that cannot be answered by cold logic and facts, even though a loving God has given us plenty of circumstantial evidence.

We have the evidence of Creation, of what scholars call general revelation. The Psalmist says: "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the starry expanse shows forth His handiwork." To those who will look with an eye of faith, and to those who will see, there is abundant evidence of a God of Creation who must be magnificent in His being.

We also have the marvelous evidence of Scripture, or special revelation. The Bible is itself a miracle, and people of faith believe that in the Bible God has spoken by His Spirit through the inspired writing of men of God. All that is necessary for coming to know God in a personal way is outlined for us in the Holy Scriptures.

But finally, God Himself must reveal Himself to you and me! IS THERE A GOD? As He speaks to each listening heart, God unmistakably answers that question. But remember, God only speaks to faith!

God is not put off by honest doubt, and God is not daunted by human weakness or incapacity. God is infinitely patient. But we must never confuse doubt with unbelief. Doubt and unbelief may look very similar; certainly at times they are related. One may pass into another, perhaps.

But doubt, in essence, says, "I can't!" Unbelief says, "I WON'T!" Doubt says, "This seems so fantastic, so unreal! Why should a great God love me?" Unbelief says, "If this is true, then I will have to change the way I live! I don't WANT to change the way

I live! I won't be the center of the Universe any more!" And to unbelief God remains all too silent!

IS THERE A GOD? My answer to you is, "Of course there is!" And yet I remind you that in your personal quest for eternal life this is a question that only GOD can answer to your satisfaction. GOD WILL ANSWER YOUR QUESTION! But God only talks to faith. Your faith does not have to be very big or strong— it doesn't have to be perfect faith. But it must be willing faith. Try saying in your heart to God just now, "God, if You are there— take charge of my life!" I dare you! See what happens then!

II. QUESTION TWO: WHAT IS GOD LIKE?

Most people, if we can believe the polls, are open enough and intelligent enough to believe in a "higher power." But to believe in "a" God is still far from Christian faith, far from being saved. To believe in the existence of God is one thing. There is another question to be asked, a question that must be answered to our satisfaction for saving faith to take hold: What is God LIKE?

[In the twist of our English language this may not be a proper question, for God is Unique. He is not LIKE anything else. But He can be known in relation to His creation.]

There are always people who are willing to help us, and who will try to explain God to us; scholarly people and otherwise.

We have our doctrines of God. The Manual of the Church of the Nazarene states:

We believe in one eternally existent, infinite God, Sovereign of the Universe; that He only is God, creative and administrative, holy in nature, attributes, and purpose; that He as God is Triune in essential being, revealed as Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

Such definitions are both necessary and helpful. But they certainly are not comprehensive. And they are not very personal. They don't leave us with a very warm feeling.

The God Who is Near

It is in the Bible, the special revelation of Scripture, that we begin to get insight into the mystery of what God IS (like.) The names of God as found in the Old and New Testaments are a good place to begin.

The first name God used of Himself is Elohim, which comes from a word relating to power. It would suggest that God is the Source of all energy and power.

The second name God uses of Himself is "the unspeakable name," the name which ancient Hebrews would not speak, the name we call Jehovah, and which scholars usually call Yahweh. This name is the proper noun that Moses by the burning bush heard as I AM THAT I AM.

The Jews then used compound names for God: Jehovah-Jireh "the Lord will provide"; Jehovah-Nissi, "the Lord my banner"; Jehovah-Shalom "the Lord send peace"; Jehovah-Shammah "the Lord is there"; Jehovah-Tsikenu "the Lord our righteousness."

Another Hebrew name for God is El Shaddai, or "God our Nourisher," or "Strength Giver." Adonai, which simply means "lord" or "master" was often spoken when the "unspeakable name" was read with the eye. These are some of the names and associated characteristics of God that we see in the Old Testament.

In the New Testament the teachings of Jesus opened the door of revelation still wider, and showed us that God is LIGHT and that He is LIFE, and that God is LOVE.

Then as we search the scriptures, and let them speak to us of the nature and attributes of God we come to say that God is Spirit; that God is HOLY; that God is ETERNAL. We say that God is OMNIPRESENT, that there is nothing hidden from Him; that God is OMNISCIENT, that there is nothing He does not know or understand. God is OMNIPOTENT, and the only thing that God cannot do is contradict His own nature. God is GOOD, so He cannot also be EVIL. God is HOLY, so He cannot also love uncleanness.

But the highest and best answer to the question What is God LIKE? is found in the Person and Word of Jesus Himself. Jesus said, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father. (John 14:9.) Paul writes "In the face of Jesus Christ shines the glory of God the Father. (2 Corinthians 4:6.)

If we come to the Bible with an open heart, we can begin to know the answer to the vital question, "WHAT IS GOD LIKE?" We will be convinced that "Jesus loves me, This I know, for the Bible tells me so!"

But we still face the most important and vital question of all:

III. QUESTION THREE: WHAT IS THIS GOD TO ME?

What you or I believe about God's existence or His nature will not change the fact of God one little bit. GOD IS! God does not change from person to person, He is not a subjective figment of human imagination.

But saving faith is more, far more even, that knowing and believing what is true and right about God. Saving faith is a miracle of God's grace. THIS, TOO, IS A 'REVELATION QUESTION!' Only God Himself can bring us into personal knowledge and certainty that Jesus Christ is our personal Lord and Savior.

The Bible tells us that it is possible to have answered the first two questions and still not be saved. "The devils also believe— and tremble!" (James 2:9.)

How is it possible to know God in this personal way? How can we draw near to this great EL SHADDAI?

She was doing a routine task, one she had done hundreds of times before, so her mind could freely wander. She was thinking serious thoughts as she moved along. Thoughts about life and death, about God and worship, and the meaning of all these things were mixed in with thoughts of her present situation. She had really made a mess of her life. It wasn't all her fault. And yet...

Her thoughts were interrupted as she arrived at the well. She saw this Jewish gentleman sitting right on the cover of the well. He startled her by asking for a drink of water.

The God Who is Near

One good word led to another. Soon she was engaged in the most thrilling conversation of her entire life. She began to express some of the questions she had been pondering.

"Are the Jews correct in saying we have to go to Jerusalem to worship?" she asked. "Or can we Samaritans worship right here on this mountain?" She gestured to the twin peaks towering above the well.

Her heart was open. She longed to know what God was really like. She wanted to know what God demanded of her.

What a tremendous, satisfying answer this Stranger began to give her! He told her, "You don't need more RELIGION! You have too much of that already! What you need is contact with God!"

"What is God LIKE?"

And that day at the well of Jacob one Samaritan woman received the greatest discourse ever spoken on the nature of God and worship. Jesus told her, "God is Spirit. They that worship Him must worship in spirit and truth." He went on to say that the place and even the method may vary. God is interested in what goes on in the heart.

As Jesus spoke this woman saw the pieces of truth she had already known begin to fit together and make sense with her own situation. She spoke out loud: "I know that when Messiah comes He will explain everything to our satisfaction!" Inside her longing heart was crying out "Could not the great God this man is describing do something wonderful for me SAME DAY?"

And THEN came the EARTHQUAKE! The Jewish gentleman said: YOU DON'T HAVE TO WAIT ONE MINUTE LONGER! MESSIAH IS HERE NOW! "I that speak to you am HE!" All of a sudden this very REAL God, and this very GREAT God was also very NEAR!

A lovely story! But Jesus doesn't usually approach people today like He did the woman at the well. How do WE draw near to EL SHADDAI?

The answer is: We don't! Oh, I know the Bible says "Draw near to God and He will draw near to you!" But in every case, we can come near to God because God has already given us an invitation! WE CAN DRAW NEAR TO GOD, BECAUSE GOD IS ALREADY NEAR!

We envy the woman at the well because she could see and talk with Jesus the Messiah. But by His Spirit out-poured, Jesus is nearer to us, now, day by day, than He was to the woman at the well of Sychar. Conclusion

When we are (1) in our daily routine, GOD IS NEAR! When we are (2) mixed up, messed up, GOD IS NEAR! When we are thinking how we can worship better, or do better, or be more spiritual, GOD IS ALREADY NEARER THAN YOU KNOW! He waits for us to recognize His Presence, and to let Him love us and fill us.

God is so great that He fills the Universe. But He is also so NEAR that He knows what you are thinking, and knows what you need. He knows all about you! And He loves you just the same!

Ruth 1:19 So they two went until they came to Bethlehem.

There is some question in some scholars' minds why the Book of Ruth ever came to be. Certainly it is a contrast to the "hero stories" of the Judges which go before—stories like Sisera's murder (by a tent peg) and Jephthah's terrible vow and Ehud and Eglon (which was my four sons' personal favorite) and Samson and all the rest; and it is also quite a contrast to the tales of the kings which follow.

Some believe it was not written down until the time of the greatest king of Israel, or his highly intelligent son—possibly by the Prophet Nathan, as a reminder that the greatest people can come from common roots, as well as the fact that nobility can be seen in humble places as well as where we might expect to look for it.

Be that as it may, this is not a big drama, not a Cecil B. DeMille production. No parting of the seas here. But a beautiful story, and just as wonderful.

I. IT IS THE STORY OF A WOMAN WITH A PROBLEM

- A. She was bound to the fortunes of her husband in a way that modern men and women can hardly understand. She may or may not have had influence in the decision which her husband made.

You know the story: times got hard in Israel.

The book starts out talking about a man named Elimilech. The name means "My God is KING." Wonderful name!

But this story is not about Elimilech. The heroine's name is Naomi. Well, there are two heroines, and a hero. They are Naomi, Ruth, and Boaz- don't forget Boaz. And the real hero is God, and the reality of the love and faithfulness of God.

Some people think that Elimilech was a shepherd, and couldn't find pasture to sustain his flocks. He thought that Moab might afford better grazing. No one really knows all the details or reasons, but it was Elimilech's decision:

We're making the journey to Moab!

- B. As if living in a foreign land were not bad enough, this woman, Naomi, had no sooner gotten her young sons married— to non-Jewish wives!- which was a violation of strict Mosaic code— when Elimilech had the nerve to die and leave her to fend for herself.

Poor Maholn and Chilion may have made a stab at keeping the business going. But Maholn was "weakly" and Chilion was "pining": and literally they both soon died as well, and as the scripture says, NAOMI WAS BEREFT.

II. IT IS ALSO THE STORY OF A WOMAN FOLLOWING A PROMISE

- A. Naomi did not hesitate too long. She determined to go back to her roots, to her culture, but also to the land of Promise.
- B. The pull of her promise attracted both her daughters-in-law. Naomi was obviously a KIND person, or her daughters-in-law would have jumped at the chance to be back in their home.

She was a person of INTEGRITY, as Ruth's famous speech indicates: She had an obvious faith in Jehovah God.

- C. She was a daughter of the House of Bread, and somehow she felt she would not starve if she could make her way back there again. It is just a little bit like the story of the Prodigal, even though none of this was Naomi's fault.

III. THERE IS PERIL INVOLVED

(Which peril is seen most clearly in the "Separation Scene:)

- A. Naomi's risk is calculated. She has traversed these miles before. She has some idea of what is waiting.

B. Ruth and Orpah have a different kind of risk.

1. For Orpah the risk is understandably too great to take. She cannot venture into the unknown.
2. For Ruth the risks are the same, but the perspective, perhaps, is a little different. Instead of just seeing the global change, and challenge of the unknown, Ruth sees Naomi's faith. Ruth makes a momentous choice. It is a beautiful passage of prose. We have made it into music, we sing it at weddings. It was actually a FIVE-FOLD CHOICE:
 - a. The choice of a GOD.
 - b. The choice of a PATH, or WAY. "The way you go, I go!"
 - c. The choice of a HOME. "Where you lodge, I will lodge."
 - d. The choice of a PEOPLE "Thy people shall be my people!"
 - e. The choice of how she would DIE and be BURIED! People who know the true God have confidence that overcomes the final enemy!

There is genuine LOVE here. It is mutual. Ruth had been a kind wife as well as daughter-in-law; so had Orpah.

IV. THE PROOF

THE CONFIRMATION, THAT NAOMI AND RUTH DID THE RIGHT THING MAY WELL STILL BE GOING ON!

- A. Probably Elimelech made a mistake by running to Moab. For when Naomi returned 10 years later, the same people she knew before had survived; they were engaged in the barley harvest.

What Naomi's husband did wrong (1) affected her, but (2) could not keep her from ultimate victory.
- B. The two women survived. And much, much more. Ruth became co-owner of the vast fields of Boaz. A lowly Gentile single woman soon was hiring and firing and making decisions at the heart of the Jewish culture. Homiletical theologians like to make a lot of that as some kind of pre-cursor of the way God looks at the nations—with love for all, not just the Jews.

C. But far, far beyond what they ever knew— this pastoral, homely little story has encouraged people of God to exercise faith. Long before Romans 8:28 had ever been thought about,

1. Naomi demonstrated an eternal law of God: that even in the worst and darkest times God knows and cares for His own.

Long before John 15 had been spoken, about the Vine and the Branches,

2. Naomi showed the world that God's people can ABIDE UNDER THE SHADOW OF THE ALMIGHTY, and the result will be MUCH FRUIT!

In the case of Naomi, the real blessings began with the birth, to Boaz and Ruth, of little Obed. Actually, by Jewish law the little boy was not only the heir to Boaz, but to Mahlon, carrying on the family which had been extinguished. Naomi shared in the joy in an official way; she was literally this baby's grandmother! What wonderful JOY is almost hidden there in the simple words, (4:19) that say Naomi took the baby in her own arms.

Maybe, it was thought then, maybe something will come of this family after all!

For Ruth, well, she never did know the extent of her blessing! This history was written, no doubt about it, to underscore the lineage of the greatest king of Israel up until that time!

But we know even better! Ruth was part of the royal line of ancestors to the Messiah!

Conclusion:

It is probably wrong to try to make too much of an application on such an intensely personal story. But maybe because God wanted to remind us that wherever we are, whether it is our fault or not, we are not beyond the bound of His love. We can go home again!

Prayer: Make us faithful where we are! Let us know You know, too, and You care!
Amen.

Romans 8:31-39 (34)

Introduction

The sheer victory of Romans 8 is breathtaking. It is the promise to every child of God of the fullness of life through our Lord Jesus Christ.

From a running start way back in the epistle, Paul traces the steps of salvation by faith in the believer's heart as (1) freedom from guilt, and (2) freedom from sin's dominion and (3) freedom from legalism until, as this great chapter begins, he begins a victory march of the positive, (4) freedom IN and TO the Spirit; from "no condemnation" through assurance of our acceptance into God's family as His dear children, and on through empowerment in our human weakness to a sure and certain triumph in inseparable union with the love of God.

This triumph, and every victory in the Christian way of life, is entirely through the authority and power of Jesus Christ, our LORD!

I. THE LORDSHIP OF JESUS IS KEY TO ALL SPIRITUAL VICTORY

- A. We see in Jesus the humble servant, we extoll His great humility in kenosis to the extent that we sometimes forget that He is mighty God, everlasting Father.

We see in Jesus the answer to every longing of our hearts, the healing of every real heartache. We see love extended to where we are— and rightly so. But do we also see that we must extend to this God-man a loyalty that is deserved by none other? Do we see that to follow Him is to relinquish our rights to ourselves? Can we trust such love, such wondrous love?

- B. We only really come to know Jesus as we make Him Lord. Our primary task is to follow Jesus, to come to know Him, as He really IS. Etymologists and deconstructionists and archaeologists sincerely go looking for the "real Christ of history." I can confidently say that they will never really know who He WAS, because He IS the eternal Contemporary.

The task of the church at large is not to make Jesus over into something that fits and conforms to the needs of the world of today. The task of your Bible study and prayer is NOT to discover that about Jesus which will reinforce your lifestyle and help you achieve your goals. The task of this church is not to underscore the servant role of Jesus Christ.

For Jesus IS. He is the I AM THAT I AM. Our task is to lift Him up, and introduce Him. We are the servants of the great King of Kings.

When we are seeking to use Jesus to enforce our aspirations we may find principles that will help us succeed in some temporal areas. But ultimately we shall be diminished and we shall fail at the task of the Christian faith.

But when we are seeking to be used of Jesus in the work of His kingdom; when our lives proclaim "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done!", then we shall find that all hell itself cannot keep us from living in God's love.

II. CELEBRATING THE LORDSHIP OF JESUS

(Romans 8:34)

- A. Incarnate Lord : the King as it were veiled
- B. Dying Lord : the King as it were exposed for all to see
- C. Risen Lord : the King vindicated
- D. Reigning Lord : the King n Session

III. OBEYING THE LORDSHIP OF JESUS

- A. A king is to be obeyed. The kings and queens we honor today are really symbols, not sovereigns. But God is absolute Monarch. To be His implies much, much more than hanging around for the benefits.
- B. What does the Sovereignty of Christ the King imply? "All authority is given to me in heaven and on earth!" I AM the Lord God Almighty! "Go ye therefore . . ."

To make Jesus LORD means to get the focus off "receiving" and "rights" and on to "giving" and "obeying."

Conclusion

In a most practical application: The homage of obedience: "Here am I, send me!"

"Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace!" "Reporting for duty, Sir! Please, whatever else happens today, make me a channel of Your grace!"

To be a channel of God's love does NOT diminish us; there are human aspects of spending and being spent that tire us— but to sense the having been used of God is the greatest "high" in the world!

John 16:33

(Children's Sermon:)

The best stories are the old stories! The ones we have heard over and over. And the very best of these old stories are Bible stories. I'm thinking of one I learned when I was very small— younger than most of you...

"Please help me remember.. help me tell the story of Shadrach, Meshack, and Abednego."

There was a powerful king. There was a golden statue. There was a command: Do not pray to any God except the King (who thinks he is a god!) There was a "burning, fiery furnace!"

The king did not understand Shadrach, Meshach, and Abdenego. The king thought that God and prayer and things like that were not important. The king thought that he was more important than God! But we know that God and prayer and love and truth are the most important things in the world, don't we! We know that God loves us.

That is what Shadrach, Meshach, and Abdego knew! They were sure God was good. They were sure that if they loved God, and did the right, God would be with them! And He was!)

So— what happened?

And what does that tell us about praying and burning fiery furnaces and kings and the like? Do you think any of this has anything to do with peace?

(Introduction, Sermon, proper:)

Our text this first Sunday in Advent is John 16:33

These things have I spoken unto you, that in Me you may have peace. In the world you have tribulation, but take courage; I have overcome the world.

Peace was one of the main themes of the final words of Jesus, the Last Supper discourse. In Advent the hope of genuine peace and faith and love all mingle together in the anticipation of the coming of Messiah.

I. PEACE IN THE FUTURE

Advent is about anticipation. It is keeping alive the hope that Messiah will indeed come. Of course, we know that He has already come. He is coming again. But also in reality we know that there are many areas where there is a lack of peace— in the world, and in our individual situations. Wherever there are human beings, there is a need for peace.

"We do not yet see all thing put under (Messiah's) feet! But we see Jesus!" That is where hope comes in. Hope is believing, having faith in God's integrity, as we look into the unknown. Advent— anticipation. People in darkness, seeing a Light.

The hope of Messiah is alive in Judaism as perhaps never before! It should be alive in all people of faith. Jesus promised a future peace.

II. A PRESENT PEACE

But peace is not just "in the future" for those who follow Jesus. If genuine peace were only in the future it would be worth whatever it costs to live so as to finally receive it. But there is real, genuine, heart-healing peace right here and now! Jesus said, on that night before He was crucified, "Peace I leave with you; MY peace I give to you!"

- A. This present peace is a MYSTERY of our faith. Philippians 4:7 "The peace of God which passes all comprehension— passes all understanding— that is mysterious but real—shall keep your hearts and minds in Christ Jesus."

YES- I can see the many things that are wrong! God's prophets are crying out against the evil of our day! Father Heery in Sacred Heart pulpit; my son Russell's pastor, Steve Perry in the Duxbury Nazarene pulpit— you don't need to travel to hear Chuck Coleson (although that is not a bad idea)— you just have to be alive to God to be shocked and saddened by the intensity of the evil in our world today— evils that I find difficult to even talk about in a public meeting where tender ears are present!

YES- I do not know what the next step is! I have no lack of advice: write this legislator; block that entrance; get busy— DO something! Now! Don't waste time! It's already too late!

NO! I am NOT overwhelmed! I know that I am in my Savior's care! The FIRST thing I must do is make sure that my roots go down deep into HIM! My PEACE is only in HIM!

- B. Present peace begins with a reconciliation with God. The call of the prophet is "Be reconciled with God!" The world in great part does not even understand that it is alienated from God. Our society today has no concept of sin. On the one hand violence and sex are glorified; on the other hand random killing and rape and incest are epidemic, and social experts cannot make the connection. Our society is out of touch with spiritual reality! We as a civilization are being showered with anti-God propaganda.

But when individuals wake up— or are shocked awake by some sense of need, and the Holy Spirit of God brings conviction for sin, and a strong faith that Jesus can and will forgive sin, there comes a glorious sense of peace with God, and a justification— a forgiveness of guilt that brings real, not false peace.

This is the peace of PARDON.

Present peace continues with a settled-ness regarding who I am, and what I do. I do not claim more for "peace" than the Bible; the way of faith is very much a battle. But God's people come not only to know peace with God, but they come to know the peace OF God.

This is a peace of PURPOSE.

The best part of present peace— peace during the storms and battles of life— is that the God of peace is with His people!

This is the peace of God's PRESENCE.

- C. This present peace is an ABIDING PEACE! 1. As we abide in Him! 2. This peace comes to ABIDE in us!
- D. When the disciples finally DID turn their world upside down it was NOT through frantic endeavor. It was not through massive political demonstration. There were cases of civil disobedience, perhaps. But only when clearly the law told them not to speak of the power of the Gospel. And then, frightened, they repaired to the BODY, where they poured out their fears, and they prayed together! Their prayer was for abiding peace:

"Lord, behold now their threatenings! Grant that with boldness (i.e., lack of intimidation; i.e., peace) we may proclaim You as Lord!" (Acts 4)

III. A SIGN OF THIS PEACE: COMMUNION

Jesus said: "As often as you do this, You proclaim all that I am and all that I have done and all that I am going to do!" (Paraphrase from I Corinthians 11)

Invitation:

Jesus would invite us to share in His peace today!

Jesus would remind us of our HOPE today!

Our peace is in the future— He is coming again, just as surely as He came in Bethlehem. We are no different from the faithful who sat in darkness, waiting, watching— like Simeon and Anna and all the prophets before them. The wrongs of earth will be made right! Every knee shall bow! Messiah will come!

Jesus would also reinforce our PEACE today! Our peace is here, now, with us, present! What a wonderful GIFT! What a powerful assurance!

What a sinful thing to hide such a GIFT! How we need to seek ways to share it!

Jesus would also challenge us to be instruments of PEACE:

Our peace is not a denial of struggle; not an "answer" to dilemma, nor a forceful action. Our peace is a still small voice saying: "This is the way! Walk ye in it!" Our peace is the quiet nudge to speak to a neighbor with concern about her problems; our peace is a call to be and then to do.

Ephesians 2:8

Introduction

Last week the children and I reviewed the Old Testament story of the Three Hebrew Children. It may never be reviewed in quite the same way ever again!

To our modern ears, that story seems far removed from Advent and Christmas. Still, I would like to return to it this morning. How, do you suppose, is there any correlation between Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego and the coming of our Lord as a Babe in Bethlehem?

Advent is anticipation, Advent is hope. Advent is facing darkness with faith. Advent is living in a world that tries to pressure you to conform, in the confidence that God knows, and that God cares, and that God somehow is coming into that world, into that darkness.

[Writing to the Christians in Ephesus, Paul reminds them of the darkness in the world, and also of the fact that before God broke into their lives they were very much engulfed in that darkness.]

I. A DARKNESS INTO WHICH GOD'S GRACE SHINES

- A. THE NATURE OF SPIRITUAL DARKNESS has not changed, from the time of Nebuchadnezzar, to St. Paul, until the present:

In Ephesians 2:1-3 Paul calls it "THE FORMER STATE" - the way you used to be.

Here is how Paul describes it. It is spiritual death - it is an existence without the light of revelation. No word from God, heavens of brass, which is the essence of darkness.

It is a life of pressure to conform; lock-step conformity to opinion of 'them' - devilish - poverty - inheriting God's wrath

- B. DARKNESS IS AGGRESSIVE; it threatens to engulf; it squeezes into conformity: That is why in another place Paul warned Romans 12:2) "Don't let the world squeeze you into its mold; but rather, be transformed by the renewing of your mind."
- C. [STORY] The challenge of SPIRITUAL DARKNESS to the faith of the Three Hebrew Children seemed pretty bold and clear-cut. Our challenges somehow seldom appear that way.

They were asked to violate the First, or at least the Second Commandment. If that were to happen today how many people would even know the First or Second Commandment?

They were asked to put something ahead of their Jehovah God, at least for a little while; they were asked to publicly give respect to a pagan idol. Just a little thing? Shadrach, Meshach and Abdenego were willing to die for what they believed!

They were DEFIANT IN THE FACE OF KNOWN TEMPTATION TO EVIL!

What was it that enabled Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego to stand firm in the face of certain punishment and death?

What was it that gave them courage to stand against the great majority? Do we ever face pressure to compromise?

I think immediately of

- (High school/ peer pressure/ slick media hype/ but they are not the only ones that feel the pressure: at every age there is the threat: "Get out of line and you will be shunned! Don't be the odd-ball!
- Mothers are criticized for NOT working— or, they may be criticized FOR having a career;
- people feel squeezed into social classes, as though it is a "second class" thing to be a carpenter or a laborer;
- academics have the pressure of the fear of being thought behind the times, academically)

WHAT GAVE THE THREE HEBREW CHILDREN MORAL COURAGE TO SAY, "WE DON'T CARE WHAT YOU THINK: HERE WE STAND! BY GOD'S GRACE WE CAN DO NO OTHER!"???

The answer is: they could SEE what, seemingly, others could not. They had a vision that went beyond the moment.

- D. It is vital, in times of spiritual darkness, to have some means of vision, of finding one's way. This VISION, or SIGHT is what Paul calls "a gift of God." It is a key, an enabling, that God gives to those who are saved, that enables them to grasp the truth.

II. FAITH, THE VISION THAT SEES THE INVISIBLE, OF THE GOD-LIFE SHARED

(Hebrews 11, 'Moses persevered because he saw the invisible')

- A. We know how the story turned out: Someone like unto the Son of God came into the heat and the pressure with the men who would not compromise their faith. It was a miracle that convinced even the pagan king himself!
- B. And it is no less a miracle when God Himself comes into the darkness and pressure where we live, in 1991, where people do not usually physically martyr Christians, but a time in which it probably is as difficult to live a godly life as at any time in human history!
- Paul says to the Ephesians Christians: GOD WALKS IN THE FIRE WITH YOU! He calls it, in verses 4 - 7 "THE PRESENT STATE." He describes it like this:

(You were dead to spiritual things;) NOW you are alive unto God!

Not only that, but (You were condemned, worthy of death;) NOW you are made one with Jesus, and by that identification you are exalted with Christ Jesus to heavenly realms.

I know this sounds too good to be true. But there it is! We are members of God's family! We have the incomparable riches of grace. We have the eternal prospect of all that Adam and Eve lost in the fall from grace, and more!

- C. All this salvation, all this grace, all these promises are because Jesus, Messiah, came to us in our darkness— and bled and died on a cross for the sins of the world. All this miracle is available because God still comes near to those who see the light, and follow that light. We call that ability to see, to believe, to follow FAITH!

III. THE VISION MADE POSSIBLE, SPIRITUAL SIGHT (Ephesians 2:8 - 10)

- A. God's GRACE is available to all. But Paul makes it clear that GRACE IS SOMEHOW CONNECTED WITH FAITH. Grace can never, ever be taken for granted. Grace is connected with FAITH, or the ability to "believe." (Text: For by grace are you saved, THROUGH FAITH, which is the gift of God, not of works lest anyone should boast.) FAITH IS A GIFT OF GOD WHICH MUST BE USED TO RECEIVE GOD'S GRACE!
- B. WHAT IS THIS 'FAITH' THAT IS GOD'S GIFT?
1. FAITH IS A MYSTERY. Like sight itself, most of us know precious little about how it works; but we know how precious it is! The gift of spiritual sight is even more precious.
 2. FAITH IS LIKE A SEED. Jesus spoke of faith as being like a grain of mustard seed.
 3. FAITH IS, IN AND OF ITSELF DYNAMIC AND POWERFUL. It is a power which may be subverted at times to selfish ends. But it is NOT FAITH THAT SAVES! Faith ultimately cannot rise above its object. (Power of positive thinking)

4. FAITH CONNECTS US TO THE LOVE OF CHRIST! Ultimately, faith is God-given ability to SEE spiritual truth (passing mere explanation). Faith is the ability to BELIEVE, to RELY, to see God's INTEGRITY and act upon it to everlasting gain.

IV. COME TO BETHLEHEM AND SEE

- A. Why didn't everybody find Jesus when He was born in the manger? Why were just "certain shepherds" able to find the Christ Child? How come more Wise Men didn't follow the Star?

How about Simeon and Anna in the Temple?

Could it be that the people then were just like now? That they lived in a darkness that kept them blinded to spiritual reality all around them?

- B. WHY DON'T MORE PEOPLE TODAY LOVE JESUS CHRIST? Can it be that they are spiritually blind? Or have they neglected the gift of spiritual sight?

- C. You have this gift! You can begin to use your gift— with it you may see the Christ! You may find God's life.

But it will take almost as much courage as Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego had when they would not conform to their evil world. YOU WILL HAVE TO FOLLOW THE LIGHT UNTIL YOU COME TO KNOW THE CHRIST!

Conclusion:

In our world good is called evil, and evil is called good. The commandments of God have been replaced by our own "human values." We are taught "QUESTION AUTHORITY!" And the credo of our age is "WHAT IS GOOD FOR ME IS RIGHT!"

So we even ask "What good will come to me if I have no gods before Jehovah God? " What will it profit me if I worship products made with human hands, whether they be idols that look like idols, or idols that amuse us, or that pander to our pride?"

Instead of standing under the judgment and authority of God's Word, our society, and all too often even we who claim to be in the church itself, (we) stand in judgment on God's Word; (we) pick and choose which of God's commandments we shall keep and which we shall ignore!

The Gift of Faith

GOD WILL HONOR FAITH!

OUR GOD WILL COME, EVEN IF IT HAS TO BE IN THE FIERY FURNACE!

When Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego honored their God, and took their stand, they not only were vindicated themselves, THEY MADE A PROFOUND DIFFERENCE IN THEIR WORLD, IN THEIR GENERATION!

Our sick world needs Messiah! And Messiah will come! He will come, NOW, to His children who look to Him with FAITH! And one day He will come so all the world will see Him!

Prayer: For the ability to SEE Your face!

"Come Home for Christmas" Sunday

December 15, 1991

John 3:16

I. THE WONDER OF THE OLD CHRISTMAS STORY

We've heard it all our lives, and we never get tired of it: Christmas is love. Christmas is giving. "The people who sat in darkness ... saw a great Light" The wonder of God coming in a totally unexpected Way: God in a Baby!

The wonder of this truth really "got to me" this week when I saw little Andrew Mann Nielson (as the Baby Jesus) in the cradle of straw— a real baby— and watched him move and reach for his mother— and once again I realized that God actually wrapped all His LOVE in such a tiny package!

We think of how from that Baby all we hold so very dear about salvation and life and eternal life have come: no wonder Christmas means so much! We say things like: It's too bad that the wonder of Christmas couldn't continue 365 days a year!

II. CHRISTMAS IS A MESSAGE OF GOD'S LOVE FOR ALL TIME

Sometimes we forget the way that God comes near in OUR time: How He draws near NOW! God still comes the totally unexpected, incredible way! We savor the Christmas traditions, and we even believe the incredible, wonderful story that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself. But sometimes we forget that the real heart of Christmas IS for all 365 days of the year!

When we are the "people who sit (in any kind of) darkness"— when we have the hard places in life: situations or even people threatening to bring us down to ruin, when we have burdens or sins, too often instead of looking for a Higher Power we seek FIRST our own solutions. After all, isn't that what God gave us intelligence for? We never think that God wants to be asked in on every facet, every detail of our lives! This world is too complicated for something as old-fashioned as "faith" to enter in when there are real problems!

But God is waiting to enter into every part of our lives! It wasn't just in Bethlehem that God came in a surprising, loving way! God has invaded the world with His love and goodness!

III. HOW THE GOODNESS OF GOD REACHES A SINFUL WORLD

Faith tells us that at the heart of our Universe is GOODNESS! There is LIGHT and there is LOVE where God sits on His throne. But that is there, and we are here.

So too often we think our faith is just for the life that comes after death; and we wait for Christ to come and ZAP all the bad guys— the porno people and the greedy money grubbers that swallow up the poor people of the world. After all, what can WE do?

So sometimes— all too often— we have neglected to let God really be at home in our hearts, so that He can do whatever He wants to do in His own way!

He is interested in every one of us!

IV. HEAR GOD KNOCKING! KNOCKING!

But "that was then.. and this is now! Right?" Jesus came then as a Baby, but He has already conquered sin and death and hell, right? He is now at the right hand of the Throne of God. Right?

It is true that Jesus has conquered. And it is also true that one day the Bible tells us that this present, evil world will tremble at His coming. But it is not quite true that He expects us to passively wait until He comes and ZAPS the bad people of the world. Jesus wants to be active in each of our homes and lives.

What do you suppose that Jesus is doing just now?

Yes— He is praying for us. Yes, He is preparing a place for His people— for you and me if we will trust Him. But there is another picture of the glorified, majestic Savior that sounds a lot like the theme of the Christmas story!

In Revelation, Chapter One, John the beloved has a vision of the glorified Christ that nearly overwhelms him. Remember, John walked and talked with Jesus Christ for more than three years. He knew all about the lowly Nazarene, the One who had been born in Bethlehem. But this vision was a revelation in itself! It literally bowled him over! He fell down at the majesty and glory of the Lord Christ!

But in Revelation, Chapter Three, John gives us another picture of this Savior. And do you know what He is doing? He is standing outside a door, knocking! The Savior of the world, knocking at a door, asking to come in!

"Is there any room in there?" Does that sound familiar?

And do you know what door it is that the Savior is knocking on? IT IS THE CHRISTMAS STORY ALL OVER AGAIN! JESUS IS LOOKING FOR A HOME, A PLACE TO FELLOWSHIP, TO EAT AND SLEEP!

That door is the door of your life! It is the door of that situation that is overwhelming you! It is the door to the areas of your marriage that have gone sour! It is the door to the way you look at relationships!

Conclusion:

"Christmas" says to us:

- Light is more powerful than darkness
- Love is stronger than hate
- and Jesus has proved it by his own life.

He has proved it in the lives of everyone who has trusted him.

The Gift of Love

He has changed the course of human history.

He will complete his conquest, He has promised but in the meantime, He still is seeking to come to you and me in his own loving way.

We need answers for the troubles we all face in life: misunderstandings, losses of all kinds, insults, slights, bruises. But before we need answers, we need God's gift of love!

He sent a baby to save a darkened world. And he comes now, knocking, knocking at our doors, in any and every circumstance of life.

To "Come Home for Christmas" means to find that God is our home, and that we are welcome in His family, in His household.

But it is also to let God come into OUR hearts, and welcome GOD into our family situations, to make GOD at home in us!

*"O holy Child of Bethlehem,
Descend on us, we pray!
Cast out our sin, and enter in;
Be born is us today.
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell.
Oh, come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord, Emmanuel."*

Ephesians 3:17-21

3:17 ... so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith

3:19 ... that you may be filled up to all the fullness of God

Introduction

Christmas is a lot of different things to every one of us! Christmas is wonderful! Christmas is exhausting! Christmas is expensive! Christmas is expectations! Christmas is love! Christmas can reflect all of the many sides of what we mean when we say the word "love." [... many shades of "love"]

I. CHRISTMAS AND LOVE AND GIVING

A. CONDESCENDING LOVE

Sometimes love at Christmas means saying "It's wonderful!" when you open a present. Some of the presents I made or bought for my father and mother when I was small were pretty awful. But somehow they actually seemed to cherish them. What you really mean is "It's wonderful that you thought enough of me to give me a present— but, really, what do we need an ash tray for when nobody smokes in our house?"

B. REFLECTED LOVE

There is a joy in seeing other people who seem to be happy. Sometimes love at Christmas means nearly bursting with joy when the beautiful boys and girls of the Sunday School sing about the Babe in the manger.

C. COMPASSIONATE LOVE

Sometimes love at Christmas means thinking about Mary and Joseph and what it means even in our time to desperately need a place to stay the night.

D. THE "PRESENCE!"

Sometimes the deepest significance of the Season dawns on us once again! Sometimes we have a "holy moment," when it seems that God Himself draws near, and we know that He really does love us tenderly. And what more could we ever ask?

E. GRATEFUL LOVE!

And maybe sometimes, just sometimes, love at Christmas might be saying, "Thank You God! You seem to have done all the giving! What can I get You for Christmas??"

It may be that the best Christmas love is not expressed until "gifts are exchanged" at this highest relationship of all! God's wonderful, undeserved Gift to us may be echoed by the gift of our love and our trust to God!

Is it possible that I have anything God thinks is precious? "HOW CAN I ENTER INTO GOD'S PLAN AND SHARE HIS LOVE?" Nowhere is this more clearly reflected than in the way the most honored and highly favored of all mortals entered into the first Christmas. I refer to the holy, sacred story of Mary, the Mother of Our Lord.

II. THE MOTHER OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, THE VIRGIN MARY

A. SHE WAS THE FIRST ONE TO KNOW that there was going to be that First Christmas.

We call the occasion when Mary found out "THE ANNUNCIATION." God sent an angel,

Gabriel, to visit Mary. The story is found in Luke 1:26 - 38:

Now in the sixth month [of Elizabeth's pregnancy] the angel Gabriel was sent from God to a city in Galilee, called Nazareth, to a virgin engaged to a man whose name was Joseph, of the descendants of David; and the virgin's name was Mary.

And coming in, he said to her, "Hail, O woman richly blessed! The Lord is with you!"

But she was greatly troubled at this statement, and kept pondering what kind of salutation this might be. And the angel said to her,

"Do not be afraid, Mary; for you have found favor with God. And behold you will conceive in your womb, and bear a son, and you shall name Him Jesus.

"He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Most High; and the Lord God will give Him the throne of His father David; and He will reign over the house of Jacob forever; and His kingdom will have no end."

And Mary said to the angel, "How can this be, since I know no man?"

And the angel answered and said to her, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you; and for that reason the holy offspring shall be called the Son of God.

"And behold, even your relative Elizabeth has also conceived a son in her old age; and she who was called barren is now in her sixth month. For nothing will be impossible with God."

And Mary said, "Behold the bondservant of the Lord; be it done to me according to your word." And the angel departed from her.

- B. THIS STORY IS "HOLY GROUND" to me. We (should) stand in awe of the way God chose to become one with us; it was a unique- a ONE TIME HAPPENING in the history of our world. I believe it literally, actually, physically and spiritually took place: God became incarnate in the womb of a virgin.

1. GOD COULD HAVE SENT His Son full-grown, a perfect Man formed from nothing; He chose instead to ask a beautiful teenager if she would be the mother of a very special, very human baby Boy.
2. It is deeply significant that GOD CHOSE TO BRING HIS WORD TO EARTH THROUGH A COMBINATION OF SUPERNATURAL AND VERY HUMAN MEANS.

- a. The meeting, the Annunciation was miracle.
- b. But Mary had to make a very human decision. Mary made that decision: she said, "Behold the handmaiden of the Lord!"

The Conception was a miracle; and as the Baby grew within her, the Gift of the Ages was, like all babies, a miracle of creation beyond her understanding or ability.

- C. GOD STILL ENLISTS A COMBINATION OF SUPERNATURAL AND VERY HUMAN MEANS WHENEVER HE REVEALS HIMSELF and His love to this needy world!

God could preach sermons and bind up wounds and speak out against evil by sending fantastic creatures; He chooses to use imperfect, stumbling men and women like you and me.

- D. SOMEHOW MARY'S BEAUTIFUL WILLINGNESS IS VITAL TO GOD'S PLAN.

1. Yes, it WAS to Mary's GREAT benefit; but IT WAS NOT FOR MARY ALONE, or even for Mary, PRIMARILY! The Gift was for the whole world, to the glory of God.
2. Mary reflects this in "THE MAGNIFICAT" [the response she gave to the affirmation or worship of her unborn child she received from her cousin, Elizabeth: Luke 1:46-55:]

And Mary said: "My soul exalts the Lord. And my spirit has rejoiced in God my Savior.

For He has had regard for the humble state of His bondservant; For behold, from this time on all generations will count me blessed.

For the Mighty One has done great things for me; and Holy is His Name. AND HIS MERCY IS UPON GENERATION AFTER GENERATION TOWARD THOSE WHO FEAR HIM.

He has done mighty things with His arm; He has scattered those who were proud in the thoughts of their heart. He has brought down rulers from their thrones, and He has exalted those who were humble.

He has filled the hungry with good things; And sent the rich away empty-handed.

He has given help to Israel His servant,
In remembrance of His mercy,
As He spoke to our fathers,
To Abraham and his offspring forever."

3. As she praises God, Mary is grateful for what has happened to her, and that is only right; but THE CENTER OF HER PRAISE IS GOD HIMSELF.
- E. This is a lesson we need to learn and re-learn from Mary: It is a blessed and wonderful thing to know God and be blessed by God; but WE ARE BLESSED IN ORDER TO BE GOD'S CHANNEL OF BLESSING; WE ARE BLESSED SO THAT WE CAN MAGNIFY THE NAME OF THE LORD!

III. THE WONDER OF CHRISTMAS GRACE ... REPEATED IN US!

- A. IT IS NOT A NEW THOUGHT that at Christmas we should let the Christ "be born in us today!" In fact, it is a common theme among Christians: Let Jesus in! Make room for Jesus in our hearts! One poet put it this way:

Though Christ a thousand times
In Bethlehem be born,
Yet not within your heart-
Your heart is still forlorn!

IT IS NOT A NEW THOUGHT that Christ within is the Source of Life and Light and all spiritual blessing. We say: "Yes! There is room in our hearts! Be born in us!" We rejoice in the Name "God with us! Emmanuel!"

B. What we dare not forget is that like Mary, WE MUST ACCEPT THE RESPONSIBILITY AS WELL AS THE HONOR OF SHARING THE LIFE of Christ that God has placed within us!

1. It was the Miracle of Miracles when in the Baby Jesus God brought His WORD to this earth! By that Miracle God expresses His love!
2. It is ALSO a great miracle when the Jesus-life is born in us— when we are born again in Him— AND IT IS NOT JUST FOR OUR BLESSING AND BENEFIT, ANY MORE THAN BRINGING JESUS TO BIRTH WAS JUST FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY!
3. I know that is almost sounds sacrilegious to say it, BUT GOD STILL USES A COMBINATION OF SUPERNATURAL AND VERY HUMAN MEANS TO BRING HIS WORD, HIS SON JESUS TO THOSE WHO NEED HIM!

C. SOMEHOW YOUR WILLINGNESS IS VITAL TO GOD'S PLAN. We must come to think of what God wants with us, wants to do through us— and not just how God's grace can enhance our success in life and make us more comfortable.

1. Letting Christ the WORD live in us may make life more complicated at times! THE ANNUNCIATION CERTAINLY MEANT A GREAT DEAL OF MISUNDERSTANDING AND DISCOMFORT FOR MARY! CHRIST WITHIN YOU AND ME WILL MEAN SOME MISUNDERSTANDINGS AND SOME BURDENS FOR US AS WELL!
2. But the Apostle Paul prayed that the Church— the church of HIS time— as well as YOU and ME this very day— might know this miracle. MAY GOD USE YOUR HEART AND LIFE TO LET HIS SON SHINE THROUGH?
3. Let me close this brief message with Paul's prayer from the third chapter of Ephesians (3:17-21). I read from the Amplified Version:

MAY CHRIST through your faith [ACTUALLY] dwell— settle down, abide, MAKE HIS PERMANENT HOME— IN YOUR HEARTS! May you be rooted deep in love and founded securely on love,

That you may have the power and be strong to apprehend and grasp with all saints (God's devoted people, the experience of that love) what is the breadth and length and height and depth of it;

[That you may really come] to know— practically, through experience for yourselves— the love of Christ, which far surpasses mere knowledge (without experience); THAT YOU MAY BE FILLED (THROUGH ALL YOUR BEING) UNTO ALL THE FULLNESS OF GOD— [that is] may have the richest measure of the divine Presence, AND BECOME A BODY WHOLLY FILLED AND FLOODED WITH GOD HIMSELF!

Now to Him Who, by (in consequence of) the [action of His] power that is at work within us, is able to [carry out His purpose and] do superabundantly, far over and above all that we [dare] ask or think— infinitely beyond our highest prayers, desires, thoughts, hopes or dreams—

To Him be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus throughout all generations, for ever and ever. Amen— so be it.

Conclusion:

There is no question about the wonderful Gift God has given to us all at Christmas! We have the gift of grace— of life eternal through the gift of God's Son.

But may there be a gift exchange as well! May we say with all the love we can bring to prayer: Behold the handmaid of the Lord! Behold the bondservant of the Lord! Lord, Here's my heart! Love this world through me! Amen!

The Sacrament of Baptism

Baptismal service

January 5, 1992

Intro:

One of the difficult things for Protestants is fixing in their minds the relative importance of the sacraments of the church. Of all the means of grace, they are possibly understood the least.

I. THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SACRAMENTS AS MEANS OF GRACE

I would like to ask you a very simple question:

A. WHAT IS GRACE?

Grace is unmerited favor of God; grace is that which bestows God's great LOVE on us; grace is God's attitude of forgiveness toward the sinner; grace is a quickening and strengthening of life within the soul.

B. AND MEANS OF GRACE ARE just that: the ways and means, the vehicles or channels by which God bestows His LOVE on our hearts. And what are the 'means of grace?'

My list may not be complete, but I submit seven:

1. WORD OF GOD; and with this I include the faithful the preaching of the Word, as well as reading in order to obey God's will.
2. PRAYER IS PROBABLY THE PRIMARY MEANS OF GRACE; and prayer combines with power with the use of the Word.
3. THE FELLOWSHIP OF GOD'S PEOPLE is a significant and powerful means of grace. God never intends for us to make our way to heaven independent of other individuals, or of other families, or even other groups of believers. God intends that we bear one another's burdens.

The Sacrament of Baptism

4. CORPORATE WORSHIP, in the large groups or celebrations, in the smaller groups united around a lesson or a ministry (congregations,) as well as in the accountability groups of prayer and sharing (cells,) is a means of grace.
5. PERSONAL WORSHIP may be the same as #2, prayer; but it involves the carrying forward of life in the spirit of 'the living sacrifice.'
6. The good old Nazarene theologian, H. Orton Wiley, lists THE SABBATH AS A MEANS OF GRACE! It was introduced at the time of man's creation, and belongs to mankind generally and perpetually.

I am convinced that there is great spiritual power waiting to be released in the lives of the people who can tap the resources of the Lord's Day by observing it joyfully, not in bondage, but in rest and worship and refreshing.

7. But the last 'means of grace' I would mention are THE SACRAMENTS OF THE CHURCH THAT WERE INSTITUTED BY JESUS.

C. WHAT ARE 'SACRAMENTS?'

We use the term 'sacrament' to signify an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given to us, ordained by Christ Himself as a means of receiving that grace, and as a pledge or assurance of Christ's promise. From the earliest times, the sacraments have been understood by the church to be religious rites that carry the most solemn obligation of loyalty to Jesus Christ and His Church.

1. The RC church teaches seven (7) sacraments: baptism, the Lord's supper (or "mass",) confirmation, ordination, extreme unction (or 'last rites,') penance (or 'confession,') and marriage.
2. All Protestant churches recognize but two: baptism and the Lord's Supper.

SACRAMENTS ARE PLEDGES OF LOYALTY TO JESUS CHRIST; THEY ARE TESTIMONIES THAT MARK CHRISTIANS AS SEPARATE, DIFFERENT FROM THOSE WHO DO NOT BELIEVE.

- D. It is vitally important that we reach out for God's grace in every way we can. [Perhaps we do not take seriously the parables of Jesus when He warned us that it is mortally dangerous to have talents and not use them!] We are responsible not only for what we are, but for what we might be by God's free gifts of grace!

Along this line John Wesley once said: (in 1736)

"I think the rock on which I had the nearest made shipwreck of the faith was the writings of the Mystics; under which term I comprehend all, and only those, who slight any of the means of grace." GFH, p541

In other words, Wesley said that even people who seem to be so very, very spiritual nearly led him astray when they picked out which means of grace they would adopt, and which they would avoid.

Wesley was saying 'I want to be faithful to God through Christ's church!'

- E. And if you wonder what John Wesley thought the 'true church' consisted of, here is a quote from H. Ray Dunning:

"There were two major means that Mr. Wesley seemed to identify as constitutive of the church: the pure Word of God preached, and the sacraments duly administered. This puts him squarely in the Reformation tradition." GFH p542]

II. THE IMPORTANCE OF BAPTISM AS A MEANS OF GRACE

Baptism is clearly one of the sacraments of the church. It was instituted by the Lord Jesus, first by His example, and then by His unmistakable command (in the words of the text:)

Baptism means three things for the believer:

- A. BAPTISM MEANS IDENTIFYING WITH JESUS in His baptism.

John the Baptist baptized many people in the Jordan. This was not clearly outlined in Old Testament law, but it could have some meaning of preparation for the coming of a new order, in that just before the giving of the Law on Sinai, God told Moses to sanctify the people, and He specifically said: "Have them wash their garments!"

But the baptism of Jesus was unique. Jesus was identifying with sinners, even though He knew no sin. In coming with the sinners, JESUS TOOK THE ROLE OF THE SUFFERING SERVANT; and in the descent of the Holy Spirit HE CLEARLY EXEMPLIFIED THE ROLE OF THE ANOINTED ONE, THE MESSIAH.

No one else was sinless that day, or any other day. But Jesus identified with everyone who has failed; he came to bear our sins and sorrows to the Tree.

No one else could ever hear the Father say: "This is my Beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased!" and have the Holy Spirit descend without measure.

But if Jesus identified with us, with sinful humanity that day of His baptism; then we, as His spiritual sons and daughters identify with Him.

We are not called on to die as the sinless sacrifice; but BAPTISM IS THE WAY OF THE SUFFERING SERVANT; and we identify with Jesus in death to sin (He died for sin.)

We cannot know the fullness of the Holy Spirit as Jesus knew Him, but WE ARE CALLED TO ACCEPT THE ANOINTING OF GOD, indwelling us, and live in the new life and power of that life the Holy Spirit brings.

- B. BAPTISM MEANS INCORPORATION INTO THE CHURCH. The washing of baptism by John indicated a preparation for a new age of the Spirit of God. But Jesus transformed John's baptism, and made it the sacramental portion of His Great Commission: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.
- C. BAPTISM MEANS THE INITIAL RECEPTION OF THE HOLY SPIRIT. The Holy Spirit is the gift of the Son, and of the Father. He comes to make Jesus real to us. He is the Spirit of Jesus. He does not testify of Himself, but is the fulfillment of the promise: "Lo, I AM with you always, even to the end of the age."

The connection of baptism with the reception of the Holy Spirit seems clear in the New Testament. Sometimes the people received the Spirit as, or after they were baptized; sometimes it was a witness or a seal after they had already been saved.

Acts 2:38 (Peter says:) "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, AND YE SHALL RECEIVE THE GIFT OF THE HOLY GHOST." Here, clearly, the people to be baptized did not yet have the Holy Spirit.

But later, at Caesarea, Cornelius and his household received the Holy Spirit as Peter was preaching to them. And the question there was: "Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, WHICH HAVE RECEIVED THE HOLY GHOST AS WELL AS WE?"

In obedience to the command of Christ, we can expect that the sacrament of baptism will be a confirmation of the promise of God the Father and God the Son to bestow the Holy Spirit, personally, and powerfully, into each believer's heart!

January 5, 1992 - To this class of girls being baptized:

We have talked together about Romans 10:9,10, and what it takes to be a Christian.

It is so very simple— and yet cannot be done without the life of God being breathed into us:

1. to truly believe that God has raised Jesus from the dead is in large part the work of the Spirit within;
2. to confess with the mouth that Jesus is Lord is something which we can do by God's help.

This act of baptism is one way that you confess, loud and clear, that Jesus is LORD!

In just a few moments as part of the ritual of Baptism I am going to ask you three questions. Your answer will be, in part, that second part of Romans 10:9,10— for you will be saying publicly that Jesus is YOUR Lord, that you love Him, and that by God's help you will serve Him and do His will!

The Sacrament

Dearly Beloved: Baptism is the sign and seal of the new covenant of grace, the significance of which is attested by the apostle Paul in his letter to the Romans as follows:

(Romans 6:3-5) "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into His death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of His death, we shall be also in the likeness of His resurrection."

The earliest statement of Christian faith, into which you come now to be baptized, is the Apostles' Creed. Shall we all affirm our faith as we read it together:

Congregation Read (with the baptizands) the Apostles' Creed: #513 in WS

Question #1 - Will you be baptized into this faith? (If so answer, "I WILL.")

Response: I WILL.

Question #2 - Do you acknowledge Jesus Christ as your personal Savior, and do you realize that he saves you now?

Response: I DO.

Question #3 - Will you obey God's holy will and keep His commandments, walking in them all the days of your life?

Response: I WILL.

IN THAT BAPTISMAL WATER

1. [OPTIONAL brief statement of testimony.]
2. [Y o u r n a m e], I baptize YOU in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

The Windows of Heaven

January 5, 1992

Malachi 3:10 "Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, so that there may be food in My house, and test Me now in this," says the Lord of Hosts, "if I will not open for you the windows of heaven, and pour out for you a blessing until it overflows."

INTRODUCTION

- A. Malachi 3:10 is one of those texts that lends itself to manipulation by people who want to raise money for churches. It appeals to a strict cause and effect mentality; it may be used to underscore the mind set the ultra fundamentalist, who sees salvation as a strict contract with the Almighty.

Actually, there ARE elements of contract, of promise, even hints of cause and effect here. God says, "If you will do thus and so, you can prove Me now! I will do thus and so!"

- B. But to be fair we need to see that THE TEXT IS A CLIMAX OF THE [TOTAL] LESSON OF MALACHI; and the whole book reveals God's desire to love and to be loved by His people. God is disappointed when His own people are less than they could be.

[The reason God's people do not experience God's full blessing is plain. They have forgotten that real life centers around GOD! One message of Malachi is:]

I. A REVELATION OF SPIRITUAL IGNORANCE ON ISRAEL'S PART

- A. The Book of Malachi reveals that the people who claim to know all about God and religion are in fact exasperatingly ignorant. A recurrent theme throughout the short book is (1) a statement of fact by God, through His prophet; immediately followed by (2) incredulous statements like "How can that be?" "Why do you say that?" "Where is that a fact?"

1. (1:2) They are ignorant of God's LOVE to them. (1:6) They are ignorant of insulting the name of God.

2. (2:14) They are ignorant of any reason why God should despise their fancy worship, even though they have been treacherous with one another. (2:17) They are ignorant of the fact that God is weary of their empty mouthing of prayers.
 3. (3:7) They are ignorant both of the need to return to God, and the way in which they might return to God.
- B. There is no sense of the 'personal' in their dealings with God: [God is "an institution, not a Person with feelings!] How easy to take God for granted! How easy to despise holy things!
1. (3:8) They have never connected GIVING with LOVING GOD! They are ignorant of the fact that when they withhold their tithes from God they are robbing God.
 2. (3:13) They have become CASUAL about SEEKING and DOING God's will! They are ignorant that when they speak for God without being in touch with God they are actually speaking against God.
- C. The call of the prophet is not to condemn, but to re establish true faith. The clear way in which God's people may experience God's grace is practical in nature:

II. THE RE ESTABLISHING OF TRUST IN GOD

- A. God is NOT bound strictly by "contract" to us, or we would all be long gone! We are never dealt with as we deserve, but by God's great grace! God is, however, faithful to His covenant with His people! He is reluctant ever to write off one of His own!
- B. TO LOVE GOD, WE MUST MAKE HIM OUR LIFE'S CENTER
- Our love to Him must not be merely a matter of convenience. Malachi says, sarcastically, to his hearers (1:8): "Try giving what is left over to the IRS! Try paying your bills with left overs with the things you don't want any more! Doesn't that work?? Well, then WHY GIVE YOUR 'CONVENIENCE' TO GOD?
- C. TO LOVE GOD, WE ARE TO SEEK TO LEARN TO GIVE!
1. The people to whom Malachi was preaching were consumer minded! THEY WERE TAKERS! They asked "What can God and religion do for me?"

Malachi (actually God, speaking through Malachi) was seeking to turn around their thinking, to make them covenant minded! God always wants His people to be GIVERS! And in God's economy, and in His own currency it is the givers who are rich!

2. Keying on the areas where Malachi accused the people of ignorance, here is an outline on how we should give:
 - a. Our MOTIVE must be love not profit.
 - b. Our ATTITUDE must be reverence for God and His church; and faith. (Not cynical, not self serving. The widow woman COULD have saved her two mites, saying "I need it more than those rich Pharisees...")
 - c. Our ACT OF GIVING should be sacramental. When the plates go by, the amount you place on the plate is one thing; but the very fact of placing something on the plate can be an act of stewardship, a statement of submission to God's will!
 - d. Our METHOD of giving is NOT unimportant! Malachi mentions tithing!

I think that I have heard most of the arguments against storehouse tithing: Tithing is legalistic. Storehouse tithing is invented to support institutions. O.T. Law has been eliminated. Give to get preaching has decimated genuine giving.

But the fact is storehouse tithing is the floor on which to build a disciplined life of stewardship. I do not limit my personal giving to 10% of my income now; but I grew up in the demonstration of what it means to be partners with God, including faithful tithing during the Great Depression. I will testify that it works!

POINTS TO DRIVE HOME: It is possible to give and not be a Christian, but it is impossible to be a Christian and NOT give. Tithing makes us partners with God in the practical world of finances.

CONCLUSION

The end of this short book is like a fork in the road. Malachi. There is the threat of cursing for those who are arrogant, and choose to remain in ignorance of God's Law and God's LOVE. But there is promise of great blessing as well:

(3:16) "Then those who feared the Lord spoke to one another, and the Lord gave attention and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before Him for those who fear the Lord and esteem His name.

"'And they will be Mine,' says the Lord of hosts, 'on the day that I prepare my own possession, and I will spare them as a man spares his own son who serves him.'

"So you will distinguish between the righteous and the wicked, between one who serves God and one who does not serve Him."

(4:2) "But for you who revere my Name, the sun of righteousness will rise with healing in its wings; and you will go forth and skip about like calves from the stall."

The windows of heaven are open, and God's blessing is promised to those who truly seek to love Him, and let Him love through them. I pray for you and me and for us the joy of being GIVERS to the glory of God! Amen.

Giving Beyond the Gift

1 Corinthians 13:3

James 3:13-18

INTRODUCTION

The title of this sermon in the bulletin was a little "far out" and I apologize, sort of. (I changed the real title!)

I was thinking about a fragment of an old poem I learned in high school, a poem by James Russell Lowell called The Vision of Sir Launfel. Launfel was a knight who spent his life in search of the Holy Grail (the cup that Jesus was supposed to have used during the Last Supper.)

Of course Sir Launfel never found the Grail. But in the depths of his disappointment he comes across a beggar. He shares his meager food supply with the beggar, and gives him a drink from his own cup. Then he sees that the beggar is the Lord Jesus. The last few lines of the poem are:

"Lo, it is I, be not afraid:
 In many climes, without avail,
 Thou hast spent thy life for the Holy Grail;
 Behold it is here— the cup which thou Didst fill at this streamlet for me but now;
 This crust is my body broken for thee,
 The water his blood that died on the tree;
 The holy supper is kept, indeed,
 In whatso we share with another's need;
 Not what we give but what we share,
 For the gift without the giver is bare;
 Who gives himself with his alms feeds three—Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me."

-James Russell Lowell

Giving is NOT unimportant. Last week we looked at the Christian acts of giving. We said that it is possible to give and not be Christian, but it is not possible to be Christian and not give. For Christians are to be givers, not just takers.

It is blessed to give, but our scriptures tell us that giving, in and of itself, is not quite enough. God is interested in why we give! He is concerned about the way we give! God's unselfish agape' love must permeate all that we are, as well as all that we do.

So we see that there are just:

I. TWO WAYS TO GIVE

- A. THERE IS GIVING FOR ANY AND EVERY OTHER REASON EXCEPT AGAPE' LOVE. Even sacrificial giving!

Paul makes a simply amazing statement in the "love chapter." He says:

"Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not the quality of love, it profits me nothing!"

Giving for any and every other reason but agape' love simply does not impress God. It certainly can impress me! I might not be able to tell the difference. I am simply amazed at any kind of genuine sacrifice. But the Bible makes it clear that people can make great sacrifices for less than noble reasons!

- B. GOD'S WAY FOR US TO GIVE IS THE WAY OF AGAPE'.

Agape' is the kind of love that gives the life a center of reference around which every other detail big and small finds its meaning.

Agape' love is usually made interchangeable in our thinking with God's love. We say, "God's love is AGAPE'!" and so it is. It is a love that gives our life a center of reference around which every other detail finds its meaning. But it is important to see that there are other agape' loves, too.

Many wise people who are not Christian have found that "success" of any kind demands a life-centering commitment. The warning of (John) is "Love (agape') not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any one love (agape') the world, the love (agape') of the Father is not in that person!"

Wise people will always live by a life-centering, life-disciplining agape'. Most people just live from paycheck to paycheck.

II. THE TRULY WISE CHOOSE TO GIVE BECAUSE THEY LOVE

A. We need to remember that there are TWO kinds of wisdom. We come back to the passage in James:

1. James speaks of THE WISDOM OF THIS WORLD. James labels it as earthly, sensual, demonic.

Demonic wisdom is not always bizarre and evil-appearing! Worldly wisdom mocks the agape', or life-centering aspects of God's love. Demonic wisdom gives purpose and discipline to endeavors that begin and end with materialism and sensualism and selfish achievement.

C.S.Lewis makes the evil wisdom of this world seem remarkably like the corporate giants of civilization to me in his book "That Hideous Strength." (I do not at all imply that the likes of IBM are evil; I merely state that Oxford don Lewis portrays evil as having wisdom in great measure; able to organize, able to civilize to a certain degree, able to do many things we would call admirable.)

Wisdom focuses, centers life. But the earthly, sensual, demonic wisdom of this world is not true wisdom because it finally ends in death and chaos. It worships some idea or creature in the place of Almighty God. It destroys, finally, instead of finding eternal life.

2. James also writes about TRUE WISDOM, the wisdom he calls "THE GENTLE WISDOM FROM ABOVE." He tells us it (1) is pure, and (2) it is peaceable, and (3) it is easy to be entreated. It is centered in God and has that peculiar quality called HUMILITY!

HUMILITY, of all the graces, is the one we least talk about! We all have "ego," and we know it. So we don't like to hear about this grace that is so central to true wisdom. HUMILITY gets a bad name in our "love yourself society." But we mistake the essence of what humility is:

Humility is NOT assigning "no worth" to the human personality, even one's own!

Humility is NOT pretending to be stupid or grovelling like Uriah Heep.

True humility says: "I AM NOT GOD!" That's a relief!

And true humility refuses to say, perhaps more than any other thing, that "I, IN ALL MY UNDERSTANDING, AM AN EXCEPTION!"

Humility refuses to say 'I can get by without doing the things of righteousness in a simple and straightforward manner. 'I don't have to spend time with God each day. 'I don't have to faithfully attend upon the means of grace. 'I don't have to keep all the rules— after all, I am saved by grace, right?'

No, the gentle, humble wisdom from God is easy to be entreated!

B. GOD'S WISDOM SEEKS TO FIND THE BEST WAYS TO LOVE:

Did you know that the Bible gives "graded examples of love?" As you follow through its pages— we see developing, expanding, deepening ways of living and giving:

1. O.T. standard: Love your neighbor; hate your enemy; do not do to someone else what you don't want them to do to you.

2. Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Usually we think this is the best we can ever hope to do. But Jesus called His disciples to an even higher standard:
3. The Great Commandment: "Love one another as I have loved you!" Can we ever even come close? Only as Jesus is the heart of all we are and do!

CONCLUSION

If we love like this we will be GIVERS! If we have this life- centering agape' love of God we won't be quibbling over whether we tithe or not. Jesus will be the reference point of love that gives life a center of reference around which every other detail big and small will find its meaning. That is real wisdom!

But, you say, "How can I have a life-centering love that I don't feel? How can I love God, and people, and even myself when I don't naturally feel loving?"

The answer is: GOD'S LOVE IS NOT ACHIEVED BY STRIVING TO PRETEND TO HAVE FEELINGS THAT DON'T EXIST. This kind of love comes from inviting God to dwell permanently in our very being. This kind of love is the result of spending time in God's Presence.

And this kind of love comes from being willing to OBEY the Lord who indwells us. Jesus put it this way, at the close of the Sermon on the Mount. Jesus said (1) "Those who hear what I say and DO what I say— they are wise! They will stand!" He also said (2) "Those who hear what I say and DO NOT act on it are NOT wise. They will fall." We cannot be Christian and not give! And, too, We cannot be Christian and not love!

Maybe the following doesn't rank as great poetry today, but it says it pretty well, doesn't it?

Not what we give but what we share,
For the gift without the giver is bare;
Who gives himself with his alms feeds three—
Himself, his hungering neighbor, and Me."

Let us pray (This was a Communion Service)

Nazarenes, Consider Your Calling

Nazarenes and the Church of Jesus Christ - Part 1 of 3

I Corinthians 1:26 - 31

Introduction:

-A Personal Word-

I think it is important to share some thoughts on what it means to be a Nazarene. If you know me at all, you know that I love the Church of the Nazarene. I do not consider being a Christian and being a member of the Church of the Nazarene synonymous. Being truly Christian is the most important thing in the world to me. I trust that I am a Christian far and away before I am a Nazarene.

Still, being a Nazarene is vitally important to me, for it defines what I believe and how I act in a great many critical areas of life.

Christians are not to be isolated, laws unto themselves. Christians are to be part of Christ's church; they are born into it. Christians need to be part of some Christian fellowship, some visible part or expression of Christ's church.

If I were not a Nazarene I would hope that I would act in some responsible manner, and not claim to be a Christian while being a total law unto myself, not accountable to anyone or anybody.

There may be Christians still living today who say, "We do not believe in theology or interpretations of the Bible. We just believe the Bible!" But these kinds of people, if they still do exist, are very quick to interpret the Bible for other people who are not quite as intelligent as they are!

Now, to begin: What about the "denomination" called the International Church of the Nazarene? Where did it come from and why? What about denominations, period?

I. THERE IS BUT ONE CHURCH

[ONE, HOLY, APOSTOLIC. CATHOLIC]

ALL Christians, whatever they call themselves, ARE CALLED TO BE "SAINTS" (1:2)
Our basic calling is to be "saints" (1:2) and not first to be Nazarenes or any other hyphenated name. We are not even called first to build the church but to proclaim Christ, and then He has promised to build His own church!

SO WHY ARE THERE DIFFERENT 'CHURCHES IN THE CHURCH'? Why have denominations at all?

We who have been reared in a denomination have a hard time understanding any other form the church of Jesus might take. Those from other traditions cannot grasp the purpose or even the legitimacy of denominations. Why are there "denominations" anyway?

There are ETHNIC reasons. There are DOCTRINAL reasons. There are CULTURAL reasons. There are even PERSONAL reasons for denominations.

There are WORSHIP preferences: Different denominations worship differently when they gather in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Some traditions emphasize RATIONAL DOCTRINE; some traditions emphasize EMOTIONAL EXPERIENCE; and still others need MYSTICAL BEAUTY AND RITUAL at the heart of their Christian worship.

Some denominations think they are the only true church. Others "KNOW" they are! There are still other "denominations" that deny that they are denominations!

But even large church groups that do not call themselves by the name 'denomination' find that de facto they must form some kind of alliance to promote joint ventures in mission: to standardize the ordination of their clergy, whatever they may call them; and to find some means of disciplining or keeping pure those sacred doctrines they hold as dear.

THERE ARE GOOD REASONS FOR FORMING ALLIANCE BETWEEN CHURCHES

Denominations can multiply effort; they can serve to make the church more effective. An outstanding example is the mission endeavor in our denomination. Ours is not the only way to go about evangelization of the world. But it is the best way we have found. It has huge pluses, and perhaps some minuses.

One huge plus is that just about 85% of mission money makes it right through to the field! The other 15% is not at all wasted, however— it is in necessary networks of supervision, communication, and the like. Many so-called philanthropic groups do not come near getting that high a percentage of money to the front lines.

The minuses?: Perhaps some individuality is missed; perhaps in the rubric of bureaucracy some injustices are done. But the comparison makes our mission efforts seem wise. More loosely structured mission boards demand more extensive deputation work and much more energy is spent simply raising the support.

Denominations can clarify and develop certain approaches and understandings of scripture that keep the peculiar emphasis or emphases of that denomination strong. [In all honesty just about all denominations have their sacred cows; or arguments that begin with the conclusion and work backward to the scriptural proof texts.]

OUR REASON FOR EXISTENCE HAS BEEN A QUEST FOR WHAT IN THE REST OF THE CHURCH WORLD IS CALLED 'THE DEEPER LIFE' AND IN OUR OWN TERMINOLOGY IS CALLED "CHRISTIAN HOLINESS."

Nazarene faith is "orthodox," in that it does not depart from ancient, creedal statements about the faith. But Nazarene faith focuses on "holiness." By "holiness" we mean a personal quest for genuine piety, a corporate accountability for carrying out the commandments of Jesus, particularly the Great Commission.

But just now I am talking about how we came about as a denomination:

II. THE CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE AS A DENOMINATION

JUST WHO ARE THESE NAZARENES? They have a unique and God-ordained place in the Christian community. Nazarenes are NOT (or certainly should not be) merely a pale copy of other groups in their doctrines or practices.

In the Providence of God we came into being for a reason. We believe we were called of God to meet a need. We exist to help people into a holy walk with God!

Sometimes in order to be better understood we say: "We are just like Old Fashioned Methodists" Or "We worship a lot like the Baptists" or we use other good groups for comparisons or contrasts. This may or may not be helpful.

Still, it certainly helps if we know just what we DO believe and don't need to apologize at all for it!

[A very brief history lesson:]

Quite a number of groups or denominations have come about as the result of "reform" or reaction within an established church or denomination. Sometimes denominations have been shaped ethnic or cultural responses to orthodox truth. [United Brethren, for example, were mainly German speaking followers of Wesley in the Pennsylvania farmlands.]

Some denominations have reflected a personality of a charismatic leader. Calvin, Luther, Wesley— But this has been disastrous in some cases, especially when the leader has encouraged it. [Mary Baker Eddy, Russellism (Jehovah's Witnesses; hundreds of sects from James Jones back...]

Our denomination does not primarily reflect any of these origins, although some elements of all may have been present in parts of our formation as a church.

Toward the end of the 1800's there was a large, informal, but pronounced spiritual awakening throughout Protestant America.

I would refer you to Dr. Timothy Smith's book "REVIVALISM AND SOCIAL REFORM" for a scholarly overview. [This was coincidental with the Camp Meeting phenomenon in rural America, the Keswick awakening in Britain as well as the "deeper life quests" in many areas.]

We Nazarenes look to a man called PHINEAS F. BRESEE as our "founder." But actually Dr. Bresee was more of a convener. He found thousands of people who were riding the crest of the revival that was moving through the established denominations and in many places about the turn of the last century.

[My own parents both were products of the tail end of that revival movement; they were saved in the Methodist church and when they pursued seriously the "deeper life" of holiness they found mixed receptions. They were warmly received at Taylor University, which was at that time a "holiness Methodist" school . But they were much more comfortable with the people called Nazarenes, and soon after graduation they joined a great church in Monongehela, Pennsylvania in 1928. The pastor was John Andre. the father of the John Andre at Warren, Pennsylvania (in the 1950s).]

There were Holiness congregationalists in the east (Providence, Rhode Island) Groups in the south (Nashville)— and they merged several times, each time growing larger, and each time adding to the levels of compromise and understanding of what was and what was not "spiritually acceptable."

Some of the comprehension of the movement I knew as a boy [and it was a movement!] seems in retrospect almost sect-like. There was a tyranny of convictions at times. We were strong on personal discipline, and that extended to appearance and manners. It seems, looking back, that culture and refinement were next to godliness, especially in our colleges and schools.

It was good discipline and training for me, I believe— even though it was hard at times.

But underneath it all, BASIC TO EXISTENCE was a commitment to total consecration and Spirit-filled, Spirit-led living. WE TOOK AS OUR MISSION TELLING THE WORLD THAT THEY COULD BE FREE FROM THE TYRANNY OF SIN!

There was always a sense of obligation to the present generation. Dr. Bresee was often quoted: "We are debtors to give the gospel in the same measure as we have received it." (Or was that Dr. J.G. Morrison?)

Nazarenes, Consider Your Calling

There was also a genuine spirit of gentleness among those who were truly "sanctified," and a spirit of holy compromise on non-essentials, a compromise that has not always been evident in every area of the denomination.

Finally, Nazarene worship always seemed to me to be characterized by joy.

NAZARENES HAVE DOCTRINALLY FOLLOWED WESLEY, or at least they have intended so to do. Nearly to the last person, the ministers believe that they are in accord with the spirit of Wesley. Further more, in my view, the leadership of our denomination has (tacitly) agreed: Bresee was a Methodist, and so we have never disagreed with the M.E. doctrine of, say, a century ago. Our early Manuals were patterned after Methodist Disciplines. We have felt comfortable in following what has been a Methodistic tradition.

My personal position has been to try to "leap over" superficial and casual interpretations of Wesley, to read Wesley's Journal and his sermons and explanatory notes, and to try to catch the spirit and the heart of the teaching of this 18th century reformer.

NAZARENES SEEM TO BE ECLECTIC IN THEIR WORSHIP FORMS

WE REFLECT A (GOOD) (EVEN HOLY?) TENSION BETWEEN THE EXTREMES OF EVANGELICAL PROTESTANTISM TODAY: This reflects Wesley's statement to the effect: "In essentials, faithfulness; in non-essentials tolerance; in all things charity!"

CONCLUSION

These have been very sketchy, personal observations. I know that I have rambled, and I thank you for your patience. I think I have some important things to consider as we think together about what it means to be a Nazarene over the next few divisions of this theme. You may have to listen hard, and even hear some things I mean instead of what I simply say.

But in closing just now let me say JUST TWO things about being a Nazarene:

1. If I am going to be a Nazarene I must know for myself what it means to be sanctified wholly.

Our terminology may seem confusing to ears who have been taught other viewpoints; our doctrines may even be in question to other sincere Christians.

BUT THERE IS A HARD, TRUE, CLEAR KERNEL OF TRUTH IN THAT EXPERIENCE WE CALL OUR "CARDINAL DOCTRINE." THERE IS REALITY IN COMING TO THE PLACE WHERE, AS A BELIEVER, I MAKE A COMPLETE SACRIFICE, AND COME TO THE END OF MY SELF-RULE, AND SELF-WILL, AND BECOME A CANDIDATE FOR THE FULLNESS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT.

I may not understand the psychology of what it means to be sanctified, but I know that it makes the difference between sticking and falling away! I know it makes the difference between going back when the going gets tough or hanging in there and trusting that God is GOD and that God is GOOD!

IF I AM GOING TO BE A NAZARENE I WANT TO KNOW THAT I AM SANCTIFIED WHOLLY!

Not glorified like the saints in heaven. Not perfect so that I cannot or do not sometimes come short of God's glory. But sanctified until every part of my being, body, mind and spirit belong to Jesus Christ, with no provision ever to take them back. Sanctified so that the Holy Spirit has access to all there is of me!

2. And, too, if I am going to be a Nazarene then I will be loyal to my denomination, and loyal to my local church!

I may not agree with everything or understand everything. But the "corporate conscience" of my church will carry great weight in my personal decisions. And any quarrels I may have with my church will be lovers' quarrels. I will be stubborn toward what I see as compromise in scriptural application, and speak my mind when I think my church is wrong, but I will be exceedingly pliable toward God, and ask Him to bless and love my church through me!

Join me in prayer for our church.

PRAYER

1. Almighty God, give us grace to cast away the works of darkness, even though often the world in which we live is dark. Grant us grace to put on the armor of light, now in the time of this mortal life in which your Son Jesus Christ came to visit us in great humility. Grant us grace that in the last day, when he shall come again in his glorious majesty to judge both the living and the dead, or in that hour when we shall be called to meet Him, we may be found faithful amid the chaos, rise to the life immortal; through him who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit, one God, now and for ever.
2. May the Sun of Righteousness shine upon you and scatter the darkness from before your path: and the blessing of God Almighty— Father, Son, and Holy Spirit be among you and remain with you always.

Amen.

2. Nazarenes are Bible Christians
3. The Freedom from Sin

Two texts:

John 5:39 Search the scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and they are they which testify of Me.

Hebrews 4:12 - 13 For the word of God [is] quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two edged sword, piercing even to the dividing - asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart. Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight: but all things [are] naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do.

INTRODUCTION

It probably goes without serious objection that Nazarenes believe they are Bible Christians. I want to challenge that belief in a friendly way by asking three questions:

1. Is the Bible as we have it "the Word of God?"
2. How do we hear God's Word?
3. How do we (Nazarenes) live under the authority of the Word of God?

I. NAZARENES BELIEVE THE BIBLE IS GOD'S WORD

- A. Nazarenes believe in the Bible. But even such a simple statement as saying that the Bible is God's Word can be understood and explained in many different ways. Where does the International Church of the Nazarene officially stand regarding "the Bible?"

1. An excellent place to begin would be with the Manual statement, which good Nazarenes should know and respect. The Manual states:

We believe in the plenary inspiration of the Holy Scriptures, by which we understand the 66 books of the Old and New Testaments, given by divine inspiration, inerrantly revealing the will of God concerning us in all things necessary to our salvation, so that what is not contained therein is not to be enjoined as an article of faith.

2. The Manual statement is really quite remarkable in what it does not say! It stops short of saying exactly how, or by what method the Bible was written, how it is inspired. It gives room for the mystery which, really, no one can fully explain except by faith.

A key word is the word "plenary," used to describe the inspiration of the Bible. By plenary the article of faith declares that the Bible, in all its parts, is totally inspired, that it is a miracle of revelation. This inspiration is so clear and powerful that "if it is not in the Bible it is not to be made binding on us as an article of faith."

The statement does not make Nazarenes go beyond the clear meaning of those words.

- B. Nazarene roots are "synergistic" roots. We believe that the Bible is a Divine-human book. We believe that by and in and through God's grace the human can and must cooperate with the divine in claiming our redemption. These Nazarene roots reflect a number of very interesting sources.

1. There is the catholicism of the Church of England as reflected in John Wesley. Wesley thought of himself as a Reformed theologian; and while he would certainly deny that in any wise he was earning his salvation there was enough of the Holy Club and discipline in him that he would not abide for a moment any Christian who did not put his/her life where the testimony was! "Bring forth fruit meet for repentance!" was implicit in his very life and living.
2. Nazarenes also embrace of some aspects of Arminianism, about which the rank and file pastor knows precious little. But Arminianism represents a resistance to extreme Calvinism, particularly in TWO major points. What this says to the general practitioner pastor like myself is that while all grace is of God, yet that grace enables the human personality to participate in its own salvation to the extent that it can choose to resist God's grace or to accept it.

THERE IS ALWAYS MYSTERY ALONG THE LINE WHERE GOD REACHES OUT TO CONVERSE WITH HUMANKIND.

3. The dilemma is most apparent in the way we understand that people are saved. But it is also expressed in the way that we perceive the Bible.
 - a. Some would emphasize God's Sovereignty to the extent that man has had nothing to do with the holy scriptures except hold the pen while God gave the exact words.
 - b. An opposite, humanistic, view says that the Bible is inspired exactly like all other great works of literature, no more and no less. It ranks at the top of human literature, perhaps, at least in many passages. But it is the product, totally, of human effort, and expresses human thought, perhaps divinely inspired, but still limited to human expression, no more.
 - c. But there is at least one other way to view inspiration: others, and we include ourselves here, believe that God has expressed Himself in a way that excludes error in all matters necessary to our salvation, but that this Word, divine Word, has come poured through vessels that are in and of themselves human and imperfect.
- C. How did we get the Bible in this form? Can we say with confidence "This is God's Word!"? I can and I do! But this is a faith statement! The mysteries of God are NOT the magic of God.
 1. The "canon" of the Bible (by which we mean the 66 books of our Protestant Bible) did not come into existence apart from human agency. The Bible did not fall down from heaven complete as we have it now, even though one way or another all true Christians have come to believe that it is God's divine revelation.

2. (A wee bit of "over-simplified history:") It took a long period of time for these various "theories" to develop. The original apostles were much more speakers, preachers, proclaimers than they were writers. But as it became apparent that they would not always be around their messages were recorded in written form.

As early as 150 A.D. Justin Martyr wrote that the gospels of the (present) canon were being read in churches assembled on Sunday.

3. There were also many other writings with claims to be scriptural or apostolic. Gospels were written by Clement of Rome, and under the name of Barnabus, as well as the Shepherd of Hermas.

The letters of Peter and Paul and John and the author of Hebrews and the canonical and non-canonical gospels were "sifted" and tried across the years.

In 325 A.D. Eusebius wrote that "seven writings in the New Testament were not universally received. They were called the "Antilegomena," and consisted of James, Jude, 2 John, 3 John, 2 Peter, Hebrews, and the Apocalypse. (Not the Apocrypha, now.)

It was not until nearly 400 A.D. in the Council of Carthage, in 397, the church officially stated that the 66 books we now hold as sacred were truly scripture.

4. This "human involvement" need not shake your faith that God has given us this Bible one little bit! WE MUST REFUSE TO BE OBSCURANTISTS. When facts are presented they must be assessed and dealt with. But NO FACTS HAVE EVER SUCCESSFULLY CONTRADICTED THE LIVING TRUTH OF THE BIBLE!

D. For myself, I simply believe that the Holy Spirit has been involved in every aspect of the written Word. He has been active in its original utterance, but He also makes it available at the place where it is needed and welcomed. Which brings us to the second question:

II. HOW DO NAZARENES (OR ANY CHRISTIANS) HEAR THE WORD OF GOD?

A. WE HEAR WHEN WE LISTEN! God is speaking in His Word, but too often we are not really listening!

1. Eugene Peterson makes distinction between READING the Bible and HEARING the Word. He is not just speaking about the difference between visual and auditory. The reader has control of what, where, how he shall give attention. Or she is free to just let her mind wander. The listener is engaged in some kind of immediate relationship. A "message" is coming through. personally; like the difference of a pocket radio or a portable telephone.
2. The living WORD OF GOD IS NEVER 'CONTROLLED'! It is not simply abstract truth or "information." It demands life-involvement. That is why Bible preaching is important! To some extent preaching cannot be controlled, and can release the WORD; also systematic and regular reading gives access to the WORD.

[Peterson speaks of the link between "speaker" and "hearer" this way: SPEAKER - WRITER - READER - HEARER. The intermediate links of writing and reading are all too often made all-important. What the original compassion/passion/burden of the prophet or Psalmist or preacher may have spoken or written under inspiration must be received by the help of the Holy Spirit by LISTENING, by GIVING ATTENTION, by HEARING WITH THE EARS OF THE SOUL.]

B. IT SHOULD NEVER BE TAKEN FOR GRANTED, BUT NAZARENES OFTEN HEAR THE WORD OF GOD!!

III. WHAT DOES IT MEAN: 'NAZARENES ARE BIBLE CHRISTIANS?'

DO WE IN FACT LIVE 'UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE WORD?'

A. HEARING IS NOT (QUITE) THE SAME AS BELIEVING IN THE AUTHORITY OF THE WORD!

1. One step beyond HEARING (or knowing that God has spoken) is the attitude of obedience. We must bring to our encounters with God and with his Word the surrendered will.

2. Thus: TO TRULY BELIEVE IN THE AUTHORITY OF THE SCRIPTURES DEMANDS A WILL SURRENDERED TO GOD ALMIGHTY!

B. Every spiritual awakening, personal and church-wide, has begun with renewed prayer. And every spiritual awakening, church-wide or personal, has also been accompanied with obedience to the Word of God!

1. Our church came into existence because we believe the BIBLE has spoken to us and to the world about the reality of SCRIPTURAL HOLINESS!
2. If I am going to be a Nazarene I must READ the Bible, but more, I must listen for God to speak, and I must gladly put myself under the authority of the Word of God!

Conclusion:

In closing let me repeat a warning!

BEWARE THE BIBLE! It is a dangerous book to have around the house!

1. Beware having it around the house! Just to HAVE IT AROUND THE HOUSE can bring COMPLACENCY! Stacks of Bibles won't make your house any holier ... but you might THINK it is!
2. Beware reading the Bible! Just to READ THE BIBLE can nourish SPIRITUAL PRIDE! We can be like the scriptural expert who went to the house of prayer and thanked God that he was not like the poor publican praying off in the corner, "Lord, have mercy on me, a sinner!"
3. Beware reading and listening and OBEYING the Bible! But TO HEAR AND TO OBEY THE BIBLE IS MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL!

It can "ruin your life!" All your (selfish) ambitions and plans may just come tumbling down all around your head! You just might hear Jesus say: "Come, leave YOUR way and follow ME!"

And if you do you'll never be the same again!

[Calvinism, as I understand it, was founded on five principles

[TULIP]: Total depravity (nothing good in humanity) Unconditional grace (Humankind can do NOTHING save themselves) Limited atonement (The "elect" chosen by God) Irresistible Grace Perseverance of the saints (Eternal security)

Of course, what I call Arminianism disputes some of these, particularly the "U" and the "I" and the "P." And our understanding of the "T" is somewhat different, as well.

[It is interesting that even then they could not agree just as to HOW they viewed Divine inspiration. Back then many did believe that the scriptures had been verbally inspired, and this sacrosanct faith was even extended to the Septuagint or Greek translation of the Old Testament as well.]

[The various groups differed on the degree of inspiration of the books comprising the Apocrypha, with all Protestants generally respecting them but giving them a less-than-scriptural place. One main reason is that Jesus never quoted from or alluded to any of the Apocryphal books.]

Free From, Free To

A Christian Obeys God's Word

Romans 6:22 Therefore being made free from sin, and become servants to God...

INTRODUCTION:

Romans 6:22 is one of those golden texts that summarizes, or outlines, a great deal of wisdom in a single sentence. It begins with freedom from sin, and it shows the steps along the Pathway all the way to eternal life. Every step is essential, but I am particularly interested in the first two. They are two sides of the same truth:

1. being made FREE from sin is wonderful;
but it must be accompanied by

2. becoming servants to God!

There is a correlation between genuine FREEDOM and personal ALLEGIANCE TO GOD!

Last week I quoted from a poem to begin the morning's sermon. At the great risk of being taken for a tool of the English teachers of E.N.C. (or at least one of them) I want to read another poem to introduce my thoughts this morning:

Invictus

*Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.*

*In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.*

*Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.*

*Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.*

*It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.*
-William Ernest Henley

Whoever or whatever else the poet is representing in this verse, the voice in this poem is not a Christian voice.

First, it is very vague about divinity. It says, "I thank whatever gods may be ... "

Second, the voice claims to be its own master, its own captain. Every Christian has a Master. Every Christian confesses: "Jesus is Lord!" But because we own a Master, Christ Jesus, does that make us not free? Is the spirit of Invictus true freedom? What do we Christians know about freedom? What is the relationship of freedom and authority in the Christian life?

I. ABSOLUTE FREEDOM IS ALWAYS AN ILLUSION, PARTICULARLY IN MATTERS ETERNAL

A. No one has absolute control in other areas of life:

1. We come into this world without regard for our will: No one is free to refuse to be born. Not one of us asked to come into this world.
2. We will leave this world whether we want to or not. No one is free to ultimately postpone death. Whether or not we go kicking and screaming or willingly, we shall all go to meet our Maker.

3. We live in this world with many restrictions:
 - a. Limits of nature
 - b. Limits of circumstance and resource
 - c. Limits of courtesy and civil law
- B. So how do we think that simply because we think or say it is so, that we can control those things of eternal destiny? We simply do not understand what mighty powers are at work!

II. THE DELUSION OF SELF-SOVEREIGNTY

- A. But brave Invictus says, "I know life has its limitations! But I'll stand on my own two feet! I won't use the crutch of religion! Given the limitations of life (as you have described them) I will still be my own master, and chart my own course. What's wrong with that?"
- B. This is "self-sovereignty" and it is a delusion. We cannot simply chart our own course!

To say that self-sovereignty is a delusion is not to deny that we face responsibility for the choices we make. But those choices are made possible (1) only by God's grace; and (2) are choices that must be made between powers and forces far greater than we know.
- C. As soon as we choose to yield to sin and selfishness, we are no longer our own masters. Sin is a choice! As soon as we wilfully sin, we are no longer free. Paul writes:

If you yield yourself to anyone to do his will, you are the slaves of whomever you obey, whether that be to sin, which leads to death, or to obedience which leads to righteousness?

Paul tells us, in fact, that there are none free, apart from God's grace, apart from God's Spirit who brings the law of life in Christ Jesus. He writes:

I find then a law that when I would do good evil is present with me. "O wretched man that I am, who will deliver me from this body of death?"
- D. The delusion of self-sovereignty, of saying in effect "I am god in my little world," is the denial of the fact that actually we are trapped in sin's control, and cannot do anything but continue in sin.

We sin because we are sinners. We cannot help ourselves. We are caught in the current of sin, being swept along to death and hell.

III. TRUE FREEDOM COMES FROM CHOOSING TO BE 'IN CHRIST'

- A. Freedom begins with this God-given power to choose which Master we shall serve. Freedom is of grace, the gift of God that enables us to see our need, and make for the Light!

We cannot withstand the mighty tides of life apart from God's guidance. To be "free" apart from God is actually to be in the grip of other powers, seen or unseen:

It is as though we are adrift on a vast ocean, with a double-ended skiff, and oars, and the ability to row. Some seem to be able to row more skillfully than others. But the currents are strong, and no one can row as fast as the tides.

Sometimes where the tides meet there are great eddies, whirlpools, treacherous places. In other places the ocean currents are so broad the sense of movement is hard to detect. But in every case, the currents in this ocean of time are moving far faster than the fastest rowboat can row. The only hope of reaching a destination is to read the tides, to somehow choose a current, to make one's way across the drifts somehow, to move with the mighty flow.

- B. When we cry out to God for help, and by His grace He enables us to say from our hearts: "Jesus is Lord!" we are swept into the current of His life, and His love, and His grace!

We find that we now have the power to become God's own children. We find grace to become like Jesus Himself, to love as He loved.

With Paul we say

It is no longer I that live (in my own strength - with such freedom and power!) Christ is living in me! The life I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God who loved me and gave Himself for me!

C. We begin to experience the freedom that Jesus Christ patterned for us. His freedom becomes our own! How "free" was Jesus? And how can we ever be like Him?

1. Jesus was free from sin! And by His indwelling power, we, too, can be "made free from sin": His grace makes us (1) Free from sin's GUILT: no condemnation. (2) Free from sin's POWER. (3) Free from sin's PENALTY. Christ paid the penalty so that we might live with Him forever.
2. Jesus was free to do the will of God! And we are made free from sin, says our text, as we are made servants to God. Jesus was free from sin, and Jesus came to do the Father's will. The two go together!
3. Jesus was free to live out His life in LOVE!

The way is narrow— if you are on the outside looking in! No one ever faced a harder, more difficult road than our Savior! But He prayed, "Not My will, Thine be done!" He chose to obey and go the way of the cross.

No one ever was more "bound" than Jesus! He was nailed in one place! But in that "binding" Jesus set free all those who would ever trust in Him! And in that narrow way of the cross Jesus won forever a perfect victory over the tyranny of sin and death and hell.

4. Jesus says to every one of us, "Come, Follow Me if you dare! Take your cross, and follow! Come the narrow way of obedience! And I will give you rest!"

CONCLUSION

A. Henley's poem sounds so dramatic, so brave— so free:

*"Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul."*

But it is an empty boast.

B. The text makes it clear: true freedom has two sides— we are never just free from something, we must also be free TO something better!

Free From, Free To

Therefore being made FREE FROM SIN, (we) BECOME SERVANTS TO GOD;
we have our fruit unto holiness- and the end is everlasting life!

We can be free to do the right! To say from our heart, "Jesus is LORD!" sets in motion all the power wrapped up in this mighty text!

CHRISTIANS ARE PEOPLE WHO ARE FREE TO OBEY GOD AND DO HIS WILL!

Prayer:

Heavenly Father, We ask you to help us to be Christians in all we do! Christians who are givers! Christians who give because they love! And Christians who delight to do Your will. In Jesus' Name. Amen.

Prayer Legacy

GEORGE MUELLER'S PRAYER LEGACY

January 22, 1992

In 1836 in Bristol, England, opened an Orphanage with, I believe, 42 children who had neither father or mother. Later Mr. Mueller was able to open several other homes for orphans, and greatly expand the numbers of children he served, the last house holding 700 orphans.

What was unique about these orphanages, however, was the way they were funded and supplied. Mr. Mueller stated that his third aim was the bodily welfare of the children, but higher than that, he sought their spiritual welfare, that they should know Jesus Christ as Savior. But he declared that his chief aim was the glory of God. He wrote:

"I ... particularly longed to be used by God in getting the dear orphans trained up in the fear of God; - but still, the first and primary object of the work was (and still is:) that God might be magnified by the fact, that the orphans under my care are provided with all they need, only by prayer and faith without anyone being asked by me or my fellow-laborers whereby it may be seen, that God is FAITHFUL STILL, and HEARS PRAYER STILL."

[Read one or two instances of answered prayer:] Read Pages 33-37, starting with the last sentence on page 32: How to be effective in prayer. Conclude with George Mueller's " How to Ascertain the Will of God:"

1. "I seek at the beginning to get my heart into such a state that it has no will of its own in regard to a given matter. Nine-tenths of the trouble with people is just here. Nine-tenths of the difficulties are overcome when our hearts are ready to do the Lord's will, whatever it may be. When one is truly in this state, it is usually but a little way to the knowledge of what His will is.

Prayer Legacy

2. Having done this, I do not leave the result to feeling or simple impression. If so, I make myself liable to great delusions.
3. I seek the Will of the Spirit of God through, or in connection with, the Word of God. The Spirit and the Word must be combined. If I look to the Spirit alone without the Word, I lay myself open to great delusions also. If the Holy Ghost guides us at all, He will do it according to the Scriptures and never contrary to them.
4. Next I take into account providential circumstances. These often plainly indicate God's Will in connection with His Word and Spirit.
5. I ask God in prayer to reveal His Will to me aright.
6. Thus, through prayer to God, the study of the Word, and reflection, I come to a deliberate judgment according to the best of my ability and knowledge, and if my mind is thus at peace, and continues so after two or three more petitions, I proceed accordingly. In trivial matters, and in transactions involving the most important issues, I have found this method always effective."

The Freedom from Sin

Nazarenes and the Church of Jesus Christ - Part 3 of 3

3. The Freedom from Sin

January 26, 1992

Text: Romans 3:23

What is there to say about sin? We're against it! Which sin are we talking about? "I hope it isn't the one sin I excuse in my life!"

I am not talking just now about this sin or that sin; I am speaking about sin. Sin is not popular. It is a God-related word; God is the Great Irrelevancy.

I. SIN, SALVATION, AND THE SAVIOR

- A. NEXT TO OUR CONCEPT OF GOD HIMSELF, PERHAPS OUR UNDERSTANDING OF SIN IS THE MOST IMPORTANT PART OF OUR PERSONAL THEOLOGY.

What we understand of the nature of sin has a tremendous effect on the way we seek to come to God. It helps determine how we come to confidence that we are saved, ready for heaven:

1. Two definitions that help some and yet don't say it all:
 - a. Wesley "Sin is a wilful transgression of a known law of God,
 - b. "Sins" (plural) are acts; and "sin" is an inner "bent" or "nature."
2. We might better try to think of how sin is a PERSON-al, or RELATIONAL matter.

Whatever else sin is, it is being WRONG with God. Whatever salvation is, it is being RIGHT with Him.

- B. Think with me through two or three "inner dramas" of people coming to seek salvation. See how the idea of what sin is goes to the heart of how we come to trust:

1. A commonly held "Nazarene" understanding of sin. Sin is being "bad," and sinning separates me from God. Salvation is being GOOD (once I've been to the altar to take care of being BAD).

And later I should come back to the altar to take care of the SIN (singular="bent to sin") so I won't get angry any more.

A. The "drama" goes like this:

I come to the altar. I confess my sins as I am told. I am given a clean slate, which assures me I will go to heaven if I die. I have a list of things I must and must not do. I must read and pray. I must not smoke or drink. I should go to church when I can, but then (Significant Other Person) is rather casual about it, so maybe that isn't all that important.

I start out with confidence. Then a couple of bad things can happen:

- a. I keep all the neat rules, like NOT smoking and NOT drinking and so forth, and so I "know" I am saved even though from year to year I never really come to know the Lord Jesus in any personal way, and I never help any fellow mortal move one inch closer to the kingdom of God; or,
 - b. I soon find out that my clean slate is all messed up. I start over several times. Finally I quit in disgust saying that I cannot honestly live a Christian life. I drop away and say there is nothing real in this fake religion.
 - c. Or— in spite of not having a perfect understanding of all these things I find a personal, growing knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ, and somehow the miracle continues to grow!
2. Let me have the audacity to change the scene. Now I am a hard-shell Baptist, or a child of strict Reformed-Calvinist roots.
My definition of sin is sort of all the above PLUS— sin is ANY COMING SHORT OF THE GLORY OF GOD! And by that I mean any place I should do better and don't, or shouldn't do bad and do. It is ALL sin! All my life I hear the Bible preached as propositional truth. "God said it! I believe it! That settles it!" Here's how MY "salvation drama" goes:

I "come forward." With good solid counseling I "receive the Lord Jesus as Savior."

I understand that He is my Substitute, and that His righteousness is IMPUTED as my own. God now looks at me, and instead of my sins He sees the righteousness of His Son.

I am honor-bound to read and pray and prove the reality of my new birth by (1) Baptism; (2) Tithing; (3) Witnessing.

If I do these things

- a. I often come to live far above the raw simplistic application of the very real Truth of this system, and the discipline carries me into a genuine relationship. OR,
 - b. I drift into old ways, and from time to time I "re-dedicate my life" during times of emotional challenge. All the while I am more-or-less consoled by the fact that I have received "eternal Life" which by definition can never be forfeit, otherwise how is it "eternal?"
 - c. Or— in spite of not having a perfect understanding of all these things I find a personal, growing knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ, and somehow the miracle continues to grow!
3. Let me be even MORE audacious! Let me describe a person with some form of Catholic up-bringing. Sin to me is pretty much defined by the Church. There are mortal sins; there are venal sins. Jesus Christ is GOD and Savior, but the idea of salvation is mediated through both the Word and the Traditions of the Church. I need to (1) be baptized; (2) confirmed; (3) keep current by taking Mass regularly, which should involve regular confession as well.
My "salvation drama" comes when somehow these truths I have been taught become personal to me. I am saved by being in fellowship with the Church, and obeying from the heart its teachings, and IT mediates and brings me to Jesus Christ.

Or— in spite of not having a perfect understanding of all these things I find a personal, growing knowledge of the Lord Jesus Christ, and somehow the miracle continues to grow!

C. IN ALL THESE DIFFERENT STORIES REAL SALVATION NEEDS A PRESENT SAVIOR

No human agency can fully present the truth so powerfully and true that "correct theology" will save. Somehow, by the Word being released and through the preaching I hear, in whatever church, I must grasp -the Idea that God knows ME-! He cares that I have sinned. He is angry with my sins, but I know He loves ME. I am enabled to enter into a personal relationship with Him. I ask Him for mercy and forgiveness. He grants it. I sense that I belong to Him.

[I do not know all the profound things that have taken place in me, perhaps, but I have been genuinely BORN AGAIN: Adopted, Regenerated, Justified!]

A relationship has been established. It is not easily broken! God doesn't give up on His children.

II. SIN AND SALVATION ARE PERSONAL IN NATURE

A. Unless there is a sinner there is no sin!

"Sin does not exist independently of the sinner." Sin is what a sinner does.

The sin is the expression of the sinner. We sin because we are sinners. To quote premier Nazarene theologian, H. Ray Dunning: "We must not so much speak about sin as about man as sinner."

B. But what about "coming short of the glory of God?"

1. We've had Introduction to New Testament and we know that "sin" is usually translated from the Greek word ...'... ‡ ... (hamartia), which means "To miss the mark," and say "Sin is any time we come short of the glory of God."

But we have only a vague Idea of what coming short of God's glory might be. We think it is failing to live up to all the Ten Commandments, perhaps, or any deviation from God's perfect will.

2. The "glory of God" in human beings is the "image of God." The "glory of God" in you and me is the capacity we have for a good relationship with God Himself. It is the capacity to give and receive love from the Creator of the Universe.

Marred by the entrance of willful sin (original sin) the capacity remains to respond to grace.

C. Thus: SIN is that which RUINS OR PERVERTS RELATIONSHIPS

1. A "deadness" toward God. Living life as though a loving heavenly Father does not even exist.
2. A hostility and dishonesty toward fellow humans. The inability to be authentic, to love and receive love. Shutting down of compassion; living for self in advantage to others. Excluding all or part of the best social dimensions of life. The ultimate individualism.
3. A mistaken relationship toward Creation. Either tending to worship the creation as god; OR, to try to dominate it as though WE were God. A total misunderstanding of God-intended role as Vice-Regents
4. A miserable relationship with our own inner self. Helplessness! The dictator within! The usurper! Domination and Tyranny of self (Romans 7)

D. SO: SALVATION IS THAT WHICH DEALS WITH THE SEPARATION(S) OF SIN: Salvation must, then, do these four things: (and it does! it will!)

1. Freedom TO God. Daring to be open to Him! It gives us access to God on High; from far off places it brings us nigh to precious blessings that never die!
2. Freedom for the Other. The ability to relate to others in agape' love
3. Freedom from the Earth. Creation, nor the material benefits of living in this world, do not dominate.

To quote Dunning again:

"The clues to the boundaries of the mandate (Gen 1:28) is "the glory of God," to which unfallen man would be committed. It thus carries responsibility as well as privilege and implies ecological care-taking."

4. Freedom from Self-dominion

Dunning goes on (I am being VERY Nazarene in my conclusions!)

"The Lord becomes the dominant Partner in all relationships, not in an impersonal, arbitrary, or forced way, but in freedom God is made the Center. The uncoerced partner (you and I) can decide to dissolve the situation by attempting to assume an equal partnership, or by usurping the prerogatives of the Creator. In the Fall in Eden this prerogative was actualized. It has been repeated in kind in each of our lives, until we are set free to put the Lord God back at the center of our lives and assume the correct relationship with Him. -H. Ray Dunning

CONCLUSION:

What can we do about sin? What IS sin?

SIN IS WHATEVER KEEPS US FROM LOVING GOD!

SIN IS WHATEVER WE PUT AHEAD OF HIM!

The only way to really KNOW God is to LOVE Him! Love is how God reaches out to us! God so LOVED!

To love is to know— it seems so backwards!

But ultimately we don't come to God by knowing more, or by being better, or by saying more prayers than the next person.

And we don't maintain our relationship with God by having a superior theology than the Calvinists or Catholics.

To LOVE God— to place Him at the center of all we are or ever will be— to ask HIM to love us and forgive us and live in us— THIS is how we overcome SIN! And it is a relationship that never ends!

#241 HIS WAY WITH THEE

Would You Live for Jesus and Be Always Pure and Good

When the Spirit Comes

Receive the Holy Spirit

February 2, 1992 PM

Texts: Ephesians 5:18 and John 20:22

Introduction

1. There are many advantages to being brought up in a holiness church. Yet sometimes I think we get almost too familiar with God and holy things. It is often the most precious gifts that get taken for granted.
2. I am concerned that we holiness churches may come to think that we know all about God, and all about His will, and all about salvation, and particularly, to think that we have all the answers regarding being filled with the Spirit.
3. Even so, we need to ask the question: What does it mean to receive the Holy Spirit? Just what does it mean to be filled with the Spirit? Shouldn't we know the "answers?" Should we, indeed?
4. The answer must be spiritually addressed. Understanding holiness— knowing about being filled with God— is not primarily and first of all an intellectual comprehension, as important as that certainly is.

- a. We must have sound doctrine. Our information about entire sanctification must be both scriptural and Wesleyan.

Unless we have solid Wesleyan preaching, and sound Wesleyan teaching and learning, we will find that we are strongly influenced by the most attractive features of whatever doctrines are being most skillfully or popularly presented at the time.

- b. But even before doctrine is the need for a vital contact with God.

DOCTRINE and EXPERIENCE and PRACTICE are like three legs of a tripod. Each one is absolutely essential.

To the unconverted WORLD the only side of salvation they can see or care about in any way is PRACTICE.

To the safe-guarding of the kingdom, and the ongoing health of the CHURCH, the most important side of salvation is DOCTRINE. But in the life of the INDIVIDUAL (the American rugged individual!!) there is nothing more important than personal EXPERIENCE.]

- c. God's Spirit must bring Christ's LIFE into being into your heart and mine. It will never contradict God's revelation; it will finally agree with sound doctrine. But we are not saved first of all by WHAT we think we know, but by HIM WE KNOW WE KNOW!

- 5. Here is a quote from a great holiness exponent of a generation or so ago, Samuel Chadwick:

"The fullness of God is in Christ and Christ lives in men through His Spirit. He is Himself the gift. He brings all the blessings of grace, and wisdom, and power, but He is the blesser and the blessing. There is in the soul a very true sense of a divinely real Presence. The Spirit makes the Presence real. This is the crowning mystery and glory of grace. The Christian religion is not a set of doctrines about Christ, neither is it a rule of life based on the teaching and example of Christ. It is not even an earnest and sincere endeavor to live according to the mind and spirit of Christ.

It is LIFE, and that Life is the Life of Christ. It is the continuation of the Life of the Risen Lord in his Body, which is the Church, and in the Christian religion as set forth in the New Testament. It is not a system but a Presence; the Spirit of Christ indwelling the spirit of man."

- 6. Our knowledge of the indwelling Spirit— our answer to the question, "What does it mean to be filled with the Spirit needs to have this quality of LIFE in it! We cannot simply say, "I subscribe to the Nazarene position!" Our hearts must be tuned to the Presence of God! NOW we will look at the answer scripturally:

I. WE RECEIVE THE SPIRIT OF GOD WHEN WE ARE BORN OF THE SPIRIT

John 20:22 / Romans 8:9

- A. On the first Easter evening Jesus met with His disciples. Were they glad to see Him! And then the Bible says that Jesus breathed on them and said: "Receive the Holy Spirit!"
- B. We receive the Spirit and the great work of being made in Christ's own image is begun, in the crisis moment when we are born of the Spirit of God. Jesus made it clear in talking to Nicodemus that when we are made alive in Him we are born of the Spirit. (John 3:8). And Paul says even more powerfully, (Romans 8:9) If any man have not the Spirit of Christ he is none of His.
- C. No one is ever born again— receives Jesus Christ as personal Savior, without also receiving the Holy Spirit. In understandable zeal for the truth of entire sanctification we may speak of Christians as "receiving the Spirit" as though they had not known Him at all before. This is not scriptural! Every Christian is the Temple of the Holy Ghost, and every Christian is sanctified in this initial and very true sense.
- D. The Spirit brings with Himself into the life of every man, woman, boy or girl who received Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord all the qualities of the Christ-life. There in the inner being are at least the embryonic qualities of all the mighty fruit of the Spirit (see Galatians 5:22,23) of love, joy, peace and all the rest.
- E. But the testimony of universal experience is that there is a deeper and deeper relationship with God to be explored. The Spirit is present in every child of God, making Jesus increasingly real, and fellowship with Him possible. Have YOU come alive in Christ by His Spirit?

Still, this is not all there is to receiving God's Spirit:

II. WE RECEIVE THE SPIRIT OF CLEANSING AND EMPOWERING WHEN WE ARE SANCTIFIED WHOLLY

(Acts 2: "They were in one place, in one accord, etc...")

- A. The Bible does not speak merely of the "coming" of the Holy Spirit, but of the COMINGS.
- B. Listen to what a current holiness advocate, Robert E. Coleman, of Asbury, says:

Interestingly enough, when we get through all the theological differences, a remarkable number of men and women greatly used of God from various schools of thought witness to essentially the same kind of a plus experience in their own lives. Naturally, they speak of it in different ways, depending upon their particular doctrinal point of view. Some call it "entire sanctification," "holiness," "perfect love," or "the victorious life." Others may prefer to describe it as "the baptism of the Holy Spirit," "the rest of faith," "death to self," or something else. The terminology, however, is not the important thing. What is significant is that there exists among Christian leaders representing many different theological and church connections a basic unanimity of agreement upon the fact— the fact of a deeper and abiding life in Christ that is entered into subsequent to regeneration whereby the trusting heart is delivered from the bondage of self, filled with the Holy Spirit, and set aflame by the love of God to serve the Lord with gladness.

- C. There is an experience, a crisis experience of entire and complete consecration, of full surrender, to which as children of God we are brought by the loving conviction of the Holy Spirit. To this complete consecration, in response to faith, the Holy Spirit COMES in sanctifying fullness, not merely to reside, but to PRESIDE in the heart of the believer.

But this, marvelous as it is, is not all that is implicit in the simple command of Jesus: Receive the Spirit!

III. WE RECEIVE THE SPIRIT OF ADEQUACY DAY BY DAY AS WE APPROPRIATE HIS PRESENCE AND POWER

(Ephesians 5:18)

- A. The "coming of the Spirit" is not over and ended when we enter the relationship of entire sanctification. For again and again we read in the account of the early church how the people, challenged by evil powers, or blocked by civil authorities, facing death or imprisonment, would come together and pray, and in answer to their prayer they would be "FILLED WITH THE HOLY SPIRIT!"

This important verse, as important as any in the New Testament, is properly translated "Be being filled with the Spirit!" Make being filled with God an on-going reality in your life!.

- B. One reason the power of God is not manifested more in Christian's lives is that Christians are not living at that end of the scale where the Spirit's power is urgently needed!

If we are content to take our pure and holy selves off into the corner (like Little Jack Horner) and congratulate ourselves on our doctrinal purity and our ethical honesty while the rest of the world suffers and bleeds, we will never know the reality of what BEING FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT REALLY IS ALL ABOUT!

But if we stay in step with Jesus by His indwelling Spirit— if we let HIM challenge our pure minds with HIS love— He will take us into situations where we are way over our heads— where we KNOW WE CAN NOT MAKE IT UNLESS HE POURS IN HIS SPIRIT!

- C. But the beautiful thing is— if we are HIS! No holds barred— no reservations— then THE SPIRIT DOES COME! He comes with His adequacy! He comes in His love and power day by day as we need HIM!

Conclusion:

God is bigger than we can grasp! Being filled with His Spirit is a promise that staggers our imagination— but it is His promise!

We may not know all ABOUT God— and we may not even have all the answers about being filled with the Spirit; but we can in fact know God, and we can in fact be filled with His Spirit!

God is not only BIGGER than you think— God is NEARER THAN YOU KNOW! God is HERE JUST NOW! He is bringing witness to the truth about His salvation. He is telling YOU that you can have His Spirit deep within!

GOD: "Do you know Me?" "Do you really WANT to know Me?"

When the Spirit Comes

I ask you myself, this evening: ARE YOU FILLED WITH THE SPIRIT?

ARE YOU SATISFIED THAT GOD HAS ALL OF YOU?

ARE YOU DAILY ASKING TO BE BEING FILLED?

Light in a Dark World

Exodus 27:20-21

Matthew 25:7 Our lamps are going out ...

Introduction

I am using The One Year Bible for personal devotions this year. February 7 there was an interesting juxtaposition of Exodus 27 and Matthew 25. There is the common theme of oil lamps and the need to keep them burning bright. And the Old Testament passage spoke to me.

Granted, there are passages in the Old Testament that require patience, lists of names and the like. But the Old Testament is still the Bible. It is part of God's inspired revelation.

Jesus knew and loved the Old Testament scriptures, and quoted from them. He urged even His critics to search the scriptures. "They testify of Me!" He said.

This passage in Exodus can illuminate one very vital Gospel truth. It is the simple command of God to keep the light burning in the inner room of the Tent of Meeting.

I. A LIGHT IN THE TENT OF MEETING

A. AN OLD TESTAMENT 'PICTURE-LESSON'

1. God had delivered His people from bondage in Egypt. They were "free," but they were in the desert. God was leading them to a place they knew as the Promised Land. God led His people by one miracle after another. God STILL leads His people, and it is always a miracle when God enters into the affairs of men and women.
2. God met with His people in a special way in a place called the "tabernacle," or Tent of Meeting. It was a holy place because it was there God's Presence was manifested.

3. The assignment for the priests who looked after the Holy Place is the message of our text: they were to keep the lamps burning with a supply of pure olive oil so that there would be a light in the Tent of Meeting. They were never to let the light go out. This task was a relatively simple chore. Not too exciting. Not too difficult. But necessary. A light in the inner sanctuary, the holy place.

B. JESUS PICKS UP AND EXPANDS ON THIS OLD TESTAMENT THEME:

1. The idea of a well-tended, ever-burning flame in the Holy Place gives insight into (or at least resonates with) the parable of the wise and foolish virgins. You probably know the story line.
2. The setting of an ancient Mid-East wedding is too remote, culturally, for us to make too much of the specific customs. A lot of sermons have been preached about what this or that signifies.
3. But there is one vivid lesson Jesus drives home: A lamp or lamps that were supposed to be burning bright are flickering and going out. And somehow the results of that darkness when the Bridegroom comes are disastrous! Just when the oil is most needed the cry is, "Give us some of your oil! Our lamps are going out!"
4. Probably not one of us here this morning has given thought that today might be the day when we meet the Bridegroom, or when He might return and call for our lamps to shine. But what could Jesus have been teaching in this parable?

II. EACH PERSON HAS A HOLY PLACE, A 'TENT OF MEETING'

- A. A GOD-ROOM IN YOUR HEART! Wherever or however God speaks to you, that God-connection is the most important thing in all the world! GOD IS SPEAKING TO YOU!

When the world is convinced that God has spoken in a special way to this or that person, the religious of the world tend to build a shrine, and people come by the thousands.

But God wants to speak personally, unmistakably, to each one of us!

1. A PERSONAL GOD-CONNECTION IS 'CRAZY TALK' TO A MODERN WORLD - Make no mistake: the very idea that God Himself meets with you or me is revolutionary. It takes a miracle. We may not think too much about it. Or, we may submit to the spirit of the age and think that God-business is a "personal matter," or listen to the propaganda that God is the Great Irrelevancy. Whatever we think, God still intends to make a keep a connection with each one of us in this present world (as un-holy as it is)! GOD WANTS TO SPEAK WITH YOU!

2. God has put within each one of us a "Tent of Meeting." There is a place built into the human personality a place where we can pray, and where we can approach God. Everyone prays sometime or another. It is this holy place that God wants to help us furnish. This is the ONE PLACE where a pure light needs to be kept burning.
3. This simple "chore" of keeping a flame burning in our Meeting Place with God is easy to overlook. So many OTHER things seem important in this "business-of-being-Christian!" Do this! JOIN here! LEARN these rules! BUT NOTHING IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN TO SEE THAT THE LIGHT OF OUR FIRST LOVE NEVER GOES OUT!
4. PERHAPS OUR GREATEST SINGLE NEED IN A HIGH-TECH WORLD IS THE SIMPLE DISCIPLINE OF DAILY PRAYER.

Yes, it is important that we learn to sacrifice. It is vital that we invest our lives in the inner cities and the rural mission fields. Yes, we must care about the needy.

But all these things are in vain if, when at the end of the day, when we meet Jesus, we have a flickering Lamp at the center of our heart where we are supposed to meet the Presence!

5. John Wesley wrote in his Journal:

"Wisely said the ancients, 'The soul and body make a man; the Spirit and discipline make a Christian.'" (1)

Keeping the lamp of love for God burning is not an impossible thing to do. If it is sometimes a chore, so be it. Think of the Old Testament priests keeping the lamps lit in the Tent of Meeting, and later in the Temple. Not exciting in and of itself: a light in the holy place.

[But you say: "Get practical! It is difficult! Can you give some help?]

B. KEEPING THE LIGHT ON IN THIS GOD-ROOM OF OUR SPIRIT

1. Come to God person-to-PERSON. Make personal contact every day. Start and end prayer time by affirming your love to God; by telling Him that you are His, available for sacrifice or service. Try to "make contact" every day. Or better, try to walk and talk with God every hour. It is NOT silly. It SHOULD be normal, if we are His people!
2. Develop good PATTERNS of devotion. We will read the Bible. We will pray prayers of worship, surrender, intercession. But these "ways" or patterns will vary. There are different ways to read the Bible; different patterns of prayer. It never becomes "automatic." As soon as you find a new, fresh and meaningful way to "do devotions" it may well go stale. Give even the staleness to Christ! Maybe we honor Him more by praying when we don't feel like it than when we do!
3. Be prepared for the duration! PATIENCE! It takes time to keep the inner chambers of the soul "filled." This is not just an electronic transfer of funds from one bank to another; this is a working of one Spirit on another spirit. It takes some time. Ephesians 5:18 says: "Be being filled with the Spirit!"
4. The INNER LIGHT is the SOURCE for everything else that is done in the Christian Life!

C. IF THE 'INNER LIGHT' IS BURNING, THE WORLD WILL SEE THE LIGHT

1. The inner light unfolds the PROMISE Jesus said that when the Spirit comes (to His own Church) the Spirit will reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment to come.(2)
2. The inner light makes real Christ's PRESENCE. Before we need money (and we need money!) and before we need plans and programs (and we need them, too!)... before we need anything else we need to be sure that the light is burning bright in that Holy Place in our hearts where we meet with God! Jesus died on the cross so that we might have this holy conversation with God! Jesus saves us so that we might be RIGHT with God! Jesus sanctifies us so that we might have fellowship with God!

3. The inner light defines life's PURPOSE Then— if the light is burning in our Inner Sanctum our everyday conversation will be transformed! When the lamp is bright it cannot be hidden within ourselves.

Conclusion

A. THE LIGHT WE MUST KEEP BURNING IS THE LOVE WE SHARE WITH GOD, THROUGH JESUS CHRIST

1. LOVE IS NEVER 'ABSTRACT'. Probably you have heard many sermons about how the "oil" is the symbol of the Holy Spirit; how we need to have this or that experience. I want to tell you that those sermons are true.

But the Holy Spirit is NOT an just an experience or a symbol. The Holy Spirit is NOT "oil" or a "thing." The Holy Spirit is a Person, and at its very essence SALVATION IS A RELATIONSHIP.

To have this "oil," to keep the "light burning" is to make the Spirit of Jesus welcome, and to keep Him in absolute first place in our thoughts and words and actions.

2. JESUS SAID "FOLLOW ME!" We seem to think that this is such a dreadfully hard thing! It IS, if we only think of the "task" of reading our Bible every day, and spending "so much" time in prayer.

But it is not an impossible task if we keep the real purpose in mind! We are making Jesus know that He is loved! We are trying to get to know Him, and know Him better and better! We are keeping HIM in first place!

[Back to Exodus:] The priests had a "chore." It wasn't difficult. It was important. Whatever it took to keep the lamps lit is what they did!

B. OUR FIRST TASK IS TO LOVE JESUS!

1. NURTURE YOUR RELATIONSHIPS. Salvation is first of all a love, and a trust, a relationship between God's heart and your heart.

Every relationship needs to be nurtured. Re-kindling, encouraging, enhancing is necessary for every human relationship. In our marriages, in our friendships, in our families, and certainly within our church family. It is necessary in our homes between parents and children, and between children and parents and brothers and sisters.

And it is also necessary in our most important relationship: our relationship with Father God through Jesus Christ His Son, by the Gift of the Holy Spirit.

2. A CHILLING WARNING!: JESUS SPOKE THESE WORDS ABOUT OUR LOVE FOR HIM: In this same discourse (in Matthew 24:12,13) Jesus made this flat statement. To me it is chilling:

Because of the increase of wickedness the love of most will grow cold; but the one who stands firm to the end will be saved.(3)

Who can deny that wickedness has increased during your lifetime and mine?

[I often wonder, knowing that God is just, and knowing how He judged Sodom and Gomorrah, what great impending JUDGMENT lies in store for the civilization in which you and I live! Wickedness has increased!]

But even amid all this wickedness it is pretty much "business as usual" for Christians. We think "We're here! The church is pretty full! WE are righteous even if the world is pretty bad!

But Jesus did not say, "The righteousness of many will grow cold!" And He did not say, "The honesty of most of My people will be called in question." Or, "The faithfulness to committee meetings will grow slack." That is not what is breaking His heart!

Rather than these, Jesus says, "Because of the increase of wickedness, the LOVE of MOST will grow cold! — You really won't love Me any more!"

The message I get in Jesus' parable about brides and lamps and all is that I need to keep a light burning in that God-room of my heart, where I meet with Him every day! IT ISN'T AUTOMATIC!

How about YOU?

Prayer: Lord— help us to do whatever is necessary to keep that central connection up to date! Keep us close to You. Amen.

Thoughts on the Church

FAITH PROMISE SUNDAY

February 22, 1992

Ephesians 4:11-16; 25 It was [Christ] who gave some to be apostles, some to be prophets, some to be evangelists, and some to be pastors and teachers, to prepare God's people for works of service, so that the body of Christ may be built up until we all reach unity in the faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God and become mature, attaining the full measure of perfection found in Christ.

Then we will no longer be infants, tossed back and forth by the waves, and blown here and there by every wind of teaching and by the cunning and craftiness of men in their deceitful scheming.

Instead, speaking the truth in love, we will in all things grow up into Him who is the Head, that is, Christ. From Him the whole body, joined and held together by every supporting ligament, grows and builds itself up in love, as each part does its work.

THEREFORE, EACH OF YOU MUST PUT OFF FALSEHOOD AND SPEAK TRUTHFULLY TO HIS NEIGHBOR, FOR WE ARE ALL MEMBERS OF ONE BODY.

ALSO

Romans 12:1-5 "So we, being many, are members one of another..."

Including a word or two about "gifts."

Introduction

This is one of the great chapters of the Bible; vital to the understanding of "the nature of the church." We return to it again and again because it speaks of "gifts" and "grace."

Romans 12:1-5 is also tremendously familiar, and Romans 12 speaks also of "gifts."

I. THE GIFTS OF THE SPIRIT ARE REALLY GOD'S GIFTS TO THE CHURCH "GOD GAVE (GIFTS) SO THE BODY MAY BE BUILT UP"

We have interest in "gifts of the Spirit." Rightly so. But it is easy to be self-centered: what does God have for ME?

The thrust of the scripture is CHURCH-CENTERED: What does God want me to do in order that His kingdom may come?

Our 'gifts' are really not our own, but for the church; you are intended to be God's gift to the church.

WE ARE GOD'S GIFTS TO EACH OTHER!

II. THE CENTRAL PLACE OF 'THE CHURCH' IN THE FAITH

A. OUR VERY LIVES ARE TO BE LIVED WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THE CHURCH

We tend to view the church as a "helper" to provide what we need in order to live a full and rich Christian life.

The New Testament view of the church was more like a "second coming" or "spiritual-re-visitation" of THE EXODUS! A body of people, making their way together to a Promised Land under the direct guidance of God!

B. IN THE CHURCH WE ARE EXPECTED TO 'PULL OUR WEIGHT!'

"DON'T BE (REMAIN) BABIES!"

Babies are great, but they are takers. The best thing about a baby is that it does not remain a baby Babies are also shaky on their legs. They are not much at direction and distance. Mere walking is a victory.

The message of this passage is that as the 'gifts' are exercised, babies become children become adolescents become adults become parents become pillars in the church!

III. WE ARE CALLED TO BE A COMMUNITY OF THE TRUTH (Verse 25)

A. THE "WORD" TODAY IS TRUTH! THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE!

Are we willing to live and die by what is TRUE?

The "word" is not (first of all) "RELEVANT." We have spent too much time trying to tell the world that Jesus is nice, and that He doesn't mind this or that just so long as we are "sincere."

We need to hear Jesus say: "I AM THE WAY!"

Are we willing to live and die by what is TRUE?

The "word" is not (first of all) "PEACE" or "JUSTICE." Jesus said: "If you follow Me you will be misunderstood and hated! If you follow me you will have to be more interested in pleasing GOD than in what other people think! I DID NOT COME TO BRING PEACE BUT A SWORD!"

Are we willing to live and die by what is TRUE?

Our effort is NOT (first of all) TO MAKE THIS WORLD A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE: which is NOT an excuse to forget the physical needs of men and women and children—

But we need to hear Jesus say: UNLESS A PERSON IS BORN AGAIN HE CANNOT (EVEN) SEE THE KINGDOM OF GOD!"

B. THE TRUTH DECLARES ALL PEOPLE BORN ARE SINNERS THAT NEED TO BE SAVED

1. The best the world can offer is the old, shop-worn, out- dated model that "If we just make conditions better— if we just educate— if we just legislate— that "Human-Goodness" will "come through".

2. God's WORD says "NO! Mankind is not just POOR, not just SICK, not just UNDERPRIVILEGED . . . but we are BORN IN SIN AND WE NEED A SAVIOR!"
3. UNTIL WE HAVE BEEN TO THE CROSS, AND HAVE BEEN SAVED, WASHED IN THE BLOOD OF JESUS, WE ARE LOST AND ON OUR WAY TO AN ETERNITY WITHOUT GOD AND WITHOUT HOPE!

THE CHURCH NEEDS TO MAKE THAT MESSAGE ITS FIRST PRIORITY!

C. 'SAVED SINNERS' JUST CANNOT MAKE IT ON THEIR OWN!

1. The 'wisdom' of our modern age says "It is stupid to believe in "born-again-type religion," but if you are going to be a Christian REMEMBER THAT FAITH IS A PURELY PERSONAL MATTER!

We have been brought up in a society that values "the rugged individual" so much that even we Christians do not realize the power of true community!

So often when we come to faith, we then fall into the devil's PLOY of isolating and separating and individualizing our faith!

2. Even "church" is seen as a Supermarket where the individual gets supplies, instead of The Tabernacle, or the Meeting Place, where the Body of Christ gets together to hear from the Father; where we find mutual support and help and blessing.

D. GOD HAS GIVEN US THE CHURCH/ AND GIVEN US TO THE CHURCH!

1. We really do need each other. We need to live together in love. Our journey demands it.

Our speaker this morning brought us a shocking tale of what it is like to try to live for Jesus in a hostile environment.

But I wonder sometimes the atmosphere of the United States of America in 1992- right where WE live— is not even more hostile, and perhaps a harder place in which to LIVE IN A COMMUNITY OF ABSOLUTE TRUTH!??

2. William Willimon and Stanley Hauerwas have written a serious book (Resident Aliens) in which the main figure of the title describes what it is like for Christians trying to live by the words of Jesus in our present world.

Perhaps we need to come to grips with this figure of living in alien environment. It is hard if not impossible to keep our children away from exposure to the sin. We have to begin early; be wise; ask for God's grace to LIVE BY THE TRUTH!

3. "Individual Christianity" just won't make it in these desperate times!

[WM Greathouse's figure of divers (deep sea sort of divers) in the alien environs with air-hoses going to the surface - communicating by shouting into each other's face-plate— cutting the air-hoses when they become entangled...]

BY GOD'S GRACE, OUR VISION MUST BE THAT 'LOVE ONE ANOTHER,' AND THAT TELLS THE TRUTH TO ONE ANOTHER!

- A. WE SHALL BE A COMMUNITY IF we support each other at the immediate level; the church family
- B. We support each other at the "network" level: Paul goes to Jerusalem, and there sees a great need; he authorizes an offering throughout the Christian churches and carries the money with him for relief of the brethren there.
- C. We "network" with those needs God has entrusted to us:
 - General Budget of $ 33,000.00
 - Second Church 12,000.00
 - Quincy Crisis Center 2,000.00
 - Team Assignments &
 - Student work? ??,???.??

Conclusion:

On this Faith Promise Sunday we really do need your support, your money! BUT ON A MUCH DEEPER LEVEL, GOD REALLY IS COUNTING ON YOU TO (1) MAKE SURE THAT

YOU ARE SAVED, AND THEN (2) TO BE A PART OF HIS 'EXODUS CARAVAN' ON THE WAY TO THE PROMISED LAND!

You have gifts, if you belong to God! But those gifts do NOT belong to you, to bring YOU fame and glory! Those gifts are for you to pour back INTO THE CHURCH in order that the Church might continue to do the will of its Head, our Lord Jesus!

Entering Gods Rest

March 15, 1992

Exodus 33:14 My Presence shall go with you, and I will give you rest.

Hebrews 4:9-11 There remains, then, a Sabbath-rest for the people of God; for anyone who enters God's rest also rests from his own work, just as God did from His. Let us, therefore, make every effort to enter that rest

...

My grandson, Ben, is 'going down the tubes.' He is a Bruins fan! Last week, through the kindness of one of his uncles, he saw his very first B's game at the (Boston) Garden.

Now Boston at night is no place for a little boy of five- going-on-six. And if you have ever attended a sporting event in Boston Garden you know it is not the place for the timid or the delicate.

Ben began his night by spontaneously praying for a parking space. His dad was foolish enough to drive into Boston. They found one immediately! It cost $9.00!

Once inside and seated, Ben introduced himself, more or less, to all the people in his section. He felt right at home. He shared his popcorn. He made a number of new friends.

About the middle of the second period Ben had had enough hockey so he lay down in his seat and put his head in his dad's lap and his feet in the lap of the lady on the other side. She was not at all offended, according to the report I got. But for some reason dad decided it was time to go home, and Ben never woke up when he was put into bed that night.

It is wonderful to have such a simple trust, and not have that trust violated! I admit that Ben and hockey are a far cry from Moses and the text. But there is a parallel here: see if you can see it. I'll give you a hint: It has to do with trust!

Moses is a BIG (important) man! Moses is SMART, too! Moses has accomplished the impossible as he has obeyed God.

But now Moses is daunted! He has begun a great task. He doesn't see how in the world he can complete it!

So Moses prays! He says, "Lord, please show me HOW!" (Doesn't that make sense?)

But God answers, "First I need to show you WHO!!" And then God spoke about a place "near to Me," - a place near God!

God's reply to Moses' prayer for guidance says two things that WE can take as our own. It says first, "My PRESENCE shall go with you!" When you are seeking to do my will, you are NOT simply 'on your own.'

And then God said "I- my Presence with you- will give you REST!" When we are conscious that God is near, and all is right between "us" there comes an inner assurance! Again and again we need to go into that assurance! Again and again we need to find the "place near to Me!"

Then God instructed Moses, and there was a special time when Moses beheld something of the power and wonder and glory of God in a marvelous way, in the cleft of a rock.

One question we ask when we read of great mountain-peak experiences of assurance such as Moses had is, was this a one- time sort of thing, or did he then have/ can I have this assurance and rest all the time?

It WAS a time of great reassurance! Certainly the unique experience of God's Presence passed, but Moses could never doubt that God had given him assurance. Maybe that is one of the purposes what the holiness people have always called the "second work of grace." It IS important that we have those times of consecration and glory in response to our cry to God for His Presence!

General Superintendent Lee M. Haines of the Wesleyan Church in a theology conference in February, 1992, Kansas City said that he calls that special time "an intensifying moment of sanctification."

Instead of being just a one-time "blessing," for Moses, this one-on-one walk with God became a way of life: in times of crisis, Moses went to God in private. God gave record in Holy Writ that even in those Old Testament times He spoke with Moses face-to-face!

But you and I are tempted to say, that was Moses— and none of us is Moses! Is there such a place near to God for EVERYONE? Is THAT what Hebrews 4 is saying? Can we live "by the Presence?"

Robert Coles is a Harvard teacher. Robert Coles is also an author. He is a psychiatrist specializing in what makes children tick.

Robert Coles came to faith— or was profoundly changed— by seeing the reality of the "rest of God's PRESENCE" in children of faith, particularly in one six-year-old girl named Ruby.

Ruby had tremendous occasion for stress. She was the only black child in an elementary school in 1960 in New Orleans at the time when federal law said there must be integration. All the white children then were removed from the school by angry parents, so Ruby was the only child in the school. And twice every day hundreds of angry people met Ruby at the door of the school to taunt and swear at her— six years old! In Travels with Charlie, John Steinbeck described Ruby, although he did not at that time know who she was or anything about what was going on in her insides. His description of the terrible anger expressed and poured out on the delicate little black child is powerful and almost nauseating.

Robert Coles was also in New Orleans in 1960, on personal business. He was fascinated with the stressful situation; he had studied children in stress here in Boston. He asked for and received permission to interview Ruby and her family during the most stressful time in their lives. To his amazement he found that Ruby and her family were sustained and upheld by a very real and profound peace. He came, almost grudgingly, to realize that the peace was genuine!

Here is some verbatim dialogue Robert Coles recorded in 1960. Ruby's teacher had told Robert Coles that morning that Ruby had spoken to the people who were shouting at her. He was very interested:

I asked her, "Ruby, how was your day today?"

She said, "It was okay."

"I was talking to your teacher today and she told me that she asked you about something when you came into school early this morning."

"I don't remember," Ruby said.

"Your teacher told me she saw you talking to people in the street."

"Oh, yes. I told her I wasn't talking to them. I was just saying a prayer for them."

"Ruby, you pray for the people there?"

"Oh, yes."

"Really?"

"Yes."

I said, "Why do you do that?"

"Because they need praying for," she answered.

"Do they?"

"Oh, yes."

"Ruby, why do you think they need you to pray for them?"

"Because I should."

"Why?"

"Because I should."

Then [Coles continues] Ruby's mother came into the room. She had heard this line of inquiry and she said, "We tell Ruby that it's important that she pray for the people." She said that Ruby had the people on a list and prayed for them at night.

I said, "Ruby, you pray for them at night, too?"

"Oh, yes."

"Why do you do that?"

"Well, because they need praying for." Mrs. Bridges told me Ruby had been told, in Sunday School, to pray for the people. I later found that the minister in their Baptist church also prayed for the people. Publicly. Every Sunday.

I said to Mrs. Bridges, and then to her husband later, "You know it strikes me that that is a lot to ask of Ruby. I mean, given what she's going through." And they looked at me, very confused.

"We're not asking her to pray for them because we want to hurt her or anything," said Mrs. Bridges, "but we think that we all have to pray for people like that, and we think Ruby should, too." And then she looked at me and said, "Don't you think they need praying for?"

"Yes, I agree with you there, " I said. "But I still think it's a little much to ask Ruby to pray for them."

But Robert Coles marveled that he, a trained child Psychiatrist, could not pick up any devastating symptoms of tension in the Bridges home. And he went on to say how Ruby Bridges and her 'inexplicable prayers' had caused him to think of how he had neglected the connection between the study of justice and ethics and fairness and the humble practice of living by the words of Jesus.[1]

To be honest, I don't know if I could have the simple, profound faith of the Bridges family. But the promise of our text is very direct and clear. Let's look at it again:

Entering Gods Rest

There remains, then, a Sabbath-rest for the people of God; for anyone who enters God's rest also rests from his own work, just as God did from His. Let us, therefore, make every effort to enter that rest . Hebrews 4:9-11

It is NOT a "rest from work" or a promise of an easy life without trials and even, finally, physical death. But it is the same answer that Moses got when he asked God for a crash course in "migration management principles." Remember? God's reply to Moses' prayer for guidance said two things that WE can take as our own: My PRESENCE shall go with you! When you are seeking to do my will, you are NOT simply 'on your own.'

And God also promised (My PRESENCE) - I - WILL GIVE YOU REST! When we are conscious that God is near, and all is right between "us" there comes an inner assurance! Again and again we need to go into that assurance! Again and again we need to find the "place near to Me!"

Like Ben at the hockey game, we know that if we go to sleep before the game is over, we will wake up in the morning where we belong!

A Call to Worship the God of Heaven and Earth

March 29, 1992 PM - Lent IV

Lesson: Deuteronomy 4:23-40 & Deuteronomy 6:4-9

Deuteronomy 6:4-9; 4:39, 24, 31, 29

Introduction

The Shemä is a focal point for worship. [Deut. 6:4 Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one. Love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength.] It calls the faithful to the wonder of the Mystery that is our God.

Jesus used the Shemä, recorded in Mark (12:29) when a teacher of the law came to Him, seriously seeking to draw closer to God. This teacher asked Him 'What is the most important commandment?' Jesus, quoting our text, reminded him that the key in seeking to understand God is LOVE! God is to be loved, not merely 'studied' or 'talked about' with disinterest.

And Jesus quickly added that we need to love one another as well.

[Whenever WE speak about God we should always seek to have this added factor of love and reverence and even worship. The "LORD" (note the small capital letters in your English Bible text) refers to what we call YHWH, the "unspeakable name." This is the name that we have translated "I AM THAT I AM."

[God is never an "object." He is to be approached with awe.]

Look with me at some Lenten truth contained in the Shemä:

Deuteronomy 4:6 "The LORD is ONE." (Also) Deuteronomy 4:39 Acknowledge and take to heart this day that the Lord is God in heaven above and on the earth below.

I. OUR GOD IS THE GOD OF HEAVEN AND EARTH

A. ONE GOD— a God for all of life and living.

1. Israel's neighbors did not operate from this radical concept of religion. They had gods who met their (perceived) needs. The reason their gods fitted their situation so well was pretty simple: they had invented their own gods.
2. There was probably a strong temptation on the part of the Israelis to take the gods of their hostile neighbors seriously. It "made sense:" their LORD God had done miracles in Egypt and the desert. But what did HE know about agriculture and settled living in Canaan? So Moses reminded them: ONE God— for all of life!
3. Before we condemn these heathen idol-makers- did you ever consider that WE pick and choose bits and pieces of scripture to make a composite sketch of a "God" of the Bible who meets OUR needs— or what we feel or "believe" to be our needs??

[EVERYBODY seems to be an "expert" on the subject of God! We hear people say, "God wouldn't do that!" or, "God doesn't care about that!" And amazingly, God usually agrees with the person talking!]

If we select those scripturally true statements about God that appeal to us, and refuse to meet face-to-face with the God who IS, we are no better than the enemies of Israel, and our God is NOT the God of the Bible.

B. ONE GOD FOR ALL OF LIFE AND LIVING

1. We want a "heavenly God" that we can meet (and leave) in the church; a God to whom we dedicate our babies, and before Whom we take our wedding vows. We want a God to explain our fears of death away.
2. But when we leave the church we have a variety of earthly influences that demand that we listen to them. They want to set our values and kindle our admiration. Our idols may be as concrete and real as a fine car, or as abstract and ethereal as "financial security"— they can be as pervasive as "eternal youth," or as subtle as the intellectual pride of proving we are keeping up with the academic cutting edge. But we need to recognize them for what they are:

the idols of our day.

- C. ONE GOD — who is still the "self-revealer," the I AM THAT I AM. This text is NOT out of date; remember, Jesus used the Shemä. We come to know this self-revealing God as we reach out to Him in love!

Deuteronomy 4:24 For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

Deuteronomy 4:31 For the Lord your God is a merciful God; he will not abandon or destroy or forget the covenant with your forefathers, which he confirmed to them by oath.

II. ONE GOD BOTH MERCIFUL AND HOLY

A. A DIFFICULT TRUTH, BUT TRUE JUST THE SAME

Sometimes justice and righteousness and holiness seem to be incompatible with forgiveness and tenderness and mercy. A God of both awesome justice and great compassion seems to us like paradox: WHAT IS THIS ONE GOD? Is He demanding and just and aloof? Or is He condescending and merciful, a sort of cosmic soft-touch? Is He a God fit for heaven? Or, is He a God for city streets?

1. If only this One God would stay in heaven— and sort of shout down from time to time when he wanted a sacrifice, but for the most part just leave the day-to-day living to us, so that we didn't have to miss the "soaps" or whatever we want to do, we could get along fine.

We could call on Him if our children got a high fever or there was a tornado watch, but for the most part He can just stay in heaven where He belongs.

2. But NO— we do not have just one simple statement (God is HOLY! or God is JUST! or God is 'UNCONDITIONAL LOVE'. We have what appear to be conflicting statements:

A Call to Worship the God of Heaven and

B. GOD IS A CONSUMING FIRE, a "jealous God. Deuteronomy 4:24 For the LORD your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God.

1. Granted, this is an Old Testament passage. It represents "earlier understandings" about God, but is it passé? "Jealousy" is usually a mean, cheap adjective. But there is appropriate jealousy!
2. In a marriage relationship petty jealousy can stifle and crush a trust and love; but at the same time a marriage relationship is based on the fidelity of both partners to covenant vows. If the solemn vows of marriage are taken lightly the relationship is in serious trouble. God cares about us so much that He does not take our covenant lightly!

C. GOD IS ALWAYS OPEN TO HEAR YOUR CRY; HE IS MERCIFUL AND LOVING Deuteronomy 4:31 For the Lord your God is a merciful God; he will not abandon or destroy or forget the covenant with your forefathers, which he confirmed to them by oath.

1. This, too, is an Old Testament passage. It probably represents a darker age, a more primitive understanding. But it is a part of divine revelation, and states real fact about the nature of a God who has NOT changed.
2. God cares about His people! He listens when they cry to Him. He is NOT anxious to find fault, to abandon His own. His conviction is for the purpose of restoration and communion. God loves YOU!

Can we live with this paradox? If we take the one, we can and must also take the other view of this One God of heaven and earth!

III. WORSHIP THE GOD OF HEAVEN AND EARTH

A. THIS IS A CALL TO WORSHIP!

We are never told about God simply for the purpose of information. What we think we KNOW about God is probably not as important as HOW WE ENDEAVOR TO RELATE TO GOD.

1. God loves us; God responds to love.
2. God has promised: Every effort to draw near to Him will be met with a divine response: Draw near to God, and He will draw near to you! James 4:8

B. TWO important facts reach out to us from the call to worship, the Shemä:

1. God will always hear a cry of your heart or mine to know Him! Deuteronomy 4:29 But if from (wherever you are) you seek the Lord your God, you will find him if you look for him with all your heart and with all your soul.

God wants a people who are absolutely crazy about Him! He wants a family who thinks that He is wonderful! He craves our love— in some small way reflecting the great and tender kindness with which He already loves us!

2. God does not exist for us; we exist for Him! Our love for Him demands that we make Him Lord of heaven and earth! ONE God! Only one! God is to be God of ALL your life! Nothing is to be beyond His jealous care:

Deuteronomy 4:39 Acknowledge and take to heart this day that the Lord is God in heaven above and on the earth below.

(Conclusion:)

The Shemä [Deut. 6:4 Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one. Love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength.] is a focal point for worship. It calls the faithful to the wonder of the Mystery that is our God.

In Mark's Gospel (12:29) Jesus used the Shemä when one person was seriously seeking to draw closer to God.

1. LOVE THE LORD! Jesus reminded him that the key in seeking to understand God is LOVE! He quoted the Shemä, saying that God is to be loved, not merely 'studied' or 'talked about' with disinterest. And Jesus quickly added, that we need to love one another as well.
2. LET GOD BE GOD! Acknowledge the mystery of God. Affirm in your heart that this God is a GOOD God! But don't try to make Him into YOUR image!
3. LET GOD BE GOD! Seek to make ourselves available to HIM, rather than simply using our religion to help us accomplish OUR purposes! DO try to discover what in you and me constitutes the "image of God" in us! WE are made in HIS image! We CAN live in His

Hymn # 283 Dear Lord and Father of Mankind

A Fresh look at the Church of Jesus Christ

March 29, 1992 pm

Mark 8:27-38 [The Relationship of Faith to Faithfulness] [27] Jesus and his disciples went on to the villages around Caesarea Philippi. On the way he asked them, "Who do people say I am?"

They replied, "Some say John the Baptist; others say Elijah; and still others, one of the prophets."

"BUT WHAT ABOUT YOU?" he asked. "WHO DO YOU SAY I AM?"

Peter answered, "You are the Christ."

Jesus warned them not to tell anyone about him.

[31] He then began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders, chief priests and teachers of the law, and that he must be killed and after three days rise again. He spoke plainly about this, and Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him.

But when Jesus turned and looked at his disciples, he rebuked Peter. "Out of my sight, Satan!" he said. "You do not have in mind the things of God, but the things of men."

[34] Then he called the crowd to him along with his disciples and said: "IF ANYONE WOULD COME AFTER ME, HE MUST DENY HIMSELF AND TAKE UP HIS CROSS AND FOLLOW ME. For whoever wants to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for me and for the gospel will save it. What good is it for a man to gain the whole world, yet forfeit his soul? Or what can a man give in exchange for his soul? If anyone is ashamed of me and my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, the Son of Man will be ashamed of him when he comes into his Father's glory with the holy angels."

I. WHAT SORT OF CHURCH ARE WE?

What sort of church can we be and become?

Our options seem to have been: Shall we be liberal or conservative? Shall we be MORE activist? or shall we be MORE conversionist? Is there any other way?

Increasingly it occurs to me that apart from the Spirit of God, there is not much difference between the fundamentalist and the liberal: both of them demand control of the Scriptures; both of them want to tell you all about what God is and is NOT!

Shall we be activist or shall we be conversionist? Is there any other way?

ACTIVISM DEMANDS THAT WE SEEK AFTER "PEACE" AND "JUSTICE." BUT HOW DO WE DEFINE THOSE TERMS?

Our activity in the world must never get ahead of or fall behind our loyalty to the Christ. Some quotes from Hauerwas and Willimon:

Most of our social activism is formed on the presumption that God is superfluous to the formation of a world of peace with justice.

American Christians, in the name of justice, (often) try to create a society in which faith in a living God is rendered irrelevant or private.

We argue that the political task of Christians is to be the church rather than to transform the world.

"Peace" and "justice" ... are words awaiting content. The church really does not know what these words mean apart from the life and death of Jesus of Nazareth.

[Abstract love is no love at all. "Tell me the story of Jesus!"] STORY is the fundamental means of talking about and listening to God, the only human means available to us that is complex and engaging enough to make comprehensible what it means to be with God.

SO, SHALL WE BE ACTIVIST, OR CONVERSIONIST?

Perhaps what is necessary is that we be (what Hauerwas and Willimon call a "confessional" church. That we relate everything to our statement that "Jesus is LORD!" That we ask Jesus to help us see the world and the scriptures and our own lives and (indeed) REALITY— as God declares that it is! [In the terms of our morning sermon: LET GOD BE GOD! GOD OF HEAVEN AND EARTH! THE GREAT "I AM THAT I AM"!]

Hauerwas and Willimon make a great deal of the Sermon on the Mount. They make the point that (1) The Beatitudes are a statement of the fact. And they also lift up (2) The recurring theme, "Ye have heard it said, but I say unto you..."

1. he Beatitudes are in the indicative, and not the imperative; more a way of stating what the facts are than implying : "This is how you have to be! Get with it if you want to be happy! 'The "Be-Happy Attitudes"'"

If this is true, then we have the indication of a different world than the one described by our culture.

2. GOD IS IN CHARGE! The growing sense of joy that God IS at work! God IS! He is working out His will.
3. This IS God's world; we should not give it over to evil by default. There is great power in the story of Jesus!
4. Jesus DID define the ending and the beginning of time. The world was created by Him, and the world has not known Him. He came unto the world and was not received; but as many as have received Him have received power to become children of God (John 1:12)
5. Some quotes:

"Our biblical story demands an offensive rather than defensive posture of the church. The world and all its resources, anguish, gifts and groaning is God's world, and God demands what God has created. Jesus Christ is the supreme act of divine intrusion into the world's settled arrangements. In the Christ, God refuses to "stay in his place."

II. LIKE PETER WE [AS A CHURCH] MUST BE ABLE TO SAY: JESUS IS LORD!

AND ALSO AS JESUS DEMANDED WE MUST NOT JUST SAY AND BELIEVE AND BE SURE OF THE FACT,

WE NEED TO BE ON THE MOVE IN FOLLOWING JESUS:

Is there a fresh, new way that we can grasp the old, old story? We usually are limited to what our imagination can grasp. It is hard to re-invent the wheel.

We (probably) do not need to "throw away" institutional vessels which contain aspects of the true church. But we also need to be open to more options than just "conservative" or "liberal;" than "activist" or "Conversionist." We use this limited choice in child psychology: "Would you rather go right to bed now, or shall we take your teddy bear with us?"

We can at least begin by telling Jesus Christ that we mean business in following Him! We intend to do whatever we know is HIS will!

One interesting item from this week's reading. A man named Dr. Waldron Scott, in a scholarly paper presented to The Evangelical Round Table in 1986 says that our theology as evangelicals needs to be "a theology of wayfarers" and not a theology of those who "have arrived conceptually." Our times, the people to whom God is sending us, must have this message, "JESUS IS LORD: JESUS IS THE WAY, THE TRUTH, THE LIFE, EXPRESSED TO THEM IN TERMS THAT ARE VITAL TO THE WAY WE THINK AND UNDERSTAND.

Dr. Scott then said, "We need to become more self-aware of the mental categories in which we operate." He then cites modern mathematicians and logicians [named Zadeh, Cohen, and Hersh] who have demonstrated that human being create categories in several ways, ways we call "sets."

The three most basic "sets" (or "mind-sets") are labeled "Bounded sets" and "centered sets" and "fuzzy sets."

The "bounded set" is defined by clear, sharp, stationary boundaries. The category is created mentally by listing the essential characteristics a person or object must have to be included within the set. Most of the effort spent in defining the category is spent on defining and maintaining the boundary. THE CENTRAL QUESTION, THEREFORE, IS WHETHER AN OBJECT (OR PERSON) IS INSIDE OR OUTSIDE THE CATEGORY.

"Centered" sets, on the other hand, are created by defining a center and the relationship of things to that center. ... There IS a clear distinction between things moving toward the center and those moving away. MOVEMENT IS ESSENTIAL TO THEIR STRUCTURE.

"Fuzzy" sets have no clear boundaries; things may be defined in terms of what things are or how things relate to some external point of reference. THIS IS A PREDOMINANT WAY OF THINKING IN MANY THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES.

Bounded set thinking— is Greek thinking— is the way most of us have been brought up; there is some of it in the New Testament (especially in Paul.)

"It may be that the cultivation of centered set thinking is what we most need today. ...a centered approach seems to correspond most closely with the Hebraic view of reality found in the Bible.[REMEMBER— THERE MUST BE MOVEMENT; JESUS DID NOT SAY "COME SIT BY ME! HE SAID, "COME FOLLOW ME!" AND JESUS IS GOING PLACES!]

This dynamic, relational way of looking at what it means to be Christian may offer us point of contact... with the fuzzy set thinking ... likely to characterize .. from Third World contexts .."

(Conclusion:)

TRANSLATE THIS!

1. To be saved IS "describable" and (in a practical way) understandable:

IT IS ALL RIGHT TO SAY, THIS IS HOW TO BECOME A CHRISTIAN!

conviction + repentance + faith = salvation

THIS IS HOW TO BE SANCTIFIED

complete consecration + faith = (altar sanctifies gift)

A Fresh look at the Church of Jesus Christ

...but this can never be cold, hard, truth apart from a loving, personal relationship to Jesus!

2. To be saved is to be ACCEPTED by Jesus, and to be ACTIVELY FOLLOWING HIM!

Rather than say "What do you want God to do for you?" we might ask:
"WHO IS GOD TO YOU!"

Yes, Jesus SAVES me! But perhaps better said, JESUS is my Savior! There is a story there! An ongoing story of Jesus!

A Call to Worship

THE GOD OF HEAVEN AND EARTH

Introduction

The Shem,, is a focal point for worship. [Deut. 6:4 Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one. Love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength.] It calls the faithful to the wonder of the Mystery that is our God.

Jesus used the Shem,,, recorded in Mark (12:29) when a teacher of the law came to Him, seriously seeking to draw closer to God. This teacher asked Him 'What is the most important commandment?' Jesus, quoting our text, reminded him that the key in seeking to understand God is LOVE! God is to be loved, not merely 'studied' or 'talked about' with disinterest.

And Jesus quickly added that we need to love one another as well.

[Whenever WE speak about God we should always seek to have this added factor of love and reverence and even worship. The "LORD" (note the small capital letters in your English Bible text) refers to what we call YHWH, the "unspeakable name." This is the name that we have translated "I AM THAT I AM."

Hymn # 283 Dear Lord and Father of Mankind

Guests at the Lords Table

April 5, 1992

1 Corinthians 11:23-30

For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus the [same] night in which he was betrayed took bread: 24 And when he had given thanks, he brake [it], and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me.

25 After the same manner also [he took] the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink [it], in remembrance of me. 26 For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come.

27 Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink [this] cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. 28 But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of [that] bread, and drink of [that] cup. 29 For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body. 30 For this cause many [are] weak and sickly among you, and many sleep.

When the disciples came together for the Passover meal that we call the Last Supper, the Lord Jesus Christ Himself who was the host. It was a borrowed room, but it was Jesus who made the arrangements, and took care of the details, even though His disciples helped carry them out. He even took the task usually assigned to the least or the youngest: He washed the feet of those around that table.

The story is in Luke 22, how Jesus sent Peter and John to prepare the large upper room, which they found by following a man carrying a water pitcher. And if we will, Jesus always prepares a table before us when we eat His meal together. Jesus is always the Host at Communion!

Eating the Passover meal, or Seder, is a significant observance in the schedule of every practicing Jew. It is both a solemn holy time, and a warm and wonderful family time. I doubt if we Gentiles can ever fully capture the warmth and the wealth of feeling that have surrounded the Seder for centuries.

That night the disciples were guests at their Master's table. They were together as family, with Jesus as the Host. This was a very significant occasion, and Jesus wanted them to grasp the significance.

"With desire I have desired to eat this meal with you," is the way that He expressed it. "I love you! I want you to know that you are dearer than life to Me!"

And we understand that on that holy night Jesus did something else, something that had never been done before. He transformed the Seder, the sacred Passover meal, with its Paschal Lamb and bitter herbs and remembrance of Egypt and the wilderness and Canaan, and He turned the focus of the meal on Himself.

Can you understand how profane and embarrassing and sacrilegious this would be for anyone but the Christ? But this WAS the Christ! And this was a sacred moment, indeed! All the sacrifices and symbols of the Old Testament were pointing to this sacrifice! The Paschal Lamb became the body of the Lord. The cup became the blood of the Everlasting Sacrifice.

That night Jesus ordained a new kind of Passover Supper. He commanded his disciples to eat of it, and as often as they ate, to remember His death, His shared LIFE, and His promise to come again and eat with them in the Presence of God the Father. This is the sacrament to which we all are invited this morning:

What, then, can we say about

I. THE NATURE OF THE SACRAMENT

[We can only know and understand of God that which He chooses to reveal to us. The sacred MEAL OF REMEMBRANCE for the family of faith will always be in great part]

A. A MYSTERY

1. Any attempt to literalize or explain will certainly fall short of the truth it conveys to those who know God.

[It is not wrong to use our minds in worship; there really is no other way. But when we set our understanding, our "reason" as a condition for God's love and blessing we severely limit our capacity for receiving God's grace.]

2. Suffice it to say that when we partake of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper we encounter

B. A PRESENCE; and by faith we come closer to God than in any other way. Some of our brothers and sisters make it a literal Presence; others have other explanations.

There is something humbling and something of the acknowledgment that we do not have all the answers when we come to the Lord's table. In our arrogance- the arrogance of our culture that has put the "feelings" and "individual freedom" above every other good, it is good that we look with saints across the ages and around the world to this supper as

C. A SIGN AND A PROMISE; a promise of that which is inexpressible.

The church fathers and traditions of the ages testify that this is a means of grace. We come to the table of the Lord, where HE is the Host, not to dictate OUR terms, but to look to Him for assurance that indeed He has come, and has died for us, and that He ever lives on high to make intercession for us!

[But what may we expect this sacrament to BE, to DO for us?:]

II. THE FUNCTION OF THE SACRAMENT

Without pretending to explain the inexplicable, the scriptures do help us understand what happens when we share at the Lord's Table, where He is Host:

- A. It is an exercise in OBEDIENCE. The command, the imperative of the Lord was: "This do! In remembrance of Me!"

The disciples who heard their Lord say those words clearly understood what He was saying and doing! They were to perpetuate that moment when Jesus declared that He, Himself, was the Paschal Lamb.

And that commandment still stands!! The family still meets at the Lord's table. We are here because we want to be— but we are also here because Jesus has commanded us to come! We gladly obey.

B. The Lord's Table is also an exercise in REMEMBERING.

Jesus said that night: " ...this do ye, as oft as ye drink [it], IN REMEMBRANCE OF ME."

As long as we obey we will not forget. We dare not fall away from the clear understanding that HERE, in the BLOOD and the BODY of the Lord, the Paschal Lamb of God that takes away the sins of the world, HERE AND HERE ALONE LIES THE ONLY HOPE OF MANKIND FOR ETERNAL LIFE!

C. The Lord's Table is also a TESTIMONY, a SHOWING FORTH. It is a testimony to three worlds that we depend on Jesus for life.

Jesus said: " ... as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, YE DO SHEW THE LORD'S DEATH TILL HE COME."

D. The Lord's Table is also a time of RECEIVING. It is a MEAL. It may not be a physical feast, and there IS mystery involved; but when we come to the Table we are fed.

Jesus said: " ... THIS IS MY BODY, which is broken for you: ... THIS CUP IS THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MY BLOOD ..."

III. THE RESULT OF THE SACRAMENT

A. WE WILL EXPERIENCE RENEWAL

The Lord's Table will a point of new beginning for us this day. No matter where you are in your journey, here we recognize that we are successful ONLY as we remain in Jesus, and that we are failures ONLY as we leave His Presence,

Let us affirm that we are IN CHRIST, by faith, at this Table today.

B. WE WILL KNOW A RE-CENTERING OF LIFE

It is easy to let the focus of our attention slip off Jesus Christ! It is easy to look at PROBLEMS, or at PEOPLE, or at WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN, or at WHAT DID HAPPEN ... and forget that what Christians live for is to abide in Christ.

We have opportunity today to tell Jesus that we are depending on Him, on His sacrifice, on His love. Tell Him that HE is at the center of our lives and living!

C. WE WILL CONTACT A FRESH ENABLING. The Lord's Table is sacred, and not to be manipulated for personal ambition, but at the same time it is a powerful source of strength to each member of the Body to carry forward in the Spirit of the Lord all that He intends for us to be and to do.

From time to time we all need to have this fresh outpouring of God's enabling grace. All across the centuries of the Church of Jesus Christ, the testimony of the faithful has been: It is at the Lord's Table where we receive new strength to continue in the faith.

It may seem that what you need is MONEY, or AN OPEN DOOR, or a JOB, or AN ENCOURAGING WORD. And I do not in any way suggest that you do not need these, and need them desperately. But at the risk of sounding like a raving mystic, let me say that when we have Jesus, when we are centered in Him, we have His promise of "all these things." I am NOT saying that Holy Communion is the answer to all your problems; I am saying that at the Lord's Table, as Jesus draws near, we shall find His enabling grace.

Invitation:

To all who will come— to all who desire to draw near to God- - to all who are drawn by the grace of God to partake— this is the Lord's Table, and YOU are welcome!

Only do not come irreverently! Do not make a mockery of that which Christ has provided.

Guests at the Lords Table

- Come with heart-searching. Open your heart to the Spirit of God. Ask Him to make you worthy to partake.
- Come with your victories— and lay them in gratitude at the feet of the Host. It is through Him that we are more than conquerors.
- Come with your heart-aches and defeats! Come with your doubts and fears! Come with your sin to the blood that speaks of pardon!

Read aloud together "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" (#283) as a quiet prayer of the entire congregation BEFORE the distribution.

You Have not Passed this Way Before

April 5, 1992 PM

Joshua 3:1-13

"When you see the ark of the covenant ... then you shall set out from your place and go after it. ... Do not come near it, that you may know the way by which you shall go, for you have not passed this way before. ... Consecrate yourselves, for tomorrow the LORD will do wonders among you. .. By this you shall know that the living God is among you ..."

Introduction

My immediate ancestors on both sides were people who either through bravery or desperation dared to venture into absolutely new worlds. My father's father left his wife and small children in the north of England and came to this country where he worked for several years until he had the money to send for them. And my grandmother came by herself on a sailing vessel with those small children.

My mother's father and mother were both children of homesteaders' families on the northern frontier in Michigan more than 100 years ago. About three years ago a cousin of mine visited me here in Quincy— and stayed for all of about three hours. After she got back to Michigan she sent me a good copy of an old photograph taken in 1889, along with some other really old tintype-kinds of pictures of my Michigan ancestors. In that old photo are all four of my maternal great-grandparents as well as my grandfather and grandmother Purchis when they were still teenagers. There they are, dressed in their best clothes and holding their guns and looking for all the world like some realistic western movie. They were homesteaders. They were miles from the nearest telegraph or doctor. Tractors and automobiles and electrical power were still unknown to them. I have reflected many times on the kind of courage it takes to break new ground, to enter territory that has never been entered before.

This is the message Joshua had for his people in the words of our text: "You have not passed this way before!" And whether you believe it or not, in a very real sense, even though we may try to stay as conventional as possible, even though we may try to do things in a safe manner— every one of us is headed into the unknown. We are facing a future that no one can pretend to understand.

I. WE ARE ALL PRESSING INTO THE UNKNOWN

- A. At certain seasons or stages of our lives we become more aware of the hazardous nature of our choices as we press into the unknown future. I remember standing in the room at the front of the church waiting for the wedding march! But there are many such seasons: the finish of any course of study ... the challenge to decide on a move in residence or employment ... the birth of a baby ... a serious or threatening illness. You may or may not feel like a pioneer. But we are all pilgrims and strangers in search of a city.
- B. And really, every single day we live we are, in one sense, pioneers, trail-breakers. We never know what a decision may bring forth.

If we could see into the future, as God sees, we might try to play god; but God in His love and mercy has veiled it so that we might better learn to trust Him, and walk with Him. I often wish that God might tell me what the next step should be!

[God does not reveal the details of the future; but that does not mean we have to be afraid, because...]

II. GOD HAS GIVEN A GUIDE TO HIS PEOPLE

- A. God's guidance begins with a covenant. God is a covenant- making God. Not "contract," with services rendered for payment received; not "bargaining" with a let-the-buyer-beware attitude. But covenant, or an agreement of good will between two free partners. I did not say free and equal. And I do not say that our freedom is like God's freedom.
- B. God leads us primarily in the context of the church and NOT merely at the whim of each individual. This is hard for the American mind-set particularly. WE have substituted the STATE for our corporate conscience. It is automatic.

God's people will find safety in WORSHIP. Personal prayer, and the study and knowledge of the written Word have vital places in our guidance. But in the house of God, in the act of corporate worship, in the seeking to praise and honor God the covenant is renewed, and the insights come!

We must revere the Presence! Our task is to follow God. We turn this around all too often and think we come to church in order to get God's advice on how best to achieve our goals or meet our (perceived) needs. Analysis and human evaluation and weighing of all possible alternatives are great and wonderful; but there is no substitute for the clear, direct, certain leading of God! And often that comes in the place of worship!

[Joshua's call was:]

III. CONSECRATE YOURSELVES! SANCTIFY THE LORD GOD IN YOUR HEARTS!

- A. [Back into the story: The children of Israel had been in the wilderness 40 years. Joshua knew God was ready to bring them into Canaan now. But first:] THERE WAS TO BE A SOLEMN ACT OF DEDICATION. "Sanctify the Lord God in your hearts!" Get the foundation sure and solid! Don't try to go forward, to build on a partial surrender!

[Jesus wanted His disciples to go into all the world. But the last thing He told them before He left was "Don't leave town!" WHY? Because they were ready to go and give of their best— but that wasn't good enough!

They had to "sanctify the LORD God in their hearts— that is- - give HIM total allegiance— so that the Lord God could sanctify THEM through and through! Can you see the parallel? If we want God to bless us and use us, then God has to have our total and complete allegiance!]

OUR best isn't good enough in this day— or any day! But when we belong wholly to God, and are seeking His mind— then what God can do is better than our best!

[God DID do a wonderful thing for His people in their tomorrows! They walked through the waters of the Jordan by a miracle!]

You Have not Passed this Way Before

B. WHAT IS THE PERSONAL APPLICATION HERE? Do you need to "sanctify the Lord God in YOUR heart?" Do YOU need to work on your personal willingness to obey? Do I? Before the Lord can do wonders tomorrow, we have to obey Him today!

C. WHAT CHOICES DO YOU AND I HAVE?

1. IF NOT JESUS, THEN WHO WILL BE YOUR MASTER? No man, no woman can serve two masters! You cannot be lord of your own life and expect Jesus to guide you into the unknown future.

2. IF NOT NOW, THEN WHEN SHALL YOU DECIDE TO LET HIM HAVE HIS WAY? God is patient and long-suffering. But God is NOT mocked! Whatsoever a person sows, that is what a person reaps!

And if God is dealing with you over a matter of surrender— some area— some situation— some thing in your life— then to deliberately hold Jesus off is to refuse to receive His leadership! The eternal YES must needs be said in a moment of "NOW!"

3. IF NOT GOD'S GUIDANCE, THEN WHO WILL WALK WITH YOU INTO THE UNKNOWN? The answer is— you will follow your covenant with God, and go with His people, and be a part of His church— or you will walk alone into the darkness where you have never been before!

Conclusion

In two weeks I am challenging the church to a corporate act of dedication as we partake of the Maundy Thursday communion together. At that time we will tell God that this church "sanctifies the Lord God in its (corporate) heart" ... that this church belongs to God without reservation.

We will tell God together that this church expects that "tomorrow the LORD will do wonders among us!" We will be leaning hard on Him as a church, even as we already are seeking to do.

But just now, tonight, I am challenging each one of us as individuals— whether or not you belong to this fellowship— to prepare yourself for the challenge of tomorrow!

HAVE YOU SANCTIFIED THE LORD GOD IN YOUR HEART? Have you set HIM, and Him alone on the throne of your heart to rule and reign forever, unchallenged by idols, and unchallenged by YOU yourself??

The Hosanna People

The importance of the triumphal procession

April 12, 1992

Introduction

It was a day of contrasts! A Carpenter being called a King! Little children and happy disciples praising and shouting for joy while worried power brokers frowned and plotted evil! Bright sunshine on a happy parade while black storm clouds piled high on the western sky!

It might have been funny to see a Galilean carpenter sitting on a borrowed donkey being proclaimed as king— except that no one was laughing in that way.

I. THERE WAS REAL POWER BEING DISPLAYED THAT DAY

[When we think of a power parade we think of the times we have seen a May Day parade in Red Square in Moscow, with thousands of booted troops, and massed gun carriers, and tanks by the score, and missiles. But believe me when I say that on a Sunday morning there paraded down Olivet's hill on a little donkey more sheer power than all the massed armies the world has ever seen!]

- A. The Pharisees and scribes certainly were not laughing. They had watched one failed revolution after another, and had managed to hang on to their temporal power by staying out of Rome's bad graces. This Carpenter from Galilee had never seemed too serious a challenge— until He had condemned "religion for profit" and had gone through the Temple like a whirlwind. His teachings seemed harmless enough— until he told the common people that their righteousness had to exceed the righteousness of the religious leaders! Even His miracles had not been too unsettling— until He had raised a well-known man, Lazarus from the dead, and it seemed that every simple, trusting soul in Jerusalem was going to buy into His Messiahship. The religious leaders were not laughing.
- B. The people were not laughing! There was nothing ridiculous in Jesus to them! They saw kindness and they saw hope and they saw power.

True, they misunderstood the power. They saw this king as an immediate fulfillment to their highest hopes and dreams. They praised Him as best they could.

These were NOT the same people who cried out "Crucify Him!" Can you imagine John and Peter and James and Mary Magdalene and Nathaniel and Zaccheus and formerly-blind Bartemaus and the widow of Nain and ... crying "Crucify Him!"?

No, their faith was imperfect; but the believing people were sure that Jesus was Messiah! And every detail of that procession to the cross was a fulfillment of God's Word!

This procession was a direct fulfillment of prophecy written hundreds of years before, as the prophet Zechariah described in detail:

Rejoice greatly, O Daughter of Zion! Shout, daughter of Jerusalem! See, your king comes to you, righteous and having salvation, gentle and riding on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey. I will take away the chariots from Ephraim and the war-horses from Jerusalem, and the battle bow will be broken. He will proclaim peace to the nations. His rule will extend from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth. Zechariah 9:9-10

They rightly acclaimed Him King! God was inhabiting their praise that day!

C. And Jesus? Jesus was not laughing, either!

Watch Him as He ascends— then mounts the donkey— then slowly descends Olivet's hill. Jesus knew that He IS the Son of God!

II. THERE WERE STARK CONTRASTS APPARENT THAT DAY

A. There is PEACE on the face of Jesus! Contrast with the STRIFE in the hearts of those who coveted power. Suspicion, questioning every motivation, giving no one the benefit of the doubt; while Jesus, who knew what was in the heart of every human being still loved them and believed in them. [He said to Peter: "You will fail Me. But when you have returned, go strengthen your brothers!"] Jesus is the Prince of Peace; and He has promised His peace to every one of us! "Peace I leave with you!" How could He do this on the very eve of His crucifixion?

- B. There is LOVE in His face. Contrast with the HATRED of the abusers and the abused. "We've never gotten what we deserve! We will not have You or anyone else pretend to have authority over us! We hate anything or anybody who tells us that we need a savior from sin!"

III. WHY, DO YOU SUPPOSE, WAS THERE A TRIUMPHAL ENTRY?

- A. Because JESUS IS KING! This fact was established to three worlds!

Jesus - the same Jesus who warns against selfish ambition— remember He said, "When you are invited to a feast don't take the place of honor— take the lowest seat"— this same Jesus permitted, even arranged for this parade, this Triumphal Entry!

He acknowledges, He answers the representatives of the temple who tell Him He is in danger of inciting a riot. "It is fitting and proper— necessary— that these people cry out! If they are silent the very ROCKS will cry out! The Creator is HERE!"

- B. There is WORSHIP taking place that day in stark contrast to BLASPHEMY AND DENIAL OF GOD. On that day only brief hours away from the Cross the Worship of God and of His Christ looked over the Valley of the Shadow of Death, past Gethsemane and past Calvary, and even past the Resurrection and the empty tomb to say that from Eternity to Eternity "Jesus Is Lord!"
- C. THE COMPASSIONATE KING — Even in establishing His Lordship, Jesus does not betray His own character: There is a COMPASSION in His face as he comes directly across from the Beautiful Gate and looks over the city wall at the Temple of Herod. Jesus weeps!

IV. WHEN THE PROCESSION BEGAN

This procession had begun in the heart of God before the foundation of the earth was laid. It had been in the consciousness of the God-Man for a long time. Just how God the Son limited Himself in becoming one of us, and how His own self-awareness deepened, and how "Jesus grew in wisdom and stature and favor with God and man" we cannot understand. But early on in His ministry He knew that the Redemption of us all would cost His life!

The Hosanna People

Certainly Jesus knew on the Mount of Transfiguration. In that wonderful hour that can only be recalled with wonder, when His divine glory dazzled Peter and James and John, when Moses and Elijah spoke with Him about the death He would accomplish, even then Jesus knew what He faced in Jerusalem.

Again and again Jesus clarified to His disciples the fact that the Way He had chosen was through the Valley of Sorrow and Death. (Luke 18:31) Somehow the meaning escaped them. We hear what we want to hear all too often!

But as that great Passover of the Eternal Sacrifice came nearer, and Jesus made His way with the disciples to Jerusalem, in full knowledge of what awaited Him there, Jesus continued in character... With the salvation of all mankind on his shoulders Jesus was quick to hear a blind man's cry from the roadside in Jericho; continuing on He looked up into a tree and called Zaccheus down to tell him he was forgiven and loved... all the way to Jerusalem and the Cross.

Conclusion

When does this Triumphal Entry praise end?

1. It never will!
2. It must continue in our hearts, imperfect as our understanding may be. If Jesus is Lord, then let our hearts cry out: Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord! Hosanna in the highest!

The King is on Parade

-Palm Sunday-

April 12, 1992

Luke 19:28-38

Introduction

It may have seemed to the casual observer that this was a very impromptu procession, this parade we call the Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem. It had all the obvious organization of a pick-up game of softball.

But in fact this was a very well-planned and deliberate happening, this one-Man parade! It had been announced in detail hundreds of years before by a prophet born in Babylon:

Zechariah 9:9-10

Rejoice greatly, O Daughter of Zion! Shout, daughter of Jerusalem! See, your king comes to you, righteous and having salvation, gentle and riding on a donkey, on a colt, the foal of a donkey. I will take away the chariots from Ephraim and the war-horses from Jerusalem, and the battle bow will be broken. He will proclaim peace to the nations. His rule will extend from sea to sea and from the River to the ends of the earth.

As unlikely as it seems, even to the casual reader today this was:

I. A PARADE OF INFINITE POWER

- A. Usually when we think of power in a parade we think of booted soldiers marching past Hitler, or massed tanks and missiles filling Red Square. But those powers have come and gone, and the "parade" down Olivet's hill manifested a power that still remains as vital as ever.

In fact, the people that day were thinking of the Triumphal Procession in terms of power as they understood it! And they were all mistaken about the nature of the power they saw, but real power was there:

- B. The enemies of Jesus saw Him as a threat. They hadn't really worried until they heard He had said that everyday common believers should have righteousness that exceeded the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees themselves! And then there were the miracles! And finally, Lazarus! This Jesus had to be stopped!
- C. Many if not all the friends of Jesus saw Him then as a fulfillment of their dreams. "Will You at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?" "Hosanna to David's son! Surely HE is going to throw out the Romans and their stooges!"
- D. But this power, real power, was not what the friends or enemies thought! Jesus was demonstrating the power of LOVE. He was carrying out His mission, which was John 1:12-type power. To as many as were going to receive Him, Jesus was giving the power to become the children of God, to share in God's eternal life, to still be happy and growing and useful when the stars grow old!

II. IT IS A PARADE OF INFINITE DURATION

- A. How long was this procession? About one donkey long— or two, if the mother donkey came, too. About an hour's time, or less, if we just count the time when people sang, "Hosanna!" For just a few moments, in order to declare to three worlds that Calvary was not an accident out of His control, Jesus accepted the praise of the multitude. Jesus was King! He knew where He was going that week! He knew Thursday and Friday were out there ahead! But He also knew that He would know the JOY of completing the Father's will, and releasing the mighty power that makes us all God's children. The parade was short— just a brief flash of power.
- B. But this movement of Christ toward Jerusalem and the hosannas and the cross and the empty tomb beyond began a long time before even Zechariah prophesied about it! John tells us (in Revelation 13:8) that Jesus was "the Lamb slain from the creation of the world."

Out of the fullness of His LOVE God sent His Son.

- C. The movement of Jesus toward Jerusalem and the cross was settled in the heart of Jesus long before this brief parade. On the Mount of Transfiguration He had spoken with Moses and Elijah about where He was going. Again and again He had told His disciples that He was going to Jerusalem to die and to take back His life again.
1. Yet what a strange display of power! Knowing He was going to His death Jesus deliberately kept on doing the things we love Him for; he attended to the details— he heard the blind man shouting from the edge of the crowd— he saw Zaccheus up in the sycamore tree— all this was in Jericho— as he was on His final journey to Jerusalem. Even later in this last week of ministry, on the very night He was arrested this King of All Power in Heaven and Earth took a towel and washed His disciples' feet!
 2. And even though at the end of this procession He entered the Temple and, as He had done before, cleansed it with anger, and demonstrated His authority in a way we cannot understand— it is true that before He got all the way down the hill— when He was in view of the beautiful Temple, this great King of power stopped his little mount and wept over the city that had rejected Him.

III. A PARADE OF CONTRASTS, OF CHOICES

- A. That first Palm Sunday certainly was a day of contrasts! A Carpenter being called a King! Little children and happy disciples praising and shouting for joy while worried power brokers frowned and plotted evil! Bright sunshine on a happy parade while black storm clouds piled high on the western sky!
- B. There was LOVE and there was HATRED contrasted that day! There was PEACE and there was TURMOIL and STRIFE in stark contrast that day! Suspicion, questioning every motivation, giving no one the benefit of the doubt; while Jesus, who knew what was in the heart of every human being still loved them and believed in them.
- There was WORSHIP taking place that day in stark contrast to BLASPHEMY AND DENIAL OF GOD.
- C. The government, and the power brokers, and the policy makers probably weren't too impressed by the POWER of that parade that first Palm Sunday! The same kinds of people in our own world today are exactly the same! Jesus doesn't really matter! God is a

"Private Matter!" Faith is the Great Irrelevancy!

But if we listen and look with the gift of faith, we can see those same contrasts clearly even today: love IS stronger than hatred! Trust IS greater than suspicion and pettiness.

And what is more, if we look and listen with our eyes and ears of faith we can hear this King of Kings say, If you really want to, you can come after Me! Get in line! Join the parade!

The only thing is, to join in the parade we must "Deny our own self-sovereignty— and say, 'Jesus is LORD!'" and we must take up our own cross, day-by-day, and then we may follow Him!

Conclusion

And the wonderful thing is that we CAN get in the parade! We CAN, because He DID!

Parades are supposed to inspire. I confess that I enjoy hearing stirring marches, and feel a flutter when the flag goes past. But those kinds of parades pale in comparison to what happens within when the King Himself looks our way and says, "Come, Get in line! Follow on!"

This is the way the writer of Hebrews has put it— and how it has worked again and again for me!

Let us fix our eyes on Jesus who, for the joy set before Him endured the cross, scorning its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God. Consider Him that endured such opposition from sinful men, so that you will not grow weary and lose heart! Hebrews 12:2,3 Shall we get in His parade? The line forms here!

Prayer: Help us to see with the eyes of faith, and hear with the ears of faith as You bid us to follow You, for we know that You have the power to make us God's own children. Amen

Hymn 23 (Exalt Him) Jesus Comes with All His Grace

Renewal of Covenant

MAUNDY THURSDAY

April 14, 1992

CALL TO WORSHIP

Minister: Come, let us join ourselves to the Lord in an everlasting covenant which will never be forgotten. Jeremiah 50:5

HYMN

INVOCATION

Minister: Almighty God, to whom all hearts are open, all desires known, from whom no secrets are hidden, cleanse our thoughts and enable us to love You, to magnify Your holy name, and pray and worship You by the mighty help of Your Holy Spirit, in the authority of Christ Jesus our Lord. Amen

All: The Lord's Prayer (Matthew 6:9-13) using "trespasses"

HYMN

PREPARATION

Minister: Brothers and sisters, agree with me in these matters:

The great love of God as shown in the sacrifice of Jesus Christ our Lord deserves and demands a response of love on our part. Is that not so?

People: Amen. It is so.

CONFESSION

Minister: We were all once sinners by birth and by choice, and strangers and aliens to grace. Even now, wherever we are in our spiritual pilgrimage, we must depend upon God's grace and not our own righteousness, or we will be forever lost. Is that not so?

People: Amen. It is so.

Minister: Will you join with me in a prayer of confession, openness, and dependency upon the saving grace of God in Christ?

TRUST

All: We acknowledge a deep sense of dependency upon Your grace and mercy, O God. We are of our own merit but sinners, lost and alone; it is only by Your mercy we have come to be Your children.

We have confessed our sins, and do confess that even now, to this hour, in us apart from You dwells no good thing. As we have prayed "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." so now we do rejoice in Your forgiveness and saving grace, casting all our hope upon Your blood, shed for our sins. On You we put our trust, on You we lay all hope for pardon, for eternal life, for salvation. We call You Lord! We trust You as Savior! Amen.

COMMITMENT

Minister: Let us deliberately yield ourselves now to the Lord. As His servants, as well as His children, let us give up the dominion and government of our lives and of our church forever to God as a living sacrifice.

All: I am Yours, O God. I reverence You. I dedicate myself to Your service.

We are Yours, O God. We reverence You. We dedicate the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene* to your service without qualification or reservation.

[*If you are a member of a church other than Wollaston, here silently pray for your own fellowship that it might be blessed and owned of God.]

Minister: In giving ourselves individually and corporately to God we affirm that we are willing to let God Himself appoint us to our work. Christ has many services that must be done; some of His appointments are more easy and honorable, others are more difficult and menial. Some are suited to our inclinations and interest, others may be contrary to both.

In some ways we please Christ and please ourselves, as when He requires us to feed and clothe ourselves; to rejoice in the Lord, to bless and praise His name. These are the sweet works of being a Christian.

But there will be other ways in which we cannot please Christ our Lord but by denying ourselves, when it will cost us shame and reproach, even perhaps parting with our liberties and accommodations for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

If you are willing, join with me in prayer:

All: Lord Jesus Christ, we affirm that this is Your church, and that we are Your people, I am Your servant. Make us what You will, O God, only let us be truly Yours.

Minister: Lord, have Your way in me.

People: I am Yours to command; I love You.

Minister: Use me or lay me aside, exalt me or let me be trodden under foot for You.

People: Let me be full; let me be empty, only as You will.

Minister: Let me have all things; let me have nothing.

All: We freely, and I personally, freely and heartily resign all to Your pleasure and disposal.

HYMN

RESPONSE

Minister: Brothers and sisters, such a commitment to God Almighty as we have now made is the essence of true Christian faith. When we have cast all our hopes upon Jesus Christ, and when we intentionally and with our understanding have given ourselves to Him than we are Christians indeed, and never till then.

Christ will be the Savior of none but His willing servants. Christ will have no servants except by their free will and consent. Let us now confirm our commitment by singing a covenant hymn, by affirming a solemn covenant, and by taking together the elements of Holy Communion.

HYMN : A CHARGE TO KEEP I HAVE THE COVENANT

All (Standing:) And now glory be to You, O God the Father, whom I shall be bold from this day forward to look upon as my God and Father. Glory be to You, O God the Son, You who loved me and washed me from my sins in Your own blood, You who are now my Savior and My Redeemer. Glory be to You, O God the Holy Spirit, who by Your almighty power have turned my heart from sin to God.

O eternal Jehovah, The Lord God Omnipotent, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, You are now become my Covenant-Friend, and I, through Your infinite grace, have become Your Covenant-Servant and Child. We are Your people, this is Your church. The Covenant which we have made on earth, may it be ratified in heaven. Amen.

THE COMMUNION

It Is Finished

Good Friday Meditation

April 17, 1992

John 19:30 When Jesus had received the vinegar, He said, "It is finished!" and He bowed His head and gave up His spirit.

A STATEMENT ABOUT CHRIST'S LIFE WORK

The cry from the cross, "It is finished" is the final word in the Gospel of John. "Into Thy hands I commend My spirit" is a personal word of faith; this is a statement about what Jesus has done with His life, and where He had finally ended His earthly ministry.

THE VIEW OF UNBELIEF: IT'S ALL OVER

I suppose there are different ways to hear these words. One interpretation, I hasten to say 'Not my own!', might say that with these words Jesus has simply said: "It's all over!"

The agony has ended, but with it also the noble experiment has failed! 'My disciples are scattered, the high and holy-sounding words I uttered have proved empty. Love is NOT stronger than hatred; the people with the biggest army always win.'

But if this had been the true meaning of these words we never would have heard of Jesus Christ except as a tiny footnote somewhere in an historian's notebook about some eccentric Jewish revolutionary.

This is the interpretation we must give these words however, if all that we see is the cross of Christ.

I know it is Good Friday. I know we aren't supposed to celebrate the Resurrection until Sunday. I praise God that the Cross is God's victory for us over the power and guilt of sin. But it takes the power of the Resurrection to unlock the full meaning of these words: "It is finished!"

It Is Finished

John 20:9 expresses how helpless we would be to see the full meaning of "It is finished" without knowing, as we most certainly know, that Jesus not only died but rose again from the dead. John 20:9 says:

"For as yet they did not understand the Scripture that [Jesus] must rise again from the dead."

From our perspective this side of Calvary, this side of the resurrection, this side of Pentecost and the living Christ inhabiting His church, we know that Jesus was NOT admitting defeat with his statement from the cross, IT IS FINISHED!

THE PERSPECTIVE OF FAITH: IT IS COMPLETE

The only way we Christians can understand these words of completion is in the light of the mighty power of LIFE ETERNAL, the Resurrection Power that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus.

In His own words in the High Priestly prayer Jesus said: (17:4) "I glorified Thee on earth, having accomplished the work which Thou hast given Me to do."

And what DID Jesus come to do?

1. JESUS CAME TO SHOW US THE FATHER.

John 1:1 declared that Jesus is the WORD. In John 14 Jesus tells the disciples, "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father." God is Transcendent, beyond our full comprehension. Yet forever we know what God is, for God is like our Lord, like our Friend, Jesus of Galilee.

2. JESUS CAME TO DESTROY THE WORKS OF EVIL.

I John 3:8 says: "The Son of God appeared for this purpose, that He might destroy the works of the devil." Satan has set up shop on this planet, and has taken many prisoners. He has propagated lies about what real power and real wealth and real satisfaction might be. Jesus has come to set the prisoners of evil free, and show them His own love, and share with them His own life!

3. JESUS CAME TO BRING LIFE TO YOU AND ME.

[Here we come to the truth that from our perspective is central, having to do directly with our salvation:]

John 10:10 I am come that they might have LIFE, and that they may have it more abundantly. And also John 1:12 He came unto His own and His own received Him not; but as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the children of God, even as many as believed on His name.

When Jesus said, "It is finished" He was saying that everything necessary was set in place that we might be God's children, heirs of God's grace in Christ, joint-heirs with Christ to all the love of God's family!

"It is finished!" means that we may be:

justified - counted as righteous in Christ regenerated - new creatures in Christ adopted - brought into God's family with His Spirit crying "Abba, Father" within us and sanctified - or the actual work of making us LIKE Christ begun within our personality

BEHOLD: THE FINISHED WORK

Perhaps the best news is that this cry of Jesus from the cross means that THERE IS NO MORE THAT NEEDS TO BE DONE BEFORE YOU AND I CAN COME TO GOD, to receive this gift of life (this Gift=Jesus Himself!), and to be received into God's family:

This finished work is ours to receive as the Holy Spirit makes it available to us by God's grace:

John 1:12 " ...as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the children of God, even as many as believed on His name."

I'M SURE THAT YOU HAVE RECEIVED THE LORD JESUS INTO YOUR HEART AND LIFE OR YOU PROBABLY WOULDN'T BE HERE TODAY. BUT IF, BY CHANCE, YOU HAVE COME WITH BURDENS OR DOUBTS OR FEARS, FEARS OF LIFE OR FEARS OF DEATH, LET ME ASSURE YOU THAT WHEN JESUS SAID, FROM THE CROSS: IT IS FINISHED!

It Is Finished

HE HAD YOUR ETERNAL SALVATION, AND YOUR PERSONAL ASSURANCE AT HEART.
HE DIED BECAUSE HE LOVES US, AND HE COMPLETED THE WORK THAT MAKES HIS ETERNAL LIFE OUR OWN!

Thoughts on Christs Resurrection

Easter 1992

April 19, 1992

Easter is a time that begs for a Super-Sermon! It is one of the happiest, most joyful days in the calendar. Almost everybody goes to church (somewhere) on Easter.

But strangely, Easter is a time when I am driven in my own thinking to go back to basics! I ask myself audacious questions like:

HOW DO WE KNOW JESUS REALLY ROSE? and WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT REALLY MAKE ANYWAY?

I grew up with Christmas and Easter, and took a great deal for granted before I made my faith, my Christian faith, my own. And these questions are life and death questions that no one else can answer for us.

On this Easter Sunday morning

I. HOW DO WE KNOW THAT JESUS REALLY ROSE AGAIN?

- A. We know that JESUS ROSE AGAIN because the scriptures tell us so, in their artless, inspired, penetrating way: the disciples, the evangelists who gave us the inspired Word bore witness with their words and with their life's blood. They saw the Risen Lord. They believed!

Charles Coleson in his book Born Again gave his compelling reason why he believed the Bible accounts to be true. He told from personal experience of how it was impossible for a few men, with very much at stake, to keep a secret and act out a lie; and the result was that Watergate scandalized our government, and brought down a president, and sent him, Charles Coleson to jail.

His point was that if the resurrection of Jesus were a skillfully devised plot among the disciples, they could not have kept the secret from authorities, who were themselves so anxious to discredit the resurrection that they were willing to bribe and perjure to deny its mighty power.

And, secondly, Coleson makes the point that nobody dies willingly and bravely for what he or she knows to be a lie. The disciples were convinced that Jesus rose again. Their testimony in scripture is powerful!

- B. We know that JESUS ROSE AGAIN because of the mighty impact His life has made, and is still making during the nearly 2,000 years since His death on the cross. It is impossible to imagine how this world would be without the influence of the Risen Savior. Time is divided by His Coming the first time in Bethlehem. Time as we know it now will end with His return. This world is forever changed because Jesus lives!
- C. But the most penetrating reason men and women can know that JESUS ROSE AGAIN is because, for many of us, we have had a "revelation moment" in which Christ has been made personal to us. We heard Him speak some place, some time, as the written Word came alive, perhaps in a sermon— perhaps in a word of personal witness; and we cannot get away from the reality that He lives, and that He loves us! We have been persuaded! Jesus really is alive!

Which brings up the second, even more impertinent question:

II. WHAT DIFFERENCE DOES IT MAKE, ANYWAY?

A. IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE WHEN WE FACE DEATH

Being really persuaded that Jesus rose again makes a difference when the near prospect of death becomes a reality in someone we love, or even in ourselves!

If Jesus did not rise, Paul tells us, then when we die we die forever, and we shall never see each other again. It makes a difference when we stand by an open grave whether or not Jesus rose again. If Jesus did not rise, then the dead are NOT raised. (see I Corinthians 15:15)

- B. IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE WHEN WE FACE GUILT AND SIN The fact is that we all are born with a sin problem; and we all come to face the fact that evil lurks in the human heart.

Education won't change the fact of human evil. Human efforts can not make sinful people into saints. But if Jesus died and carried our sins away— and rose again to prove that He conquered sin, then we have hope!

If Jesus did not conquer death, and rise again, we have no assurance that our sins are forgiven. The best we could do would be to hope against hope that maybe His sacrifice was adequate, but we would conclude that probably it was not. We would have no evidence to the contrary. Paul says if Jesus stayed dead then we are still in our sins! Our faith is vain! Futile (see I Corinthians 15:17)

C. IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE IN OUR EVERYDAY LIFE AND LIVING

But does the resurrection of Jesus make any difference in the every day? If Jesus did not rise again, Paul says, we are to be pitied more than any other religion! We are to be pitied because we have been deceived! If Jesus did not rise we are fools, and fooling ourselves!

But if in fact the risen Savior by the gift of his Holy Spirit walks with you and talks with you— in the kitchen when you are doing chores— in the middle of the night when you awaken to worry about finances— in the joy of looking into your child's face while she is sleeping— the reality makes ALL THE DIFFERENCE IN THE WHOLE WORLD! The Risen Savior makes us Friends with God!

This is basic stuff! This is NOT Super Sermon, this is the very essence of what Christians believe:

III. CHRIST'S RESURRECTION IS AT THE VERY HEART OF THE GOSPEL

I Corinthians 15:1-8

A. THE GOSPEL REDUCED TO ARTICLES OF FIRST IMPORTANCE:

THE GOSPEL IS ABOUT JESUS! It isn't that all the rest of the New Testament isn't Gospel; or that the doctrines and teachings and beatitude and standards of conduct are not important; but first and foremost, the Gospel is about the Person and work of Jesus.

Here it is in a nutshell: Jesus came ... Jesus died for our sins ... Jesus was buried: He really was dead- the scriptures say He preached to the spirits in prison— Jesus rose again— and Jesus is now seated at the right hand of God making intercession for us— Jesus will come again to rule and reign over all Creation! That is the heart of the Gospel!

B. THE RESURRECTION IS THE KEY THAT UNLOCKS THE POWER OF THE GOSPEL STORY

The resurrection of Jesus unlocked the Gospel to the disciples that had known Him in the flesh.

It was not until they were truly persuaded that He had risen that they understood the real power of the Gospel.

John 20:9 is a key verse— and it stands for every person who would be a Christian but has not faced up to who Christ is, and what Christ did: For as yet they did not understand the scripture that [Jesus] must rise again from the dead. (John 20:9)

The disciples were shattered, paralyzed, defeated by the savagery and violence of the crucifixion of their Master. Gentle, meek, unfailingly kind and considerate of the weak Himself, He had been led to the slaughter like a Lamb for Passover.

As it began to dawn that perhaps Jesus had risen they were not eager to believe. They did not want to be deceived again. They did not want to get their hopes up. The post-resurrection appearances of Jesus were universally met with hesitancy at best, with downright stubbornness and unbelief at worst. "We trusted— but we don't trust any more" was the testimony of the two on the Emmaus Road. "Unless I see for myself I will never believe!" was the word of Thomas.

The teachings of Jesus are merely wise sayings, like any other Eastern philosopher, apart from the resurrection. If Jesus did not rise we may as well follow Buddha or Confucius or Mohammed. The Bible is like any other ancient collection of manuscripts. When we read the Old Testament a veil is over our eyes, apart from Jesus and the resurrection, and all we can see is the tortuous path of a people struggling with divine forces and decrees they never fully understand.

But if the resurrection is real, then a startling thing happens. A transformation takes place in the Bible! It seems to come alive! Jesus Himself, the Risen Lord, becomes the KEY to the scriptures.

Before He was fully revealed to the two on the Road to Emmaus Jesus expounded in the scriptures (beginning with Moses and extending to all the prophets, according to Luke) the things concerning Himself: Such a wonderful lesson may have included

- FROM GENESIS 3:15 the seed of the woman triumphant over the seed of the serpent
- FROM NUMBERS 21:9 even as Moses lifted up the (brass) serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up
- FROM DEUTERONOMY 18:15 the confident prophecy of Moses: For the LORD shall raise up a prophet unto you like unto myself..."
- FROM 2 SAMUEL 7:12 David's confidence "I will raise up Your descendant and establish His kingdom forever..."
- FROM ISAIAH 7:14 "Behold a virgin shall be with child.. Emmanuel, God-with-Us!
- FROM ISAIAH 9: "His name shall be called Wonderful Counsellor, Mighty God, everlasting Father, Prince of Peace— of His kingdom there shall be no end
- FROM ISAIAH 42: Behold my servant.. he shall open blind eyes— a bruised reed He will not break

- FROM ISAIAH 53: "A root out of dry ground— the Lord hath laid on HIM the iniquity of us all—
- FROM DANIEL 7:13 the ""Ancient of Days"
- FROM MICAH 5:2 "And thou Bethlehem— out of thee shall come a KING!"
- FROM ZECHARIAH 9:9 "Behold your King cometh unto you, meek and riding upon a donkey.."

Conclusion

How have YOU handled these basic questions of the faith in YOUR own heart? Do you believe that Jesus rose from the dead? To believe, to really believe, is a gift of faith from God Himself!

And to believe that God has raised Jesus from the dead— to really be persuaded in heart— is half-way to the assurance of being saved!

The parts of the wonderful promise of Romans 10:9 and 210 are these:

1. If we confess with our mouth the Lord Jesus— and
2. If we believe in our hearts that God has raised Him from the dead— then— WHAT?
3. Then— we shall be saved!

It isn't enough to confess to being a Christian without believing Jesus lives! And it isn't enough to have the gift of faith, and be persuaded in heart, but not make Jesus Lord!

But if faith and surrender combine— then the resurrection life of Jesus is ours to share with Him for eternity!

Acts 1:8 " . . . and you shall be My witnesses"

Introduction:

What does this text: "Ye shall be witnesses to Me!" evoke in your thinking? What is a proper response?

- A. IT SAYS TO ME THAT I PERSONALLY, AND WE, AS PEOPLE CALLED NAZARENES, NEED TO TAKE THESE WORDS TO HEART

Early on in my Christian walk I got the message that I was not a complete Christian unless and until I was also a witnessing Christian. Just about all my Christian life I have had an annoying feeling that I should be a better personal witness of the grace of God.

- B. BUT IT ALSO INVITES ME TO SEE HOW THE PEOPLE TO WHOM JESUS WAS SPEAKING DIRECTLY, AT THAT TIME, UNDERSTOOD AND CARRIED OUT HIS ORDERS:

The context of this text is the end of that period between the first Easter and the Ascension and Pentecost with the outpouring of the Spirit. That was a very important time for the disciples.

Several questions come to mind: [After the death and resurrection of Jesus things were decidedly different. It was not merely business as usual.

"Where did Jesus go at night to sleep?" or, "Where did Jesus go when He disappeared from their sight?" I know that speculation is all too easy. But several things are apparent:

Why, do you suppose, was there a period of 40 days between the Resurrection and the Ascension?

Why, again, were there 10 more days until the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost?

What part do the Old Testament figures of Passover and Pentecost have in the scheme of salvation? It certainly was more than coincidence that these significant events fell on those significant holy days.

I. A TIME OF PERSUASION

Of what were the disciples witness, relative to Jesus?

A. Old Testament fulfillment:

In the matter of the calendar itself:

JESUS THE PASSOVER

Lets take that last question first: From our vantage point we see that the Old Testament holy days found fulfillment in the Person and Ministry of the Savior.

Cynics would say that Jesus was the supreme opportunist. They would say that He sought to fill out the prophecies of the Old Testament.

Jesus filled out the meaning of the Old Testament: Do you understand Passover? Divine intervention in behalf of helpless people who cry for deliverance. Beginning an Exodus that was to climax in a Promised Land.

The planting of a Seed... JESUS THE FIRST-FRUIT, OR HARVEST Do you understand Pentecost? The "Seed" planted in the ground brought forth 3,000 souls fifty days later; The first harvest celebrated; and also the giving of the Law on Sinai;

B. Personal encounter/ spiritual revelation: The disciples met the Risen Savior, and He revealed Himself to them.

II. A TIME OF PREPARATION

- A. They were not to leave Jerusalem until they had received the Holy Spirit.
- B. This involved ten days of intensive prayer.
- C. This also involved

III. A TIME OF PROCLAMATION

The overwhelming sense of joy that accompanied the knowledge that they were NOT left orphaned; they were indwelt by the Spirit of their Savior— THIS was the thing that powered their witness.

Their battle cry was, "The LORD is risen!"

We must have this in order to be witnesses, and not hear-say gossips:

- A. A personal encounter of revelation: (not enlightenment only; that is not enough. but God-revealed reality. We must know, be persuaded that God has raised Jesus from the dead. The resurrection is the dynamo that makes everything about the Christian faith genuine. There is nothing wrong with becoming a seeker. If you are not satisfied, ask God to help you look within. Come away with reality. If your heart condemns you, God is greater than your heart and knows all things.
- B. An increasing joy and love for the Savior. This will be "felt," for want of a better word. Deeply satisfying. It will resonate with others who love Jesus, too. The greatest family on all the earth is the family of God. This love will respond to the Spirit's prompting to go. (Philip)
- C. This witness will be both conscious and unconscious. There must be a congruence of the unconscious and the conscious witness. When what we say and how we live are in disagreement people will always finally believe the way we live. But when both coincide there will be effective witness.
 - 1. they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus
 - 2. we ought to obey God rather than man!
- D. There is nothing wrong with organized effort in witnessing: I have attended special seminars on witnessing, and have undergone intensive on-the-job training; and I have had concentrated weekend efforts and have led small groups in witnessing. Perhaps if God so leads we might move in that direction again. But however we witness, my deepest concern is that we shall witness for the highest and best of reasons.

- E. Personal evangelism has a bad name in our time: The pluralistic culture in which we live, with its highly personalized view of religion, makes it difficult to witness to the saving grace of Jesus without appearing to violate the unwritten code of respect for other's beliefs.
- F. The tension we feel within when we approach an opportunity to say a word for Jesus Christ is that of standing between a genuine respect for the personality and quality of another human being and the conviction that unless that human being comes to know Jesus he or she will be forever lost. I have the deep conviction that Jesus meant what He said when He said, "No one comes to the Father except by Me!"

Perhaps that tension can sometimes simply be translated as cowardice. But sometimes our normal, natural human reticence to talk about deeply personal, private matters is entirely appropriate.

- G. We must earn the right to speak to people about important matters. There must be some common ground; or, the Holy Spirit must help us to understand that this is a moment when we can and must speak.

"Common ground" means that there is a reason for speaking about personal matters; there is an entry point. [Illustration: How would you feel if someone came up to you on the street and said, "I'm interested in how your kidneys are working!" But if that person were your doctor, and you had been having painful sessions with kidney stones, you would not only be glad to tell the doctor, but you would be flattered to be remembered and asked in a non-official, non-office setting. It would show that your doctor genuinely cared.]

The idea of "common ground" must also be balanced with the concept Jesus gave us of the witness as a sower going forth to sow the precious seeds of the Word of God. The sower sows extravagantly— some falls on the roadway, some falls at the edges of the field, some falls just about everywhere.

- H. Common ground can come because we invite inquiry. If we are an evangelistic church then our public services are a place where people will expect to be confronted with the claims of Jesus, with a witness to His grace. There is a common ground of expectation that the Gospel will be proclaimed.

Bible study groups to which non-Christians or non-evangelicals are welcome and respected are a wonderful idea whose time, it seems, has come.

- I. Common ground can come when we genuinely care about people who may not be of the Christian persuasion. It is not a sin to be friendly. We can genuinely care about people who disagree with us. And the friendliest thing a Christian can do is to introduce His friends to the greatest Friend.

We have been trained to avoid sin, and rightly so; but we are not the world's sin-police. The cross of Jesus was at the very heart of the message the early church proclaimed; but so was the joy and certainty of the resurrection. "This same Jesus, whom YE crucified, God has raised Him up again!"

Acts 1:8 "you shall be My witnesses"

Introduction

The days and weeks after the first Easter are, to my mind, fascinating and mysterious. There are a number of appearances of Jesus recorded. They all seem especially significant. They seem to climax with one or another version of The Great Commission. Here: YOU ARE TO BE MY WITNESSES . . . WITNESSES UNTO ME!

What does this text evoke in your thinking?

- A. It says to me personally that I need to take Christ's words to heart

Early on in my Christian walk I got the message that Christians are not complete Christians unless and until they share their good news with others.

And just about all my Christian life I have had an annoying feeling that most of the time I could or should be doing just a little more than I am.

- B. But this text also invites me to look again at the people to whom Jesus was speaking directly, at that time, at how they understood and carried out his orders:

Is there a "profile" of a witness which we can understand from the record of the scriptures? Perhaps it might help us be more realistic about our role in answering Christ's challenge:

I. A TIME OF PERSUASION

- A. The challenge to witness was spoken at the end of 40 days of a mysterious period in Christ's earthly Presence. (verse 3)

1. There are many things we don't know about this period. Questions that bright young people might ask, like: Where did Jesus stay these days? Was He "commuting" back and forth from the Father's Presence?

2. But one thing we are sure of: this was a time when Jesus was proving, assuring, convincing, establishing the fact of His victory over death in the thinking of the disciples once and for all!
- B. One reason the Emmaus Road story grips me so strongly is the deep and growing conviction that in order to know Jesus, really know Him, He has to come alongside each of us and reveal Himself in a personal way. So to my thinking, the "Emmaus Road" experience is a real "key."

A witness is someone who is PERSUADED of the truth. For a witness to Jesus Christ, this means we must have the abiding certitude that Jesus lives! There must be a one-on-one knowledge. We cannot witness what we only know second-hand.

But evidently being persuaded (convinced) was not enough to make an effective witness. There was more:

II. A TIME OF PREPARATION, OF EMPOWERING

- A. The challenge to witness was also spoken at the beginning of a ten-day waiting period. A ten-day prayer meeting. A time of obedient self-preparation.
1. God's timing is evident here: God's timing is evident in the way that the Old Testament holy days were perfectly incorporated in the scheme of Jesus' work of salvation. It was no coincidence that Jesus died at Passover; and it was no coincidence that Pentecost was a feast of first-fruits and harvest; and also, later, was a celebration of the giving of the Law on Sinai.
 2. God's timing is necessary in OUR lives as well: we need to listen, to be persuaded-- we need to STAY when Jesus says "Stay!" and we need to GO when He says "Go!" Like the disciples, there will be definite preparation in US before we can be effective witnesses:
- B. B. The preparation for witness included
1. OBEDIENCE on the part of those that loved Jesus. They tarried, even as Jesus told them to.

2. They also evidently AGREED TOGETHER to wait; they were "in one accord, in one place" when their empowerment came.

Their preparation included doing what THEY could do.

- C. The preparation for effective witness also included God's touch on their lives, doing what they could NOT do by themselves. This included:

1. PURIFYING of their hearts, as Peter later testified (Acts 15:9) of Cornelius-- that God had put no difference between the Gentiles in Caesarea and the Jewish Christians at Jerusalem, for "He purified their hearts by faith!"

This is essential, because we are to lift up Jesus, which is difficult to do with mixed or impure motives. [We are so incurably self-oriented-- and unless God helps us, that becomes self-centered self-sovereignty!]

2. The preparation was also the promised POWER Jesus promised. Not just a human boldness now, but a consciousness that the Holy Spirit had come, that Jesus was very resident in their very hearts, and that their words were inspired.

Out of that PERSUASION and PREPARATION there flowed

III. A LIFETIME OF PROCLAMATION

- A. From the time that the disciples were both PERSUADED and PREPARED, from that time on, they were not all apostles, nor church leaders, nor even preachers, BUT THEY WERE ALL WITNESSES.

1. They witnessed UNCONSCIOUSLY.

Their absurd JOY betrayed them at times. "These people are drunk!"

Their LOVE was attractive! Their consideration and kindness showed even when they weren't trying to witness <<note Peter and John on the way to the Temple taking pity on a beggar... and the people "took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus." >> and John wrote in his First Epistle that the most effective witness to "outsiders" is Christ's love manifested within the community of believers: He said they will say, "Behold, how they LOVE one another!"

Their HOPE engaged to unseen others! They had a certainty about their lives!

2. But they also witnessed DELIBERATELY! When the occasion arose they spoke bravely and boldly. "We ought to obey God rather than you religious leaders and magistrates!"

B. AND THEIR WITNESSING WAS EFFECTIVE!

When the goal was simply to lift up Jesus and proclaim Him as Lord, the results were left up to Him. But their efforts were never wasted!

1. Sometimes there was wide-spread growth and revival, as when Philip went down to Samaria and the whole town, it seemed, got converted.
2. Other times there was opposition and rejection, as when Paul was dragged out of Lystra and stoned, or when he and Silas were put in jail in Philippi. But in it all Jesus was proclaimed. And the church was edified.

Conclusion

A. WHAT, THEN, IS THE PROFILE OF A WITNESS?

1. SOMEONE WHO KNOWS that Jesus is alive because it has been personally revealed.
2. SOMEONE WHO IS WILLING TO PREPARE, not just by studying, and memorizing a set answer for every question-- although there may be a place for that later on-- but willing to prepare
 - BY OBEYING Christ's command to be filled with the Spirit, to tarry, to wait, to consecrate until their heart has been
 - PURIFIED by faith, and the
 - POWER of the Holy Spirit has come to motivate and support the desire to lift up the Savior.

3. SOMEONE WHO HAS TAKEN IT AS HIS/HER LIFE'S MAIN MESSAGE TO LIFT UP JESUS, to let Jesus live through every day's living.

B. SO, WHAT CAN YOU AND I DO? [How can I come to a "practical conclusion" to this morning's message? Is there something you and I can do to assure ourselves that we are being obedient?]

PERHAPS SOME OF US will feel God's special call, his tug, to prepare ourselves in a special way to be personal evangelists.

AND ALL OF US can be alert and willing to share our faith when the clear opportunity arises, or when the Holy Spirit says, "NOW!"

AND ALL OF US can support those who are presenting the gospel, and who bring people into the church to hear the gospel from time to time.

1. ARE YOU OPEN TO GOD'S CALL TO EVANGELISM? There is nothing wrong with organized effort in witnessing: Personal evangelism has a bad name in our time: The pluralistic culture in which we live, with its highly personalized view of religion, makes it difficult to witness to the saving grace of Jesus without appearing to violate the unwritten code of respect for other's beliefs.

[The tension we feel within when we approach an opportunity to say a word for Jesus Christ is that of standing between a genuine respect for the personality and quality of another human being and the conviction that unless that human being comes to know Jesus he or she will be forever lost. I have the deep conviction that Jesus meant what He said when He said, "No one comes to the Father except by Me!"]

2. DO YOU CARE ENOUGH ABOUT YOUR FRIENDS TO PRAY THAT THEY WILL BE SAVED? If we LOVE people, really CARE about them, get to KNOW them-- then we can talk about serious things to them!

We must earn the right to speak to people about important matters. There must be some common ground; or, the Holy Spirit must help us to understand that this is a moment when we can and must speak.

3. WILL YOU BE A PART OF A FRIENDLY CHURCH IN THE NAME OF JESUS? This is important! Our support for evangelism begins in an attitude! We must WANT people to find Jesus! We must CARE about people!

In a book about the founder of Walmart, Sam Walton, author Vance Trimble wrote:
[Sam Walton had a pledge for new employees, which he called the "Sam Pledge;"]

From this day forward, every customer that comes within ten feet of me, regardless of what I'm doing, in this house, I'm going to look him in the eye, I'm going to smile, I'm going to greet him with a 'Good Morning' or - a "Good Afternoon," or a "What can I do for you?" - so help me Sam!

It might not be the least important part of obeying Christ's commandment to be His witnesses if we old-time church people might take a similar pledge-- that every person that comes within ten feet of us will get a smile, a loving greeting, and a prayer that God will bless!

Dealing with Conflict in Loyalties

For E.N.C. chapel

April 29, 1992

- A. A NEW EXPERIENCE, BEING PAID TO SPEAK IN CHAPEL FROM MY OWN PULPIT, WHICH IS NOT MY OWN PULPIT WHEN THIS IS THE COLLEGE CHAPEL
 - 1. reflections on the history of this church's relationship to ENC across the years
 - 2. reflection on the larger relationship of ENC to the church at large, and to the Church of the Nazarene in particular

- B. A FOCUS ON OUR LOYALTIES

".. to thine own self be true and it must follow as the night the day thou canst not then be false to any man.." Shakespeare's character notwithstanding, this is only partially true.

and as Tony Campolo has said in the title of a book outlining several damnable heresies— there is a kernel of truth in most lies; the title is "Partly Right", by the way

WHEN LOYALTIES CONFLICT, how do we address the tension? who or what has to give? William C. Placher in a recent article says

"imagine admissions literature stating something like this: We groom you to success in your careers. We prepare you for graduate and professional work at the best universities or cocktail conversation at the best country clubs. And also, we will get you thinking about the service of the crucified son of a carpenter who calls his disciples to give up all that they have and pick up their crosses and follow." Then Placher adds with bitter irony: "On second thought, perhaps we'd best leave out that last sentence."

So— am I called to be a millionaire, or called to be a monk? Am I to be socially active, or fundamentalist-defender of the faith? Is there any kind of safe way to go? or better, is there any one right way?

C. SEEKING THE DEEPEST, HIGHEST LOYALTIES

Kohlberg, Lawrence Kohlberg, (who had some influence in my understanding of how I think about 'right and wrong'), saw- still in individualized understanding- the highest motivation as being "principled" or "post-conventional" motivation.

He wrote that he had never observed anyone under 22 years of age that was really into this high level of loyalty to truth.

I question that— for the highest understanding of truth is never abstract, never objective. Robert Coles, also an eminent Harvard teacher, has seen in children nine, ten, eleven years of age a spiritual sensitivity that went beyond their rational understanding of moral issues. We are dealing here with mystery!

And I have known many people whose moral understanding may have been lacking, but whose commitment to Truth was so thorough and so irrevocable that they lived like Jesus because they lived with Jesus and Jesus lived through them.

There is a better, a higher way of loyalty. It is the personal loyalty to Jesus that transcends all other loyalties. It denies self-sovereignty ("I am NOT God!") and identifies with Christ's body, the Church, (imperfect as it may be, especially after you join it)!

Conclusion:

Change is threatening. We live in tension between the joy of change and the security of steadfastness.

This is the generation of them that seek Him, that seek Thy face O Jacob!

Abiding in Christ

THE SACRAMENT OF LIVING TOGETHER

May 3, 1992 AM

John 15:5-7 I am the vine, you are the branches; he who abides in Me, and I (abide) in him, he bears much fruit; for apart from Me you can do nothing. If anyone does not abide in Me, he is thrown away as a branch, and dries up; and they gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they are burned. If you abide in Me, and My words abide in you, ask whatever you wish, and it shall be done for you.

John 1:14 The Word became flesh and lived for a while among us. We have seen His glory, the glory of the one and only Son, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth.

Introduction:

In this verse are two absolutely essential facts of our faith. If we miss them forget all the rest; if we grasp them, all the rest will find a way to fit in.

I. JESUS WAS MADE FLESH AND DWELT AMONG US

The Word becoming flesh is the miracle of all miracles, the arch-type of all sacraments:

A. THE SACRAMENTAL MIRACLE - A SACRAMENT IS A VISIBLE SIGN THAT CONVEYS SPIRITUAL REALITY.

1. Jesus reveals to us the invisible God; through Him we come to know God.
2. Jesus also reveals to us what humanity is intended to be; the image of God in which God created us, the image which is marred in the separation of sin, the lost image of God that is to be perfected in each of us is manifested in Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

B. The two important theological points are:

1. IN CHRIST GOD PERMANENTLY IDENTIFIES WITH US!

There is commitment on God's part. There is an eternal love expressed.

The word is not "He was flesh" (fuit), which would say that for a while Jesus was flesh as He dwelt among us but now has thrown away that aspect of His being; but "He was made flesh" (factus est). Hebrews 2:16 puts it "(Jesus) too on Him, or assumed the true human nature."

2. THERE IS/MUST BE AN 'ABIDING QUALITY' IN FAITH

It takes "abiding" to understand the love of Jesus. We have to live with Him a while to grasp the fact of His great grace and love.

[Illus: Sir Joshua Reynolds, the acclaimed English portrait painter, said that when he went to Italy to make the acquaintance of the great masterpieces of art there he was greatly disappointed. He said those paintings maintained a dignified silence; they refused to confide in him their thoughts. But Reynolds persevered. He looked at them again and again, he watched them with devotion— and they gradually began to tell him a few of their secrets; and as he continued unwavering in his devotion, they at last flung away their reserve and he saw a wealth of beautiful ideas that was lodged in them. (from C. W. Jones, BI, John I, 59)]

II. JESUS SAID THAT WE NEED TO ABIDE IN HIM

There is a permanence about the relationship we have with Him.

A. LIFE IN CHRIST IS MORE THAN A MOMENT OF DECISION

1. There is a moment in time when we grasp the truth and believe! There is that wonderful moment when we are born again!

2. No conversion in and of itself can in an instant, unsupported, make of Jesus a life-long Friend. True, a wonderful friendship can and does begin in that wonderful instant.

[Illus: Real, genuine friendships grow. Jay A. Bergers— we were different as students here; he seemed so much more intense and earnest; I probably ...]

B. LIFE IN CHRIST IS A MUTUAL 'LIVING TOGETHER'

1. We "abide in Him" - Vine/branches
2. His WORDS abide in us; we take seriously what Jesus has to say to us- not just in a legalistic sense— but in a relational, growing, following way.

C. OUR LIFE IN CHRIST BECOMES SACRAMENTAL

1. Remember THE SACRAMENTS; AND SACRAMENTAL MEANS OF GRACE THAT CONVEY GOD'S PRESENCE TO US— those outward and visible things which convey spiritual reality
 - a. Baptism and Communion: water/bread and wine— the significance of immersion or pouring, of eating and drinking
 - b. Religious or spiritual activities; preaching: gathering together in God's House; obedience: a symbol of God's sovereignty.
2. But ABIDING, living together with Christ makes ALL of our lives POTENTIALLY sacramental. We are to represent Jesus!

III. CHRISTIANS ARE TO BE INCARNATIONAL, SACRAMENTAL IN THEIR LIVING OUT, IN THEIR ABIDING IN CHRIST

The TEXT in us "comes alive!" The CHRIST becomes "incarnate by His Spirit" in the Church!

A. TRUE FAITH IS ALWAYS INCARNATIONAL, PERSONAL

No transforming relationship can be "objective". People are NOT "objects." We cannot "zap the gospel" and then leave. Like Jesus, we must commit to bringing a message and also BEING a message, and staying with the people

God to whom sends us. The message is LOVE! Not some sort of goofy-dust magic we sprinkle and then run back to our ghetto.

This is why morality and loving-kindness can never be legislated. The government is NOT Almighty God!

I deplore the knee-jerk reaction to every crisis of blaming government failure and seeking some governmental action. The moral failure we are experiencing is a failure of incarnation; it is the failure of Christ's followers in His Church to BE THE CHURCH, and to convey to each coming generation the heart of our Gospel, which is the INDWELLING SPIRIT OF JESUS CHRIST.

I will probably stand on City Hall steps next Thursday to pray for the healing of our nation because Neale McLain has asked me so to do. But I hope that my presence there is NEITHER translated as a protest against our mayor or city officials (- actually I am well-pleased with Mayor Sheets!) NOR as any kind of confidence that as city hall or state legislature or congress or President go so go our morals.

B. ONLY INCARNATIONAL FAITH WILL HEAL OUR RELATIONSHIPS - Jesus Christ by His Spirit living in you and me, and people just like us in every race, tribe and nation, is the only hope of this world!

1. We must take Jesus into the work-place. We are training our young people to be "successes;" but are we defining "success" as Jesus does?

[Illus: One woman discouraged her son's call to ministry; there isn't money in it!]

2. Jesus must have access to every part of our home life: Here is where the battle will be won or lost for our children!
 - a. The marriage relationship reflects the love of Christ and His church.
 - b. The parent child relationship reflects the relationship of God to His children.
 - c. The brother-sister relationship reflects the fellowship of the Trinity.

3. Multiplied over and over again, the life of Jesus in His church is more powerful than any other force on earth! Kay Roberts spending hours teaching a newcomer to our country English, or Lorna Owens working with a member of a different culture, or Christians sponsoring homeless people may not get the headlines like some organized lobbyists for legislation of various kinds. But they are powerful manifestations of change that do in human hearts what passing laws can never achieve.

Conclusion:

The miracle of all miracles— the fact that God became flesh and dwelt among us— calls for the most wonderful of responses in all the human experience:

If it is true that in Christ God became one of us, it is also true that we are not fully alive or complete unless and until this miracle has become personal to each one of us!

God is being released in our needy world only as we take God into the work-place, He is willing to bless our homes, but only as He is living IN us by His Spirit!

We are not responsible to change the entire world all by ourselves. To make God visible in this world is too big an assignment for us alone; but we can begin by inviting Christ into our lives, and then by letting God's love be seen in the relationships where we are.

Prayer #84 (EH) Let the beauty of Jesus be seen in me; All His wonderful passion and purity. Oh, Thou Spirit divine, All my nature refine, Till the beauty of Jesus be seen in me.

Live in me, Lord Jesus, Live in me Love through me, Lord Jesus.

The Moment of Recognition

Communion Meditation

May 3, 1992 PM

Then the Jews demanded of him, "What miraculous sign can you show us to prove your authority to do all this?" [Jesus had just upset the tables of the money-changers, and upset the usual flow of things in the temple area.]

Jesus answered them, "Destroy this temple, and I will raise it again in three days."

After he was raised from the dead, his disciples recalled what he had said. Then they believed the Scripture, and the words that Jesus had spoken. - John 2:18,19;22

[The skeptics said "Show us a miracle so that we may believe." Jesus replied, "Destroy this temple and I will raise it in three days time." He was speaking of His body; the disciples understood this after the Resurrection, and it was only then that they understood and believed.]

We receive Communion this evening still in the afterglow of Easter. We should never get out from the afterglow of Easter, for it is the power of the Resurrection of Jesus that energizes our faith and makes the work of God's kingdom go forward.

People get frustrated in their faith on the 'lesser miracles' of the Bible. Did Samson really kill 1,000 Philistines with the jawbone of a donkey? How about Joshua praying for the sun to stand still for the best portion of a day?

But there are two or three fundamental miracles in the Bible which boil down to one, really: Was God Almighty truly in Christ Jesus, reconciling the world unto Himself? If God was incarnate in Jesus Christ, and if Jesus died on the Cross for the sins of the world, and if Jesus truly rose again from the dead with victory over sin and death and hell, then all the other questions of faith can stand in line for their explanations.

I truly believe that Jesus Christ, born in Bethlehem, was Almighty God, and came to be our Immanuel. I truly believe that He died on the Cross for the sins of the world, that He is the Lamb of God that takes away the sin of the world. I truly believe that

The Moment of Recognition

Jesus Christ of Nazareth rose the third day from the grave and lives forevermore, seated at the Right Hand of God the Father Almighty. This faith is exceedingly precious!

Do you believe? Can you believe? Will you believe? Will you confess that belief? Romans 10:9,10. Such faith is the gift of God. It must be received with great reverence and joy and gratitude. It must be confessed openly. This time of Holy Communion is an opportunity to confess our faith, and to receive of God's hand His grace anew. ...

This is the Lord's table.

All who will partake in simple faith, and with submission to His Lordship, let them draw near.

To Reach a Distant Star

May 8, 1992

Without faith it is impossible to please Him; for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a Rewarder of them that diligently seek Him. -Hebrews 11:6

INTRODUCTION

I am a seeker after God. This is a favorite verse of mine; a "life verse" that I live by every day. The example here is Enoch, one of two men the Bible describes as having been translated, i.e., simply "beamed up" to God's Presence.

But there is another "life verse" that says that the seeker is God: You have not chosen Me, but I have chosen YOU, and ordained you that you should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain. - John 15:16

Just who is seeking whom?

Being human, we want to reduce this mystery of who is seeking whom; so we go to one extreme or another— "My life's work, even my spiritual existence depends entirely on ME!" Or, "If it is God's will then certainly HE will work it all out?" Which is true? Shall I be super-active? or shall I take a passive role in faith?

Actually, the Greeks had another way to use verbs of action. We have two: "I act!" or "I am acted upon." The Greeks had a middle voice, "I enter into the action!"

Finding God's best will for our lives is not just a matter of our effort, or a matter of praying that something will turn up. It is a matter of 1) believing that God IS God! and it is a matter of diligently seeking to keep our life centered in Him. Yet all the time we are seeking, Jesus is at work— we are seeking the One who has already located us, and is at work to bring about His life in us:

You have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that you should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should remain. -John 15:16

I. I HAVE CHOSEN YOU

CHOSEN: THE SOVEREIGN HAND OF GOD IN OUR LIVES . . . IN YOUR LIFE

I believe in the Sovereignty of Almighty God.

E.N.C. did not 'happen'

You have not chosen Me, I have chosen you!

The full attention of a Personal God. Not possible to be fully Christian and kiss off our days with a tip of the Bible toward a distant Sovereign; we are meant to live and walk with this God in a holiness that brings sanctity and balance to all of life and living

II. I HAVE ORDAINED YOU AND CALLED YOU

- A. APPOINTED: THE APPOINTMENTS OF GOD - the over-ruling alchemy that will not waste a consecrated life

God's choice is also God's appointment: Frustration, disappointment, failure are inevitably part of the human condition; God has promised not to overlook us; He knows the way that we take and when we are tried we will come forth as gold; this may be "pie in the sky" to the outsider, but it is what God's people utterly must trust: God will not waste a consecrated life.

- B. CHARGED: EVERY ONE OF US HAS THE SAME BASIC PURPOSE EVEN THOUGH WE EXPRESS OUR VOCATIONS IN UNIQUE WAYS. THE UNIVERSAL CALL IS TO BEAR FRUIT. THE LIFE OF CHRIST DEMANDS INCREASE.

The Christ-LIFE within the Vine and reaching to the tip of every branch;

III. I HAVE PROMISED YOU SIGNIFICANCE

PERMANENCE: YOUR FRUIT TO REMAIN

Dealing in millions of dollars is impressive; dealing in eternity and infinity is the Christian's call. We are to be about the Father's business:

ENC is among the giants of education in Boston/Cambridge; like Bethlehem among the least in Judah . . . but what can be said of the Stockwells and the Merkis and the Patches and the Spangenberges and the Harold Parrys and the Pauls and the Camerons and the Halls and on and on?

Not a passing display, but eternally significant life work. We write in lives ("You are our epistles, known and read of all men," said St. Paul to the Corinthians (2 Corinthians 3:3)) What we work in, concrete and steel, will have lasting significance for decades; what we achieve, in words or sculpture, may last even for centuries, but what we write with the pen of God in human experience will endure to eternity.

This vital connection of Vine and Branches is the same today as when Jesus spoke the words. He is the Life; abide in Him! Seek after the seeking God as though the finding depends on you! But remember, in our following after Him He has already chosen us, and ordained that we should go and bear MUCH fruit, and that that fruit might remain!

Her name was Evelyn. She was a daughter of an Appalachian farmer, and she finally got to college by the merest of chances, or so it would seem.

She took an undergraduate degree at Trevecca Nazarene College, and then with her vision expanding and her obedient spirit following the Light, she passed through these halls, sat where you sit, on her way to medical school and wherever God might want her to go.

What a winding, interesting, seemingly circuitous path her life followed! How rich she became!

She was a medical doctor, first in Africa, then in Papua New Guinea, and made a life-saving contribution to scores if not hundreds of lives.

She was a preacher, and reached many hungry hearts with the simple Gospel.

She was a linguist, and will be remembered for at least a hundred years in the Southwest Pacific for her translation of scripture and commentary into pidgin.

To Reach a Distant Star

While still an undergraduate, in April of 1945 Evelyn Ramsey wrote these words. She called her poem, "Aspiration:"

ASPIRATION

*I do not know what men will say when I have gone,
Or is it vain to think they'll know I've journeyed on?
I do not know what hearts will sigh When ends my day,
Or who will take my tasks and bear Them on their way.
But this I know: that I have aimed So high, so far,
And I have stretched my soul to reach The distant star.
I've given all my life and pow'r To do my task
And this has been my burning prayer. I do not ask
To seem to men a great success If only I
May still be reaching for that star When I must die.*

Living Stones

ANNUAL MEETING SERMON

May 10, 1992

Matthew 16:18

Introduction

The story of Peter's Great Confession, "Thou art the Christ!" is extremely significant because Peter's confession is every Christian's confession. He speaks for every true believer. "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God!" is the foundation on which our faith is built.

Jesus was pleased with Peter's confession. He was pleased that Peter's mind was open to divine revelation. In response to Peter's Great Confession Jesus made this Gigantic Declaration:

"Blessed are you Simon, son of John- for flesh and blood did not reveal this to you, but my Father in heaven has revealed it. And I say to you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build My church and the gates of Hades will not overcome it."

Two elements stand out in this declaration of Jesus. To Peter he declared (1) "Your name means "stone;" you are going to live up to your name by My grace." And then, to Peter and the rest of the disciples Jesus said, as well as to you and me today, (2) "I will build My church with material such as this !"

Was Peter the rock? Was the confession ["Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God!"] the foundation, the rock on which Jesus would build His church? Can Christians other than St. Peter hear Jesus say: "You are to be a part of my plan in the building of My church?" Is that scriptural?

Writing years later, Peter himself answered this question. It is as if Peter asks the rhetorical question: "Do you think that I, Peter, am the rock on which Jesus builds? Listen:

"As you come to HIM, the living Stone, rejected by men but chosen by God and precious to Him, you also, like living stones, are being built into a spiritual house to be a holy priesthood, offering spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ. I Peter 2:4,5 Jesus says to all who confess Him: (1) You are a rock! You are who you are! You have gifts and grace! " or, better, "You don't really KNOW HOW MUCH YOU CAN BE by My grace!"

And then Jesus says, "If you confess Me as Lord, then on this Rock— your confession and my LORDSHIP!— I will build my church, and the gates of hell will not prevail against it!"

My message on this Annual Meeting Sunday is that JESUS BUILDS HIS CHURCH THROUGH PEOPLE JUST LIKE US.

Just who are we? What can Jesus do with the likes of us? What is Jesus seeking to build with us here?

I. WE ARE ON THE CORNER OF A COLLEGE CAMPUS

- A. History. Wollaston Church of the Nazarene was called into existence by Eastern Nazarene College. There was no Nazarene church for miles around, and so services were held on campus. It was something like four years after the tiny college moved here from Rhode Island that the Wollaston Church of the Nazarene was officially organized, in 1922. That is 70 years ago!

For the first 32 years we worshiped in college buildings- first Canterbury, then the famous Gymnasium. For the last 42 years we have worshiped on this corner of the campus which was sold to the church for $1.00, 30 years in a large basement sanctuary, and now nearly twelve in this sanctuary which gets more than 100 hours of use each week in college-related ministry.

We are happy for the shared history, and proud to be vitally associated with Eastern Nazarene College on many levels of vocation.

- B. Personal impact: Pastor J. Glenn Gould and Wollaston church had a strong impact on my life; as a student I saw here visible demonstration of local church loyalty in members of the college community: Bertha Munro, J.R. Naylor, Madeline Nease, and many others, some of whom may be here this morning.

Hundreds of students have sought God at these altars, myself included.
Hundreds of decisions have been made to follow Christ here in this church.

- C. Trust: We are inextricably linked with Eastern Nazarene College. Opinions have changed back and forth about the merits of having an on-campus church; but the fact is we are here. We intend to be lifting, sharing, partners in serving Christ. We will be giving loyalty— how can we do otherwise and be what Jesus intended?

II. WE ARE IN A VITAL RELATIONSHIP TO A SPECIFIC TRADITION

- A. Doctrinally we are holiness Wesleyan.

1. We are in a living dialogue with others of like precious faith. We are not unaware of the Chuck Swindolls and the James Kennedys; we are not at all antagonistic to the Pentecostal or the Calvinist-Reformed or the Anglo-Catholic traditions, but we are committed to a dynamic, relation-centered, life-changing heritage of holiness of heart and life.
2. We share Wesley's insight that justification by faith and sanctification by faith are equally vital aspects of salvation; this Wesleyan way that finds its course by respect for tradition, reason and experience while placing final authority in the inspired, God-breathed Word that is the Holy Scripture.

- B. We are part of a specific district in the Church of the Nazarene, the New England District. We want to be a vital part. It seems sometimes that we are/will be misunderstood because we are a part of a college community. We cannot let that deter us from taking part in every district activity which is humanly possible to us.

III. WE ARE INCREASINGLY IN CONTACT WITH A DIVERSE COMMUNITY

- A. We come from many directions to worship here.
 - 1. We come from churches much larger and much smaller; we come from churches of many different traditions of worship and polity. That is to be celebrated, not complained about.
 - 2. We cannot try to be what we cannot be; our worship must flow out to God of the very best of what we are. But we can honestly seek to welcome every person, whoever he or she may be, and greet them with love in Jesus' name.
- B. More and more we are seeing non-college-connected community-type people coming to worship with us. HOW WE VALUE THAT! We need the on-going conversation with our community. In our desire to serve the college we cannot and should not, we must not give our community friends any reason to believe that we are exclusive in our attitudes:
 - 1. We welcome to membership those from many backgrounds. We actively SEEK your participation in the life of this church!
 - 2. We stand ready to be a resource and support for those who may never join us!
 - 3. (I would hope that YOU MIGHT CONSIDER PRAYERFULLY MEMBERSHIP IN THIS LOCAL BODY!)

IV. WE ARE SEEKING TO FUNCTION AS A VITAL PART IN THE BODY OF CHRIST

- A. WE WILL BE LOYAL TO JESUS CHRIST, OUR HEAD
 - 1. The human body is a wonderful machine-and-more. The Psalmist may not have known bio-genetics, but he had it right when he said: "I am fearfully and wonderfully made." The Body of Christ is no less complex and wonderful.
 - 2. By the Spirit we will seek to be aware and to be sympathetic to all of Christ's Body everywhere; and yet we at Wollaston are called to be ourselves! Called to be just like no other church!
 - a. What works somewhere else may well work here, it may not. The key is what does the Head say? The pastor is NOT the Head; and yet the pastor had better be in touch; the leadership of the church, board and directors and others, they are NOT the Head. But they had better be in touch.

- b. How do we know we are being directed by the Head? It must be our constant, earnest desire!

B. WE WILL OFFER WORSHIP THAT IS GOD-CENTERED

1. Changing Times and Eternal Values: One of the biggest challenges facing me as a pastor nearly 37 years is to know how and when to gracefully change, and when to firmly hold the line:
 - a. The idiom changes; the way speech is used, the meaning of words. A purist, an English major, a word-lover— I often hate to see such changes; on the other hand sometimes I am part of those changes.
[I recall when I said, in reply to 'how did I like a dish my mother cooked, "Not bad!" It is hard to believe, but that expression, which we know means "Very good!", was new to my father; he took a very dim view of such a cool non-endorsement.
 - b. The Gospel never changes: English language changes, communications changes, musical tastes change; but the Gospel is eternal truth, the message of God's love is unchanging— and so we have the dilemma of continuing to present a changeless message in a changing culture.
2. A college church must in some sense be a cultural trendsetter. That cannot be a dominating goal, but it is NOT inconsequential, either. At the same time a college church, like every other church that intends to obey Jesus Christ, must speak to the people of its day and age. This is our sincere intention.
3. The one uncompromising criteria to which we will seek to hold all our various expressions of worship, whether in song or spoken word or any other human expression of our faith and love to God, will be the desire for excellence. We will seek to do our very best, to offer to God no unworthy, unprepared, ill-considered, self-serving endeavor in the name of "relevance."

In the back of the mind of this pastor is the pseudo-scripture of Alexander Pope, who wrote:

Be not the first by which the new is tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside . . . or was it vice versa?

C. WE WILL BE DEDICATED TO BEARING MUCH FRUIT

1. Shared alumni

We even now have sons and daughters all over the world. We cannot claim them as "ours" in any exclusive way any more than I can claim all the credit for my magnificent family of grandchildren.

2. Second Church

We even now share in the reality of hundreds at worship that would not have been at worship, at least not in quite the same way, if we had not been faithful at Second Church. We didn't do it ourselves. We didn't do it perfectly. But in spite of human shortcomings, Jesus built His church and we were at least some small part!

3. The weekly miracle of worship

To this moment the most important thing we do is worship God right here! This is not a show! This is a TRYST! This is a meeting time! This is when our hearts are cleansed and renewed. The word is proclaimed. The living stones report for duty.

Conclusion

Maybe some of this has been too elementary, too boring to you. But I have spoken about what is foundational and basic to me.

Jesus and Temptation

May 17, 1992

Luke 4:1-13 (8) And Jesus answered and said unto him, "Get thee behind me, Satan, for it is written, 'Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve.'"

Introduction

Ever since the Garden of Eden we human beings, young and old, have been plagued with TEMPTATION! The LURE OF FORBIDDEN FRUIT!

I must have been about 12 or 13. My cousin and I— you remember him?— were on a Saturday hike through Potter Park, the metropolitan Zoo and park system along the Cedar River in Lansing. Boys that age are usually hungry, and I remember very well coming to a pavilion area and just like Yogi Bear discovering a big picnic basket.

We looked all around, and there was not a person in sight. We took the lid off the picnic basket and looked in. I can still remember what was on top— the biggest, fattest, most scrumptious sugar cookies I think I ever saw!

THAT was temptation!

We knew that they didn't belong to us. But we reasoned, we rationalized, — even though we had never heard the word— that probably the people had forgotten all about them. And before you know it we had overcome the temptation! WE STUFFED OUR MOUTHS AND BEGAN TO EAT!

Just about that time a very upset young man appeared from nowhere and collared the both of us! As I recall, he had me by my left arm, and he had Dick by his right.

I prepared to meet my Maker right there! I had led a pretty full life for a 13-year-old, but still I could have wished to live a little longer. But all hope seemed gone.

Just then Dick had another temptation, which he coupled with opportunity. It was the strong temptation to LIE! Two or three kids about our age were walking past the pavilion. "Those kids right there told us we could have all we want!," he said, and I almost believed Dick myself.

Jesus and Temptation

Wonder of wonders, the young man let go of us and over my shoulder as I disappeared into the bush I could see him collaring the unsuspecting young people. After that I never looked back.

As I recall I didn't see Dick again that day, either. I think I'll send him a tape of this sermon! It's a true story! It was a losing bout with temptation!

But there are other, even more serious ways we face TEMPTATION in hard, cold, real-life situations:

YOU'RE A PRETTY GOOD STUDENT, and you've done all your assignments, and you're even in an honor track because you've done so well. You know the competition is keen for honors and scholarship; and you know you are just about as good as anyone else in the class.

But you also know that some of the other bright kids are cheating on tests, and helping each other with the answers. You know that you could cheat and get a better grade more easily, too. It isn't fair!

That's temptation!

Or, consider this:

YOU'RE A CHRISTIAN HUSBAND (OR WIFE) and you love your spouse. But frankly there are times when the marriage is sort of "blah." The schedule is so hectic that there isn't too much time for real romance— just dirty laundry and TV dinners and maybe a Little League game squeezed in here or there.

But there is that nice person at work that is genuinely friendly, and always ready to smile and listen, and occasionally there is lunch, and... when the mind begins to wander, and the will begins to toy with the "What if?" and the "If only!" and "I am never really understood at home..." then, recognize it,

THAT IS TEMPTATION!

We can analyze it— we can talk about it— but in the end we will have to deal with it; and temptation is always the first step to disaster; it is an invitation to sin and separation and to death itself!

I. THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS, OUR WORD ON HOW TO OVERCOME:

A. The Temptation of Jesus is recorded in all three of the synoptic Gospels. Immediately following the triumph of His Baptism, when the Spirit descended on Him like a dove, and the Voice of God the Father was heard from heaven saying, "THIS IS MY BELOVED SON IN WHOM I AM WELL PLEASED!" Jesus was led (driven) into the wilderness where He faced the worst that Satan could bring against Him.

1. This Temptation reveals Jesus as our Champion, defeating temptation both for Himself AND for us,
2. AND as our Example, giving us practical help so WE can defeat temptation when it comes to us! And it DOES come!

B. HOW IS JESUS OUR CHAMPION?

1. He removed the "defeatist" spirit! We do not have to be defeated!

Jesus is called the Second Adam (a whole new Life!) The First Adam, in his failure to overcome temptation, gave a defeatist message to the entire human race. "We are trapped by sin!

What can we do?!" cry the sons and daughters of the First Adam. St. Paul puts it this way: "In Adam (we) all die!" (I Corinthians 15:) Jesus, the Second Adam, changed all that! Jesus says, "You CAN overcome sin and temptation BY MY GRACE and POWER!"

2. Jesus faced the identical temptations of our first parents; under different conditions: Both Adam and Jesus were innocent; but holiness is more than innocence; the holiness God intends for you and me comes from deliberately choosing right over wrong. Jesus showed us that in the Spirit's power it is possible!
3. Temptation to sin is summarized in I John 2:16 "For all that is in the world, the LUST OF THE FLESH, and the LUST OF THE EYES, and the PRIDE OF LIFE is not of the Father, but of the world."

Think about this summary of temptation for just a moment:

a. THE LUST OF THE FLESH (which we associate mostly with sex) has to do with satisfying legitimate needs or drives in illegitimate ways. Adam and Eve, as recorded in Genesis 3, were tempted by "forbidden fruit." According to the account,

"Eve saw that the tree (which God had told Adam and Eve not to eat from) was good for food."

SATAN SAID TO JESUS: You are hungry! Use your miracle-working power to work magic! Do as I say! If you don't take things into your own will and way you will perish!

SATAN SAID TO THE GOOD SCHOLAR: "GRADES ARE BREAD AND BUTTER ON YOUR TABLE! IF YOU DON'T CHEAT YOU WON'T EAT AS GOOD!"

Certainly it was not and is not wrong to eat, or to legitimately fulfill any of the God-instilled desires of the flesh. But (1) it is wrong to obey Satan, and (2) it is wrong to disobey God where there are clear guide-lines laid down; and (3) it is wrong to let the flesh dictate and command us in what we do.

God does not want His children to be under the control of anyone or anything except Himself and His love for us.

b. THE LUST OF THE EYE (which we might see as one of the great sins of our age: the I WANT WHAT I SEE!)

Eve saw that the forbidden fruit was "pleasant to the eyes."

SATAN SHOWED JESUS all the kingdoms of the earth in a moment of time and said, "Aren't they beautiful? Wouldn't you like to have them all at your feet? If you will give me a moment of worship, I will cease to oppose you and you will..."

SATAN IS A GREAT PROMISER, but he is also a liar!

This is the wish-book syndrome. We don't even know what it is we want until we are told; then we want what we see. For years Sears-Roebuck gave away their great BIG BOOK catalogs free— knowing that GREED— artificial needs— would pay for them over and over— we seem to think we cannot get along with what we SEE!

But Jesus said I will not seek what I may legitimately want on Satan's terms.

- c. PRIDE! John "The pride of life!" Putting SELF at the center in place of God.

Eve saw that the forbidden fruit "was to be desired to make one wise!" The promise of the Tempter had been: "You will be as gods!"

SATAN SAID TO JESUS: "Jump down! Make a spectacular scene! Get the adulation of the crowd on your PERSONALITY, instead of your holiness and your obedience to the Father and Your calling into being the Church.

WE ARE ALWAYS TEMPTED TO MAKE AN EGO TRIP OF OUR RELIGION:

There is pride of FACE. There is pride of RACE. There is pride of PLACE. But perhaps the most insidious of all is PRIDE OF GRACE!

"I (we) have a lock on genuine religion!"

In all these temptations Jesus broke the power of the Siren song of Satan. His death on the Cross enables us to follow Him in recognizing when temptation comes, and in saying "No!" to temptation when it does come. And it surely does!

[But Jesus has not only provided the power in His own defeat of temptation, and on the Cross; Jesus shows us HOW to resist. Let me summarize:]

II. JESUS, OUR EXAMPLE OF OVERCOMING TEMPTATION

A. DON'T QUIT! TEMPTATION IS NOT SIN.

Don't quit because you are sorely tempted! The Son of God was not exempt. We should not take temptation to indicate God's disapproval.

Following God's will does not exempt us from temptation. Being filled with the Spirit does not exclude us from temptation.

B. RECOGNIZE THE EVIL ONE! TEMPTATION IS THE SOLICITATION OF SATAN.

Recognize the HELLISH source of the twisting of your desires!

Jesus will enable us to RECOGNIZE the Source of temptation: the Deceiver. The twister; the distorter; the accuser of the fellowship... there is a power that will oppose all that is good and right and holy. [There is a clear difference between the accusation of Satan and the conviction of God the Holy Spirit.] To recognize that is to be half-way to victory!

C. RESIST, DON'T REASON WITH THE ENEMY!

DON'T TRY TO "REASON" WITH SATAN.

Jesus did NOT reason with Satan. He resisted him. As soon as we recognize: this is temptation! we must refuse to negotiate, and simply ask God for grace! "Lead us NOT into temptation!" Jesus didn't "toy" with temptation!

D. USE THE WORD OF GOD! DO USE GOD'S PROMISES IN WORD AND SONG.

Jesus used the written Word as THE INSTRUMENT for defeating temptation:
In every case Jesus could say from His heart and memory:

"IT IS WRITTEN!" I'll go by the Book!

E. PERSIST! DO HOLD ON, IT WON'T LAST FOREVER!

Jesus resisted with His might! "Get thee behind me, Satan!" Jesus turned His back on further discussion. After holding steady, Jesus was ministered to by angels (both Mark 1 and Matthew 3) There came a divine, supernatural strengthening. And then Jesus found respite for a season. (Thank God, we do not have to face continual, unending temptation!)

F. BELIEVE IT! JESUS IS WITH YOU! REMEMBER, JESUS IS WITH YOU!

WE have something which Jesus Himself did not have in the wilderness.
Jesus faced temptation alone. But Jesus has promised that He will ALWAYS be with us. Jesus Himself is THE PRESENCE that overcomes temptation.

Conclusion:

We are not just children of Adam and Eve! We do NOT inevitably need to be defeated by temptation!

PRAYER:

"Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil!"

Jesus High and Lifted up

May 16, 1992

John 8:28 When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know...

The conflict has begun in the ministry of Jesus. The day of his popularity is passing; He has fed the 5,000 and that is wonderful. But He has talked about giving His flesh and His blood for the life of the world.

In these paragraphs Jesus has made a very controversial claim, and followed it with a challenge:

He said: I AM THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD! That is a pretty good claim!

He went on to say: ANYONE WHO WALKS WITH ME WILL NEVER NEED TO WALK IN DARKNESS EVER AGAIN! That is pretty amazing, too!

But the challenge was this:

Jesus said: UNLESS YOU BELIEVE WHO I AM YOU WILL NEVER SEE ETERNAL LIFE— YOU WILL DIE IN YOUR SINS!

Naturally, it got some strong reaction. "Just WHO do You think You are?" was the outburst from the Pharisees. It was crunch time, time to make a decision about Jesus. They had Light with them. The Holy Spirit was working on them to reveal the truth about Jesus. But Jesus spoke of a time when there would be NO DOUBT— the whole world will know who Jesus IS!

Every time Jesus is Present, every time we hear His word, there is...

I. A CLEAR CHALLENGE TO DECIDE ABOUT JESUS

- A. I AM the light of the world; FOLLOW ME AND YOU WILL NEVER HAVE TO WALK IN DARKNESS (WITHOUT A GUIDE)
- B. Unbelief (Pharisees) does not accept simple truth: "You do not speak the truth!"

- C. Jesus says: "Unless you believe that I AM who I say I am, that I am "HE!" (i.e., the Messiah) You will die in your sins!"

Either we exercise faith and seek Him NOW; or there will be a time when we will see the truth too late!

- D. (text) "When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will know who I am!"

II. JESUS IS THE ONLY WAY TO KNOW THE TRUTH- OR BETTER, JESUS IS THE TRUTH!

- A. Jesus was speaking, of course, about being lifted up on the cross to die. He was saying, "The Cross will make things clear!" The Cross will stand throughout eternity as the mark of Who God IS, and prove that He is both HOLY and JUST.

The scriptures record that the Roman who had charge of the crucifixion knew there was something different, something HOLY about this Man on the middle cross. The Pharisees knew it the, too.

- B. But WHENEVER Jesus is, lifted UP, it is THEN that people come to know the truth!

III. SEE THE WAYS IN WHICH JESUS IS LIFTED UP

- A. (As He said, Jesus was) LIFTED UP ON THE CROSS. The challenge there was SIN! JUSTIFICATION! Jesus our RIGHTEOUSNESS!

- B. (But Jesus was also) RAISED FROM THE TOMB. The Enemy now was DEATH! Jesus our LIFE! REGENERATION! II Co. 5:17

- C. (Jesus then was lifted up as He) ASCENDED INTO SESSION. The concern was SEPARATION, and ALONE-NESS. Jesus was going away!

Jesus our BROTHER! God our FATHER! Jesus sent us His Spirit to BRING US INTO THE FAMILY OF GOD! ADOPTION!

But that is only true as it becomes personal; as the truth draws near with power. When Jesus is lifted up in witness, something wonderful takes place:

D. (It is the church's privilege to lift up Jesus so the world can know the truth) PROCLAIMED
IN WITNESS...

1. ... to our own salvation by others: GRACE RECEIVED TO DELIVER US FROM THE POWER AND THE GUILT OF SIN
2. ... by our own confession to the salvation of others: GRACE IN SEASON, OUT OF SEASON IN EVERY SITUATION TO LIFT UP THE SAVIOR AND SHARE HIS LOVE

E. EVERY EYE SHALL SEE THE PAROUSIA - JESUS, HIGH AND LIFTED UP, WILL BE REVEALED TO THE WHOLE WORLD!

CONCLUSION

What do you know for sure about God? What do you know for certain about your own standing with Him? There is one way that you CAN know!

The Joy and Wonder of Worship

May 28, 1992

John 4 / 2 Kings 6:12-23

I. A LESSON ON THE HEART OF WORSHIP

The story of Jesus at Sychar, of His conversation with the woman at the well of Jacob there, is itself a "well" to which we go again and again for an inexhaustible supply of refreshing truth.

Jesus is returning from the Passover holidays in Jerusalem, returning to Galilee, and He has chosen to go through Samaria instead of around it. Samaria is simply a no-man's-land to be hurried through, so far as the disciples are concerned. But to Jesus it is different.

Jesus engages a Samaritan woman in conversation; He asks her a favor, actually. She is not exactly a 'pillar in the community,' nor any expert in things holy. But she is precious to Jesus. He reveals Himself as Messiah. He tells her that He has a source of living water that eternally satisfies; He tells her that He is what LIFE is all about! She believes— she goes and brings back a crowd from the town. They prevail on Jesus, the Messiah for the pure Jews, and Jesus stays with them three days. Evidently Jesus believed He was their Messiah, too!

But during the course of the conversation the subject of worship was brought up by the Samaritan woman. It is perhaps not the main point of the conversation at all. But Jesus "throws away" a line which we may well ponder here this evening:

The woman is personally wounded by the knowledge that Jesus knows all about her, and her failures. She seems to try to divert the conversation, to "squirm" to one side or the other with a question about "religion." She lifts here eyes to the twin peaks above the well, Ebal and Gerazim, the mountains of blessing and cursing— the well and the two high hills are there at this very moment:

The Joy and Wonder of Worship

"Our fathers worship HERE," she says. "You (Jews) say that we need to come to Jerusalem for true worship. Which is true and right?"

Here comes the throw-away: "You worship what you do not know," Jesus says, "But we (Jews) know what we worship, for salvation is of the Jews." But without a pause Jesus continues: "But the time is coming— in fact, it now IS, when neither here nor there will be the place to worship, for God is Spirit, and they that worship God must worship Him in Spirit and in truth! The Father is actually SEEKING such, those who will worship in spirit (Spirit!)"

A. Three ways to worship

1. IGNORANT WORSHIP; sincere, tradition - informed only; not to be despised, but to be superseded:

Samaritans, polyglot; scriptural antecedents diluted and polluted by mixture; despised by Jews

Innocents in our midst, informed second-hand; their ideas of God come from what they observe (Luther: "I did not like to think of God as "Father" because my father was so severe ...")

Danger of any second-generation from reality in revelation: if it departs from first-hand attention to revelation its worship is IGNORANT

2. INFORMED WORSHIP; based on God's Word; "salvation is of the Jews"
Theirs was the Torah; theirs was the history of Exodus; theirs was the physical witness of Jerusalem, the Temple:

Psalm One: Blessed is the one who meditates in God's Word day and night

Levitical truth: Sacrifices, observances, .. all pointing to Schema:
Hear, O Israel, the Lord is ONE!

3. INSPIRED WORSHIP: They that worship must worship in Spirit and truth. The true worship of God must both be INFORMED and INHABITED BY GOD HIMSELF!

B. SPIRITUAL WORSHIP is the intended way we shall worship.

Spiritual worship requires ONE THING! God's Presence! "When Messiah comes, He will take care of this dilemma!" "I that speak to you right now, I AM Messiah!"

The PLACE is not unimportant: "Our fathers worshiped here; you Jews worship in Jerusalem... which is right?"

Jesus did not say that the place means nothing: "This is My Father's house, and you have ..." "Jesus went to synagogue as was His habit.. "My house shall be an house of prayer .. 1.a And the METHOD is not unimportant, either: The very coming together is ordered: "Forsake not the assembling of yourselves together... Prayer is proscribed: "Our Father ... Sacrament is ordered: "When you come together 2. But everything else is subservient to God's Presence The Spirit of Jesus The Spirit of glorifying HIM The Spirit of truth, guidance The Spirit that does His three-fold work of conviction, conversion, and inspiration (John 16:8)

II. A SURVEY OF THE STYLES OF WORSHIP

Worship defined by William Temple:

"Worship is to quicken the conscience by the holiness of God, to feed the imagination by the beauty of God, to open the heart to the love of God, to devote the will to the purpose of God." It is finding in God the real purpose of our being, and is the ultimate joy in all of Creation.

"His is my soul, redeemed from all sin His is my heart, purified within His is my life, transformed from above His my whole being, an offering of love!" -NYPS Theme Chorus '60- '64

The Joy and Wonder of Worship

- A. Worship is the expression of one's true self in love before God. There is personal worship, with an intimacy known only to the two participants; and there is corporate worship, when individual bodies of believers express their worship.

And it is when two or more people expose their hearts in worship that potential disagreement and lack of trust begin to rear their ugly heads. For each true self is different from each other true self. There must be some give and some take.

- B. The temptation is to make judgments of methods of worship in terms of value before God: i.e., "Cathedral worship" is better than "Banyan-tree worship" is better than "Appalachian worship."
1. The critical, judging spirit excludes "outsiders"
 2. The non-discriminating spirit offends the Spirit: Jesus must be lifted up; excitement does NOT equal inspiration.
 3. The Spirit will do what He will; there are "mixtures" of humanity and divine blessing in the best of worship, perhaps;
- C. There is a temptation to imitate other methods and miss the vitality; to despise one's own roots/reality and see only the best/beauty in other ways. God wants us to give OUR best to Him!

William Willimon on "Episcopal converts;" "Baptists make overly-gung-ho Episcopalians.. "I like Episcopalians who were born Episcopalians..."

Conclusion:

- A. Explore our own sincerity in worship; the element of trust in daring to bring OUR best to God, and not to despise others.

In the 6th chapter of 2 Samuel is a scene right out of a Shakespeare drama: David has been successful beyond his dreams; God has blessed him. He goes to the house of Obed-Edom with proper preparation and brings the Ark of the Covenant to the center of the capital city as a symbol of the fact that Israel shall be centered in God.

As the ark moves toward the city David is overcome with joyous emotion and begins to dance before the ark with all his might. He gets right down with the slave girls and the street people in a genuine expression of his delight.

But in an upper window, standing half-hidden behind the curtains, stands David's wife, Michal, Saul's daughter, intently watching. She is a princess, and not used to seeing the king mingle with the help. She is disgusted in her heart, and when David finally comes in she tells him as much. "You really distinguished yourself today, King David! It wasn't your finest hour!"

David's reply was, "It wasn't for your benefit! It was before the Lord! And I will give to God whatever I believe I should give to Him!"

And the account goes on: (23 And Michal, the daughter of Saul, had no child to the day of her death. She was barren from that time forward!

- B. Even now, the way you are applying this scriptural message may tell you more about yourself than you want to know:

No doubt you are vindicating the way YOU love to worship, or the way that YOU believe is true worship. We are made that way— truth at first seems to reinforce our own position.

But however you consider worship to be ideal, there are those who truly worship in Spirit and in truth who on the surface of it would be uncomfortable with your style; and there are those who know God and worship in truth whose ways of approaching God would not be comfortable to you.

The most unattractive attitudes I know about have been (1) religious fundamentalists; and to a lesser extent, because I have had lesser exposure, (2) snobbish "High Church"-types, which I have usually written off as "liberals."

1. Please see that each one of us can be both the discriminator and the discriminated against; and it is imperative that we do not go the route of barrenness and despise those who are worshipping God in truth, even though in their humanness they may seem culturally out of it.

The Joy and Wonder of Worship

2. Please pray that the expression of our worship here will be the sincere expression of who we are in total love and obedience before the great God we love. Pray that the evolution of our worship will enable the tasks of the church, EVANGELISM and EDUCATION and FELLOWSHIP and SERVICE to flourish in powerful ways, for WORSHIP IS THE HEART OF THE LIFE OF CHRIST'S BODY, THE CHURCH!

The Ascension of Jesus

May 31, 1992

Acts 1:1-11

Introduction

[Consider using #513 as "Lesson"- The Apostle Creed, with emphasis on the phrase, "He ascended into heaven.."]

If we are consistent in observing special days, we need to have a few other days in our Christian calendar beyond Christmas and Easter. This past Thursday was also a special day in the church year. (What was it? Right! I knew you would know!) It was Ascension Day, the 40th day after Easter, the day we are reminded where Jesus IS!

[Narrative: Jesus walked up the hill called Olivet. He spoke a few last, important words. Then He simply 'lifted off' and a cloud received Him out of the disciples' sight. Jesus was gone!]

Is this to be taken as history? Is it simply another of the many myths about the comings and goings of man's invented divinities? WHAT DOES "HE ASCENDED INTO HEAVEN" SAY TO US? IS JESUS STILL THE JESUS OF GALILEE AND THE GOSPELS?

I. WHAT HAS CHANGED, FOR THE DISCIPLES?

- A. On the surface of it, everything was changed. And it couldn't be for the better— for what could be better than having the Son of God on hand, visible, palpable, audible— now in a moment of time He is gone, and apparently He is not coming back for a while!
- B. But as the next few days and weeks unfold, the changes begin to clarify:
 - 1. The locus of the evangel of the Gospel; It WAS the Person of Jesus in the flesh, in His face and spoken word and deed; NOW it is indeed in the Person and work of Jesus,but NOW in His BODY the church ("As the Father hath sent Me, so send I you. "YE shall receive power the Holy Spirit coming upon you... "YE shall be witnesses unto Me...")

2. The scope of the assignment has now gone into Phase Two; the CHURCH becomes the vehicle, where before it had been Israel, and Jesus own message had been limited to the immediate vicinity of Galilee and Judea. Now "YE are a chosen people, a royal priesthood... "Ye shall witness in Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria.. and the uttermost part of the earth... (NOTE "part" not "parts"— it is where we are, not where we aren't ...)
- C. The actual level of personal attention on the part of God, the level of intimacy, if you please, has the potential for becoming constant.

II. WHAT REMAINS THE SAME?

- A. Jesus is the same!
1. This same Jesus will return! Human! Physical!
 2. This same Jesus cares deeply for each of His OWN. That does not change! "I have kept them Thou gavest Me!" (John 17) Jesus is still very much involved with each one of His children/ servants/ friends!
- B. Jesus' MISSION is still the same! Only now Jesus is doing His mission through the Church; through YOU and me! Why did Jesus come?
1. HE CAME TO SHOW THE WORLD THE FATHER GOD! He is the Word. He came to reveal God. Not to simply teach about God, but to BE God-with-us! Jesus gives God a focus to our finite understanding.
 2. HE CAME TO SAVE THE WORLD! He came to bring us God's LOVE and God's LIFE. He came to DIE for our sins. But now Jesus has committed this task of bringing the news of salvation to US! To the CHURCH— to YOU and to ME!
- C. Jesus' SPIRIT is still the same: We are not supposed to try to continue His work in our own worldly ways. LOVE is still the dominating power; love is still stronger than hate. HOPE is still a legitimate dynamic- Jesus has promised that we can trust the future in His hands. FAITH is still our viable connection with the Father— and we are to live by constant communication and prayer!

III. WHAT, THEN, IS THE ADVANTAGE OF THE ASCENSION?

A. HE IS NOW WITH US IN REALITY BY HIS SPIRIT

Jesus sends us the Spirit of God. "If I do not go away, " He said, "the Comforter will not come. But if I go away I will send Him to you."

B. HE IS AT THE THRONE OF GRACE FOR US

1. He is God's WORD to us, and now He becomes our ADVOCATE, our word, to God! (Romans 8 "He makes intercession")
2. Jesus is our tender, kind, High Priest, ascended into the Holy of Holies with His sacrifice for sins, but bearing also the knowledge of our frailty. We are loved at the center of the Universe! Jesus prays for us. Conclusion:
3. He fulfills all scripture: All the promises of the Word are there for anyone to read; but somehow it is different when we realize that "ONE OF US" is there at the Right Hand of All Power!

We know that He will make all things come 'round to His Glory and OUR (ultimate) GOOD! (Romans 8:28!)

There's an old story about a mother who wanted to keep her child informed as well as amused; so she bought a jig-saw puzzle picture-map of the earth, with lots of pieces. "See how long it takes you to put this map together," she said.

The boy had the map finished in just a very few minutes. It was amazing! "How did you do it so fast?" the mother asked.

"Actually, it was easy!" was the answer. "There is a picture of a man on the back. I just slid it on the checkerboard and turned it over!"

There is the face of a Man at the Back of All History! And that Man is even now at the Throne of the Universe! He ascended into heaven! If we keep His face in view, He will make sense, finally, of our world!

Do YOU need reassurance in your world? I do in mine! There are times when I am absolutely overwhelmed! IT IS THEN I REALIZE I NEED TO LOOK FOR 'THE MAN'S FACE ON THE BACK OF THE PUZZLE!'

The Ascension of Jesus

Prayer: Thank You for helping us to pray, and helping us to live for You day by day.

Hymn No. 157 The Lord Jehovah Reigns

The Pentecost Preacher and His Sermon

June 7, 1992

Acts 1:14 "Then Peter stood up ... and addressed the crowd"

If there was a human leader on that first great Day of Pentecost- and there was- there is no doubt that it was the big fisherman, Simon Peter. It was evident that day that Peter was very much the same person that he always had been— ready to speak at the drop of a hint— something to say on every subject whether he had something to say or not. Peter was very rarely at a loss for words.

But it was also evident that Peter was a different man from what he had always been, all at one and the same time. He spoke with firmness, and yet with compassion and love. He was not at all hesitant to tell the truth- "You crucified the Messiah!" was a part of his message. But Peter was also holding out in love the offer of eternal life, of forgiveness for sin, of union with God! Impetuous, fiery, very-human Peter was also very conspicuously a man of tenderness and compassion and love!

I. THE TWO GREAT EVENTS IN PETER'S PREPARATION FOR THIS SERMON

I would like to suggest that TWO VITAL THINGS HAD HAPPENED TO PETER, two things that were absolutely necessary for Peter to be able to do what he did on Pentecost.

THE FIRST THING might not seem to be connected with Pentecost. But I argue strongly that if this had not happened Peter would never have preached his sermon that day. THIS FIRST THING WAS A RATHER PAINFUL LESSON ON LOVE BY PETER'S LORD. Jesus took Peter aside, and talked kindly but firmly to him, and had him crying for mercy. This lesson is recorded in the 21st chapter of John; actually it is the reason John extended his gospel beyond the climax of Thomas's confession of faith in chapter 20.

You know that story [Narrative.] The lesson that day was, "Peter, I know that you do love Me; but if you want to prove that love, then feed My sheep!"

THE SECOND THING that happened to Peter was almost beyond description: IT WAS THE DELIGHTFUL, FRIGHTENING, ASSURING, HUMBLING, AWESOME OUTPOURING OF GOD'S SPIRIT, as recorded here in Acts 2. When Pentecost was fully come the Holy Spirit descended, and the disciples all knew that Jesus was at the Right Hand of the Glory on High; and at the same time they knew that Jesus was somehow present— that He was with them, or IN them by this magnificent Gift of the Spirit!

Peter was the one who got his sermon recorded. But he stood up "with the Eleven;" that is, they all were witnesses that Day. Peter was the preacher, but the entire CHURCH was the instrument of evangelism and worship by the power and purity of the Spirit of Jesus!

II. WAS PETER'S ['TWO-STEP'] EXAMPLE UNIQUE?

The answer to that is honestly both "Yes!" and "No!" Of course it Peter's life, his story is unique, for Jesus took Peter aside, and dealt with him in private, as He did to no other. It was Peter who had denied the Lord three times. It was Peter who had to answer to his Master; who had to face up to his shortcoming and failure.

The "private" lesson on love and loyalty was unique to Peter. But you can be sure that there were 120 individual, unique, stories in that Upper Room that first Pentecost! You can be sure that the Risen Savior had dealt with each one of those disciples just as if there was no other person in the world. You see, Peter was not the only one who had forsaken Jesus during His hour of trial and sorrow. The Bible tells us that they all forsook Jesus and fled!

Peter's story is familiar to us. But you can be certain that every one of these men and women had a meeting with the Lord! They were here in the Upper Room because Jesus had said, "Don't leave Jerusalem until you have received the Promise of the Father!"

EVERY CHRISTIAN HAS A SESSION WITH JESUS, SOONER OR LATER! Peter had to face the Lord and settle it not only that he was forgiven for his back-sliding, but that his LOVE was Christ-centered, not Peter-centered! Peter had to make sure that he was Christ-confident, not Peter-confident! Peter settled it that he was going to be Christ-obeying, not living by Peter's own self-will! And every one of us has to settle that, too, before the fullness of the Holy Spirit can be poured out into our lives! [That is what Romans 12: 1, 2 is trying to explain to us! We come to see and know and enjoy God's will when we have made a complete living sacrifice of ourselves to God!]

These are exactly the same issues that Jesus must deal with in each of our lives before the fullness of the Holy Spirit is given to us! THE HOLY SPIRIT DOES NOT COME ON UNPREPARED, UNCARING, DISOBEDIENT HALF-HEARTED CHRISTIANS!

Before the Holy Spirit can come upon God's people with power and cleansing there has to be the settling of basic issues, and the most central of those issues is about LOVE!

Two great things had happened in Peter's life: one of them was when Peter settled it that he loved Jesus more than his own selfish way. The second was this great BAPTISM OF THE SPIRIT!

III. THE FULLNESS OF THE SPIRIT- THE PENTECOST "THING"

Was the awesome outpouring of the Holy Spirit unique? Once again, YES— and NO! It has never happened quite the same way ever again. THAT was the initial outpouring! THAT was the great BIRTHING of the Church in its present assignment.

It never has happened quite that way since. BUT it has happened again, and again. And it needs to keep on happening!

We tend to focus on the accompanying signs. God is still looking for people, individuals and churches, who love Jesus more than anything else, and who love each other— and who are willing to obey God and seek His Promise of the fullness of the Spirit, and stand up where they live and tell the world that Jesus is alive, and that He is still in the sin-forgiving, life-giving business!

"Repent, and be baptized," said Peter, with the power of God filling his whole being.

"And you will receive this assurance, this awesome Holy Spirit— and you can join the Church!"

Angels Come to Call

A One-Act Play in Three Scenes

June 18, 1992

Acts 10

Yes, I believe its historical truth and accuracy; but it needs to be "seen," to be "real" as we read it:

I. SCENE ONE: OFFICER'S HOME IN CAESAREA

Time: June 21, 36 A.D.

Place: A beautiful spacious cut stone home in the Roman city of Caesarea, on the eastern most coast of the Mediterranean; Caesarea is the Roman provincial capital of what is now Lebanon, Israel and parts of Syria and Jordan.

Cornelius, a Roman centurion, commander of a famous Italian Regiment, is praying. It is 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and his work day is behind him. Perhaps he is in the atrium of his spacious house; he is meditating on all the things he has seen and heard.

Cornelius is a good pagan. He is a true seeker after truth, after God. He is not a Christian, but he cannot help but have heard something about this development in the Jewish community.

Cornelius has not been a typical occupational military presence. He is a loyal Roman, but he believes that the best thing Rome can do for the empire is foster true understanding and good will. And as Cornelius has become acquainted with the Jewish scriptures, the revelation of Jehovah, he has been impressed. This is "a" good religion! He has sponsored the building of synagogues; he has fostered tolerance and kindness to the Jewish people.

This day is much like many other days— the administrative duties have been cared for; the new men have been assigned, the men to be retired or sent on leave have been reviewed; letters have been received and sent, and now a little quiet time seeking to communicate with the Great Unknown. Cornelius has had this growing hunger in his heart for God and has not known quite how to express it. And then— it happened!

It happened in the inner court of Cornelius' lovely home in Caesarea— and angel of God suddenly stood before him! The angel spoke his name! "Cornelius!" Cornelius was startled, to say the least. His reaction was the same as yours or mine would be: he was terrified! But Cornelius was a military man, and his fear did not control his actions. Cornelius looked the angel right in the eye! And he said to the angel, "What is on your mind?"

The angel did NOT tell Cornelius about Jesus. He did NOT make known the Roman Road or the Four Spiritual Laws. He DID give Cornelius encouragement, and told him the next step to take.

The encouragement was the assurance that God in heaven knows what Cornelius is doing on earth.

The next step was a specific assignment to a specific place to see a specific individual who was staying with a specific person. He gave enough directions so that Cornelius could send for the help he needed.

Within the hour Cornelius had sent three men on the day-and- a-half journey down the coast to Joppa to find this man called Peter. And this is how the first scene ends.

II. SCENE TWO: THE HOME OF SIMON, THE TANNER BY THE SEA

Time: The next day, just about high noon. Peter is waiting for dinner to be announced.

Place: Simon the tanner's house. It is by the sea. It isn't too hard to find, for the tanning business involves soaking raw animal skins in vats; fermenting the fermentable, potent smells—

I know it is silly because churches had not yet been developed, and the Nazarene nap syndrome was still millennia away; but somehow I picture a Sunday afternoon just after church in the house where I live; I've finished preaching and I am temporarily exhausted; the kids are doing their thing- Helen is in the kitchen— for we always used to have the biggest meal of the week— and I usually lay down on the couch until it was time to slice the meat or whatever— and it wasn't too hard to drop off into a quick nap.

Actually in the hot mid-eastern climate a leisurely noon mealtime is pretty much world-wide.

However it happened, the Bible says that while Peter was hungry and waiting for dinner to be served he fell asleep and fell into a trance that was somewhere between dreaming and a visitation from God, or so it seemed.

[THE 'VISION' - A "sheet" let down from heaven with pork chops and lobsters and apple pie with ice cream . . . all non-kosher foods—]

Then the Spirit spoke clearly to Peter: Men are just about to ring the doorbell! Don't be afraid. I'm in this. Peter went down the stairs and met the men at the gate— and invited them into the house.

What kosher rules were broken I do not know— I doubt any at this time. A Jew can have non-Jews in his home— the contamination begins when the Jew goes into the heathen's house and/or eats off defiled vessels.

The men stay overnight with Peter in Simon the tanner's house.

III. SCENE THREE: OFFICER'S HOME IN CAESAREA

Time: June 24 or 25, same year

Place: scene set same as Scene One, except now there are a score or more guests eagerly waiting the return of the men Cornelius has sent away.

When Peter came in he first talked briefly about himself, who he was, and how he was (usually) limited! "I have never mixed with Gentiles! But God has been speaking to me! Here I am!"

Then Peter got down to business! He began to tell Cornelius and his household and guests about the Christ who fills all of revelation, and who had transformed his own sinful heart!

As Peter spoke about Jesus things began to click into place. "I had heard about this Man," Cornelius may have said. "But I hadn't know quite how to fit Him in to what the Jewish scriptures say. Now this makes sense!" The Holy Spirit was illuminating Peter's preaching.

When Peter, helped along by the Spirit, said, "If you believe in this powerful Name that is above every Name, you will receive forgiveness of sins," Cornelius's heart leapt for joy! In his heart he said, "I do believe!" And the same thing was happening in the others gathered there. God descended in a wonderful way. Peter's sermon was interrupted, but his message came through loud and clear!

They had a testimony meeting— and then they had a baptismal service— and then they started the First Church of the Nazarene in Caesarea with about 20 charter members!

I know it doesn't have that all down in the King James version. But as Dr. Knight said at Assembly, that is what us preachers are for! (To explain what isn't written down!) ;-)

Conclusion/Application

This chapter says two things to me, loud and clear: Hebrews 11:6 is true: God will meet with those who seek after Him diligently; and YET— God uses...

A. When our focus is on Cornelius it makes us aware that

1. "in all nations there are people seeking after God." and
2. it encourages us that God answers those who seek him.

[Illus: At the last General Assembly one evening the emphasis was world mission, and there were several people in our own generation— current— who were raised pagan, but to whom God has manifested himself. One of them will speak with us here next Sunday! Janine Van Beek. Another was a man who lived in the rain forests of South America— to whom God gave the name of a man to seek after in a mission situation.]

B. When our focus comes to Peter there are several things this passage teaches me:

1. I never know my own prejudices; I must be open to the Lord. Then I can also be myself.
2. When God wants a job done He sends for a man or a woman. Imperfect, faulted, weak, prejudiced— still God does not give the Gospel message by angels— at least not usually! God uses redeemed people!
3. The POWER is in the story of the death and resurrection of Jesus— in His life within! When Peter said Jesus is alive, and if you believe in His name you will receive forgiveness of sins— as he spoke the hearers believed and received!

Home of the Soul

June 19, 1992

Psalm 84:5-7

Last week I saw the E.N.C. graduation ceremony on the local cable TV. One feature that I hadn't really noticed in the actual ceremony— perhaps because I was very cold, or perhaps because of other stimuli— was the chirping of the birds that apparently live under the portico roof in front of Gardner Hall. From our perspective they were insignificant or a minor nuisance. From their perspective, perhaps, we were uninvited guests on the front doorstep of their home.

The Psalmist paints us a word picture— of small and insignificant birds who make their home in the very center of the Temple area. [Maybe he had just come from the Temple area, and had noticed how the sparrows had made themselves at home.] He contrasted and compared how much the birds seemed to be at home with the deep longing that he felt in his own heart to truly be "at peace" with himself and with his God.

[Even to his dying day David wished that he could have done more— he was ambitious to build the Temple itself— where the tabernacle was now standing— the sacred place on Moriah where Solomon would finally erect the temple that was to be one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.]

Mankind is different from all other creatures. We have longings that go so deep that we don't always know what the longings are for. Sometimes, perhaps most of the time, it takes a long time, usually, to find out what really will satisfy the deepest longings of the soul.

I. THE HOME OF THE SOUL IS NOT A 'PLACE' OR A 'THING'

A. THINGS OF THEMSELVES CAN NOT SATISFY

Intellectually, perhaps, we Christians believe this. But I wonder if we do ever accept it! The old question asked of rich people— "How much money is enough?" is just about always answered: "Just a little MORE!" [Illustration: Robert Coles, eminent Harvard teacher, was "converted" as a spin-off of a study he was doing during the civil right struggle in Louisiana) at least partly because of the witness of a six-year-old little girl named Ruby Bridges.]

Coles has said that his studies have increasingly shown that poor Christians, even at the poverty level- are consistently happier, better adjusted and more fulfilled as people than are rich unbelievers! I may be over-simplifying his summaries, but the gist is there:

"Among the poor he had expected defeat and despair; he found some- but he also found strength and hope and courage. Among the rich he expected satisfaction; instead he found boredom, and alienation, and decadence..." The religion of Jesus Christ— salvation I prefer to call it- - is NOT the "opiate of the masses" as the early Communist leaders were quick to label it; (Marx said it; Lenin and Stalin believed it.) It is not the tool of the get-rich or get-well middle classes, either— but it is a life-motivating, life-changing, life-lifting Reason for living in and of itself!

B. BUT THINGS ARE NOT UN-IMPORTANT, EITHER; FOR THE KINGDOM OF GOD IS A REAL KINGDOM!

After all, the world we live in is a beautiful world. We need to keep our "worlds" straight when we quote "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world." For another verse says, "God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son (to save it.)" This world of creation reflects God's majesty and His glory; the world of people and relationships often reflects the image of God in care and concern. We would have to be dead not to see beauty in the lochs and braes, the Everglades, the heavens— the wonders of this world.

But often when the heart gets hungry for home, or for a beautiful scene remembered, it is not just for that place or that time you long... but it is because your heart was made by the same Hand that made the scene remembered! Perhaps you are not aching and longing for Scotland, but you are homesick for God!

II. THE HOME OF THE SOUL IS BEING 'RIGHT' WITH GOD

- A. "Happiness" is (1) being "at home" with God in some deepening reality; and (2) finding strength for the day in God Himself (4,5)

Blessed (happy) are they that dwell in Thy house: ... Blessed (happy) is the man, the woman, whose strength is in Thee (Psalm 84:4,5)

We say, "IF ONLY circumstances were different!" or, "If people would just LET ME DO WHAT IS RIGHT!" But we need to see that: Circumstances and people can not really short-circuit this being at home with God:

Elizabeth O'Conner is quoted by Bob Benson, from her book Journey Inward, Journey Outward:

Each of us is the artist of his own life. The materials we are given to work with, the conditions we work under and what happens to us, are part of the drama of what we shall do with our lives. But the materials and conditions and events are not in themselves the determining factors. Whether a man arrives or does not arrive at his own destiny- the place that is peculiarly his- depends on whether or not he finds the kingdom within and hears the call to wholeness- or holiness, as another might say. The man who hears that call is chosen. He does not have to scramble for a place in the scheme of things. He knows that there is a place which is his and that he can live close to the One who will show it to him. Life becomes his vocation.

- B. Let us close these thoughts by speaking a bit about 'the "How to" of being at home:' [if I may without being presumptive:] The writer of Hebrews said "Here we have no continuing city, but we seek one to come" (Hebrews 31:14.) So we must somehow be "at home" with God while we are on the way to His House. We must dwell in the house of the Lord while we are still pilgrims. Does this sound paradoxical? How can this be?

Paul writes (in Ephesians 3:17-21) "(May) Christ dwell in your hearts by faith"- let Jesus be at home in YOUR heart! These two thoughts go together: We are "at home" in God when we make Jesus "at home" in us! Does that make sense?

C. HOW MAY WE SPEAK OF MAKING JESUS 'AT HOME?'

1. This is mystery! JESUS CHRIST CAN INDWELL US! How can Jesus indwell us, even as He indwells the Word, and even as He became flesh and dwelt among us? These are areas of wonder, where the Infinite makes contact with the finite!

A born-again child of God is a miracle on the same line or order as the great miracles of God!

"But when He saved my soul/cleansed and made me whole/ it was a miracle of grace!"

2. But there are PRACTICAL WAYS WE CAN LET THIS MIRACLE HAPPEN WHERE WE ARE:
 - a. If Jesus is "at home" in us— and we in Him, it is because WE HAVE INVITED HIM TO OUR PLACE! It could be just as simple as that: Have YOU asked Jesus in to live in your heart, like a little child might ask?
 - b. Then, to, WE OPEN OUR LIVES TO JESUS, MAKING HIM LIKE "FAMILY": There are no secrets from Him— nothing we will not discuss freely with Him— no unshared subjects!
 - c. Finally, WE LET JESUS DO HIS WORK IN US! If we will let Him— give Him free rein, we will find that Jesus has an agenda! HE has work He needs to do in us if He is to remain "at home." I must see that He has the chance to work!
3. If we will invite Jesus in, and keep no secrets, and ask Him to do with us whatever He will— we will experience A GROWING SENSE OF THE REALITY OF CHRIST!

This world is real! But the eternal world is even more real! And we will understand the SECURITY, the PERMANENCE of this relationship! All other joys grow and fade again... all other relationships come to an end as we now understand them. But this love, this being "at home" with Jesus will NEVER end in disappointment!

Conclusion:

Probably the Psalmist was at a low point when he identified with the small and insignificant birds who make their home in the very center of the Temple area. But he was expressing a confidence in this Psalm that the deep longing that he felt in his own heart to truly be "at peace" with himself and with his God would not be overlooked by the God he loved. And David's greater Son picked up on that very theme when He said, in Matthew and Luke that God the Father sees even when a sparrow falls to the ground, but you and I are worth much more than many sparrows! (Matthew 10 = 2 sparrows for a farthing; Luke (bargain day) 5 sparrows for 2 farthings!) From Matthew:

Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing- a half- penny!-?? and one of them shall not fall to the ground without your Father. But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear ye not, therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows!
Matthew 10:29-31

If little birds can be at home in the Temple, David reasoned, then I guess that I can take God at His word and make my home IN HIM!

Are YOU "at home" in God? Is Jesus "at home" in YOU?

Have you invited Jesus into your heart? Is He "at home " there?

Prayer: Lord Jesus, Make us truly "at home" in You tonight! Amen.

High Road, Low Road

June 28, 1992 (pm)

Therefore, strengthen your feeble arms and weak knees! Make level paths for your feet, so that the lame may not be disabled, but rather healed.

Make every effort to live in peace with all men, and to be holy; without holiness no one will see the Lord. See to it that no one misses the grace of God and that no bitter root grows up to cause trouble and defile many. See that no one is sexually immoral, or is godless like Esau, who for a single meal sold his inheritance rights as the oldest son. Hebrews 12: 12 - 16

I recall two or three "masterpiece sermons" that Dr. Edward Mann used representing E.N.C. when I was (what we called) a "quartet boy." One began with a bit of verse about "high road" and "low road" and being dissatisfied with "misty flats in between..."

"Behold I show you a way, and ways, and a Way. And the high soul goes the high road, and the low soul goes the low— and in between, on the misty flats, the rest grope to and fro..but to each is opened a high road and a low, and each soul must determine the way his soul must go." -don't hold me to this quote...!

The whole Book of Hebrews is about the high soul finding the high way of holiness! It is about the BETTER way! All Christians who start out with Jesus are on the High Road. There are NOT two ways for Christians. Either we are following after Jesus, following after holiness— or we are sidetracked somewhere, lost or in the process of getting lost; groping our way into the "misty flats" of compromise.

There are several "warnings" in the Book of Hebrews. They are NOT usually popular; we don't think we need warnings. Our hearts are pure! But how do Christians who start out so ideally and with good intentions get off the high way of holiness?

I. WE CAN LOSE THE HIGH WAY THROUGH NEGLECT OR IGNORANCE

(2:1-4)

We must pay more careful attention, therefore, to what we have heard. so that we do not drift away. For if the message spoken by angels was binding, and every violation and disobedience received its just punishment, how shall we escape if we ignore such a great salvation? This salvation, which was first announced by the Lord, was confirmed to us by those who heard him. God also testified to it by signs, wonders and various miracles, and gifts of the Holy Spirit distributed according to his will. -Hebrews 2:1-4

- A. Key words here are "careful attention" "drift away" and "ignore;" we may be in danger simply because we are so familiar with the way of salvation that we take it for granted!

TO LISTEN EARNESTLY TO GOD? Others may hear God speaking because they are listening— we may miss conversation with God Himself because we are blinded by so much light— or perhaps thinking that knowing facts is the same as knowing a Person.

The chilling warning here is that we are responsible not only for what we hear— but for the light or opportunity we may have— responsible for what we COULD hear easily if we would only listen!

TO "DRIFT AWAY" ? So very gently, so slowly— watching inconsistencies in people— emphasizing the negatives— believing doubts, doubting instead of seeking— like a boat slipping away from a mooring— unattached, soon a tragic loss.

TO IGNORE ALMIGHTY GOD ? The supreme insult— to go past God as if He were not there! Our mighty nation is in great danger of doing exactly this! We DO have a state religion— the religion of secularism! We shall pay for this by being by-passed in the revival which is coming!

- B. The warning is: THOSE WHO IGNORE GOD WILL NOT ESCAPE HIS JUDGMENT!

II. WE CAN LOSE THE WAY OF HOLINESS BY UNBELIEF

(3:12)

See to it, brothers, that none of you has a sinful, unbelieving heart that turns away from the living God. But encourage one another daily, as long as it is called Today, so that none of you may be hardened by sin's deceitfulness. ("an evil heart of unbelief" KJV) Hebrews 3:12-13

- A. The illustration here is the Children of Israel, having been delivered from slavery in Egypt, but stopping short of the Promised Land.

They were characterized, possessed, by a spirit of ingratitude, and continually looked back on the best of slavery from the worst of the pilgrim's life.

They also had a spirit of rebellion, against the Laws of God and the discipline of Sinai and Moses.

Worst of all, perhaps, they had a spirit of blindness to God's PURPOSE. God intended for them a home, a country of plenty. They could not think beyond this day! They quickly forgot how God had brought them this far miraculously!

- B. The warning here was that their hearts would be hardened and they would no longer be able to understand the love of God. What is the "unpardonable sin?"

III. A THIRD WARNING IN HEBREWS IS A WARNING AGAINST IRRESPONSIBILITY

Two verses:

(5:12) Though by this time you ought to be teachers, you need someone to teach you the elementary truths of God's Word all over again. You need milk, not solid food!

and

(6:1-6) Therefore, let us leave the elementary teachings about Christ and go on to maturity. Let us not lay again the foundation of repentance from acts that lead to death, and of faith in God, instructions about baptisms, the laying on of hands, the resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment. And God permitting, we will do so.

It is impossible for those who have been enlightened, who have tasted the heavenly gift, who have shared in the Holy Spirit, who have tasted the goodness of the word of God and the powers of the coming age, if they fall away, to be brought back to repentance, because to their loss they are crucifying the Son of God all over again and subjecting him to public disgrace.

- A. The warning is not that it is wrong or evil to be immature; any more than it is a sin to be a baby! Babies are FUN! If you don't believe me take Jake to the South Shore Plaza for half an hour! The warning is that it is tragic to REMAIN immature! To refuse to try to grow and develop and accept responsibility as well as privilege! This is a deadly danger:

This spirit is characterized by wanting to be satisfied— but NOT being willing to accept responsibility!

This spirit is characterized by wanting all the fruits of hard labor— but not accepting the day in, day out discipline that produces fruit. [Like our first garden in Cherry Valley— yielded NOTHING!]

- B. "Peter Pan" Christians are not only burden to others— they are in grave and mortal danger themselves! [What IS the unpardonable sin?]

IV. FINALLY; IT IS POSSIBLE TO LOSE THE WAY OVER DIVIDED LOYALTIES!

(Text) There is no higher call, ever, than "Follow Me!" from Jesus Himself. The fullness of the Holy Spirit is not a call to division— it is an enabling to know Jesus better, to understand what Jesus said better, to be more and more like Jesus. This is what Jesus taught about the coming of the Spirit:

"He (the Holy Spirit) will not speak of himself, but whatsoever he shall hear he will speak. He will glorify Me: for he will take of mine and show it you. John 16:13-15 Wesley's translation.

To every child of God there comes a call to total, complete dedication. We in the holiness "movement" have made a specialty of it; we call it our "cardinal doctrine." But hearing it, or being familiar with it does not make it happen. Each of us must be willing to "lay aside every weight" and "the sin that doth so easily beset us" and follow after God's will for our lives!

It is possible to have a clear witness; that we have done just that! Like Jacob at the Brook Jabbok, we need to wrestle with the angel— until God's blessing is more important to us than even our lives!

"What is your name!?" the angel said, when it seemed that Jacob was exhausted.

"I am Jacob- the usurper- the mixed of motives!" was the honest answer. "But I will not let you go until you bless me!"

Your name is now ISRAEL!" said the angel. And Jacob's name, and the very heart of his character were changed!

Conclusion:

This has been a "negative message." I MAKE NO APOLOGY FOR THAT! WARNING! is a big word in Hebrews! But let me end this message, not with words about how to "get off" the Highway of Holiness, but how to be sure to stay ON!

After all, the best way to avoid trouble is to stay as far away from it as you can. When we must go into the danger zones or the battle-ground God has promised us grace. But Jesus also taught us to pray: Lead us NOT into temptation, but deliver us from evil!

And right here in this 12th chapter— this "warning"— is a sure formula for not failing!

1. (12:2): Fix your eyes on Jesus! A great share of our trouble comes when we listen to our fears, or listen to bad people, or listen too much to good people— before or more than we listen to Jesus Himself!

The very dearest, sweetest, most godly person will sometimes be wrong!
They will sometimes fail!

Jesus did not fail!

Jesus endured contradiction of sinners against himself— even to the point of death; can we endure our hardships, even if it kills us? Will we?

KEEP LOOKING TO JESUS!

2. (last): Make every effort to live in peace with all men (And women) and to be holy; for without holiness no one will see the Lord! It takes EFFORT to be at peace with people! If only we could live out our lives in solitary vacuum with no one but a perfect, holy God! WE are so perfect!

What is the effort involved? Not a simple thing— but Paul put it this way (in his testimony before Felix—remember?)

Acts 24:16 So I strive always to keep my conscience clear before God and (people.)

Whatever it takes— keep your eyes on Jesus! Keep your conscience clear! Stay open— keep 'fessed up! For if we walk with Jesus daily, we shall never leave the High Road!

When God Speaks to Your Child

July 2, 1992

I Samuel 3:1-11

[Children's Story may precede this— the story of how Samuel heard God speaking to him, and thought it was Eli, the priest. Finally Eli told Samuel to say, "Speak, Lord, for your servant hears You!" And then God could talk to Samuel, which He did for the rest of Samuel's life!]

Introduction:

Listen!

What do you hear? There is a difference between hearing and hearing!

Sometimes we hear only what we expect to hear— or what we want to hear!

Do you think that maybe God has a problem 'getting our attention?' How do we hear?

How do we get our children to listen for God's voice?

I. ONE WAY WE CAN ENCOURAGE OUR CHILDREN TO HEAR IS TO LISTEN OURSELVES!

Thankfully, children are not limited to the spiritual sensitivity of their parents! But a child who has believing parents can be grateful—

There is a recurring theme in scripture and in life: faith is more "caught" than it is "taught." The teaching is important— but the teacher is more important than the lesson, usually!

II. WHAT WE CAN LEARN FROM ONE MAN'S UPBRINGING: SAMUEL

- A. We would NOT want to try to adopt Samuel's families' life-style or methods. But by the same token, it is sort of silly to refuse to see the good side because of old or ancient customs. Polygamy / the actual rearing of Samuel from a pre-teen in the Temple; hardships of separation, perhaps overcome by the special circumstances.

B. But there ARE several things about the Samuel story that greatly impress, even today:

1. Samuel was very much wanted. He was deeply loved.

a. Every child ought to have this luxury! But because children are by nature very demanding as a responsibility; and so unless we deliberately choose to love them with God's help we will probably err in either resentment which a child can/will feel, or in indulgence, where we trade quality investment of ourselves for things that money can buy. Children do not become people of integrity by having money thrown at every problem!

As a matter of fact— money, or lack of it, does not really affect this basic love and esteem in the parent-child relationship!

b. What our children need is the assurance that they have parents that love them! Ideally there is a father and a mother; when that is not the case - as it is not in many, many homes, - a Christian single parent can and will find God's help, and can be a godly example. When there IS a father and a mother in the home the greatest gift they can give their children is (1) a genuine love and kindness and consideration for each other!; and then, also (2) a respect and sense of self-worth for the child!

c. We shape our children by our attitudes! If we take delight in them, they will learn that they have worth! If we consistently demean them, and tell them of their inadequacy they will reward us by becoming fulfillment to our prophecies! (Never "You are bad!" always "What you DID was bad! YOU are good! I love YOU!")

2. Samuel was "given to the Lord!" Here is another basic principle: Our children "do not belong to us!" They are NOT property! They are NOT an extension of our ambitions or careers. We DO have a God-given AUTHORITY which we must lovingly exercise; but that authority diminishes year by year as the child develops. We are parents, NOT God!

3. Samuel was cared for and prayed for faithfully! His physical needs were met. There was no doubt as to the love and the esteem and provision that was made for him.

The single most important inheritance we may give our children is earnest, diligent, often importunate INTERCESSION! Like a hammer striking a rock, it must finally yield!

4. Samuel was in God's house when God finally spoke specifically to him.

When a family builds its life into the church their children get the idea that God is really important. Why do we have to be head-in-the-sand Fundamentalists in order to see that God is, and must be, the most important thing in our lives if we are Christians?

We are so sophisticated that we think that being Christian is a HEAD THING! Intellectually conceived! If we understand it, then we ARE it!

WRONG!

Being God's people is a head thing and a heart thing and a sit-down thing and a stand-up thing and a Monday thing and an all-the-time thing! We do it best by building our lives into the church!

God will speak beyond the regular services of the church, certainly! BUT THE REGULAR SERVICES ARE THE HEART-LINE, THE MAINSTREAM! IF WE TAKE THAT AWAY FROM OUR CHILDREN, WHERE WILL THEIR CHILDREN GO TO HEAR ABOUT GOD?

[There is a difference between religion and spiritual life. But religion is the conduit, usually, and certainly there is a need for religion, the Christian religion—]

5. (Finally) When God goes looking for a man or woman of God, He often starts by speaking to a girl or a boy! But I know boys and girls— no one here of course, — that seem to me to be so busy keeping a non-God schedule that they don't have time to breathe, let alone listen to God speak in the quiet of their heart.

III. GOD IS ALWAYS SPEAKING IF WE CAN GET QUIET ENOUGH TO LISTEN

- A. As we listen right now God is saying to YOU: I LOVE YOU! "Troubled Christian, I know— and I care!" "Sinner person, I love YOU— and not just your 'soul.' You are GOOD! You are worth saving! I died on the cross for you— to make you good— to lift you up to be clean and pure and to walk with Me right down here on this earth!"

- B. As we listen God is saying to all of us:

"I really want to have you walk with Me! I really want to be your best Friend! I want you to share every part of your life with Me!"

Conclusion:

God is speaking just now!

But we need to stop and listen! We need to deliberately listen! If WE try, then perhaps we will be able to encourage our children to hear God's voice, too.

Communion Legacy

July 5, 1992 PM

Acts 20:25-35

Guard yourselves and all the flock of which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers. Be shepherds of the church of God, which he bought with his own blood. I know that after I leave savage wolves will come in among you and will not spare the flock. Even from your own number men will arise and distort the truth in order to draw away disciples after them. So be on your guard! Remember that for three years I never stopped warning each of you night and day with tears.

Now I commit you to God and to the word of his grace which can build you up and give you an inheritance among those who are sanctified. I have not coveted anyone's silver or gold or clothing. You yourselves know that these hands of mine have supplied my own needs and the needs of my companions. In everything I did, I showed you that by this kind of hard work we must help the weak, remembering the words of the Lord Jesus: 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'

These words were spoken by Paul to the elders of the Ephesian church. Paul was on his way to Jerusalem, and he believed, with good reason, that he would never see these men again. He had a solemn burden on his heart for this church he loved. It was a message first of all of warning.

Paul used words of military impact; words of security. "Be on guard!" "Guard yourselves and guard all the flock over which you have any influence!"

Why is such vigilance necessary? Is not this an age of tolerance, and of understanding? Are not people who do not agree with us still good people, on their way to be with God as well? Our vigilance is not against people of good will. It is against evil people and against false doctrines or distorted truth. Paul was not tolerant of heterodox doctrine.

He says in Galatians 1:

Evidently some people are throwing you into confusion and are trying to pervert the gospel of Christ. But even if we or an angel from heaven should preach a gospel other than the one we preached to you, let him be eternally condemned! As we have already said, so now I say again: If anybody is preaching to you a gospel other than what you accepted, let him be eternally condemned! (Galatians 1:7-10)

Paul took his doctrine seriously! He says here that he never stopped warning the Ephesian church night and day for the three years that he lived there with them! The heart of our Christian faith is the doctrine of Jesus Christ. The watershed, the benchmark against which we measure "true" or "false" doctrine begins and ends with our doctrine of Jesus Christ!

How seriously do we take our Christology? Who is Jesus Christ to you? Who is He to our church? Is Jesus Christ Almighty God? Is Jesus Christ the Lamb of God which takes away the sins of the world? Is Jesus Christ the ONLY propitiation for sins? How personally do we take our Christology?

Paul says to the elders: "Guard yourselves!"

Who is Jesus TO ME? Is Jesus Lord to YOU?

The gospel is not so much "what" we know as "Whom" we know; God is probably not going to worry too much about the nuances of baptism or terminology of holiness. But the "what" is important, too! And Paul is concerned about people who DELIBERATELY and SELFISHLY and KNOWINGLY seek to twist and use the Gospel for personal reasons.

Paul put it this way: "SAVAGE WOLVES WILL COME IN AMONG YOU" and then Paul said, "EVEN FROM YOUR OWN NUMBER THERE WILL ARISE PEOPLE WHO DISTORT THE TRUTH!"

How can we hold these two important truths together: We must love everyone and be truly open to all people of good will, and, We must be on guard against those who distort the truth? The answer is in Paul's solemn commitment of his loved ones as he prepared to leave them. It was a two-fold commitment which we need to take seriously:

Paul said

1. I COMMIT YOU TO GOD!

Be faithful to your God! Be close to Him! Talk to Him! Remember that faith first of all is a living relationship! Christians cannot hope to stay pure unless they have a working prayer life, and maintain an openness with their God. We need to pray the essence of the Lord's Prayer, with true meaning, with deliberate intention, every day that we live!

2. I COMMIT YOU TO THE WORD OF HIS GRACE!

Be faithful to your New Testament! Read your Bible! Be open to its reproof, rebuke, exhortation!

I am absolutely astounded by the shallowness and superficiality of much that passes for Christian. I used to think that at least the Catholics have some sort of grounding in their CCD classes; then I read a blistering exposé in First Things written by a good Roman Catholic laywoman saying that the level of doctrinal and scriptural illiteracy is appalling in her church even as it is in Protestant circles.

So-called born-again Christians cannot name the Ten Commandments, cannot name the Four Gospels, cannot quote enough scripture to witness to their own salvation—and we wonder why we are ready to fall for twisted applications of scripture when they come along. This may seem like a negative sort of lead-in for communion. But communion needs to be a time of heart opening and soul-searching. We need to take responsibility for the flock that is ours!

Communion Legacy

We need to be shepherds of the flock of Christ! Let us come to the altar with our needs, our sins, our confession; let us here receive God's forgiveness and grace—and receive His inheritance among all those who are sanctified!

The Extravagance of God

July 12, 1992

No good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly . . .blessed is that person who trusts in You! Psalm 84:11,12

Introduction - Father God; Is He Indulgent or Extravagant?

There is a world of difference between an indulgent parent and an extravagant one. [Maybe in our modern use of the words they have become interchangeable; but they are not the same!] The difference, I think, lies in the motives and in the wisdom of the father or mother as they lavish either gifts or love on their children.

Oversimplifying, perhaps: an indulgent parent gives a child what it wants, and usually for selfish reasons. Instead of spending self by giving direct attention and listening/hearing the child, the indulgent parent finds it easier to spend money and buy trinkets or toys, big or small.

An extravagant parent, on the other hand, may enjoy buying things, too. But the extravagance is in the love itself; in the sheer delight that comes [at least occasionally] in giving far beyond what the child "deserves." ["I deserve it!" is another sermon!]

Most children, at least on the surface, would probably like a rich and indulgent parent. But common sense tells us that real joy and happiness can be found in homes both rich and poor, and real meanness and sorrow, too.

What sort of Parent is God to us? Are Christians really "better off" than unbelievers? Does it "pay to serve Jesus?" What does it mean to be "blessed" by God?

I. THERE IS MYSTERY INVOLVED IN GOD'S BLESSING

- A. God is God! No question about it, there will always be things about prayer and answers to prayer and blessings and things spiritual which we may never understand. God will never be manipulated!

We can never reduce God Almighty to our "cause-and-effect" manipulation.

- B. Make the faith statements! God is GOD! And God is GOOD! But we can never be certain WHY things happen; why they are PERMITTED to happen. When we look into the Book of Job (which is a text on suffering) it is full of 'very wise sayings' that simply ARE NOT TRUE! (but reflect the common ways that people think, even to this day!)

II. THERE IS THE FACT OF STRUGGLE IN ALL OF HUMAN EXISTENCE

Good OR bad, religious or not, every human that lives finds challenges and frustrations:

- A. The Bible declares "The way of the transgressor is hard (Proverbs 13:15)
 - 1. It doesn't always seem that way. In fact many of the richest people in the world seem to be the most wicked; or at least they flaunt their unconventional morals.
 - 2. But ultimately, rich or poor, life gives back what has been sown; Galatians 6:7 "Be not deceived; God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."
 - 3. In the end the transgressor faces eternal separation from the GOOD and the HOLY that is our loving, lavish God!
- B. But even in the life of faith THERE IS LIFE-AND-DEATH STRUGGLE!
 - 1. There is a struggle to break through INTO life itself! God rewards those who SEEK Him! (Hebrews 11:6)

Jesus said, "Strait (constricted) is the gate and narrow the way that leads to life everlasting!" (Matthew 7:13,14) To CONFESS and to REPENT and to ACKNOWLEDGE OUR NEED OF GOD is never easy! (Greek word is AGONIDZOMAI)
 - 2. There is the FIGHT OF FAITH . . . for God's Way demands that we trust His love— that we renounce our humanistic-centered answers, our self-centeredness, our demands for INDULGENCE, and learn to make the desire of God's will our way of life!

Isn't that a pretty dismal way to live?

III. THE FACT IS: GOD IS NOT INTERESTED IN MAKING OUR EXISTENCE DISMAL OR SMALL

Just because the world does not center in our perceived needs does not mean that God does not have our best interests in His mind:

- A. Our God is a sun and shield! Do you remember Romans 8:28? "In all things God works!" God WILL give grace and glory! God is in the CONSTRUCTION BUSINESS! His best promise to us is not so much "I will GIVE you..." as it is "I will MAKE you!"

[The Prodigal Son story (Luke 15) begins with the prodigal saying to the father "Give me!" But it ends with him crying "MAKE me!"] God takes delight in bringing His people into the stature and likeness of His only begotten Son! I John 3:1,2 say, "Beloved NOW are we the children of God, but it doth not yet appear what we SHALL be; for we KNOW that when HE shall appear we shall be like HIM!"

- B. God's way brings deep satisfaction:

- FREE FORGIVENESS
- SENSE OF DIRECTION (which I confess must be renewed from time to time)
- ONCE IN A WHILE A DEEP PERSUASION OF GOD'S LOVE

- C. Permit me two personal insights. They sound so simple and trite that I am almost embarrassed to repeat them.

1. JESUS IS PRESENT WITH ALL BELIEVERS! HE IS PRESENT WITH ME!

I remember when this has been deeply reinforced. I can only describe it as the sense of loving contact with a PRESENT Friend.

Jesus is NOT my "peer." He is NOT my equal. His opinion is NOT to be considered along with the opinions of others until "I decide!" But Jesus IS my Friend! Jesus is YOUR Friend!

2. WE ARE USHERED INTO CHRIST'S COMPANY / FELLOWSHIP / SALVATION / OR WHATEVER WE CALL IT BY LOVING HIM THE BEST WE CAN. AS POOR AS OUR LOVE MAY BE, JESUS APPRECIATES IT!

The Extravagance of God

He will refine it. Jesus loves us! Jesus loves ME!

- a. The old "formulae are true" Thank God for the lessons I learned in Sunday School and church about "how to be saved." Most of us have to have some...
- b. ...but we cannot coldly pursue "the facts of salvation" apart from an utterly sincere, open, growing FRIENDSHIP with the Lord Jesus Christ. God gives us new insights, and we grasp them and use them— and then when we think OUR wisdom has given us a handle on LIFE things grow stale and cold— and we realize that salvation is not an "IT" it is a "HIM!" It is a bond of love between a Father God and His children, individually AND collectively!

Conclusion

As we begin to mature, and especially as we grow older, we see how much more important than things are the very real intangibles of love and respect that make up the relationships of family, both God's family as well as our smaller nuclear families.

If we are to be like Father God then we shall have to learn to bless our loved ones!

We can not all lavish magnificent gifts on those we love, and if we could and did, indiscriminately, we might hurt more than we helped (indulgent.) [I've had dreams, I confess, of being able to surprise my married children who struggle from time to time.]

But we all can give extravagantly of our love!

Once upon a time there was a wealthy businessman who with his beloved wife had an only daughter that he loved very much. Even though he had to be away quite often, he provided and cared for his wife and her very well indeed.

One day the businessman came home from a long trip. The reunion at the airport was happy, with hugs all around. The daughter threw her arms around her father's neck and said, "O Daddy, I love you more than anything!" And he said, "I love you, too, dear!"

That evening at supper the father said, "It 'got to me' today when you told me how much you love me! Do you really?"

"O yes, Daddy!"

The father sort of smiled, and then he said, "Well, then, I really want your pearls!" This made the daughter smile. What would her father want with her pearls? What could he want with a string of paste and glass beads, for that is what they were. But she loved those beads! They looked so pretty when she got dressed up!

"You don't really want my pearls, do you?" she asked.

"Well, yes, I really do!" said her father.

Just a little cloud came over her face. She did not know why her dad wanted those beads— maybe he didn't like her wearing jewelry? Maybe they were more valuable than she thought and he wanted to trade them somewhere in the world? All this crossed her mind for just a tiny moment, and then she reached up and undid the little clasp and handed the pearls over to her dad. And he took them, and reached over and dropped them into the wood box that stood by the fireplace, like he was throwing them away— which he was.

For then he reached into his coat pocket and brought out a long string of real matched pearls, gems of great beauty, and handed them across the table to his daughter.

She looked at the pearls, and she put them on the table for the moment and she got up and came around and threw her arms around his neck again and said, "O Daddy, thank you! But I do love you, just you, more than anything!"

No good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly!

God will - with His gifts - give us Himself!

#44 - My Jesus I Love Thee

Obeying the Higher Law

The Story of Naaman and Elisha

July 26, 1992 AM

Romans 7,8

Lesson:

Romans 7: (12) so then, the Law is holy, and the commandment is holy and righteous and good. ... (14) For we know that the Law is spiritual; but I am of flesh, sold into bondage to sin. ... (16) ...I agree with the Law, confessing that it is good. (21) I find then a principle (law) that evil is present with me- the one who wishes to do good. For I joyfully concur with the Law of God in the inner man, (23) but I see A DIFFERENT LAW in the members of my body, waging war against the law of my mind, and making me a prisoner of the law of sin which is in my members. (25) With my mind (I am) serving the law of God, but ... with my flesh the law of sin. Romans 8:2 ..the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has set you free from the law of sin and of death.

It was all going very well indeed. The career was ahead of schedule- there had been victory after victory, and promotion after promotion, and now Naaman had been made Chief of Staff and General of Generals. He was on top of his world!

Then— he noticed a few strange sensations in his hands; he saw some white spots on his wrist. After a few days he went to see the doctor. He was shocked by the report! The report was: "You are a leper!" This statement, this diagnosis changed all of Naaman's life. It was a death sentence! Sooner or later it would become common knowledge, and he would be shunned, outcast, and the result was certain deformity and death! The Bible says, "Naaman was a great man— BUT he was a leper!"

But what makes this story worth telling is that even though this pagan general had a sure sentence of death, and by all the laws of nature was doomed to die, HE HEARD A WORD OF HOPE, A MESSAGE ABOUT A HIGHER LAW.

This word of HOPE came from the most unlikely place! It came from a little slave girl— a little girl from Israel that had been captured in one of Naaman's conquests. The little girl evidently cared about Naaman, and she said to her mistress—

"I WISH NAAMAN COULD GO TO ISRAEL— THERE IS A MAN THERE WHO KNOWS GOD— AND WHO COULD CURE HIM OF HIS LEPROSY!"

It wasn't much— but when you are desperate you don't need much to send you looking. The little girl told her mistress and the mistress told Naaman and Naaman told the King of Aram— and the king said, "GO FOR IT!"

So Naaman, the conqueror of nations, the general of generals, takes a small caravan of valuables and heads for Samaria and the King of Israel.

When Naaman arrived in Samaria, the capital city of the Northern Kingdom, he wasted no time. He went right to the top! When he got through stating his reason for coming, King Jehoram (wicked Ahab's wicked son) was absolutely beside himself.

"I'VE COME TO ISRAEL BECAUSE I'VE HEARD YOU HAVE A CURE FOR LEPROSY!"

Everyone knew that there is no cure for leprosy, but here stood the general of one of Israel's traditional enemies, making an impossible request. Naaman was a fearsome sight to all the neighbors of Aram, and Israel in particular.

"AM I GOD?" asked the king to his subjects. "WHO DOES THIS RAVING MANIAC LEPER FROM SYRIA THINK I AM? HE IS SIMPLY PICKING A FIGHT WITH US! HE INTENDS TO DESTROY ISRAEL!"

Naaman, for his part, was in no mood to fight or argue. He didn't think there was much hope, anyway. He simply gave the word and the caravan wheeled about and turned to go back toward the north and east.

Just about that time a man came running through the crowd. His name was Gehazi, and he was the servant of Elisha the Tishbite, a prophet of God.

[Now Elisha was not exactly well-accepted at court. His style of worship was obsolete, and his idea of direct contact with God was not too sophisticated. And Elisha was not always civil to King Jehoram! But somehow Elisha had got word of the king's problem, and so he had sent his servant with a message to the king.]

"SEND THE GENERAL OVER TO ME!"

It took the king about ten seconds to decide that sending General Naaman to the prophet would be a good idea. He didn't know where the prophet lived, but Gehazi was willing to guide him. So the entourage turned and left the palace.

When they arrived at the home of the prophet Gehazi went in and found Elisha. I think Elisha was in the back garden.

[Elijah was a rugged man, an outdoorsman, fond of camel skin coats and honey and locusts. But Elisha was a city person, smooth and civilized, and yet not one bit less fearless or straightforward than his illustrious teacher had been. He was not over-awed by the power of Aram's armed might outside his doorway. He did not need to satisfy any personal curiosity.]

Elisha sent word by the servant, and never himself spoke a word to Naaman:

"GO AND WASH IN THE JORDAN SEVEN TIMES AND YOUR FLESH SHALL BE RESTORED TO YOU AND YOU SHALL BE CLEAN."

"There it is! Take it or leave it! You are offered healing- - at the price of obedience and faith in God! At the price of doing as you are bidden, not as you think you ought to do!"

The Bible says,

But Naaman was furious and went away and said, "Behold, I thought, He will surely come out to me, and stand and call on the name of the LORD his God, and wave his hand over the place, and cure the leper. Are not Abana and Pharpar, the rivers of

Obedying the Higher Law

Damascus better than all the waters of Israel? Could I not wash in them and be clean?" So he turned and went away in a rage. (5:11-12)

"IT'S TOO SIMPLE! IT'S TOO HUMBLING!"

The message of finding the higher law is not unique to this story. That message is that WHEN WE COME TO THE END OF HUMAN RESOURCES, IF WE WILL ACCEPT HIM ON HIS TERMS THERE IS GOD!

We may think that we have life pretty much under control— and yet we discover that we are sinners! Like Naaman, we are under sentence of death! The wages of willful sin is death!

We seek help for the symptoms of our sinfulness- the damage it does to our lives. We go to church— we ask for help in many accepted channels and we hear things like:

1. Sin is an outdated concept. There really isn't any sin any more— it is a combination of our environment and our inheritance. We have received a bad deal from our parents. Whatever feels good is all right to do.

But somehow we KNOW that we are on a collision course with a just and holy God— and that we are not prepared. or...
2. We are offered various human therapies which are helpful as far as they go, but which can not reach to the depths of the real need of our lives, which is freedom from the power and guilt and condemnation of sin. We are not just people who sin— we are SINNERS!

And THEN— we hear the simple Gospel message:

The blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son, shed on the Cross of Calvary, cleanses from all sin! Christ died for the sinner! Or this passage in Romans 10: (8-11) "the Word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart that if you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus, and if you believe in your heart that God has raised him from the dead, you will be saved!"

And our "sophisticated" reaction is like the ancient Aramean general, the leper named Naaman. "IT IS TOO SIMPLE!" NAAMAN'S STORY DOESN'T END WITH HIM GOING OFF IN A RAGE:

His servants prevail on him with common sense: "What can you lose?" He goes to the banks of Jordan— maybe to the same place Jesus was baptized, who knows?

He looks up on the banks and sees the natives watching. He knows he will look stupid! But he wades in— and dips under the water.

Nothing! He dips again— and again

Nothing! But seven times down and the seventh time up he looks— and . . . the white spots are gone!

He comes up out of the muddy water and heads, dripping, for his chariot. "Go back to that prophet's house!" he orders the driver. The caravan wheels around again and heads back for Samara.

And this time Elisha the Tishbite comes out. Maybe there is even a little smile on his face.

"Here is a million dollars!" says the general, Naaman.

"I won't take one red cent!" says the prophet. (Evidently he is on salary, like Billy Graham; or else, he hasn't learned how to make a big prophet like the TV prophets.)

The general rides away a man who is convinced of the power of Jehovah God!

Summary and Application:

I suppose that I have read this portion of Romans -speaking about being bound by lower laws— and then finding freedom in higher laws— a hundred times or more. It is NOT a simple, easy passage. We think as we read, "Why do you make it so difficult? Why don't you simply spell it out in language that we can easily understand?"

Two or three things come to mind when I think of 'easily understanding' the Word of God.

Obedying the Higher Law

One is— that the way of salvation is easily entered, simple to grasp, requiring only the obedience of faith to say, "Jesus is LORD!"

But another is— that we think that because eternal life is a free gift, then it does not require study and application and effort, like any other wonderful truth. We think in arrogance that we know all that is to be known simply by our native intelligence. And that simply is NOT so! Paul speaks of the deep things which the Corinthians OUGHT to have been grappling with, but they simply were going over and over the same elementary truths of arithmetic, not realizing the depths of algebra and calculus and wonder that God had for them to understand and practice.

And finally, along with this lack of willingness to study: We think that God should always bend to our way of thinking; we think that we are the measure of understanding. But we must be willing to endeavor to follow God's teaching, and enter into His lessons.

This, then, is a difficult passage. It expresses the deepest joy of freedom and life in God found anywhere in the Bible. But it demands our full attention. We will not plumb its depths in this sermon together, and I hope that you will not solve its meaning this afternoon and come back with all the answers tonight. But you can begin, or you can continue— as I am sure that we all are in some measure engaged in this "heart-of-Romans truth."

Have you submitted to the Lordship of Jesus Christ? Are you even NOW confessing with your mouth, and by God's grace, believing in your heart? It is profoundly simple, and simply profound— but the freedom and power of Romans 8 is for us all! We can obey God's HOLY law, and be FREE from the "law of sin and death" as we submit to the "law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus!"

Elisha said to Naaman, "Go, wash and be clean!"

The Spirit says to you and to me: "Confess, believe, and be free from sin and condemnation!"

Hymn No. 465 Trust and Obey

The Great I AM is Where You Are

August 30, 1992 PM

Exodus 3: I AM THAT I AM

John 10: I AM the Door...

Everybody knows what God is like! That is— until they try to describe Him. Sometimes I think we are like the little kindergarten boy painting at his easel, with his frock made out of his father's shirt.

"What is that you are painting, Andrew?" "I'm painting God!" "But Andrew, no one knows what God looks like!" "They will when I get done with this picture!"

I. THE INEFFABLE GOD

A. The fact is God is NOT 'LIKE.' He is INEFFABLE! God is NOT "like" anything! God IS! Not is LIKE, but IS! Do you see the difference?

B. We may not have pictures of God, but God is a God who reveals Himself to faith:

1. In ancient times God spoke through prophets and holy men of God:
2. He revealed Himself to Moses as: I AM THAT I AM
3. The great "Call to Worship" of the Old Testament is still valid:

(Deuteronomy 6:4,5) "Hear, O Israel! The LORD is our God, the LORD is one! And you shall love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might.

Jesus re-emphasized this call to worship, and added, "And you shall love your neighbor as yourself."

4. There is ONE God of heaven and of earth. One "God for all purposes": this was a revolutionary concept to ancient peoples. They had gods for everything. But then, you see, they constructed their gods; but the God of revelation was different— IS different, I should say.

In a practical way, it is still revolutionary to say "There is ONE God of heaven and earth!"— for we have "one God" to take care of life's "ritual times" when we are "born" and "married" and when we "die." But all too often in between we serve the non-gods of the culture, the day, the age— and Christians are not distinguished from the rest of the non-believers!

But remember, it is still true: GOD is ONE— God of heaven and earth. He is "not LIKE."

II. THE IMMINENT GOD

- A. This great, transcendent God has a face. [The INEFFABLE is also the IMMINENT.] While it is true that we will never "know" God in the sense of comprehending all that He is, it is possible to KNOW Him right here and now in the sense that He IS our Friend, and that He desires to BE our Friend.

And so it is that this great God of heaven and earth has made Himself available to us.

As the writer of Hebrews opens his epistle:

"GOD, after He spoke long ago to the fathers in the prophets in many portions and in many ways, in these last days has spoken to us in His Son, whom He appointed heir of all things, through Whom also He made the world. And He is the radiance of His glory and the exact representation of His nature, and upholds all things by the word of His power." (Hebrews 1:1-3)

God has a face. That "face" is Jesus. As we come to know Jesus, we come to see God, and to know HIM, the I AM.

- B. This great God meets us at our point of need. WE are NOT the center of the Universe. GOD does NOT exist for us; WE exist for HIM. But at the very same time, God stoops to our weakness; God loves us; God reveals Himself to us as Father and Friend and Loved One.

And so sometimes we say "God is 'like'" when we try to describe ways that God relates to us:

1. Consider just ONE writer's attempt to show us the nearness of God in Jesus Christ: John (in His Gospel) records Jesus as saying:

I am the Bread of Life I am the Door I am the Good Shepherd I am the Light of the World I am the Way the Truth and the Life I am the Resurrection and the Life I am the True Vine (and Ye are the Branches)
2. Let me lift out just ONE of these "I AM" statements: "I am the DOOR!" A doorway is (1) an entry and an exit; a door is (2) a source of security, a haven; a door is (3) access to the "beyond" ("By ME you shall (not only come IN and find LIFE, but you shall) go in and out, and find pasture.")

Jesus Christ is the ACCESS to everything GOOD and everything WORTHWHILE in all of life! He is God-making-life-available!

III. WHERE CAN I FIND THIS GOD?

A. You CAN'T find Him— He has to find YOU! But good news! He is always LOOKING for you! He is speaking if we will listen!

1. The face of Jesus is reflected in the love of His people. I need to see it, and sometimes I see it in you. You need to see it, and sometimes you see it in me.
2. It is important that if we know God, we need to give Him access to us so others who are seeking Him will not be disappointed!

B. Our greatest privilege is to press into the knowledge of Jesus

Conclusion:

What is God like? God is a great Mystery! But God is also the gentle Jesus you have known since you were a Baby! God is Your dearest, closest Friend! God is NEAR— just NOW!

His promise is: "Draw near(er) to Me— I will draw near(er) to you! (James 4:8.)"

Prayer:

The Great I AM is Where You Are

Wherever we are in our spiritual journey, O God; show Yourself to us in newer, fresher, stronger ways.

Whatever our needs may be just now, O God; help us to see that You are what we need most of all. And so, help us to come near to You so that You can come near to us.

In Jesus' name. Amen

The Privileges of Faith

August 29, 1992

Lesson: 1 Corinthians 3:5-23

Text: 21 "All things are yours..."

Have you ever wondered what it might have been like to grow up wealthy? (With money, that is. Without having to "make do" on every little thing.) I have wondered myself.

I'm a depression child; I have trouble with a verse that says: "All things are yours!" I find it, frankly, hard to believe!

The Depression made one indelible impression on me, I'm afraid! I catch myself quoting the price of everything— pinching pennies. That is not all bad.

But I need to beware lest I become like Judas who believed all extravagance was wrong, even when it was poured in fragrance and love over the head and feet of Jesus.

God's children never should waste anything. Like good rich children we should realize the worth of every dollar. But still the fact remains: we are NOT Depression Children spiritually! We are children of the King of kings. And here is Paul telling us:

All things are YOURS!

What can he mean? ALL THINGS! MINE!

I believe this means that when we belong to God in Christ, then like a loving father He seeks the very best for us!

I believe this means that when we are where God wants us to be, then heaven and earth are obligated somehow to see that God's best will works for His glory and our ultimate good.

I believe this means that you and I are incredibly wealthy and yet that usually we don't know how to "zero in" on our privileges:

I. GOD'S CHILDREN HAVE THE PRIVILEGE OF PARTNERSHIP WITH GOD IN LABOR

The privilege of working.

Work is not a curse; work has been cursed ["In the sweat of thy brow shalt thou till the land."]- there are elements of drudgery in even the most exciting lines of labor. But we live to work; our joy is in our accomplishment. Life consists of purpose, of mission. We do not live, we cannot be fulfilled until we have found a meaning for our lives.

This verse tells us that believers are co-laborers with God. We are not hapless slaves, to carry on God's labor as He commands; we are not spectators to watch God work as we sit back and wish; but rather we are slaves of love, willing to labor FOR God, only to discover that He intended that we work alongside Him, and be a part of what HE is doing in this world.

[The work of the institutional church is not totally coincidental with the work of believers together with God. There is good and necessary work to be done in and for the church. But most Christians will find their place of fulfillment outside the official, designated tasks of the church! The church becomes an equipping, supporting, energizing, loving center out of which the work of the church members, working together with God, is carried forward.]

Work has a bad name among some evangelicals. We are saved by grace. No question about that. Not of works, lest any man should boast. True.

But later in this same epistle (1 Corinthians 14) Paul speaks about grace bestowed on himself, and in the same breath says "I have worked harder than any of the other apostles!" Grace enables us to harness our energies

II. GOD'S CHILDREN HAVE THE PRIVILEGE OF THE AWESOME BEAUTY OF WORSHIP

There is that within us that desires the beauty and the majesty of temple worship. We may not recognize it; we may have stifled it— but there is that within each of us which cries for orderliness and beauty.

The church— God's people collectively ARE God's temple. Together we constitute the habitation of the great God. All the beauty and majesty and symbolism and glory of a cathedral are built into God's temple.

Low-energy; high-energy— zeal— human joy— all are good in turn as they fill a place. But nothing but the inhabitation of God in His holy temple will satisfy the need each human heart has for taking his or her place in the living cathedral which is the home of God when His people are at worship.

Willimon's remark about an evangelical who left to join the Episcopalians: he "loved the dignity and stateliness and ritual and ceremony of their services." "I love Episcopalians who are birthright Episcopalians," was Willimon's remark. "But somehow low-church people never quite get it right." The rector's blunt retort to the would-be Anglican: "Go join the Masons! We don't want you!"

III. GOD'S CHILDREN HAVE THE HIGHEST PRIVILEGE OF ALL IN BELONGING TO GOD

The privilege of belonging. personal faith/belonging

We think of wealth as an accumulation of possessions. The Corinthians had adopted to some degree a narrow view of what it meant to be people of faith: "This is how genuine faith IS:"

But Paul said, "No! This radical belonging to Christ (YE are Christ's!) puts us at the center of all truth: ("Christ is God's!- - and in HIM, then ALL THINGS ARE YOURS!"

What does that mean?

Conclusion:

The Privileges of Faith

We get everything backward because we start with the premise that we know what will satisfy. We are pressured to "add faith" to our loves just in case there may be some truth to this heaven and hell stuff.

We work hard so that we can retire from work.

We think of worship and beauty in worship as superfluous, and want religion that is "practical" and that "meets our needs."

We think that "belonging wholly to Christ" is something for missionaries or for people stupid enough to be full-time pastors or holiness college professors.

We think that really being serious about our faith must be like going on a diet: everything good is fattening.

But the Bible tells us that when we belong to Jesus everything good in the universe is in orbit around our best interest!

ALL THINGS ARE YOURS!

Not because in and of yourself you are so great— but you are Christ's and Christ is God's and so Your work is God's work and God's work is your work and Your worship is attended by angels...

The Cost of Discipleship

September 6, 1992 AM

Text: Luke 14:25-35

Introduction

The disciples were absolutely ecstatic. The Jesus Christ Evangelistic Team was really going big time. True, they hadn't built their own separate temple yet, but there were multitudes— no, GREAT multitudes in attendance every service! The portable Score Board said,

- Attendance Today=5,608;
- Attendance Last Week=4,906;
- Offering Today= 5 loaves 2 fish (enough to feed 5,000 people!);
- Offering Last Week= 7 loaves 6 fish (and over 4,000 people fed!)

Money was coming in for the poor- people were being healed— the whole country side was involved. What a great excitement!

I. TO WHOM WAS JESUS SPEAKING?

Jesus said these words NOT to people who were antagonistic- not to obviously wicked people- but to great multitudes who were attending His ministry; who were "going along"...

A. "Success" is not always what it would seem:

B. A "sifting of motives" was indicated:

1. Jesus began to speak. He was not unkind, but He was not being very diplomatic, either! It seemed as though Jesus ought to get them committed little by little— to tell them the really hard stuff after He had their names on the membership roll. But no, He was saying some really strange things:

If any of you people want to do more than just tag along for the loaves and fishes— if you really want to come after Me— and you do not hate your father and mother and wife and husband and children— and your own life, too— you cannot be My disciple!

2. This was a challenge to 'commitment-to-the-death'!

As if "hating father and mother" wasn't bad enough, Jesus began to talk about death- of the need to be willing to die for Him, or with Him— even the shameful death that the Romans reserved for the lowest of the low, He said:

And if you do decide to come after Me, then you have to take up your own personal cross— be willing to lay down your life— and you have to follow Me.

- C. The honest meaning of these heavy words: I do not seek to soften the force of the hammer-blows of Jesus words. But it is obvious at the beginning of our response and reaction to these words that Jesus is not preaching hatred of any sort. He is NOT saying that his followers should go home and tell dad and mother, "I hate you now— I am following Jesus— so 'Good-Bye'"

[This, then, is something else than a demand that Christians hate everything and everybody but Jesus and God. If that were so, then TASMANIAN DEVILS would be a good model for our Christian disposition. We have enough Tasmanian Devils in this world— and not a few in the church, perhaps!]

II. WHAT WAS JESUS SEEKING?

The answer is obvious, even trite: JESUS WAS SEEKING COMMITMENT AND LOYALTY. But I am afraid that the depth and scope of this challenge escapes us. We SAY we understand, but:

A. THE COMMITMENT JESUS DEMANDS IS ABOVE EVERY OTHER COMMITMENT.

1. A Christian who has not settled that there is only One Person to obey, ultimately, may do many good things— may be highly organized and Bible-trained— may even be ordained and well thought of by fellow Christians. But a Christian who has not made the supreme commitment of loyalty to Jesus Himself is like the Jetliner hurtling through the skies— when the announcement came over the intercom:

This is your captain speaking— we have some GOOD NEWS and some BAD NEWS today. The good news is that we have a jet-stream tail wind, and we are making over 600 miles per hour ground speed. The bad news is that our Loran (radar) is broken, and we don't have any idea where we are going!

2. This COMMITMENT underlies and undergirds all we ARE and DO for Jesus.

a. WE CANNOT LOVE GOD'S PEOPLE AS WE SHOULD APART FROM THIS

Jesus clearly intends that we love our fathers and mothers— that we love each other. It was His great concern the night He was arrested. "Love one another!" was His commandment— we call it the Great Commandment.

b. WE CANNOT SHARE GOD'S LOVE WITH THE WORLD WITHOUT THIS

Jesus also intends that we love the world, even as God so loved the world when He gave His only begotten Son. Just before He rose into the glory, Jesus said, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Good News to every creature!"

c. Both of these commitments— to the church, and to the world— rest on the strength of an absolute loyalty to Jesus Christ Himself!

B. JESUS ACKNOWLEDGED DIFFERENT LEVELS OF COMMITMENT.

He was not denying them, nor was He interested in destroying them.

1. The legitimate commitments of life: Look with me at some levels of commitment— on an increasing scale: like

- a. buying a car on time; like
- b. enlisting in the military service; like
- c. enrolling on an academic program— or, like

- d. saying to a girl or a boy some enchanted evening, "I love you!", or like
- e. following that strong commitment up with vows at an altar; or like
- f. looking into the face of a newborn baby and saying, "God help me, I will be a good father, or good mother!"

These are all valid commitments, but the most important, by far, are those that involve the lives of other people. We call them relationships; but every relationship has some measure of commitment.

2. Life needs/demands a Master Commitment: An "agapé focus" that gives a life staying power: Jesus demands this level of commitment to Himself.

Deverne F. Fronke, wrote in his book Ultimate Intention: "Believers may not often realize it, but even as believers we are either centered on man, or centered on God. There is no alternative. Either God is the center of our universe and we have rightly adjusted to Him, or we have made ourselves the center and are attempting to make all else orbit around us and for us."

The great Henry Drummond once told a class of theology scholars, "Don't touch Christianity unless you are willing to seek the Kingdom of Heaven first. I promise you a miserable existence if you seek it second."

The only thing wrong about that statement would be IF we limit it to preachers and missionaries or "special Christians!"

III. WHAT RESPONSE DID JESUS GET WHEN HE SPOKE THESE WORDS THEN?

[Resume narrative:]

Luke does not tell us exactly what the response of the great multitude was that day. But we do know what happened to the Jesus Christ Evangelistic Crusade.

John tells us that one day Jesus was preaching like this, talking about His own death, and the fact that He alone is LIFE and that He is the Bread of Life— and the people simply got up and went home.

And there was a scandal— the treasurer was stealing from the offerings— and he reported Jesus to the authorities— and you know the rest. From great multitudes it boiled down to just a few— and they weren't too steady.

But Jesus loved them! And he turned to the disciples— you can read about it in John 6— and He said, Are you going to leave Me, too?

Peter's heart was broken! He said, "Lord, where else in all the world can we Go? YOU have the words of eternal life!" And THAT was what Jesus wanted to hear!

Jesus knew that "great multitudes" do not do the heavy work of the Body of Christ, the Church. We enter that Body on personal decision, one-by-one! That is how Peter and the others decided then; that is how we must decide now! IT MAKES ALL THE DIFFERENCE!

Oh, the PERFORMANCE of the disciples after that was far from perfect. They had to go through the fires and the ten-day-prayer-meeting, and to experience the Descent of the Spirit. But they LIVED for Jesus and they DIED for Jesus and the world has not been the same since!

IV. WHERE ARE YOU IN YOUR COMMITMENT TO JESUS?

Conclusion:

- A. God knows that the very good things in YOUR life can be rivals to the best. Our order of priorities has to be settled once and for all. Jesus demands our first and highest allegiance!

Will you quietly say to Jesus right now:

- I give my life to You!
- I will give it in a dramatic, public martyrdom

The Cost of Discipleship

- I will give it in small, daily doses in a rural place where no one knows but You.

B. This allegiance means a PERSONAL, DAILY FOLLOWING:

1. A LOVE THAT FOLLOWS JESUS (27) -the only dynamic, power, that can carry out such a commitment is a personal relationship, the knowledge that Jesus is near and that He approves!
2. "Going along" is not the same as following. Count the cost! Carry your cross to your own crucifixion. Die NOW! Live forever! Come after Jesus!

Prayer - Help me to hear this challenge as for the first time! Help me to give to You everything I have— and everything I am— for time and for eternity. Amen.

The Equation for Real Happiness

September 6, 1992 PM

(Communion)

Psalm 1

Introduction:

Why "Equation"? Because there is a real balance in this Psalm that reflects the balance in the true life of faith. Rev. Mike Ballard said to me in conversation this morning that there are really five Gospels— and most people use the fifth Gospel the most of all. And that fifth Gospel is simply all the promises lifted out of the other four— a totally positive message.

Psalm One is both positive and negative. But let's begin at the beginning:

"Blessed" as used in Psalm 1 means "happy." Not silly- happy, or joke-happy, or good-luck-happy— but genuinely glad-to-be-alive-happy. It isn't a bad way to be.

"Blessed" comes by way of a life lived in harmony with God. It is based on a totally focused life; one that is centered in God, as Jesus demanded, and as we spoke about this morning.

"Blessed" doesn't just happen. If we have this kind of "blessed" it comes because we stay connected to grace, God's riches, undeserved, unearned, but not unwanted or unsought.

I. THE ELEMENTS OF TRUE HAPPINESS As Outlined In This Doorway To The Psalms:

NEGATIVE: Blessed is the (man) that walketh NOT in the counsel of the ungodly;
NOR standeth in the way of sinners; NOR sitteth in the seat of the scornful.

I don't quite know what to make of the progressive "inertia" there . . .

The Equation for Real Happiness

But I DO know that we have need of the negative grace of God: for forgiveness (or taking away our guilt) and for cleansing (or taking away our envy, bitterness, evil attitudes and all the rest)

And I do know that we have need of staying away from that which leads back into sin:

Godly separation from the world! What is it?

POSITIVE: Blessed is the (man) (1) whose DELIGHT is in the LAW of the Lord! The way God makes things work!

"In the stars His handiwork I see!"

What God demands is exactly what makes us happy!

We get the idea that God's law is like bad-tasting medicine- - maybe it is good for us— but it isn't really good! But David tells us that God's WILL IS OUR TRUE DELIGHT!

KNOWN (in touch): "The LORD knows the way of the righteous." It is the devil's work to isolate us— and to make us feel that we are alone; that no one cares, especially God! The LORD knoweth the way of the righteous!"

NOT unknown (out of touch): The ungodly are not beyond the factual knowledge of God— but they place themselves out of His relational knowledge. They are not in His friendship circle by their own choice— for that requires LEAVING sin as well as RECEIVING grace . . .

FRUITFUL, ON PURPOSE

- Planted
- Nurtured
- Fruitful
- Lasting

- Everlasting ... the greatest source of happiness (with the possible exception of grandchildren) is the inner persuasion that God has used you in some small way!

II. THE KEY TO ALL THIS HAPPINESS: "DAY AND NIGHT"

Never getting far away from the Presence of God!

Is this realistic?

Should we think about God and His way all the time? Isn't that somehow neurotic?

Let's be exceedingly practical and honest: HOW TO:...

1. You cannot maintain what you don't have; so you must be born again!
2. You have to make that SUPREME COMMITMENT!

Then comes LOYALTY (the commitment maintained, through:)

- Worship
- Public
- Private

and also maintained by

- Fellowship in the Faith (the Great Commandment) - People you pray for every day, and who pray for you. People you would give your life for. People that have also made the Supreme Commitment and are being LOYAL. and by
- Witnessing to the Faith (The Great Commandment) - An attitude toward the whole wide world; expressed toward the people God makes available to you. I want to close by talking about a most intimate and personal part of this EQUATION of happiness:

III. MAINTAINING AN INTIMATE PERSONAL RELATIONSHIP WITH GOD

A practical close:

A plan for personal devotions.

The Equation for Real Happiness

I challenge you to use this way for thirty days through revival with Janine Tartaglia at the end of this month. NOW TO THE SACRAMENT OF COMMUNION:

The Kingdom of God is a Party

Text Luke 15:1-10

Luke 15:6 "rejoice with me"

Luke 15:9 "rejoice with me"

Luke 15:32 "It was right that we should make merry"

Introduction

Anyone knows that this chapter is about being lost and found. We learn a lot about a seeking, caring God from these three brief stories. But there is more to these stories than meets our first glance. It is significant WHY Jesus told these stories— and TO WHOM! It may surprise you that these parables are as much about the attitude God's people should have toward those who are lost as they are about salvation itself.

[When Jesus told these stories He was going about His business— doing what He normally did. He and His disciples were taking the kingdom of God into the weekday world. They were expressing their faith outside the temple as well as they faithfully worshiped inside. They were eating with publicans and sinners. And the religious elite, who were always looking for flaws in Jesus, grumbled about it.]

I. THE PEOPLE THAT PROMPTED THESE PARABLES

- A. The people to whom Jesus addressed these stories were learned; especially in the written law; they were scribes and Pharisees— people who literally lived and breathed the Torah.
- B. They were grumblers; or in some translations, they were murmurers— complainers.

To "murmur" means a soft, low complaint— a whine— they talked among themselves instead of openly asking Jesus about their concern. And complainers and murmurers and grumblers are basically unhappy people.

- C. They were out of touch with the basic work of God in Messiah. This basic work is exactly what Jesus had come to do.

[This basic work of God in Christ— WHAT IS IT?] [Precisely what the stories were about.]

II. RECONCILING THE LOST TO GOD

- A. Jesus came to bring God down to where we live in order that he might bring us up to fellowship with God forever! The whole entire idea of "lost" is being away, separated, out-of-touch with God!
- B. And so— this lesson: "Variations on the theme of lost-ness" Three stories on one theme: being LOST is serious business— God Himself is interested in finding the lost— and all heaven is pleased when the lost is brought back!
- C. Being LOST is something to which we can all relate to some extent: "Have you ever been truly LOST?"

[Illustration: My son Stephen was (at least mis-placed) in the Museum of Natural History in New York City. He was nine years old. For more than an hour— and there was concern on his part and ours: "Where were you?!?"]

1. Lost like a sheep: "All we like sheep.. turned each one to HIS/HER own way! An introduction to THE UNIQUE ISOLATION OF DAMNATION. Hell will be full of isolated individuals wrapped in their unique selfishness... Hell calls out "Do your own thing! Be yourself! Rise above the masses!" The shepherd simply goes after us one by one! See Him seeking...calling..
2. Lost like a coin: "Many of life's forces are 'set' before birth. You are the product of many forces beyond your control: Your IQ... your $$.. your limits... your country of birth... God comes SWEEPING AWAY THE DARKNESS— valuing His image— "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's" Think about that!

Every man, woman, boy, girl is a coin with God's image stamped on it— and Father God is looking for His precious coinage!

3. (Lost by deliberate bull-headed choice!) The third "lost" in this chapter is— a lost child! A Prodigal. A lost that must have a response of WILL in order to be found!

- D. Perhaps as He spoke to the Pharisees and scribes Jesus had His hand on the shoulder of Peter— and he and the other disciples thought of a man they had met among the tombs in Gadera, his name had been "Legion"— they thought of a woman bent over from infirmity for 18 years that Jesus had straightened up with a word— they thought of the ruler of the synagogue in Capernaum, named Jairus, whose daughter had been raised from the dead— and of another woman who had had an issue of blood for 12 long years that had just touched the hem of Jesus' robe and had been healed.

And they ALL understood what Jesus was about: Jesus was where He was and was doing what He was doing because He loved them all! And He especially was there to bring us all— all lost without Him— to bring us all to God!

- E. But there is another part to this message to the Pharisees: a common thread beside being LOST and FOUND. All three stories end with REJOICING!

It is a measure the reality of our faith not only what our attitude is— but what "turns us on!"

[These sour intellectuals weren't happy until others could dot the "i" and cross the "t" like they did— and then they didn't have it right— but they couldn't see that Jesus was finding the lost before their very eyes!]

III. THE PURPOSE OF THE MESSAGE

[Why, do you suppose, did Jesus bring this lesson to the Pharisees?]

- A. The "usual" application is vital: God is seeking YOU! God loves YOU! Whether you are lost by carelessness or by (seeming) circumstances— or even by deliberate choice— God still loves you and is seeking you! God is waiting for you to "come home to HIM!"

The Kingdom of God is a Party

B. But what was Jesus saying to the "wise" that day?

1. Do not mistake the work of Messiah! People are LOST apart from God! They are not lost because they are not keeping your rules or because they are "liberal" or "fundamental" or "educated" or "simple." They are lost if they are away and apart from God!

God is always concerned about the lost. He is illuminating, revealing, sweeping the corners; He is calling, carrying, bandaging, forgiving. What God can do in regard to the lost, God does.

2. GOD IS ALWAYS LEADING A CELEBRATION OVER THE FOUND!

God is a cheerleader, who applauds every sincere effort toward the light— who makes heaven ring with music when a child in VBS sings "Into MY heart, Lord Jesus!" and really invites Jesus in!

Conclusion - God is our Father; He wants us to be like HE IS!

1. If we are away from Him, then it is important— absolutely the most important thing in the world— that we be saved! Sheep - coin - son/daughter — God is moving heaven and earth to bring you back!
2. But that is not where this lesson ends.
 - a. We must be like God in NEVER GIVING UP ON THE LOST. We should be God's candle— God's broom— God's under-shepherds—
 - b. When we cannot go and force people to come, we must be like the Father: praying waiting watching— ready to run down the road and say "Welcome into the FAMILY!"
 - c. We must learn to love the sinner without entering into the sin. We do not have to approve of what people are doing in order to let them know that they are important. People are NOT going to beat the door down to the church if they are "lost sheep" or "lost coins." By the grace of God they have to be sought!
 - d. OUR HAPPINESS IS COMPLETE WHEN IT IS LIKE GOD'S OWN JOY; IN SEEING THE LOST COME HOME! This chapter just a hint into what God's heart must be— how much God loves YOU and ME— how he spares no effort to locate us— and Jesus loved even the scribes and Pharisees! He was seeking THEM, too!

Prayer: Help us to be like You, O God!

A Servant Named Shrewd

September 20, 1992 am

Lesson: Luke 16:1-13

Last Sunday we looked at Luke 15, a chapter the church likes to apply for its own evangelistic use, even though Jesus addressed it first to the Pharisees and scribes.

Today we look at Luke 16, a chapter the church likes to use to describe "others," even though Jesus first addressed it to his own inner circle of disciples.

This is a difficult passage, but before we look at the hard part, we need to address the obvious part, the truth which is assumed at the very outset.

The parable is about a trustee, or manager of an estate, called in some versions a "steward." Whatever the English word, the meaning is clear; the story is about one person entrusted with managing another person's wealth and property, charged with acting in his master's behalf. The disciples understood the meaning of 'steward':

I. WE ARE ALL STEWARDS OF ALL THAT WE ARE AND HAVE

A. Christians are people who have said, "Jesus is LORD!" We are people who have said that God has both CREATED us and REDEEMED us, and so we are acknowledging His ownership, His right to be glorified in every part of our lives.

1. Non-Christians and unbelievers reject this out of hand. We would expect them to! "No one is going to tell me what to do!" is the very essence of human nature.
2. What I cannot understand is Christians who have not settled it that they belong to God! Really, if we can say, by the Spirit of God, "Jesus is Lord!" then we have no choice! WE ARE STEWARDS!

B. HAVE YOU THOUGHT WHAT BEING A STEWARD MEANS?

1. Our THINGS belong to God. When we talk about stewardship this is usually what we are thinking about. Our money, our talents, our possessions are supposed to be dedicated to the glory of God.

But this is not the heart or essence of what stewardship is about; it is the result of our being stewards.

2. [Coming a little closer to the heart of the matter] Our RELATIONSHIPS belong to God. Our inter-personal actions are to reflect God's ownership!

We cannot "give" another human being to God, in the truest sense, for they have to do that for themselves. But we can and MUST give the relationships of life to God!

The easiest relationships to give God are the ones that have not yet been crystallized. When we give God the future, and seek His will in entering new relationships, we avoid great heartache.

The richest and most rewarding human relationships are when all parties involved cooperate in seeking God's will together.

But in the less-than-ideal relationships of life: the mixed marriages, the give-and-take of church viewpoints, the misunderstandings between mixed generations, - the Christian Steward can invoke the lordship, the ownership of Jesus in his or her relationships.

There is more truth here than I can pack into one corner of a twenty minute sermon, but let me use just one important relationship to represent them all:

HOW DO WE GIVE OUR PARENT- CHILD RELATIONSHIPS TO GOD IN FAITHFUL STEWARDSHIP?

The need for stewardship is especially keen in the parent-child relationship: Parents, what is YOUR goal for your son or daughter? I am not just talking about dreams and hopes— but what are you trying to do with the life that has been entrusted to your stewardship?

Let me suggest one over-arching goal (and I borrow without apology from H. Norman Wright) [1]

Our goal as parents is to empower our children to become mature and to release them to become independent from us and dependent on God.

3. [Our THINGS, our RELATIONSHIPS—these are vital. But] THE VERY HEART OF STEWARDSHIP IS WHEN WE GIVE OUR VERY SELF TO GOD! I cannot tell you how important this is!

Is the Christian faith RADICALLY INDIVIDUALISTIC, or is it A SURRENDER OF (EGO) SELF to a Holy and Good God, and by so doing ENTERING INTO A COVENANT OF COMMUNITY WITH THE CHURCH OF JESUS CHRIST??

The latest outrageous claims of our hedonist media— "You deserve to feel good!" "Do whatever fulfills YOU!" — are as old as Eden. Unregenerate human nature wants to be god! Shakespeare put this in the mouth of a father of weak character giving advice to his weak son:

"To thine own SELF be true, and it must follow as the night the day thou canst not then be false to any man." But the sad fact is that we cannot be true to ourselves apart from a relationship with our Maker. And those who do not pretend to know God cannot be expected to buy this business of being trustees of our lives.

It is no good to surrender our THINGS, and our RELATIONSHIPS — our husbands, wives, children— if we do not truly surrender ourSELVES!

The entire New Testament is written in the context of THE SURRENDERED LIFE! The life lived out for God in the community of believers!

The New Testament does not indicate a METHOD of community, but the SPIRIT OF COMMUNITY IS THE ESSENCE OF THE NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH! We exist to edify the Body, to surrender our right to "self" to the Lord of the Body, and we believe and trust that this is the pathway to true life!

C. One other thing about stewards that is "obvious" here: STEWARDS ARE CALLED TO ACCOUNT! Christians shall give an account of their trust. As trustees, stewards, managers, Jesus made it clear on many occasions that we shall be called to accounting.

1. We ARE saved by grace, through faith, and not of works- - so when we come to know Jesus as Savior and Lord all our sins are forgiven, and we shall not have to answer for them. We do not need to face Judgment Day with dread.
2. The servants of God WILL face a time of accounting when rewards will be assigned according to the faithfulness of service. Over and over Jesus taught things like:

"Don't hide your talent in a napkin— or you will suffer loss!" "To whom much is given much shall be required!" There will be an accounting! These truths are obvious and can be accepted at face value from this passage. But the passage is not simple!

[Narrative: This servant Shrewd knew (all the above.)

He also knew his "number was up." So he devised a scheme to soften the crunch of judgment! He used his power of office to undercut the demands of his master— "don't pay the full amount!" He thought that maybe he might get a job with a competitor— And the master actually expressed a form of admiration—before the hammer came down!]

II. THE IMPACT OF THE SHREWD SERVANT STORY

- A. [FORESIGHT IS GOOD!] The master of Shrewd commended him for planning ahead. "The children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light!" What can this mean?

A dedication to objectives and goals. The kingdom of God is not a profit-driven business. But there is no undertaking in all the universe as important as kingdom business.

And yet in our attitude we often treat the kingdom as a second-class hobby. We treat our paycheck with supreme deference; we then address our leisure and vacation times, our schedules of personal interest— AND THEN WITH WHAT IS LEFT OVER WE THINK OF GLORIFYING OUR MASTER.

The children of the world take their career success very seriously indeed. Can we children of light take a lesson from Shrewd? WHAT OBJECTIVES AND GOALS DRIVE US? WHAT GOALS DO YOU HAVE FOR YOUR CHILDREN??

B. ["FORESIGHT IS GOOD!" BUT] "I'M AN EXCEPTION" NEVER WORKS IN CHRIST'S KINGDOM! To "cut corners" in the least bit in spirit, or in principle is to lose everything!

1. On the surface it would SEEM that this is one time that Jesus gave approval to doing a wrong thing for a right purpose (or, the classic "The end justifies the means.") But this is simply NOT so! The end NEVER justifies the means! Jesus NEVER violates His own holy character!
2. What recourse did Shrewd have? He should have thrown himself on the mercy of his master!
3. The lesson closes with a broad hint into the deepest truth of which we are capable of grasping: that eternity is the real target for our faithful relationships here and now! Ponder this enigmatic statement:

"If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches? And if you have not been faithful in that which is another's, who shall give you that which is your own?" (11,12)

Conclusion:

If you are a Christian, you are a manager, a steward, a trustee. You have no choice whatsoever. The only choice that you have is...

WHAT KIND OF TRUSTEE ARE YOU GOING TO BE?

The Love of a Great God for Little People

September 20, 1992 PM

Psalm 138:6 Though the LORD be high, yet hath he respect unto the lowly...

There are four phrases which stand out to me in this brief Psalm.

- "I will praise You with my whole heart!" (1);
- "In the day when I cried You answered me, and strengthened me with strength in my soul." (3);
- "Though the Lord be high, yet hath He respect unto the lowly" (6); and "The LORD will perfect that which concerneth me." (8). The Psalm begins in praise, and ends in confidence.

I would like to begin with the third phrase, "Though the Lord be high, yet hath He respect unto the lowly" (6) for it is the wonderful heart of this truth.

I. A GREAT GOD WHO LOVES LITTLE PEOPLE

- A. Our God IS great beyond our comprehension: the greatest minds of the world cannot penetrate His mysteries [Stephen Hawking— the laws of physics stop at the edge of a "black hole." He speaks of probing into the mysteries— to know the mind of God... if there is a Creator!]

There IS a Creator! He is big enough to fill the Universe. But He is condescending enough to dwell in the heart of a junior boy or girl who sings, "Come into me heart, Lord Jesus!"

- B. When we are self-sufficient or self-important, we don't need God, and God does not come to "a summons." But those who love Him, and who let Him know their needs have God's attention!

God hears the prayer of the lowly in heart!

- C. Even trouble cannot separate this great God from His people (7) "Though I walk in the midst of trouble thou wilt revive me!"

- D. AND NOTHING CAN ULTIMATELY FRUSTRATE GOD'S LOVE! "The Lord will PERFECT! Complete! THAT WHICH CONCERNETH ME!" (8)

II. A GREAT GOD WHO ANSWERS PRAYER

- A. Our God usually does not do for His people what they do not request! We need to cultivate the habit of talking EVERYTHING over with God in prayer! "Ye have not because ye ask not." When our hearts are centered, then we can have freedom in prayer. John 15:7
- B. We have all been taught that we need to pray. But we never have been quite sure WHY! But prayer is how we (1) get acquainted with God, and it is also how we (2) connect to His great reserves and reservoirs and resources of grace. "When I cried, YOU heard and answered!" said the Psalmist. When we pray, God listens!

III. WHOLE-HEARTED PRAISE

David put the "key" to assurance first: it is the will to praise God with an undivided heart!

I quoted the great Henry Drummond last Sunday, when he once told a class of theology scholars,

"Don't touch Christianity unless you are willing to seek the Kingdom of Heaven first. I promise you a miserable existence if you seek it second."

I said that the only thing wrong about that statement would be IF we limit it to preachers and missionaries or "special Christians!" When we praise God with ALL our hearts, this great God Himself stoops to where we are!

Conclusion

God is great! He is concerned with the nations, and the planets and stars. But God is so great that He is deeply concerned with your decisions, and your needs!

When I was starting out as a Christian I prayed for miracles, and I believe they came. Is God different today? Can He still change hearts, and mend relationships, and bless lives?

Of course He can!

But we need to tell Him our concern, to "cry out to Him!"

And we need to pray with an undivided heart!

We cannot praise and pray over top of known sin in our lives. We need to confess our sin. If there are things that are wrong in your life, then even though God wants your very best, He cannot break through and give it to you because you have a divided heart!

And we cannot fulfill God's will for our lives (or see HIM fulfill it!) over the top of willful holding back in the stewardship of our lives! God does not want our gifts and talents as much as GOD WANTS US! HE WANTS OUR UNDIVIDED LOYALTY! HE WANTS OUR LOVE!

CAN HE HAVE YOURS?

#397 - Where He Leads Me I WILL Follow

A Story of Separation

September 27, 1992

Luke 16:19-31

Introduction:

1. The two men in this story were opposites in many ways.

[THINGS ARE NOT ALWAYS AS THEY SEEM TO BE ON THE SURFACE]

We do not know both their names, but Jesus gave the one man the name "Lazarus." Lazarus is the Greek form of the Old Testament name "El-eazar" which means "God my help!" Clearly Jesus was giving him a character sketch in his name, like "Christian" in John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. Tradition has named the rich man in the story "Dives."

Dives was rich, Lazarus was very poor. One man wore Brooks Brothers suits, the other got his clothes for free at Good Will. One had more than he could eat of caviar and steak, the other scrounged behind restaurants.

The two men both died, but even their death served to magnify and make permanent the contrast, only now the tables were turned around. The poor man died and was carried by angels into Abraham's bosom, the place of the righteous. The rich man died, and was buried, and opened his eyes in a place of torment.

In this last scene, the final tableau of the story these men are on opposite sides of an impassable chasm. On the one side is heaven. On the other side is hell.

2. [WHAT WAS IT, REALLY, THAT WAS THE DIFFERENCE, THE POINT OF SEPARATION BETWEEN THESE TWO MEN THAT BROUGHT THEM TO BE ON OPPOSITE SIDES OF THIS CHASM?]

At the very least this story of Jesus makes us think about destiny— the hereafter. What can we say about heaven and hell?

3. SPIRITUAL REALITY TRANSCENDS HUMAN OPINION

WHAT DO WE KNOW ABOUT DESTINY? I choose to know about heaven and hell only what is revealed in God's WORD. I reject other voices— the "near death experiences" are not any guide on which to build my faith and hope. I choose to trust what Jesus taught about life after death.

ARE HEAVEN AND HELL REAL PLACES? A simple answer to this is, YES! Jesus spoke of them as real. He told the thief on the cross that he would be with Jesus that very day in a real place. And He told his disciples, "I go to prepare a PLACE for you that where I am there ye may be also."

4. But heaven and hell are spiritual realities that extend their influence throughout human existence. The spirit of heaven is the Spirit of Christ. Where Jesus is present, there is an aura of heaven. The spirit of hell is the spirit of isolation and hopelessness and selfishness. Hell is where there is no love, joy, peace, no patience, kindness, goodness, no loyalty, gentleness or self-control.

I want to go to heaven THEN! But I also want to live in the spirit of heaven NOW! Is that possible? I want to avoid going to hell THEN! But I do not want to live in the pain and isolation of hell NOW!

This division that marked a contrast between these two men in life and in death, that became an impassable chasm, THIS DIVISION IN SOME FORM EXTENDS THROUGHOUT HUMAN EXISTENCE!

I. THE SEPARATION BEGINS IN THE DIVISION OF THE HUMAN HEART

- A. People all over the world are KIND! And people all over the world are CRUEL! And sometimes they are the very same people! How can this be?

1. Paul addresses the human dilemma (Romans 7)

"When I would do good, evil is present with me! O wretched man that I am, who will deliver me from this body of death?"

God's people have always known the tug and pull of two worlds.

2. David cries out in one of his prayers (Psalm 86:11)

"Teach me Thy way, O Lord! I will walk in Thy truth: unite my heart to fear Thy name."

3. The Mosaic laws, the basic call to worship, which the Jews use to this very day, is (Deuteronomy 6):

"Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is One; and thou shalt love the Lord with ALL your heart . .

4. Jeremiah cries out: (Jeremiah 17):

"The heart is deceitful above all things, who can know it?"

B. GRACE MAKES IT POSSIBLE TO RESPOND TO GOD'S LOVE, AND TO LOVE GOD WITH ALL OUR HEART!

The Gospel of grace gives us the good news that in Jesus we can have a heart that is forgiven of the guilt of sins, and made free from the power of sin and that enjoys walking in the Presence of the Spirit of Christ. We love to emphasize with our Reformed and Calvinist brothers and sisters, "We are saved by grace through faith, not of works, lest any man should boast." But we are fools if we think that there is no relationship between the way we live and the spiritual condition of our hearts!

II. THE SEPARATION CONTINUES IN THE FIGHT OF FAITH

WE ARE CALLED TO STAND WITH GOD AND RIGHT FIRMLY ON ONE SIDE OF THE ABYSS!

The way we live is an indication of the way we shall spend our destiny!

- A. It seems contradictory to say we are saved by God's grace, and through no efforts of our own, and then seem to turn around and say we have to fight to stay saved!

1. What we do not accept so freely is the fact that the way we live is an indication of the connection we have with God; we are not saved by being "good," but this confrontation of heaven and hell extends into every facet of human life, and God's people are to manifest God's spirit.

2. Christians are those who know where the chasm is, and who stay on heaven's side. Christians are those who continue to walk in the light of God's Presence. Do you know I John 1:7 ? What does it say?

"If we walk in the light, as he [God] is in the light, we have fellowship one with another; and the blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son, cleanses us from all sin."

Life in Christ is by grace. But life in Christ is to be lived out in the light of God's known and revealed will. Those who walk in darkness are manifestly on the wrong side of the division that becomes the abyss.

3. It is not enough for us to say the correct words at some altar of prayer. It is not enough to acknowledge the truth that Jesus died for all the world and that he died for me. We must say, by the Spirit, "JESUS IS LORD!"

When Jesus is Lord we are called upon to separate ourselves from the spirit that inhabits the other side of the abyss.

B. The call to separation is greatly misunderstood.

1. THE CALL TO SEPARATION IS NOT A CALL TO COMFORT, to gather our skirts of self-righteousness about us and let the world be damned. The Son of God left eternal glory to walk among us, and He expects His sons and daughters to go where there is sin and suffering, too.
2. THE CALL TO SEPARATION IS NOT A CALL TO LEAVE THE NORMAL RELATIONS OF THIS WORLD. Christians are capitalists and socialists; they are rich and they are poor; they are married and they are single.
3. BUT THE CALL TO SEPARATION IS ONE OF DIRECTION AND OF SPIRIT. We cannot be Christian and continue in the spirit of this world. WHAT IS THE 'SPIRIT OF THIS WORLD?'

[Was it wrong for the rich man to have many fine things? I believe the answer to that is "No." But THE RICH MAN COULD SEE HUMAN MISERY WITHOUT BEING MOVED IN HIS HEART!]

His SPIRIT betrayed his heart! It was wrong for him to have these things while he could have done something very specific about helping another person at his doorstep!]

- C. The spirit of the world is INSENSITIVITY and it is SELFISH. If we do not separate ourselves from this evil spirit we will end up separated from God and from everything good!

Let me talk to you about the way that we use our television viewing:

Twenty-five years ago a man named Marshall McLuhan said that instant communication would make "A Global Village" of our world. We can instantly watch war being waged halfway around the world.

But at least one philosopher has said that instead of becoming a Global Village we have become a generation of "Global Voyeurs." One thing which TV can do to us is make us get used to things that ought to make us violently ill.

We do not dare to constantly be interested in other people's suffering and their sin without investing our lives or else becoming hardened.

- I am desperately concerned about the casual and perverted presentation of sex in our prime time so-called entertainment.
- I am even more concerned when often sex is combined with violence.
- I am deeply concerned about channels on cable that are specifically beamed to our junior-high age kids— who have a lot of discretionary money. If you have cable tv I challenge you to sit and watch MTV for twenty minutes or so. The sheer anger, the sheer perversion, the sheer occult overtones, the powerful sexual images are straight out of the pit of hell. Are your children watching it? Your neighbors' children are.

Christians are called to separate themselves from this kind of thing. It is NOT something you can ignore and it will go away. It is on the wrong side of the abyss.

We must find ways of bringing our children in contact with the Spirit of Christ! We ourselves must be certain that we have made the separation!

D. The spirit of the world is PASSIVITY in spiritual matters.

Perhaps we are not doing what we ought; we have the prodding of a still, small voice— but we keep it drowned with noise or with business.

What can we do?

1. We can stop watching filth and violence.
2. We can commend good and we can cry out against evil.
3. We can stop apologizing for being at war with the spirit of the world.

III. THE HOLINESS OF GOD DEMANDS A SEPARATION

A. Why, do you suppose, did Jesus ever tell this story?

1. He wants us to think about destiny.
2. He wants us to see that what we ARE is what we are fast BECOMING!
3. He loves us and wants us to love Him!

B. I want to go to heaven! I want to take my loved ones with me! I want to see my neighbors and friends on heaven's side of the struggle before it is too late. Do YOU?

Paul, the apostle of grace, gives us this ringing call (in 2 Corinthians 6:)

"Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, says the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will be a Father unto you; and you will be my sons and daughters, says the Lord!"

Can it be that this week we have a little opportunity to get a fresh view of eternal things? Can our revival be one means God can use to help us in this struggle that reaches into our lives? It is NOT too late to call on God!

Prayer: Revive and renew us, O God!

Luke 16:19-31

INTRO:

Illustration: The professor who introduced his course on Christian theology by putting a bowl of beans on the desk and having his students guess the number; a number which he later revealed. The professor then asked "Which is Christian faith more like?: (1) Guessing the number of beans in a bowl? and later finding out a number, OR, (2) 'Your favorite song?'"

The unanimous response was, "Our faith is like our favorite song!"

Then the professor would try to show them through the rest of his course how they were wrong: Christian faith is dealing with truth-fact that is not changed according to our whims. Thankfully, if we believe the Bible, our faith is not as fragile as having to guess at absolute truths. But our faith IS based on truth that is truth whether or not we happen to believe it!

However can I say it? Believe it— THE FACTS OF SPIRITUAL LIFE ARE FACTS!

I. HEAVEN AND HELL ARE SPIRITUAL REALITY

Luke 16:19-31 Is an oriental story representing absolutely true values - Jesus has a way of turning our value-systems upside down.

He sketches a poor-but-angel-attended blessed man and he contrasts him with a rich-but-wretched damned man.

In the beginning of the story we are almost envious of the rich man and certainly feel sorry for Lazarus.

At the end of the story we are curious about Lazarus' surroundings— he is in an Oriental heaven, eating grapes, lounging on rugs, in the very lap of luxury— while we are even more curious about the rich man's surroundings, for they are one of a very, very few glimpses into what we call "hell."

What is This Thing Called Eternal Life?

Dives, as we have come to call the rich man, is parched, in torment, begging for one drop of water.

* We're looking for details: Jesus is giving us basic, vital truth! ****

II. THE WORD OF GOD IS TO BE TRUSTED!

- A. The concern of Jesus is that we discover who we are before it is too late to act on the knowledge.
- B. The Word of God will tell us exactly who we are and what God is like and where we are headed!

The rich man asked Abraham to send back a man from the dead to warn his brothers to change their ways. Jesus had Abraham say, "They have Torah! If they will not hear Moses and the prophets, they would not listen to a man come back from the dead!"

C. HOW CAN I TRUST THE BIBLE?

It is not so easy to submit to the authority of Jesus, and seek to let His words sink down into our souls to show us, rich or poor, what we really ARE, and what or whom we really LOVE and SERVE.

It is not so easy to reject the idols of comfort and of security and to believe that, rich or poor, there is not that much difference in our deepest needs.

It is not so easy, whether we are rich or poor, to deliberately submit to the call of Jesus to follow Him to the cross on the way to the Throne.

GOD IS PATIENT WITH TRUE SEARCHING, SEEKING!

III. GOD IS LOVE, BUT GOD IS GOD!

- A. There is no doubt that human understanding of God grows and develops as we come to know Him better. There is even some truth in seeing a "progressive revelation" from early history and Old Testament times until now.

But we will do well not to think of "the God of the Old Testament" as opposed to "the God of the New Testament" as though God is made in man's image. We will do well to remember that the name of names for our God was given to Moses at the burning bush, the unspeakable name that means "I AM THAT I AM"!

What we say of Him, and what we THINK of Him will make a great deal of difference in how seriously we will take His Word. But it will not affect one iota the Holy One that IS WHO HE IS, and changes not!

B. There is no doubt that following Jesus and being a true Christian will be expressed differently—in many different ways by different people!

1. But being saved and making Jesus Lord! is not "like your favorite song!"
2. Jesus died on the cross to provide the way of salvation! - God is God! He deserves our total allegiance and loyalty! He is HOLY—and He cannot fellowship with selfish, unspiritual, unscriptural home made religion!

Believe! Repent! Confess! Receive!

Conclusion:

What is your faith?

Guessing beans? It can be more than that—it can be TAKING GOD'S WORD EXACTLY AS HE GIVES IT!

ARE YOU ONE WHOSE FAITH IS LIKE "YOUR FAVORITE SONG! I'll worship my own higher power in my own way!

God help us to come into contact with the God of heaven and earth! Help us to believe HIM against all other words! IN JESUS, AND IN HIS WORD, IS THE TRUE SPIRITUAL REALITY!

John LeCarré's novel A Perfect Spy pictures a man, Magnus Pymn, with great intelligence and sensitivity, a chameleon able to fit into any and every situation, but who had no abiding loyalty or abiding foundation of trust on which to build his life. He rose to the top of his profession, and had the world at his feet. But his life was absolutely empty. The final solution he found was suicide.

Luke 17:11-19

Ten leprous men who stood at a distance met Him; and they raised their voices, saying, "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!"

I. THE 'SHUT OUT ONES' APPLY TO JESUS FOR MERCY

They came in a group. But they were not either brothers or true friends. They stood a distance apart because they were shut out of normal human connections. They were lepers.

Being shut out and kept at a distance was more painful than just being gravely ill. What the ten lepers wanted more than anything else in all the world was to get well. But getting well was what they believed would be a means to the end of normal, happy, integrated LIVING.

What they wanted was to get well; what they craved was being loved and being a part of things and being whole. Being well was important. But being WHOLE was all-important.

You might think that these lepers at least had fellowship in their own group of ten. "Misery loves company" is an adage that we all know and quote. Perhaps we don't know what "Misery loves company" really means. It takes more than a common misery to create true loving fellowship.

During the 60's, amidst all the call for equality and brotherhood, and rightly so, among the peoples shut out from the mainstream of society- there was at the grass-roots, one-on-one levels in the movement a sense of separation. In the tent encampment on the Mall west of the Capitol, which was called Freedom City, Dr. Ralph Abernathy told later that there was segregation between the various minorities. Those speaking one language did not want to associate with those speaking another, and so forth.

Jesus accepted these outcasts as they were. He began the process of healing, and gave them the HOPE of "A NEXT STEP."

II. THE 'SHUT OUT ONES' EXPERIENCE THE HEALING POWER OF OBEDIENCE

- A. Jesus met them at the point of their perceived need. There was authority in His voice as He spoke to them. Their faith was inspired.

Jesus gave them an assignment within the law. Jesus told them: "Go and show yourselves to the priests!"

This posed a dilemma. They know they were leprous. That was a fact. They could not even come NEAR the priest in that condition. But they could not be re-admitted to society until they did! The ten lepers had a challenge!

- B. Faith in Jesus does pose a dilemma. We cannot come to God with sin in our lives. But we cannot be saved unless and until we do come to Him! We cannot have fellowship with God until we are free from the guilt and pollution of sin.

I WONDER IF WE GRASP THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THE SEPARATING POWER OF SIN! THE STORY OF THE TEN LEPERS COMES CLOSER TO HOME THAN WE WOULD LIKE TO THINK!

We KNOW that we are sinful, that we come short of God's glory. Our sinful, selfish condition means that we are "shut out ones" and can not approach a Holy God in any significant way apart from a word of divine grace.

- C. When Jesus said, "Go show yourselves to the priests!" the ten lepers heard a word of grace; they said, "What do we have to lose?" And taking Jesus at His word they started off, polluted and leprous as they were.

And the Word is (14) "as they were going they were cleansed." Evidently there was a healing power in their obedience to the Son of God.

- D. We, too, have heard that divine word of grace. We have heard it over and over again, until we almost take it for granted. We think that it is no light thing to be able to go to the holy place and pray. But we are cleansed because we have heard Jesus say, "You may come to the Father in My name!" Our sins are forgiven, our sinfulness is cleansed as we exercise the faith in Jesus and His Word and His sacrifice on Calvary and believe that in HIM we are healed!

The miracle of wholeness had BEGUN:

Tremendous power was manifested that day. Ten lepers, polluted, outcast, "shut out ones," started out for the temple, and ten lepers were legally and ceremonially and literally CLEAN before they ever got to show themselves to the priests.

Tremendous power is manifested whenever people obey the clear command of Jesus! We can trust His Word that "He is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only, but for the sins of the whole world." It is a wonderful thing to be saved, and on our way to heaven— to realize that we may enter into fellowship with all God's people.

III. ONE "SHUT OUT ONE" TURNED BACK AND COMPLETED A CIRCLE

[Perhaps I am reading more theology into this parable than I should. Holiness preachers have long been accused of this. But as one great man (Uncle Bud Robinson) responded to this charge I say, with him: "If we can see second-blessing holiness where it ain't, then you ought to be able to see holiness where it IS!"]

- A. What I see in this vignette from Jesus' ministry is that the healing or cleansing of these lepers was not really completed until there was more than a selfish receiving on the part of those applying for grace.

One of the ten did NOT go directly to the priests to receive his official document of cleansing. He started to go, and in his obedience he was healed.

But before this man re-entered society officially he went looking for the One who had cleansed him! As he went his heart was overflowing with gratitude and praise to God! His praise to God was evident and abundant and overflowing!

B. Jesus made some comments and a pronouncement!

Ten people that day received the benefits of God's grace! Ten people were reached by the love of God, and made legally and ceremonially clean. But nine of them kept on going without a backward glance.

These people seemed to be a puzzle to Jesus. "Where are the nine?" He asked. It seems they never thought of the God-connection; never thought of a personal expression of praise and thanksgiving and love to God.

I am not saying they just "took it for granted" but that is the way it looks to me!

Jesus seemed to be amazed that the one that did turn back in love was not even a bona-fide Jew! He was a despised half-breed Samaritan, who was an outcast before he even got leprosy!

Jesus pronounced this ONE man, this SAMARITAN "Whole!" "Saved!"

Conclusion:

[Briefly reiterate the purpose of salvation is NOT to free us up for selfish living, BUT to enable us to COME IN to fellowship with God Himself, and with God's people, where true WHOLENESS begins!]

A Return to the Shepherd Psalm

October 11, 1992 PM

Communion Meditation

Psalm 23

Jesus said, "I AM the Good Shepherd." John 10:10

The phrase in the 23rd Psalm, "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of my enemies," is somehow comforting and at the same time mysterious. I often think of it as I approach the sacrament we call the Eucharist, or Communion. And then the phrase takes on an almost immeasurable depth of meaning. This is the table of the Lord!

A TABLE GOD HIMSELF PREPARES

Jesus is the Good Shepherd. A good shepherd knows his sheep; knows what they need, and provides for them. If we are His sheep, then we need to believe that He knows what we need and will provide for us.

What we need is not always what we are most concerned about. I am pretty sure that if a flock of sheep caught wind of a wolf in the vicinity they would be very apprehensive. They would have reason to be worried if their shepherd either did not know about the wolf, or was unable to deal with the wolf. But the shepherd might not be quite as concerned, knowing exactly what he was going to do to protect his sheep.

Jesus knows we need food and fellowship and refreshment. He knows that we are human and frail.

God Himself has provided strength for our journey. Our meat and drink come from the very life of our Shepherd, who lays down His life for the sheep.

A TABLE IN DEFIANCE OF MANY UNCHALLENGED SO-CALLED FACTS OF LIFE

Life is filled with "enemies."

The Psalmist speaks of the "valley of the shadow of death." Life at times is harsh, and dark, and foreboding. We shrink back from that which would destroy us. The only thing that kept the Psalmist from a death of shattering fear was the Presence of the Shepherd. For the presence of the enemies was evident!

Personal enemies! David had real enemies, people who wanted to do him in, to kill him. We have real enemies, too. Life is NOT a game, it is for real.

We have personal enemies; that which would keep us from believing that God really will guide us into abundant life. The Table of the Lord is a corrective that says, What I need more than anything else is You, O God!

Enemies of the CHURCH! The very spirit of our age is corrosive to the spirit of the church, and vice versa. And some of our worst enemies are attitudes from within, attitudes that can be corrected at the table of the Lord. [Perhaps you may think I'm "reaching" to include this, but it needs to be said:]

In the book -Resident Aliens- William Willimon and Stanley Hauerwas list some rather unconventional "enemies of the church" which may be present as we partake at the Lord's Table:

- A. One such enemy is SENTIMENTALITY. Commenting that "exciting services" and "good feeling" have become ends in themselves in the ministry they write;

"When that happens the church and ministry cannot avoid sentimentality, which we believe is the most detrimental corruption of the church today.

Sentimentality, after all, is but the way our UNBELIEF is lived out.

SENTIMENTALITY, THAT ATTITUDE OF BEING ALWAYS READY TO UNDERSTAND BUT NOT TO JUDGE, CORRUPTS US AND THE MINISTRY. This is as true of the conservative churches as it is of the liberal. Sentimentality is the subjecting of the church year to "Mother's Day" and "Thanksgiving."

Sentimentality is the necessity of the church to side with the Sandanistas against the Contras. Sentimentality is "the family that prays together stays together."

Without God, without the One whose death on the cross challenges all our "good feelings," who stands beyond and over against our human anxieties, all we have left is sentiment, the saccharine residue of theism is demise. [1]

- B. A second enemy is LETTING THE WORLD DEFINE THE CHURCH; or accepting conventional definitions of the church. If the church accepts the values of our rotten culture, then (and I quote again:)

(The) church will be a source of conventional, socially acceptable answers, a place to reiterate what everybody already knows, even without the church. We shall die, not from crucifixion, but from boredom.

(We- especially pastors are conditioned) "to think in terms of what the church can do to help people- but within parameters set by a society that does not know God. In that myopic world view, solutions to what ails us will be petty. WHAT SORT OF COMMUNITY WOULD WE HAVE TO BE TO BE THE SORT OF PEOPLE WHO LIVE BY OUR CONVICTIONS? [2]

- C. A third enemy of the church named by Hauerwas and Willimon is UNREALISTIC EXPECTATIONS: We try to make the church whatever WE think it ought to be, or what we think the WORLD wants it to be to meet their perceived needs. Hauerwas and Willimon are speaking especially of pastors, but this truth applies to us all. We must focus in on what GOD wants us to do, and then we find we have peace with Him, and with ourselves! Listen to what they say about pastors, and see if there is an application for you in this enemy of "Unrealistic Expectations":

Pastors come to despise what they are and hate the community that made them that way. Because the church is not a place to worship God, but rather a therapeutic center for the meeting of one another's unchecked, unexamined needs, the pastor is exhausted. Only a few months into his or her first pastorate the new pastor realizes that people's needs are virtually limitless, particularly in an affluent society in which there is an ever-rising threshold of desire (which we define as "need." There is no job description, no clear sense of purpose other than the meeting of people's needs, so there is no possible way for the pastor to limit what people ask of the pastor. Not knowing what they should do pastors try to do everything and be everything for everybody. The most conscientious among them become exhausted and empty. The laziest of them merely withdraw into disinterested detachment. Not knowing why their pastor is there, the congregation expects the pastor to be and do everything. They become unrealistic critics of the clergy rather than co-workers, fellow truth tellers."

Self hatred is inevitable in someone who feels abused, prostituted, unfairly criticized. The burden of being a generally good person, open and available to people of unbounded need is too great for anybody to bear. Self-hate and loneliness result. [3]

IN THE PRESENCE OF THESE ENEMIES, as well as all others, we have THE TABLE OF THE LORD, which is prepared for us by the Shepherd Himself! And, how does this truth apply?

A TABLE OF BOTH PROTECTION AND WITNESS PROTECTION

By coming humbly to partake of the Blood and Body of the Lord, in obedience and in faith, we find the strength to obey, to take daily direction, to keep in the Path of Righteousness for His Name's sake.

We find that our enemies are powerless to keep us from the Pathway, so long as we are careful to stay in His Presence. Have you read or re-read Pilgrim's Progress lately? Remember the lions that stood by the pathway just ahead? Remember how they were chained, and could not reach to the center of the path?

WITNESS

On November 16, 1989, members of the church family met in the gathering room after the funeral of Donna Bowers. (She had been cared for for weeks in Esther Sanger's living room in a hospital bed.) The church family sat around tables, and then one after another Donna Bowers' friends stood and told stories of her kindnesses.

Later four of us made the trip to Attleboro for the interment. John, Janice Nielson, Esther Sanger and I. We sang, four part harmony,

"My hope is built on nothing less than Jesus' blood and righteousness... On Christ the solid Rock I stand all other ground is sinking sand."

The cemetery workers were amazed. "Do you always do that?" they asked.

WE COME TO THE TABLE, TO THIS SACRAMENT, FOR STRENGTH IN THE MIDST OF OUR ENEMIES. BUT AS WE DO, THE CHURCH ITSELF IN A SENSE BECOMES THE SACRAMENT

If a definition of "sacrament" is an outward and visible sign of a spiritual reality—then is not the church to be a living sacrament making visible the love of THE GOOD SHEPHERD WHO CARES FOR HIS OWN?

Our first concern is not what other people may see, but what in fact we ARE, and what we are TO BE and TO BECOME. But what other people may see is not unimportant; as we pay attention to the reality, then what three worlds observe will be the gratitude and worship and appreciation and love of a people who have a God they call "Father" and whose love makes them truly "family." Is there any reality in this vision? This table may well be a key to true evangelism!

Finally,

A TABLE OF PERPETUITY

God will provide for us, as family, in HIS house where we shall dwell with Him, for ever!

Jesus is Lord

October 18, 1992

[Preached at Morning Star Baptist Church, Blue Hill Ave in Roxbury, October 18, 1992 on the occasion of Pastor John Borders' 11th Anniversary Celebration]

JESUS IS LORD

Romans 10:9,10 If you confess with your mouth the Lord Jesus, and if you believe in your heart that God has raised him from the dead, you shall be saved.

1 Corinthians 12:3 No man can say, "Jesus is Lord!" except by the Holy Spirit.

INTRODUCTION

An anniversary is a milestone and calls for celebration, which we are doing. But a milestone is a reminder of where we are, and how far we have come, and what direction we are going. It is a time to make certain that we are on the right road, in the center of God's will.

An anniversary is time for a "tune-up." The idea of tuning up makes me think of the way a great orchestra works. Before they make beautiful music, they spend a good deal of time making sure they are in tune. [Junior high orchestras don't!]

The way a church gets in tune and stays in tune is by learning to say together, by the Holy Spirit, "JESUS IS LORD!"

If YOU are saying "Jesus is Lord!" by the Spirit— and I am saying "Jesus is Lord!" by the Spirit, then we are coming into harmony!

I am going to ask you some questions today, and the answer to every question I will ask is— "Jesus is Lord!" But you may have to think a little bit about just where and how to put the emphasis. I'll show you what I mean:

"WHO is Lord ? — JESUS is Lord!

"Who is LORD ? — Jesus is LORD !"

Let's begin by reaffirming WHO is Lord!

I. WHO IS THE LORD OF THIS CHURCH ?

A. Who is the Lord of heaven and earth? (JESUS is Lord!) Who is the great Lord over all the church around the world, regardless of language, race, culture, or nation? (JESUS is Lord!)

Who is the Lord of this church? (JESUS is Lord!) Who is the Lord of YOUR life? (JESUS is Lord!)

B. But who is JESUS?

1. Jesus is the greatest teacher who ever lived. But that is not enough!
2. Jesus is the sinless One; the great example for us, how we should live! But that is not enough!
3. Jesus is the Christ, the Son of the Living God; He is the CRUCIFIED ONE, who died for the sins of the world— for your sins and my sins; He is the LIVING ONE, whom God raised from the dead when He had conquered sin and death and hell; He is the COMING KING, coming again to judge the quick and the dead. THAT is who Jesus is! THAT is who we mean when we say, by the Holy Spirit, JESUS IS LORD!

Let's move on and reaffirm what Jesus IS to us?

II. WHAT PLACE DOES JESUS HAVE IN THIS CHURCH ?

A. What place does Jesus have in heaven and earth? (Jesus is LORD!) What place does Jesus have in the TRUE church of Jesus around this world, regardless of language or race or culture or nation? (Jesus is LORD!)

What place does Jesus have in THIS church, the Morning Star Baptist Church? (Jesus is LORD!) What place does Jesus have in your heart and in your life, day by day? (Jesus is LORD!)

B. But what does it mean to say, "Jesus is LORD!"??

What does it mean to have a "LORD!"?

1. It is a statement of FAITH regarding this world as a whole; we will say more about that in just a moment; but

2. What about saying Jesus is LORD in our church, and in MY heart?

"I don't want just anyone telling me what to do!" - As a matter of fact NO one likes people bossing him/her around.

JESUS IS NOT A "PRESIDENT," OR ONE WHO "PRESIDES OVER SOME SORT OF A DEMOCRACY." (What do you THINK about this, Lord? Maybe if it is a good idea we'll vote on it and use it.)

Certainly there are things we vote on as churches— but we never vote whether or not to do the Lord's will! Our question is never shall we do the Lord's will? It is always, "Lord, SHOW US— and we will DO it!"

3. Being totally Christian means just that— saying, "God, I want Your Son to live in me, by the presence and power of your Spirit! I WANT You to tell me what to do! And by Your grace, I will DO it!"

IS JESUS TRULY LORD IN YOUR HEART AND LIFE? THAT is where the real "tuning up" needs to take place!

Oswald Chambers wrote: "There is only one crisis, and the majority of us have never been through it. We are brought up to it, and kick back every time, until God by his engineering brings us right to the one issue: 'Deny forever your right to yourself.'" If YOUR heart says this, and MY heart says this our churches will reflect the harmony— we will be coming into tune with God's will!

We have been saying JESUS is Lord! We have been saying Jesus is LORD! But there is another word there, in the middle! It tells is WHEN Jesus is going to be in charge! When is this going to take place? Can you answer me?

III. WHEN WILL JESUS BE THE LORD OF THIS CHURCH ?

"Jesus IS Lord!"

- A. When will Jesus be Lord of heaven and earth? (Jesus IS Lord!) When will Jesus have control over His true church, His children all around the world regardless of language or culture or race or nation? (Jesus IS Lord!)

When will Jesus Christ be the Lord of Morning Star Baptist church? (Jesus IS Lord!) When will Jesus be the Lord of YOUR heart and life and mine? (Jesus IS Lord!)

It takes real faith to put this statement in the present tense. Particularly when our world is in such desperate straits. The writer to Hebrews said "We do not yet see all things put under the feet of God's men and women; the full, recognized kingdom has not yet arrived— BUT WE SEE JESUS!"

The wicked enemy of our souls is loose on our earth; wickedness abounds. Satan is called the prince of the power of the air, the ruler of this age. BUT BY FAITH WE SAY THAT JESUS IS THE OVER-RULER! JESUS IS IN CHARGE! JESUS IS LORD!

- B. But what about in YOUR church and MINE?

1. It is a gift of faith to look to the past and see Jesus hanging between heaven and earth, dying on the Cross for you and me, and to truly believe that the Cross was not the end for a great martyr—BUT THE OPENING OF THE DOOR TO ETERNITY BY THE LORD OF LORDS AND KING OF KINGS! It is good, and it is right to say, Jesus WAS Lord!"

It is a gift of faith to look to the past and see the open entrance to an empty tomb, and know that THE RESURRECTION OF JESUS DEFEATED SIN AND DEATH AND HELL! In the Resurrection, Jesus WAS Lord!

2. It is also a gift of faith, and even more thrilling to look to the future when our Lord shall return, and the promise is that EVERY KNEE SHALL BOW AND EVERY TONGUE SHALL CONFESS THAT JESUS CHRIST IS LORD TO THE GLORY OF GOD THE FATHER! I say with all my heart, and I believe it is true that, JESUS WILL BE LORD!

3. But what does SAVING FAITH say? It says, Jesus IS Lord! Right here and now, in the midst of problems! Right now, when the church is imperfect— (or isn't your church imperfect?)—but right now, I affirm that JESUS IS LORD!

Conclusion:

Jesus will use us when we say by the Spirit: Jesus can do what HE wants to do with us when we say by the Spirit:

Thank God Jesus WAS Lord on the Cross! Thank God Jesus WILL BE Lord throughout all eternity!

But by the Holy Spirit, we affirm that so far as WE are concerned this very day, Jesus IS Lord!

Mystery of Prayer

October 18, 1992

Luke 18:1-8

Last of the ninth- Red Sox v Yankees (in the "olden days") at Fenway. Red Sox batter steps in and makes a sign of the cross on the plate with his bat. Yogi Berra wipes off the plate with his big mitt and says, "Let's let God just WATCH this game, OK?"

Good for baseball ... TERRIBLE for life! OUR GOD IS A GOD WHO GETS INVOLVED IN OUR AFFAIRS! But HOW? (Prayer is NOT simple- - "writing checks" or "going to the store") PRAYER IS TRULY A MYSTERY!

One insight into the mystery of prayer is this story. It is NOT too difficult to understand.

I. THE STORY

An unfeeling, unfair but POWERFUL judge. A helpless but PERSISTENT widow. {In the FACE of the judge all the time...} A SATISFACTORY conclusion— the judge's power transferred to the woman's need.

[A story of contrast: God is NOT like the judge, etc.]

II. THE PURPOSE

Luke tells us "up front" why Jesus told this story. This story is to prompt us 1) TO "LIVE IN GOD'S FACE" ("Men ought always to pray")

God wants an intimate access to every part of our lives. We need to "stay in His face" in that we bring every burden and every joy to Him. This is totally foreign to those who don't know our God. But it is the way He has designed that His people should live. This story is also to encourage us 2) NOT TO GIVE UP! ("Men ought always to pray and not to faint")

God intends that we should lean on Him— depend on Him in the spiritual warfare that is the reality of life.

III. THE QUESTION

Jesus followed this parable on prayer with what seems a surprising question. "WHEN THE SON OF MAN COMES WILL HE FIND FAITH ON THE EARTH?" (Why did He put it here? NOT by mistake!!)

- A. THE DAYS OF CHRIST'S COMING WILL BE TESTING DAYS. Is there a battle for souls going on now? Only a FOOL cannot see how desperate are our times! (MTV— Madonna - Sex combined with violence - casual use of God's NAME - accepting the SHOCKING as "normal")
- B. STAYING IN GOD'S FACE IS THE ONLY WAY WE SHALL WIN THIS WARFARE! IN OUR ARROGANCE AND CONCEIT WE THINK that what the church needs to do is educate better, or hold a few more seminars on current evils, or learn the rules of church growth- and so we do- - and THEN we sincerely pray and ask God's blessing on our efforts!

BUT PRAYER IS WHERE WE BEGIN! PRAYER IS THE ESSENCE OF SPIRITUAL WARFARE! We cannot do anything until and unless we have prayed!

CONCLUSION

A God who just sits along the first base side in the front row and just watches may be all right for baseball. That is even probably good baseball theology.

But unless we have a God that does more than just WATCH in our day-in, day-out living, then what is our Christian faith all about?

We TALK too much, and we PRAY too little. Already we KNOW more than we DO. G. Campbell Morgan wrote: "Any study of prayer which does not result in praying is not only not helpful it is hurtful."

IN THIS STORY WE ARE THE HELPLESS WIDOW WOMAN! We cannot do anything until and unless we have prayed! We need to see that, as Jim Couchenour said at our last General Assembly, "Prayer does NOT support the work of the church; PRAYER IS THE WORK OF THE CHURCH!" LORD, HELP US TO PRAY!

The Lord of All Saints

Comes Where We Are Seeking Him

November 1, 1992, All Saints' Day

Luke 19:1-10 (The Story of Jesus and Zaccheus in Jericho)

Text: Hebrews 12: 1 3

Therefore, since we have so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, let us lay aside every encumbrance, and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, FIXING OUR EYES ON JESUS, the author [leader] and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down on the right hand of the throne of God.

For CONSIDER HIM who has endured such hostility by sinners against Himself, so that you may not grow weary and lose heart.

I. THE SEARCH FOR THE REAL JESUS

Luke 19:3 "And he (Zaccheus) was trying to see who Jesus was, and he was unable because of the crowd..."

- A. THE ESSENCE OF OUR FAITH IS KNOWING JESUS, and faith to know is always a gift of God, not an exercise of our own superior intelligence.

This seems so simple, and it is simple to child like faith. But what we forget as we mature sometimes, as we see the horizons of truth rush away from us in this great Universe, is that the knowledge of Jesus continues to be, and is always a divine revelation, a gift of God.

1. Zaccheus couldn't easily, naturally see Jesus. His small stature in the big crowd becomes a symbol of us all; "Can a man by searching find out God?"
2. Even the incarnate Christ had to be spiritually, divinely revealed HAS to be spiritually, divinely revealed. We are exactly where Zaccheus was: "trying to see who Jesus IS!"

B. LOOKING FOR JESUS CAN BE A LONELY THING.

There were people between Zaccheus and Jesus:

1. Bad people who hated him: Some possibly had reasons to hate a tax collector. Others simply put Zaccheus into a category, which is easier than dealing case by case.
2. "All" "Nice" people who "understood" him: how easy it can be to think we "understand" when we don't have any idea of the pain another is facing. We "explain things" very glibly at times; we make light of other peoples' struggles. It is no help to say, "Your situation is not all that bad!"

Christian actress Kari Jenson Gold wrote an article on the ideal marriage shortly after she herself was married. It was a great article and was published in a number of places, scholarly and otherwise. Then three years later she was divorced. She wrote recently, "I remember after my own divorce, when friends asked how I was, I sometimes replied that I had lost my honor. Almost no one knew what I meant, and certainly no one agreed with me. Everyone was far too busy "being supportive" . . . We do ourselves and our friends no real service by making nice and making light of something as serious as divorce and marriage. Not if we hope for a better and more faithful future." She goes on to say, "If what we all aspire to is health rather than virtue, gratification rather than strength of character, how can we hope to find a foundation for a lasting commitment?"

Zaccheus may have had plenty of people to tell him what they thought he ought to do but he wanted to see for himself who Jesus was!

"People" are supposed to be "witnesses," and God uses the Church to help bring people to the knowledge of Jesus. But can it be that we Christians have tried to be so nice and helpful that we have actually obscured Jesus from people who would see Him?

Philip Rieff was quoted as saying that "contemporary churchmen have a penchant for abandoning all Christian dogma and practice that does not readily lend itself to therapeutic purposes."

We all seem to think that we know instinctively what people need, and what God is up to in their lives, and how the will of Jesus comes down on the things that matter to us and our precious causes. If we listen to our friends we will hear, "Ought!" "Should!" "Essential!" "Lo, He is HERE!" "Lo, He is THERE!"

C. ONE MAN MADE A DETERMINATION TO FIND OUT WHO JESUS WAS/IS

The crowd, the many people, were confusing to Zaccheus.

If everyone is busy describing Jesus to us, how can we ever come to find Him for ourselves? If we are always listening to this expert, or reading that latest book, do we take time to simply get alone and wait on God Himself?

So Zaccheus climbed a tree in the hopes that he might get some kind of glimpse for himself. Remember "And he (Zaccheus) was trying to see who Jesus was, and he was unable because of the crowd..."

II. THE SURPRISE: JESUS FOUND THE SEARCHER

Luke 19:5 "And when Jesus came to the place, He looked up and said to him, 'Zaccheus...'"

A. [ON THIS 'ALL SAINTS DAY'] IT IS IMPORTANT TO SEE THAT GOD REVEALS HIMSELF TO US ONE ON ONE!

1. God is a Rewarder of them that diligently SEEK Him; but in the end we see that God Himself is the Seeker; Hebrews 11:6; and (2 Chronicles 16:9) "For the eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth to show himself strong in the behalf of them whose heart is perfect toward Him."
2. The particularity of the Gospel Jesus called Zaccheus by name. He came to where Zaccheus was, and stopped. Anonymity was impossible. The gospel finds us where we are, and digs us out, one by one. "He was speaking just to ME!"

Conviction is always focused, and always redemptive. We are made miserable for a purpose; God LOVES us, and does not make light of our condition. But He convicts in order to bring true repentance and healing and forgiveness.

Accusation, on the other hand, is the enemy's business. It has as its purpose despair and frustration.

- B. ON THIS ALL SAINTS' DAY IT IS ALSO ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL TO SEE THAT (although we are saved one at a time,) GOD DOES NOT SAVE US INTO ISOLATION!

The fellowship of the Gospel

Zaccheus was not "enlightened" [touched by saving grace] and then put out on his own resources to make his own way. Jesus said, "I'M COMING TO YOUR HOUSE I'M COMING HOME WITH YOU!"

That morning Zaccheus set out to see who Jesus was and before the day was over Jesus was looking at him over the coffee cups!

I know it isn't quite that pat or simple but it still is true (Hebrews 11:6) that IF WE WON'T TAKE SECOND HAND REPORTS ABOUT WHO JESUS IS, WE CAN FIND THAT HE WANTS TO BE OUR DAILY COMPANION.

III. THE SECRET OF ENDURING

Hebrews 12:3 "For consider Him ... so that you may not grow weary and lose heart." Just what does the story of Zaccheus the tax collector and All Saints' Day have in common?

Seeing who Jesus is ... knowing Him ... fixing our eyes on HIM ... taking Him HOME with us .. is what this "great cloud of witnesses" is vitally concerned that we do! THE SURVIVAL OF THE CHURCH DEPENDS ON THE PERSONAL KNOWLEDGE OF JESUS CHRIST! {I despise the Uni Uni association with the "Earth Goddess" religions in the name of "broadening" and "tolerance."}

A. IT IS ESSENTIAL THAT WE SEE JESUS FOR OURSELVES.

The revelation of Jesus Christ to His Church, and then the Church's witness of that revelation to the whole world, is what the entire New Testament is all about. Jesus is "the AUTHOR and the PERFECTER of our faith." (Hebrews 12:2)

1. WE NEED A MIRACLE! Like Zaccheus, we will find it difficult to know just who this Jesus is, apart from a miracle. People will be happy to tell us who Jesus is, and that is all well and good to a point.
2. THE MIRACLE IS FAITH ITSELF! Jesus still comes where we are, by His Spirit! He stops under our tree, and says, "Come down!" This is reality! It has happened to every born again Christian. Some more spectacularly than others, perhaps (like Saul of Tarsus.) But I remember, don't you?!

B. THE CHURCH SURVIVES BY LIVING, TOGETHER, IN CHRIST'S PRESENCE!

If we are to ENDURE it is essential that we "CONSIDER HIM!" (Hebrews 11:3)

1. Our CHILD LIKE love for Christ does not need to fade as we become "too sophisticated for His company and simple leading." JESUS IS NOT HINDERED BY OUR GREAT INTELLIGENCE (COMPUTERS/ETC.)
2. NOTHING ... EVEN GOOD THINGS ... CAN BE PERMITTED TO "PINCH" THE MASTER RELATIONSHIP! Don't let even good causes or ideas come between us and the worship and loyalty we owe to a Savior who is also Almighty God!

Conclusion:

I heard a black Bishop speak recently about the need of "A JOSHUA GENERATION"! He was speaking, I believe, about the need of the church to quit wandering in circles and press into the PROMISED LAND of God's victory! We come to church occupied with our overwhelming NEEDS, and look to God for His help in OUR agenda. Thank God that He DOES supply help and healing. But is that what the faith is about?

The Lord of All Saints

God expects US to take our place in this "Great Cloud of Witnesses!" God expects Zaccheus to not only be a TAKER and a RECEIVER, but by His transforming grace, Zaccheus becomes a WORSHIPER and a GIVER OF GRACE!

Jesus reveals Himself not simply for our salvation and personal satisfaction but so that we may take our place alongside Him in the great BODY OF BELIEVERS!

Prayer Mighty Savior, Come where we are

Hymn EH 47 God of Grace and God of Glory

When Smart People Ask Dumb Questions

November 8, 1992

The Sadducees asked Jesus a question. It was not a very practical question. And it does not seem on the surface to matter very much one way or another. But a great deal hung on the response they would receive that day from Jesus.

These were very smart people. They were cool and suave, but their intention was very deadly. If they could take the letter of the law and reduce it to absurdity they could undermine the authority of Jesus.

The Sadducees represent a religious mind-set that is still around 2,000 years later: a way of thinking that is more interested in being in control than it is in discovering who God really is.

No religious group has a corner on this "Sadducee mind-set," either! Extreme fundamentalists use the Bible like a club to beat down opposition, and never mind the Spirit of Christ. So-called liberals close their minds against any authoritative word from God, or any admission that there is an authoritative revelation.

People like these Sadducees want answers! They want answers, whether or not they even know the questions! The answers they want have to leave them still in charge, or they reject both answers and questions out of hand.

The questions they ask today are: How can the Bible speak with authority when it is obviously the work of scores of different people, handed down across hundred of years, and hammered into a canon by synods and sessions of fallible church groups?

The question they asked Jesus that day was: "Now there were seven brothers.. and one got married, and died— and so on, and so on... In the resurrection whose wife will she be?"

Jesus does not "fit into human schemes." Jesus was not always cooperative when it came to answering questions. He always spoke the truth. And he spoke the truth in love. But He always spoke from faith to faith.

When Smart People Ask Dumb Questions

In the opening paragraphs of this chapter the scribes and chief priests and elders asked Jesus where He got His authority. Jesus knew they were not interested in following Him. They were clearly hostile. He answered their question with a question: "Remember John the Baptist? Where did HE get HIS authority?"

The authority figures got into a huddle and said to each other, "If we say THIS... If we say THAT..." and then they calculated how to answer and finally said to Jesus: "We can't tell you where John got his authority."

And you remember, Jesus answered them: "I'm not going to tell YOU where I get My authority, either!"

Nobody, but NOBODY ever pushed Jesus around with words!

That is not to say that Jesus doesn't answer questions from smart people. Or from dumb people, either for that matter of fact. Remember how patient Jesus was with Nicodemus [1]: Step by step he led this brilliant man to personal faith.

And remember how Jesus was more than patient with a Samaritan woman by the well of Jacob in Sychar [2]?

Jesus never confused doubt with unbelief, or ignorance with stupidity and carnal foolishness. Jesus was the very model of patience and kindness. But to these Sadducees who asked Him this "whose wife will she be in the resurrection" question, Jesus did not give any answer at all. The question simply was not germane to the realities of the kingdom of God.

By their debating skill or use of idle curiosity they sought to avoid the deeper question about God's character. Here in their very presence was God's Son. Here was the WAY to eternal life— making Himself available to the people, to THEM! And they were saying things that amounted to, "If You know so much about heaven, then 'How many angels can dance on the head of a pin?'"

Even in His "non-answer" to the specific question of the Sadducees Jesus was not rude. He simply indicated that they didn't have the first inkling about the realities of resurrection life.

In his response to their bringing up the subject of life hereafter, Jesus spoke of the "children of this world" as well as the "children of God" and the "children of the resurrection."

He made it clear that what awaited the "children of God" when they become the "children of the resurrection" is beyond our full comprehension now. He told them that life in the "resurrection reality" is different from the orders and institutions we know now. "They are neither married nor given in marriage." (This seems to disappoint some people greatly. Others are counting on it.)

Jesus also made it clear that to be children of God is the equivalent to partaking of eternal life. "Children of God" who become "children of the resurrection" never know death. They close their eyes here, and they open them to new quality of life in God's Presence.

One thing this passage proves is that it is easier to ask Jesus trick questions than it is to ask Him to make us children of God.

The heart of our faith is not difficult to understand. Following Jesus demands intellectual integrity. But it is also a humbling thing to be a follower of Jesus. We have to relinquish OUR control, and give up OUR authority, and take up OUR cross and follow Him where HE says.

It is all right to bring Him our honest doubts. We can bring Him those unanswerable questions— and we all have them. But when we know we are face to face with Truth we have to say, with Thomas, "MY LORD AND MY GOD! [3]" and know the assurance that while some things are beyond our complete understanding, it is possible to be right with God!

There is this Sadducee mind-set that becomes what Walter Brueggemann calls a "theological gamesmanship (that) rudely interrupts the long-known and trusted truth about God's character. [4]"

It is easier— especially for smart people who know they are smart— to ask trick questions than it is to look Truth in the face. When we have had a glimpse of Jesus—

When Smart People Ask Dumb Questions

when we have seen Him in the faces of men and women of God— when we have heard Him knocking at our heart's door- we need to make Him welcome at any cost.

There may be times when it is good to speculate about the life hereafter, or argue about specific religious scruples, or consider the immanence of the Second Coming. But Jesus came as the Author and the Perfecter of a New Covenant that goes DEEPER than the absurdity of stringing out rules and the letter of the law into deliberate tangles.

The writer of Hebrews puts it (8:10)

I will put my laws in their minds and write them on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be My people. No longer will a man teach his neighbor or a man his brother saying "know the Lord" because they will all know me from the least of them to the greatest. For I will forgive their wickedness and will remember their sins no more.

The question, then, is not what street of gold we are going to reside on in the New Jerusalem, but whether or not this God is your God, and whether or not you are His woman, His man!

The question is NOT "Could God possibly inhabit the "big bang theory?" but has God for Christ's sake forgiven your wickedness? and does He remember your sins no more? The core of our faith is simple, direct: It concerns compassion, and justice. There is no need to make things complicated.

The work of obedience can be rudely interrupted by ventures into venal curiosity— curiosity that has at its heart the desire to avoid the real issue: will I have this God, this Man, Jesus Christ, as my Lord and my Savior?

Prayer - Lord, Help us never to slip into the role of the Sadducees, and talk religion while our hearts grow hard and cold and we lose YOU out of our lives. Amen

Preparing for Apocalypse

November 15, 1992

Luke 21:5-19

Toward the end of His ministry Jesus spoke a great deal about the fact that this life is transient, and that nothing here is forever. He gave a strong emphasis, recorded in all the Gospels, to what we call "final things."

Jesus made it clear that His disciples- and that includes you and me- would face strong opposition, and struggle, and even death. But He also wanted them and us to know that His people face this unknown future with strong, even supernatural confidence.

There is an ongoing popular fascination with the supernatural, with people who say that they can peer into the future. At the same time, there is a knee-jerk rejection, at least on the part of the media and the so-called intellectuals of our age, of any connection of the Christian faith with a prophetic stance.

The New Testament is a book based on the hope of Christ's coming again. Our lesson for today zeroes in on the Day of Judgment:

I. A DAY WHEN THE TEMPLE WILL BE GONE

No one wants to sound like a religious nut. To speak of apocalypse as a judgment of God is "OUT"— to speak of ozone layers or oil depletion or widespread famine is "IN."

But we have lost the paddle to our canoe, and we are headed into the rapids above the falls. Or to change the metaphor, the beautiful temple is disappearing. We are rapidly nearing a time when the things we have looked to for security will come unglued around our ears.

VIOLENCE is at one and the same time a matter of entertainment AND a source of increasing alarm. TV shows portray killing and bloodshed and of course that has NOTHING to do with society at large [sarcasm- MM] — "just a mirror"— but at the same time we have portions of Interstate Highways "off limits" because snipers cannot be controlled— we have a rash of a new crime called "car-jacking" until we think twice before driving through the city in the daytime.

I certainly do not have anything but sorrow and sympathy for individual families caught in the web of alcoholism and violence to loved ones; but take any issue of any newspaper and look at the Court Record— you will see item after item of people arrested for "Assault and Battery" and the last name of the assaulted is the same as the last name of the assailant.

SEXUAL EXCESS is at one and the same time a matter of entertainment AND a source of increasing alarm. TV shows portray kinky sex as attractive and desirable; the sexual dimension of romantic relationships is distorted and given expectations all out of agreement with wholesome reality. Of course TV entertainment has absolutely NOTHING to do with influencing community behavior ["How did we get started wearing our baseball hats backward— so we could look like WHO? What great American RAP hero?"]— but at the same time we have children having children, we have contraceptives legally handed out in public schools while it is illegal for a teacher to even have a Bible on his or her bookshelf in public view of the pupils.

RESPONSIBILITY AND ACCOUNTABILITY for results of moral or immoral choices are largely a thing of the past. People are condemned or set free in courts of law on the basis of legal decisions that have less and less to do with the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule and more and more to do with humanist relativism.

The great Temple of Judeo-Christian culture, so beautiful and so long in building, built on the foundation of long-accepted scriptural principles, has been totally undermined at the foundations, and it is shaking down around our heads.

We are not GOING to experience Apocalypse, WE ARE IN THE MIDST OF THE TORNADO— IT IS UPON US. We are not GOING to suffer danger and loss— in case you haven't noticed, times have changed. This is the day when we should read the last chapter in the Old Testament, and when we should begin preparing the way for Messiah, our HOPE:

For, behold, the day cometh, that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble: and the day that cometh shall burn them up, saith the Lord of hosts, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.

But unto you that fear my name shall the Sun of righteousness arise with healing in his wings; and ye shall go forth and grow up as calves of the stall.

And ye shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be as ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the Lord of hosts.

Remember ye the law of Moses my servant, which I commanded you at Horeb for all Israel, with the statutes and judgments.

Behold, I will send Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.

And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to the fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

(Malachi 4:1-6)

II. A DAY FOR CAUTION, BUT NOT FOR ALARM

How shall God's children act in the light of Apocalypse?

A. A TIME TO BE WARNED

There is a real possibility of deception. Christ's very first word is "Caution!" "Take heed!" Our greatest peril is not in the terrible evils of the day, deadly as they are. But as children of God, our greatest danger lies in getting out of touch with reality. When I think I know how to be good, to be "spiritual" apart from submission and daily dependency on God in humble watchfulness I SET MYSELF UP FOR DECEPTION!

Different ways of being out of touch have different names: "Rationalization" "Judgmentalism" ["I'm not as bad as ____!"] "Denial" "Delusions" which spring from old-fashioned sources called "Pride" and "Lust" and "Greed" and which have as the root cause the first primal urge our first parents felt in the Garden of Eden: "We shall be as gods! We shall set our own course!"

Jesus warns us: "Children of God! Don't chase after promises that don't center in Me! Don't go here or there to meet the Christ!"

B. A TIME FOR CONSOLATION

When ye hear of these things— DON'T BE TERRIFIED!

How can Jesus say this, when He knows what will take place is frightening?

How do little children find assurance when there is a frightening thing happening? By a Presence!

III. A DAY OF HATRED AND OPPOSITION

A. This part is not pleasant. It is hard to believe that seeking to be and to do GOOD— to follow the Prince of Peace— will inspire virulent hatred!

1. We are not above our Lord; and HE was crucified. Something of this CROSS must be willingly borne, even though our flesh and our souls cry out, "O My Father!"
2. We will find that Christ's Spirit alone can enable us to RE-ACT in the Spirit Christ showed: (a) He was MILITANT against the SIN (He cleansed the Temple); (b) He prayed for the SINNER ("Father, forgive them!")

B. We have seen virulent opposition:

1. Item: Patrick Buchanan, a Roman Catholic journalist, called "a fascist" for taking a stand on scriptural issues
2. Item: A Globe article last Thursday morning noted that murder arrests for 15-year-olds have risen 200%. James Allen Fox was quoted as saying the nation is poised on an epidemic of murder like that which occurred in the late '60s and early '70s when the crime rate doubled in five years. 30 cities in America have set records for homicides in the past couple of years, "but the really bad news is that this is nothing compared to what we will see in the future." Let me read you a little more from that same article:

Q What's the connection, if any, between violence in popular culture— TV, music, movies— and the increases in boys who murder?

A "Technically you shouldn't be renting an R-rated movie to an 8 year old or a 10 year old, "Fox says," but no one's stopping the kids so movies like 'Faces of Death' became an instant success by word of mouth and a few newspaper articles in USA Today. Its a film that shows all sorts of death scenes. Or 'I Spit in Your Grave' or other movies where women are raped and mutilated.

"We have a generation of kids that are bring raised on slasher films, a generation of kids whose first view of sex is a rape scene in a movie, and that's because of the videocassette. I'm very concerned about what's going to happen. In about five or 10 more years this generation of kids that's been raised on rape movies will reach an age where these sorts of attitudes can be translated into behavior.

Item: In a related article in the same issue Michael Medved, a secular film critic and reviewer stated the obvious in a long article: the direct connection between the filth on the TV and movies screens and the growing violence in the streets.

C. A Pastor's Prediction:

This hatred for God's people will intensify. The civil rights movement was for the most part good.

Groups heretofore called socially unacceptable are using the same tactics, and allying themselves with minority races and women to cry out for "equality" and social acceptance on the basis of overt sexual behavior, or for legitimization of occult or pagan practices as recognized innocent religions, instead of the anti-Christian and ungodly evils that they are.

It will soon be against the law to say out loud that it is wrong to have sexual relations outside of marriage, whether hetero- or homosexual, even as it is PROPERLY against the law to shout racial slurs.

Make no mistake, I certainly do not hate or shun the homosexual person. But I do hate the flaunting of sin wherever it may be.

IV. A DAY OF TOTAL CONSERVATION (18)

- A. After all this shocking talk about end-times, (when parents will betray children, and brothers and kinsfolk will sell out their loved ones—after some are summarily put to death—and hatred abounds) Jesus tells His disciples, and us, "Not an hair of your head will perish!" What can this mean? How shall we receive the apocalyptic writings?
- B. Our purpose in submitting to the authority of texts such as ours today is NOT (1) to endorse a theology of fright; nor is it an attempt (2) to give an intellectual solution to the mystery of eschatology.

But as we HEAR the Word, and as we SEE "the Temple coming down around our ears," WE ALSO SEE THE LIGHT OF HOPE IN THE PROMISE OF GOD'S SALVATION.

- C. There are different ways to react to God's promise that the world as we know it is coming to an end:

NOAH OBEYED, PREPARED, PREACHED. And Noah saved his family, but as he prepared, he preached. He was despised— but he became an example for "the remnant."

LOT CONTINUED PRETTY MUCH BUSINESS AS USUAL until the final warnings. His family was torn up ...

HEZEKIAH: "Well, it won't happen in MY life-time, so why should I worry?"

- D. I don't know how or when Jesus will return; I don't know whether anti-Christ will be a man of peace to deceive many by bringing seeming order out of chaos. I do know our times call for men and women of faith and obedience and trust. I know that our loved ones' lives are at stake. Will you take the words of Jesus personally to heart, as the Holy Spirit makes them your own?

Of the three models, Hezekiah, Lot, or Noah—— NOAH becomes the paradigm to follow. Our "family" is more than flesh and blood. The ark is God's plan for preservation— HIS Word. Our purpose is not selfish, but obedient.

John 18:33-38

Colossians 1:11-20

In what was humanly a most vulnerable and helpless hour for Jesus, he was asked what seemed to be an audacious question. He stood bruised and bound, after a sleepless night during which He had been arrested and dragged from one place to another, roughly questioned by authorities, before the Roman governor who represented the world-wide power of Rome. The governor asked the prisoner, "Are You a king?"

I. THE QUESTION, THE ANSWER

- A. On the surface it looked simply ridiculous. And as we read familiar words 2,000 years later, we think we understand so well that we miss the drama:

Pilate: "Are You a king?"

Jesus: "My kingdom is not of this world. If my kingdom were of this world then my servants would be fighting, that I might not be delivered up to the Jews. But as it is, my kingdom is not of this realm."

Pilate: "So you ARE a king?"

Jesus: "You say correctly that I am a king. For this cause I have been born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth. Everyone who is of the truth hears my voice."

Pilate: "What IS 'truth'?"

- B. Jesus said to Pilate, and to all the world, that He came into the world— that He was BORN to reveal truth. Hearing truth and listening to Jesus are inseparable parts of the same process. Perhaps the proper question that morning was— and still IS— 'WHO is truth?'

II. THE KING BEFORE THE GOVERNOR, THE GOVERNOR BEFORE THE KING

- A. When we re-create the scene of Jesus standing before Pilate in our minds' eye, if we use a worldly mind-set we see weakness standing before power. We see a victim standing before a dictator. We see a martyr standing before false and wicked injustice. We see one man with the power of life and death standing before another about to die.

But with the eyes of faith we are amazed to see that, yes, weakness IS standing before power— but the power is NOT with the Roman. We see one Man with the life of the other in His command, but the one in danger of death is NOT the Man from Galilee. How can this be?

- B. In His own words Jesus told Pilate several things that morning. He said:
1. He IS a king!
 2. His kingdom is not derived from nor dependant upon earthly power either to establish or to maintain it.
 3. His is a kingdom of TRUTH. The King Himself IS the witness of TRUTH.
- C. But what sort of KING stood before Pilate that day? Listen to the epistle reading from Colossians 1:13-30:

For He [God the Father] delivered us from the domain of darkness, and transferred us

TO THE KINGDOM of His beloved Son,

IN WHOM WE HAVE REDEMPTION, the forgiveness of sins. AND HE IS THE IMAGE OF THE INVISIBLE GOD, the first-born of all creation.

FOR BY HIM ALL THINGS WERE CREATED, both in the heavens and on the earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities— all things have been created by Him and for Him.

AND HE IS BEFORE ALL THINGS, AND IN HIM ALL THINGS HOLD TOGETHER.

HE IS ALSO THE HEAD OF THE BODY, the church; and He is the beginning, the first-born from the dead; so that He Himself might come to have first place in everything.

For it was the Father's good pleasure for all the fullness to dwell in Him, and through Him to reconcile all things to Himself, having made peace through the blood of His cross; through Him, I say, whether things on earth, or things in heaven. Colossians 1:1 -20

The majesty of Jesus is veiled as He stands before Pilate. But the Christ is ETERNAL! All that the scriptures say of Him as true— in eternity, in the future, in the present— were true that day:

1. The image of the invisible God! Holy, loving, patient, pure.
 2. The firstborn of all Creation.
 3. By Him all things were created, both visible and invisible.
 4. All things were created FOR Him.
 5. The KING was prior to all things, co-eternal with God.
 6. IN HIM ALL THINGS HOLD TOGETHER!
 7. He is the Head of the church.
 8. He is the firstborn from the dead
 9. Through HIM all things are reconciled unto Himself, since He made peace through the blood of His cross, things on earth and in heaven.
- D. If Jesus IS who the Bible claims Him to be— if He is King as HE HIMSELF said that day— then whom do you suppose was REALLY on trial the day Jesus was crucified? Pilate asked the wrong question- "WHAT is truth?" He was looking at truth! He should have asked "WHO is Truth?"

But even to this day we Christians— who know the Beatitudes and the Ten Commandments and the Apostles' Creed keep asking "WHAT?"!! We confuse "truth" with the knowledge of the facts and OUR interpretation thereof. Too often we fail to see that we cannot know TRUTH apart from the PERSON who IS truth and who REVEALS truth.

III. WHAT DO YOU DO WITH A REAL LIVE KING?

- A. Pilate pronounced (1) a true verdict ("I find NO fault in this Man!") and (2) an utterly false and unjust sentence ("You take Him away and crucify Him...") And then the Roman soldiers proceeded to play a game with this King.

The Roman garrison was adjacent to the Temple grounds. In recent years the pavement has been uncovered in what was the ground floor of that fort. This pavement (Gabbatha) is marked with dimly carved figures, something like a giant chess or checkerboard. On that checkerboard the common soldiers played a cruel game with condemned prisoners. They crowned them with thorns and wrapped them in an old robe and then they gave mocking bows along with all the abuse and resentment that they felt toward their own wicked masters. Jesus was not the first nor the last to be degraded in this way.

But in their shameful ignorance that day they mocked the One Person who is the "glue of the Universe!," the One who holds all Creation together by the power of His Word! Jesus was on His way to "make peace through the blood of His cross," and so "to reconcile all things to Himself!" And these people did not have a clue!

- B. This horrifies us. WE would never treat the King that way! But think about this: To do anything less than to acknowledge Jesus as truly Sovereign in our lives is to make a mockery of His kingdom. Unless we are submitted to Him in every part of our lives and living, then He is not truly the King of our lives.

There is a world of difference between the grace of SAVING FAITH and the arrogance of HUMAN PRESUMPTION. To say that we are Christian when we are not wholly submitted to the King is to take the place of Pilate and ask the question, "WHAT is truth?" when we know we should be saying to the One who is the Way and the Truth and the Life, "JESUS IS LORD!"

Presumption MIMICS saving faith! Faith and presumption may look similar, as presumption MIMICS faith's confidence and assurance. But the confidence presumption gives is NOT a Holy Spirit assurance, and it will turn into terror before the appearance of the Sovereign Lord.

To say that we are Christian and then to say that we shall decide for ourselves what is right and wrong, and how we shall live apart from divine revelation and apart from the Lordship of Jesus is to mock the King of Kings, even as the soldiers put the purple robe on Him the day He was crucified.

- C. Jesus is the chief cornerstone of life for all the Universe! He is the stone the builders rejected, but when we build on Him we "stand firm" and we "fit in" with all the truth of the Universe. When we reject Him the Bible says that He will fall upon us, and grind us to powder.

CONCLUSION

We have come full circle in the church year, and next Sunday we begin again with Advent. This last Sunday of the year we call "Christ the King Sunday." It is a reminder that history is NOT simply going around in circles, but that because Christ IS King, one day the kingdoms of this world will become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of His Christ.

The Lord Jesus Christ is NOT coming to vindicate OUR way of life, nor OUR interpretation of the content of "truth." "Jesus is LORD!": and when He returns it will be HIS life that is vindicated, and HIS glory that will be revealed!

We are called to discernment NOW! We are called to faith NOW! We stand with Pilate NOW— where it LOOKS as though we have the power to decide "What shall we do with Jesus?"

I know it seems like a sudden leap forward into the Advent story, but we are called to the faith of Joseph, who couldn't believe the kind of King who was coming, from the line of David the shepherd boy who became a great king. Joseph had a hard time believing the angel who told him:

"Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take Mary as your wife: for that which has been conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit.

"And she will bear a Son; and you shall call His name Jesus, for it is He who will save His people from their sins." (Matthew 1: 20 - 21)

We keep looking for the spectacular, when instead Jesus stands before us in the everyday living of life, in our joys and in our sorrows, it seems as if HE is on trial for HIS life! And we keep making life and death decisions for ourselves, when we have the TRUTH Himself ready and waiting to be our own CHRIST THE KING!

Swords into Plowshares

November 29, 1992

Advent I

Isaiah 2:1-5 THIS is what Isaiah son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem: IN the last days the mountain of the Lord's temple will be established as chief among the mountains; it will be raised above the hills, and all nations will stream to it. MANY people will come and say, "Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob. He will teach us His ways, so that we may walk in His path." The law will go out from Zion, the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. HE will judge between nations and will settle disputes for many peoples. They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation will not take up sword against nation, nor will they train for war any more. COME, O house of Jacob, let us walk in the light of the Lord.

Introduction

This popular phrase, "They shall beat their swords into plowshares," has a context of prophetic vision. In this vision, which we believe is God's Word, the prophet sees:

1. a movement, a drawing, an attraction TO Mount Zion, the center of the worship of Jehovah God, which Mount has taken its place as chief among the mountains of the world. He sees also
2. a flowing or outflowing FROM Mount Zion, as the nations SEEK and FIND God's good Word of life and enabling. And then:
3. and THEN ONLY comes the promise: They shall beat their swords into plowshares... How does this "connect" with HOPE and ADVENT and REALITY and with CHRIST'S COMING?

I. THE VISION OF THE PROPHET

- A. The prophet's vision flies in the face of what WE think of as "reality." The world is NOT beating a pathway to the house of God, and doesn't seem about to start.

Nevertheless, God's WORD is what the prophet hears and what he declares. Reality is called into being by the word of God! God speaks, and creation happens!

Advent is a time when darkness is challenged! Advent is a time when a Light shines in the darkness, and will not be extinguished. Isaiah declares that Mount Zion will become irresistibly attractive!

- B. Be aware, also, that the prophet's vision is a universal, inclusive, world-wide vision. Isaiah was a Jewish prophet, speaking to a limited audience about God's chosen people, the Jews.

But God's message from the first call of Abraham has always been one of world-wide, inclusive grace. "In YOU," God said to Abraham, "In you ALL THE NATIONS OF THE EARTH WILL BE BLESSED!"

- C. The prophet's vision began with the call: "COME, O house of Jacob, let us walk in the light of the Lord." The world-wide, universal vision begins when God's people walk in the light.

II. THE ROLE OF THE PROPHET

- A. All God's holy people are called to share the calling of prophet. God calls individuals to prophetic tasks within the church, and as spokespersons for the church. But God's plan was that His people would bear witness to Him by their pure worship, until the nations of the world would see a difference.

Remember the words of Moses himself, when he rebuked Aaron and Miriam for being jealous of his leadership? Hear the scripture:

And Moses said unto him (Aaron) "Enviest thou for my sake? would that all the LORD'S people were prophets, and that the LORD would put His Spirit upon them! (Numbers 11:29)

- B. When the Church understands her role as prophet, the world will have a vision of the coming Prince of Peace.

How will this bring peace in Northern Ireland, or in Bosnia- Herzegovina? If peace comes there, it will be because some part of Christ's body has released the mighty power of God's LOVE in that place. There is no peace apart from the Prince of Peace; there is no complete expression of His love apart from His Body!

- C. But how do we, here, now, in our little corner of the world- -HOW ARE WE SUPPOSED TO FILL OUR PROPHETIC ROLE?

Respectfully speaking, the great world at large is not just now your problem! TV is part of the problem: We get hooked into other people's problems until we FEEL for them, and either throw a little money at them, or do nothing at all— while our lives fail to reflect the light of the Presence of God where we live!

Your problem and mine is plugging into the task to which God has called US here and now! God's prophets must be sent, and they must tell the truth as God gives them the truth to tell.

[What does all this have to do with the text? And Advent? What, indeed, can we say about the nations "flowing into Jerusalem?" The ATTRACTION of God's holy mountain?

ATTRACTION is a quality or property of God Himself! How many things in this world are really attractive?

God's WORD is attractive! God's people, as prophets, are challenged to tell the truth:]

III. THE CALL OF THE PROPHET

"O house of Jacob! Let us walk in the LIGHT of the Lord!"

- A. The church can only be a prophet through OBEDIENCE! [Above all else, a prophet is called to tell God's truth! As God's people (1) do we even know the truth? (2) Are we communicating HIS message of hope and love? or our own ideas of what that message might be? CHALLENGING GOD'S PEOPLE TO TELL THE TRUTH:]

1. We must speak the truth by SEEING THE INVISIBLE

The sustaining power for the prophet is knowing that God has called! The world will probably call it insanity, but the prophet knows when it is spiritual reality! Witnesses are those who know what they have seen. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s most powerful phrase, perhaps, was a prophetic vision: "I HAVE SEEN THE PROMISED LAND!"

Have we SEEN the great King? Is spiritual reality central in our lives?

2. We must speak the truth by LIVING IN THE LIGHT. Most of the forces in this world PUSH and DISPLACE and EXERT PRESSURE. Love is a force that DRAWS.

3. We must, finally, speak the truth ONE ON ONE WITH THOSE NEAREST TO US.

For what it is worth, the wars IN THE WORLD AT LARGE today are not, for the most part, 'nation versus nation.' They are, instead, wars of hatred between people of the same nation— people who speak the same language and often look and dress alike- - but who are driven by blood feuds and grudges ancient and modern.

And for what it is worth, the SINS that do us in are not great sins of the culture at large so much as the sins of back-biting and infighting and pettiness and frustration.

B. The quality of the church's role as PROPHET in this needy world cannot rise above the level of TRUTH as it is spoken in the everyday lives of the people that make up the church. Our homes must reflect this TRUTH. The prophet says to us: "O HOUSE OF JACOB, WALK IN THE LIGHT OF OUR LORD!"

We are concerned that our services be attractive— that we speak the language of our culture. And rightly so.

We are concerned that our sermons say exactly the right thing— that our music be correct. We are concerned about what WE do— and rightly so.

But when the world begins to see a Church that truly walks in God's light— that speaks the truth of God with actions as loudly as it does with words— when our homes are places where we express kindness and forgiveness and love, and our spirits manifest the love and joy and peace and all the other fruit of the indwelling Spirit, then they will come streaming up the mountain!

Conclusion:

Advent is a time of HOPE. It is a time of looking forward to Christmas and all the beauty and wonder.

But Advent is also a time of preparation and heart-searching. It is a time for facing up to reality! The prophet's vision reaches to where WE are, today! The CHURCH is called to its task: WE MUST BE GOD'S PROPHET! The world desperately NEEDS to hear the message, to SEE the light shining in the darkness!

Advent is a time when God challenges you and me to walk in the light of God's truth!

How do we respond to such a "far out," Old Testament message?

Perhaps we need to respond first of all by admitting that in many ways our lives are no different from others who do not have the light of the knowledge of God!

Then perhaps we need to ask God for Christ's sake to forgive us, and help us to come into the light, and to walk in the light- - whatever the cost may be to other goals and aspirations!

Why don't you give the people who live in your house a real Christmas present this year? Instead of just giving nice things, give them a new dad, or a new mother, or a new husband or a new wife! Give them a brand new son that expresses love by kind obedience! Give them a brand new daughter who gives no cause for worry and concern! It is possible!

When we have been to the mountain— when WE have seen the light of the coming king— then WE will declare this Advent message that THE PRINCE OF PEACE IS COMING!

Hymn 227 - Jesus, I Come

The Legacy of Abraham

January 10, 1993

Genesis 15:6 "And Abram believed God and it was counted unto him as righteousness."

It may be that you have started the New Year by beginning again to read your Bible through. I visited Mary Rankin this week, and as sick as she is, her Bible was open at Genesis 12.

Abraham is the first three-dimensional character of the Old Testament. Oh, we think we know Adam and Cain and Abel, and Noah, but they really are pretty shadowy in my mind. But somehow Abraham comes across the millennia as a real person, great enough to be the father of three great world religions, and real enough to be shown as fudging the truth when he was in a dangerous place, although in the end no one ever came across with more integrity before God.

Abraham is a good person to think about in the formation of our own walk with God. Every stop along the way of Abraham's life is worthy of concentrated study. But come with me for a brief overview of the whole sweep of his magnificent faith walk.

1. A second generation pilgrim. His father, Terah started for Canaan, but settled down in a civilized place and died there. Abraham had the formidable task of respectfully surpassing his own preceding generation. Maybe that is no problem to the hubris of the youth today. It certainly was for me.
2. A trail-blazing obedience. (12:1) Abraham started for Canaan even though he had never been there before, nor knew anyone who had. He made his mistakes; he lived in tents; he fled to Egypt. He prospered. But in it all he walked by faith.
3. A self-effacing humility. () He would rather give up things than to stand and fight with friends and loved ones. He said to his nephew "You choose!" And in effect he was saying to God "When it comes to my pathway, YOU choose!"
4. A noble faith. (15:6) Abraham was unwilling to accuse God, even though he did not understand why he seemed to be misunderstanding the original promise. "Maybe I need to lower my idea of what you meant?" he seemed to ask.

In reply God took Abraham out under the stars. Sometimes I wish our children could look at the stars more than they do! It is hard to hear a word from God when all our leisure time is filled with spiritual emptiness at best—and spiritual garbage at worst.

Perhaps a comment or two on our viewing habits is in order here? I don't think it is totally irrelevant that we are a generation of faith-pygmyes and we watch TV, while Abraham was taken out of his tent and under the canopy of the heavens to get a perspective on just how small he really was in comparison to how big God's Creation really is. I've seen some pretty awesome things on the 19-inch tube, but they're still just images of the real thing.

And some of the things we absorb from that tube positively stunt our possibilities of nobility and growth in faith!

In the latest Herald of Holiness there was a powerful paragraph written by Paul and Marilyn Turner in their "marriage enrichment" column. Listen:

"We do not arrive at a healthy self-esteem by absorbing the voyeuristic daytime public confessionals, erroneously called talk shows. These are strange programs in self-esteem that reward people for amassing weird aberrations but dispute others for claiming to be healthy. If you're healthy you may be accused of being "in denial." We pay a big price for a pathology that lessens our inner peace and fills our minds with trash." [J. Paul & Marilyn Turner in Herald of Holiness, January, 1993 issue.]

This noble faith of Abraham joined with the promise of the Eternal God in this seemingly uneventful chapter (15) and became a COVENANT. Perhaps this is the essence of the Bible: God is a covenant making God dealing with believing men and women! "Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness!"

5. Abraham was a major-league intercessor. He saw his nephew delivered even as he saw God's judgment on the evil citizens of Sodom and Gomorrah () The dialogue "Will the LORD spare Sodom for 50, 45, 40, —down to 10...??" Perhaps we stand closer to God's wrath than we realize today; perhaps we are more like Lot than we are like Abraham. But we do see the principle that righteous people are somehow a deterrent to judgment day wrath. And we see the powerful influence of one person who has the courage to ask God to spare others!
6. Abraham tried to help God along, and instead produced forces that eventually became rivals to his own interests. Ishmael should never have been born, although the Arabs believe the other way 'round!
7. Abraham gave up his dearest love for the love of God, and in so doing he became actually a living portrait of God the Father in His love for a needy world. (22)
8. Abraham rates 10 chapters in Genesis, and countless references in the New Testament. In Romans 4, and Galatians 3, and in Hebrews 11 we are reminded again of the "father of faith," Abraham, the man who dared to believe God. James (2:21,23) calls Abraham "a friend of God."

We cannot be giants of the same stature as Abraham. But we can have the very same quality of integrity in our dealings with God. We can be honest. We can be obedient. We can give God our most precious gifts in the confidence that He will not waste them... "God will not waste a consecrated life!"

#397 Where He Leads Me

Behold the Lamb of God

January 17, 1993

John 1:29-37

Advent and Christmas begin the Christian year. The time immediately after Christmas is a good time to recall the way in which the glory of our Savior was revealed to the world in the early days of His life and ministry.

The first unfolding or revealing to the world one might say began with the angels song and the worship of the shepherds, but is usually associated with the visit of the Wise Men, when they brought kingly gifts and acknowledged the Babe as their own king of kings.

The third event we associate with epiphany took place on the Mount of Transfiguration, when Peter, James and John were astounded by a glimpse of the sheer majesty and holy glory of their Master after His actual ministry had already begun in Galilee. We will look at that scripture, Lord willing, in four or five weeks.

The second of the epiphany events took place at the Baptism of Jesus by John the Baptist, and is what we focused on last Sunday morning. We continue to look at that event this morning in the word of our text: "Behold the Lamb of God!"

I. A SERVANT AND A LAMB

A. Last Sunday's text, from Matthew and Isaiah 42, was "Behold My Servant!" Jesus' baptism marked the beginning of his public servant-hood. We marvel at the mission and the spirit of the Lord Jesus. To some extent we can understand the Suffering Servant. We appreciate the gentleness and the promise of justice. But now, from John's account of the Baptism, we hear a different metaphor to describe our Savior: "Behold the Lamb of God, that takes away the SIN of the world!"

1. This symbol, of a LAMB, does not "compute" with moderns; (1) we are removed from the rural scene; (2) we do not grasp the full scope of the need for atonement.

Behold the Lamb of God

2. But this same symbol connected very powerfully with those who heard the Baptist that day. And it would be well for us to ask God to help us "connect" as well, and help us He will!

B. Why of all things, "a Lamb?"

1. The little animal itself is a living symbol of innocence. Have you ever been privileged to watch a field of sheep in the spring time? The figure of a Lamb speaks of the innocence, the sinlessness of the Savior. Christ IS the Pattern for a new race.
2. But these Hebrew people knew a much deeper, more poignant meaning to this word. For every Jew knew that a Lamb is the symbol of atonement, as well as the designated Passover sacrifice. To the devout Hebrew the Paschal Lamb was a physical reminder of the reality of sin and the terrible cost of guilt, but at the same time a symbol of salvation through sacrifice.

II. A LAMB AS BURDEN BEARER

"Behold the Lamb of God that takes away the SIN of the world!" Right HERE we have jumped into the heart of what real salvation is all about. Jesus came to DIE! All the gentleness and mercy and teaching and healing and Servant-hood are incomplete and unavailing unless Jesus, the Lamb of God, can take away our sin!

- A. A Lamb of God to take away sin is "unnecessary" according to what many otherwise intelligent people believe today. Sin is a "God-word" and God is the great Irrelevancy. "SIN" implies accountability or blame, and in our modern times no one really is to blame! We are a generation of victims! It isn't our fault!
- B. But the Bible is old-fashioned. It doesn't excuse lying and adultery and stealing and cheating. It calls gossip and back-biting and evil speaking and slander "sin!" And it says that the wages of sin is DEATH! People may say "I don't believe in a God that would send people to hell! I don't believe that is a sin!" But the strange thing is that God IS! He is NOT the God of our making. It is important that we believe in God, but His existence certainly does not depend on whether or not we think He is "this way" or "that."

Whether or not we call it "sin," the fact remains that this world is under a sentence of death, because we all have sinned and have earned sin's wages!

- C. To speak about "sin" is somehow to be "out of touch with reality." We are not sinful, but rather poorly adjusted, or victims of abuse, or otherwise disadvantaged. There is no question that innocent people are victims, and that people need healing and help— the ministry of the Suffering Servant! "A bruised reed He will not break..." But why is it that the most powerful weapon against many of the more flagrant evils of our day is still the atoning power of the Blood of the Lamb of God, that takes away the sin of the world?

A cultured, brilliant, ruthless lawyer rises to the highest circles of power in our nation and the world— willing as he put it to walk over his own mother if she got in the way— and he ends up in prison where he acknowledges that he is a sinner. He beholds the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of Charles Colson! And from that transforming touch perhaps more good is done for suffering prisoners than from any other movement of our century!

- D. The very idea of sacrifice, especially blood sacrifice, is somehow made to seem "abhorrent" to the modern mind. But we are out of touch with the way life really IS! And in the meantime the way life is lived out in the streets of our cities grows increasingly violent— and still we think that we are 'a sin-less society' — we are not to blame; we are victims— and yet there is no balm in Gilead to cure our wounds.
- E. God is NOT an angry God seeking reasons to destroy us. He is not the creator of ancient cultures. God is a load-lifter; the Psalmist says the Lord "daily bears our burdens;" Peter writes that you should "cast your burden upon the Lord and He will sustain you."

But we are not simply victims, helpless pawns, falling down into hell with no recourse, either. The heaviest load any man or woman knows is GUILT. We may not recognize it. If we do recognize it, however, we soon come to the realization that there is nothing we can do to expiate, expunge, erase, eradicate, remove it. We can cover it, or make excuses for it. But only a sinless Sacrifice can deal with it.

Behold the Lamb of God

- F. God in His love has made us capable of reaching out for atonement from the guilt and power of our own evil nature and deeds! We are created in God's own image— and we are GOOD! But we are also testimony, each one of us, to the fact that God's image is marred.

All we like sheep have gone astray. We have turned every one to his/her own way. And the Lord has laid on HIM the iniquity of us all!

We have been looking this morning into the very heart of what real salvation is all about. Jesus came to DIE! All the gentleness and mercy and love we need to make a part of our own servant-hood can never take place until we have beheld the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!

III. A LAMB THAT IS ALSO A LION

This same apostle, John the Beloved, that wrote these words of the Baptist, "Behold the Lamb of God!" at the beginning of Jesus' ministry was the only one of the twelve apostles not to die a martyr's death. As an old man he was exiled for his faith in severe circumstances on an island, at least for a period of time, according to tradition. But while John was on the island of Patmos, he received a vision we call The Apocalypse, or The Revelation.

All Christians agree that John's Revelation is scripture, and that it has visions of conflict and ultimate victory of God and Christ over the forces of darkness and evil. Not too many of us agree on too many of those details— the book is like a surrealistic painting.

But two things or perhaps three are strikingly easy to understand in John's vision. I say "three" because Chapters Two and Three, the messages to the churches, are strikingly relevant and need to be read and heeded.

But the other two powerful facts from Revelation are these: First, in Chapter One, the lowly Nazarene, the Suffering Servant, the Lamb of God is revealed to John the Beloved in His full post- resurrection glory. There is no doubt that this is the Lord Jesus Christ, that John knew so well. But the glory is overwhelming! John falls at Jesus' feet like a dead man!

But the glorified Son of God puts his right hand on John and says, "Don't be afraid! I am Alpha and Omega!"

In other words, the epiphany of Jesus Christ is not over yet!

But the second is this: The chief figure or symbol of the conquering Christ throughout this last Book of the Bible is that of the Lamb! It is the Lamb that conquers evil!

The hymn of heaven is recorded in part in Revelation 5. Some of it goes like this:

And I looked, and I heard the voice of many angels around the throne and the living creatures and the elders; and the number of them was myriads of myriads, and thousands of thousands, saying with a loud voice:

Worthy is the LAMB that was slain to receive power and riches and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing.

And every created thing which is in heaven and on the earth and under the earth and on the sea, and all things in them, I heard saying, To him who sits on the throne, and to the LAMB, be blessing and honor and glory and dominion forever and ever.

And the four living creatures kept saying, "Amen." And the elders fell down and worshiped.

Called to Be Saints

January 17, 1993 PM

1 Corinthians 1:2 "...to the church of God which is at Corinth to those who have been sanctified in Christ Jesus, saints by calling, with all who in every place call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, their Lord and ours..."

Introduction

In reading Paul's LETTERS WE OFTEN we go right into the "text, proper" and we skip the introduction. But this introduction is a "zinger!"

"To the sanctified!" to those "called to be HOLY!" or "called to be SAINTS!" or, in this NIV— "saints BY CALLING!"

"Sanctified?" "Holy?" "Saint?" ... Well, that introduction leaves me out!

What's that you say?

I say 'That introduction certainly leaves me off the hook!'

What do you mean?

Well— first it says it is written to the church at Corinth, wherever that was ... and that is not my church; and, too, it says, to those who have been sanctified in Christ Jesus, and I never professed to be sanctified in any way shape or form, whatever it means "to be sanctified;" and finally It says "called to be saints!" And that is the last thing in the world I will ever be— or ever want to be!

Are you a Christian?

Sure— I love Jesus. But this "saint" stuff and this "sanctify" business is NOT, definitely NOT for me!

[Maybe that is the way a lot of people feel about this... but wait a minute! Is this how Christians should think and talk?]

I. WE CAN TRUST GOD'S LANGUAGE!

- A. "Holy" is NOT a "bad four-letter-word!" "Holy" is at best silly and at worst repulsive to the secular mind. It brings to mind an end to natural, happy, free life and living; an end to aesthetic enjoyment, et al.
- B. "Holy" is NOT for super-Christians— it is THE NT norm! The Spirit is for the entire church. The Spirit is THE life within. What we don't always realize is that every Christian knows/has the Spirit in measure; we are "sanctified in Christ" but we are CALLED TO BE SAINTS.
- C. The secular mind does not shrink from saying "We're Number 1!" Or "we're the greatest!" Or, "Just do it!" But it becomes strangely humble when it comes to holy things and says, "Holy? Who ME!?? Never!!"

II. WE CAN TRUST GOD'S CALLING!

- A. It is in this "call to be holy" that every one of us will find our only hope of real JOY! God has made us for Himself; that is what we exist for!

To be holy is (1) to belong to God! It is (2) to dare to believe God loves us— believe it so much that we dare to say "Not MY will, but YOUR will is best for ME— for EVER!"
- B. The SPIRIT of Christ is the Sanctifier. He is described as COMPANION and FRIEND and THE SPIRIT OF JESUS (a Presence!) He desires to fill and cleanse and purify and empower every Christian. He wants to make us COMPLETE.

[When we are SAVED we are thinking "survival" or "forgiveness." But this "calling to be holy" brings us to think LOVE and TRUST!]

III. HOW CAN WE IN ANY WAY BE CALLED "HOLY?"

- A. We need to be radically HONEST with God! Holy is NOT for "super-Christians!" Not for people who have it all together." It is for people who NEED it!
- B. We need to recognize our RADICAL DEPENDENCY ON GOD (AND EACH OTHER!) If we are going to answer this "call to be saints" we can't "do it ourselves!"

But if we are seeking to depend on God He will come through for us!

- C. We need to DELIBERATELY LIVE IN THE SPIRIT! There is such a thing as a "crisis of sanctification" when we can say an "everlasting YES!" That is the norm, at least. But every "saint by calling" has to consciously walk in the Spirit!

Galatians 5:25 says "If we live in the Spirit LET US ALSO WALK IN THE SPIRIT!"

And Luke 11:13 says "If we being evil know how to give good gifts to our children HOW MUCH MORE will the Father give the Holy Spirit to them, that ask Him!"

Conclusion:

Don't shrink back from this call of God! Don't be afraid to step up and answer God's call to be saints!

THE SUPREME ACT OF LOVE TOWARD GOD THAT YOU CAN MAKE IS TO TELL GOD THAT YOU ARE WILLING TO HAVE HIM CONTROL YOU FROM THIS TIME FORWARD, EVERY PART AND PARCEL OF YOUR LIVING!

Dwight L. Moody said once, "The world has yet to see what God can do with just one person who is entirely His, and I intend to be that person!"

Have YOU done this? Will YOU invite the Lord into every part of YOUR life? Being "holy" is NOT being weird. Being HOLY is trying to be LIKE Jesus!

#40 I Want to Be Like Jesus

Answering the Call Follow Me

January 23, 1993

We have been tracing "beginnings" during this post-Christmas season. We have been seeing how Jesus was revealed to the world; how he began His ministry. (Magi; baptism; leaving the carpenter shop; calling His disciples.) A portion of next Sunday's lesson, from Micah, seems to "fit in" just here.

1. IT IS POSSIBLE TO ANSWER GOD'S CALL

HOW do we respond to Christ's call?

Are there any guidelines? Can we come with any certitude to believe that we are really followers of the true God? Or is this all just "what is true for ME?"

2. GOD HAS SOME SIMPLE, CLEAR GUIDELINES FOR HIS PEOPLE
